Museum will be open on November 29

Z. I. Hale Museum on West Dale will be open from 2 to 4 p. m., Saturday, Nov. 24, the museum directors announced this week.

The board decided to open the museum on the Saturday following Thanksgiving in order to give people visiting here during the holidays an opportunity to visit the new facility, Mrs. J. W. Bahlman, chairman of the board, said.

Beginning in December, the museum will be open to the public on the second Sunday of each month, from 2 to 4 in the afternoon.

About 200 people visited the museum during the open house event Friday and Saturday of last week, held to coincide with the Arts & Crafts Festival.

Mrs. Bahlman said a great deal has been accomplished in the development of the museum, but much remains to be done. The next project will be to furnish a "music room," with emphasis on the community brass band which was organized many years ago. Anyone who has band instruments or other items connected with that early day band is invited to loan them to the museum, she said.

Town, Country convenience store planned

A new convenience store will be opened in Winters in late spring, 1981, according to a spokesman from Town & Country Food Stores general office in San Angelo.

The new store will be located on the site of the former Gulf station just north of the Winters State Bank on S. Main.

According to information received, workmen will begin sometime next month razing the old structure to prepare the site for a new building.

School out Nov. 26

Classes in Winters Public Schools will be dismissed at 2:30 next Wednesday, Nov. 26, for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Classes will resume Dec. 1.

Officials to study police pay and hours

A comprehensive study of police salaries and work schedules will be made by the city council.

A delegation representing the police department personnel met with the city council Monday night and requested that some adjustments be made regarding their pay scale and duty schedules. They said they had been working about 60 hours a week, but had been paid only straight time for the overtime over 40 hours each week. They asked that the pay schedule be changed so that they could draw time-and-a-half for all time worked over 40 hours each week. It was said that other city employees draw the extra pay for overtime.

Police officers have been working seven days a week during the past several weeks, it was said at the meeting, due to the illness and hospitalization of L. H. (Doc) Smith, police chief. It was not known how long this situation would be continued.

The council promised the police personnel that a study would be made of the situation.

County Pecan Show Friday and Saturday

The annual Runnels County Pecan show will be held in Ballinger, Nov. 21 and 22, in the Heart O' Texas community room.

Entries are to be in the county extension office no later than 5 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 20, or taken to Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co. in Winters by that time.

Those entering nuts in the show should select 50 pecans from each variety to be entered, put them in a paper sack, and list name, address and the variety of pecan, if known. Processing will be Friday evening, and the actual show will be held Saturday morning, Nov. 22.

Pecans to be included in the in-shell division are Apache, Barton, Burkett, Choctaw, Comanche, Delman, Desirable, Graking, Gratex, Imperial, Kiowa, Mahan, Mohawk, Odom, Shoshoni, Stuart, Success, Wichita, known hybrids, variety seedlings and other in-shells.

The shelling division will include Brake, Caddo, Cape Fear, Cherokee, Cheyenne, Clark, Elliot, Halbert, Ideal John Garner, Kincaid, McCulley, Moore, No. 60, Nuggett, Onliqon, Peraque, Ranger, Riverside, San Saba Improved, Schley, Sequin, Shawnee, Sioux, Squirrels Delight, Tejas, Texas Prolific and Texhan.

The nuts will become the property of the show.

VFW ladies sponsor hospital curtain fund

The Winters Ladies Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and the VFW are sponsoring a project to raise funds for the purchase of new curtains for North Runnels Hospital.

Because of certain regulations as to type of material and design of curtains approved for hospital use, the curtains will be rather expensive. The Hospital Auxiliary has already made a donation to start the fund rolling, and anyone interested in making a donation should contact Nell Colburn, Ellen Meyer or Mary Kurtz.

A game night will be held at the VFW on Nov. 21, and all proceeds will go toward the curtain fund.

Three weeks after the sudden disclosure that Winters' proposed dam and lake project would cost more than had been anticipated and planned for, the entire picture looks much brighter than was the case immediately following the announcement that the lowest construction bids submitted were much more than had been allocated.

The city council was informed Monday night that there is a probability that additional funds to finance the project would be forthcoming, and that engineers were making headway in trimming original plans. Mayor Lee Colburn and Alderman Ted Meyer told the council they had met with representatives of the Farmers Home Administration last Friday, along with engineers, and that the seemingly insurmountable obstacles which had loomed three weeks ago had begun to diminish. Mayor Colburn said engineers were busy changing some of the basic plans for the dam, to reduce the overall cost in an effort to meet construction bids. For example, he said, original plans called for emergency spillways on either end of the proposed dam. New planning will call for only one spillway, which would be a bit larger than one of the two proposed originally.

Also, the mayor said, that specifications which had called for complete covering of the downstream side of the present dam with rip-rap, will be changed. Engineers will stop the rip-rap short of the top of the old dam, thereby cutting some cost. Rip-rap on the south face of the old dam, which would face the new reservoir, would prevent erosion, it was said. However, engineers indicated that the rock rip-rap could be stopped just above the waterline of the new reservoir without endangering the old dam. There are several other areas which could be trimmed to cut costs, it was indicated. Size of the transport pipeline from the lake to the water treatment plant also can be reduced, saving some cost, it was said. Plans call for a raw surface storage area east of town

Fines by judge bring $1,200 to city coffers

In a monthly report to the city council Monday night, Municipal Judge J. C. Hodnett said that he had assessed fines in the amount of $1,209 during the month of October, and had transferred that amount to the city's account.

Much of the money collected in fines was for traffic violations, Hodnett said. He presented a tabulation of the various offenses for which he had levied fines.

about a mile, which would hold the raw water before pumping to the treatment plant. Size of the raw water storage can also be reduced without reducing the capacity of the system to a great extent, it was indicated.

Financially, the picture is brighter than it was a few days ago, according to officials. There is every indication that additional grants and/or loans from the Farmers Home Administration would be available. The project was originally funded at approximately $4 million, but the first round of construction bids were about $470,000 higher.

The city plans to have new specifications ready within about two weeks, and re-advertisement for bids will be made.

Many animals run at large in city limits

There are many animals, in addition to dogs and cats, which are being kept in town, and which occasionally are at large, Franklin O'Dell, animal control officer, told the city council Monday night.

O'Dell said there are cows, horses, goats, sheep, and even hogs being kept in town. He said he had been called upon many times recently to round up these animals. He said that on one occasion he counted more than 40 goats (barbedoes) in one yard within the city limits, and that there are other instances where several head of animals are being kept in lots and yards in the city. He was called upon to help corral at least two hogs on one occasion, he said.

An ordinance dealing with dogs and cats was adopted by the council about two years ago. However, officials said there probably are ordinances on the books which would deal with other animals, setting the numbers which would be allowed and prohibiting some animals from being kept within the city limits. A thorough search and study of existing ordinances will be made, it was indicated, and corrective action taken.

Loeffler sweeps all counties in 21st District

Incumbent U.S. Congressman Tom Loeffler (R-Hunt) swept all 32 counties in the 21st Congressional District, winning reelection to a second term with 76 per cent of the vote.

With all of the counties complete, Loeffler received 185,791 votes, out of a total of 245,483 cast.

The following are his remarks:

"We have come a long way in two short years. We have shown what can be done with hard work and dedication to a set of ideals most Americans - and most Texans - share.

"These are the things I have worked for. Less government, not more. The return of military strength. Shaping events internationally, rather than reacting to them. A nation strong again economically, with real jobs for all Americans who are willing and able to work. Hope for a brighter future... for ourselves... for our children... and for the children we will never know.

"These are the things I will continue to strive for. The things the American people believe are important as we enter this most important of decades.

"I have worked to make certain the voices of the 21st District are heard and heeded in the Congress these past two years. I will do so in the 97th Congress. And in every Congress thereafter in which I am privileged to serve."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

As the swirling dust began to settle following Election Day results, the Texas Legislature got down to business last week preparing for Jan. 13... opening day of the next session.

Despite the facelifting voters put on the national scene, the Legislature's complexion remains much the same as last session, and the basic issues are still around: how much will the state spend and where will it get the money?

The cost of state government in Texas is not excessive. While the average American spends $3 a year to support his state legislature, the average Texan pays only $1.20.

In Texas, it's the cost of local government that really hurts taxpayers: paying for city and county governments and shelling out for school districts. Revenues are collected by local governments mainly through the tax on property: houses, land, cars, etc.

For the past ten years, taxpayers have watched their property taxes increase annually, because that is the only way local governments can raise the extra dollars needed to combat inflation.

PROPERTY TAX REFORM

One of the Legislature's jobs this session will be to find a suitable alternative to the used-up property tax. If other taxes are raised (sales tax, gasoline tax, etc.), then already suspicious voters may launch another tax revolt, unless their property taxes are lowered simultaneously with any other type tax increase.

Once again, the man who has been trying for seven years to reform property tax laws will be expected to lead some of the new reform, State Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange. The controversial Peveto Bill of last session, which created single tax appraisal districts, was accepted quietly in some cities and raised a furor in others. Obviously, it has kinks which need to be worked out, Peveto believes. He and his Senate cosponsor, Grant Jones of Abilene, especially want to lift the tax burden on homeowners.

CLEMENTS' PROGRAM

Republican Gov. Bill Clements, facing a still Democratic Texas Legislature, will go ahead with his program for a wiretapping bill, initiative and referendum, and a regional presidential primary. Clements apparently is seeking a sponsor for the wiretap bill, but the recent Brilab case, in which Speaker Bill Clayton was taperecorded without his knowledge, has made legislators much more aware of its potential abuses.

FIVE-STATE PRIMARY

A proposal for a five-state presidential primary may find more enthusiastic support, since it has the support of Clements, Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The Southwestern primary, including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, is designed to give this region maximum political clout during presidential election years.

Under the regional concept, all five states would hold a binding presidential primary on the same day, probably in March. In this manner, attention would be focused on the Southwest region. Presidential candidates would come early to put their issues to the voters. Not incidentally, it would also bring millions of campaign dollars to the region.

AG OPINIONS

In legal opinions issued last week, Atty. Gen. Mark White ruled:

-Conviction of the offense of involuntary manslaughter does not result in automatic suspension of a driver's license, but may result in discretionary suspension of said license.

-A state-chartered credit union may be licensed under Texas law, but may not charge interest rates in excess of rates authorized by state law.

-Section 36.10 of the Texas Business and Commerce Code requires an assumed name certificate to state the name and address of each participant in a partnership or joint venture. Although the county clerk is not required to verify the accuracy of a certificate, he may refuse to file one which is defective on its face.

-The Texas Housing Agency is not required to create a reserve fund in the state treasury to secure its bonds, but may create a reserve fund to be kept elsewhere. The agency may deposit its nonappropriated funds in a depository other than the state treasury.

Poe's Corner

Boston Tea Party and Other Things

Leaving the Foxridge resort, the travelers motored through a bit of Maine enroute to Boston. We continued to enjoy the colorful foliage along the highways.

After checking in at the Boston Park Plaza Hotel, where we spent the night, Elizabeth Bishop, our guide, boarded one bus for a three hour tour of Boston. Miss Bishop said she was originally from Leavenworth, Kansas, but had been in Boston for seven years, and was enthusiastic about the city.

She told us that our hotel was built in 1631 and had 1,086 rooms, and was originally called the Saco Maine, but later bought by the Hotel Army and used for a convention center. It became the Statler Hotel for a number of years and was bought by the present owners in the last two years, who redid it but retained its old world charm. Evidently, the rooms had been enlarged by combining two rooms, for many of them had the luxury of two baths.

One thing that puzzled us was the bulging doors with a second lock on them. We thought it must be for added protection, until Pauline Mayhew's brother and family from Boston joined us, and provided the answer. A suit that needed to be cleaned or pressed could be placed in the door and removed from the outside without bothering the occupant. A kind of silent valet. The pioneers didn't have it so bad.

Boston is a blend of the old and the new and seems to be in a constant state of building and repair. Miss Bishop said the skyline had changed radically in the past ten years, but we noticed that many of the streets are still so narrow that two vehicles can't pass comfortably, especially buses.

We drove down Newberry Street and were told it was the Back Bay area and originally under water, but now reclaimed. The people live here in town houses in the winter and at Cape Cod in the summer.

At one time, Boston was all red brick buildings because they had clay pits, but they also discovered granite quarries and Copley Square is of granite. We passed the Boston Common, the oldest park in America which covers 48 acres. It was once a pasture where cows grazed and troops went to train. There is a graveyard in the center. The Trinity Church was pointed out as the place where "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung. It was written by the pastor.

Boston is a city of colleges and we saw many students with book bags. Two main schools are Harvard and Boston College. Some important places in the new part of Boston are the Prudential Center, John Hines Convention Center, Lord and Taylor and Dartmouth.

The bus made three stops on the tour. We trod the wooden decks of Brig Beaver II, a Tea Party ship, and felt history come alive. We walked the red brick Freedom Trail to see Paul Revere's house and the old North Church. We shopped at Faneuil Hall, surrounded by Quincy Market.

This combination Town Hall and Produce Market was built in 1742. It is called the "Cradle of Liberty" because fiery town meetings held here helped start the Revolutionary War.

The market place surrounding Faneuil Hall is the busiest point of interest in the city. The building is a part of the Boston National Historic Park. Since it was Sunday, we saw many families out for the day enjoying the shops and hot houses as well as sidewalk shows and entertainment.

The Paul Revere statue and home are in a small park dedicated to the patriot who warned the countryside that the British were coming. The famous signal lanterns were hung from the Old North Church steeple on April 18, 1775. Paul Revere lived in the frame house from 1770 to 1800.

After viewing a slide presentation of the Boston Tea Party, we could protest anything, we were told, and throw a box of tea overboard from the Brig Beaver II. Of course, the box had a string tied to it and was hauled back. We began to remember our history and to feel very patriotic.

And well we should, for the Boston Tea Party is one of the best known incidents in American history, ranking in fame with Columbus' voyages and the landing of the Pilgrims. This fame is well deserved, for the Tea Party of 1773 was the catalyst that precipitated the American War for Independence, says Benjamin W. Labaree, director of Williams College.

"The Boston Tea Party resulted from the interplay of four historical factors: the social fact that American colonists drank tea and in large quantities; the political fact that the British Parliament taxed the tea; the economic fact that the East India Company had difficulty selling its tea at home and in the colonies; and the human fact that the men charged with governmental responsibility during the tea crisis of 1773-1774 made unwise decisions.

With both sides more willing to fight than to compromise, an armed clash became inevitable. In April 1775, just sixteen months after the Boston Tea Party, the American War for Independence began on Lexington green."

In the words of our guide, "This is where it all began."

Hube Lanier was released from the Rolling Plains Memorial Hospital in Sweetwater and was taken to the Bronte Nursing Home, so when Blackwell friends go to Bronte, be sure and stop in to see him.

Virginia Harris of Snyder visited last Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Lanier, other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pratt have been visiting with his mother in Miami, Okla. They also visited with other relatives and friends while there and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dudley returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Taylor of Abilene visited over the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Chew, other friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. went to his brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oden in Littlefield and then they all went on to visit another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Alton Oden in Paw-Paw, Ill. The three couples then went to Wisconsin. They visited seven states while gone. Mr. T. J. Oden visited an old friend in Iowa that he was with when they were in the service years ago and had not seen each other since they had been dismissed.

Last weekend they visited with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dan Oden and daughters, Melissa and Sarah Joy. The girls returned home for a visit with their grandparents and Cindy Carlton of Bronte has also been visiting this week.

Blackwell is experiencing some real cold weather this weekend.

The 26-Week Money Market Certificate

Put in $10,000, and get back

$10,716

26-week return reflects interest earned on $10,000 principal and accumulated interest for 26 weeks at current rate.

Current rate of 14.167% yields 14.881%*

Staying ahead financially has always been a race. But the 80's present new, tougher challenges. At First Texas Savings, we have ways to beat the 80's. Like our 26-Week Money Market Certificate. It offers the maximum rate allowed by law for maximum yields on amounts from $10,000. Rates for new certificates are set weekly and are good for the entire term. Sure, our 26-Week Money Market Certificate is a good investment, but it's also a no-risk investment. Your money is insured up to $100,000 by a federal agency. And your deposit is backed by First Texas' over 1.6 billion dollars in assets.

Best of all, at First Texas Savings, your money is always available. Penalty on early withdrawal is 3 months' interest and only on the amount withdrawn. And as a convenient reminder, you will be automatically notified prior to renewal.

Also ask about our 2½-Year Money Market Certificate.

So, before you put your money anywhere, remember: Others may keep you even in the 80's, but First Texas Savings will keep you ahead.

*Effective dates November 20 thru November 26

Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest on 26-Week Money Market Certificates. Annual yield assumes reinvestment of principal and interest at maturity at the same annual interest rate. However, the annual interest rate is subject to, and likely to, change at maturity.

Recent federal regulations require principal reduction if sufficient interest does not exist.

Stitching up plaids

Plaids return to the fashion scene in the form of classic plaids as well as new shapes, says Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

With a few easy guidelines, homesewers can stitch up fashionable garments with plaids, she points out.

Miss Brown is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To begin, choose a pattern with few pieces, easy shaping and few seams. Too many details will break up the plaid designs.

Always check the back of the pattern envelop for suggested fabrics to make sure the pattern is suitable for plaids, she advises.

Avoid circular skirts and full dirndls that can distort the plaid.

Avoid fabric that is printed and not woven. Inexpensive printed plaid is often printed off-grain. This makes it impossible to match plaids.

Buy extra yardage to match plaids. Go by the nap fabric yardage. And, a rule-of-thumb is to add the length of one plaid repeat for each yard bought, the specialist says.

When laying out pattern, cut each piece from a single thickness of fabric.

When two pieces are needed of the same pattern piece, flip the pattern over for one cutting.

When patterns are cut on the fold, use pins to mark top and bottom of the pattern piece, cut around pins, and flip over to cut other side. Make sure plaids match at notches and small dots.

For a more flattering garment, consider the dominant line in the fabric and place it at hemline and waistline. Avoid placing it at the hip or bust.

Match plaid lines both vertically and horizontally at the seam line and not the cutting line.

Places that need matching are front, back and side seams, sleeve breakpoint, plackets or tabs, center back of collar, shoulder, patch pockets, facings and openings such as buttonfronts, Miss Brown suggests.

When sewing, pin all seams carefully to prevent slippage.

Using an "even feed" or "roller foot" attachment will help prevent slippage.

Stitch seams from bottom to top to prevent distorting the grainline, the specialist adds.

Scientists believe that fish were the first backbone creatures to develop on earth.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Summer temperatures managed to drop just in time, within hours, of the opening of deer hunting season in West Texas.

Last weekend was a most unusual occurrence for weather; a cold norther coming into our area on the heels of the hottest days (93 degrees) in the history of November; a Gulf storm (a month or more later than ever) coming into the state from the south.

With plenty of wood stacked on the back porch ready to feed the fireplace, I'm ready for winter, so let the northers blow. The Thanksgiving feeling is officially in the air!

A trip down through the Hill Country to get deer season kicked off was certainly rewarding by just seeing autumn leaves. Of course, the Sumac and Spanish Oak stand out with their dark and bright reds. The golden colors of the Pecan all mingled with the green of Cedar and Liveoak really create a panorama. Now that deer season is here and running along parallel with holiday time, not only the mood changed with the weather but so has our appetite.

Folks in the German community of Rowena officially kicked off the holiday season in style for West Texas with the annual Festival at the Catholic Church. This writer followed up on the annual doings with a speech to the St. Ann's Altar Society a few nights later. My subject was the services offered to handicapped through the West Texas Rehabilitation Centers.

However, before the meeting started, Mrs. Paul Jansa and Dorothy Schwertner were still talking about the 3,000 people that served sausage, turkey and dressing with all the trimmings the Sunday prior.

I am reminded of a holiday feast we had one time in an old church in Fredericksburg. The menu focused on wild game prepared in a way only my German relatives of Gillespie County can. From the locally grown grapes that made the wine to the venison, turkey, dove, etc. the evening was gourmand's delight.

Well, the more I write, the fatter I feel. We must move on to another subject. Turning back to the weather, Harold Price, Concho County ranchman, says his country is looking good going into winter, "but one more rain wouldn't hurt anything."

Perfect weather permitted cotton stripping in recent weeks. On a trip to Lubbock last week, I noticed most of the cotton harvest complete, however it is balled up at the gins. It will likely be 1981 before the gins catch up. Despite the fact a dry and hot summer brought a shortage of cotton maturity, a fairly good yield in some areas is evident. Steve Hoelscher said some of his irrigated cotton has made good this season.

Before closing, let's post notice of a Team Roping scheduled for November 29 and 30 at the Taylor County Coliseum in Abilene. Sponsored by John Stokes of Sonora, the event will benefit the West Texas Rehab Center.

Team roping will include three events: Century Ropings, where the team must total 100 years or more; 80 Year Old Ropings, where the team totals 80 years or more; and Open Roping.

McDORMAN'S

Maurine Davis won stew cook-off

The three judges in the Stew Cook-off Friday, held in conjunction with the annual Arts and Crafts Festival, had to suck on lemons to revive their taste buds and adjust their palates, as they almost literally waded through 25 pots of homemade stew. Some of the pots were revisited as they had to re-taste several times before making final decisions.

In the final judging, Maurine Davis' stew was picked as the winner; Freda Hudson won second; and Brenda Killough, third. The first place winner received a food processor, donated by Bahlman Jewelers and the Chamber of Commerce; second place was awarded an automatic Seal-A-Bagger; and third place, a microwave popcorn popper, donated by West Texas Utilities.

Judges were Gwenda Berry of Abilene, Bob Russ of Coleman, and Dean Smith of Ballinger.

It is most difficult to prepare a recipe on stew. All good cooks, it is said, measure nothing, and do not always use the same ingredients each time stew is made. Only experienced cooks know how much a pinch, a dash, a shake, a dab, a sprinkle or a tad really is. Each stew cook said "add and taste until it tastes just right!"

Recipes for the three winning stews follow:

FIRST PLACE

Maurine Davis

Mix salt, pepper, garlic salt and flour and coat 3 pounds of stew meat. Brown in small amount of shortening.

Put all in a crock pot with a gallon of water and cook until tender.

Add the following vegetables: potatoes, carrots, celery, onions, tomatoes, corn, peas or your preference of vegetables, and a small amount of spaghetti.

Add a dash of hot sauce and camino powder. Cook slowly until vegetables are tender.

SECOND PLACE

Freda Hudson

Trim fat from 2 1/2 pounds of stew meat. With small amount of shortening brown the meat that has been rolled in flour. In slow cooker bring to a boil 4 cups of water. Drop browned meat, one at a time, into the boiling water.

In the pan where the meat was browned make a thickened gravy and add to the meat.

Add vegetables of potatoes, celery, carrots and onions.

Salt and pepper to taste, also a bit of paprika, a dash of worcestershire sauce, bay leaf, sprinkling of dry onion flakes and a shake of basil.

THIRD PLACE

Brenda Killough

Venison stew. 2 T oil. 2 lbs. cubed venison. 1/2 C flour. Salt and pepper. 2 C water. 1 large onion, chopped. 1 tsp garlic chips. 1 tsp parsley flakes. 1 T worcestershire sauce. 10% oz. golden mushroom soup. 1 T picante sauce. 16 oz. stewed tomatoes. 8 oz. tomato sauce. 1 C chopped celery. 1 C chopped celery. 3 med. size potatoes.

Brown meat in oil after it is salted, peppered and flavored. Place in cooker and add the water and the next eight ingredients and cook until meat is tender. Then add the other ingredients and cook until the vegetables are tender.

Historical marker installed at "Ranger Well" location

An official Texas historical marker has been erected at the site of the Ranger Campsite and Water Well, 16 miles northeast of Winters, and was dedicated Saturday by the Runnels County Historical Commission.

The county historical group met at the Z. I. Hale Museum in Winters Saturday, and drove from there to Content, where they met Mr. and Mrs. Earl Richey, who live on the property. Rankin Pace of Winters, president of the county commission, presided for the dedication ceremony, and Mrs. George Poe of Winters, secretary of the organization, read the inscription. Neuman Smith of Ballinger closed the program with prayer.

The marker is an official Texas Historical Marker, 18 inches by 28 inches, and is located a half mile off FM 382 16 miles northeast of Winters. The inscription on the marker is:

"Ranger Campsite, Water Well. In an effort to protect area settlements, Governor Richard Coke established the Frontier Battalion in 1874. Comprised of six companies of volunteer Rangers, it was headed by Major John B. Jones. This campsite was part of a defensive line which reached from the Red River to the Coastal Area. Rangers of Co. E, under the leadership of Captain W. J. Maltby, were stationed here in 1874. The camp consisted of tents, a corral for horses, and this hand-dug well, which failed to provide water. Daily scouting duties included a sentry post on nearby Ranger Peak, 0.5 mi. W."

The marker was provided by Mrs. Bright, who owns the property.

Following the marker dedication, the 14 members of the historical group went to the Nancy Parker Cabin, another historical landmark, and built a fire in the fireplace and prepared a chili supper, with Mr. and Mrs. Richey as guests.

Neuman Smith reported that he had shown the film "Main Street" to five organizations, including several Lions Clubs. A total of 15 talks have been made by members in the last two months.

The County Historical Commission closed a busy year with many activities, including county and town birthday celebrations, and the completion of the inventory of courthouse records.

More than 200 orphans of veterans are being cared for in the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich. A portion of the cost is raised through the annual sale of VFW Buddy Poppies.

City gets $15,342 from sales taxes

The City of Winters has received $15,342.48 from the State Comptroller's office for the November rebate of the one-percent city sales tax. This brings the 1980 sales tax payments to $93,307.17, an 11 percent increase over last year's total for the same period of $83,366.78. The November 1980 payment was above the 1979 payment for the same period, $12,271.62.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said rebates to Texas cities of the optional one-percent city sales tax climbed to more than a half-billion dollars this year.

The city sales tax is collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and related monthly by the Comptroller's office to the cities where it is levied.

Comparable receipts by other towns in the area for the November period were:
