Sign-Up Time

Randy Springer puts his signature on the dotted line as a candidate for re-election to the Winters City Council in the April 5 city election, as E. J.

Bishop, left and Jim Hatler, wait their turn to sign up for re-election to the council.

Housing Project Is Ready to Use

Winters' new housing project on East Broadway and Rogers—eleven units—has been completed, and apartments are now being rented, J. W. Bahlman, chairman of the board of the Housing Authority of the City of Winters, announced Tuesday.

The development has been named the "Neely Apartments," in living recognition of Gattis Neely and the work he has done over the years as a member of the housing board and as chairman of the board. Bahlman said that Neely had been instrumental in getting this present project off the ground, had done most of the leg work, and had worked diligently on this project, and on the first 46-unit project which has been in use for several years. Neely resigned as chairman of the board several months ago, after getting the present project started, because of ill health.

The Neely Apartment project was financed through a long-term loan from the Farmers Home Administration. Cost was about $250,000. There are four duplex units and one triplex unit, with four one-bedroom apartments and seven two-bedroom apartments.

The entire complex has central air conditioning and heating, and meets government standards on insulation. Single units will rent for about $108 per month, it was understood.

Administration of the project will be under the Housing Authority of the City of Winters. Vera LaFoon is executive director of the authority.

County Political Lines Are Forming

As the filing deadline date rapidly approaches, county political lines are forming, with prospects for a battle looming in one area. This was the situation Tuesday noon, but the picture could change before Monday, the filing deadline.

Four men have filed for the post of County Commissioner, Precinct 1, to be vacated. Charles Bradshaw, incumbent commissioner for that precinct, announced some time ago he would not seek re-election. Precinct 1 is located in the southeast section of the county, and includes much of Ballinger.

Seeking the Precinct 1 office are Travis Barrett, Bob Farmer, Robert Jonas Sr., and Robert Virden. All are from Ballinger.

Commissioner Pat Pritchard of Wingate, Prec. 3, is the other commissioner whose term expires this year. He has filed for re-election, and as of Tuesday noon, had no opposition.

County Sheriff Hershall Hall, completing his first four-year term, has filed for re-election. He is being opposed by Grady Campbell, a former Ballinger police chief.

Bobby Bryan, who has been serving as county treasurer on an interim basis since his appointment last March to complete the unexpired term of the late Otis Jacob, has filed for election to the post.

Jack Farmer, county tax assessor-collector, has filed for re-election.

Prospective candidates have until 6 p. m. Monday, Feb. 4, to file.

C-C Banquet Tickets Go On Sale Soon

Tickets for the annual membership banquet of the Winters Chamber of Commerce will go on sale next week, according to Edna England, secretary-manager of the chamber.

The banquet will be held Feb. 22 in the school cafeteria. Ray Stone, who handles much of the publicity for the Dallas Cowboys, will be the featured speaker.

Tickets may be obtained from any director of the chamber, or at the Chamber of Commerce office. Cost will be $6.50.

Council Sets Tapping Fees

Winters City Council at a recent regular meeting approved an ordinance amending the water and sewer rate ordinance which had been in effect for some time, increasing only the water tapping fees, and setting forth policy concerning sewer taps.

Basic water rates were not changed in the ordinance, which is being published in its entirety this week.

The new ordinance, which is now effective, was dated Jan. 4, 1980, and increases the water tapping fee to $100. For a sewer tap, the ordinance specifies no tapping fee as such, but does include "inspection fees at $7.50 per tap," and specifies that sewer taps must be done with "clay tiles, or PVC, and saddles must be paid for by builders." The ordinance also specifies that "streets and alleys must be fixed according to city regulations."

Wallace Murray Gives $127,499 To WTRHC

A gift of $127,499 from Wallace Murray Corp. was presented by Hal Dry of Dry Division in Winters and Robert J. Niehaus, representing the New York office of the corporation, to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center during the Saturday night Rehab '80 telecast.

The gift matched with a $509,996 grant from the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, will enable WTRC to add a second floor to its Abilene facility.

Wallace Murray Corp. is the parent company of Dry Manufacturing Division in Winters. The corporation also controls two other West Texas companies, U. S. Brass (formerly Valley Faucet), and Shook Tire Co.

Niehaus is an executive with the New York office of Wallace Murray. Dry is vice president-general manager of Dry Division in Winters.

WTRC board president John Hamil said, "All three of these businesses have been longtime supporters of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. We are extremely pleased by the effort made by Wallace Murray to serve so many handicapped people."

Other board members said they were elated at the announcement of matching funds for the grant, received in September with the stipulation that local money be added to it.

Jim Polk, president-elect of WTRC board, said, "With total funding for the construction of the second floor, now we have to look at financing the furnishing for it."

The addition will be concrete blocks and prefabricated concrete asbestos siding and will provide 10,749 additional square feet of floor space.

The second floor of the building will include:

—An increased physical therapy gymnasium area, increasing maximum treatment capacity from 175 to 250 patients per day.

—A staff library for staff development.

—A centralized speech department, rather than a department in three areas of the building, which would increase capacity from 75-80 to 128.

—More space for administration, restrooms and waiting areas.

—Remodeling of current pediatric physical therapy area to enable an additional 64 patient treatments daily.

—Eight electronic communication systems for patients incapable of verbal communication.

This is the largest single grant received by WTRC.

"Jaws" Fund Now $645

The special fund being collected by the Winters Volunteer Firemen to purchase power rescue units, or "Jaws," as they are referred to by firemen, has increased to $645 this week, according to Mike Meyer, secretary-treasurer of the firemen.

Meyer said the fund has a long way to go, but that firemen are confident that the community will help out in this drive to purchase equipment the use of which could mean the difference in life or death for accident victims. The units are powerful hydraulic "jaws" which are used to tear objects such as wrecked auto bodies away to free victims which cannot be freed otherwise, it was said.

Latest contributors have been C. L. Tekell, Herbert Turk, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Pritchard, David Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Englert and Bud Busher.

Beard Contest On Celebration List

Men of Winters and North Runnels, lend an ear! . . . er, a chin! If you would like to spend the next few months growing a beard, and the little woman takes a dim view of the whole affair, take heart. Now, you can point out to her that it's really the "patriotic" thing to do (and perhaps get away with it.)

The Birthday Celebration committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, planning the May 30-31 birthday party for the community have added a beard growing contest, as one of the many events to be held during the two-day celebration of Winters' 90th birthday, and of Runnels County's hundredth birthday of organization.

Details regarding rules and classifications will be announced at a later date, but now is the time to begin, the committee said. To make it even more interesting to some of those who already have beards, the committee has stated (See BEARDS Page 8)

Floyd Sims Remembers

It took Floyd Sims three years to reach Winters after he left Freestone County with his father, J. R. Sims, but when he got here he stayed. And the Sims Oil Company, started as the result of an accident, is now run by the third generation.

"After Mother and Dad separated, he sold the farm and started west in a covered wagon in 1914," said Floyd. "I was four years old and suffered from the croup. My dad carried all the medicine that I needed, but he also camped near a town at night in case I had to have a doctor.

"We lived in the covered wagon and Dad cooked on an open fire. I still remember his biscuits baked in a dutch oven. He worked along the way and we had reached Lometa by the next summer.

"We arrived in Runnels County in 1917, and by that time my croup had disappeared. I never had it again."

Their first stop was at the Lipan Flats on the Concho River near Miles. Mr. Sims helped clear land for H. I. Sims, a relative, before traveling to Winters. They camped on the T. B. Young farm. The 1918 drought sent them to Floydoda to work, but they returned to Winters in 1919.

"I was amazed at the crowds on the streets and all the hustle and bustle in town. My dad's first work was drilling water wells for Otto Turk and Shannon McWilliams. He used a kerosene engine.

"He was also a carpenter and his first house was built for John Stehle, later the Slat's Jobe home. Cars were appearing on the streets with the Model T being a favorite. And Dad built garages all over town. It was my job to put the roofs on," Floyd recalls.

The Abilene Southern was going strong with two round trips to Abilene a day on the motor coach and one on the mixed train. Floyd recalls this because he sold hamburgers on the train for Guthrie Byers who had a stand west of the railroad tracks on south Dale.

"We got 10 cents apiece for hamburgers on the train while a Mr. Hall who had a stand down town only got five cents," said Floyd.

Floyd also remembered that Bill Avery ran a service car from Abilene to Ballinger. And the Owens Bros. carried jewelry in their drug store. They had an auction every fall to dispose of jewelry that hadn't been sold.

The Sims first home was on the street north of the old hospital and a block west. They later moved to the first house north of the Rock Hotel where Mr. Sims died in 1947.

In trying to control his cow and calf that dogs were chasing, Mr. Sims dislocated his right shoulder. Unable to raise his arm, Mr. Sims could no longer follow his trade of carpentry. He went to work for Pike McCasland in a filling station west of the railroad, on railroad property.

Mr. Sims bought the station in 1925. The railroad property rented for $25 a year for a long time but finally went to $300.

"Gas sold from 16 to 18 cents a gallon and dropped to 9 and 11 cents during the depression. Three gallons was the average purchase and five gallons was tops. We needed something else to help make a living so we started handling kerosene. We began servicing tractors in the 30's, and during World War II went into the butane business," said Floyd.

"Before Dad bought the service station, I worked for the Fisher Bros. Cleaners. They had a shop in the rear of Court Meeks Men's Store, where Bedford Insurance is now. Fishers was the hangout for older boys and they had a "Mystic Club?" above the confectionary run by Herman Baker. The sign is still there.

"When I asked questions they would say 'None of your business kid, get to scrubbing those clothes.'"

Floyd would still like to know what went on in that club.

There was also a Tip Top Dance Club above the Main Drug Store for a number of years.

Floyd stayed with his dad in the station until he went to seek his fortune in 1926. He went to Fort Worth and lived with his mother and sister while he worked for Mrs. Baird's Bakery. "They were the best people in the world to their employees," said Floyd. "But the heat was intense in the bakery and I lost from 140 to 118 lbs. I was promoted to assistant shipping clerk and came home in Nov. of 1928 with $1,000 in my pocket. I went back into the station to stay. The business has been an everchanging endeavor.

Floyd and Hallie, a top dancing instructor, were married in 1937. No help was available during the war so the couple ran the oil company by themselves. They drove both trucks to Abilene for gas each night after closing time. Hallie still has her commercial license. She learned to put two inner tubes together to fix flats. The station was moved to the present location in 1950. John has been running it since 1973.

"It's wonderful to have the children nearby so we can see them often," said Floyd. Their daughter, Diane Davis, teaches in the Winters school. There are four grandchildren.

Floyd joined the Winters Volunteer Fire Department in 1934 and was an active member for 35 years, holding almost every office. Hallie was also active in the Fireman's Auxiliary.

The couple belongs to the San Angelo Coin Club in San Angelo and went to Houston year before last to the international coin convention. He started collecting coins 50 years ago for pleasure and it proved to be a profitable pastime.

Floyd sums it all up by saying, "I wouldn't take for my life in Winters."

Others were John Austin, Yony Lee, Jennifer Michaelis, Kaci Springer, Staci Wheeler, Heidi Young, Billy Witte, Andy Webb, John Lee, Kimberly Deike, Christopher Aguirre, Jennifer Harrison, Carrie Smith, Angela Briley, Brandon Rose, Jode Walker, David Paske, Angela Briley, and Brandon Killough.

After the American Revolution, John Paul Jones served briefly as an admiral in the Russian navy.

Loeffler Calls For Iranian Entries Halt

Calling on the President to stiffen American policies to match the temper of the times, Congressman Tom Loeffler (R-Tx) urged the Carter Administration to halt Iranian immigration into this country.

Loeffler in a letter to the President also asked for an explanation of the Administration's policies regarding Iranian student pilots now under a training suspension on American military bases.

The text of the Congressman's letter to the President follows:

"Dear Mr. President: I cannot adequately relate the sense of frustration and anger that individuals in the 21st Congressional District have expressed to me upon hearing recently in news accounts that since mid-November, some 7,600 Iranians have received permission to immigrate into the United States.

At a time when Americans are being held hostage in Tehran, in violation of all precepts of international law, and the human rights policy your Administration has placed at the cornerstone of its foreign policy, it seems to me a travesty of justice to allow Iranians sanctuary here. Yet, they continue to come.

As the most democratic Nation on earth, America has always extended its welcome mat to those who do not have the freedoms we hold sacred in this country. It is a policy Americans are proud of, as well they should be, for it represents a fundamental belief in the right of individual freedom of choice and liberty from tyranny.

Winters Man On Dean's List At Tech

Bill Pendergrass, son of Mrs. Hudon White of Winters, was included on the Dean's List at Texas Tech University for the past semester.

Pendergrass had a 3.0 grade point average of a possible 4.0.

Geography Today

Modern geography is not all the study of maps and memorization of capitals that old-timers remember from grade-school days, says the chairman of The University of Texas Geography Department.

Dr. George Hoffman says geographers today are addressing such pressing concerns as energy, urban decay, transportation and environmental problems.

And, he adds a happy note: because the role of geographers has become so important, not one professional geographer with a Ph.D. behind his name is unemployed in the U. S. today.

In the current crisis, however, American policy must reflect circumstances as they are, not as we would wish them to be. The circumstances in my view call for strengthened resolve, and a demonstration that Americans can and will play the game by whatever rules are called for. In this context, I would urge you to examine our immigration policies with regard to Iran, and for the time being, halt the seemingly unchecked entrance of Iranians into this country. Those who sneer our country should not have the right to benefit from its many advantages.

I would also like to request an explanation of your Administration's intentions with regard to some 100 student pilots now under a training suspension on American military bases in Texas.

Thank you for your time and courtesy.

Sincerely,
 Tom Loeffler"

Meat Output Down in Texas

During the first 11 months of 1979, Texas commercial slaughtering plants produced 3,393 million pounds of red meat, a figure some seven percent below the same period in 1978, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan B. Brown has reported.

Cattle slaughter was down 13 percent below a year ago, and calf slaughter slid 44 percent below 1978 totals for the eleven-month period, Brown said.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service figures show increases in hog slaughter, up 25 percent at 1,214,900 head, and in sheep and lambs, up 19 percent at 867,900 head.

District Aux President To Visit Post

Jo Hodges, president of District 22, Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be present at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to Post 9193, Winters VFW Post, Monday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p. m. in the post home.

Mrs. Ted Meyer, president of the Winters chapter, said recognition and pins will be awarded to those members with membership in the organization for five years, 10 years, 15 years, 20 years and 25 years.

Other business will include the beginning of preparations for the district convention to be held in Winters the first weekend in May.

Deductions For Auto Expenses Change In 1979

Taxpayers can no longer deduct state and local taxes imposed on gasoline, diesel, or other motor fuels. However, persons who itemize their deductions may still claim other expenses incurred when using their automobile for business, charitable, medical and in some instances, moving purposes.

Those who keep records of actual costs may claim operating expenses and fixed expenses, such as depreciation and insurance, for business use of their automobile.

Instead of claiming actual expenses, taxpayers may use an optional mileage allowance method. Taxpayers may use an optional mileage allowance method. Taxpayers can deduct 18.5 cents for each mile driven for business purposes, and eight cents per mile for charitable, medical, or moving expenses. In all instances, parking and toll fees may be claimed in addition to the mileage rate.

Information concerning automobile deductions appears in the instructions accompanying the tax forms.

Energy Saving tips on Electric Heating.

Check your thermostat setting. Recommended temperature setting for winter heating is 68°. Remember, the lower you set the thermostat in the winter the lower your energy cost.

Have your heating system checked regularly! Proper servicing is good preventive maintenance.

Keep filters clean. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions, if it's disposable, replace when dirty.

Use the warmth of the sunshine! On sunny days open the drapes. The sun shining through the glass will supply additional heat at no cost.

Have your home properly insulated! Adequate home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use... can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.

Cattlemen Informed On February "Beefendum"

Beef cattle producers are urged to participate in the upcoming referendum on the Federal Beef Research and Information Order, according to Doyle Condra of Ballinger, president of the Runnels County Farm Bureau.

Producers who owned cattle anytime in 1979 are eligible to vote in the 1980 "Beefendum," the farm leader said. They can register at the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office anytime between Jan. 28 and Feb. 6. They can vote at the ASCS office anytime between Feb. 19-22.

"The best way to determine how the majority of producers feel about this matter is for all producers to participate," Condra said. Details on registering and voting and on the order itself are available at the county Farm Bureau office at 809 Hutchings in Ballinger, he said.

"We want to remind cattlemen that it's their money at stake in the check-off vote," the county farm leader said. "A good turn-out should determine whether or not beef producers want a mandatory check-off for beef research and promotion that is run by a quasi-governmental agency," he added.

For approval of the order, ballots must be cast by at least 50 percent of the producers registered to vote in the referendum, and a majority of those voting must favor or approve the issuance of the order, Condra said.

In essence, the check-off program provides for a mandatory deduction from each sale of cattle, the farm leader said. The law permits a deduction of up to 1/2 of 1 percent from the sale price. The deduction would be limited to not more than 2/10 of 1 percent for the first two years, and after that can be increased up to 1/2 of 1 percent without a referendum.

The law requires purchasers of cattle to make the deduction. Failure to comply is subject to a $1,000 fine. The deduction would be made at each point of sale. The buyer would pay the purchase price minus the amount of the check-off to each seller of cattle. The check-off money would be paid to the administering agency at the point of slaughter.

Explaining how much money is involved, the county FB leader used a $450 calf as an example. For the first two years, the assessment authorization would be limited to 90 cents on such a sale. After that, the assessment could go to $2.25, he said.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that initial collections at the 2/10 of 1 percent figure could total about $40 million annually, and about $100 million annually at the 1/2 of 1 percent figure.

The proposed order provides for refunds of assessments if demand is "made within 60 days after the end of the month in which the transaction occurred. . ." Cattle producers desiring refunds would have to keep up with their own refund deadlines and may be required to keep sale records up to eight years or more on heifers purchased and sold later as aged cows, Condra said.

The USDA Beefendum Order proposes to establish a Beef Board (a quasi-governmental agency) composed of not more than 68 producers to administer the program. It further provides that the Secretary of Agriculture "shall appoint to the Board up to five non-voting consumer advisors deemed to be knowledgeable in nutrition and food." These advisors would be reimbursed from producer assessments, the county FB leader said.

The USDA would also be authorized to employ new employees to monitor the beef research and promotion program, and all expenses incurred by USDA, including salaries, would be paid from the cattlemen's assessment funds.

NOW EARN 10.65% February Rate on Heart O' Texas Savings' New 2 1/2 Year Money Market Certificate $100 minimum!

Heart O' Texas Savings announces an outstanding investment opportunity: new 2 1/2-year money market certificates, replacing the present 4-year certificates. The rate is tied to the monthly computed yield of Treasury securities maturing in 2 1/2 years. This means the interest rate may change each month but will remain constant for the entire term of your certificate. The rate is announced three business days before the beginning of each month.

That means virtually anyone can invest in Heart O' Texas Savings' new high yield certificates. You don't have to invest $10,000, as with 6-month CD's, or even 1000, as with other 2 1/2-year CD's. The amount you invest is entirely up to you.

Earn 1/4 % higher than bank CD's!
Heart O' Texas Savings' new money market certificates offer a 10.40% annual return. That's 1/4 % higher than any bank offers. And because your interest is compounded, the actual percentage yield is even greater.

Rate guaranteed for 2 1/2 years!
It's wise to invest in Heart O' Texas Savings' new 2 1/2-year certificates today because your investment is locked in at a reasonably high interest rate for at least 2 1/2 years. Regardless of how low interest rates may drop! And that's security you can depend on.

A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal of certificates.

Savings insured to $40,000 by a Federal agency (FDIC).

Food Stamp Users Hard Hit By Inflation

Overall income in the United States increased five times faster than incomes of food stamp householders over the past four years, according to Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services. While overall incomes increased 40 percent during this time, incomes of food stamp recipients went up only 7 percent, she said.

As a result, food stamp householders, are being especially hard hit by inflation. According to a recent survey, food stamp households have an average monthly income of about $320, compared to an average monthly household income of about $1500 in the general population.

Moreover, the poor have little to fall back on. Sixty percent of people on food stamps have no liquid assets, and 95 percent have assets of under $1,500, Foreman said.

The cost of necessities has risen faster than the cost of other items—rising by 34 percent over the past four years, according to a price index for necessities. During the first nine months of 1979, the cost of medical care went up 9 percent, food by 9.6 percent, housing by 15 percent and energy by 45.5 percent.

The needy spend 90 percent of their income on necessities (food, shelter, medical care and household utilities), while other Americans spend only about 60 percent of their income to buy necessities.

According to Donald West of Washington State University, food stamp shoppers buy less costly food, more economical cuts of meat, fewer bakery products, and about half as many snacks as other shoppers.

Despite automatic cost-of-living increases in food stamp benefits, food stamp users have suffered from inflation in recent years—and they suffered more than the general population, Foreman said.

Forms W-2 To Be Filed With Social Security Administration

Employers should file Copy A of Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," furnished to their employees with the Social Security Administration (SSA) and not with the Internal Revenue Service. Texas employers should send these copies of the wage statements by first class mail to Social Security Administration, Albuquerque Data Operations Center, Albuquerque, NM 87180.

Form W-3 should accompany all mailings of Form W-2 to the SSA. Both Forms W-2 and W-3 are available from local IRS offices and should be filed by Feb. 29 for wages paid in 1979.

If an employer's payroll includes several individual business establishments, the copies of Form

W-2 should be grouped separately for each establishment. Each group should then be sent to the SSA with its own Form W-3.

An employer may use several packages if the number of forms to be mailed is unwieldy. The number of packages being sent should be written below the title on Form W-3 and placed in the first package. The employer's name should be put on each package which should also be numbered in order.

Employers who wish to learn more about Federal employment tax responsibilities can attend Small Business Tax Workshops co-sponsored by IRS and area colleges. Call IRS toll-free for further information about the Small Business Tax Workshops.

Seeking Names Of Kindergarten Pupils For '80-81

School officials are seeking the names of children who will be enrolled in the kindergarten class and the first grade for the 1980-81 school year, for pre-registration.

George M. Beard, principal of Winters Elementary School, has announced that the school needs the names and birthdates of prospective pupils who will enter school for the first time next school year, so that schedules and plans can be made. Pre-registration and conference appointments will be made during April and May.

Kindergarten pupils will attend for the entire school year in 1980-81 on a full-day schedule, Beard said.

Kindergarten pupils must be five years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1980. First grade children must be six years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1980.

Parents or guardians are requested to call the office of the school nurse, 754-4037, for an appointment time and date for a health information conference.

Enrollees must present birth certificates and proof of required immunizations.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The governor of the Mexican state of Nuevo Leon praised Gov. Bill Clements during a reciprocal good-will visit to the State Capitol last week.

Clements visited Gov. Alfonso Martinez Dominguez last year in Monterrey, capitol of Nuevo Leon, and the Texan's efforts then to maintain good border relations (despite the Ixtoc I oil well blowout) earned him return praise Tuesday.

"When external and sometimes internal voices wanted to condemn Mexico and create problems for this accident (the oil well blowout), the understanding and friendly voice, also filled with a great common sense, of a governor so important as Clements, we feel is a sign of friendship, of understand and besides, a reasonable expression of life, since accidents of this type do occur everywhere," Martinez Dominguez said.

Later during the visit, Clements repeated his position that aliens should be properly documented and given a temporary work visa so that they are protected by United States law.

During lunch the Texas governor gave the Mexican governor a portrait of a Longhorn steer and received a black leather saddle and bullwhip.

"I will use the saddle to symbolically ride the Legislature, and the whip I will turn over to Rita (Mrs. Clements)," Clements quipped.

Job Cut Plans Rapped

Clements didn't fare quite so well with the Texas Senate leadership. The day after the Mexican governor departed, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and powerful Senate Finance Committee chairman Grant Jones leveled strong criticism at Clements' plan to cut state agency personnel by five percent.

Clements ordered state agency heads to cut manpower after he was angered by a report from the Comptroller's Office stating his oft-spoken claims of job reduction were wrong.

The governor last week charged some agencies with dodging directions to cut employees by trimming unfunded, vacant positions instead of actual personnel.

Jones said Clements' across-the-board job cut program "bears about as much resemblance to statecraft as sitting backwards on a runaway horse does to horsemanship. The seat is elevated and the field of vision is broad, but there is no sense of direction, no real control, no insight into the power one rides." Hobby seconded Jones' criticism and at one point said he "would not characterize the governor as a manager."

Man Injured As Car Flips On Icy Road

Carl Gottschalk, Rt. 3, Winters, received undertermined chest injuries when the vehicle he was driving skidded and turned over on a curve on F. M. 2111 southwest of Winters late Tuesday afternoon.

Gottschalk was treated at North Runnels Hospital, and transported to a San Angelo hospital for further treatment and examination.

Runnels County Emergency Medical Service answered the ambulance call.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Edwin Book, Miles stockfarmer, said over 3 inches of moisture was the best Christmas gift he has received in years.

"I know it all went into the ground with no runoff and it was the best rain I can ever remember us getting in a December," commented the oldtimer putting his cigar back in his mouth.

Walter Pfluger agrees. The ranchman with holdings in five counties stated it was a good start for a new decade. "If we have some warm weather in January and February, we will see a good weed crop," he added.

Dobbs Hermann, foreman of the Rocker b Ranch near Barnhart said 3 inches of rain soaked in the ground over the big ranch.

Changing the subject to hunting, Dobbs said the antelope season on the Rocker b entertained hunters from seven states. "It was the biggest season we had," he said. "Now that the hunters are gone, it's time to get back to work. We will be branding calves in late January. We are about 85 percent calved."

Joe Freeman of Ballinger was headed to the marking pens last Saturday. "We had about 70 percent of our calf crop in 30 days last year," he stated thinking he would be marking from about 1 p.m. until dark.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Craig of Paint Rock were eating a hamburger one cold January day at the famous Lowake Inn.

"I believe these hamburgers are getting bigger," commented Mrs. Craig.

"No," answered Gordon, "We are just getting older and more dried up!"

The retired game warden said he would like to take a day off and go down to Menard and Kimble County and just visit his old friends there.

I told him to come ride with me sometime. "No, the trouble with you, you just go too many places and spend too many hours on the road," he said. "I don't think I can go that fast any more."

There are still a good many hunters and fishermen around who can remember when Gordon Craig could move pretty fast. But one thing, no one can say Gordon didn't do his job!

Joe Rawlings of Bronte comments the 3 inches "received on my place soaked in. We had no weeds and now I see them all over the pasture."

Roy Jacoby, Menard County ranchman, says many parts of that county is in good shape following good moisture. "But at that, the rains were not uniform," he added.

He's right, I noticed coming through Fort McKavett the other day where it is very dry.

Yet, on the other side of Menard County and a distance from Jacoby's place, Bill Volkmann said 2 1/2 inches of rain fell in December. "All we need now is another rain," added Volkmann with a smile.

Perhaps a bit miffed when he heard of Hobby's remark, Clements told reporters later that day that Hobby wouldn't know good management if he saw it.

Seeking Help For Birthday Party

If Winters and Runnels County are to realize a successful 90th and 100th Birthday Celebration, the advice, assistance and work of everyone in the community will be needed, the special Birthday Celebration committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce has pointed out.

The celebration is being planned for Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31, with June 1 to be turned over to the churches. The celebration will be recognizing the 90th anniversary of the founding of Winters, and the 100th anniversary of the organization of Runnels County. The exact dates of the founding and the organization are not in May, but the dates picked for Winters' and North Runnels' celebration were chosen to give everyone an opportunity to take part, the committee said. It will be the first weekend of the school summer vacation period, when most everyone will be here.

Already in the plans is a community barbecue supper for Friday night, May 30. This will be the evening of the high school graduation exercises, it was understood, but should present no problems. Also tentatively planned is a rodeo to be held Friday night. Organizations, businesses, or anyone who would like to work may contact the Chamber of Commerce office. The sooner plans are completed the better the celebration will progress, it was pointed out.

Weekend Revival At Pentecostal

The Rev. Leon Lorton of Buffalo will conduct a weekend revival beginning Friday at the Pentecostal Church of God on North Cypress.

Services will begin at 7 p. m. Friday and Saturday, and 11 a. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Lorton and their son Duane will accompany the Rev. Lorton to Winters.

The public is invited to attend these services.
