Blizzards Host Roscoe

The Winters High School Blizzards have had two outings this football season, and have come home with defeats, first at the hands of the Clyde Bulldogs, and then victims of the Coleman Bluecats at Coleman last Friday night.

This Friday night, the Blizzards will homestand for the first time this season, hosting the Roscoe Plowboys, with intentions of duplicating their last year's win at Roscoe.

This year's batch of Plowboys are big and dangerous. They beat Jayton, and then Robert Lee, and are a team expected to get better as the season progresses. The Plowboys' offense is built around No. 30, John Perper, a 196-pound senior.

Coach Les Fisher said Monday that the Blizzards' Pat Salas still is hampered with an injured ankle, but may play. Brett Burleson, who was injured in the Clyde game, will be out of action another week. Gene Bowden received a bruised wrist in the Coleman action Friday night, and probably will miss this week's game.

Reflecting on last Friday night's game, Coach Fisher believed that the Blizzards turned in a better performance than the score indicates. They played well, but were outgunned throughout the evening. The "crucial turnovers hurt us," he said; the Blizzards fumbled three times and Coleman capitalized on a blocked punt and went in for a counter. The Bluecats capitalized on Blizzard mistakes all evening. "If we could have contained Cody Norris of the Bluecats, the outcome probably would have been different," the coach said. Norris accounted for 212 yards on the evening. "We've got to quit making mistakes," the coach warned. The Blizzards were inside the Coleman 20 four times, but failed to go across.

Council To Clarify Water Tap Policy

After operating for a long time in a so-called "gray" area—without a written policy on water and sewer taps—the city's Water & Sewer Dept. within a few days should have clarified guidelines to follow.

During the regular meeting of the City Council Monday night, upon being informed that there is no known written policy regarding tapping of water and sewer lines, Mayor W. Lee Colburn appointed a committee of Aldermen Ted Meyer, E. J. Bishop, and Jim Hatler to make a study of the situation, and make recommendations to the council as a whole, by the next regular meeting of the council.

In the past, it has been the policy of the water department to tap main water lines, and run the lines to the property line of private property. However, the unwritten policy has been, it was stated, to require individuals to make their own sewer taps, regardless of where the main sewer line has been located. This has been the cause for some confusion in the past, it was noted, as the private individuals have been

Local Animal Control Officer Has Resigned

Franklin O'Dell, who was appointed Winters Animal Control Officer in April, has resigned, and has entered private business.

O'Dell has purchased the Skelly service station on North Main, and took over operation last Friday. He purchased the business from Virgil Awalt.

Randy Springer, Winters City Councilman who has been in charge of the animal control department of the city, said a successor to O'Dell has not been named. The city is advertising for a person to employ as Animal Control officer.

During the time O'Dell has served as Animal Control Officer, he has completed construction of an animal shelter on city property southeast of town, and has built an office on the premises. Also, city officials have said, the population of stray and unvaccinated dogs has dwindled since O'Dell started work. During the several months O'Dell was in charge of the department, many skunks, See ANIMAL CONTROL Page 7

School Looking For Substitute Teachers

Winters Independent School District is in need of substitute teachers for all grades in the school system, Tommy Lancaster, superintendent, has announced.

Substitute teachers are required to have some college and/or some classroom related experience.

Persons interested in substituting in the Winters school system should contact the school business office, phones 754-4618 or 754-4415.

Commissioners Nix Request For Funds For Winters Museum

Runnels County Commissioners last week turned down a request from the board of Winters' Z. I. Hale Museum Foundation for a contribution of $750. The museum foundation was recently organized and is beginning to make plans to open a museum in the building formerly occupied by the late Dr. Z. I. Hale.

The motion to make the contribution was made by Commissioner David Carroll of Winters, and seconded by Commissioner Pat Pritchard of Wingate. Commissioners Charles Bradshaw of Ballinger and Marvin Sallings of Miles voted against the measure. The tie was broken by County Judge Bill Stultz, who voted against the measure.

During the same meeting, a group representing the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce requested that the Commissioners Court contribute $1,500 to help finance Ballinger's Ethnic Culture Festival next year, and a celebration observing Runnels County's 100th anniversary. Discussion on the measure was tabled for the time being, according to the minutes of the meeting. The Ballinger group also asked for permission to bury cables for electrical power (used during the Ethnic Festival) for safety reasons.

The Ballinger chamber group said the 100th anniversary celebration would include the entire county.

Charter Member of Winters Brass Band Now 101

Mrs. Asa Cordill of Ballinger, nee Attie Grant, the only living charter member of the Winters Brass Band, observed her 101 birthday on August 24, in an unusual manner.

Her brother, Charlie Grant, organized the Winters Band and also started one in Bradshaw. One of his students, Wayne Hunt, went on to the service and played in the Army band with Mrs. Cordill's nephew, Herbert, son of Dr. Grant also of Winters.

Mr. Hunt sponsored a "Conference Call" birthday party for Mrs. Cordill by arranging with an operator out of Big Spring to get all the participants on the line at the same time to wish her a happy birthday. Some were from Austin, Dallas, Sweetwater and other places, all friends of former days who had been in her brother's band or in the Army band.

When I visited with Mrs. Cordill, several days after her birthday, she remarked that she didn't have an enemy in the world. "I've outlived them all," she chuckled.

Although hampered by her hearing and unable to play the organ, Mrs. Cordill enjoys reading and manages to get about the house in her wheelchair. Her son, Bill, lives with her and takes care of her, but, "I still do what I call lap cooking," she says.

Mrs. Cordill continues to have the same good humor and courage which has characterized her life. Conditions were quite different in her youth and it was unknown for a woman to entertain in public but she defied tradition. This is how it was:

Vet To Speak At 4-H Horse Club Meeting

Dr. Gene Gibbens, who recently joined Dr. Jimmy Smith at Pioneer Veterinary Clinic in Winters, will speak on first aid care for horses, during a meeting of the Winters 4-H Horse Club next Tuesday, Sept. 25.

The meeting will be held in the school vo-ag building.

Ruth Circle UMW Meeting Tuesday

Ruth Circle of United Methodist Women met in the church parlor at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, with Mrs. Paul Gerhardt presiding. Mrs. Lucille Rodgers led in prayer.

Mrs. Odessa Dobbins had charge of the study, Present Day Conditions of Life in China.

Present were Margurite Mathis, Jo Arnold, Esther Gerhardt, Odessa Dobbins, Pauline Mayhew, Ava Crawford, Ethel Bridwell, Gladys Wilson, Mrs. Jonah Vinson, Lucille Rodgers and Margaret Anderson.

New Mechanic At Winters Farm Equip.

Keith Paschal has joined Winters Farm Equipment, Inc., local Case dealers, as a mechanic, E. E. Thormeyer of the company has announced.

Paschal, a graduate of Winters High School, attended Ryder Technical Institute in Dallas, worked in Dallas for 4 1/2 years, and in Abilene as a tractor mechanic for two years.

He is married to the former Sheila Mathis.

Total U.S. consumption of wool fiber in 1978 was the highest since 1972, according to the Wool Bureau, Inc., reports Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The small schoolhouse rang with the sound of music as the brass band warmed up for its Friday night practice. The steady second note of the alto horn delighted the listeners even as it startled them to see a young girl performing with the men members.

Back in 1889, it was unheard of for a girl to entertain publicly but Beatrice (Attie) Grant knew that her brother, Charlie, needed her and she played in the Winters Brass Band and held her own.

"No one said a word," she recalled. "They just kinda looked big-eyed about it."

Mrs. Cordill recalled that Charlie had played in a Denton band and thought that Winters had to have one like it so he organized one. Although the little town was just a wide place in the road, he was able to find 12 men who could play and with the help of his sister he had a group of which he could be proud.

Since there was no other entertainment the citizens turned out to hear the band practice once or twice a week at the one-room school, the only public meeting place until 1905.

"Not only did Charlie think that we should have a band, but he also thought we should have uniforms. Our first were white middie blouses and dark pants, skirts for me, of course," she remembered.

"At our first public appearance the bass player, a large man, turned up in a lawn blouse with drawstring and sailor collar trimmed with an embroidered ruffle. This was so funny that it broke us up and we forgot to be scared."

"We learned to march down the road which is now Main Street, to the tune of 'Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight'. The road was so rough that it was hard to march and play at the same time. Charlie was about the only one who could manage both."

By 1901, the band was fully organized and many of the young boys in town had joined. They made quite a dashing appearance in new uniforms, blue with gold stripes, that cost $14 each and were the finest that money could buy.

"There was no uniform for a girl so Mrs. Bowden, the Methodist preacher's wife, made mine," said Mrs. Cordill. "It had fancy curly-cue gold braid on the jacket just like that of the boys."

The Winters band had become well known throughout West Texas and began traveling everywhere in a band wagon drawn by four white horses. Trips were made to many of the surrounding towns where they played for picnics, weddings, box suppers, and old settler's reunions, as well as political rallies.

When Attie was married to Asa Cordill on Oct. 27, 1901, at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Kipp, in Winters, the band played their wedding music. "The musicians sat on the front porch and serenaded us while we ate supper," she said.

The Cordills moved to Ballinger where he was in the jewelry business, but Attie continued to play with the band whenever possible. "It still wasn't considered quite proper for women to play in a public band, but my husband encouraged me," she said.

Mrs. Cordill attended the dedication of the Winters Brass Band marker on April 18, 1968. Located in front of the Scout Hut, the marker is in recognition of the contribution the band has made to the cultural life of the area.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D., Commissioner

You don't hear too much about typhoid fever these days.

That fact alone speaks to the success of a program begun by the State Health Department in 1932. As part of a statewide drive to wipe out typhoid fever in Texas through better sanitation, sanitarians then were recommending the replacement of surface toilets, which contributed to the spread of typhoid fever and other diseases, with sanitary facilities.

In 1978, and so far in 1979, no deaths have been reported from the disease, but typhoid fever still remains a problem which the Texas Department of Health is combating.

Thirty-eight cases of confirmed typhoid fever in Texas residents have been reported through August 1979, to the State Health Department's Bureau of Communicable Disease Services in Austin. Only 40 cases were reported during the entire year for 1978.

Forty-two percent of the cases reported to date during 1979 have been attributed to travel outside the U.S., usually in Mexico. The remaining cases were explained by contact with carriers, exposure to contaminated water, a laboratory accident, and causes of an unknown nature.

"Typhoid fever is a communicable disease caused by the typhoid bacteria Salmonella typhi," explained Dr. Charles R. Webb Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services. "Body discharges (feces and urine) of persons who have the disease contain typhoid bacteria, and if water or milk or food becomes contaminated with such discharges, persons who drink the water or milk or eat the food are likely to contract the disease."

"Some people who have recovered from typhoid fever, and others who picked up the bacteria but did not become ill from the disease, are typhoid carriers. They carry the bacteria in their bodies while apparently in good health, and usually without knowing they are carrying typhoid. Typhoid carriers are an important problem to public health officials because they can pass the typhoid bacteria from their bodies and contaminate others," he said.

Dr. Webb said that since typhoid fever is spread by those having the disease and by carriers, it is one of the mandatory reportable diseases in Texas. Cases of typhoid fever are reported through public health channels to the Bureau of Communicable Diseases. Confirmed and suspected cases are investigated by state field workers and local health department personnel, in cooperation with the attending physician.

Just how important these investigations are is dramatically demonstrated by the typhoid fever outbreak which occurred in Galveston County in 1975. State Health Department workers discovered that all 13 confirmed typhoid cases and six probable ones were associated with one restaurant.

All personnel working at the restaurant were placed on leave, all food was destroyed, and the kitchen surfaces were cleaned. Laboratory tests were done on stool cultures obtained from each of the 16 employees. As a result of laboratory testing, typhoid bacteria was discovered in an employee who worked as a salad cook, preparing avocado, tomato, and lettuce for the guacamole and tacos. All 19 victims gave a history of eating one or more of these dishes. The cook had no history of typhoid fever or any other significant illness, even though he was a carrier of the disease.

Probably the best publicized carrier of this disease was "Typhoid Mary," a cook in suburban New York homes in the early 1900's. Investigations at the time showed that Mary Mallon had been a cook in many of the afflicted homes and that the disease always followed but never preceded her. Laboratory tests showed she was a carrier.

From 1907 to 1910 Mary was placed under surveillance by health officials, and then released. In the next couple of years, typhoid fever occurred in a New Jersey and a New York hospital, affecting more than 200 people. "Typhoid Mary" had returned to her old occupation as a cook in both hospitals under an assumed name. "Typhoid Mary" eventually spent a much-publicized period of nearly 30 years' isolation in a New York City institution.

"Typhoid Mary" strikingly illustrated the importance of the chronic carrier state in relation to the surveillance of carriers, and their restriction from food handling intended for public consumption.

Surveillance of typhoid fever carriers in Texas is conducted by the State Health Department. Chronic or convalescent carriers are not permitted to be employed as food handlers or as attendants in the care of patients or children, and are cautioned regarding routine sanitary measures.

Typhoid carriers may possibly be cured by treatment with drugs or by removal of the gall bladder. A carrier may be removed from the register after laboratory results indicate the patient is free of the Salmonella typhi organism.

In 1841, Michael Faraday discovered how to induce an electric current by rotating a wire around a magnet.

PUBLIC NOTICE BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 6, 1979

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 108)

House Joint Resolution 108 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution relating to the appointment and terms of notaries public. The proposed amendment would:

—Require the Secretary of State to appoint a convenient number of Notaries Public for the state; and —Authorize terms of office of Notaries Public of not less than two years nor more than four years.

A temporary provision of the proposed constitutional amendment provides that the amendment would take effect January 1, 1980; that each person who was appointed a notary public before January 1, 1980, would continue to serve as a notary public for the term for which the person was appointed; and that this temporary provision would expire January 1, 1982.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 133)

House Joint Resolution 133 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to provide for legislative review of the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to enact laws:

—To provide for legislative review of the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department;

—To prescribe conditions for rules to take effect;

—To provide for suspension, repeal, or expiration of rules;

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 13)

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution authorizing the Legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans used to purchase farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to provide for, issue, and sell general obligation bonds called "Farm and Ranch Loan Security Bonds" of the State of Texas not to exceed 10 million dollars. All money received from the sale of such bonds would be deposited in a separate fund with the State Treasurer and administered by the commissioner of agriculture without further appropriations. These funds would be used to guarantee loans for the purchase of farm and ranch real estate. The commissioner of agriculture would use these funds, under provisions to be prescribed by the Legislature for the purpose of guaranteeing loans used for the purchase of farm and ranch real estate, to acquire real estate mortgages or deeds of trust on lands purchased with guaranteed loans. These funds would also be used to advance to the borrower a percentage of the principal and interest due. The Legislature may also authorize the commissioner of agriculture to sell at foreclosure any land acquired in the manner authorized by this amendment. The commissioner of agriculture would be required to charge at least 6 percent interest on such loans. The proposed amendment appropriates an amount that is sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that mature or become due during the fiscal year less the amount in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

El comisionado de agricultura usaría estos fondos bajo las provisiones prescritas por la Legislatura, con el propósito de garantizar préstamos para la compra de bienes raíces agrícolas y ganaderas, para adquirir hipotecas de bienes raíces o escrituras de bienes raíces compradas con préstamos garantizados. Estos fondos serían usados también para adelantar un porcentaje del principal y del interés debido en esos préstamos, a la persona que califique para el préstamo. La Legislatura también podría autorizar al comisionado de agricultura para que venda cualquier terreno adquirido mediante esta enmienda. El comisionado de agricultura requeriría al menos un 6 por ciento de interés en dichos préstamos. La enmienda propuesta apropiaría la cantidad suficiente para pagar el principal y el interés de los bonos que vayan adquiriendo más valor, o que se venzan durante el año fiscal, menos la cantidad del fondo de interés y amortización al final del año anterior.

La enmienda propuesta aparecerá en la boleta como sigue:

"La enmienda constitucional para autorizar a la Legislatura para que por medio de la venta de bonos de obligación general del Estado de Texas, provea una garantía para que las personas calificadas puedan obtener préstamos para la compra de bienes raíces agrícolas y ganaderas."

CF Campaign To Begin Next Monday

More than 15 volunteers for the 1979 Kiss A Baby Campaign will call on their neighbors, Monday, Sept. 24, to encourage them to kiss their babies and ask their help in the fight for the millions of children across the nation who suffer from lung-damaging diseases.

The campaign's door-to-door drive will be conducted in Winters for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation as part of the annual effort to raise funds for programs benefiting children with cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases.

"Our cause is a very important one," Mrs. Randy Springer, chairman of the local campaign, said. "Lung diseases kill more children in this nation than any other disease except cancer. Cystic fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children, and approximately 40 percent of persons suffering from CF are not yet diagnosed."

An observer told the council Monday night that there should be a written policy already in existence, covering tapping of water and sewer lines, but nothing in writing has been located, it was understood. It was also understood that most other cities are responsible for running both water and sewer lines to the private property lines.

Special tapping fees are charged the property owner. These fees will be studied, it was indicated, with some changes possible.

At least one city official has stated that O'Dell's efforts have helped to make Winters a model city in the animal control area.

O'Dell, who retired last year after 20 years in the U. S. Army, said he has appreciated the co-operation he has received from the residents of Winters during the time he served as Animal Control Officer. There has been, and continues to be, a need for strict control of animals, especially stray dogs, in an effort to control and prevent any threat of an outbreak of rabies in the community, he said, and the residents of Winters have seriously responded to suggestions for preventative measures he said.

MRS. NATHAN WAYNE TEKELL

Miss Helm and Mr. Tekell Wed Friday

Teresa Lynn Helm and Mr. Nathan Wayne Tekell were married in a double-ring ceremony in St. John's Lutheran Church at six-thirty o'clock in the evening, Friday, Sept. 14.

The Rev. Virgil James, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Helm of Winters. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tekell of Wingate.

For the ceremony, the church was decorated with large flower arrangements on the altar in brass holders. A unity candle, which burned during the ceremony, was dressed with fern English ivy. The pews were marked with apricot bows. Two cross candelabras were decorated with greenery. Candlelighters were Allison Allcorn of Winters and Greg Frierson, of Abilene, cousin of the bridegroom.

Missy Mathis, niece of the bridegroom, of Midland, was flower girl. Jode Walker of Wingate was ring bearer.

Steve Hall of Winters was best man. Ushers were Marcy Grun of Ovalo and Jim Bob Webb of Winters.

Groomsmen were Larry Walker, Donald Baize, Mike Helm, brother of the bride, and Terry Gerhart, all of Winters, and Dodd McMillion of Houston. Mrs. Marcy Grun of Ovalo was matron of honor and Janet Jacob of Winters was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Billy Calcote, sister of the bridegroom, Jill Walker, and Julie Rosson, all of Winters, and Lisa Nix, cousin of the bride, of Temple.

The bride's attendants wore floor length gowns of apricot quana. Each carried a nosegay of apricot carnations, yellow carnations, baby's breath, butterscotch daisies and white snowflake mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white gown of candlelight chiffon and satin. Lace framed the neckline with a Queene Anne collar accented by an empire bodice. The gown was enhanced with Venice lace and a cluster of pearls on the bodice. The bishop style sleeves were caught at the wrist with lace cuffs. The traditional chapel length train was trimmed with two rows of chantilly lace. Her veil of silk was also a traditional chapel length which flowed beyond the train. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses entwined with English ivy tied with white picot satin ribbons.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table held the three-tiered white cake adorned with fresh cut flowers and candles. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. The bridegroom's table held the German chocolate cake which was served with coffee from a silver coffee server. Assisting in the house party and serving were Mrs. Sam Nix, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Johnny Walker, Mrs. Joe Bryan, Mrs. Bernice Helm, Mrs. Edward Bredemeyer, Mrs. Bob Webb, Mrs. Mike Mathis, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Kirk McCuiston, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jerry Frierson, aunt of the bridegroom.

Sen. Jones Will Speak At Dedication of Marker

State Senator Grant Jones of Abilene will be the speaker for the dedication of a Texas Historical Marker at the Abilene & Southern Railway Station on US 83 in Ballinger, Sunday, Sept. 23, at 3 p.m.

Runnels County Historical Commission chairman Rankin Pace of Winters will preside at the dedication, with the invocation to be given by Dr. Rupert N. Richardson of Abilene.

The registration committee for the event includes Mrs. George Poe and Mrs. Loyd Roberson of Winters, and Mrs. Clarence Lee.

At the dedication, Morgan Jones Jr., brother of the Abilene senator, will comment on the marker inscription. The Jones brothers' father was Morgan C. Jones. Representing the other nephew will be Percy Jones' daughter, Mrs. John A. Mathews, who will unveil the marker.

Following the dedication, a reception celebrating the silver anniversary of the State Historical Commission will be held at Pioneer Plaza in Ballinger. Refreshments will be served from the gazebo and souvenir postcards will be distributed to guests.

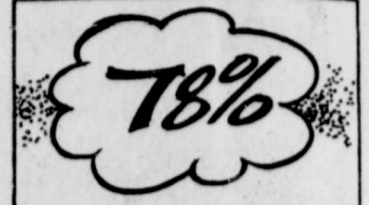

The public is invited to the dedication and reception.

The marker to be dedicated bears the inscription:

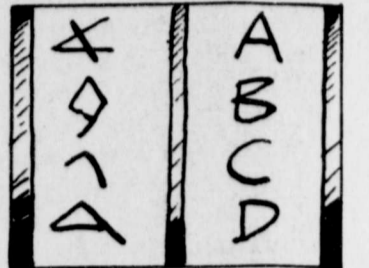

"Abilene & Southern Depot. Morgan Jones (1840-1925), a Welsh-born railroad builder, and his nephews, Morgan C. (1876-1964) and Percy Jones (1885-1951), built the Abilene & Southern Rail Line in 1909 between Abilene and Ballinger. This stone structure was finished soon after the first train arrived Sept. 9, 1909. The design, with octagonal twin towers, was unusual for depots of that era. The railroad did a flourishing passenger and freight business. Passenger service ended in 1941 and freight service in 1966."

(Ed. note: Abilene & Southern abandoned the line from Winters to Ballinger several years ago, and the rails have been taken up. The railroad now runs from Abilene to Winters.)

The 20th anniversary drive of the Cattlemen's Round-Up For Crippled Children, a vital funding program of the West Texas Rehab Center in San Angelo, Abilene, Snyder is progressing right along on schedule.

At a kickoff barbecue on the banks of the Concho River near Mertzon this week, several hundred ranchmen and stockfarmers from all over Southwest Texas gathered to present their pledges.

Jim Franklin, Aubrey Stokes and Mark McLaughlin of San Angelo were host for the event. Shelley V. Smith of Abilene, WTRC executive the Fort Stockton Pioneer.

We took a seat around the coffee table the other morning and talked about "better than average conditions from Fort Stockton back toward Sanderson."

In Sanderson, warehouseman Austin Chriesman said sheep shearing for eight-month clip is getting underway. "We expect a good season both for abundants and market prices," he added.

Carlos Richter was busy looking after a better than average maize crop near Rochelle last week.

"The good crops of milo are spotted this year," stated John Chisom, a Brady banker. "It just shows how the rains came in a scattered way this year."

In Kimble County, Mrs. James Rieck, said the Rieck Ranch near Roosevelt "just missed several small showers recently. We are in fairly good shape with the rangeland in perhaps the best condition it has been in for this time of year."

Thomas Morris stated the same for Sutton County. "I just drove out to the ranch this morning" he said, "and it looks real good."

C. O. Richards explained: "Our place is in pretty good shape near Bronte. We raised a good oat crop despite the cold winter and a good broomweed crop this summer."

Carroll Turk, who farms between Vancourt and Wall, said .30 of an inch fell last week when scattered thunderstorms dropped an inch or more in some areas of West Texas.

"That was about the first moisture we have received," noted Turk. "Our area must be the driest spot in the state. The dryland maize looks bad and the cotton not much better all the way across to Lowake."

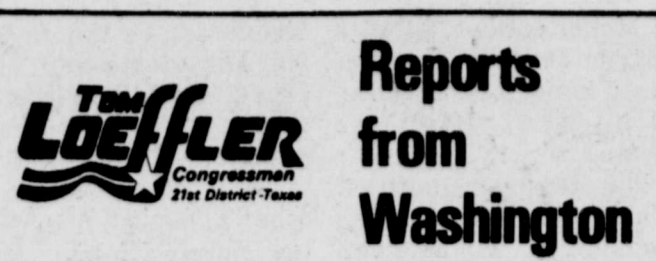

Turk believes cotton bolls will start falling to the ground anytime in the area long before they develop.

Jack Herring reported dove season off to a good start in some parts of Runnels County.

Reports from Washington

AUGUST IN TEXAS

The August Work Period in the 21st District was an exceptionally good experience for me. I have always felt that the only way to correctly and accurately reflect the views of my constituency is to maintain a close contact with the people of the District; to talk, to listen and to exchange ideas and opinions. With those as my objectives, I can report that my time spent in Texas in August was a complete success.

We held some nineteen Town Meetings throughout the District with over 1,500 people attending. These town meetings were held specifically to allow personal input concerning a variety of issues, and to assist with any problems anyone might be having with any federal agency. Town Meetings were held in Sonora, Junction, Ozona, Sanderson, Fort Stockton, Crane, Rankin, Big Lake, Mertzon, Ballinger and Winters, Garden City, Sterling City, Robert Lee and Bronte, Llano, Boerne, Bandera, Medina, Leakey and Menard. In almost every instance, we had an excellent turnout of interested, concerned citizens who offered a number of very good suggestions and ideas about what the federal government should do in a number of areas. Universal concerns which were voiced at practically every town meeting included energy affairs, welfare and food stamp abuses, inflation and a general concern with the lack of leadership we seem to be experiencing from the Carter Administration. In addition, when news reports announced that the United States was selling middle distillate crudes to Iran, people were shocked, angered and totally up in arms about this incredible turn of events — personally authorized by the President.

In addition to these nineteen Town Meetings, I spoke at twelve gatherings, with five major addresses on energy, inflation, agriculture and ranching and farming, and other topics. I was most pleased to speak before the Tom Green County Bar Association in San Angelo, the Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas Annual Convention in San Antonio, the 35th Reunion of the Lost Battalion (an exceptionally interesting group of patriots who were survivors of Japanese prison camps in Burma during World War II and were the men who built the famous bridge over the river Kwai), to service clubs throughout the District, and it was my special honor to be the Commencement Speaker at Angelo State University.

I made some seventeen other appearances at a variety of functions and events during the month of August. For instance, I was able to have a long meeting with the Board of Directors of City Public Service in San Antonio to discuss rising coal transportation costs and approaches to alleviating this critical problem. While in San Angelo, I was able to meet with a group of people concerned about attempts in Congress to include cattle hides under export control restrictions. Other appearances included tours of Ethicon Corporation in San Angelo, and a tour of the South Texas Nuclear Project, still under construction. These visits and appearances covered the complete geography of the huge 21st District, ranging from San Angelo to Del Rio . . . New Braunfels to Marathon . . . San Antonio to Fort Stockton.

All in all, during the four weeks of the August Work Period, I was able to meet with constituents of the District on 48 separate occasions. I can assure you that I returned to Washington with a most thorough and complete understanding of what we, as Texans, expect from our federal government and our congressional representatives.

It will now be my happy job to translate these wishes into whatever actions I can, and to continue my work to represent this great District.

In summary, the August District Work Period was that: a lot of hard traveling and hard work, but it was worth every ounce of effort. My faith in the wisdom of the people of Texas to know what's right and fair and just and honest has been confirmed once again to me, and I can reflect on last month for a long time with a distinct feeling of pride in you, the people who have allowed me to represent you in Washington. I thank you.

Salvation Army Drive Begins Oct. 2

The Winters Unit of the Salvation Army will open the annual drive with a kickoff dinner at Taylor's No. 2 Restaurant, Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 7 p.m., Mike Meyer, drive chairman, has announced.

This will be the opening of the drive to raise at least $1500, and will be the only Salvation Drive in Winters.

Funds received in the drive will be used to buy food, glasses and medical care for needy persons in the Winters area.

Persons who wish to volunteer their services in this drive are asked to contact Mike or Ted Meyer at the Winters Funeral Home.

CARD OF THANKS

Words are inadequate for the true friendship and love shown for our mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Luella Pape Rampy, by the people of the Winters area during her illness and at her death. The words of Dr. Tom Tribble helped renew our faith during this trying time. The food, cards and calls gave us strength and we all hope we will be able to extend our help when you need someone. —Her Family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sims, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. John Sims, Melinda, Kris and Joe. 28-ltc

Yard Gainer

A Coleman Bluecat picked up a lot of yards in a run down the sidelines before being forced out of bounds by the Blizzards Friday night. He tiptoed down the white stripe for several yards, barely staying in-bounds. One photographer on the sidelines commented that the ball carrier actually stepped out of bounds on the 21-yard line, and marked the spot with a cigarette butt—but the out-step was unseen by the officials, who were complimented for close officiating. (All photos by Kelley Thomas)

Gotcha

A Blizzards ball carrier goes down under the assault of a Bluecat during Friday night's football game at Coleman.

If you'll be traveling to foreign parts, it's a good idea to register any foreign made personal items (cameras, watches, etc.) with U.S. customs before you go.

For a quick window cleanup, wash with a cloth soaked in white vinegar.
