Douglas Cole Elected To S&WCD Board

Douglas Cole, Winters livestock man, was re-elected by acclamation to a second term as Zone IV director during the election meeting of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation at Wingate Saturday.

Prior to the election, the group of RSCWCD district toured the Wingate area and inspected conservation practices, including dam structures of the Valley Creek Water Control

FFA Members Pick Queens, Sweetheart

Fran Hoppe, a junior student in Winters High School, was chosen Sweetheart of the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America Monday night.

Two queens elected were Teresa Helm, a junior, and Tammy Gibbs, a freshman.

Voting and presentation of candidates was held in the high school auditorium.

Blizzards Host Merkel Friday

Fresh from their first District 6-AA victory—12-8 over Stamford last week—the Winters Blizzards host-stand this week, hosting the Merkel Badgers. Kickoff for this District 6-AA game will be 7:30 p.m.

This will be the second district outing for the Blizzards, and the third for Merkel. The Blizzards have a 3-2 record for the season, and 1-0 for district. The Badgers have a 4-1 season record, and a 1-1 district record.

Winters and Merkel have played no common opponents thus far in the season. Winters' wins have been 6-0 with Eldorado, 13-12 with Junction, and 12-8 over Stamford; and losses, 33-0 to Clyde, 14-0 to Coleman.

Merkel's wins have been 6-0 over Baird, 20-18 over Jim Ned, and 47-14 over Eastland, and 19-9 over Ballinger. Their loss has been to Colorado City, 49-14. The Ballinger win and the C-City loss were district counters.

The Badgers will outweigh the Blizzards, with 174 pounds average to Winters' 160. Merkel offense probably will key to Quarterback Brad Pursley, good runner and passer. Offensively, the Badgers have been a good passing team, but their 186-pound running back Ricky Howes will need watching. Mike Sims is outstanding as a receiver.

Coach Jimmie Stubblefield probably will field about the same lineups as in the past games this season. Also, he indicated he will continue to use the system of substituting the quarterback and a couple of other backfielders after each play, a system which he used to some extent last week.

Blizzard Band Begins Subscription Campaign

A Winters Enterprise subscription campaign, conducted by the Winters High School Blizzard Band, began Thursday morning, Oct. 13, and will continue through Monday, Oct. 17.

Members of the Blizzard Band will canvass the entire Winters trade area, selling subscriptions—renewals and new—to The Winters Enterprise. The band will receive a substantial commission from each sale, to be used to help defray expenses to the Sun Bowl Jan. 1, and other band expenses, such as purchase of instruments and equipment.

The band has been divided into three-member teams, with each team to compete for extra bonuses.

Band members will give present subscribers an opportunity to renew their subscriptions to The Enterprise, for one year. Subscriptions may be renewed for one year, no matter when they will be due. For example, if a reader's subscription is not due until August, 1978, he or she may renew with a band member at this time and will be paid up until August, 1979. New and renewal subscriptions will be sold for one year only—no multiple

Needed: More Beef Exports

An increase in exports of beef and wheat is needed to help pull American farmers and stockmen out of the economic bog in which they find themselves, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, 21st Texas District, told members of the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District meeting at Wingate Saturday.

Farmers are being penalized for "their own production," Cong. Krueger told the group, and high tariff barriers in other countries is preventing exportation of more beef.

Cong. Krueger, who flew to Winters airport and then drove to Wingate Saturday, talked for about two hours with farmers and stockmen, asking for local opinion on agricultural questions, as well as other matters. A cattleman himself, Krueger was at home in boots and Levis with the farmers-stockmen at the meeting.

The U.S. Representative, who has already tossed his hat into the U.S. Senate race ring, said that a 2 billion bushel wheat crop is in the bag this year, and yet only 700 million bushels will be consumed domestically. He said "We must increase exports," but that the problem is tariffs on U.S. farm products.

"We must develop better ways to deal with tariff barriers in other countries," the congressman said.

If it wasn't for the high tariffs, "the American farmer wouldn't have to worry one bit in the world supply and demand market," because "no one can produce any cheaper than the American farmer."

Krueger said Japan is an example of the tariff problem. Although Japan was called "one of the best potential markets for beef," the U.S. receives $5 billion more in imports from Japan than it exports to her, "including the Sony (TV) camera filming me right now."

Twenty times more beef per capita is consumed by American than the Japanese, but not because the Japanese don't like beef, he said, "they love it."

But the Japanese are paying $15 per pound for "low grade" beef and $40 per pound for prime cuts, Krueger said.

"We can land beef in Japan at $3.50 per pound, but tariffs run it up to $20," he said.

He said such high tariffs must be See NEEDED Page 10

Livestock Assn. Member Drive Is Now On

The annual membership drive for the Winters Livestock Association is now going on, and officers and board members of the association have hopes of building to the present membership before the annual barbecue, which has been scheduled for October 24.

Admission to the barbecue will require a paid up family membership on the night of the feed, it was said.

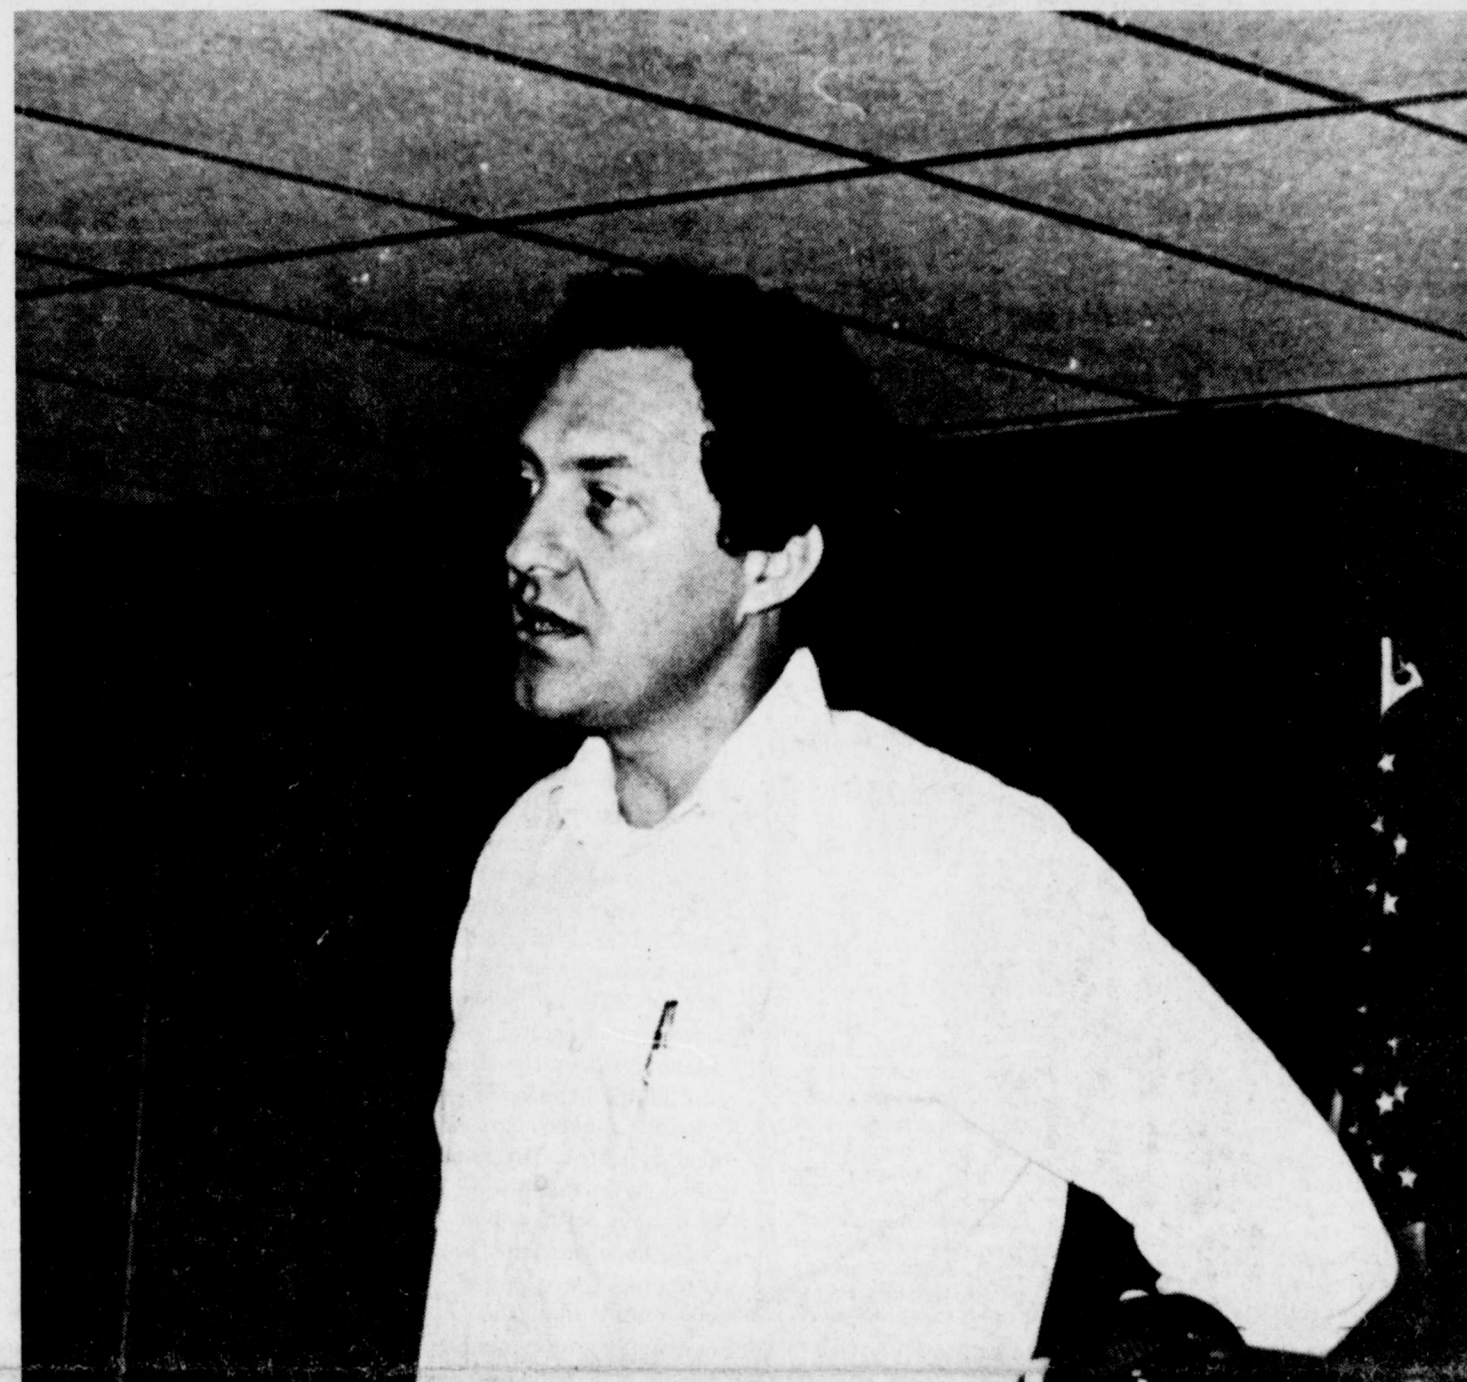

Funds received from the membership fees are used to produce the annual Junior Livestock Show, which will be held in early January.

year subscriptions will be accepted.

Each band member selling subscriptions will present identification. No one without proper identification will be authorized to sell or collect for subscriptions.

At the end of the subscription campaign, the publishers will present a check to the Blizzard Band for all commissions and bonuses, and announcement will be made of winning teams.

No matter when your subscription will expire, renew now—and help the Blizzard Band.

Rabid Bats Pose Problem For Winters

Although there are many buildings in Winters which are infested with bats, causing unpleasant and unsanitary situations, a bigger problem—and danger—at this time could be non-resident bats.

Dr. Jimmy Smith, D.V.M., Winters veterinarian, said this week that one confirmed case of a rabid migratory bat has been reported. The bat was found in a downtown building, he said.

This particular bat was one of many Mexican freetail bats, migrating back to Mexico at this time of the year. The migratory period will continue until about the first of December, Dr.

Smith said.

Dr. Smith said this Mexican freetail bat is a carrier of rabies, as indicated by the specimen recently tested. He said these bats will infest attics and other spaces in buildings, and can go through a hole as small as three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

The veterinarian said these bats pose a big threat to the health of the community, especially if they become ill and fall to the ground where pets can get to them. Cats like to play with sick and wounded bats, he said, and he urged cat owners to keep a close watch on their animals, and to vaccinate for rabies. Also, he warned, children should be warned not to pick up bats which have fallen to the ground, because they may be rabid.

One way to prevent infestation, Dr. Smith said, is to use moth balls wrapped in a porous cloth, and place in nesting areas. Also, plug all holes in outside walls which could be used as entries for the bats.

A certain type of spray can be used to get rid of the bats, Dr. Smith said, but caution should be used. Those wishing to use a spray or other chemical to get rid of the bats should contact the veterinarian.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN—Three members of the Blizzard Band look over the sales material they will use in the subscription campaign the band will conduct for The Winters Enterprise. They are Pat King, president of the band; Omega Ortiz, junior representative; and Reggie Boles, vice president.

The campaign begins Thursday, Oct. 13, and continues through Monday, Oct. 17.

BY CHARISE POE

Mrs. Clarence Lee of Norton and I attended the Sixteenth Annual Meeting of the Edwards Plateau Historical Association at the Texas Tech University Center in Junction on Saturday, Oct. 1. Others from Winters attending were Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Pace, Lucy Kittrell and Ava Crawford. Junction, established in 1876, was the site of many Indian camps. Kimble County has more running water than any other county in Texas. Our name tags carried this slogan, "Land of Living Waters."

The area known as Kimble County was inhabited by Jumano and Apache Indians when Spanish explorers traveled here in the 17th and 18th centuries. The Comanche tribes were living here by the mid-nineteenth century. One of the earliest tribes was the Chanes.

The frontier was under military jurisdiction of Fort Terrett and Fort McKavett. Texas Rangers helped defend the area from Indians and lawless elements.

Kimble County was created from Bexar County in 1858, and attached to Gillespie County for judicial purposes. It was organized in 1876 and named for George C. Kimble, one of Gonzales' "immortal 32", who died at the Alamo. According to the 1970 census, there are 3,904 residents in the county.

Mrs. C. D. Bruce of Coleman, president of the association, presided for the program held in the university cafeteria.

Mrs. Joe Phelps read a paper on "W. J. Cloud and the Treasury Chest of the Republic of Texas." Cloud was a veteran of Terry's Texas Rangers during the Civil War. He came to Junction in the late 1870's and settled on the Llano River five miles east of Junction where he built a rock house for his family of fourteen. It was an early day social center and is now occupied by a grandson and his wife, the Roy Nelsons.

Mr. Cloud's aunt had married Asa Brigham, who was treasurer of the Republic of Texas when the temporary capitol was at Washington-on-the-Brazos, and he died there. When the Clouds moved to Kimble County, Mrs. Brigham and her new husband, Joe Walker, came with them. They brought with them the chest that had been used as a depository for the money and important papers of the Republic of Texas.

After his aunt's death, Cloud fell heir to the chest which he prized very highly and would not part with it

Alpha Pi Delta Chapter Meeting

Winters Alpha Pi Delta Chapter met Tuesday of last week in the home of Mary Browning.

Service projects were discussed, and a farewell gift was presented to Billie Farr, recording secretary. Vickey Harrison was elected to succeed her in that office.

Cindy Cathey presented the program on child rearing.

Members attending the meeting were Cindy Cathey, Jane Allcorn, Ann Eckols, Linda Stubblefield, Linda Dry, Kay Mills, Deane Griffin, Vickey Harrison, Billie Farr, Mary Browning, and Priscilla Condra.

For the next meeting, the group will attend the ACU homecoming musical, "My Fair Lady," at the Abilene Civic Center October 13.

for personal gain, but gave it to the De Zavala Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The chest is now in the Alamo Museum at San Antonio, with an inscription which tells of its importance. It is five feet long, three feet wide and two feet deep. It is constructed of very wide planks.

The history of "Opening Roads Across West Texas," was presented by Mrs. Virginia Taylor. Following lunch, a tour of the O. C. Fisher room at the Kimble County Library was conducted by the Hon. O. C. Fisher. The Kimble County Museum was also visited.

The Edwards Plateau Historical Association was formed at Menard Oct. 20, 1962, out of a desire to stimulate interest in the history of this area, and to contribute to preservation of the written record of this history. This area covers about 24 counties and credit for the idea belongs to Miss Susan Miles of San Angelo. Miles in Runnels County is named for her father.

At each of the annual meetings of the association, the host historical society is responsible for the program. The first issue of THE HISTORIAN was published in 1965. The Gillespie County Historical Society was the host, presenting a number of papers on Fredericksburg's history. These papers form the basis for the first issue of THE HISTORIAN.

Future issues have dealt with other communities represented in the association, as meetings are held in these counties and programs are presented on their history.

Winters has been chosen for the next annual meeting of the Edwards Plateau Historical Association which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 9, 1978, at the school cafeteria. The program will be under the auspices of the Runnels County Historical Commission. The invitation was extended by Rankin Pace, Chairman. Papers will be presented of our history, a lunch and tour will follow. All those interested in history are invited to attend.

Blizzards Edge Stamford 12-8 For First District Win

The Winters Blizzards traveled to Stamford last Friday night and brought home their first district victory by defeating the Bulldogs 12-8.

Stamford got on the scoreboard first with 7:28 left in the first quarter, when a Winters snap went over the head of punter Johnny Lujano and into the end zone for a safety.

The Bulldogs led 2-0 until seconds before the second quarter ended. Just as the buzzer sounded ending the first half, Blizzard senior Gary Schwartz intercepted a Stamford pass and ran it back 77 yards for a touchdown. The PAT attempt failed. With about eight minutes left in the fourth period, the snap this time went over Stamford punter Alan Moore's head and was recovered by Blizzard Phillip Colburn in the end zone for an additional six points for Winters. David Esquivel jarred the ball loose.

Early in the fourth quarter, Stamford took over on the Winters 29-yard line. A screen pass to Ike Liles resulted in a Stamford TD. The try for extra point was no good.

The victory gave the Blizzards a 3-2 season record and a 1-0 record for district play.

AROUND THE 6-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

District 6-AA teams are now two weeks into district competition, with five of the seven with two counters under their belts. Winters and Coahoma have played only one district game each—the Blizzards had an off night the first week of district play, and Coahoma played an outsider last Friday night.

The Blizzards organized a win in their first district outing Friday night at Stamford, beating the Bulldogs 12-8 in a game which was punctuated by bad back-snaps which counted for safeties for each team, and another deep snap which would have counted for two, but ended up as a six for Winters. It all ended with the Blizzards going home with a 12-8 victory over the Bulldogs.

The Colorado City Wolves—pre-season picked as the team to whip for the crown this year—picked up their second district win Friday night, whipping the Wylie Bulldogs 25-0, with the stat sheet showing the Wolves a much stronger team on the ground and in the air. C-City had four losses in pre-district competition, some of them with pretty strong forces. C-City will meet Coahoma this week in what should be a showdown for mid-district leadership.

Hapless Ballinger, with only one win for the season—but that win a district counter—failed to stop the Merkel Badgers Friday night, and went back to South Runnels County with another loss—this time, 19-9. But past experience indicates that the Bearcats will snap out of it before long, and begin to give a better account of themselves.

It's way too early to begin any kind of predictions, but eyes still remain on Colorado City and Coahoma.

Two Attend Airport Meeting

Dr. Z.I. Hale and Charles Steinberg attended a meeting of the Texas Airport System Planning commission at Coleman Oct. 5, and viewed a slide presentation on updating airports, determining the needs of communities.

Aviation is divided into airlines and general aviation. The small town airports handle general aviation traffic, with some commuter services. Traffic in smaller airports is divided into 72 percent business and commercial, 23 percent personal transportation, and 5 percent recreation, it was said.

Winters and Ballinger airports in Runnels County are classified as basic utility airports. Winters airport was considered in good condition and there was talk of future planning for a crosswind runway and installation of a non directional beacon.

Dr. Hale is a member of the airport board committee for Winters.

Teachers To Area Reading Conference

Several teachers of Winters Elementary School attended a San Angelo Area Reading Conference at Angelo State University.

Dr. Bill Martin, nationally known in the field of reading, was featured.

Winters teachers attending were Betty Byrns, Ouida Nichols, Nina Hale, Mary Stanfield, Marthiel Russell, Kay Mills, Patsy Blackwell, Ruthie Beard, James Powers, Sarah Parker and Cynthia Cathey.

KRUEGER OF TEXAS

By
U. S. Representative
Bob Krueger

By the time you read this, I will have conducted two high level military briefings in response to some serious questions that have been raised concerning both the ability of our nation's military to successfully engage in a major conventional war and the real possibility that billions of tax dollars are being wasted every year within our military complexes.

I have called for these briefings by various members of the military and the Department of Defense because I feel that there is no issue of greater importance than that of the public confidence that our nation's security is completely intact and that our tax dollars are not being wasted in any governmental area including our Defense Department.

From the information that my staff has gathered and from what I am told by the many military people with whom I often speak during my trips back to the 21st District, there seems to be two problems which command more thorough exploration.

There have been numerous reports, inspired by efficiency experts, congressional committees and members of the media, that too many of the tax dollars allocated to military expenditures are wasted, that cost overrides on defense contracts are numerous, that our systems of allocating defense dollars are too broad and inefficient.

During my years in Congress, I have worked hard to try to fully understand the systems we use and to balance the very desirable trait of being able to direct military projects to the people of Texas but at the same time working to make certain that spending controls prevent waste.

Now we have another report—the result of a 2-month investigation by the Associated Press—indicating that in spite of the tremendous amounts of money we spend on defense that we may not be capable of fighting a major conventional war, a war in which the effectiveness of ground and air troops will be a crucial determining factor.

So the situation we are faced with is on the one hand having detailed allegations of waste, while on the other having to respond to accounts of ineffectiveness in terms of being able to defend our interests.

I fully understand that in the area of nuclear technology that we must never fall behind our potential enemies. Only through obvious strength can we be assured of peace.

But at the same time I am deeply concerned about these allegations—most of them made by high-ranking military officers themselves—revealed in the series.

Specifically, the investigation maintained that the Army has only half of the tanks it needs in central Europe, that some war reserve depots in Europe are bare, that the Air Force does not have an adequate supply of air-to-air missiles it would need to fight enemy planes should we be attacked, and that our reserve forces are not what they should be.

These, along with the allegations of waste, are but only a few of the serious questions being posed and which I will take up in military briefings this week. Next week I will follow that up with personal inspections of a series of military bases in my Congressional district and I will specifically discuss the problems I have mentioned with commanders at those bases.

It is disturbing to me as a Congressman, as it is to you as a private citizen, that this type of inquiry is necessary, and I am hopeful that the answers I get from the military people put aside my gravest concerns. But if it does not, then I assure you that I will take to my colleagues in the Congress very specific proposals to eliminate waste and duplication, and to ensure that not only will this nation be secure in the nuclear weapons field but that we shall also be capable of standing firm in the face of a military confrontation where superiority in conventional warfare is apt to determine victory or defeat.

PSAT/NMSQT Test Set Oct. 18

Mrs. Lee Harrison, guidance director at Winters High School, has announced that junior students will have an opportunity to join over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test Oct. 18. The test, co-sponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corp., is an important step in making college plans, Mrs. Harrison said. It is a voluntary test at Winters, she said, but all junior students are encouraged to take it if there is a chance they will be attending college after graduation. The test measures verbal and mathematical aptitudes, two abilities important in doing college work, she said.

The test can also lead to other opportunities for high school students, Mrs. Harrison said. For example, students can ask to participate in the College Board's Student Search Service which provides their names to colleges interested in students taking the tests.

By taking the PSAT/NMSQT exams students may enter the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. John Hurt, a senior student at WHS, is in competition for a National Merit scholarship because of his high scores made last year on the exam, the guidance director said.

Another advantage of taking the test, Mrs. Harrison pointed out, is students can get an idea of what the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is like. Their predicted scores on their college entrance exams can be estimated from this test. This way a student can make more realistic plans concerning college, she said.

Deadline Past, Three City Council Candidates

There will be three candidates on the ballot in the special election November 8 to fill a vacancy on the Winters City Council. October 8 was the deadline date for signing.

Candidates for the city council seat will be E. J. Bishop, Jimmy Hatler and Lloyd Gilbert. The winner will serve only until the April, 1978 election. The vacancy was created several months ago when Clifton Poe resigned because of ill health.

Winters voters also will vote Nov. 8 on a proposition to sell or dispose of the Winters Municipal Light Plant.

Absentee voting will begin October 19, according to Buford Baldwin, city secretary.

The Winters City Council has been discussing for about two years a proposal to sell the city-owned electric power plant, and has received offers from West Texas Utilities Co. In a handout recently, the council said that because of inflationary increases in the cost of operation of the power plant, including cost of fuels and salaries, the electric department has been "operating in the red" for several years. No cost analysis figures have been released on the department, but the council said rate comparisons would be released within the next few days.

Although the council has said that in several meetings with West Texas Utilities representatives over the past several months, and "proposals and counter proposals" have been made, there have been no figures released. Also, there have been no announced figures dealing with the capital assets of the electric department. Council has indicated that this information will be released to the public before the referendum Nov. 8.

dealt with, and Japan should not have such a lopsided corner on the exports market with the $5 billion difference in the balance of trade.

However, Krueger said, there are positive sides: Negotiations are underway with the Japanese restaurant trade; the U.S. has extended the fishing limits barrier making it harder for Japan's fishing industry which has dominated beef in the past; the cost of Japan trying to produce its own beef is extremely high.

Cong. Krueger said there also should be an increase in restrictions on cheap and often poor beef coming into the U.S. He has introduced bills which would: require labeling of imported beef as "imported"; to require that imported beef meet the same inspection standards as beef in this country; and at least one-fourth of beef coming into the U.S. be re-inspected and the cost of this to be paid for by the foreign beef industry.

Speaking on the land set-aside program in the new Farm Bill, the congressman said, "If we get the export problem solved, we won't have to worry with set-asides."

The set-aside program was discussed at some length by farmers at the meeting. They said that requiring the farmer to plant a cover crop on the set-aside land, which he could not harvest or graze, and without compensatory payments, was "just plain insanity" and worse than a similar farm program failure of the 1950s. Farmers cannot afford to plant a crop on land and then get no income or use from the land.
