Bloodmobile To Be Here Next Week

The bloodmobile will be in Winters at the First United Methodist Church Thursday, July 12, from 1 to 7:30 p.m.

This is a replacement drive, sponsors said. One of Winters' residents has been in the hospital and has used 30 units of blood, they said, and local residents can help this person by giving a pint of blood to go as credit against the amount of blood used.

Sponsors pointed out that many people are under the impression that health insurance policies pay for blood needed. They explained that the insurance does take care of the blood costs, cross-matching and administration fee, and other expenses, but it "cannot provide the blood."

To be eligible to donate blood, a person must be healthy, between 17 and 65 years of age, not on medication, and willing to give 30 minutes of time.

School Tax Board Meets On July 18

The Board of Equalization of Winters Independent School District will meet July 18 in the school administration building.

The board will meet with local property owners to discuss local values at 8:30 a.m.

Persons interested in discussing oil values will meet with the board at 2 p.m.

Elderly Are Eligible For Tax Exemption

Persons who are 65 or older, or under a disability for purposes of payment of disability benefits under Federal old age, survivors and disability insurance, are entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 from the market value of their residence homesteads for the purpose of school taxes, the Winters Independent School District announced this week.

To qualify for this exemption, applications must be filed with the school district tax office by July 20, the WISD spokesman said.

Jaycees Chartered

The recently-organized Winters Jaycees were presented their official State, U. S. and International charters Friday evening, during a charter banquet in the Winters Community Center.

Jim West, president of the young men's organization, accepted the charter from Ken Higdon of Abilene, who was representing the state organization.

During the course of the program, all members were presented special charter member pins, which their wives pinned for them.

Officers of the organization include West; Jim Matthews, vice president; Bill Dinger, secretary; Jerry Sims, treasurer; and Daryl Coats, state representative.

Water Will Cost More

Cost of water for domestic purposes, which actually has been negligible for many years, compared with other consumer items, in the future will of necessity be increased, along with other necessities—but there will not be much a spread in dollars and cents as has been realized in other items or services.

The increase in the cost of water to the consumer will be necessary in order for the city to meet bond retirement requirements... if the applications for low-interest loans from the Farmers Home Administration are approved. Sewer rates also probably will have to be increased, to meet debt requirements.

In a study of the water rate and financing program for the City of Winters by J. E. (Buck) Tinsley, the city's financial advisor for the proposed dam and water reservoir, researchers sought to determine the adequacy of the present consumer rates for water and sewer service, and the ability of the city to meet debt service requirements on $2,445,000 Waterworks System Revenue Bonds, which will be offered to secure a loan from Farmers Home Administration, Tinsley told the City Council at a special meeting several days ago.

Tinsley said the study examined water billings for the 12-month billing cycle covering the calendar year 1977 to compute annual gross billings against rate schedules. The researchers also studied the present indebtedness of the Waterworks System. Present encumbrances of the Waterworks and Sewer Systems include 1. Waterworks System revenue bonds, Oct. 1, 1944, maturing Oct. 1, 1979, and Oct. 1, 1980, $20,000;

Sorghum Cystitis In Horses

Due to this year's high rainfall, sorghum cystitis could be a problem in horses grazing sorghum hybrids.

Cases of sorghum cystitis frequently occur from June to November in the southwestern United States during periods of medium to high rainfall, points out Allen E. Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

All equine breeds and ages are affected, with the majority being two and three-year-olds.

Affected horses have normally grazed hybrids of sorghum and sudan, explains the agent. Other cases have involved varieties of sorghum or johnsongrass mixed with native pastures.

While sorghum cystitis usually results when horses graze young and rapidly-growing plants, mature and second-growth pastures may also cause the syndrome.

Mrs. Randy Springer To Head CF Campaign

Mrs. Randy Springer has accepted the chairmanship of the annual fall campaign on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Horses fed well-cured sorghum hay generally aren't affected, Turner notes.

Incoordination of the rear legs is the first symptom of the problem, followed by uncontrolled urination. Urine may drip continually, becoming intensified if the animal moves suddenly.

In mares, the most obvious signs include opening and closing of the vulva and dribbling of urine. Hair may shed on the inner hind legs due to "urine scalding." Mares may also abort.

Geldings may show hair loss near the prepuce due to urine scalding.

Complete recoveries have not been reported, notes Turner. However, horses have improved after being removed from pastures and fed a balanced ration. Uncontrolled urination and loss of coordination have remained with some animals for three years.

tion. She will be recruiting volunteers within the community to plan a "Breath of Life Campaign" to take place this fall in Winters.

The purpose of this fall campaign will be to provide the community with information about cystic fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for children affected by cystic fibrosis, and other lung damaging diseases like severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

Cystic fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children. Approximately one in every 20 Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. Cystic fibrosis is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene. At the present time, no cure for cystic fibrosis is known.

Why Jars Don't Seal

Sealing failures in home canning can result from some common mistakes.

Avoid making mistakes in home canning by following these suggestions:

1) Read and follow package instructions for using caps and lids. Don't take it for granted that all home canning caps are alike and are used exactly the same way.

2) Leave correct amount of head space when filling jars.

3) Take time to "knife out" air bubbles before sealing the jar.

4) Remove particles of food, seeds or seasonings from jar top or threads with damp cloth before putting on lid.

5) Particles left on jar rim can cause lid to seal, then, loosen.

6) Screwing band too tight can cause lid to buckle. A band must be tight enough to hold the rubber sealing compound closely against the jar top.

However, if the band is forced as far as it can be turned with a strong hand, the jar cannot vent. When the jar cannot vent, pressure within the jar causes the lid to buckle.

Therefore, tighten bands only comfortably tight to prevent buckled lids.

7) Screw bands tight enough.

8) Heat sufficiently to seal the lid. Follow recommended processing time and method.

9) Exhaust (vent) steam-pressure canner for a full 10 minutes, or until a stream of "blue steam" is visible, before closing petcock.

If steam is not exhausted, there is an uneven amount of steam pressure in the canner. As a result, some lids may seal while others in the same canner load may not.

10) Don't let pressure in canner fluctuate. This can cause food particles to be forced between jar and lid which will cause sealing failure.

The same thing may happen if steam is released too quickly after processing. Let pressure in canner reach zero degrees naturally before removing cover. Do not run cold water over canner to reduce pressure.

11) Don't reuse jars in which commercial foods are sold. These jars are designed for use on high speed packing machines and with caps developed especially for that product, but not for home canning.

12) Don't reuse lids. The lid of a two-piece metal cap should not be used more than once. This applies to all brands.

The compound is not guaranteed to seal a second time and the lid itself is often bent or warped when removed the first time.

13) Don't use old jar lids. If jar lids are old, the sealing compound may harden and not soften sufficiently to obtain a good seal.

As long as the sealing compound is resilient when mashed with the fingernail, the lid will probably seal. It is preferable to use jar lids the same year as purchased.

When kept longer, they often stick together and must be heated in boiling water to separate them.

If jars do not seal, you may reheat and process over again.

However, the product will be over-cooked and lose food value, flavor and texture.

You may keep a few jars in the refrigerator and use them within a short time instead of reprocessing.

Loeffler Joins Push For Coal Slurry Pipeline

Cong. Tom Loeffler has joined with a broad coalition of bipartisan sponsors of a bill which would allow a coal slurry pipeline from Wyoming to Texas a better chance to become a reality. "In view of the most recent outrageous requests for ever higher transportation rates asked for by Furlington Northern, we must move forward as quickly as possible to build a competitive pipeline to bring coal to San Antonio at lower rates," Loeffler said. "This legislation would open the door for the various permits necessary to building such a pipeline."

H. R. 4370, the Coal Pipeline Act of 1979, has the backing of the Carter Administration, and was also cosponsored by Texas Congressmen Bob Eckhardt, Abraham Kazen and Majority Leader Jim Wright. The bill would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to acquire rights-of-way across federal lands and private lands for pipeline carriers if the projects are in the public interest and meet certain other criteria. Pipelines need this authority, Loeffler said, "because the railroads do not want competition and have used their extensive land-holdings to block the building of pipelines. "It is no wonder that the railroads do not want any competition. They have used their monopoly position in the transportation of coal to San Antonio and other Texas cities to inflict astounding rate increases—increases which will cost San Antonians over $20 million a year in higher rates. "This unwarranted gouging of consumers must be halted, and this bill is a workable means to achieve eventual relief for the over-burdened utility users," Loeffler concluded. "The hardest job of all is trying to look busy when you're not," William Feather

Water—
(Continued from page 1) and Utility System Revenue Bonds, Aug. 1, 1973, to total $170,000. The Waterworks System Revenue Bonds are secured by a pledge of the net revenues of the city's waterworks system. The Utility System Revenue Bonds are secured by a pledge of the net revenues of the city's sewer system.

Tinsley's report shows that "in anticipation of the demands of debt service in financing a more dependable water supply the city has increased consumer rates for water twice within less than two years.

With rate increases put into effect Sept. 1, 1977 and Dec. 1, 1978, respectively, pro forma gross annual billings have been computed, to show an anticipated revenue of $206,636. Of this amount, consumption of less than 3,000 gallons (minimum) account for 20.4 percent; 3,000 to 7,000 gallons, 13.4 percent; 7,000 gallons to 12,000 gallons, 10.5 percent; and over 12,000 gallons, 26.3 percent, for a total of 70.9 percent, for inside city consumption. Outside city consumption accounts for the other 29.1 percent.

Tinsley's study and report points out that "it is obvious . . . that some additional rate increase for water (is) necessary . . . with debt service requirements of the proposed Waterworks Revenue Bonds during the early years amounting to $122,250, and net revenues available for that purpose amounting to only $109,190."

The low-interest loan applied for is for a 40 year period. Applications are being made to gain a grant for the additional money to build the dam and reservoir, which has been estimated at $4 million.
