Alderman Charles Hudson

Hudson resigns Council post

Charles Hudson, a member of the Winters City Council since April 1979, Monday submitted his resignation to the City Council, effective immediately. Hudson also told the council he was resigning from the Housing Authority's Board of Directors.

Hudson's resignation came at the end of the regular meeting of the City Council this week. Hudson gave no reason for his sudden resignation.

Alderman-Cave sells major stock

Ray Alderman, General Manager of Alderman-Cave Milling and Grain Company, recently announced the sale of a majority interest in the company to Murray Edwards, formerly of Clyde.

Edwards, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Edwards, grew up on a ranch near Clyde and graduated from Clyde High School. He spent one year after graduation as State President of FFA in Texas. He attended Texas A&M University and graduated with a degree in Agricultural Economics. He then received a Master's degree in Business Administration from Harvard Business School.

Six years ago, Edwards started Automated Farm Systems, a pump and irrigation company with six retail outlets serving the farmers of the San Joaquin Valley of California. He plans to sell his interest in this company and will move with his family to Winters in January.

Ray Alderman, the original organizer of Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Company, will continue as General Manager of the company until sometime in 1982, and then will be associated with the company as a consultant through 1983.

Early dismissal for Winters school

Winters schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Friday, November 6, in order to have the buses back early. They will be needed to transport students to the Winters-Hamlin football game, to be held in Hamlin at 7:30 p.m.

Council rejects zoning change

The Winters City Council Monday rejected a proposed zoning change for the 400 block of North Main in spite of a favorable recommendation by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The zoning change had been sought by Allsup's Convenience Stores to allow for the construction of a new store. Roger Pattison, representing the convenience store chain, told the council that his company had been looking for a suitable location in Winters for about two years before finding the 406-408 N. Main location. He said that several locations had been considered but, the price was out of line.

The Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended the council approve the change and add language to the city ordinances that would prohibit any sale of alcoholic beverage at that location in the event the sale of such beverages were to be legalized in Winters. The council expressed concern in this area and the Allsup's representative promised that his company would not attempt to sell the alcoholic beverage in that location if it were legalized.

Randall Boles appeared in opposition to the requested change, representing the First Baptist Church of Winters. The Baptist Church is located immediately across Main Street from the property in question. Boles said that a convenience store in that location would create an increased traffic problem in the church area. Boles said the church has activities every day of the week and that the convenience store would be an added encumbrance for children to run from between cars across the street.

Boles noted the council's thoughts concerning any future sale of alcoholic beverage would be acceptable, but said any change in the zoning would be contrary to the concept of city zoning, keeping business in a business area and out of a residential area.

Council member Ted Meyer made the motion the request be denied, but the motion failed for lack of a second. E.J. Bishop made the motion the request be approved and was seconded by Randy Springer.

The motion then failed by a 3-2 vote, Aldermen Charles Hudson, Ted Meyer, and Jim Hatler voting against the motion and Bishop and Springer voting for the motion.

Following the rejection the council members told the Allsup's representative that they would give any assistance they could to the convenience store chain to help them locate property

Grand opening

The cutting of a ribbon marked the official opening of the new Town & Country Food Store in Winters. Top officials of Town & Country were on hand for the ceremonies along with the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce and local Town & County employees.

New C-Center rates set by City Council

The Winters City Council, after several weeks work, established new rates for use of the Community Center to become effective on January 1, 1981.

The new rates were necessary, according to the council, for the Community Center to meet its expenses. The amount charges for the use of the center has been considerably less than the cost of the utilities at the center.

The new rates established by the council will be charged all individuals, groups, businesses, churches, organizations, and families.

The charge for any use of the Community Center for over three hours will be $75 per day. For any use of the Community Center for a maximum of three hours will be $15 per hour, after the three hour maximum, the daily rate of $75 would be charged.

The city will also require a $50 key deposit.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said the city will also charge for the use of folding tables and folding chairs at locations other than the Community Center or City Hall. The rental rate will be $3.25 for each table and 35 cents for each chair.

The City Council also made some changes in the rules governing the use of the Community Center. One change specifies that only bonafide organizations will be permitted to charge admission for dances and further requires that a certified law enforcement officer, in uniform, be at such dances at the expense of the sponsoring organization.

The council emphasized the rule that no alcoholic beverages will be allowed in or around the Community Center. This rule has been in effect for some time, but the council noted several instances in which it had been ignored.

Applications for the rental of the Community Center will still be available at the City Hall during regular business hours and the new rates will not become effective until the first of the year.

Mayor takes issue with PO

Winters Mayor W. Lee Colburn took time out at Monday night's council meeting to express his displeasure with the changes being made in the Postal Service in the areas of delivery of mail, the nine-digit zip-code, and the new increase in the cost of postage.

The mayor said the concept of returning mail if not deliverable was addressed was "assinine", that it would have an adverse effect on the entire City of Winters as well as most other smaller cities in the nation. What the mayor was referring to is the new policy of the post office to deliver mail to the street address even if the addressee had a post office box. The policy requires that the mail be returned to the sender, not simply placed in the proper box.

Mayor Colburn said he could see the benefits of such a policy in a large city, but in a community such as Winters it had no place. The mayor and the council agreed that many times, the telephone directory is the only way for a person to obtain a mailing address, and occasionally that address is incorrect.

The council gave its approval to the mayor sending letters to Congressman Tom Loeffler, and to Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen protesting the new Post Office rules on the delivery of mail, the price of stamps, the nine-digit zip-code, and poor mail service.

Citizens asked to con "Tribute to Valor"

Editors note: ABOUT THE ARTIST—George L. Skypeck, a survivor of two tours of combat duty in Vietnam, has become one of the nation's foremost artists in depicting the experiences of soldiers in war. Greatest impetus for Skypeck's subject material comes from his personal combat impressions, especially those associated with friends wounded, killed or missing. "Memories forged in the heat of combat, refined by the pain of wounds and sustained by the alienation of our society cannot be forgotten," says Skypeck.

Skypeck was released from active duty as a captain and holds numerous decorations, including the Purple Heart, Air Medal and Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry.

The artist gave his gracious permission to reproduce this line drawing.

Winters Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and its Ladies Auxiliary are sponsoring a fund drive during the month of November for the "Tribute to Valor", a national memorial to be erected in Washington, D.C. to honor the veterans, MIA's and dead of the Vietnam war.

In July, 1980, Congress unanimously sponsored a resolution authorizing two acres of national parkland for the site of the Memorial. The resolution was sponsored by all 100 Senators and 190 Congressmen.

Jan C. Scruggs, President of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial fund said in a letter that the fund was formed to "give every American the opportunity to pay tribute to all Americans who served in the Vietnam war, especially those who gave their lives in service to their country."

"The site for the memorial has been granted by the federal government," he said.

"Coffee for Valor" to be served Nov. 11

In conjunction with the "Tribute to Valor" fund being conducted during the month of November by the VFW Post 9193 and their Auxiliary, all proceeds from coffee sales on Veterans Day, November 11, are being contributed by the following: Dairy Queen, Main Drug, Smith Drug, and Taylor's Restaurant.

In addition, all proceeds from newsstand sales of The Winters Enterprise will be donated to the fund.

government, and the future maintenance will be handled by the National Park Service. The Vietnam Veterans Memorial will not require one penny of government assistance or support. The funds for the design, construction and inscription of the names of the dead will come from the contributions of of concerned and caring citizens," he said.

"We must take the time now to remember our 57,692 comrades who died in that war, the 300,000 who were wounded, and the 100,000 veterans who were left handicapped, or seriously disabled.

Although this memorial will not bring back the dead, or heal the scars of war suffered by many thousands, it will stand as a perpetual symbol from a proud and grateful nation," Scruggs concluded.

The VFW plans to send the contributions in the name of the Concerned Citizens of Winters Area.

Citizens interested in contributing to this fund may send their contribution to Vietnam Memorial Fund, c/o Mary Kurtz, Rt. 2, Box 27, Winters, Texas, or contact Teresa Patterson, at the Winters State Bank.

Retiring

Neil Chambliss retired Monday after some 15 years with the Dry Division of Wallace Murray. Chambliss most recently had been employed as a Tool Room foreman.

They paid the price for peace!

The screams of the wounded and the stench of gunpowder surrounded Robert Richardson, a private in America's Continental Army, but he fought on until a British cannonball struck his hand spike. It broke in two, one end tearing his belly open. The wind from the cannonball left his right arm useless. Richardson's blood had paid the price for peace and freedom, but for the rest of his life, he was totally disabled.

For awhile, the Continental Congress provided the Revolutionary War veteran a disability pension of half his military pay. It helped, but Richardson was unable to support himself on this meager allowance. Even this pittance ended shortly after the War for Independence when the new national government turned responsibility for disabled veterans over to the states and their Poor Law systems.

Things were toughly really tough for Richardson and other patriots wounded in the struggle to free America from colonial chains. Many were reduced to begging.

Things are better for the 2 1/2 million disabled veterans living in today's America. But, on Veterans Day this year, it's appropriate to recall what happened to the disabled veterans of our Revolutionary War. What happened to them established a pattern that has, to some extent, been played out after each of our country's nine wars—a pattern of forgetfulness that's itself out again today, just six years after the last American was killed in Vietnam, our most recent war.

That's understandable. When wars end, people want to get back to normal, peacetime life, leaving the turmoil and anxiety behind. Following the Vietnam war—the most unpopular war in our nation's history, with the single exception of the Civil War—the process of forgetting has been unusually rapid. People want to bury the bitter social division of the Vietnam years. That's good, but there's tragedy in the way we're going about it: When people forget about wars, they tend to forget about the sacrifices that veterans, particularly disabled veterans have made. And when the public forgets the needs of veterans, so do their representatives.

Maybe that's why the VA hospital system has been hit by one budget cut after another for the past five years, forcing the VA to turn thousands of eligible vets away from the doors of its health care facilities. Maybe that explains why job programs for disabled and Vietnam era veterans have been kept too small to make a serious dent in the employment problems these veterans have experienced. Maybe that's why we've seen, for the first time this year, curtailments in the GI Bill educational programs.

Maybe that's why the VA and other federal agencies were so slow in initially recognizing the seriousness of such problems as the defoliant Agent Orange, the exposure of Cold War veterans to radiation in atomic weapons tests, and the post-traumatic stress difficulties of half a million or more Vietnam veterans.

Think about it. Could it

Winters VFD receives congratulatory check

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department recently received a check for $75,000 from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of Kenneth Rosson.

The money will be used for their purchase of equipment.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more importantly, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Winters Volunteer Fire Department in their probe that the American people have forgotten the warriors as they went about the process of forgetting the trying times of war? American veterans believe this is exactly what happened...not just after Vietnam, but after World War I, World War II and the Korean conflict as well. Without the sacrifices of these men and women, there would be no United States.

Back in 1903, Theodore Roosevelt said something that nearly every American would agree with. "A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to get a square deal afterward," he stated. Looking at the veterans' program realistically, it is unlikely that our country would ever let the plight of its disabled veterans get as bad as it was for Private Richardson and his comrades following the American Revolution. But it would be a mistake to simply assume, without giving it much thought, that all our political leaders are bending over backward to make sure veterans—even disabled veterans—are getting the kind of "square deal" Roosevelt was talking about.

Letter To The Editor

The sun doesn't stay up as long each day (yes, even in Florida) to let us linger with all the outside things we love so much. I suppose that is why I was able to read completely through the October 8 Enterprise, which comes to Mother who has lived with us since August.

The more I read the more I felt compelled to share with you and the community of Winters a few of the things that have meant so much to us as a family over the years. In the '50s I used to awaken to those discords on the piano knowing that Mom had a pupil before school and it was time for Nora and I to get up and get moving. How she loved every one of them and enjoyed the music she had chosen for her life's work! As time and eyesight have diminished so much for her, I am so thankful for all the years she was so terribly busy doing the thing she loved most.

And Dad, well, there couldn't have been a custom-made job more suited to him than driving the countryside of Winters, putting mail in the boxes, knowing where every covey of birds was along the fencerow and speculating if the tanks were full of fish. I will never forget Christmas-time as a teenager when all the goodies came pouring in from the farmers' mailboxes — venison, jell-

FIRST AID FACTS

Treat Those Blisters Before They Become Infected

If you run, jog or play tennis for fun or fitness, you share a problem with millions of active Americans: the BLISTER.

Although blisters may rank among minor health complaints, they are none-the-less painful and prone to infection. First aid experts and doctors warn that blisters need immediate attention to avoid complications later on.

As a matter of fact, your feet require routine care after all athletic activities including long walks. They should be washed (soaked, if you have time), powdered and hosiery changed.

If you notice a blister (you'll probably feel it before you see it), resist the urge to break it. If you "pop" the blister, you will leave the raw skin underneath exposed and prone to infection. It will also be painful to the touch and to the shoe.

To care for a blister properly, cleanse the affected area with warm water and mild soap. Treat with an application of a small amount of first aid cream or topical antibiotic ointment. Cover the area with a non-stick sterile pad and secure with a first aid tape. For a small blister, use a Band-Aid. This process encourages safe healing and also cushions the blister so that your shoe will not rub against it.

The primary cause of blisters is ill fitting shoes and socks. When you shop, take your time. Walk around the store to see how well the shoes fit. It makes good sense to protect your feet. Remember, you can't perform, if your feet won't.

ies, jams, cookies, cakes — it was marvelous! Now as I finish reading Melvena Gerhardt's concern for Blizzard spirit, I am especially reminded of my own high school days with its ups and downs. My own children attend such large schools, I sometimes get hungry for them to know the caring and concern I had from each teacher on a personal basis.

After reading the Enterprise, I can wait more patiently in a long line of traffic knowing that Jerry Lackey has found time to rock on the porch of his ranch where things are a bit quieter. I can wonder what bit of history Charlie Poe will dig up for us to enjoy next week. Lastly, I can reflect on all the friends we had around Winters and what a wonderful place it was and still is.

Enclosed is a check to renew Mom's subscription. We love you all!

Famous Musician Comes Home

David W. Guion, 88, a Ballinger native and composer of popular songs returned to his beloved "Home on the Range" Wednesday for the last time when he was buried beside his loved ones in the Evergreen Cemetery. He was the son of Judge John I. Guion and Armour Fentress Guion.

A noted pianist-composer, many claim that Guion's first note in musical life started in Ballinger as a result of his mother singing frontier ballads to him as a child. He began taking music at age 6.

I was familiar with some of his songs but my first personal knowledge of David Guion came when Rita Naylor, Naylor Publishing Company, suggested that we ask him to compose a song for the presentation of my book, "Runnels is My County", to the public.

Mr. Guion, then living in Dallas, was most gracious in accepting the assignment if someone would write the lyric for him. He also planned to attend the celebration. We quickly set things in motion by asking Loyd Roberson, our local composer, to write the lyric and it was soon on its way.

Guion wrote the music in song-piano version, dedicated it to his parents, and the special song was named, "Runnels is My County, My Home Sweet Home."

The words of the song are:
I've been a lot of places...
I've seen a lot of things;
But none compares in beauty with
Runnels' peaks and plains.

The handclasp of a neighbor
— So firm, so strong and true
— When friendly help is needed, is there to strengthen you;
Through ninety years of struggling,
We've seen our dreams come true —
As Runnels stands undaunted,
Past glories she'll renew.

Chorus — Oh, Runnels is my County,
Yes, Runnels is my home
Blessed with the finest people that I have ever known.
Endowed with Nature's beauty

For Runnels is My County,
My Home Sweet Home.

David Guion suggested that a band arrangement be made of the song and he would bring his niece, Kathryn Freiberger, who had a lovely soprano voice to sing it for us. We couldn't imagine Guion not playing the piano for us, if we had to haul one all over the county, and that's what we did...for now the plans had progressed to having autograph parties in all four towns; Winters, Ballinger, Rowena and Miles, with window decorating contests in each town. And it would be in observance of the county's 90th birthday in 1970.

Don Dennis was persuaded to bring his piano to town in the back of his red pickup truck and park it in front of the Chamber of Commerce. So, the song was sung for the first time in the streets of Winters from the back of a pickup with David Guion, composer, at the piano and Loyd Roberson, lyric writer, turning the music. Then, those attending joined in singing "Home on the Range", "Yellow Rose of Texas" and other Guion compositions.

From Winters, Dennis had help in hauling the piano to other towns by Clifton Caldwell, Texas Historical Commission member, who attended the day's activities.

Although Guion was 77 at the time, he was a charming entertainer and still going strong at the end of the day. He delighted all of us with his talents. I saw his niece, Kathryn, at the funeral and she said that following recent eye surgery he had lost his zest for living.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans

Miss Lori Watkins and Mr. Charles Evans exchange vows

Lori Kay Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Watkins of San Angelo, and Charles (Chuck) Travis Evans son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Evans of Winters, were married in an outdoor double-ring ceremony at 6:00 p.m., October 9 at the First Baptist Church Recreation Area, Lake Nasworthy, in San Angelo.

Officiating minister was Jim Gehrels of Winters.

Providing music for the ceremony were pianist Silas Fisher of San Angelo, and Soloist Ron Bolin of Midland. Music included "Theme from Ice Castles", "The Wedding Song", and "There Is Love".

Maid of Honor was Alison Pattay of San Angelo. Bridesmaids were Silas Fisher of Abilene, and Lesli Watkins, sister of the bride, of San Angelo.

Flower girls were Deanna and Margie Watkins of San Angelo, both sisters of the bride.

Best man was Johnny Curbo of College Station. Groomsmen were Chris Gehrels of San Angelo, and Reggie Boles of College Station.

Ushers were Lee Evans of Winters, brother of the groom, and John Musick of San Angelo.

A reception was held at the Police/Fire Lakehouse.

A rehearsal dinner was catered earlier by Barbecco Barbecue.

even though the surgery was termed a success.

Guion's first fame came in 1918 when his song, "Old Maid Blues", was performed by Nora Bayes with George M. Cohan. Guion was one of the first composers to transcribe American music into fiddle tunes, such as "Turkey in the Straw", and "Arkansas Traveler". His compositions have been performed by such musicians and coposers as Arturo Toscanini, John Phillip Sousa and Bing Crosby.

In 1924, Guion created and starred in the cowboy show, "Prairie Echoes". In 1935, he was commissioned to write the theme song for "Cavalcade of America", which depicted the history of Texas from 1836 to 1936. For this he wrote "My Cowboy Love Song".

The week beginning Jan. 25, 1950, was designated David Guion Week in Texas. In 1952, he returned to Texas for the world premiere of his "Texas Suite", performed by the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

A program honoring Guion was held in Ballinger High School auditorium in 1975.

Guion composed a wide range of music during his long career, including orchestral suits, ballets, religious selections, piano pieces, children's music and folk songs.

While maintaining a home in Dallas for about 40 years, Guion spent much of his later life at his studio in Greenwich Village in Manhattan, N.Y., and before that he lived on a rural estate in the Pocono Mountains in Carbon County, Pa.

When asked about his writing music, Guion said, "I don't know why I write. I believe in God and I believe I was born to write music. I'm a night writer, everything I've written is at night, and it has all been classical music. My music was popular from the 1930s to the 1960s, then I began to slip. A different style of writing and singing became popular."

Miss Foster, Mr. Colburn engagement announced

Dr. and Mrs. Bob P. Foster of Athens announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cherie, to James Gregory (Greg) Colburn of Giddings, son of Zelta Colburn of Bridgeport and James C. Colburn of Quitman, formerly of Winters.

Greg is the grandson of the late Mrs. Willie P. Colburn. The ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, November 21 in the First Baptist Church of Athens, Texas.

The future bride is a graduate of Athens High School and Henderson County Junior College. She is currently attending Texas A & M University and is employed by the Vice Chancellor of Legal Affairs for the Texas A & M University System.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Bridgeport High School and Texas A & M University. He is currently employed as a Petroleum Engineer for Clayton Williams Company in Giddings.

Mr., Mrs. Virgil Plumley to note 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Plumley will be honored with a reception on their 25th wedding anniversary. The reception will be held Sunday, November 8, at 4 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Fields, 416 N. Main.

The couple were married November 10, 1956 in San Angelo.

Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

DISCOVER THE BAGEL

Tired of toast in the morning? Try a toasted bagel. This doughnut-shaped roll is crusty on the outside and chewy on the inside. Its firm texture makes it ideal for toasting and sandwiches. It doesn't crumble or break easily. It isn't sticky or greasy. It has the same nutritive value as bread and is no more fattening. Bagels are easy to bake and Fleischmann's Yeast shows you how with this new wheat bagel recipe rich in fiber and protein.

WHEAT GERM BAGELS

Makes 1 dozen
4 to 4 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1 1/2 cups wheat germ
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups salt
1 1/2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
2 tablespoons margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 egg white

Combine 3 cups white flour and wheat germ. In a large bowl mix 1 1/2 cups flour mixture, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt and undissolved yeast.
Heat 1 1/2 cups water and margarine in a saucepan until very warm (120° F.-130° F.). Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1/2 cup flour mixture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes. Stir in remaining flour mixture and enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. On a floured board knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Set in a greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Cover; let rest 15 minutes. In a large skillet heat a 1-inch depth of water over medium heat to a simmer; stir in remaining sugar and salt.
Divide dough into 12 equal pieces; shape 6 pieces into smooth balls. With a floured finger, make a 1-inch hole in each. Cover and let rest 5 to 10 minutes.
Drop 3 bagels into simmering water. Cook 3 minutes. Turn and cook 2 minutes more. Drain on towels.
While cooking first batch of bagels, shape 6 more and let rest 5 to 10 minutes. If necessary, add boiling water to skillet if level drops below 1-inch.
Place bagels on greased baking sheet. Mix egg white and 1 tablespoon water; brush on bagels. Sprinkle with wheat germ if desired. Bake at 375° F. for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from sheets. Cool.

Versatile Potato Makes Meal-Planning Easy

The potato is a vegetable we all take pretty much for granted, so it may come as a surprise that this little white tuber has an interesting history. While most people believe the potato to be of Irish origin, it was really found by Spanish Conquistadors who encountered South American Incas dining on small white roots the size and shape of a peanut. This early ancestor of the potato where it suffered many misunderstandings. Not only was the potato thought by some to cause leprosy, but it was also forbidden by some to eat because it was not mentioned in the Bible. The potato was even believed at one time to be an aphrodisiac.

Now, planning meals has been simplified, too, with the help of a new cookbook developed by the Betty Crocker Kitchens. The Well-Rounded Potato provides more than a month's worth of potato recipes for side dishes, main dishes, soups and salads made with Betty Crocker® potato mixes. Each recipe is accompanied by "serve-with" suggestions and many of the recipes have microwave directions. For a copy, send your name, address and zip code plus 30¢ to: Well-Rounded Potato, Box 5401, Department 802, Minneapolis, MN 55460. Offer valid until September, 1982.

Today, the potato enjoys wide-spread popularity. With the introduction of potato mixes, it's easy to enjoy exciting potato dishes because the tasks of peeling, long cooking and slicing have been eliminated.

MUSHROOM BEEF CASSEROLE
1 package Betty Crocker au gratin potatoes
2 1/2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 can (5.33 ounces) evaporated milk (2/3 cup)
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 cups cut-up cooked beef
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese (about 4 ounces)
1/2 cup crushed corn flakes or cracker crumbs

Heat oven to 400°. Mix all ingredients except cheese and corn flakes in ungreased 2-quart round casserole; sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered until potatoes are tender, about 35 minutes; sprinkle with corn flakes. Bake 5 minutes longer. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. 6 servings.
High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Increase bake time to about 50 minutes.
Microwave Directions: Mix potatoes, water, margarine and onion in 3-quart round microwaveproof casserole. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on high (100%) 10 minutes; stir in milk, soup, Sauce Mix, beef and mushrooms. Cover and microwave until potatoes are tender, 10 to 13 minutes longer; stir. Sprinkle with cheese and corn flakes; let stand 5 minutes.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Checking with the Brucellosis Committee, calf vaccinations for the first three quarters of fiscal year 1981 totaled 5,705,976 compared with 4,692,444 during the same period last year, an increase of 21.6 percent. Most states vaccinated more calves this year, with ten vaccinating fewer.

The largest increase was in Puerto Rico, where 937 percent more calves were vaccinated so far this year. Most of the high incidence states increased calf vaccinations.

Missouri increased numbers vaccinated by 365 percent with 259,354 calves vaccinated. Alabama increased vaccinations by 77 percent and West Virginia, Florida and Texas all vaccinated more than 50 percent more calves.

As far as Texas is concerned, vaccination of heifer calves has continued to climb. The annual projection for 1981 is 53.2 percent compared to 24.6 percent for 1980. This is due to the acceptance and approval of the reduced dose of Strain 19. Another plus is that they can now recommend vaccination up to 12 months of age in non-infected herds.

The cooperation program in Texas is providing free vaccine and the state of Texas pays veterinarians — about 748 of them — if they are certified to vaccinate.

As of May 1, there are 134 counties in Class A (the western half of the state) and 105 counties in Class B (the eastern half). There are 54 counties in the western half with no known infection. Some have been clean for 2 or 3 years.

In addition to the standard tests, the central Texas lab will begin evaluating an automated ELISA test system in conjunction with Texas A&M University. Texas A&M has been conducting research on the ELISA test and it has exhibited the capability of early detection of infected animals in non-vaccinated cattle.

Fifteen livestock producer committees have been named by commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission to assist in implementation of the accelerated program. Each committee has 12 members and represents one of the 15 areas of the TAHC.

This action is considered a major step forward by John Armstrong, chairman of TAHC. All the committee members are actively engaged in some form of livestock production.

The USDA has produced several new radio promotional spots with Tennessee Ernie Ford. These are similar to the Grandpa Jones tapes used in the past. They are being distributed to all stations in 12 southern states and to farm networks in the rest of the country, a total of about 3,500 stations.

Ford encourages cattlemen to vaccinate, test, quarantine and take as many precautions as necessary to insure that they don't get brucellosis in their herds.

Winters' native becomes Tyler bank vice president

Steve Turner has been elected vice president of the commercial lending department of Citizens First National Bank of Tyler.

Turner, 32, has been in the banking business 14 years, most recently serving as vice president with Central National Bank of San Angelo.

He has completed the basic and standard certificates of American Institute of Banking and is currently in his senior year at Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at Southern Methodist University.

A native of Winters, Turner began his banking career part time while attending Angelo State University, earning a degree in business administration in 1971.

He has been active in United Way campaigns, Civitan, ASU Ex-Students Association and Texas Association of Business, and served as an elder of St. Mark's Presbyterian Church.

Turner is the son of Floyd and Sue Turner of San Angelo, and formerly of Winters. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Turner of Bronte and Mrs. W. S. Cooke of Winters.

He is married to the former Susan Vaughan of San Angelo, and the couple has a 5-year-old daughter, Lara.

Troop 249 attends '81 Camporee

Winters Boy Scout Troop 249 recently attended the 1981 Fall Pioneering Camporee in Eastland, with 18 boys attending.

Three of Winters' troop patrols, the Eagles, Longhorns, and Cobras won three second-place ribbons.

Attending were Ricky Hobbs, Michael Ysa, George Torres, Rene Cortez, C. J. Young, James Carrillo, Richard Barnett, Billy Garnett, Jason Young, Marty Windham, Scott Shifflett, Greg Michaels, David Childers, Allen Windham, Robert Vera, Jay Johnson, Jimmy Ripley, and leaders, Manuel Vera, Eddie Childers, and Joe Young.

Young Homemakers to hold workday

Members of the Winters Young Homemakers will conduct a workday on November 9, at 7:00 p.m. in the Homemaking Cottage.

Members will finalize preparation of their booth to be in the Arts and Crafts Fair to be held November 13-14, at the Community Center.

The group will hold their regular monthly meeting on November 16, at 7:30 in the Homemaking Cottage. A representative from West Texas Utilities in Abilene, will present a program focusing on ideas for the holidays. A spokesperson for the Young Homemakers said guests were welcome to attend this meeting.

C. Wilkerson died Wednesday in NR Hospital

Rev. Chester Wilkerson, 85, of Winters died at 10:40 a.m. Wednesday in the North Runnels Hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Services were held at 2:00 p.m. Friday from the First United Methodist Church with Bob Holloway, pastor, and Rev. Bob Weathers, Superintendent of the Brownwood District of the Central Texas Methodist Conference, officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Wilkerson was born at Crews on July 5, 1896, the son of the late Noah and Dorintha Clayton Wilkerson.

Following graduation from High School he joined the U.S. Army and served during World War I. Following his discharge he went to Tennessee where he attended Trevecca College. It was there that he was married to Lucile Pennington on Oct. 19, 1926.

Upon completion of his college work, he returned to Texas and joined the Central Texas Methodist Conference where he was active for the next fifty years. He began his ministry in Novice and had pastored five different churches throughout the years.

In 1959, he and his wife moved to Winters, where he retired in 1978 due to ill health.

He is survived by his wife; one son, C. A. Wilkerson Jr. of San Antonio; one daughter, Ellenda Boykin of Jacksboro; one brother, Lloyd Wilkerson of Winters; two grandsons, Robert Boykin of San Angelo and Stephen Boykin of Dallas; three granddaughters, Betty Sindon of Pearsal, and Lisa and Rebecca Wilkerson of San Antonio; and one great-grandson, Joseph A. Sindon of Pearsal.

Pallbearers were Jim Parramore, David Carroll, Jr., Jim Hamner, George Pruser, Jr., M. L. Dobbins, and D. W. Williams.

Barbecue set Nov. 7

The annual Winters Livestock and Agricultural Association Family Barbecue has been set for Saturday, November 7 at 6:30 p.m. at the Community Center.

The association membership tickets are available for $8.00 and may be purchased from officers and directors, or at the door. This membership entitles the holder and immediate family to attend the barbecue.

Future Farmer Greenhands elect 1981-82 officers

The Winters Chapter of the Future Farmers of America Greenhands recently elected officers for the 1981-82 school year.

Elected were president, Kenny Gibbs; vice president, Kevin Busher; secretary, Bill Palmer; treasurer, Pam Poe; and reporter, Stephanie Smith.

The original name for basketball was "indoor rugby."

Reports from Washington

A Victory For Goodfellow

Anyone who has ever played an organized sport, planned a civic event or tried to get a family packed and off on a trip at the appointed hour knows the importance of team work. Hard work is fundamental to the equation, and with hard work ultimately a little good luck always assists in the outcome. This is generally true of the legislative process and no less so in those cases where one goes up against the Washington bureaucracy to solve a problem.

The effort to prevent the closing of Goodfellow Air Force Base is a classic case of all of the above. I have just returned from a weekend in San Angelo, Texas, where it was my pleasure and good fortune to be involved in the long-awaited announcement that Goodfellow will remain open. To that good news we were also able to announce that Goodfellow will become a two-mission base. In addition to being named the Air Force's primary cryptologic training center, the 40-year-old facility will become the home of a new Strategic Air Command radar unit.

The saga of Goodfellow's threat of closure goes back some 42 months when it appeared on a Defense Department "hit list" of bases to be closed. What the Pentagon brass failed to realize, however, was the unwillingness of the people of San Angelo and West Texas to roll over and play dead while this vital component of our national security system was scheduled to be removed.

As a team of townspeople, media, elected officials, friends in Washington, we were committed to long hours and hard work. Our constant jabs and thrusts penetrated the depths of the Pentagon and the highest echelons of the Executive Branch. Legislation I authored which required an Environmental Impact Statement on closing the base gave us time to work. A new President who promised to save the base gave us the impetus to push even harder.

Goodfellow is an important military facility. When it first opened in 1941, it turned thousands of Army Air Corps men into fliers and more recently it has taught thousands of Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force personnel the intricacies of military intelligence gathering and cryptologic operations. Some 4,000 students each year graduate from the 100 on-base and correspondence courses offered through the technical school.

Named after Lt. James J. Goodfellow Jr., a San Angelo High School graduate who was killed in an air battle during World War I in France, the base has had its ups and downs but always a reputation for scrappiness — and survival. The events of our recent celebration in announcing officially that it will remain open and have its mission enhanced is testimony to the spirit of the facility and the town which supports it.

I can assure you today that Goodfellow's future is bright and secure. Through my role on the Appropriations Subcommittee on Military Construction, we have already earmarked $500,000 for design and planning funds for three new buildings on the base. The three-building package with an estimated price tag of about $16 million will be presented to the Congress for funding approval for fiscal year 1983. Additionally, Goodfellow and officials of the Air Training Command have compiled a $44 million, five-year plan for future construction.

The new Strategic Air Command long-range radar system — designed to detect submarine launched ballistic missiles — will in itself be a $100 million project.

Why all this for Goodfellow?

The Air Force assures me that Goodfellow is a "preferred site" for the new mission and that it has other qualities for base operations and support. Increased projected recruiting requirements in all career fields and an increased emphasis on other training areas makes Goodfellow desirable for future operations.

We, of course, have known this all along. The fact that we were successful in convincing Washington of Goodfellow's worth makes this victory a special one to savor.

Why gas is plentiful:

Two New Sources

There's enough natural gas in proven and existing reserves to heat America's homes and run its factories for many years. And now gas is flowing in enormous volumes from two new sources: the tight basins and the deep basins right here in Texas and Oklahoma. Experts believe each of these sources could double the nation's proven supply. And our pipeline system will let us deliver your share of this gas efficiently and economically. It's another reason to be glad you're served by the Lone Star system.

Gas. It's plentiful, efficient and right for the times.

Middle age is when the spring in your step turns to the fall in your arches. Everyone who came to the Halloween Carnival Saturday night had a good time with lots of games and prizes. I guess everyone went home with a cake or two and lots of other prizes. As for myself, I won two cakes, a watermelon and three what-nots.

The Rebekah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Wayne Sims, with co-hostesses Mrs. Truett Bentley and Mrs. Ronald Cooper.

Mrs. A. L. Mitchell presided, with Mrs. Burt Humble giving the invocation. Mrs. Johnny Pierce, secretary, gave a report, as did Mrs. Ray Laughon, treasurer.

Project for the month is to prepare Thanksgiving plates and deliver them to shut-ins.

Mrs. Hudon White brought the devotional, Mrs. Fred Thomas gave the closing prayer, and the benediction was said by all.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Hudon White, Truett Bentley, Bill Russell, Ray Laughon, Kenneth Sneed, Johnny Pierce, Lillian Roberson, A. L. Mitchell, Fred Thomas, Billy Simpson, Bert Humble, Lee-man Herrington, and W. J. Briley.

10 Tips For Lowering Auto Insurance

Although we live in times of high inflation, there are ways of lowering the cost of your auto insurance. The following 10 tips are offered by the Safe Driver Association of America:

1. Pay premiums for the full policy period (installment plans cost more unless you have a group policy).
2. Join a group plan if your employer, union or professional group offers one.
3. Use a high deductible on collision and comprehensive insurance.
4. Consider cancelling unnecessary insurance, such as collision insurance on an older car (repair costs might exceed your car's value).
5. See if your insurance company offers "special" discounts.
6. Avoid buying an expensive or high-performance car.
7. If you must drive to work, see if your insurance company offers a car pool discount. If so, join a car pool.
8. Notify your insurance company if your annual mileage decreases or if someone in your household moves away or marries.
9. Shop around, comparing prices of three or more insurance companies.
10. Drive safely. Do everything you can to avoid an accident.

Our sincere sympathy due to the deaths of relatives of these three recently: Mr. LeRoy Chew on the death of his brother-in-law, Ernest Bourland of Dallas and a niece, Winnie Patton of Stephenville; the family of Mrs. Anne Mae Cook; and the family of Mrs.

Betty Jo Anderson. Mrs. John McRorey and Mrs. R. Q. Spence attended the district meeting of the United Methodist Women, held at the local First United Methodist Church in Sweetwater, Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. Mrs. Milton Sims of Petersburg, state president of the United Methodist Women was the special guest at the meeting. Mrs. Charles K. Griggs is the local president. Sack lunches were eaten at noon.

The Volunteer Firemen got the Firemen Hall insulated and it really looks nice and warm, and they also got the new name signs up, so be sure to come by and look at it.

Leonard F. Craft, 85, of Andrews died at 11:30 p.m. last Saturday at his home in Andrews, with services in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with Bishop Bryan R. Galloway, officiating. Graveside services were at 4 p.m. in Andrews under the direction of Johnson's Funeral Home of San Angelo.

Craft was born May 27, 1896 in Wingate, and had lived in San Angelo for the past nine years. He was mayor of Andrews for 6 years. He was a Navy Veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his wife, Merle Craft of San Angelo; two step-daughters, Mrs. Kristine Albrecht of Middleton and Mrs. Kathryn Afarian of Houston; four sisters, Bertha Craft of San Angelo, Mrs. Lou Emma Barnes of Quemado and Mrs. Earnestine Maxwell of Bronte; and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Percy (Betty Jo) Anderson, 51, of Casper, Wyoming, died at 11 p.m. last Friday in M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston after a lengthy illness.

Services were at the United Methodist Church at 10 a.m. in Blackwell with burial in the Blackwell Cemetery, under direction of McCoy Funeral Home of Sweetwater.

Mrs. Anderson, a resident of Casper, Wyoming for six years, was born July 24, 1930 in Coke County. She was married to Percy Anderson June 17, 1955, in Blackwell. She was a graduate of Blackwell High School and McMurry College in Abilene. She was a retired school teacher, having taught in Bronte and Snyder.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Amy Jo of Abilene; two sons, David Graham Anderson of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Allen James Anderson of College Station; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Sanderson of Blackwell; two sisters, Pam Blanchard of Sweetwater and Mrs. Ernestine Harris of San Angelo; and a brother, Bobby James Sanderson of Blackwell.

The family has requested that memorials be sent to the R. J. English Family Memorial at McMurry College.

Miss Debbie Moore (a student in Angelo College), visited Sunday afternoon with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lee. Miss Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore of Sweetwater, was on her way home.

On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lee visited with Mrs. Jack (Hanna) Bishop, who has been in the Hendricks Hospital in Abilene, but has been transferred back to the NR Hospital in Winters, and is reported to be very much improved.

Larry Oden visited over the weekend in Albany with his brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dan Oden and daughters, Sarah Joy and Melissa.

The women of the United Methodist Church did not meet Monday afternoon for their regular meeting due to the funeral of Mrs. Betty Jo Anderson, which was Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Ray Lee, Mrs. Gene Ware and Mrs. Willie Stevens visited Wednesday morning in the Bronte Nursing Home with Mmes. Viva Yowell, Oletha Armstrong, Blanche Black, Wella Russell, Mr. Steve Parker, and Mmes. Flora Sanderson, Nila Sanderson, Daisy Henderson, Minta Grimes, Miss Mandy Taylor and Miss Ruby Pinckard, and Mrs. Tee Pinckard. They reported all to be doing fine.

The Bronte Home asks all who visit to be sure and register.

Blackwell has had some really cold weather, but the last of the week has been much warmer, but no rain.

Mickey Smith, new owner of the Senior Citizens Nursing Home in Winters, in his office conducting administrative duties...

...and Jones

...and Mickey Smith in his role of "Mr. Jones" at last Friday's Halloween party at the Nursing Home. He was rewarded for his jinks with a pie in the face, carefully aimed by his wife, Ann.

...and goblins

Residents and staff members of the Winters Senior Citizens Nursing Home turned out in costume to the delight of other residents and guests at the annual Halloween party last Friday night. Prizes were given to the winners, who were voted on, only after an impromptu speech explaining to the audience why they should cast their vote for them. When last seen, the "witch" was riding her broomstick down the hall, back to her room!

Winters Senior Citizens Nursing Home has new owners

Mickey and Ann Smith may not seem, at first glance, to be likely candidates to be the new owners of the Senior Citizens Nursing Home. They appear too young. But appearances are deceiving. Their combined background and experience in geriatric care prove them to be more than qualified.

He was a Physician's Assistant in the Army, and after his discharge, went on to graduate from University of Texas Nursing Home Administrators School.

After graduation, he became the General Manager of four nursing homes in the San Antonio area, and maintained that position until 1980, at which time he and his wife, Ann, leased and managed three nursing homes, including the one in Ballinger. Smith sold his interest in the three homes and purchased the local nursing home on September 1, 1981 from Johnny and Janice Merrill.

Ann Smith, keeps a busy schedule working with the Social Service Department of the home, and functions as the Activities Director.

Mickey and his wife

currently live in Ballinger with their son Michael, 13, but have plans to build or buy a home in Winters in the near future.

Open House at Sr. Citizens November 8

Mickey Smith, new owner of the Senior Citizens Nursing Home announced today that an Open House would be held in the home on November 8, from 2:30 to 4:30.

David Badgett dies after auto accident

David Wayne Badgett, 21, of Winters, died at 6 p.m. Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Bryan, from injuries received in an automobile accident late Saturday night near Bryan.

Services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at First United Methodist Church, with Rev. Bob Holloway, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

He was born Sept. 5, 1960, in Lubbock. He lived most of his life in Center and was graduated from Center High School in 1979. He attended Kilgore Junior College in Kilgore for two years and was a junior at Texas A&M University in College Station. He was a member of First United Methodist Church in Center. His parents moved to Winters from Center in June of 1981.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Badgett of Winters; three sisters, Alana Coleman of Seguin, LaWane Badgett of Lake Jackson and Sherri Flow of Freeport; a paternal grandmother, Hazel Badgett of Winters; a niece and a nephew.

APPLE/GRAPE COBBLER

- 4 cups sliced pared tart apples
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concordgrape drink
- 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
- 1-1/2 cups un sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter, melted

Arrange apples in buttered 9-inch square baking dish. Combine concordgrape drink and tapioca. Pour over apples.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add sugar. Combine egg, milk and butter. Stir into flour mixture gently. Spread over apples. Bake at 425° F. for 30 minutes. Makes 9 servings.

Tricks.....

Some trick or treaters had the tables turned on them Saturday night in Winters. At one residence the youngsters were greeted by Count Dracula (Randy Shields of Bedford), Igor (Kenneth McCaslin of Wingate), and their victim (Mike Meyer).

The trio and their helpers were quite realistic and for some visitors, they provided some tense moments.

Joint Venture for Crippled Children to host third annual auction

The Joint Venture for Crippled Children's third annual auction will be held at the West Texas Fairgrounds at 1 p.m., Monday, November 9. Items already pledged total over $500,000 in value.

Items to be auctioned will vary from footage of used pipe to a Rolls-Royce Silver Spirit automobile. The automobile will be displayed at the International Petroleum Exhibition for Public Education which starts Saturday, Nov. 7 at 10 a.m., and runs through Monday. The Rolls-Royce will be exhibited by The John J. Schaler III Collection, Inc., of Midland. The Rolls Royce, which sports a sticker price of $110,000 will be one of the many items and services auctioned at the Joint Venture for Crippled Children sale.

The Exhibition will feature displays and equipment from all facets of the Petroleum Industry. There is no admission fee to the Public Education display.

A. D. (Dick) Bowen, chairman of the Joint Venture for Crippled Children, stated the goal of the Exhibition is to let the general public know what goes on in the Petroleum Industry and how vital it is for the economic and social welfare of the Southwest.

Bowen encouraged Petroleum Industry leaders who have not already made their commitment to call Joint Venture for Crippled Children, West Texas Rehabilitation Center, Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder.

Bowen said he has been most enthused by the response to date from the Glen Campbell benefit kickoff of the Joint Venture to the LaJet PGA Tournament which was very successful and said he is looking forward to the show and sale to climax the most successful year in the history of the Joint Venture.

The Joint Venture for Crippled Children is a partnership of the Petroleum Industry and the West Texas Rehabilitation Center which in 1981 will provide services to more than 10,000 handicapped in the Southwest through the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Other items to be auctioned at this year's sale include interest in a producing oil well, pumping units, and petroleum services and products.

Detailed information of the many items to be auctioned may be obtained by writing or calling the West Texas Rehabilitation Center at 4601 Hartford, Abilene, Tx. 79605, (915) 692-1633.

New Version of Popular Dessert . . .

Attention Cheesecake Lovers!

Cheesecake lovers really will love this new version of the popular dessert.

"Pineapple-Yogurt Cheesecake" features a smooth, yogurt-cream cheese filling, flavored with rich pineapple mixture, almond extract and vanilla. The unusual coconut-ginger crust is a perfect complement for the tangy filling.

Undrained crushed pineapple, combined with a little sugar, is boiled down to make a flavorful concentrate which is used both in the filling and as a topping after the cheesecake is baked.

Imaginative and easy to put together, this cheesecake is the perfect answer for a family treat or as a delectable finale to a luncheon or dinner party.

PINEAPPLE-YOGURT CHEESECAKE

- 1 (8 1/2 oz.) can crushed pineapple
- 1/4 cup sugar
- Coconut Ginger Crust
- 1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese
- 1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese
- 4 large eggs
- 1 (8 oz.) container plain yogurt
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Turn pineapple into small saucpan, add 1/4 cup sugar, and boil rapidly 6 to 8 min-

Police say quiet Halloween ends months activity

Winters Police say that the Halloween weekend was very quiet with very few complaints being lodged.

Officers say that one person was arrested Halloween night after leading officers on a chase through the north half of the city. The man was apprehended on West Dale after a second police car joined in the chase. Police say the driver of the car was charged with fleeing to elude police officers.

Police said that there were several reports of eggs being thrown, but the instances were isolated.

In other activity for the month police issued 13 citations for speeding to drivers of vehicles being clocked by radar, two persons were charged with no driver's license, and two charges of following too closely. The police report also indicated that one citation was issued on these offenses: failure to stop at stop sign, failure to yield from stop sign, failure to yield right of way at an unmarked intersection, passing without safety, backing without safety, excessive speed, reckless driving, evading police officer, and driving while intoxicated.

Police say that three persons were charged with disorderly conduct and three other persons were charged with simple assault.

WTU fuel contract takes effect this week

A new contract between West Texas Utilities and Lone Star Gas that will raise prices for WTU customers went into effect this week.

"WTU will be paying more for natural gas for its generating plants," said Glen Churchill, WTU president, "and increases in the cost of fuel is passed on to customers through the fuel adjustment clause on electric bills."

The rate increase is "probably not appreciable," said Churchill. WTU's fuel cost is based on the actual cost of gas to Lone Star and varies from month to month, he said.

"Since the fuel cost adjustment varies," Churchill said, "customers probably would not notice any difference in bills." Over the next several years, fuel costs to WTU will increase less than two percent, officials have calculated.

"The short-term effect," Churchill said, "is that WTU will have a small increase in the price it pays for natural gas. In the long run, fuel costs will be cheaper for WTU."

Treats.....

Even though weather did not cooperate, there were many spooks, goblins, and children in costume and disguise visiting homes throughout Winters in search of the annual Halloween treats. These youngsters apparently hit the jackpot at this residence.

Rebekah SS Class met to discuss Thanksgiving projects

The Rebekah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Wayne Sims, with co-hostesses Mrs. Truett Bentley and Mrs. Ronald Cooper.

Mrs. A. L. Mitchell presided, with Mrs. Burt Humble giving the invocation. Mrs. Johnny Pierce, secretary, gave a report, as did Mrs. Ray Laughon, treasurer.

Project for the month is to prepare Thanksgiving plates and deliver them to shut-ins.

Mrs. Hudon White brought the devotional, Mrs. Fred Thomas gave the closing prayer, and the benediction was said by all.

Refreshments were served to Meses. Hudon White, Truett Bentley, Bill Russell, Ray Laughon, Kenneth Sneed, Johnny Pierce, Lillian Roberson, A. L. Mitchell, Fred Thomas, Billy Simpson, Bert Humble, Lee-man Herrington, and W. J. Briley.

NEXT TIME YOU'RE FEELING A BIT UNDER THE WEATHER, REMEMBER THAT BETWEEN 1826 AND 1855, WEATHER DATA AND REPORTS WERE COMPILED AT VARIOUS POSTS BY ARMY MEDICAL OFFICERS! EVENTUALLY, THE U.S. WEATHER BUREAU GREW OUT OF THE ARMY MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

IN TODAY'S ARMY MEDICAL CORPS, SOLDIERS WON'T LEARN MUCH ABOUT THE WEATHER, BUT THEY CAN BECOME SKILLED IN A VARIETY OF MEDICAL TECHNICAL FIELDS INCLUDING DENTAL, RADIOLOGIC, PHARMACEUTICAL, VETERINARY AND MANY OTHERS!
