SWCD Board sets Oct. 3 election

An election for a director to serve in Zone 3 of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District Board is scheduled for October 8, at the Norton Community Center according to Cone J. Robinson, chairman of the Board. The election will be held at 8:30 p.m.

State law decrees that to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land within the sub-division where the election is being held. The person must also live in a county all or any part of which is in the district and the voter must be 18 years of age.

Legal qualifications state that a candidate for the office of a soil and water conservation district director must own land in the zone he represents, be 18 years of age and be actively engaged in farming or ranching. He must also live in a county, all or part of which is in the district.

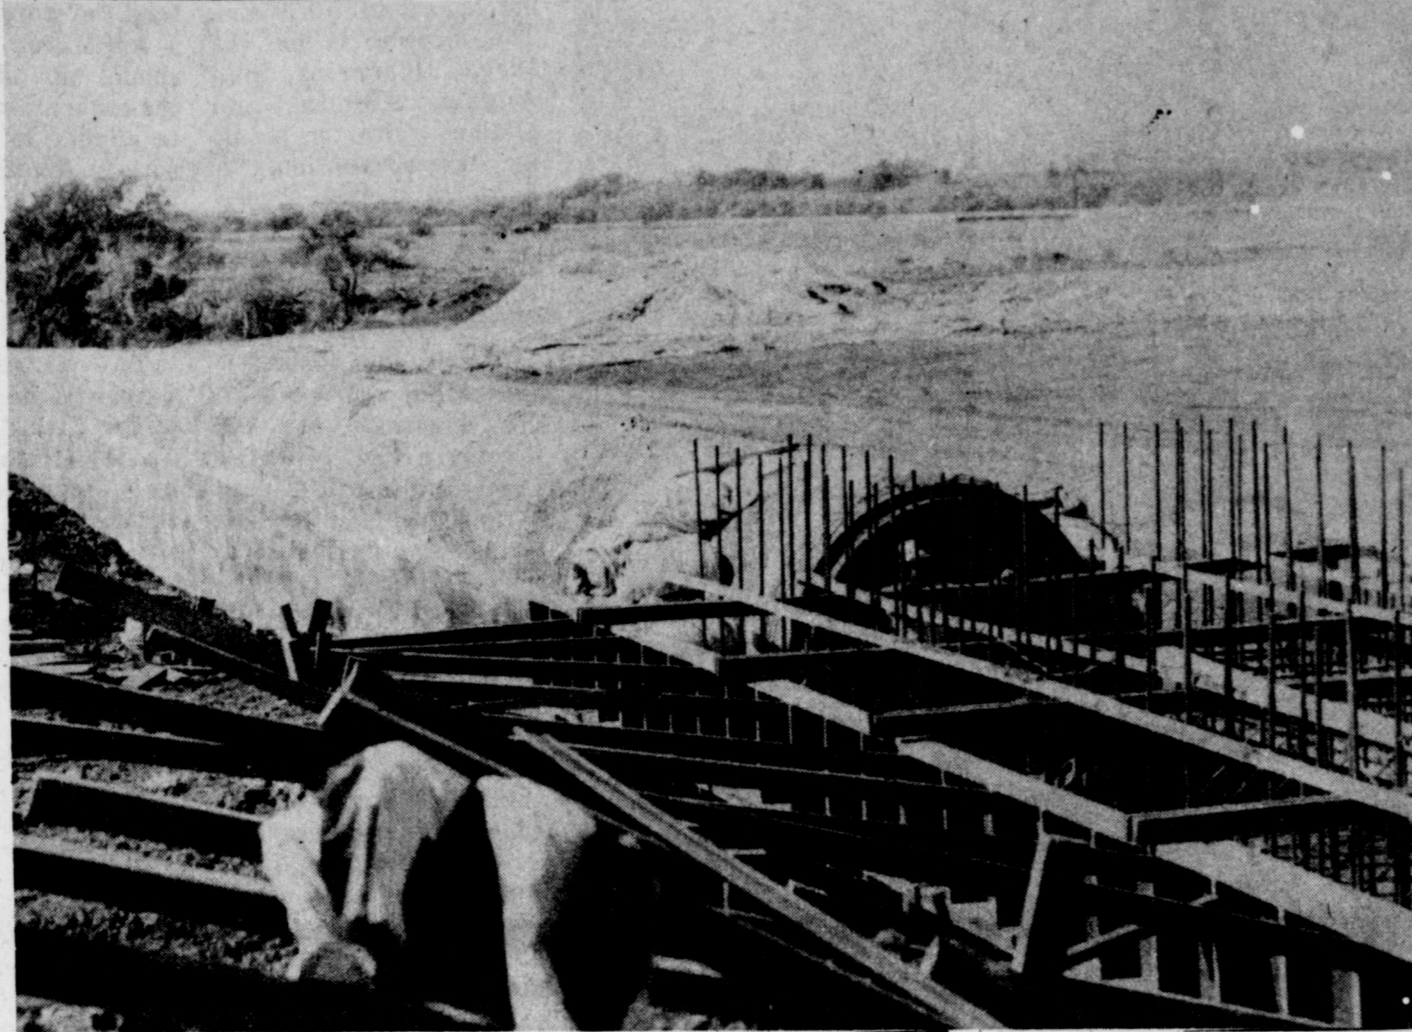

Zone 3 of the district includes an area from a line beginning at a point where the Colorado River intersects the Runnels-Coke County line; thence north along Runnels County line to a point of intersection of the Bronte-Winters highway (FM 384); thence south and east along FM 384 to the Wingate Road (FM 53); thence east along the Wingate Road to a point of intersection of U.S. Highway 83; thence south along Highway 83 to a point of intersection with the Colorado River; thence West and North along the meanderings of the Colorado River to the point of the beginning.

Current members of the board of directors of the Runnels SWCD are Cone J. Robinson, Sr., Chairman, Norton; Douglas Cole, Vice-chairman, Winters; Otto Gottschalk, Secretary, Ballinger; David Ocker, member, Rowena; W.C. 'Bud' Davis, member, Winters.

The purpose of the Runnels SWCD, with headquarters in Ballinger, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as the voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The district board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state, and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator.

Work progresses...

Workmen are pouring cement around the new outlet for the new Lake Winters dam. The six-foot diameter pipe will extend through the dam and was installed in the past couple of weeks. Work is continuing at a rapid pace on the new lake and spokesmen say that the work is ahead of schedule. A number of large earth movers, dozers, and water wagons are working daily piling up dirt that will be the dam of the long awaited New Winters Lake.

Blizzards ice down Hawley with 35-0 win

The Winters Blizzards turned everything around Friday night as they got their first win this season. The Blizzards played superb football the first half. The Blizzard defense gave up only two first downs the first half while the offense rolled up 157 yards and 23 points in the first half.

With a 1 and 1 record in district play, the Blizzards are still very much in the race for the district championship.

Dwight Hubbard scored the first touchdown on a 10 yard run and Donnie Daily kicked the extra point making the score 7-0.

Jeff Butts scored the second touchdown on a 10 yard quarterback counter to make the score 13-0. Donnie Daily, who did an excellent job kicking off, then booted a 42 yard field goal to make the score 16-0. The 42 yard field goal by Daily, according to head coach Dan Slaughter, is probably a school record.

Continuing to add up the score,

Jeff Butts ran five yards into the end zone and Daily added the PAT to finish the first half with the score 23-0.

In the second half, Dwight Hubbard got two touchdowns on runs of 14 and seven yards respectively and the final score was locked in at 35-0. Three backs finished with over 60 yards rushing each. Hubbard carried the ball 21 times for a total of 67 yards, Ronnie Lujano carried 13 times for 60 yards, and Jeff Butts carried 15 times for 62 yards. Butts also completed six of 11 passes for 88 yards. Lujano caught one pass for a 10 yard gain, Brett Mikeska receiving one pass for 11 yards, Gabriel Ibarra caught two for 15 yards and Alfonso Campos catching two passes for 52 yards. Campos also intercepted one pass and returned it 30 yards setting the Blizzards up for their last touchdown.

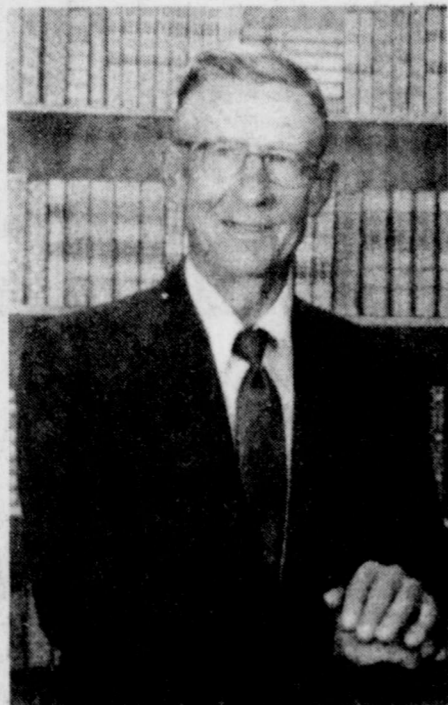

The defense, led by Ronnie Lujano, Margarito Rocha, and Joe Escolona played a tremendous game. They held Hawley in check completely in the first half and in the second half the defense bent somewhat but never did break. Others on the defense were Andy Smith, Alfonso Campos, and Ralph Austin.

Head Coach Dan Slaughter said, "There is no comparison between the first half of this ballgame and the first halves of previous games. The offense moved the ball for large chunks of yardage behind the blocking of Andy Smith, Jerry Vinson, Jeff McDorman, and Kent Billups on the left side of the line.

Winters plays Merkel in Merkel this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. Everyone has high hopes that the Blizzards will now play tough every week and make a run at the District 8-AA championship. Merkel has a good team, but they have been making crucial mistakes at very critical times. This should be a good game, so come out and support your team for the match-up.

T. A. SMITH

Smith had much to do with the progress and growth of the city of Winters and the surrounding area. He was on the Winters City Council, and had served as mayor from 1939 to 1947. He was instrumental in the establishment of the Winters Light Plant.

He was past president of the Winters Independent School Board, and had served as president of the Winters State Bank, resigning recently due to ill health.

He was nominated Man of the Year in 1977, and was a past president and active member of the Winters Lions Club. He was also a past director of the Upper Colorado River Board.

Smith was a member of the Board of the First United Methodist Church, and was a Sunday School teacher for several years.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Tommy Day Smith of Houston; two daughters, JoAnne Carter of Austin and Mariellen Bonnar of La Jolla, Calif.; one stepson, William D. Taylor of Houston; a sister, Mrs. George Lloyd of Wingate; eleven grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Grandsons were pallbearers, with directors of Winters State Bank acting as honorary pallbearers.

Rabid skunk found in city limits

First rabies case reported in city limits

Winters reported its first case of rabies this past week, according to Veterinarian Dr. Jimmy Smith. The disease was in a skunk killed in a storeroom at a residence in the 400 block of south Church street.

According to Dr. Smith, the animal was shot and killed and the head was sent to Austin to confirm the rabies. Smith said the infected skunk appeared to be healthy indicating the animal had just contracted the disease.

City officials urged all residents to be on the lookout for skunks at all times and to make sure that all pets are vaccinated against the disease.

The veterinarian said that it is almost impossible to keep a skunk out of a yard and he said that litters of young kittens or puppies are particularly vulnerable to skunks. Dr. Smith advised that if a litter of kittens or pets appear to have been mauled that a skunk may well be responsible and proper authorities should be contacted immediately and the small pets should not be handled.

City Administrator Glenn Brown asked that anyone noticing pets or other animals acting suspiciously please contact the Winters Police Department. Spokesmen at the Pioneer Veterinary Clinic urged that all pets, if they have not been vaccinated recently against rabies, be vaccinated as soon as possible.

Weekend keeps police busy

Winters Police kept busy over the weekend with more routine calls than average along with a large number of traffic violations.

Assistant Chief Winfred Reel said that charges of simple assault were filed Friday night as the result of an altercation on the city's near south side. Reel said that disturbance sent one man, identified as Howard Holt Jr., to North Runnels Hospital with head injuries after he was allegedly struck in the head with what was thought to have been an axe handle. Reel said that several stitches were needed to close the wound. Simple assault charges were filed against Freddie Santoya in connection with the incident.

Officers issued a number of speeding tickets over the weekend along with two citations for contest for speed. The alleged drag racing occurred on the old Crews road.

Reel said that the large number of routine calls kept officers very busy all weekend long.

Brown also said that the city would be stepping up its animal control effort because of the confirmed case of rabies. He said that more citations would be issued to persons allowing their dogs to run free and that more dogs and cats would be picked up by the animal control officers.

The city administrator said that animals properly tagged would be held at the city pound until the owners pay their fees and pick up their pets. Untagged animals would be disposed of as soon as possible.

Follow-up investigation into the rabies case will be conducted by Kay Soper, Zoonoses Investigator for Region IV, Texas Department of Health. Ms. Soper said that this is the first confirmed case of the disease in Winters this year and the seventh in Runnels County this year. She said that four cases have been confirmed in Ballinger, one in Miles, and one in Norton.

Ms. Soper said that three-fourths of all confirmed cases of rabies are in skunks, that the animal is very susceptible to rabies. She said that the disease can remain dormant or inactive in the animal for some time and that cases of rabies have been documented in animals that have been in captivity and isolated for as long as six months. The rabies virus is concentrated primarily in the brain of an animal and the disease is transmitted through the animal's saliva.

The Zoonoses Investigator said that vaccination against the disease greatly reduces the chances that an animal will get the disease and urged all pet owners to make sure their pets are vaccinated.

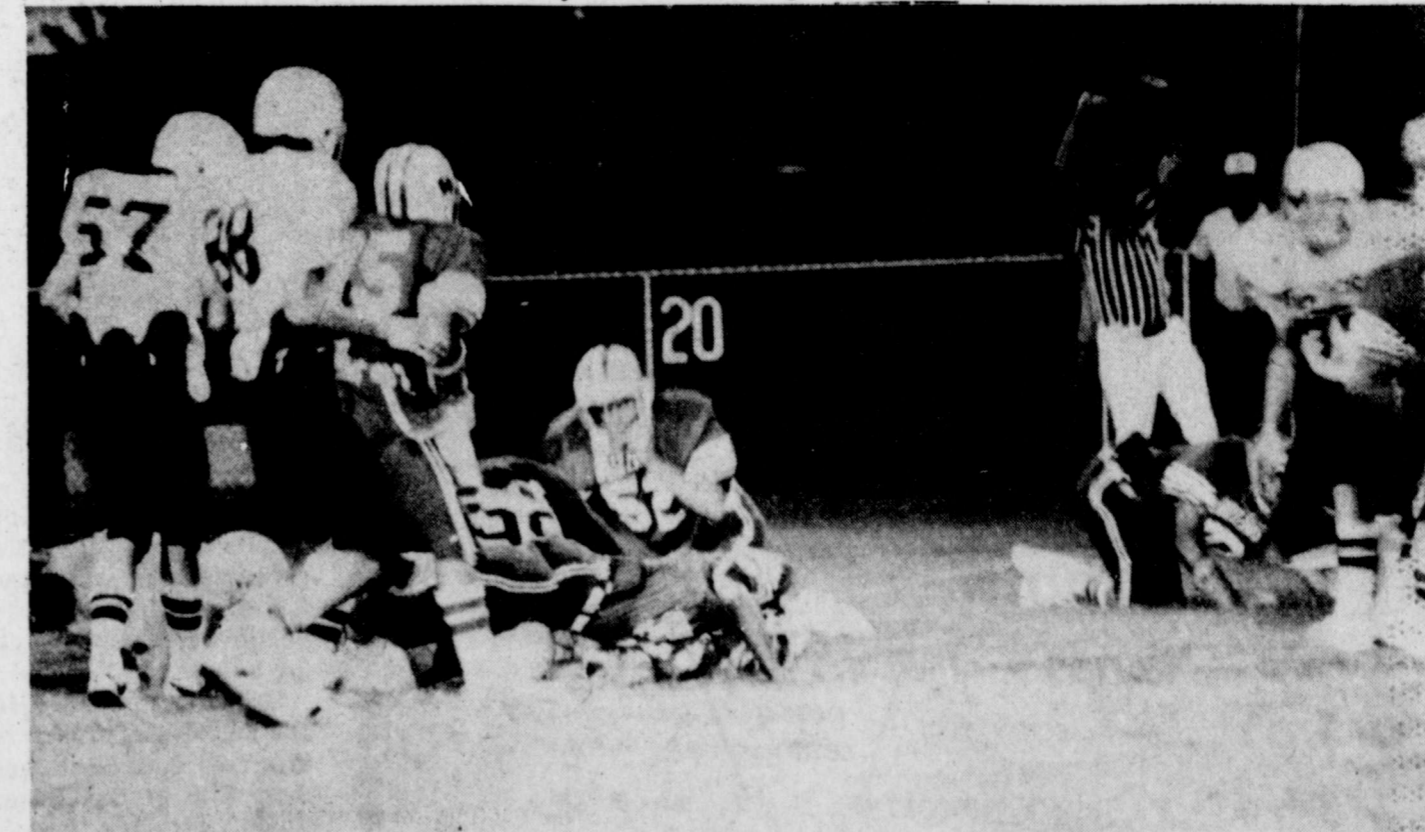

Mary Louise Bauer city golf champ

Mary Louise Bauer topped all competition last weekend in the Winters Ladies City Golf Tournament at the Winters Country Club. Mary carded an 83 to take the top honors in the championship flight. Marlene Wood came in second with an 85.

In the first flight, top honors went to Lois West and runner-up was Sac Sprinkle.

Jan Sims won the second flight followed by LaValle Killough in the runner-up position.

The Ladies City Golf Championship tournament was played last Saturday at the Winters Country Club.

Touchdown...

The Winters Blizzards add another score to the board in their 35-0 rout of Hawley last Friday night.

Poe's Corner

BY CHARLIE POE

Too Big A Loop

Uncle Jim Conlee's small stature, red hair and freckled face were a familiar sight on Winters streets for many years. And his hearty laugh rang out on numerous occasions.

An old-time cowboy, Uncle Jim had worked for several ranches and gone up the trail on cattle drives. His experiences colored his speech and one of his favorite expressions was "He tried to throw too big a loop," if someone had spent too much money or made a big show.

When I knew Uncle Jim he was retired and lived in a modern home he built on the corner just north of the First United Methodist Church. But he was a faithful attendant at the First Baptist church where he was a member.

It wasn't until recently, when Parrie Carwile visited her sister Julie Cain in Colorado City that they found a newspaper clipping, written in 1940, which told of Conlee's early life. Their father, Gus Hardegree, and stepmother had rooms in the Conlee home and possibly they had kept the article.

At that time, Uncle Jim was 76-years-old and had lived in Texas 70 years, 57 of them in West Texas. Born in Mississippi in 1864, he was brought to Texas by his parents early in 1869. He lived near Georgetown in Williamson County until he was about 18.

At that time he came to West Texas, working for several months with the old Webb-Coffey outfit near Maverick. He helped to gather 3,600 head of cattle for the Webb-Coffey Ranch, operated by Jones and Hi Webb, and Arthur and Charlie Coffey, who had large ranches in Texas, Wyoming and Montana.

Young Conlee made the trail drive up the Chisholm Trail, branching off for Wyoming somewhere in Oklahoma. The drive required almost six months and Down it comes...

Workmen are removing an old conveyor atop the Alderman-Cave grain elevator. A new conveyor will be hoisted into place sometime next week. The old one would move about one thousand bushels of grain per hour and the new one will move about 4 thousand per hour. Preston Barker, at the mill, said the old conveyor had been in operation for about 21 years and was badly in need of replacement. Barker said this is a part of a program of updating equipment at the mill and re-building the grain elevator system.

men and cattle were trail worn. The herd was moved slowly and carefully, to keep the cattle in good flesh.

During this drive heavy rains caused several stampedes and often on rainy nights all hands turned out to keep the herd moving slowly, in order to prevent one. There was one stampede that was hard to handle. It was at daybreak when a thunderstorm excited the herd. It took more than a day of hard work getting the herd together again and back on the trail.

Wyoming was still full of Indians. Wandering bands of the savages were constantly stealing stock and careful watch had to be kept on the remuda to prevent theft of cowponies.

After the drive, young Conlee returned to Georgetown where he married Ella Dorsett. The couple moved here in 1905, locating near the Pumphrey Community. Five years later he sold the farm and bought another near Winters, living there several years. Then he sold his farming interests and took over a livery stable, which he operated for several years. Later he handled stock, buying and selling over a large section of Texas. He was connected with ginning for several years and ran the suction at one of the Kornegay Gins.

Mrs. Conlee died in 1933, and Uncle Jim lived on in the home until his death in 1942. They had two sons, Fred and Charlie, and two daughters, Mrs. Court Meeks and Mrs. Jake Davidson. All of them lived in Winters and are now deceased.

Fred Young knew the family well. He owned and operated a tailor shop and Mrs. Conlee helped him on mending and alterations. Houses were not so well built then and when a mouse did damage to clothing she mended the place so expertly that no one could find it.

When Lindberg came to Abilene, Naomi Hunt was Miss Winters and wore a full length taffeta dress with sleeves in it. While pressing the dress, Fred burned a hole in one of the sleeves with a cigarette. Mrs. Conlee took both sleeves loose at the elbow and made a tuck in each one. Fred doesn't think that Naomi ever knew the difference.

After Uncle Jim retired he visited around town and made the O.W. Jolly Saddle and Harness Shop, where his son Charlie worked, his headquarters. He always wore a John J. Pershing moustache and a black bowtie. He sold his mule barn and stock trading business, located just south of the Methodist Church, to Tanner and Monroe who converted it into a lumberyard. The church sold them enough land to build an office which is in use today.

Kara Pounds, a Winters poet, paid tribute to Uncle Jim in verse. Her poem, "Chisholm Trail Remembers," follows:

*These I knew long years ago—
 Drifting snow on a red clay hill;
 North winds flattening prairie grass;
 Longhorn steers plodding slowly by
 on a one-way trek — for the herd must die;
 Swift-fingered hands whose shadows pass with smoking guns; a man grown still Beneath gray scuds of threatening snow.*

*Drouth-parched miles a lust for rain;
 Sun-bleached bones on a knoll grazed bare;
 Fogging dust in the marching grooves of prairie sod under chuckwagon wheels;
 a spurt of rain on the sandstorm's heels;
 The scent of sage; the drumming hooves of rain-mad steers; and the lightning's flare
 Through purple dusk on a grateful plain.*

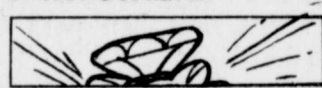

Student Council met Monday evening

Twenty-eight Student Council members of Winters High School met Monday evening, Sept. 28 at 7:00 in the High School auditorium.

OS Ranch steer roping and Art Exhibit set

The world's top three steer ropers, including 1961 World Champion Arnold Felts of Mutual, Oklahoma, will appear at the 11th Annual OS Steer Roping and Art Exhibit near Post, Texas October 2-4. The roping benefits the West Texas Boys Ranch. Along with Felts will be Guy Allen of Santa Anna, and Terry McGinley of Keystone, Nebraska who finished second and third, respectively, in the race for the World Championship of Steer Roping. In addition, seven of the top sixteen finalists will appear at the OS Ranch. Other events include cutting horse contests, team roping, calf roping, and barrel racing.

The colt sale is scheduled for Sunday morning. Washer pitching, a new event at the OS roping, is to be held at 8:30 Saturday morning. The object of the pitch is to toss a two and one-half inch washer into a three inch cup 21 feet away. Thirty-six two-man teams are expected to enter this contest.

Western art will be on exhibit at the OS ranch house with an art preview party set for 5 p.m. Friday. Over 100 pieces by some of the nation's top artists will be offered.

Country music stars Red Stegall and Johnny Gimble will also appear over the week-end. Barbeque brisket, sausage, and a Sunday breakfast will be served.

FIRST AID FACTS

No Wound is Minor
All minor wounds require basic first aid treatment. Even the tiniest cut, if left unattended can result in a dangerous infection.

In order to prevent a minor wound from becoming a major medical problem, you might like to make these simple rules standard operating procedure in your home.

CLEANSE all wounds with mild soap and water, making sure to wash your own hands first.

TREAT with first aid cream or a topical antibiotic. COVER the wound with a sterile gauze pad dressing or Band-Aid to prevent contamination or reinjury.

TAPE the dressing securely with first aid tape. Change the bandage frequently and check for signs of infection. Swelling or inflammation of the wounded area, chills or fever are usually signs of trouble. You should contact your doctor immediately if you suspect an infection.

A word of caution! If the wound is more serious than a minor cut, scrape or abrasion, get immediate medical attention to avoid complications.
