„REFLECTIONS“ „REFLECTIONS“ „REFLECTIONS“

BY RICHARD C. THOMAS

There is a serious housing shortage in Winters. With the normal day-to-day demand for housing, plus the demand caused by increased activity in the oil patch and elsewhere, added to the demand due to the influx of people connected with various construction projects, mainly the new Winters Lake, the situation has become quite serious.

Winters Independent School District is faced with the problem of adequate housing for teachers who have been hired for the new school year. J. B. Smith, business manager for the school, said there is a need right now for at least six family units for new teachers entering the system. In addition, there is an immediate need for an apartment for a single lady teacher.

It is difficult at best to find qualified teachers and administrators for the school system; the problem is compounded when it is next to impossible for the school to promise adequate housing for those they employ. And new teachers and administrators have a difficult time just to get their feet on the ground in a new system, without having the added burden of lack of adequate places to live.

The problem is not confined to the teaching profession, however; there are many others who are seeking housing.

The problem of housing is not unique to Winters; it is a growing problem throughout the country, what with the increasing population, added to the high interest rates forcing a decline in housing starts.

Winters is fortunate, in a way, however. During the past several years, three multi-unit housing projects have been started here, with two having been completed some years ago. The third will not be ready until at least October, or maybe later, to late to help in the immediate weeks before the beginning of the new school year. Too, there is already a waiting list for those new units when they are ready, according to the Winters Housing Authority.

If there is anyone who knows of some type of housing which could be made available to teachers or administrators, they are asked to contact the school business office.

Present Reagan was tough in his response to the strike by the Air Controllers. He warned them that if they did not return to their posts within 48 hours, they would be fired. The entire nation should stand behind the President. If the federal law prohibiting strikes by federal workers is not enforced, to the letter, it would make a mockery of every other law in the land.

Rates on School bonds expected

Officials of the Winters Independent School District say they expect results on the rating of the $2.2 million in school improvement bonds some time this week.

School board president Gene Wheat and board members Randall Connors and Gary Don Pinkerton along with Superintendent Tommy Lancaster, Business Manager Johnny Bob Smith, and financial consultant Pat McMillian were in New York City last week to meet with the Moody Investment firm to get a rating on the bonds.

School officials say that the interest rate on the bonds depends on the rating the bonds receive.

Business manager Johnny Bob Smith said that hopefully the bid forms can be mailed out late this week and the bids opened next week. School district financial advisor Pat McMillian says that about 500 bid forms are ready to be mailed as soon as the bonds are rated.

Dam progress

Construction of the intake tower which will pull water from the new lake into the transport lines is

with water-holding clay material has begun; seepage water is being pumped from the deep foundation ditch. The dam proper will be constructed on top of the footing.

Charges filed in alien death

Four persons have been taken into custody in connection with the death of a Mexican National who had been working in Runnels County for several years. The body of 26 year old Jorge Moran was found along side a county road east of Winters Sunday morning.

Sheriff's deputy Lt. Bill McCloud in San Angelo said that charges of failure to stop and render aid have been filed against two men, Jose Concepcion Gonzales and Gabriel Alanis, both Mexican Nationals. Gerald Fohn, 51st state district attorney, said that additional charges are pending against the two.

Two other men are being held as material witnesses in the case but have not been charged in connection with the death.

Deputies McCloud and Cres DeLa Garza of the Tom Green County Sheriff's department and Bill Baird and Johnny Wilson of the Runnels County Sheriff's Department, handled the investigation. The officers said that the five men were occupants of a car that had stopped on the San Angelo city farm just east of that city. The officers said that Jorge Moran apparently had stepped out of the car and was standing behind it when the car backed over him. Lt. McCloud said that the two men charged then loaded Moran's body into the trunk of the auto and carried it to the location along a county road east of Winters where it was placed in the ditch where it was found early Sunday.

An autopsy, conducted in Abilene late Sunday indicated that Moran died as the result of a broken neck. Officers said that robbery was definitely not a motive in the death, that Moran's wallet contained over $500 in U.S. currency

OES fish fry postponed

The fish fry scheduled by Winters Chapter No. 80, Order of the Eastern Star for Friday, Aug. 7 has been postponed.

Local OES officials say the fish fry will be rescheduled at a later date.

Police recover stolen car

Winters police officer Ed Enoksen and Taylor County sheriff's officers recovered a late model car stolen Sunday afternoon from a North side convenience store.

Police department spokesmen said that the car, a 1979 Buick Regal belonging to Manual Lara of Winters, was taken by two subjects thought to have been hitchhiking through Winters after it was left with the keys in the ignition and the engine running. The two suspects abandoned the car behind the Baptist Church in Ovalo to avoid being captured by law enforcement officers.

Investigating officers said that the two escaped from the Ovalo area, possibly in a pickup after fleeing the stolen vehicle on foot. Officers said that several fingerprints were taken from the stolen car and that some clothing and some religious materials had been left in the vehicle.

Officers said that they searched for a pickup seen leaving the area, but could not find the pickup and said that a vehicle fitting the description of the one seen leaving the area had not been reported stolen.

Tax district and airport on City Council agenda

The Winters City Council, in regular session Monday, met with Clayton Brazelton of the Runnels County Tax Appraisal District and learned the cost to the city for the appraisal district for the next fiscal year.

Brazelton told the council that the tentative revenues for the appraisal district's operation would total $260,501.53 while its projected expenditures would total $260,475.48. The chief appraiser told the city officials that the proposed cost to the City of Winters would total $11,070.21 based on the 1980 tax figures.

The chief appraiser then briefed the council on the proposed operation of the tax appraisal office, explained its procedures, and invited the council to attend the appraisal district's meetings. He noted that a board of equalization for the county appraisal district would need to be appointed and asked the council for its assistance in naming members.

and a large amount of Mexican currency.

Officers said that Alanis was arrested in Del Rio as he was attempting to return to Mexico and that Gonzales was taken into custody on the ranch where he was working between Winters and Coleman.

Lt. McCloud said that charges were not filed against the two other men, Al Don Cruz and Francisco Roselez, because they were asleep in the back seat of the car and were not aware of the death until later Sunday morning.

Funeral services for Jorge Moran of Zimipan Hidalgo, Mexico were pending with the Winters Funeral Home who handled local arrangements.

In other action, the council gave its okay to a contract with LaDell Davis for airport grounds maintenance. Davis has held the contract for several years and is required to plant Coastal Bermuda on the land surrounding the airport. Council members had indicated that small grain crops would not be desirable on the area immediately around the airport.

The council also gave city administrator Glenn Brown the go-ahead to complete the purchase of some 88 acres of land for the city's sewer plant expansion. The council also told the administrator to begin advertising as soon as possible for bids to lease the sewer farm. Council members noted that in order for the sewer farm to be productive to a tenant farmer the lease must be approved quickly in order for the person leasing the property to get crops planted.

The council told the city administrator to prepare an airport hazard zoning ordinance that is re-

Bridge builder to be honored

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation and the Runnels County Historical Commission will honor the late George Garrett in ceremonies on August 13 dedicating the new Colorado River bridge on U.S. 83 just south of Ballinger.

Garrett was resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department at the time the old steel-truss bridge over the river was constructed. Garrett later was promoted to serve as assistant to the Engineer-director of the Highway Department.

Upon his retirement, Garrett and his wife Lura Lee moved to Winters where they became active members of the community.

Of the two plaques that were removed from the old bridge, one will be presented to Mrs. Garrett and the other will be mounted near the new bridge in a roadside park.

The dedication and presentation ceremonies will be held on Thursday, August 13, at 10:30 a.m. at the park on U.S. 83 near the new bridge.

Sam Waldrop, Chairman of the Texas Highway Commission will be the featured speaker. A number of representatives of the Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Austin are also expected to attend.

The dedication and presentation ceremonies are being sponsored Runnels County Historical Commission, the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, and the Ballinger City Council.

Following the dedication, a luncheon will be held at the Ballinger First United Methodist Church. The cost of the luncheon is $3.75 per plate. The deadline for pre-registration for the luncheon is August 10 at the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce Office, or by contacting Mrs. George Poe.

WHS band to rehearse August 10

The first rehearsal of the Winters High School Blizzard band will be Monday, August 10, at 7 p. m. in the Band Hall.

Band Director Eddie Pace said it is important that all band members in grades 8 through 12 be present.

Students who plan to use school instruments should come to this first rehearsal 30 to 40 minutes early so instruments can be issued.

quired by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Administrator Glenn Brown told the council the ordinance was necessary to insure that the airport be eligible for future grants. Brown also told the council that an airport board would have to be named and that a number of meetings with the TAC would be scheduled after an airport board was named.

Brown said one of the primary reasons for the hazard zoning ordinance was to insure that no towers or other tall structures would ever be constructed around the airport.

The City Administrator reminded the members of the city council that the council will conduct public hearings on the city budget and revenue sharing budget in their next meeting set for August 17. Mayor Lee Colburn expressed hope that interested citizens would attend the budget hearings and provide input to the city.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The reason for this letter is after reading your Reflections, thought I would write some reflections or recollections about the same subject that you dwelled on in this week's paper.

Now, there has been a lot of water gone down the creek even in this dry county; when these recollections occurred, I am 76-years-old and they happened during World War I.

Older people will remember that sugar, flour and other items were rationed during those days. If you used up your sugar and flour before your allotted time you done without.

My dad decided that he would thrash out some goose-neck or pocketknife maize and take it over to Glen Cove and have it ground.

Going from Winters to Coleman these days people wouldn't think about Glen Cove having a mill. But it did, a Mr. J. B. Allen had a store and the mill and done custom grinding.

My mother, never having used milo-flour had to do some experimenting. She first tried making biscuits with it. They came out of the oven freckled, but were not too bad with butter, ham gravy or syrup while hot. But when they got cold it was another story. They were like a brick. Then she tried it like cornbread; about the same old story. Then she tried a batter and cooked it in a lot of bacon grease in a thin hoecake. Not bad, good with a nutty taste.

So there could come a time again when people would need to use milo for bread and it sure would beat going without.

Yours, R. P. McWilliams

Pension offset may affect spouse's Social Security benefits

People working in a federal, state or local government not covered by Social Security should know that the pension from this work could affect the Social Security benefit they were expecting to receive as a husband or wife, Frank Upp, Social Security district manager in San Angelo, said recently.

This is because the Social Security benefit for a husband, wife, widow, or widower will be reduced — dollar for dollar — by the amount of the government pension. This offset will not affect the amount of the government pension or the amount of any Social Security benefit the person receives based on his or her own work covered by Social Security.

In addition, Upp said, the law provides an exception for some people. A person is exempt from the offset if:

— he or she is eligible to receive a federal, state, or local government pension before December 1982 even though he or she does not apply for it, and — he or she meets all the requirements for wife's, husband's, widow's or widower's benefits in effect in January 1977. At that time, a man had to have been dependent upon his wife for more than half of his support to be eligible as a husband or widower, and a divorced woman's marriage had to have lasted 20 years, rather than the 10 years now required for her to be eligible.

The purpose of the offset is to prevent windfall payments to retired government workers who have their own pensions and would also receive Social Security benefits as a spouse or surviving spouse, Upp said.

In addition, the offset will not apply if the person's government job is covered by Social Security on the last day the person works.

Texas beef investment program off to very successful start

Texas cattlemen are concerned about beef's current demand level — and they're doing something about it.

On July 1, Texas cattlemen initiated a voluntary 25-cent beef market investment program whereby all money collected is remitted to the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board for national programs of research, education and promotion, all of which are designed to increase beef demand.

Thus far, the voluntary investment plan has been quite successful. As of August 1, more than half of all cattle in Texas were passing through participating checkoff collection points (auction markets, order buyers and packing plants).

This type of participation has been encouraging to the Beef Industry Council and the other five Texas cattle organizations — Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas Cattle Feeders Assn., Texas Farm Bureau, the Independent Cattlemen's Assn., and the Livestock Marketing Assn. of Texas — all of which have been working with collection points since last May.

Why have certain collection points decided to encourage their customers to participate in this investment program?

"Because I feel we (the beef industry) have done a very poor job of merchandising our product in relation to our competition, who would have thought ten years ago that turkey and chicken would make such marketplace gains," said Cecil Sellers, Sweetwater Auction Market manager and president of the Livestock Marketing Association of Texas.

"We need to get something going now more than ever," said Sellers, "and the way to do it is by aggressively promoting our product. That's why the Sweetwater market is participating in the Texas beef investment program."

George McDonald, manager/owner of Longview Livestock Commission Inc. agrees that now is the time to try a new approach to return the beef industry to profitability.

"We (cattlemen) can no longer sit back and say that this or that program may or may not work. We should be giving this new investment program a try — we can't sit back and watch our market share erode," McDonald said.

How will funds collected from Texas cattlemen be used by the Meat Board's Beef Industry Council?

For openers, the BIC has earmarked a substantial portion of funds for a fall media blitz of its highly successful "Make Ends Meat — With the Great Taste of Beef" campaign, which promotes lesser-priced cuts of beef to budget-conscious shoppers. The campaign calls for television advertising in six major U.S. consumer markets, including Dallas/Ft. Worth.

Long-term beef industry plans (1982 and beyond) include an extensive television, magazine, radio and billboard advertising campaign which will bring messages about beef's value, versatility, convenience, taste appeal and nutrition to consumers in either the nation's top 10 consumer markets, top 20 markets or the entire U.S., depending on budget levels.

The plan also calls for extensive retail tie-ins and annual consumer attitude and awareness studies to measure the effectiveness of the campaign in general.

GTE to seek rate hike in early 1982

Melvin Jennings, Division Manager of General Telephone of the Southwest, told the Winters City Council Monday evening that the telephone utility would very likely be asking the Public Utility Commission for a rate increase during the first quarter of 1982.

Jennings said that GTE was in a dilemma because stockholders are finding that their investments will earn more on the money market or in AAA bonds than holding shares in GTE. The division manager said that in order for the company to offer a fair rate of return to its investors and to provide improved service to its customers, an increase in its rates will be necessary.

GTE has been operating under a $4 million service penalty imposed by the Public Utility Commission and Jennings said that hopefully, the penalty will be lifted after a hearing in November. The GTE manager attributed the majority of the company's problems, both financial and equipment and service, to poor judgements exercised by top management officials of GTE in 1976. Jennings said that the phone company was now meeting requirements established by the PUC and was continuing to make improvements.

The GTE Division Manager told the council that he was asking for their understanding of the phone company's rate problem. He said that the council's support would be appreciated, but expressed GTE's hopes the council would not oppose a new rate increase request.

In reporting on service improvements, Jennings, said that new electronic equipment in the Direct Distance Dialing system had been installed in the world.

past six weeks and that the new equipment had solved a number of problems the company had been experiencing with the direct dialing on long distance calls.

Jennings said that repairs and service installations and changes in Winters had been speeded up and that the phone company was now offering better service to its subscribers in Winters.

The meeting this week between officials of General Telephone and the city council was considerably different from the last meeting several months ago. In the previous meeting, the telephone officials met with complaints of poor service from everyone present at that meeting. This week, the council noted that service had improved considerably and expressed interest in pointing out any problems that might be experienced with phone service.

Energy tips help restaurant owners cut operating costs

It may not result in reduced prices for a juicy ribeye steak, crisp chef's salad or apple pie a la mode, but Texas A&M University electrical engineers are showing restaurant owners how to cut costs on their operations.

The engineers recommend ways to save significant amounts of energy, through microcomputer system controls and building improvements.

"For most restaurant operators already in business, the measures can cut energy costs by 20 percent," said Dr. Don Russell.

The savings margin can be doubled where new buildings can incorporate the researchers' ideas, added the research engineer with the Electric Power Institute at Texas A&M.

Budget Reconciliation: After The Votes

The largest conference committee in congressional history is underway as members of the House and Senate meet to reconcile differences in their budget savings proposals. It is by most accounts the most extensive legislation ever confronted by conferees.

The numbers are staggering in their own right. In the House of Representatives 209 conferees were appointed to work in the 58 mini-conferences to resolve the large number of issues contained in the bill.

Progress has been good to date. Nineteen subconferences have met and 14 officially resolved. Another 14 will soon be completed. That means that within the first two weeks of the process almost one-half of all subconferences will be completed. While in many of these cases agreements are close, in a bill of this size — between 4,000 and 6,000 pages — it takes days just to put all the pieces in place.

Budget reconciliation means that Congress sets an overall spending limit and then, if existing laws and spending commitments exceed the total, prepares a separate bill to reconcile the parts of the whole. The reconciliation measure changes the underlying laws (of authorizing committees) and limits spending decisions (of appropriations committees) to stay within the total. Reconciliation, in the technical sense, takes precedence over both prior authorizing and subsequent appropriating legislation.

Congress established federal spending limits this spring in its first budget resolution. The two houses told 29 committees — 15 in the House and 14 in the Senate — to save approximately $36 billion by changing existing laws. Each committee was directed to save a specific amount.

What happened after that is now part of the history of President Reagan's program for economic recovery. The Senate approved its measures by an overwhelming vote while in the House we were able to pass a bipartisan substitute — on a very close vote. Both versions exceeded the original estimate and came up with savings of about $38 billion.

While the massive reconciliation document addresses at least 100 programs, the legislation is not a budget bill per se, in that it does not cover all programs or even all budget functions. It includes only those functions and programs for which additional savings were directed in the first budget resolution passed May 7.

The reconciliation conference committee, therefore, focuses on conflicting areas. Major disagreements exist in such areas as Medicaid, housing, health services, block grants, telecommunications and other funding areas — all matters of national interest.

What happens in this process stimulates the imagination. But it will give you some idea of the complexity of budget legislation and say something about the people in Congress who do yeoman work behind the scenes: the staff.

Out of the limelight, in offices throughout the Capitol, more than a thousand congressional aides are playing lead roles in exploring where there may be areas of agreement but also planning the compromises necessary to win conference approval. Frankly, that is the method by which hundreds of issues are resolved in a couple of weeks. This institutional process works; it is the heart and soul of our legislative process.

Technical issues are not always clearly articulated during debate but nevertheless make up the body of law. They simply have to be correct.

The staff does reflect the views of the principals — those of us who cast the votes on the issues which affect our constituents, our nation.

The end result? The package of budget cuts should enforce the spending ceiling adopted by Congress in response to President Reagan's call for a reduction in the growth of Federal spending. Votes of the Texas delegation were instrumental in adoption of the measures which encompass many of the President's proposals.

If you are asking yourself what this means, I can tell you this incredible process represents only about 5 percent of the total budget and about 1 percent of next year's gross national product. But it is a beginning. It is part of the new beginning that surely will bring this country back into line with its historical aspirations.

Blackwell

Mmes. Ray Lee, Gene Ware and Willie Stevens visited last Tuesday with residents in the Bronte Nursing Home.

Melissa Oden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dan Oden of Albany, visited last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Oden and Larry.

Those from Blackwell attending the funeral for Charles Wayne Dudley were Mmes. Charles Roland, Ernest Ware, Mathis Romine, A.D. Shafer, Lillian Ragland, James Connel, Pat Lewis, Charity Pursell, Savannah Thompson, Maria Reginio and daughters and Ann Taylor. Bro. and Mrs. Buddy Trull also came from Christoval.

The Blackwell ambulance transferred Mrs. Beulah Magness of Bronte to the Shannon Memorial Hospital in San Angelo last Wednesday Mrs. Magness was at her ranch home at Hylton when she suffered a fall, but at last report she had suffered a broken shoulder instead of a broken hip as was first reported.

Charity Pursell came home last Wednesday after spending a week in the Rolling Plains Memorial Hospital in Sweetwater and is reported to be much improved.

The Vacation Bible School held at the Blackwell First Baptist Church Monday and Tuesday evenings and Thursday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. each evening closed Friday at 7:00 p.m. with a good program. They had a daily attendance of about fifty each evening. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served in the Fellowship Hall of the Church after the program and everyone viewed the items the children had made. Several out-of-town visitors came, so a good time of fellowship was enjoyed by each and every one.

Runnels County Grain Sorghum producers are invited to attend a tour of Grain Sorghum Variety Result Demonstrations on Monday, August 10. The tour will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the County Courthouse and conclude by noon, according to David Workman, Extension Crops Committee Chairman.

The tour will include an 8:45 a.m. stop at the David Workman farm at Hatchel, a 9:45 stop at the Daniel Redman farm at Miles, a tour of the Rudy Hohensee farm at 10:45, and a stop at the Lange Brothers farm at Norton at 11:30.

Dr. Willis Gass, Extension Agronomist, will be on the tour to provide commentary of new information and answer questions.

Wingate fire

Winters firemen were called to assist the Wingate Volunteer Fire Department Saturday night when a vacant house at Wingate was completely destroyed by fire. Telephone outage in the Wingate area caused a delay in communication with Winters, and the house was almost completely burned when Winters firemen reached the scene.

Some people once believed that mountains were formed by an enormous underground serpent moving about.

Eggplant Cake Is Wonderful—Not Weird!

What's egg-shaped, deep glossy purple and star ingredient in such dishes as moussaka (Greeks love it) and ratatouille (French adore it)? Americans enjoy it, too! Eggplant, of course. Now the handsome vegetable, which arrived from the Orient about 1,500 years ago, is making dessert news! No one would ever think the strange plant would combine so deliciously with instant pudding and pie filling in a cake, but together they make an incredibly moist and fine textured pudding cake. There's a mellowing of flavors when the baked cake is covered and stored overnight. It brings out the cinnamon and other spices in the cake batter. Dust the cake with confectioners sugar and take it to the table (or picnic) in style.

GARDEN EGGPLANT PUDDING CAKE

- 1 package (2-layer size) yellow cake mix or pudding-included cake mix
- 1 package (4-serving size) Jell-O vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup oil
- 2 cups peeled and grated eggplant
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/8 teaspoon cloves
- 1/8 teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in large mixer bowl. Blend; then beat at medium speed of electric mixer for 4 minutes. Pour into greased and floured 10-inch fluted tube pan. Bake at 350° for 50 to 55 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly pressed and cake pulls away from sides of pan. Do not underbake. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Remove from pan and finish cooling on rack. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar, if desired.

In high altitude areas, use large eggs, add 2/3 cup all-purpose flour and 1/3 cup water; increase sour cream to 3/4 cup and reduce oil to 2 tablespoons; bake at 375° for 55 to 60 minutes. (With pudding-included cake mix, use 3/4 cup flour and 1/4 cup water.)

Rape indictments returned in Runnels and Taylor Counties

Two former Abilene men, Ronnie Calvin Yates, 25, of Ozona and Chris Bradshaw, 22, of San Angelo were indicted by a 42nd. District Court Grand Jury in Abilene last week in connection with the aggravated rape of a 19-year-old Roscoe woman in south Taylor county on June 27.

The pair also face similar charges in Runnels County for an alleged second rape of the same woman the same night in this county.

Taylor County Sheriff's officers said that a companion to the rape victim told authorities that the two women agreed to go for a ride with two men at an Abilene night club and were taken to a spot in south Taylor County where the first rape occurred. The companion told officers that she escaped from the two men during the first rape to notify authorities.

Ronnie Calvin Yates also was named in a second indictment charging aggravated sexual abuse. The indictment alleges he forced the woman to engage in deviate sexual intercourse.

Bradshaw was arrested in San Angelo the day following the alleged rape, while Yates was arrested by Colorado prison officials a few days later when he was found camping out on Colorado State Prison grounds.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU?

The risk of skin cancer may be decreased for a number of Americans. Many years of overexposure to the sun may be harmful to your health. This is true of everybody, but especially of light-skinned and redheaded people, and those whose work requires them to spend many hours in the sun—farmers, fishermen, construction workers, for example.

Spending long hours in the sun may cause a possibly premalignant condition.

While some develop only a deep tan, others eventually develop solar keratoses—red, scaly patches on the face, hands, neck and other ex-

BRIDGE DEDICATION HONORS BUILDER

The greatest compliment that can be paid a man is that his work is remembered after he is gone. Such a man is George Garrett, who was resident engineer when the Colorado River bridge was erected in 1930 on Highway 83, just below Ballinger.

The State Highway Commission is honoring this achievement Thursday, August 13, at 10:30 a.m. with a ceremony held at the park in South Ballinger, near the site of the new bridge. Other organizations that will assist are the Runnels County Historical Commission, the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, and the Ballinger City Council. As has been announced by Gene M. Hirschfeld, public affairs officer, the plaque from the old bridge has been placed on a permanent cement post and there will be a dedication and presentation to Mrs. Garrett. A luncheon at the Ballinger First United Methodist Church will follow.

Some of the Runnels County officers in 1930 were Paul Trimmier, county judge; R. J. Deens, D. W. Yeager, R. A. Perry and H. B. Poe, county commissioners.

George Garrett was employed with the Texas Highway Department for 31 years and later worked for Portland Cement Association at Austin before he retired in 1966 and returned to Winters to live.

Active in all phases of community life, Garrett served on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and the Winters Public Library. He was president of the North Runnels Cancer Society for a number of years. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and Professional Engineers.

Mr. Garrett was a member of the Winters Masonic Lodge, Order of the Eastern Star and Knights Templar. He also was on the board of administration of First United Methodist Church.

Garrett began working for the Highway Department as a paving inspector after his graduation from A&M in 1924. He came to Ballinger from Palestine in 1928 as resident highway engineer. A great deal of paving was done at that time under his supervision.

"He pulled Winters out of the mud and I decided to go along with him," says Mrs. Garrett, daughter of the late Dr. Fred Tinkle, a pioneer doctor who came to Winters in 1900.

The couple became acquainted at a county meeting of the Epworth League in the Methodist Church and were married July 2, 1931. They lived in Ballinger three years where he was promoted to District Highway Engineer. In 1950 he was named deputy state highway engineer. They lived in Lubbock six years, Bryan five years and Ft. Worth 15 years and moved to Austin where they were living at retirement. They have one son, George Lee of Lawn.

The Garretts moved to Winters to be near her mother and built a new home next door. Their house is built in the vicinity of Tinkle Park, a historic site once used by the Community brass band for practice on Friday nights and for concerts.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Garrett were interested and she continues to be a member of the Runnels County Historical Commission. He was an active member as long as health permitted.

One of his latest projects was a brochure of Runnels County with all the historic spots numbered. Sixteen plates were designated as being of historical significance. He drew the map and designed the border which is composed of cattle brands and kinds of barbed wire used in the county.

Unusual brands are the Rocking R, Rocking H, Cup, Overlapping ZH, and RX, Dr. W.W. Mitchell's brand still in use by the family. Two rare kinds of barbed wire are the rowel wire and the buckle wire.

Mr. Garrett died Sept. 5, 1979.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Once a year, this writer goes on vacation. Now that those two weeks are behind, we have another year for these weekly visits in this spot. I must say, the best part of a vacation is getting back home and back to work.

My family and I spend some exciting times on the Gulf coast. For our four girls, it was their first time to see the "big waters", swim in the sea and search for shells along the shore.

In going to Port Aransas and back, we covered a good part of the Lone Star state. Enjoying the contrast and comparing the farm and ranch land, it appears that South Texas is in better condition than West and Central Texas.

I have never seen South Texas so green with good cow grass at mid-summer. West Texas is cracking open again with lots of burnt grass plus we noticed several miles of fire damaged ranch north of Eldorado.

Our vacation was eventful in its own right. But worldwide, it was quite a newsy time. President Reagan got his taxcut through the Congress. . . England's future King Charles married . . . an I got back to the office to find the typesetting machine broke down. So, production was at a standstill!

The cost to both cattlemen and consumers is millions of dollars annually.

A survey of the beef cattle industry by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1976 revealed that predators were responsible for the death of 1.1 percent of all calves born in Texas in 1975. Two percent of the respondents in the state reported they lost more than five percent of their calf crop to predators. The survey also showed that one tenth of one percent of all beef cattle weighing 550 pounds or more died from predator attacks.

John Cargile of San Angelo, TSCRA president, estimated the monetary loss to Texas cattlemen at $24.4 million annually with a minimum total loss of $195.2 million since Compound 1090 was banned. With the current cost-price squeeze on cattle producers, cattle are losing money without the additional burden of coyotes. Many operators, particularly those grazing sheep or goats, have been forced out of business. This has had a major economic impact on rural communities dependent upon agricultural income and has contributed to the shift of the rural population into direct competition for jobs in cities.

Well, I could get on a soapbox pretty fast when the subject of predators comes up. Besides growing up on a ranch, I spend nearly 20 years in the employment of the TSCRA and the sheep and goat raisers organizations, been on ranches in about every county in the state and know what predators can do.

And just about as damaging to the welfare of the country is the Environmental Protection Agency. Those folks were successful in 1972 at getting Compound 1080, the chemical toxicant, banned.

The EPA people are making loud sounds to remove Secretary James Watts now. I am convinced that Mr. Watts is the best thing that has happened to the Interior since the department was created. Surely he will listen to us.

The rapid growth of the coyote population has increased potential health problems for livestock. Coyotes are known carriers of brucellosis, a multi-million dollar disease causing abortion and reduced calf crops. Coyotes also pass on tick paralysis, plague and rabies to domestic livestock.

Cargile criticized non-lethal control methods, advocated by environmentalists, as ineffective and impractical.

As far 1080, ample data and field experience show it to be a very safe, effective and selective predacide for coyote management. The poison became a political football in the late 1960s and early 1970s, in spite of decades of use on a large scale.

Environmentalists, over-zealous bureaucrats and issue-hungry politicians let emotion override scientific proof of safety, he said.

"The cold, hard facts are that some regulations do not take into consideration the economic ramifications of those actions. We must do that. One of the best answers to inflation is increased productivity.

"The cattle industry understands its responsibility to the American people, to say nothing of the worldwide needs, for an adequate supply of food and fiber at prices working people can afford to pay," added Cargile.

Dry ice does not melt but changes from a solid directly to a gas. The process is called sublimation.

Screwworm samples have declined sharply

There's good news and bad news about the screwworm situation in Texas.

The good news is that no more confirmed cases of screwworms have been reported in the state since the outbreak in Presidio County last May. But the bad news is that submission of suspected screwworm samples to the fly lab at Mission has declined sharply.

"We are hopeful that no more screwworm cases are present in the state, but we don't really know; that's why it is so important for livestock producers to continue sending in suspected samples," Dr. John Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

"We did have a big increase in samples following the Presidio County outbreak. But since then, the numbers of samples submitted to the fly lab at Mission has dropped drastically. We need to again request livestock producers to submit suspected screwworm samples. Mailing kits are available for this chore," he explained.

More than a dozen confirmed screwworm cases have been reported in Mexican border states in the last two months, and that is an area which has been screwworm-free for about a year. Confirmed cases have been reported 50 to 100 miles from the Texas border.

"So we can have another outbreak in Texas. We need to keep our guard up by sending in samples," Dr. Holcombe said.

In Texas so far this year, there have been five confirmed screwworm cases.

Three wrecks this week

Winters police say that three traffic accidents in the city in the past week resulted in minor injuries and heavy property damage.

Last Wednesday evening a three car accident at West Dale and Church streets resulted in considerable damage, but no injuries.

On Friday evening, a car-pickup crash damaged an automobile driven by Mrs. Emma Marks and a pickup owned by the Pool Company and driven by Danny Bruce Harris.

About noon Saturday a Ballinger woman was taken to Ballinger Memorial Hospital by ambulance following a traffic crash at the intersection of U.S. 83 and State Highway 53. Investigating officers said that a late model automobile driven by Jesus Castro Garza of Ballinger and an older model vehicle driven by Demetris Visueth Gonzales of Winters were in collision.

Police officers said that one of the cars was attempting a left turn onto Highway 53 when the rear head-on crash occurred. Mrs. Jesus Garcia was taken to the Ballinger hospital for observation.

NEWS Of Education

At Penn: "A Measure Of Preference"

Among students who seek admission to the University of Pennsylvania, a university official has acknowledged that some are given "a measure of preference."

This led at least one parent to write Penn's President, Martin Meyerson, for information on who gets preference and how much preference is given.

Cash contributions don't necessarily bring results. When a Penn alumnus, who had been giving the university substantial sums for years, asked that his daughter be interviewed (some candidates for Penn get interviews and others do not) he was told that his call came two days too late.
