Weather causes plant shutdowns

Winters was chilled by an icy blast Sunday and Monday of this week with temperatures that reached down to the single digits and some unofficial thermometers even registered zero or a degree below.

The severe cold resulted in some problems for Lone Star Gas Company, who curtailed gas to commercial users in order to have adequate supplies for residential customers and health care facilities. Lone Star's Winters manager F.J. Malicoat said that Dry Manufacturing, John's International, Win-Tex, and Alderman-Cave Milling and Grain were all without natural gas Monday.

Malicoat said that the local school system continued operation due to the type contract the school district has with Lone Star. In some areas, schools were shut down because their gas supplies were also shut off. Lone Star said that schools have the option of what type contract they have with the gas company and the schools that have a school contract are subject to the curtailment while others have a different contract that does not provide for gas curtailment.

The Lone Star manager said that at no time was there a shortage of natural gas but that pipelines were not large enough to handle the amount of gas that would be required to meet the demands of both the residential consumers and industry.

West Texas Utilities said that the natural gas curtailment caused some problems at their generating plants. Some of the WTU generating plants had their gas supplies shut off and the plants had to use fuel oil to fire the generators to meet demands.

WTU's F.R. Anderson said the company was able to meet its demands with no major problems.

By late Tuesday warmer temperatures had arrived but the weather forecasters were calling for snow, sleet, and ice for Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

County workers get pay increase

The Runnels County Commissioners Court, in their Tuesday meeting gave approval to an across the board 10 per cent pay raise for county employees. The pay hike is retro-active to January 1, 1982.

The commissioners also appointed members to the Runnels Salary Grievance Committee. The members are Mrs. Tom Sykes, Elliott Kemp, and Dick Hollstead. The grievance committee will mediate any salary disputes between the county and its employees.

In other action the commis-

After lunch, everyone is invited to attend the lamb show judging that will be held in the school bus barn. Judging will begin at 1:30 p.m. and should be concluded by 6 p.m.

Rex Jones, Tom Green County Agent, will be the judge of this years show.

sioners named Mrs. Thera Stultz to the Runnels County Historical Commission. Dr. John E. Green was selected to fill the position of County Health Officer.

The commissioners approved bonds for two new county employees in the Sheriff's Department. The new employees are Ramona Bennett, jailer and Bobby Sanchez, deputy sheriff in Miles.

Two new vehicles were purchased by the county in the Tuesday meeting, a four-door Oldsmobile sedan from Ben Alexander Motor Company for use in the Sheriff's Department, and a Chevrolet pickup for use by Gilbert Smith. The pickup was purchased from Robinson Chevrolet of Winters.

Final approval was given to blueprints and specifications for the proposed new building to house the county tax office. County Judge Bill Stultz said that the county will begin advertising for bids for the construction of the courthouse annex building in the very near future. The new building will be located across the street, south of the courthouse. The commissioners agreed with requests for additional space for the County Clerk's office several months ago. Their plan is to relocate the tax office across the street in the new building and expand the clerk's office into the space now occupied by the tax office.

Cold work...

Winters firemen were called about noon Monday to Mac Oil Field on West Dale Street to a fire in a tank truck. Sub-freezing temperatures had frozen a valve on the truck and employees were attempting to free the valve with a torch when fumes inside the tank exploded, blowing a hatch cover from the top of the tank trailer.

Firemen used foam to force any remaining fumes from the tank along with snuffing out any fire inside the tank.

Stultz to seek re-election

Runnels County Judge Bill Stultz Tuesday told The Enterprise that he will seek re-election to the top county office.

Stultz is currently serving his first four year term as County Judge.

The judge retired from Lone Star Gas Company in May of 1973 after being with the gas utility for over 31 years. At the time of his retirement Stultz served in the capacity of District Superintendent of Measurement.

He began his career with Lone Star in Garland before moving to posts in Dallas, Palastine, Sulphur Springs, and Ballinger.

Stultz currently is a member of the Executive Committee of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, as a member of the Committee on Human Resources of the National Association of Regional Councils of Government, the Executive Board of Central Texas Opportunities, and on Congressman Charles Stenholm's Committee on Aging.

Stultz will be in Washington D.C. January 26-29 for a meeting of the Human Resources Committee of the National Association of Regional Councils of Government.

Stultz announced his candidacy for re-election on the Democratic ballot Tuesday.

Drug case to go to Grand Jury Jan. 26

Among the cases to be presented to the January 26 meeting of the Runnels County Grand Jury will be charges against a Winters man and two other men arrested in connection with the December 11 drug raid at the Winters Airport.

Royal Hart, 119th. State District Attorney, said that the evidence against George Randolph (Randy) Brooks, owner of Brooks Flying Service of Winters, John Nicols of Houston, and Nelson B. Crawford of Dayton, Ohio would be presented for consideration by the Grand Jury.

The three men were arrested after U.S. Customs agents, Department of Public Safety Narcotics officers, and local officers executed search warrants at the airport.

Two twin-engine aircraft, a pickup and trailer, and an automobile were confiscated during the raid after about five pounds of a substance thought to have been marijuana was found in a hangar operated by Brooks.

U.S. Customs agents said that the two aircraft had been tracked from the Mexican border and the officers said one of the planes had been loaded with the illegal weed. The search warrants revealed a number of rubber fuel bladders and connections that would greatly extend the range of the aircraft. One of the planes was loaded with electric appliances thought to have been purchased in the Dallas area and used as trade goods in exchange for marijuana.

The district attorney said that he would not rule out the possibility that evidence against other persons might be presented to the grand jury at the same time.

Both U.S. Customs agents and state narcotics officers indicated that the Winters Airport may have been a major distribution point for marijuana illegally flown into the United States from Mexico. The officers said that they suspect that about 500 pounds of the weed was carried out of the airport just before they arrived and took two of the men into custody on the evening of December 11. The third man, Randy Brooks of Winters, was taken into custody on Monday following the raid.

The search warrants for the raid were issued by County Judge Bill Stultz, who had been brought to the Winters Airport for that purpose.

Meanwhile, Department of Public Safety narcotic officers say the investigation is continuing and may become a very lengthy one.

Workday scheduled for livestock show

In preparation for the upcoming Junior Livestock Show, the Winters Livestock Show Association will hold a workday, Friday, Jan. 15, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Everyone is invited out in order to set up pens and the show arena. All help would be appreciated.

Blizzards win over Hamlin 71-70

The Winters Blizzards defeated the Pied Pipers of Hamlin in the final second of the game last Friday. The win raised the Blizzards' record to 2-1 in district play and 15-5 for the season.

Leading the scoring for the Blizzards were Gabe Ibarra with 18, Donnie Daily with 15, and Don Kvilil 15. Also scoring were Jeff Butts 6, Jeff McDorman 6, Dwight Hubbard 6, and Brett Mikeska 5.

The win marked a tremendous team victory, according to Coach Jim Farmer who said, "The Blizzards showed a great deal of pride and determination as they repeatedly outfought their taller opponents for every rebound or loose ball, and managed to fight off a determined comeback by the Pipers."

The win over Hamlin followed another close game last Tuesday when the Blizzards defeated the Hawley Bearcats 55-53 in Hawley.

Leading the scoring in the Hawley game were Donnie Daily with 16 points, Jeff Butts 14, and Gabe Ibarra 13.

The Blizzard J.V. also posted a win Friday night 30-21 over Hamlin to remain undefeated in district play and extended the season record to 12-4.

Thanks...

Responsible ownership urged for Christmas pet

Many households in Texas received a new puppy or kitten for Christmas, and have already discovered what great pleasure and joy can be found in owning these cuddly, playful pets. Along with the pleasure of a new pet, comes the responsibility for its proper care.

"New pet owners need to be aware of the basic care required to keep their puppy or kitten healthy," said Dr. Ben Johnston, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA). It is important that an animal have good living conditions; adequate shelter; exercise and fresh air; lots of water and a balanced diet.

Johnston advises feeding your dog or cat only a good commercial pet food, or a diet recommended by your veterinarian. People food is for people, and pets require a diet balanced for their needs, he said.

Your puppy or kitten should also be kept free of external parasites such as fleas. A new pet owner should select a veterinarian and take their puppy or kitten in for examination and immunizations.

Six weeks is the usual age for both puppies and kittens to begin the immunizations needed to protect them against the major infectious diseases. Distemper, hepatitis, parainfluenza, leptospirosis and parvovirus are the inoculations required for the young puppy. Keep in mind that a series of inoculations, including annual boosters, is necessary to insure the good health of both dogs and cats. Kittens should receive vaccinations for distemper, rhinotracheitis and calici (respiratory disease). Heartworms are an increasing problem in Texas, so you should ask your veterinarian about heartworm prevention.

A rabies vaccination is needed when your pet is three to four months old. It is given at a later age because younger puppies and kittens are not old enough to build effective resistance or immunity to the disease, said Johnston, a Houston veterinarian.

By the time the family pet is six months old, owners should consider neutering. Pet overpopulation is a growing public health concern, and responsible animal lovers should think about spaying or neutering their pet. Give your new pet its best chance for a healthy life by taking proper care from the start.

John E. Cooke died Friday in Abilene. John Edwin Cooke, 74, died at 10 p.m. Friday at Hendricks Medical Center in Abilene following a lengthy illness. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Winters Memorial Chapel with Rev. Emmitt Brooks, Abilene Baptist minister, officiating. Burial was in Northview Cemetery under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born in Gatesville December 1, 1907, he moved with his family to Winters in 1925. In 1937 he moved to Abilene, and later to Lubbock. Moving to Loving, N.M., he worked as bookkeeper for the Pecos Valley Cotton Oil Company. For the past few years he had been living with his son and family.

He married Effie Buchanan in Colorado City on December 24, 1935. She preceded him in death on July 12, 1967. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include a son, Doyce Hadley Cooke of Milton, Florida; six brothers, Dalton of Hamilton, Pud of Winters, W. T. of Plainview, Martin of Abilene, Lesly of El Cojon, Calif., and Bill of Dickinson; two sisters, Ethel Cooke of Odessa and Katherine Officer of Edmond, Okla.; and a grandson, Rolf Cooke of Milton, Florida.

Pallbearers were M. L. Dobbins, Thad Traylor, Mansfield Foster, Milton Patterson, Elmo Mayhew, Roger Robinson, and Gattis Neely.

Hypothermia triggered by wintertime weather

The wintertime is a time for snow and ice-related activities for many, but even mildly cold weather can trigger in the elderly a potentially fatal drop in deep body temperature, known as hypothermia.

Because accidental hypothermia can happen indoors in mild temperatures of 60-65 degrees Fahrenheit, it may be necessary to keep temperatures in places where the elderly live above 65 degrees.

"Those at greatest risk are the relatively small group of the elderly who cannot shiver, and thus cannot produce body heat when they need it," said Dr. Clift Price, Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services.

Among the elderly, the most likely to develop accidental hypothermia are the chronically ill, the very old, the poor who cannot afford enough heat, and those who don't take normal precautions to keep warm.

Accidental hypothermia, however, can occur in anyone who is exposed to severe cold without enough protection.

"There are some symptoms to be alert for in the

Farmers must pay estimated taxes soon

The Heat Pump the most efficient system for heating and cooling.

A heat pump can actually produce more than 2 units of heat for every unit of electricity used, in a properly insulated home.

Unlike a conventional furnace, the heat pump doesn't make heat. It transfers or "pumps" heat. Even on cold days, there is some warmth in the air. The heat pump transfers this heat into your home to warm you and your family.

THE ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP WILL SAVE YOU MONEY! If you have plans to buy, build or remodel, or need a new heating and cooling system for your home, call a local factory trained HEAT PUMP DEALER or talk with W.T.U. We will arrange for a W.T.U. heating and cooling specialist to contact you.

Energy savings may vary according to home construction, family size, or energy usage habits.

Poe's Corner

Adventure in Oregon

"The best laid schemes of mice and men gang oft a-gley," (amiss), wrote Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, back in 1785, and the same holds true today.

My plans had been made since early September to have Christmas at home as Jeannine had bought her plane ticket for a visit to meet her new little great-nieces.

Two telephone calls the same day turned me completely around and resulted in my spreading Christmas over the west and northwest United States.

Early in December, Cliff, the grandson at Eden, called one morning to say they would be leaving Dec. 21, to spend Christmas in Fresno, Calif. with his wife's parents. Jeannine would be arriving on the 21st, so there was no way for her to meet little Bethanie Jean, the youngest great-niece.

While I was trying to adjust to the change in events, the telephone rang again in the evening and excitedly Jeannine told me of her promotion to manager of Tillamook Manufactured Homes, where she was employed. She didn't think it was wise to leave at this time and would I come to Oregon. She could make arrangements to have the plane ticket reversed for departure to Midland. After some time to arrange Christmas plans with my family here, I consented to make the trip.

The Dennis Poes and all their family went to Eden on Saturday, Dec. 19, and exchanged gifts that night. And all went to church the next morning where Cliff is pastor, then he had a service at the nursing home at 3 p.m. and Jeani's music program was that night.

My schedule included attending Sunday School at home and driving to Eden, with my car packed, in time for lunch with the family. We had another exchange of gifts and took pictures of Jenea and Bethanie in their new rockers with their baby dolls. Too soon, it was 3 o'clock and we all scattered. I for a drive to Midland as my plane left the next morning at 7:30.

When I reached the Fred Poe's house at Midland it was dark and they were ready to leave for a Christmas program at the church. I went with them and saw several people I knew including a former Winters girl, Janice (Colburn) Craig.

We were up at 5:30 the next morning in order to make connections. Truma had my breakfast ready and Fred drove me to the airport. They would meet me again on my return. Such a thoughtful niece and nephew. My visit with them is always a pleasure.

Everything was right on time concerning my schedule and I arrived in Portland to be met by some friends. We drove 75 miles to Tillamook before Jeannine was home from work.

Jeannine lives about a mile from the Pacific Ocean. Her home sits high on a hill overlooking Tillamook Bay. Just beyond the bay is Cape Meares and back of that is Cape Lookout. The hillside is framed with blue spruce and alder trees. It rains almost everyday...I believe I could say everyday and not be wrong...as one looks out over the bay there is constant change of scenery from fog to sunshine, then some of both, and showers of rain here and there. The moisture keeps everything verdant and fresh.

On Christmas Eve night, Jeannine, Virginia Duncan and I attended a "birthday party for Jesus", at church. It was worshipful and the first observance of this kind I have ever witnessed, but why not, whose birthday is it, anyway? I also learned a few new expressions, for instance, snacks are called "finger food" and "tire kickers" are people who ride around for pleasure.

On Christmas Day I attended another family dinner about 2500 miles from home. It included Virginia, her children, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hicks and their daughters, Misti and Chanda. We all went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hicks, Sr. Each of us carried a dish and I took a good Texas salad for my part. It was Tooter Harrison's strawberry salad recipe from the Winters State Bank Cookbook, and it was consumed with zeal. Some of the Texas pecans I took with me went into pies for Tom Junior's birthday party on the 27th, his favorite.

All went well until Monday before I was scheduled to return home on Wednesday. We had been hearing of a storm coming down the gulf stream from Alaska. I went in to the office with Jeannine on Monday, planning to visit the cheese factory and bring home some Tillamook cheese, also to visit the senior citizens center for lunch. It began to snow steadily and continued all day. On Tuesday morning I told Jeannine that I believed I'd better stay at home. She said "I believe we all will, as I can't drive the car out."

Later in the day, Jeannine was able to walk to the road and ride to town with Tom Hicks, Jr. Her house sits on a hill with about a 75 degree slope and when the temperature falls at night the snow ices over and a car can not make it up or down hill. The people in Oregon were all busy buying chains for their cars. They were not prepared for bad weather, either. The Japanese current keeps the temperature moderate, usually around 50°. Weather is colder when the sun shines.

We spent most of Tuesday planning, calling and exploring possibilities for me to reach the airport. The first thing we did was change the time of my flight from 11 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. as I could never reach Portland by the earlier time. By Wednesday morning we had our plans all carefully made. Jeannine would ride the bus with me to Portland.

But first we must descend the hill at home. We put on boots for a walk through the snow. Tom & Leigh Hicks walked up the hill and helped us carry our bags to the road where they were waiting in the car. They had put on chains but had difficulty opening the car doors as they were frozen. We drove slowly and carefully the five miles into the bus station.

The bus was only thirty minutes late, but the driver said he had broken one tire chain. In the next few miles he stopped several times when he heard a clanking sound. Finally he announced, "Ladies and gentlemen, I am down to one tire chain, but will proceed with caution. If we begin to slide, I will stop and call in for more chains — and this road is slick."

We were driving through the forest pass, as there is a mountain range between Tillamook and Portland, where the airport is sometimes iced in for as much as two weeks. We were driving slowly enough to appreciate the beauty of the snow covered trees, truly a winter wonderland for miles and miles. Jeannine and I named some of the trees, there were pine, holly, spruce, alder and poplar. I began to think we were going to miss my plane anyway, but we took a taxi and drove the 11 miles to the airport to find that my plane was 30 minutes late. Everyone was off schedule.

After boarding the homebound plane, I relaxed. I reached Denver on time for a three hour wait between flights. And the temperature was down to 10 above zero. It was nearly 12 o'clock when I reached Midland, tired and weary. Due to a two hour change in time I had been traveling nearly 24 hours.

From rain and snow, I came home to learn we had been having sandstorms — good old West Texas. It's great to be home, especially after traveling nearly 5,000 miles.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

WORD GAMES

A knowledge of your ABC's—and how well you put them together—can help to make family life more fun. It also may be a good indication of your personality and your abilities. That's what the psychologists are saying about people who enjoy word games.

It seems if you and your family are addicted to the word-fad favorites, it's likely that you are creative, sociable, possess good verbal skills and probably, all of you are good talkers.

One of the newest entries into the word game family that can test your strategy, creativity and those good old verbal skills is called Spellbound. It's from Lake-side Games and it's actually several games in one, combining elements from Per-quacky, Scrabble, cross-words and some other favorites.

It might be wise to keep in mind that making such games part of family activity is likely to pay off in fun, and in that all-important asset in today's world—good verbal skills.

FAMILY SAFETY

Are you fully protected against a home or apartment fire? Installing smoke detectors and eliminating hazards are not enough, says the Insurance Information Institute. To be fully protected, families should develop and practice a family escape plan.

Some of the worst home or apartment fires take place in the winter as heating systems receive maximum use, nights are longer and colder weather keeps family activities indoors. The most dangerous home fires are those that occur at night when the family is sleeping. In many home fires, there are only seconds to escape. That's why everyone must know what to do, where to go and be able to act quickly in an emergency.

The Insurance Information Institute has the life-saving facts available free in its Be Fire Smart tips for home owners, renters and high-rise apartment dwellers. Call the Insurance Hotline toll-free at 800-221-4954 to get started on your family escape plan. In New York State, call collect 212-669-9200.

Super Bowl Superstars

Green Bay's Bart Starr and Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw are the only players to win the Super Bowl Most Valuable Player award two consecutive years. Starr won in games I and II. Bradshaw in games XIII and XIV.

Oakland's Rod Martin set a new record with three pass interceptions when the Raiders beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 27-10, in Super Bowl XV.

Philadelphia Eagles' quarterback Ron Jaworski set a new record when he attempted 38 passes in Super Bowl XV.

Oakland and Philadelphia set a new record for most yards passing in Super Bowl XV. According to Figgie International's Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, the two teams combined for 551 yards.

Can You Survive A Respiratory Challenge?

When your respiratory system must cope with a challenge, whether you survive or die may depend on whether you smoke.

This information is from a newsletter of the New York Lung Association: "According to Dr. David J. Pierson, Director of Respiratory Therapy at Seattle's Harborview Medical Center, combined findings show that smoking weakens the ability of the respiratory system to cope with a challenge."

Folklore says that you shouldn't continue knitting a sock into the new year, for it brings you trouble.

Final tax payment due soon for 1981

Taxpayers who did not have enough 1981 federal tax withheld, or whose amended income estimates for 1981 changed substantially during the last quarter, are required to pay the final installment of estimated income tax by January 15, 1982, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS notes that there is an exception to this rule for the final installment for those taxpayers who file their returns and pay all taxes due by February 1, 1982. This exception applies whether the declaration is an original or amended one.

Generally, taxpayers must file estimated tax if their tax is expected to be $100 or more and if they have more than $500 in income not covered by withholding.
