Man Drowns Saturday In Winters Lake

Winters City Lake, five miles east of town, and nearing 35 years old, claimed its first drowning victim Saturday afternoon.

Gary Fred Ozbirn, 18, of Winters, drowned about 4 p.m. Saturday after efforts by a younger brother to save him failed.

Buford Baldwin, Winters Municipal Judge, ruled death was accidental.

His sister, Betty Lou, 13, and brother, Chris Wayne, 11, were floating on a raft near the lake shore when Gary decided to join them, Chris said. As Gary began to swim toward them, he went under one time, then came up, calling to his younger brother for help.

Chris said he tried to paddle the raft to his brother but failed because of high winds. So he paddled to shore, took the family car and drove the five miles into Winters for help. He contacted law enforcement officers for help, he said. The fire department and the Winters Unit of the Runnels County Emergency Service rushed to the lake.

Two boats were launched, and the area where the young man was said to have gone down was dragged. The body was found at 5:35 p.m. Revival attempts were made by emergency personnel, but to no avail.

Services for Mr. Ozbirn were held at 2 p.m. Monday in Southside Baptist Church, with the Rev. Haeward Morrison, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery, under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born July 2, 1960, in Haskell, he attended school at Matador, Plainview, Guthrie and Winters. He was an employee of Winters Welding Works. He was a member of Southside Baptist Church.

Survivors include his mother, Mary Ozbirn of Winters; two brothers, Don Jamerson of Abilene and Chris Wayne of Winters; a half-brother, Frankie Merrill of Winters; two sisters, Cynthia Ann and Betty Lou, both of Winters; a half-sister, Mary Jane Merrill of Winters; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Deaton of Dumont.

BY CHARLISE POE

INCIDENTS OF THE EARLY WEST

Continuing his narrative of the early West, C. M. Hunt recounted some interesting human incidents when he was interviewed by J. B. Masters of the Dallas News in 1926.

"We hauled everything from Fort Worth then in ox wagons. A trip required from two to three months. We broke in a yoke of steers by hitching them in between the lead and tongue yokes when the trip began, and sometimes we enjoyed an exciting moment when a pair of old longhorn bulls were first hitched up. From the old Moro community, which was ten miles west of the ground where Bradshaw was to be established, our wagons started. We freighted buffalo bones to Fort Worth and sold them to Fort Worth bone buyers. Groceries and whiskey were hauled back."

"I remember an interesting contract that was entered into by the saloon keepers and the drivers. The freighters for a long time knocked off a barrel hoop and bored into the barrel when the hoop had pressed against the stores. Enough whiskey was then poured out to last the driver throughout the return trip and an equal amount of water was poured back. The hole was then plugged and the hoop was driven back to its former place, hiding the plugged spot. The saloon keepers, rather than have watered stock, agreed to give the freighters all of the whiskey necessary for the return trip if they would discontinue the practice of tapping the barrels. That agreement was never broken."

"In recounting the early life here, I recall the first school in this section. A shack of logs was stacked up around a dirt floor. The school term extended over three months. Twelve children were enrolled the first year. Prof. Hale was the first teacher and his salary was $20 per month, paid by private subscription. He had no regular boarding place, but took free lodging at the different childrens homes."

"The first court trial in this section was unique. Two men went into the back end of a saloon together, a pistol was discharged, one of the men came out. The other one was found dead. The living man declared that he didn't know what had caused the others death. A trial was held under the mesquite trees, after which a jury wandered off into the bushes to meditate. Soon a verdict was rendered."

"No man is guilty until he's proved guilty. This man denies that he killed the other fellow and nobody swears that he did. We find the gentleman, accepting his own testimony, not guilty."

"The first mail over this country was delivered by horseback. The first route through here through Lemon Pass to Bell Plains by Baird to Fort Chadbourne. Then came the stage coach and the sensational robberies. Notorious outlaws came in at irregular times and made quick hauls and hastened to mountain caves to divide the spoils."

"One of the genuine amusements of the early Western life that has gone with the passing of the frontier was the exciting 'hoss races.' Every cowpuncher in this section gathered at old Mount Mors. After drinking at A. O. Brower's bar, a fellow got keyed up for anything."

"Judges were selected and the ponies were breasted to the starting line. Then the betting began, and often everything that a cowpuncher had was lost before the day's races were done. Ponies, saddles, bridles, trousers, boots and everything but the skin often went in the wager. But the boys were real sports. When they lost, the winners treated them to another drink; calmly they rode back to camp, and the loss was forgotten."

These incidents of the West will never occur again. We would not turn back and exchange our present ways for the old, but it is fun to read about them.

WHEN YOU BUILD OR REMODEL

A KEY TO SAVING ELECTRICAL ENERGY AND MONEY IS INSIDE . . .

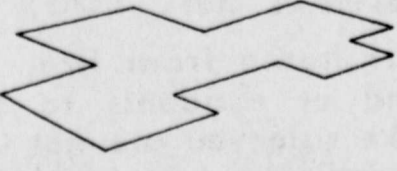

... THE WALLS AND CEILING.

The outside walls of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME are insulated to an R-factor of 18; the ceiling to R-30. Both also have a separate positive vapor and/or infiltration barrier.

... THE DOORS AND WINDOWS.

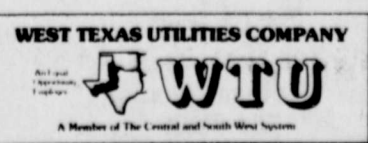

Outside doors on the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME are metal insulating or wood with separate storm doors. Windows are double-paned or single-paned with storm windows. All windows and outside doors are caulked and weatherstripped. We also recommend that the total glass area be 8% or less of the floor space.

... THE FLOORS.

The very foundation of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME — the floor — is also an important factor in saving energy and money. Slab floors should have either rigid urethane or styrofoam (min. 3/4" thickness) from top of the floor along the outside edge of the slab down to the brick ledge, or poured vermiculite in the cavity. Pier and beam flooring should have R-19 insulation between the floor and crawl space.

FFAers Honored At Banquet Last Tuesday

Several members of the Winters High School chapter, Future Farmers of America, were honored during the annual banquet held in the school cafeteria last Tuesday evening, and residents of the community were recognized for their work with the FFA chapter.

James Blackwell was recognized as Star Lone Star Farmer for ag production, and Terry Gerhart was honored as Star Lone Star Farmer for agri-business. Both are seniors. Blackwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blackwell, and Gerhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gerhart.

Blackwell is the outgoing 1978-79 Area IV FFA president. Gerhart is the Area IV FFA state presidential nominee for 1979-80, and will represent the 77 school and all four districts of Area IV during the Texas FFA State Convention July 11-13 in Lubbock.

A state president is required to serve the Texas FFA during what would normally be his or her first year of college after high school graduation.

Because the job requires extensive and constant travel, a candidate must be willing to commit himself as willing to make such time sacrifice, which Gerhart has indicated he is willing to do. He accepted the nomination during the Area IV FFA Convention in Stephenville several days ago.

Roy Walston was recognized as Star Greenhand. Star Greenhand is given to the outstanding first-year FFA member. He is the son of Raymond Walston of Winters, and is a freshman.

Walker Walston, a sophomore, was co-winner of the Star Chapter Farmer Degree with Jay West. Walker is the son of Raymond Walston, and Jay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James West of Winters.

Several received proficiency awards. Jim Bob Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Webb, received the ag electrification award.

Blackwell received the diversified livestock production award.

Also in the proficiency category, Benny Boatright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Boatright of Winters, received the swine proficiency award.

Kelly Blackerby, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Blackerby, received the cattle award in proficiency.

Bill Bredemeyer was a double winner. In proficiency awards, Bredemeyer received the sheep award, and a special award this year, the Most Dedicated Feeder. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bredemeyer.

Jeff Russell Inducted Into Honor Group

Jeff T. Russell of Winters was recently inducted into a national honor and service organization at Baylor University, Waco.

He was named to the Baylor chapter of Gamma Beta Society in recognition of scholastic achievement. Eligibility for membership in the national organization requires class rank in the top 15 percent. Baylor has the second largest chapter in the United States.

Russell is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Tommy Russell of Winters, and is a graduate of Winters High School.

Look For Quality Eggs

Eggs continue to be an outstanding food buy from both an economical and a nutritious standpoint. In fact, a high quality egg contains all the essential nutrients except vitamin C.

But consumers should know how to shop for "high quality" eggs, says a poultry marketing specialist.

Dr. David B. Mellor, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, says exterior egg quality is simple to determine. Make sure the shell is clean, unbroken and properly shaped.

Of course, interior quality is harder to evaluate. It's judged at the packing plant where an intense light is passed through the egg for examination of contents.

The consumer has to use the "break out test" to check interior quality, explains Mellor. Fresh eggs cover only a small area when broken out. The albumen is thick, standing high and firm around the yolk. It is frequently cloudy, indicating the carbon dioxide naturally present in a fresh egg hasn't escaped. As eggs age, the amount of thick white decreases and becomes thinner.

The white, twisted, rope-like strands in the albumen are chalazae. They are highly concentrated albumen cords which support the yolk in the center of the albumen. They are a natural part of the eggs, so there is no reason to remove them before cooking, says Mellor.

A high quality egg will also produce excellent results in cooking, has a good taste and odor when properly cooked, and gives maximum eye appeal to other dishes, notes the specialist.

Eggs are an outstanding protein buy in today's high food price market, adds Mellor.

On the average it takes 1.2 seconds to make a field goal in football, including the snap from center, the ball placement and an accurate hit by the kicker.

"Mailbox Improvement Week" Being Observed Locally

May 21-26 is "Mailbox Improvement Week," and Postmaster H. M. (Jiggs) Nichols urged all local customers to paint and repair unkept or damaged mail receptacles, in town and on rural routes.

"Customers should be sure their boxes provide adequate protection to the mail and are easily reached by carriers to help speed collection and delivery of their mail," Postmaster Nichols said. The Postmaster recalled that a man named Ira F. Collins was among the first to show interest in improving the appearance and security of the mailbox.

On April 29, 1903, he filed an application with the U.S. Patent Office for a two-part, cylindrical mail receptacle. It consisted of a detachable scoop with a weather-proof outer casing, and a metal flag that could be raised to indicate when mail was to be collected.

"Until Collins came along," Postmaster Nichols said, "many makeshift receptacles—including tin cans nailed to trees—were used as mailboxes, particularly after rural mail service began in 1896."

Today, he said, a variety of approved commercial mailbox designs are available for use with decorative posts, and those who prefer a custom-made mailbox may check with the Winters Post Office to make sure it meets specifications and requirements.

During Mailbox Improvement Week, residents should examine their mailboxes to determine whether they have been damaged by weather or vandalism—particularly those located along rural routes, city curbsides, and highways—and should make any necessary repairs or improvements.

Runnels Co.'s being sold out at 1/4 %

The Runnels County Bankers Association wants you to be aware of a problem that could potentially affect all of us. A 1/4 % is standing in the way of Runnels County growth. Is it worth it?

We don't think so. After all, the 1/4 % more you earn at a savings and loan is only $2.60 a year on a $1000.00. As your county bankers, we have a commitment to you to re-invest your savings dollars right here at home to help our county grow and prosper. . .not some other county.

When you think of it in those terms, shouldn't you put your money to work for you and Runnels County? Don't let Runnels County be sold out for 1/4 %. Open a savings account today at any one of six (6) Runnels County banks.

Keep Blood Pressure Checked

Everyone should have their blood pressure taken at regular intervals and learn what the numbers mean, advises Carla Shearer, a health education specialist.

High blood pressure is a disease for which there are no reliable symptoms. Regular blood pressure checks are the only accurate way of diagnosing high blood pressure, the specialist points out.

Ms. Shearer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

When your blood pressure is taken, ask what your blood pressure reading is and obtain a clear understanding of what the numbers mean.

Below are three examples of blood pressure readings and some information about these readings:

1) 110/80—this is about average for most adults, although a lower reading is also good.

2) 140/90—this higher reading presents a different situation. There are a few things a physician may do for a person with this reading.

He may continue to closely monitor the person to see if there is an increase.

He may begin a mild non-drug treatment including recommendations for losing weight, lowering salt intake and more physical exercise.

Or, if there are other risk factors present, a physician may prescribe regular drug therapy.

3) 160/95—this reading will more frequently require treatment with drugs because the person is at a greater risk of high blood pressure.

Circumstances will vary from person to person, however, and although the blood pressure reading may be one of these, it is important to closely follow the recommendations of the physician, Ms. Shearer says.

awards banquet last week. Douglas Bryan, center, received a plaque as past president of the Winters FFA.

Business; James Blackwell, Star Lone Star Farmer, production; Jay West, Walker Walston, Chapter Farmers; and Roy Walston, Star Greenhand.

FFA AWARDS—These community residents, who have spent much time working with the school vo-ag program, were named honorary

Time To Spray Pecans For Nut Casebearers

Pecan growers should not start their spray program for the control of the pecan nut casebearer before Saturday, May 26, with the optimum dates being May 28 to May 30.

This recommendation was made by County Extension Agents Allen E. Turner and Dale C. Brandenberger, after they found casebearer eggs on Monday, May 21.

These eggs require 4 to 5 days to hatch and will spend another day before they migrate to the base of the nutlet and begin to feed.

Home owner's pecan nut casebearer control measures: (Listed is a choice of chemical sprays mixed in three gallons of water): Malathion, 2 teaspoons, 55 percent liquid; Zolone, 5 to 7 teaspoons, 35 percent liquid; Sevin, 6 to 9 tablespoons, 80 percent wettable powder.

Commercial orchard pecan nut casebearer control measures: (Listed is a choice of chemical sprays mixed in 100 gallons of water): Malathion, 1 1/2 pints, 55 percent liquid; Zolone, 1 1/2 pints, 35 percent liquid; Thiodan, 1 lb. of 50 percent wettable powder; Sevin, 2 lbs. 80 percent wettable powder. (The mentioned products do not guarantee or warrant the standard of the product and do not imply approval of the product to the exclusion of others which may be equally suitable).

The addition of Zinc Sulphate or NZN to the spray solution will decrease zinc rosette problems in pecan trees and produce higher quality nuts. The following rates are recommended: NZN, 1 tablespoon per gallon of water or 1 1/2 quarts per 100 gallons of water; Zinc Sulphate, 2 teaspoons per gallon of water or 2 lbs. per 100 gallons of water.
