SLOW DOWN!—Motorists will have plenty of warning on the presence of speed breakers in the streets in the vicinity of the school. These signs were put up before installation of the breakers (bumps) last week. EXPERIMENT—City Street Department employees build a speed breaker (bump) on a street near the school. This bump and others were installed Thursday of last week, and then removed the following day, because they were too high. City officials said lower breakers will be installed this week.

Council Approves Engineers' Plans

In a special meeting last Tuesday night, Winters City Council examined final plans for a proposed dam and water reservoir on Elm Creek, before the plans and application for an amendment to the city's water permit is submitted to the Texas Water Resources Board for approval.

The engineering firm engaged by the city to draw up the plans explained all the details of the planning, and presented an estimated cost figure. Application and plans will be submitted to the state board, and a public hearing will be set, probably to be held in December, or perhaps in early 1979. Engineers said that the hearing would be set 90 days after the application is received by the board.

Following approval of the amendment to the water permit, and the project plans, application will be made by the city to agencies for financial aid. Engineers estimate that the project will cost about $3,865,300, which would include a dam and reservoir, pipelines to the water treatment plant, and land acquisition. It is proposed that a dam and reservoir be built immediately below the present Lake Winters dam, north of FM 53.

Speed-Reducing "Bumps" Put Down, Then Removed

Several speed-reducing "bumps" were installed on streets in the vicinity of the Winters schools last Thursday . . . and then removed Friday, the following day.

The "bumps," built of asphalt, were designed to force reduced speed on the streets in the vicinity of the school, because of the danger to students. The traffic near the schools has been a problem for a long time, and the City Council recently approved a plan to force slower driving.

The first speed "bumps" were installed as an experiment, according to Jim Hatler, alderman in charge of the Street Department. They were about 6 inches high, which would cause some problems to motorists, he said, and perhaps some damage to vehicles, even at slow speeds. He said new "bumps" will be installed this week, but will be only about 2 1/2 inches high. Hatler said he had contacted state highway department officials, and could find no definite plans to follow, although many communities in the state have used the system to reduce traffic speed in certain areas. He indicated that city officials had received very little "flak" from drivers because of the traffic bumps, and that most drivers and residents in the areas near the schools have approved the plan.

Blizzards Travel

The Winters Blizzards' second District 6-AA contest will be on the road, as they travel to Merkel Friday to meet the Badgers.

Following a hard defeat at the hands of the Stamford Bulldogs last Friday night, the Blizzards have been working this week on correcting some of the errors which helped to cost them the first game of district competition. Coach Les Fisher said the Blizzards are "beginning to work" on offensive procedures, and will have many things ironed out by Friday night.

Merkel fields about the same type team as Clyde, Fisher said, and the Badgers defeated Clyde 21-15 Sept. 22 in a pre-conference tilt. Winters lost to Clyde 25-3 in the first game of the season. Coahoma defeated Merkel last week 10-6 in their first conference game.

The Badgers "play with excitement," Coach Fisher said, and put up a good defense, but the Blizzards can contain them.

The Blizzard-Badger game will begin at 7:30.

Speaking of the Winters-Stamford game, Coach Fisher said the Blizzards, for the first time this season sustained drives, and controlled the ball during the entire first half. The TD 1:35 into the second quarter sparked the Blizzards for the rest of the half. However, Linebacker David Brewer made a hard tackle in the first half, and was "addled," and did not go back. Also, John Musick, who made the TD in the second quarter, and played middle linebacker on defense, also was "addled," and his further participation was limited for the rest of the game.

Scott Hall, defensive end, graded highest for defense in the Stamford tilt.

Fisher said David Esquivel made 66 yards in 20 rushes, and John Musick had 42 for 10 runs. Chuck Evans completed 3 passes of 8 attempts for 35 yards. The Blizzards had 63 running plays during that game.

Stamford's opportunistic pass receptions, and exceptional long runs made the difference in that game, Fisher said. And their defensive secondary did a good job.

Savings Assn.

Applies For Winters Branch

Heart O' Texas Savings Association of San Saba is making application to the Savings and Loan Commissioner of Texas for authority to open and maintain a branch office in Winters.

Keith Shahan, executive vice president of the association, said this week application had been submitted to the state commissioner, who would set a date for a hearing Oct. 30, in Austin. Following the hearing, it would be at least 60 days before a decision would be made, he said. Shahan said if the application is approved, it would be about mid-1979 before the branch office would be opened in Winters.

Heart O' Texas, based in San Saba, has two other branch offices, one at Lakeway in Travis County, and a branch at Ballinger, which was opened about a year ago.

Frankie Berryman of Ballinger is a director of the association.

The Bazaar will be held Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11, in a location to be announced. Additional information may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce office.

CATTLE KING OF THE 1870's

History buffs from over West Texas, ranging from Wichita Falls to Austin and as far south as Fort Stockton, flocked to our town Saturday for the 17th annual meeting of the Edwards Plateau Historical Association.

Other states were represented by the great-grandchildren of Hugh Martin Childress who came to hear their ancestor honored, by Frank Jenkins giving a research paper on his life. They were Mrs. Bye Morgan of Richvale, California, Mrs. Ray Carpenter and her brother Clyde Childress Landsaw of Montesano, Washington.

Visitors were delighted with our friendly people, the accommodations and the entertainment that had been provided.

Marcella Weiershausen of Fredericksburg and her sister-in-law came Friday and took an early morning drive before the meeting. She came in bursting with enthusiasm. "I like your town. You have the friendliest people! And I had the best bed and a good breakfast down town," she commented.

The days activities began with a coffee provided by the hosts, the Runnels County Historical Commission, who baked stacks of cookies for this hour.

Decorations carried out the pioneer theme from red checked table cloth to miniature replicas of grandma and grandpa with his bucket of corn, the kerosene lamp and the old settin' hen. There was also the spinning wheel, churn, log cabin, country store and the little red schoolhouse.

Mrs. Clarence Lee, Mrs. Loyd Roberson and Mrs. Rankin Pace were the decorators.

Mrs. Roberson entertained historians with her reading of "The Indian Influence" written by Wade White, while John Glenn Key delighted hearers with his humor and romanticizing about early days in the county. Dr. B. F. Tatum of Ballinger described the ethnic festivals and a group from Rowena provided entertainment with German songs and dances and period wedding dresses.

The new tables and comfortable chairs in a restful shade of green added to the decor of the school cafeteria and gave a pleasing atmosphere for the delicious luncheon provided by Mrs. Lavada Haupt and her staff.

An afternoon bus ride to the Content area climaxed the days program with Neuman Smith providing watermelon for the grand finale.

The tour also included a stop at the Atoka Cemetery, in the edge of Coleman County, where a wreath was placed at the grave of Childress, the Texas ranger and Methodist circuit rider preacher.

While researching the Rev. Childress's life Mr. Jenkins learned that Hugh Martin, Jr. took over his father's cattle so that he could devote all his time to religion. And Jenkins wondered what had happened to him as his grave was not with his parents and brother, Elisha, and his wife in the Atoka Cemetery. This prompted Jenkins to write his dissertation on the "Cattle King of the 1870's."

In 1874 Joseph G. McCoy, the first historian of the cattle industry, wrote that there were few more widely known and persistent drovers than H. M. Childress, a native-born Texan. John Ashton stated that Martin Childress was one of the largest ranchers in north-west Texas in 1870.

As a comparison to other cattlemen, following are the number of cattle sent to market in 1870:

Hugh Martin Childress, Jr., 10,000; James Patterson, 8,000; John Hittson, 7,000; John Simpson, 6,000; and Charles Goodnight, 5,000.

The year 1871 was fraught with misfortune to Childress who grazed his cattle on the open range in Coleman County and other West Texas counties. He not only lost heavily in business but recklessly squandered many thousands of dollars. Many of his cattle were stolen by the Comanche Indians and taken to New Mexico where they were sold to beginning ranches.

In 1872 Childress and Hittson, apparently partners, decided to recover their stolen cattle. Escorted by a detachment of U.S. Cavalry, they boldly rode into New Mexico with about 60 to 90 hard-faced Texas cowmen to look over the cattle there. The undertaking was one fraught with hardship and danger, for those, in whose possession the stolen cattle were found, would not give them up without a struggle. The two men recovered 11,000 cattle and 300 horses. They killed a number of Mexicans but escaped without injury to themselves or their men. The cattle were sold in Colorado and Childress wound up the year with a fortune for his daring in carrying out The Great New Mexico Cattle Raid. The New Mexicans claimed that Childress was no better than a highway robber himself, coming in and taking what pleased him.

A couple of months later Childress and several others were arrested and put in jail, but escaped within three days. The disappointed Mexicans, suspecting bribery, imprisoned the jailor and four of the five guards on duty when the escape occurred.

During the panic of 1873 Childress drove a herd of 10,000 cattle to Kansas and was unable to sell them. So he left them to graze on the Kansas prairie. He was one of the first to let his cattle graze with the buffalo. He returned to Kansas in 1874 and hired a team of buffalo hunters to round them up. They were paid $45,000 to round up 9,000 cattle and to drive them to market in Dodge City, Kansas.

About 1888 Childress moved to Grant County, New Mexico where he established a ranch on the Upper Gila River. His wife died in 1889 at Silver City. He sold his ranch in 1896 and was considering moving to Arizona when he was accused of the murder of Ed Moss. A posse tracked him down and killed him on September 23, 1897.

Martin Childress was a jolly fellow, always full of fun and frolic. He would walk boldly into death's jaws to relieve or avenge a friend. He was a deadly pistol shot and did not fail to use one when occasion required; yet he avoided a quarrel rather than seeking one. He was never so happy as when he could make his friends happy by performing acts of kindness.

COTTON—Mass production of cotton in this area is a thing of the past, when there were upwards of at least 10 gins in Winters. Many farmers have stopped planting cotton, and those who have stayed with cotton found this a not-so-favorable year, for the most part. There are a few who did fairly well this year, however. The picker shown here gathered the cotton for Thad Traylor, who made one-half bale to the acre on only 20 acres he planted this year. It was bound for the Wingate gin, the closest in this area.

TOUCHDOWN!—John Musick, No. 88, went over from a yard out for the Blizzards' TD against Stamford in the first half last Friday night.

Winters 7, Stamford 35

The Winters Blizzards opened district play Friday night against the Stamford Bulldogs with a loss of 35 to 7. The first quarter was dominated by the defense of both teams. There was no score until the end of the second quarter when John Musick ran the ball over from the one yard line for the only score in the first half. The extra point attempt was good. The Blizzards went into the dressing rooms ahead 7-0 at the half.

In the third quarter, Stamford began passing the ball consistently. With 7:48 left in the third quarter, the Bulldogs got on the scoreboard with a one yard run from quarterback Mike Cox. The Bulldogs tried for the two point conversion and made it, making the score 8-7.

In the fourth quarter, Stamford really began to move the ball. They were successful on four touchdowns on runs of 10 yards, 45 yards, 82 yards and 20 yards. Three of the four extra point attempts were good making the final score Stamford 35, Winters 7.

Offensively, the Blizzards moved the ball better than they have against any other team this year. David Esquivel had 66 yards rushing. Wayne Kraatz had a good game on offense at left guard. Johnny Lujano's punting was excellent again this week.

On defense, Scott Hall had an outstanding game. In the first half, David Brewer played well but received an injury that kept him out of the action after that.

Around The 6-AA Football Loop

With pre-conference games out of the way, District 6-AA teams got down to the business at hand last Friday night, the business being the struggle for leadership in the loop. Everything they do for the next few weeks will be for the record.

Winners around the loop Friday were Stamford, 35-7 against Winters; Coahoma 10-6 against Merkel; and Wylie 12-6 against Ballinger.

This week's schedule calls for Winters to go to Merkel; Anson will visit Stamford; Colorado City will travel to Ballinger; and Coahoma will take in Wylie, at Wylie.

Comparisons: Anson and Stamford have played common opponents in pre-conference games. The Anson Tigers lost 58-6 to the Haskell Indians Sept. 8; Stamford's Bulldogs played Haskell to a 13-13 standoff Sept. 29. On Sept. 8, Stamford hit Hamlin 7-2, and Anson lost to Hamlin 25-0.

—Winters lost to Clyde 25-3 Sept. 8; Merkel beat Clyde 21-15 on Sept. 22.

—Colorado City and Ballinger have played on common opponents.

BILL CLEMENTS WILL CUT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Texas was built by men with the vision to look ahead and the grit to get things done. Bill Clements is the man to keep this tradition alive for the future of Texas.

Bill Clements will bring a strong, fresh and tough approach to our government in Austin. He is a businessman, not a politician.

Bill Clements started with nothing and built a successful, worldwide company with hard work and the skill to manage men and money. And now Bill Clements wants to preserve the future of our state and he wants the working people of Texas to have the same opportunities he had.

With his proposed "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," Bill Clements is committed to protecting Texans from excessive taxation and runaway government spending. He is pledged to cutting taxes and returning that money directly to the taxpayers.

As former Chairman of the Southern Methodist University Board of Governors, Bill Clements knows how to make education in Texas the best in the Nation. He's for discipline in the classroom and "back to basics" quality education.

As the son and grandson of farmers, Bill Clements knows the frustrations that an indifferent government can cause people who make their living off the land. He will use the strength of the State Government to fight burdensome Federal restrictions.

"I believe that Texas has always had more promise than problems, but the balance is more delicate each year. We need to get to work now."

KRUEGER OF TEXAS

There is nothing more important to the welfare of our nation than solving the economic uncertainty currently plaguing taxpayers.

Because of that, I have committed a large percentage of my time during my terms in Congress to eliminate wasteful federal spending, calling for additional scrutiny of programs that are expensive and may well not be giving the taxpayers a fair return on their investment and I am now co-sponsoring a resolution that will demand that the federal government balance its budget within the next five years.

I have undertaken the fight for fiscally conservative policies because without more responsible allocation of federal tax dollars, this nation is indeed en route to having to confront serious, very serious, economic problems.

This week I was honored to receive a commendation from one of the nation's most prestigious business associations which is constantly fighting for less government waste.

The National Associated Businessmen, Inc., awarded me its annual "Watchdog of the Treasury" award for, in NAB's words, my "concern with the inflationary impact of excessive federal government spending" and for voting 85 percent of the time with legislation that reduced government spending.

Receiving the award from the NAB is, of course, an honor I cherish, but with such an honor comes the continued responsibility to fight for sound monetary policy at the federal level.

That is why I am co-sponsoring House Joint Resolution 130, a resolution calling for a Constitutional Amendment requiring our federal government to balance the budget.

Also included is a provision that the U.S. pay off its staggering national debt within the next 20 years. Until we begin to make headway, both in balancing the budget and in paying off our deficit, the soundness of the American dollar will remain in question.

Although Proposition 13 is a recent development, economic soundness is not as new an issue as some politicians now attempting to jump on the bandwagon would have the public believe.

As long ago as last spring, I introduced an amendment that would have frozen the size of our federal government except for the three crucial areas of national defense, veterans benefits and agriculture expenditures.

Not enough of my colleagues were then attuned to the public resentment toward excessive government spending and that amendment failed; it reflected, however, attitudes which became more visible with the passage of California's Proposition 13.

It is unfortunate that members of Congress—as well as individual government agencies—have not taken it upon themselves to curtail excessive spending; since they have not, a Constitutional Amendment putting an end to deficit spending seems the logical route to follow.

But one thing is certain. Regardless of the specific way it is done, we must halt, increases in the rate of federal spending. Once that is accomplished, a restructuring of our tax system—which is unfair in too many ways—can take place in a logical and responsible way.

Egg grade does not affect the egg's food value.

Lower grades are as high in nutrients as top grade, reports Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

C-C Committee Planning Big Sale Celebration

The Retail Trades Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce this week announced plans for a big community-wide sale event, to be held Nov. 10-11.

This year's sale celebration will be called "Town and Country Sale Days," and those merchants wishing to take advantage of the event should begin making plans now, the committee said.

To substitute all-purpose flour for cake flour, decrease the amount of all-purpose flour used by about two tablespoons per cup.

Cake flour is milled from soft wheat and produces a fine-grained product, says Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
