Local Option Election

The first local option election in this part of the county for many years will be held next Monday, Dec. 5, in Runnels County Justice Precinct No. 2.

Four voting boxes will be available to voters in the Justice Precinct, which includes approximately the entire north half of Runnels County. Boxes will be at Wingate, Norton, the Winters City Hall and the Winters Community Center. (A map of the precinct and the voting box precincts will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Enterprise.)

Voters will be asked to decide if beer and wine may be sold in the precinct for off-premise consumption.

Runnels County Commissioners last week recently ordered the election in response to a petition which had been presented Nov. 11.

Election judges and alternates for the four voting precincts (boxes) will be:

Prec. 3: Winters Community Center, N. L. Faubion; Leona Chapmond, alternate.

Prec. 4: Winters City Hall, John J. Swatchesue; Fred Young, alternate.

He is a native of Fort Worth. He and his wife, Donna, live in Brownwood. They have one child.

Don't Invite Thieves

With the Christmas season fast approaching, thieves will increase their activities, Winters Police Department spokesmen reminded this week.

For protection against thieves, Christmas shoppers are advised to put their packages and other valuables in the trunks of their cars, locked up, whether they are shopping in Winters or in any other city. Gaily wrapped Christmas packages lying on seats of automobiles are open invitations to thieves.

Poe's Corner

BY CHARLIE POE

There is a saying that "History never repeats itself", but this is not true. History repeated itself for the second time in a row at the November birthday party in the Senior Citizens Nursing Home when four people who had birthdays are all active and were out for the party. Again, a lot of Runnels County history was reviewed in the lives of these four people. The oldest was Amanda Waldrop who observed her 90th birthday on Nov. 20. The others were Carl Smith, Gladys Roberts and Louie Webb. In 1887 William Materson Monroe Wilkins and his wife Martha Elizabeth had reason for Thanksgiving. A baby girl was born to them on Nov. 20. She was their first born and they named her Amanda.

The family lived at Snow Ball in Searcy County, Arkansas, but moved back and forth to Texas several times. The last time they came to stay when Amanda was fifteen years old. All of her schooling was in Texas.

Amanda married Charlie Long in Comanche County, sitting in a buggy, on May 29, 1910. They had four children and three of them live in Winters. Granville, Wardell, and Jessie who is Mrs. Scottie Danford. One son, J. D. lives in Abilene.

Mr. Long died in 1919, and she was married to W. F. Waldrop in 1921. He had six children, so this meant ten children to provide for and to look after. Soon it was his children, my children and our children for the couple had two of their own. Opal Frances now Mrs. Lawrence Herring of Deer Park and Alvis whose wife, Dorothy, works at the nursing home. Alvis went into the service during World War II and his mother didn't see him again until he was 21.

But Mrs. Waldrop thinks she is very fortunate. She had four sons, two step-sons, a son-in-law and a step grandson in the service and the only one injured was the step grandson who lost both legs.

Amanda Waldrop has 19 grandchildren, and 31 or more great-grandchildren, she's not sure. She also has several great-great grands and is proud that she has lived to see the fifth generation. At 90, she has lived longer than any of her people except her mother's father who was 92.

During the depression, Amanda worked in the sewing room until she had surgery at the age of 50. She was in the hospital only once more when she had a stroke nine years ago and has since lived here in the home, with Myrtle Green as her roommate.

Mrs. Waldrop always enjoyed piecing quilts, quilting and doing drawn work when she could see and had time. Ironing with flat irons that have to be heated on the stove and washing clothes by hand on a rubboard does take time. But our sweet, pretty little blue-eyed lady is here to prove that "hard work" doesn't kill.

It was on a crisp Fall morning, Nov. 8, 1903, that a baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jim A. Smith. He was their second son and they named him Carl. Rufus, the older brother, lives in Winters as does his sister, Mrs. Ethel Graham, a retired nurse. Another sister, Minnie Herbert lives in Fort Worth.

The Smiths moved to Wingate in Runnels County when Carl was small. They later farmed two miles west of Drasco and then east of Bradshaw. Carl attended school at Drasco and Winters.

Carl lived with his parents except for a time during World War II, when he enlisted as a Private in the Army in 1932. He was stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif. for 5 1/2 years, and said he went on only one hike. It seemed to him that he spent all of his time on K.P. duty. The reason, I'm sure, is that they found out how well he could peel potatoes.

After his father's death in 1947, Carl and his mother moved to town and lived on the corner of Bowen and Cryer Streets, for a number of years. After his mother's death in 1965, Carl spent several months in the Veteran's Hospital at Big Spring. He then lived in a trailer house for awhile before moving here to the home. Mr. Andrae is his roommate.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Allred became the parents of their fourth daughter, Gladys, on Nov. 19, 1900, back in Cooper, Texas before moving to Winters in 1903. Dr. Allred and Dr. E. R. Middleton co-owned the first hospital that stood where the city hospital was later built, now the David Carroll home.

Another daughter and two sons were born to the Allred family after they moved to Winters. When Gladys had two sons of her own she had already learned how to cope with boys from her two little brothers. Once they locked her in a closet, when she went to get her coat, and she had to stay there until her date came. He heard her cries of distress and rescued her. Gladys was taking care of the boys while her mother was in the hospital. She went to school in Winters and took a business course in Abilene but married and never used it.

After Gladys and Charles Franklin Roberts eloped and were married on Sept. 10, 1919 at Coleman, they lived in many places such as Wichita Falls, Baird, Kingman, Arizona, and Orange where Mr. Roberts built ships during World War II. He also taught manual training at A&M for the government.

The oldest son, Douglas, was born in 1921, he is employed with an insurance company in Fort Worth. Kenneth was born in 1928 and died about 4 1/2 years ago, he was in the service. Douglas had one son who is a cop in Arlington. Kenneth's sons are Dr. Don Roberts, a dentist in Abilene and Joe Roberts of Atlanta, Ga. Doris, Kenneth's wife, lives in Abilene.

Would you believe it, after two sons and three grandsons, Gladys has two great-grandchildren and they are both girls. She is also proud of her two nieces, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paxton, Mary Roller and Cordilla Adams who are here today. They furnished the cokes for the party.

Gladys has one consuming hobby, she has always read everything she could get her hands on. She has borrowed books from everybody and always got a library card wherever she went. And now that she is unable to see she is enrolled in the State's reading program for the blind. They sent her a new machine lately and she is currently reading HOW TO CATCH AN ANGEL, but she doesn't know if she'll catch it or not.

Mrs. H. H. Webb, the former Louie Floyd, is a native of Taylor County. She was born in a log cabin at Moro, Nov. 3, 1890. Her parents moved there in 1889 and later built a new home just west of the cabin where they lived for the rest of their lives.

When her future husband saw Louie for the first time, she was riding a black mare to the Moro store, where the only telephone in the com-

To Shell or Not to Shell
Should I buy nuts shelled or in the shell? This question will be weighing heavy on the minds of many shoppers this holiday season.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports peanuts, almonds and walnuts to be plentiful. The 1977 pecan crop has more than doubled last year's.

To shell or not to shell, that is the question. Shelled is the answer if you are in a hurry with cooking and baking.

Buying nuts in the shell has its advantages, too. They are often cheaper than shelled nuts and shelling nuts can be a time for family fun.

When buying nuts, compare the cost. A good rule of thumb is 2 pounds of nuts in the shell equal 1 pound of nut meats. If the cost of 2 pounds of shelled nuts is the same for one pound of nut meats, then they are the same. If there is a difference, and there usually is, the difference is the extra price paid for shelling.

When buying unshelled nuts, look for those that are clean and free from scars, cracks or holes.

When buying unshelled nuts, look for those that are clean and free from scars, cracks or holes.

The Webbs were married Aug. 9, 1908, and farmed and ranched in Taylor County until they retired and moved to Uvalde in 1959. They returned to Winters in 1965 and Mr. Webb died in 1975.

Louie helped with the work on the ranch and rode horseback. She helped herd the sheep when the children were in school.

All three of the Webb children live in Winters, Mrs. Ralph Arnold, Henry and Bruce. There are eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Webb enjoyed all kinds of handwork as long as she was able.

make more cups per pound than halves, pieces, or chopped nuts.

Shelled nuts won't do for the nut bowl. Nuts depend on their oils for their pleasing flavor. When nuts are stale, the oils become rancid and unpalatable.

Nuts in the shell keep better than shelled nuts. Nuts keep better in a cool, dark place and unsalted ones keep better than salted ones.

Nuts can absorb off flavors and moisture. When this occurs, you will have a limp, tough, even moldy nut.

Lone Star Gas suggests HOW TO WRING ALL THE HOT WATER FROM YOUR ENERGY DOLLAR.

Set the water heater thermostat at NORMAL, which is hot enough for most household requirements. If more hot water is needed temporarily, move the setting to HOT, then reset to NORMAL.

Remember that a brief shower normally uses less hot water than a tub bath. Avoid letting hot water run needlessly when shaving, washing hands, rinsing dishes. Save hot water and the energy it takes to heat it by fixing dripping faucets. Save hot water and energy by waiting until you have full loads for the washer and dishwasher.

Drain a gallon or more of water from the faucet at the base of the water heater about once a month. This prevents a buildup of mineral deposits. And this buildup causes the water heater to work harder and use more gas.

Remarkably efficient gas reaches your meter with 93% of its original energy still available — because gas is a natural energy that's used in its original form. Using it directly for the jobs it does best actually helps conserve energy.

For more suggestions, request our free booklet, "Energy Conservation in the Home."

Candidate Wolff Protests Hospital Closings Proposal

Nelson Wolff, San Antonio, a candidate for the Democrat nomination to the 21st Texas Congressional District, has forwarded a strong protest to Joseph Califano, Secretary of HEW, and the Health Resources Administration, regarding HEW's proposals to close many hospitals and health facilities.

It is understood that HRA has extended the deadline for public comment on the proposed regulations until Dec. 9. Wolff has urged all interested citizens to contact the agency about this critical problem.

Wolff's letter to Sec. Califano follows, in part:

The proposed regulations setting forth 11 new guidelines for hospitals as printed in the September 23 Federal Register (42CFR, part 121) would have an extremely detrimental effect on health care in rural America. Small community hospitals will not be able to comply with the criteria set forth in the proposed regulations.

The requirements of 80% occupancy, 500 deliveries per year, and 4 beds per 1,000 population are particularly unrealistic. A recent survey of Texas hospitals indicates that 94.5% of all small hospitals (100 beds or less) and 77.9% of all large hospitals (over 100 beds) cannot meet the requirements of 80% occupancy. The survey also shows that 95.7% of all small hospitals and 67.6% of all large hospitals will not meet the proposed obstetrical standards.

These figures paint an alarming picture of future health care in Texas, particularly in sparsely populated West Texas where communities are so far apart. The lack of emergency ambulance service from rural communities to urban hospitals combined with the great distances rural residents must travel for emergency health care places an undue burden on persons living in these rural areas. It is also extremely difficult to attract doctors to rural areas without adequate hospital facilities.

The health needs of rural America have been neglected for many years. The progress in rural health care today has been accomplished primarily by citizens who have raised the funds for small community hospitals. Now the future of these hospitals is being threatened. For Congress to pass a rural health care bill and then for HEW to promulgate rulings which would force small town hospitals to close is the ultimate absurdity.

I urge you to modify these proposed regulations so that our rural communities will not lose their hospital facilities.

Reports Indicating Good Deer Hunting

Reports from hunters, deer processing plants, landowners and Parks and Wildlife Department biologists indicate most everyone is pleased with the deer season, so far.

The deer are moving, the weather continues to be relatively mild and most of the animals harvested thus far are in fairly good condition with certain exceptions.

Deer taken near or along river bottomland are fat and healthy due to the good acorn crop in West and Central Texas. However, biologists say this acorn crop fell early this year and is now in short supply.

On the other hand, deer harvested from our more overgrazed mesquite-savannah flats are of lesser body weight and could be in for some more trouble when and if we get into a hard winter situation.

As you might expect, most of the animals harvested so far are buck deer and will normally be in better condition this time of the year than does. Does have been reported to be in fair to poor condition due to their diminished ability to successfully compete for food with the rest of the deer herd. This is one of the reasons P&WD biologists have been recommending that hunters who have access to doe permits utilize these early in the season while the animals are still in relatively good condition.

Some ranchers in West Texas have taken this advice to heart and have required their hunters to take a doe deer before allowing them to shoot a buck.

Antler development this year has been good and big racks have been reported on several harvested deer. A 26-pointer was taken near Big Lake and a 16-pointer was downed by a 14-year old youth in Sweetwater. A 25-pointer was taken off the Rocker B ranch during the first weekend. This is the first time the public has been allowed to hunt on this big ranch for quite some time and you would expect this ranch to produce some whoppers this year.

VIOLATIONS NOTED
Game wardens have been kept pretty busy this season in Central and West Texas with road hunting and shooting after hours being some of the most prevalent violations.

Illegal hunters with citizen band radios have been causing some landowners some real headaches. One particular landowner I talked to is particularly nervous since two years ago when some road hunters shot one of his prize horses by mistake.

Citizens and landowners are urged to call P&WD whenever they suspect a violation of this type is occurring.

MULE DEER
Mule deer season in the Trans-Pecos opened this weekend (Nov. 26) and will continue through Dec. 4. P&WD biologists are predicting a fair to good hunt this season.

The Trans-Pecos has been hard hit by the drought. Last year, the harvest of mule deer was down by some 31 percent and the number of hunters decreased by 14 percent.

CARE OF VENISON
L. D. Nuckles, P&WD Information Officer in Rockport, offers some good advice on the proper care of venison:

"Unless you are a vegetarian, a good piece of venison, properly cared for in the field and properly cooked, makes as fine a meal as any beef," he says.

"Of course, an old buck that is deep in rutting season with all the fat run off and his neck swelled up like a balloon does not make for choice eating. I really don't think there is anything you can do to make this particular piece of flesh fit for human consumption. This may be the trophy you've been hunting for, but good to eat? No!

"If you want to enjoy some really fine eating, choose a fat doe or young buck who hasn't yet entered the rut.

"After properly choosing your venison, your first shot should be placed so as to kill quickly and cleanly. If it drops dead in its tracks, you're well on your way to some good eating.

"Now you must properly field dress the carcass. P&WD has a pamphlet which teaches the fundamentals of field dressing your deer if you don't know how. Next, hang the deer carcass up to cool and protect it from flies. I always like to wash the body cavity with chilled water which helps to dissipate the animal's body heat.

"As soon as the body heat has been dissipated, skin the animal and cut and wrap the meat for the freezer. And there you have it."

Sheep Feed Program Tuesday, 6th

Runnels County sheep producers are encouraged to attend an educational program on supplemental feeding of sheep scheduled Tuesday, December 6, which will be held on the second floor of the county courthouse in Ballinger, according to Glenn Bragg, County Extension Agent.

Dr. George Ahlschwede, Area Sheep & Goat Specialist San Angelo Research & Extension Center, will discuss feeding and nutrition to increase conception and lamb crop percentage. Creep feeding of lambs, price trends and predator control will also be discussed.

Since small grain pastures will be relatively late this year, it will be important that producers provide adequate supplemental feeds during winter months of poor quality and small quantities of forage. This program will provide producers with up-to-date feeding recommendations for wintering ewes.

This program was planned by the Runnels County Sheep & Predator Subcommittee of the Program Building Committee. Leland McWilliams, of Norton, is chairman of the subcommittee.

Wingate

Recent visitors with Mrs. Nellie Adcock were Mr. and Mrs. Newt Tekell from Hillsboro. The Tekells were former residents of south Taylor County. The Tekells and Mrs. Adcock visited with Mr. and Mrs. Alf Talley of Shep.

Mrs. O. D. Bradford spent Thanksgiving with her son in the Odessa area. She was accompanied to Odessa by Mrs. Nellie Adcock who spent Thanksgiving with Oran Adcock family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlon Barnes and Kadee of Floydada have spent Thanksgiving holidays in Wingate and Winters.

The Barnes and Coy McNeills spent Thanksgiving Day with the M. B. Folsoms and Sam. Mrs. B. B. McNeill dropped in for a visit also.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tekell are new residents of Wingate. They have moved in the house formerly occupied by the Dwayne Bundas family.

metaphor, L. D. offers an interesting analogy which probably applies to most hunters:

"Take an old, fat Angus bull and cripple it with a couple of shots through the body cavity and another shot through the rear end as it runs away. After several hours of chasing him, you finally put him out of his misery. Now, do a sloppy job of field dressing the animal and then haul him around on your pickup's fender for half a day. Now hang the carcass in a locker plant for three to six weeks with the hide still on. Do you think you would consider that good eating? Well, believe it or not, the same thing should apply to deer.

"If you're after a trophy for the den then kill a skinny, old buck with big antlers; if you're not, choose a good, fat, young deer and kill it cleanly, handle the meat properly and you'll have some of the best eating around."

TOOLS FOR ANDY HOMEOWNERS

If you're handy with your hands, here are some ways a table saw can make you even handier. It can help you tackle more sophisticated projects like making kitchen cabinets, built-in bookshelves or even building an additional room.

Stationary power tools let the do-it-yourselfer cut, drill, shape and sand with greater speed and accuracy than with portable tools.

For instance: With a quality table saw and the proper attachments, you can make dado cuts for sturdy bookcase or chest construction or use a molding head cutter and cutter knives to make professional quality trim molding in many styles—just to mention a few examples.

A 10-inch size table saw is the most popular with home craftsmen. This season Rockwell is offering a one cent sale—a 10-inch table saw special that includes a seven-piece dado headset and a dado table insert for just $270, a nearly $50 saving over the price of the individual items. It has a fully enclosed thermal overload protected high torque motor which is fully enclosed for safety and provides the power to get the job done fast.

WITH THE RIGHT EQUIPMENT, you can make professional-quality bookcases or chests.

A table saw should be U.L. listed and have a see-through blade guard with splitter and anti-kickback attachment and a lockable on-off switch for operator safety.

In 1925 it was possible to buy an automobile for as little as $260!

COW POKES

By Ace Reid

"Yeah I still got my check book, but the bank just repossessed my fountain pen."

WESTERN AUTO Wes and June Hays

"Ford pickups and ranching just naturally go together. We depend on 'em for everything."

...Says Jay Palmer of Kaufman, Texas, rancher and trainer.

"We own nothing on the ranch but Ford pickups...use 'em for haying, feeding, repairing fence, general ranch work."

"We make a lot of long trips hauling horses, pulling a six-horse trailer. There's no place to stop and we can't afford to be broke down. That's why we drive Fords. We can depend on 'em to get us there."

"Back home, the service on the Ford pickups is just the best from my Ford dealer. And that's as important as the Ford pickups themselves."

See all the Ford pickups at your Texas Ford dealer. As Mr. Palmer knows, they're built tough for Texans.

and Texans go together.

Bridge on FM 53 Included In District Work Program

A bridge on Loop 438 (Business FM 53) 0.8 miles west of the Winters City limits is included in the 1977 State Bridge Replacement Program, according to D. R. Watson, district engineer of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Also, the bridge 3.2 miles southwest of Rowena in Runnels County (FM 381) is included in the program.

The 1977 State Bridge Replacement Program has been approved by the Commission.

In a continuing effort to replace the obsolete bridges on the state's 72,000-mile system, the 1977 bridge program allots $30 million to be used for the improvement or replacement of 143 structures. This is a statewide program with each of the 25 districts in the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation having bridges included in the program.

The estimated cost of the Loop 438 bridge is $107,000, according to Watson. Cost of the replacement of the Little Concho Creek bridge is southwest Runnels County is estimated at $89,000.

Several other bridges in the San Angelo District are also included in the program.

Three factors were used in determining which bridges would be included in this program: a federal formula known as the sufficiency index; the recommendations of the district offices based on local consideration; and the traffic load.

No addition right of way will be required on any of the projects, Watson said.

—Simple details only, and no pictures, will be published in the second issue following the event. No wedding or anniversary story will be published in the third issue following the event.

—Only the main facts of the events will be published, and no pictures will be printed, for weddings or anniversary celebrations which take place out of town, except for immediate former residents, such as students, whose parents still reside in the area. Pictures of nieces, nephews, grandchildren, and other relatives, who have never lived in the area will not be published. Only short notices of the events will be published, and then no later than the second issue following the event.

—We solicit pictures of local weddings and anniversary celebrations, and will hold the original pictures for only one week following date of publication. We cannot return pictures by mail unless a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies the picture.
