Firemen's Annual Barbecue Tonight

SPILLWAY REPAIR—The recent heavy rains on the watershed of Elm Creek, which feeds Winters Lake, filled the lake and caused a heavy overflow. Emergency spillways at each end of the dam were damaged, with deep cuts in some places. Repair of the emergency spillways was started last week after the water subsided, and several thousand yards of dirt and rocks were moved or hauled in to fill the washes left by the swift-running waters. Water was still running through the regular concrete spillway, and the lake is full once again, after being dangerously low

A Winters event which has gained statewide attention, and which draws many former residents back to Winters once a year—the annual Firemen's Barbecue—will be held in the Winters Community Center Thursday night, Aug. 17, beginning at 7 p.m.

Firemen have been selling family tickets to the affair for some weeks, and a large crowd is anticipated. The tickets to the affair—actually membership cards in the Winters Volunteer Firemen's Association—are $6 each, and will entitle the entire family to attend the barbecue. Single plates also will be available, before the barbecue or at the door, for $3 each.

During the annual get-together, which involves the entire community, reports will be made by the fire chief of activities of the past year.

Highlight of the evening will be presentation of the Fireman of the Year Award.

Victor Merfeld has presented the fire department with an 800-pound heifer, and Win-Tex Cattle Feeders have been feeding the animal, as a donation to the fire department.

Following the barbecue, a dance will be held, and the public has been invited to stay for the dance.

The Firemen's Barbecue was begun many years ago, and was originally for members of the Volunteer Firemen and their families. As the years went by, the affair was opened to the public, and for many years, there was a waiting list of donors of the meat for the barbecue. During those years, most of the community and returning former firemen were invited, at no cost. Eventually, however, because of the high cost of meat, it became necessary to charge a nominal sum for tickets to the affair. Firemen have stressed that there probably is no other place where an entire family can enjoy an outing and open pit barbecue at the low cost of $6.

Blizzard Boosters Meet Tuesday

Active members of the Winters Blizzard Booster Club are seeking to instill more life in the organization, and are asking for support from others in the community.

The first meeting of the season will be held next Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium. At that time, plans will be made for the season's activities, and a membership drive will be promoted.

Officers and members of the organization, who have been active, are asking that as many backers of the Blizzards as possible attend the first meeting, and pledge their support for the teams and coaches. Without active participation and a show of support, it was stated, it will be difficult for those who do participate to plan and carry out promotions.

Teachers To Work Next Tuesday

Students of Winters Public Schools will have another week of summer vacation, but members of the faculty for the 1978-79 school year will begin their work Tuesday, Aug. 22, with in-service sessions and preparations for the school year.

Teachers will report to the school cafeteria at 9 a.m. Tuesday for a general assembly. Dr. Tom Tribble, pastor of Winters First United Methodist Church, will give the invocation, and Tommy Lancaster, superintendent of schools, will introduce members of the faculty and other school employees. Billy J. Colburn, president of the school board, will give a welcome talk, and Randy Springer, vice president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, will speak.

A general faculty meeting will be held at 10 a.m., and again at 1 p.m., with Supt. Lancaster explaining generalities of bilingual education programs, and Phases I and II of the School Accreditation program.

On Wednesday, teachers will attend meetings scheduled by the building principals.

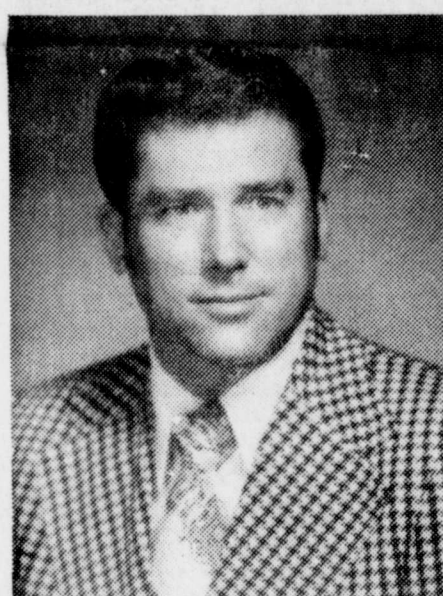

On Thursday, Aug. 24, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, in the school cafeteria, Margaret Tennell, director of the Co-op for Special Services for Williamson County, will speak to the teachers on "Education of the Handicapped." The session will be continued Thursday afternoon.

On Friday, Aug. 25, teachers will work in their buildings making preparations for the first day of classes for the new school year.

Students will report for regular classes Monday, Aug. 28, with buses running on regular schedule. This will be a full class day, with classes beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Supt. Lancaster said all buildings are in readiness for the new school year, and teacher and employee assignments have either been made or will be completed by the time the in-service sessions begin.

SIGN-UP—Bob Browning, seated, representing the Winters Blizzard Booster Club, set up shop in the Community Center Friday night during the watermelon feed, to sign up members in the drive to build the Booster Club. Three members of the Winters school board led the sign-up, including, left to right, Billy J. Colburn, board president, Gary Pinkerton and Don Vinson. Attempts are being made to re-organize the Booster Club, and to promote the Blizzard athletes and athletic events. Organization leaders are urging the entire community to take an interest in the activities, and to "get behind the coaching staff and the WHS athletes." Membership in the organization is only $5, they said, and the funds will be used to promote Blizzard activities.

Wingate School Announces Breakfast and Lunch Policy

The Wingate School has announced its policy for free and reduced price breakfast and lunch for children unable to pay full price for meals served under the National School Lunch Program. Children from families whose income is at or below the levels adopted by the School Board are eligible for free or reduced price meals. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with unusual hardship conditions, may also apply. In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply, they should contact the school. Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin. The Wingate School business office has a copy of the complete free and reduced price lunch and breakfast policy which may be reviewed by any interested party at any time.

MRS. DAVID LOVETT

Miss Fairey and Mr. Lovett Wed Friday

James Gehrels was officiating minister. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fairey of Winters. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Lovett of Lufkin. The church was decorated with greenery and candles. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza in a Southern Belle design. Venice lace flowerets sculptured the neckline and encircled the bodice. Ruffles of organza cascaded from the shoulders forming soft caplets for the sleeves. Her softly flaring skirt was accented by a pointed flounce edged with Venice lace scallops, sweeping to a chapel train. She wore a walking length veil and headpiece edged in Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath, centered with an orchid, atop a white Bible. Lois Lovett, sister of the groom, was organist. Candelighters were James Fairey of Winters, and Becky Bockmon of Dallas. Danny Lovett, of Shreveport, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Steve Tatom of Carrollton and Michael Green of Spring. Groomsman were Grady Kirkland and Jimmy McCarty, both of Lufkin. The bride's sister, Ginger Tatom, of Carrollton was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Keva Green of Spring and Susan Poe of Winters. The bride's attendants wore long gowns of pastel blue, pink, and yellow eyelet. They carried nosegays of white daisies and baby's breath. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, with the bride's sisters serving. The bride is a graduate of Winters High School. The groom is a graduate of Lufkin High School. Both are seniors at Texas A&M University.

Krueger's Kolumn
By Cong. Bob Krueger
21st Texas District

When the news last week reached me that the Guadalupe River was flooding, my mind leapt back to the parched hillsides and drought conditions that I had seen in the Hill Country just three days before. And I thought back, as well, to my memories of the 1972 floods in New Braunfels when the Guadalupe rose 40 feet in our back yard, and extended for over a quarter of a mile from our back steps across the pean bottom land that we usually look on from our home, for only the tops of those tall trees stood visible. Since the Guadalupe runs behind the back yard of the house in which I have lived since I was six years old, I have had ample opportunity to witness the sudden and sometimes devastating power with which it can rise. Even so, its strength and force are awesome when it floods.

Several counties in the Hill Country and West Texas went from drought disaster to flood disaster in a matter of hours. We know we are not likely to control that flux in nature, but we can as citizens work to help one another when disaster strikes our neighbors. We can do this as individuals and we can do it collectively through our government and its programs.

Upon learning that several Hill Country rivers had left their banks, I immediately went personally to Bandera, Kerr, and Kendall counties to see whether I could assist

Wolff Doesn't Like Gas Pricing Agreement

Congressional Democratic nominee Nelson Wolff has said that the compromise natural gas pricing agreement now being considered by the Energy Conference committee is unfair to Texas.

The bill would lift federal price controls from newly discovered gas by 1985. Wolff said the bill in its present form extends federal regulation for the first time to intrastate gas, forcing Texans to compete with northeastern and midwestern states for existing supplies.

"This increases the demand for natural gas without providing adequate incentives for increased production," Wolff said.

"The bill is so overburdened with regulations it actually penalizes gas producing states. An analysis of the bill estimates that intrastate consumers such as Texans could pay as much as $7 billion more for their natural gas while interstate consumers could pay $6 billion less for their energy."

Wolff pointed out that it is still not too late to make several important changes in the bill before it is reported out for a final vote.

"I strongly urge the conferees to amend the language of the bill to correct its present inequities."

HELP FOR NEIGHBORS—Members of Winters Lions Club last Tuesday loaded and transported several trailer- and pickup-loads of clothing, bedding, and food, to Albany, in a community effort to lend assistance to the victims of the flood which hit Albany two weeks ago.

Several organizations and individuals joined in gathering clothing, bedding and other items.

"Awright, I want $500.00 for this horse and you offer me $50.00, wul I aint gonna let $450.00 stand in the way of a sale."

FOR REAL—The photographer many times has been accused of trick photography in recording catches

When shopping for credit, keep in mind that banks are less expensive, but they may require security and are more selective.

On the other hand, finance companies generally charge more and have higher penalties but will take more of a risk, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings, (including homes) lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts. Other loans, beyond actual losses, can be made for annual operating expenses or to make major adjustments in a farming (or ranching or aquaculture) operation.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," Thomas E. Hill said.

Loans covering actual losses are made at an interest rate of three and five percent and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's reasonable ability

Prussic Acid Causes Much Loss In Cattle

Texas cattlemen have lost cattle valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars from prussic acid poisoning caused by drought conditions, reports the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

"Cattle owners throughout the state need to be alert to the possibilities of prussic acid poisoning," commented Dr. John Reager, head diagnostic toxicologist at the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at Texas A&M University. "We've seen cases in Navasota, Pleasanton, San Angelo, Decatur, Burnet and Ballinger, just to mention a few," he continued, "so it's a wide spread problem."

Grazing drought-stressed pastures of Johnson grass, sudan grasses or common sorghums offer the possibilities of prussic acid poisoning, a type of cyanide. Onset of the disease is very rapid with bloating and staggering often occurring within 15 minutes from the time cattle begin to graze on stressed plants. Death occurs shortly thereafter unless immediate treatment is begun.

"A rancher called me last week reporting ten cows down," commented Burleson veterinarian Dr. Harold Putnam. "I got there within 15 minutes and was able to save seven of the ten but he lost a $2,500 investment within 30 minutes time."

Reager warned cattlemen to beware of grazing herds on milo fields that did not "make" due to drought conditions. He also reminded farmers to let hay lie at least five days after cutting so the volatile cyanide gas can dissipate before baling.

"The showers we've gotten in the last few days will only add to the problem," Reager continued. "New growth will come on drought-stricken plants, and cattlemen, who are eager to use every bit of forage available, may turn their cattle on it too soon. The prussic acid content of this new growth is extremely concentrated. They should wait two to three weeks before allowing cattle to graze on the new growth."

"We've seen more prussic acid poisoning in the Plains and Panhandle area this year than in previous ones," reported Dr. Ned Brown, director of the Diagnostic Laboratory branch in Amarillo. "It's been particularly bad in counties in the eastern Panhandle. While our drought conditions haven't been as serious as those in other parts of the state, we've certainly had our share of prussic acid poisoning."

Ranchers are advised to feed cattle hay before turning them into new pastures. The hay provides a diluting effect should the pasture grass contain excessive amounts of prussic acid. Since onset of the disease is so rapid, the cattle should be observed for about an hour as symptoms will usually appear within that length of time if prussic acid content of the grass is high.

"Hot weather affects the respiratory system in cattle," Brown explained. "Since they don't perspire, the cattle breathe more rapidly to expel body heat. An older animal who has had respiratory problems in the past is more susceptible to prussic acid poisoning because the cyanide derivative of hemoglobin prevents the transport of oxygen by the blood."

Blizzards Begin Summer Workouts; 62 Report In

Sixty-two Blizzard hopefuls reported in Monday morning, to begin summer pre-school training, and head football coach Les Fisher, after watching the two days in no-contact workouts, commented, "We're going to field a football team this fall."

Varsity and junior varsity players are working out together this week. The first three days saw three-day sessions, which will be reduced to two-day until the beginning of school.

The Blizzard 6-Aers will go into pads for contact practice next week, and will meet Jim Ned here Aug. 25 at 6 p.m. for a scrimmage session. The following week, they will travel to Hawley for a scrimmage. First game of the season will be a non-conference contest with the Clyde Bulldogs here Sept. 8, at 8 p.m.

Coach Fisher has invited fans to attend the practice sessions and watch the workouts. Presence of backers can go a long way in instilling confidence and an attitude of "we can win" among members of the team, it was indicated.

The Apples Are Coming, The Apples Are Coming
Though there is no Paul Revere to ride the streets crying "The apples are coming," people around the country are getting ready for the new crops.

Arkansas apples began moving into marketing channels the first of August, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

This year, supplies of Red Delicious, Golden Delicious and Holland apples are arriving first, according to reports from USDA's Federal-State market news reporters.

Red Delicious apples are number one in volume of all apples grown around the country—accounting for almost one-fourth. One reason for their great popularity is that they are the sweetest of all eating apples.

Red Delicious apples are easily identified by the five knobs on the blossom end and their bright red color. It is a "tall" apple, rather than being short and round like a Jonathan.

Golden Delicious apples are considered "all around." They are as popular for eating out of hand as they are for cooking and baking.

The Golden Delicious is similar in shape to the Red, but sports a bright golden skin. It is a bit more tart than the Red Delicious, to which it is related in name only.

Golden Delicious apples have a natural trait that makes them popular for use in salads. The meat stays white longer than other apples without the addition of citrus juices.

Hollands are a very large apple with a fairly red coloring. They are used for both fresh eating and in cooking. The Holland variety was developed in Weatherford, Texas and is an important commercial apple in southwestern states.

Forty or fifty years ago, the electric bill was most often called the "light bill". In thousands of homes, Mr. Edison's illuminating invention wasn't the only electrically powered appliance, but most people associated electricity with the most visible benefit—light.

Today, with the help of electrical energy and the appliances it powers, our tasks become easier and our lives more enjoyable. At West Texas Utilities we're working to provide you a continuing dependable source of electrical energy now and in the future.

Remember Reddy supplies the energy, only you can use it wisely.
