REMOVING STAINS

To remove combinations of greasy and nongreasy stains such as salad dressing, ice cream, gravy, or meat juices from washable material, first sponge the stain with cool water. If the spot remains, soak in cool water for 30 minutes. If the spot still doesn't come out, rub liquid soap or detergent into it. Rinse well and let the material dry. If a greasy stain remains, sponge with a spot remover.

HOG NUMBERS UP
Texas hogs and pigs of all ages on farms on Dec. 1, 1970, totaled 1,419,000 head, up 48 percent from a year earlier, reports the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The June-Nov. 1970 pig crop was up 43 percent. Nationally, hog and pig numbers were up 19 percent and the June-Nov. 1970 pig crop was up by 18 percent.

ASCS officials work on rural ecology program

Top farm program officials from Texas were in Phoenix this week for a first-hand briefing on the new Rural Environmental Assistance program (REAP) for 1971.

CLARENCE A. Danklefs, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) Committee, will head the delegation from Texas that will include state committee members Charles L. Calhoun, Frank Hinkson, John Barry Rudd and Jose M. Villarreal; state ASCS Executive Director D. W. McElwraith; and Program Specialists N. B. F. McGuire and Harold Baker.

The meeting was held Monday and Tuesday in Phoenix.

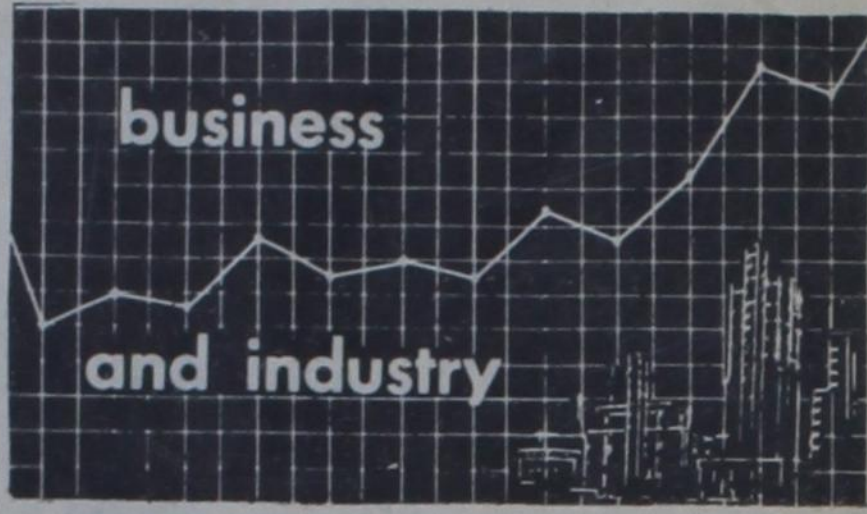

Announcement of the new program, a continuation of the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), was made by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin earlier this month. Secretary Hardin said that REAP will emphasize a broad attack on environmental problems created by the nation's farming operations.

CHAIRMAN Danklefs said that announcement of the new program will permit resumption of the federal cost-sharing of various beneficial conservation with farmers, but that public benefit practices such as pollution abatement, enduring soil and water conservation, recreation, wildlife and open space will be stressed.

He added that details of the new program will be spelled out by Washington ASCS officials.

Top efficiency is a 'must' for swine producers

With the current low hog prices, commercial producers must strive for efficiency in order to withstand this price-cost squeeze.

ACCORDING to Dr. W. B. Thomas, a Texas A&M University Extension swine specialist, the major factors that influence the efficiency or cost of producing a 220 pound market hog are fixed cost, feed efficiency, cost of grain and pigs marketed per sow per year.

"Fixed cost, such as depreciation, interest on investment, insurance, miscellaneous and repairs cost approximately $1.25 a head for each $100 invested, provided 16 pigs are marketed per sow each year," the swine specialist explains. "It is impossible to produce hogs without any capital investment, but the amount invested should be the minimum required to provide proper environments for the pigs."

Feed efficiency, the amount of feed required to obtain a pound of gain, certainly affects the cost of production. If by following the better management practices, adjusting feeders to eliminate feed waste and feeding various classes of pigs according to their needs, the feed requirement can be reduced by one-half pound for each pound of weight gained, an approximate savings of $3.50 on each head would result if milo were costing $2.40 a hundred-weight.

THE PRICE of grain sorghum also greatly influences the cost of production.

"As the price of grain sorghum increases 40 cents a hundred-weight, the cost of producing a 220-pound market hog increases approximately $2.70, provided a feed efficiency of four pounds of

Research shows saccharin safe

Saccharin poses no hazards in the quantities it is likely to be used, reports Minnie Bell, Extension specialist in family life education at Texas A&M University. The information is the result of a study on saccharin usage by a committee of the National Academy of Science and the National Research Council.

ACCORDING to the committee reports, Miss Bell says, a safe level of about 12 to 18 quarter grain tablets per day may be used by adults. Actual usage is likely to fall far below the safety standard.

The use of saccharin covers an 80-year period. During World War I, heavy use of the sweetener in England and Germany has produced no adverse effects.

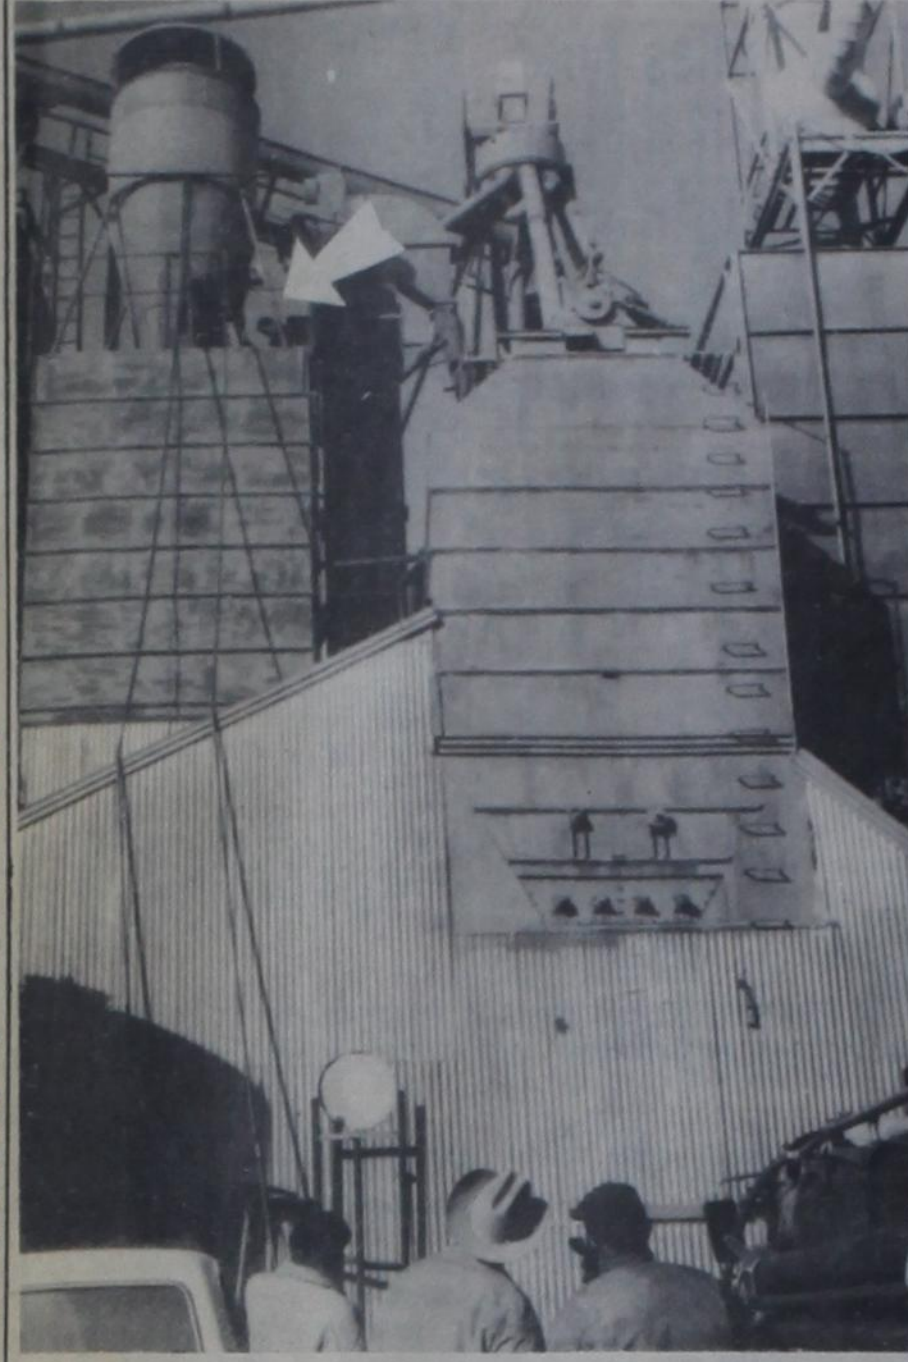

A recent cancer mortality study involving over 21,000 diabetics using saccharin showed no increased risk of cancer over a period of 28 years, the report showed.

Miss Bell added that the committee did recommend further investigation of specific items related to saccharin's long-term effects.

feed for every pound gained is obtained," Thomas says.

Therefore, producers should make arrangements for their grain needs when it is the cheapest, which is usually at harvest time. So, start planning and making arrangements now for next years needs.

"PIGS marketed per sow each year also influences the fixed cost per pig as well as labor required per pig produced and the amount of sow feed required per pig," Thomas adds. "Pigs marketed per sow each year is influenced by management. Productive, crossbred sows respond to good management which results in increased productivity and efficiency."

DIMMITT FIREMEN had to do some tall climbing to put out a smoldering grain fire in the feed blending plant of the Cluck Feed Yards southeast of Dimmitt Saturday morning. Here, firemen (arrow) shoot water down into a grinding bin after hoisting the hose up by rope from the fire department's pumper truck. The fire caused no damage. Later in the day, firemen were called out to a grass fire in a lake half a mile south of Ellis Gin Co. at Five Point.

HOW TO MELT CHOCOLATE

Chocolate will not melt properly if the slightest amount of moisture is introduced. Any moisture will make the chocolate bits tighten into a solid mass. The solid mass may also result when melting chocolate at too high a temperature. If chocolate does tighten, however, you may make it smooth again by heating it in a double boiler over hot but not boiling water, and then blending in up to one tablespoon of vegetable shortening.

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
While I was in Dallas waiting for my daughter to go to the hospital, we visited the new Richardson Public Library. It is a beautiful Spanish style building with two floors and a basement.

MRS. GREEN, the librarian in charge of the junior division, showed us around. There is a beautiful fireplace on the first floor. There are sofas and lounge chairs arranged around the fireplace, which gives it a cozy atmosphere. I am sure almost anyone would enjoy sitting there and reading a book.

I especially liked the reading booths that were on the second floor. Each booth accommodates four persons, with partitions high enough to make it private.

All the personnel were so friendly and really wanted to show us around since they had been in the new library for only one month and they were all so proud of their new building.

I DO hope Dimmitt can have a new library building in the near future. I think it will be an asset to the town and county.

Do we really want a new library? We need one!

On the Go
MR. AND MRS. David Behrends went skiing at Angel Fire and Taos, N.M., over the weekend. They reported ski conditions good in the higher elevations at Taos.

SETTING THE GOAL—County Judge R. E. Wilson signs a proclamation designating next week as "3.76 in '76 Week," as the county's recognition of a statewide effort to boost Texas agricultural income to $3.76 billion by 1976. Witnessing the signing are County Agent Charles Hottel (left) and Wes Anthony, chairman of the county's building program committee.

3.76 in '76 Program seeks to push state farm income up

A program to increase Texas agricultural income by more than a billion dollars by 1976 was announced by Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in January of 1970.

THIS GOAL calls for $3.76 billion in total cash receipts by the end of the 1976 crop year, not including government payments; and was determined from projections by Extension specialists and individuals in the agricultural industry.

A committee of agricultural economists with the Extension Service studied past production records and made projections for 1976 based on current trends and expected improvements in technology and marketing. Projections on an individual county basis were made by program building committees, made up of business men and producers. The expectations were then organized along county, Extension district and economic area lines to give producers across the state "something to shoot for."

IN ADDITION, annual goals were determined for the various agricultural commodity groups to allow a yearly measure of the program's success.

Texas presently accounts for about five percent of the total national agricultural cash receipts.

But to achieve the goal of "3.76 in '76," the state must claim almost 10 percent of the projected national increase in the coming years.

Extension specialists and county agricultural agents are scheduling meetings with producers throughout the state to help them with new advancements in technology and marketing in their particular areas.

New set-aside feature could hike efficiency and cut costs

The set-aside feature of 1971 farm programs for feed grain, wheat, and cotton should help producers concentrate on the crops they can produce best, according to Jim Elder, chairman of the Castro County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASC) Committee.

UNDER the new programs, a producer agrees to set aside a pre-determined number of acres of cropland from production and devote it to approved soil-conserving uses. He then can plant his remaining cropland to any crop he wishes except for sugar cane and for quota crops such as peanuts, tobacco, rice and extra long staple cotton.

In this way, Elder said, a farmer can plant the crops that he prefers to grow and which give him his best net returns.

Agricultural specialists who helped develop the new programs point out that this greater freedom to plant will eventually lead to the concentration of certain crops in areas of the country where they can be grown most efficiently. They expect more corn production concentrated in the Corn Belt, more small grains in the Great Plains, more soybean production in the Southeast, and an expansion of cotton production in the most efficient areas.

ONE OF the basic ideas behind the set-aside feature, according to Elder, is that producers in all of these areas can be better off because they will be producing the crop they grow best at a lower cost.

He added that some farmers for years have been locked into certain patterns of producing their crops because of the acreage control features of past programs. A farmer who had allotments or bases for several crops was encouraged to grow them, and this discouraged specialization which could lead to lower production costs, Elder said.

Elder said the set-aside idea seems to fit with trends that have been building in farming over the years. These include the trend in which American farms have grown fewer in number and larger in size, and the trend for producers to become more efficient and more produc-

ive. The efficient, competitive producer will be in the best position to take advantage of growing world demands for farm products.

1970 RECORD BEST

The Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program reported the lowest number of cases in its history for 1970. Program officials credit the successful year to "getting sterile flies to target areas faster as cases were confirmed; careful analysis of the screwworm spread and planning of livestock owners in reporting cases and a generally bad year for many species of flies. But no let up on the part of stockmen in submitting samples of worms taken from animal wounds is advised by program officials."

UNSTABLE land means an unstable agriculture.

Price's proposed hike in FHA farm loan limits becomes law

With President Nixon's signature, Congressman Bob Price of Pampa has seen his proposal to boost FHA farm real estate loan limits by 40 percent become law. Price was the author of the initial legislation raising FHA farm ownership loan limits from $60,000 to $100,000.

"NOW YOUNG people trying to get a start in farming, Vietnam veterans and established farmers interested in expanding their operations, will be able to look to FHA for increased financial assistance. This is of vital importance to agriculture in the Texas Panhandle, the state of Texas and other farming areas of the country," Price said.

Price stated that raising FHA loan limits for farm land purchases "is an absolute necessity."

"Inflation is a cancer eating away at the wealth of this nation; no person or business is exempt from its effects," he said. "If farmers are to be expected to continue to produce high quality foods and fibers at a cost to the American consumer that is lower than any time in our nation's history, then farmers will need access to expand the sources of credit which they can use to make farming operations as efficient as possible," he added.

THE TEXAS lawmaker said he was particularly proud of his proposal because its enactment would not cost the taxpayer more money. Funds for the FHA home ownership program are raised from private investors through the sale of FHA notes in the private money market.

GIFFORD-HILL'S 360 SPRINKLER SYSTEM

Beautiful days off times come at the wrong time. You might just as soon see a gentle, soaking, half-inch rain. But because Mother Nature isn't always as dependable as she might be, Gifford-Hill has stolen some of her thunder.

The electrically powered 360 sprinkler system lets you schedule your own rain. The exclusive sprinkler spacing concept applies the same amount of water at one end of the system as it does at the other. No puddling. No runoff.

The 360 goes in either direction, uphill or down. It will water a quarter-circle, a half-circle, any portion of your field with the exact amount needed. And the positive gear drive motor lets it move only when you want it to.

You should have a 360. On those beautiful sunny days, you'll have everything going for you, including the rain.

Gifford-Hill & Company, Inc.

rounds out a beautiful sunny day.
