Making progress...

Work is continuing at a rapid pace on the construction of the new Lake Winters dam. The dam is nearing its specified height with only about three feet of fill to be added in the middle. A spokesman for the contractor building the structure said that the recent cold weather had slowed down the gress, that temperatures below freezing bring the work to a halt. He said that when the water freezes, it cannot be pumped or hauled to use in packing the fill materials on the dam. City engi-ners indicated the new lake may be completed in time for the fall rains this year.

Logan of Brownwood to challenge Nabors

Gary W. Logan of Brownwood has announced that he will be a Republican candidate for State Representative for the current 55th Legislative District. The seat is currently held by Brownwood attorney Lynn Nabors.

Logan, 41, retired from the U.S. Army in 1979 and is currently the Electroflux sales representative in the Brownwood area. He is also a full-time student at Howard Payne University and will graduate in May, 1982 with a BBA in Accounting and Political Science and a BA from the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom in the Free Enterprise Path. Logan will have minors in General Business, Russian Language, and the Korean Language.

Logan's military service spanned a period of 21 years during which time he served in numerous capacities to include that of Russian, Korean, and Japanese linguist, special personnel and physical security investigator, and intelligence officer. Logan served overseas in Europe, Japan, Vietnam, and Korea. Among his numerous decorations were two awards of the Meritorious Service Medal and three awards of the Army Commendation Medal.

Logan is married to the former Brenda Gorby of Brownfield and they have two sons, Kent and Scott.

Upon graduation from Howard Payne University, Logan plans to enter the accounting field in Brownwood.

Logan's duties in the military permitted him to become well versed in international trade, economics, and politics. His sales responsibilities in Brown and neighboring counties allowed him to have close contact with a broad spectrum of the local populace and have acquainted him with the problems and issues facing this district.

Mrs. George Dick of Bangs has been designated as Logan's campaign treasurer and has filed accordingly with the Secretary of State.

Winters PTO will meet Tuesday

The Winters Parent-Teachers Organization will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday, February 16, in the high school auditorium.

The program will be presented by Mrs. Bob Holloway's 3rd grade music class.

All parents and teachers are urged to attend the regular meeting.

C of C plans annual banquet

The Winters Area Chamber of Commerce will hold their annual banquet Thursday, Feb. 25, at 7 p.m. at the Winters Community Center on the Novice Road.

Tickets are $7.50 each and may be purchased from any board member, at the Chamber office, or at the door.

The meal will be catered by Southern Seas of San Angelo and the entertainment will be furnished by a faculty ensemble from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

This year's banquet will honor the "Oil Industry" in our area and the highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the "Citizen of the Year" award.

Police report slow month

The Winters Police Department, in its monthly activity report to the city council, indicated that the month of January was very slow.

Police Chief L.C. Foster said that a total of 16 were filed by his department during the month.

Among those charges filed, two were for no driver's license, six for failure to yield right of way to through traffic, two for excessive speed, and two for leaving the scene of an accident.

Police also filed two charges of disorderly conduct, one for public intoxication, and one charge for simple assault.

Chief Foster said that in the month of January, his department noted a marked decrease in driving while intoxicated offenses. Foster said that no DWI charges were filed.

Winters School tax exemptions for 1982

All taxpayers of the Winters Independent School District are reminded that it is their responsibility to apply for any exemption that they may qualify for at the Runnels County Appraisal Office located in Ballinger.

The school is required to offer the $5,000 homestead exemption, $10,000 homestead exemption to those over 65 years of age, $10,000 exemption to those who can prove disability, the disabled veteran exemption and both the 1-d and 1-d-1 agriculture use exemption.

The appraisal office in Ballinger mailed out exemption forms to those who qualify for an exemption in 1981, but there were no agriculture use exemptions during the 1981 tax year therefore, the appraisal office was not required to mail this type of exemption. All land owners should either go by the appraisal office in Ballinger or call them and make some kind of arrangement to secure their exemption.

Winters students take TABS tests

Winters students will be among approximately 700,000 students expected to take the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills. This is the third year for the state program where third, fifth, and ninth grade students are tested in reading, writing composition, and mathematics during a statewide testing program.

Third and fifth grade students will be tested on February 16, 17, and 18; the high school, referred to as exit level test, will be given to ninth graders on February 18 and 19. High school students who did not make a satisfactory "exit level" score last year will re-take the test with the ninth graders.

The testing program is designed to help the student and the school improve achievement. "Each test question will relate to a specific objective or skill students are expected to learn by the time they complete the particular grade," Mrs. Lee Harrison, counselor, said.

County youths win SWCD poster contest

Glenn Matschek, sixth grader from Ballinger Junior High School was chosen the winner of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District Poster Contest according to Fred Perkins, District Conservationist.

Glenn will be honored and receive an award for his district champion poster at the San Angelo Area Awards Banquet, February 11, in the Houston Harte University Ballroom at Angelo State University.

Glenn's award winning poster will also be sent to the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board in Temple to be considered for one of three trophies to be awarded in the State Region II Poster contest. His poster was selected as the winner from 36 posters entered in the contest from Runnels County schools.

Other winners, by school were: Winters Elementary School: 2nd grade (Mrs. Russell) - Carrie Smith, 1st. place; Brandon Boles, 2nd. place; Angela Briley, 3rd. place. 2nd grade (Mrs. Byrns) - Jennifer Michaelis, 1st. place.

Miles Elementary School: 2nd grade Rikki Granzin, 1st. place; Melissa Glass, 2nd. place; Michelle Buie, 3rd. place.

Ballinger Elementary School: 3rd. grade - Shelly Rohmfield, 1st. place. Ballinger Junior High School: 6th. grade - Glenn Matschek and David Jalamo, 1st. place (tie); Dollie Brazelton, 2nd. place; John Minzenmayer, 3rd. place.

Also to be honored is Stuart Spreen, a Ballinger seventh grader who placed first in the Soil and Water Conservation District Essay Contest. He will also be honored at Local woman overcome by heater fumes

A 21-year-old Winters woman, Mary Esquivel, was said to be in guarded condition in the Coronary Care Unit at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene Tuesday after she was overcome by fumes from an unvented gas heater in her garage apartment last Wednesday.

The woman was found unconscious by her husband shortly before 8:30 p.m. last Wednesday. The husband, Ruben Esquivel, had to break into the locked apartment to reach his wife and then summon emergency assistance.

The Esquivel woman was rushed to North Runnels Hospital for emergency treatment before being rushed to the specialized care unit at the Abilene hospital.

Baby, it's cold outside...

Apparently Winters was not about to be outdone by the large metropolitan cities who suffered cutbacks in air traffic due to the cold weather and icy conditions. Could be this goose was enroute somewhere but had to make a forced landing on Main Street in front of the old State Theatre due to the icing conditions. It was obvious the big bird was rather chilly, refusing to put both feet on the cold sidewalk one at once, preferring rather, to keep one foot warm and stand on the other. After being notified about the cold goose, police officers helped it find a home.

Dorothy Smith files for District Clerk

Dorothy (Dottie) Smith of Ballinger is officially a candidate for the office of District Clerk of Runnels County.

Mrs. Smith is currently an office deputy and secretary in the Runnels County Sheriff's office, a position she has held for the past six years. She also worked as a deputy in the county tax office for three years and for one year as the chief deputy in the tax office.

She is a member of the First Baptist Church of Ballinger, Child Welfare Board of Directors, and is Secretary-Treasurer of the West Central Texas Law Enforcement Association.

Dottie is wife of Dan Smith of Ballinger and the mother of three children. She has been a resident of Runnels County for over 10 years.

Farm Bureau Week February 15-20

February 15-20 has been designated "Farm Bureau Week" in Runnels County by County Judge Bill Stultz.

The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members, according to Hudson White, Jr. of Winters, president of the Runnels County Farm Bureau.

The official county proclamation calls American agriculture "the producing marvel of the world," and adds that one farm worker now produces enough food for 68 people. "Because of this," the proclamation said, "the average American family spends less than one-fifth of its income for food."

The proclamation continues by saying that "four out of five producers are voluntary members of Farm Bureau" and through that organization, they "work to build a better social and economic life for themselves."

White said that Farm Bureau will continue to represent interests of farmers and ranchers in Austin and in Washington D.C. Among Farm Bureau policies implemented last year was the state constitutional amendment exempting livestock and poultry from ad valorem taxation.

The county leader said the organization also favored spending and tax cuts that were passed by congress last year.

Death of a Winters Native

When someone is young the last time we saw him, it is a shock to read of his death and to see that he was 74 years old.

This was the case when I received a newspaper clipping from Pauline (Hines) Scott of San Angelo about the death in October of her uncle, Jerry John Ritch, of Oxnard, California.

Pauline wrote that she had received the belated information from her Aunt Armie the week before and thought that the people in Winters who remembered the family would be interested in knowing about Jerry. He was the youngest son of Mrs. Ella Ritch and brother of Lora Copeland.

Jerry, former Oxnard finance director, died in San Francisco after a brief illness.

Born February 5, 1906 in Winters, he was a 25-year resident of Oxnard and the city finance director for nearly 15 years, retiring in February, 1971.

A member of Masonic Lodges in both Oxnard and Glendale, he served in several offices since 1968. He received the "Legion of Honor" award in July for service to the community.

Survivors included two daughters both of California, Jerri L. Morales of Eagle Rock and Sandra A. Calkins of Goleta; a sister, Annie Laura Oliver of Eagle Rock; two brothers, Allen of San Antonio and Percy of Grass Valley, Ca.; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pauline writes, "He visited us in August with his daughter and her family. They were in Winters one day and he seemed to enjoy his trip over there very much."

Although he didn't finish high school in Winters, Jerry had many memories of his life growing up on a farm, three miles east of town, with his widowed mother and brothers and sisters.

Ella Ritch was 38 years old when her husband was struck by lightning and killed along with three of his neighbors who had gone with him in a wagon to Glasscock County on a prospecting trip. They had heard that land was much cheaper around Garden City. Five men made the trip and one lived to tell the story.

Mrs. Ritch was left with nine children, the youngest six months old. She became the breadwinner and manager. Lora, with one year of college, slipped into her mother's role of housekeeper. The four oldest girls had been taught to carry on farm work and Hugh, the oldest boy, could handle the machinery. Under their Mother's guidance they went right on farming, but so much rain fell that the boll weevils ate most of the cotton and they were hard pressed to pay bills.

May became ill and died a few months later. Jerry, the baby, developed a serious throat trouble that lasted for several years. Through it all, Mrs. Ritch didn't give up. She continued to carry her children regularly to church, driving the three miles in a hack.

HARDIN-SIMMONS FACULTY ENSEMBLE

Musical variety expected for Winters C of C banquet

Five members of the Hardin-Simmons University School of Music faculty will be presenting a musical variety showcase as entertainment for the annual Winters Chamber of Commerce Banquet, Thursday, February 25. The four voice teachers from the University will be accompanied by Prof. J. G. Martin, head of the Music Education department at H-SU. Dr. Martin has been pianist/director of the popular Singers' Ho! singing group for many years and led them on tours to Europe and the Orient, singing concerts for the USO. The group also appeared at Disneyworld in Orlando, Florida.

The singers on the program will present a wide variety of songs, duets, and ensembles from musical shows and the world of popular music. Each is an accomplished musician with a wide range of experience ranging from opera to outdoor drama. Larry Wolz, Assistant Professor of Voice at the University since 1978, has studied voice at Texas Christian University and most recently at the University of Cincinnati's College Conservatory of Music, where he is a candidate for the doctoral degree.

She sent most of the children to college.

Pauline Johnson was a small child but she remembers that her uncle, Howard Baldwin, lived on a neighboring farm. He had four daughters; Emma, Essie, Earline and Doris. She recalls that Emma helped Jerry dress for a tacky party on one occasion. Once when he came back for a visit he remarked that "Winters had more good looking girls than Hollywood." And took a picture of Doris with him.

Mrs. Ritch moved to California before Jerry finished high school. Fred Young doesn't know just when, but they were living in Los Angeles and she was running a rooming house when he went out there to work in 1924.

Mrs. Ritch later returned to Winters, but Jerry continued living in California until his death.

Kathy McNeil, an instructor in voice at the University, was named Singer of the Year in 1980 by the National Association of Teachers of Singing Texoma Region. She has had extensive experience in opera and musical theater, including work with the outdoor musical drama Texas. Jayne Middleton, an assistant professor and director of the Opera Workshop, is a candidate for the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in voice at North Texas State University. She has studied and performed in Florence, Italy and Graz, Austria and was featured in the East Coast premiere of Carlisle Floyd's Of Mice And Men. Wolz, McNeil, and Ms. Middleton were also a part of a faculty performing group that toured Saudi Arabia during the spring of 1979.

Laurence Paxton, the newest member of the voice faculty at Hardin-Simmons, is a graduate of Indiana University and has had extensive opera performing experience. He was an apprentice artist with the Santa Fe Opera company during 1980 and will return in that capacity this coming summer. Most recently he has been featured with the Fort Worth Opera in

Ladies Aid Circle met recently

The Ladies Aid Circle of St. John's Lutheran Church met in regular session February 4th in the Fellowship Center with Mrs. Charles Kruse, President, presiding, opening the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Walter Kruse, program chairman for February, opened program with the song "In the Hour of Trial".

Pastor Keene led the Bible study, and Mrs. H. R. Frick gave the Devotional and led the group in prayer.

For those having birthdays in February, the group sang "Happy Birthday".

Twelve women answered Roll Call.

The Circle is to have the program at the Rest Home in March.

Mrs. L. C. Fuller resigned from the Circle.

The meeting closed with The Lord's Prayer.

State of the Union

In his State of the Union message to the nation President Reagan outlined a comprehensive program to address the nation's domestic concerns. His message was characteristically straightforward. There are no quick fixes to the problems that have been festering during decades of runaway government spending.

What has been proposed is a major reshaping of the fiscal relationship between the federal government and the states. The program, involving some $47 billion in federal grants-in-aid, is intended to sort out the responsibilities properly assigned to each governmental level. Those responsibilities will, in turn, be directed back to the states along with the revenue sources needed to fund them. The end result will be greater efficiency and economy for the states and federal government.

In many ways, the proposals outlined in the State of the Union message represent the fifth installment of the President's mandate. Last year, with the help of a bipartisan Congress, we brought about a reduction in the growth of government spending, personal and business taxes were reduced and regulations which cost billions of dollars annually were cut. Out national defense was strengthened. By his own words, the next thing he wanted to do was return power to the states. This fundamental realignment of the federal system is a dramatic and bold initiative and one that certainly will dominate debate in Congress.

The plan has two major components: A "swap" of Medicaid to full funding by the federal government. In return, the states would assume responsibility for the food stamp and welfare programs like Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). Secondly, the plan calls for "turnback" programs in education, community development, transportation and social services along with funds from a $28 billion federal trust to be financed by existing federal excise taxes. The program, as proposed, is to be phased in over eight years starting in fiscal year 1984.

Congress will likely begin reviewing new federalism legislation by spring. The reaction to the proposed program changes by Members of Congress turns on politics and ideology. I, and many of my like-minded colleagues, firmly believe that the programs that will become the objects of debate can be more effectively administered by the level of government nearest the people served.

Be assured that this is no abdication of federal responsibility. It is, rather, a clearly stated opportunity for the states and local governments to sort out their mutual responsibilities.

It is my belief that "new federalism" may not even be the best term for what is about to happen. It is in its purest sense a return of government to the people. At the local level, we will have the opportunity to prevent the growth of a super bureaucracy that wastes energy and siphons off dollars that could be better spent on people and programs. Time and again, Washington has demonstrated that it is too far away from the states to see local problems with a clear eye.

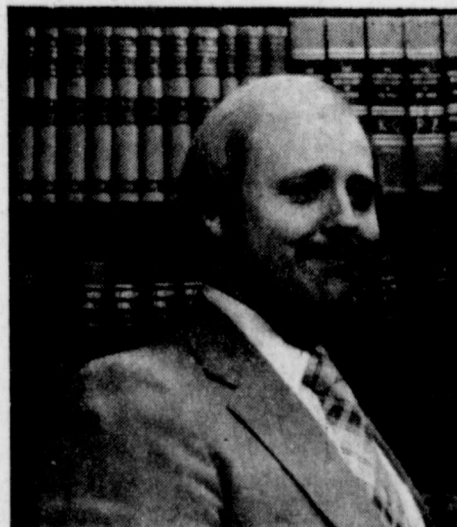

I support the thrust of the President's message and applaud his boldness. As he said, we must summon the strength to continue the course we have charted. I believe we will and I shall do my very best to see that this next phase of the "new beginning" becomes a reality.

W-2 forms should be received by Feb. 1

Persons who have not received their Forms W-2, "Wage and Tax Statements," from their employers must still file their tax returns by April 15, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

To avoid delay in receiving the W-2, persons should furnish their employers with a current address. If employees do not receive the statement, they should first contact their employer. After February 15, the employee should ask for help by calling the IRS office listed in the telephone directory.

The IRS reminds taxpayers that they must have a W-2 form from every employer they worked for during the year. Even if an employee is unable to get a W-2 before the filing deadline of April 15, a timely return must be filed. Report all income and attach a signed and dated statement explaining the tax computations for the missing wage and tax information, the IRS says.

Mrs. Max Lewis died Wednesday in San Angelo

Mrs. Max Lewis, 81, a longtime resident of Winters who was active in civic affairs, died at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Baptist Memorial Geriatric Hospital in San Angelo after a brief illness.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Monday at Winters Funeral Home with the Rev. Bob Holloway of the First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Born Loyle Kornegay Dec. 4, 1900, in Crowley, she came to Winters with family in 1908. Her father, Clifford Kornegay, was a pioneer Runnels County ginner, and she had been a bookkeeper th her father and brother in the ginning business for a number of years. She was a graduate of Baylor University. She married Max Lewis Nov. 7, 1950, in Winters.

She served more years in the Literary and Service Club than any other member and had been its president five times. She was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 9193. She and her husband held every office in the organization on the local level and several offices on the district level. She was a sponsor of the Winters High School Goadigger Club for a number of years. She had been secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and secretary-treasurer of the Winters Rodeo Association. She was a member of First United Methodist Church. Her husband died Oct. 1, 1973.

Services held Tuesday for E. Y. Buckner

E. Y. "Buck" Buckner, 71, of Big Spring, a retired utilities worker and teacher, died at 4:45 p.m. Sunday.

Services were held at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in Big Spring, with the Rev. Victor Sedinger of First Christian Church, officiating. Graveside services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Burk Burnett Cemetery in Burkburnett.

Born Sept. 27, 1910, in San Augustine, he was reared in Burkburnett. He attended St. Mary's University, Texas A&M University, and the University of Texas at Austin. He had been superintendent of electric plants at Burkburnett and Winters and later owned a refrigeration business in Burkburnett. He married Jewell Cowsert in 1933. She died in November, 1955.

Electricity from atomic energy was generated for the first time in the world at a laboratory near Idaho Falls in 1951.

Proper installation of wood stove is essential

A wood burning stove is an excellent way to save on fuel bills, but mistakes by the inexperienced stove owner can result in problems, including serious injury or death.

"If you are thinking about buying a wood-burning stove, it's essential to know how to install it properly," says Harold Ray, director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health.

"Check with the local building inspector or fire marshal, even if it's not required. They can probably give you cost and time-saving advice in addition to safety information," he recommended. Generally, the minimum distance between the stove and an unprotected wall should be 18 inches. The stove should be on a non-combustible hearth mat.

Ordinarily, the stove pipe should not pass through a combustible wall or ceiling, but if it does, you should allow an 18-inch clearance around the pipe. Or, you can use a section of factory-built chimney.

If you are connecting the stove pipe to an existing fireplace chimney, it's advisable to seal off the chimney below the pipe's point of entry to prevent toxic gases from entering the room.

"A glowing red stove pipe is dangerous," Ray warned. "Close the stove's damper to cool the fire quickly. If that doesn't work fast enough, put a few shovelful of cool ashes on top of the burning wood." Wood requires oxygen to burn. Keep a window slightly open to provide for proper combustion and to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning.

To small children, woodburning stoves do not look hot. Mark an "off limits" area surrounding the stove for children, he advises.

Crossote buildup in the flue or chimney increases the risk of a chimney fire. Flues should, therefore, be inspected and cleaned routinely. Keep a fire extinguisher in the room in case of a chimney fire, and don't throw water on the stove. That could crack the stove and cause a second fire.

Never start a fire with gasoline, kerosene or other flammable liquids. Burn only dry, well-seasoned hardwood. Green wood produces large amounts of creosote and is especially dangerous in an "air tight" stove.

According to the National Fire Data Center, heating systems burning wood or coal are associated with about 49,000 home fires each year, involving about 250 fatalities, 290 serious injuries and more than $110 million in direct property losses.

The number of Texans killed last year in home fires totaled 283, according to the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Vital Statistics.

D. Gooch, 101, died Saturday in McAllen

Mrs. Claude Gooch, 101, of Wilmeth, and a longtime Runnels County resident, died at 5:45 p.m. Saturday in McAllen.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Winters Funeral Home with the Rev. Fred Thomas of First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Wingate Cemetery.

Born Delilah Norman June 15, 1880, in Killeen, she married Claude Gooch Jan. 3, 1903. They moved to Runnels County in 1906, settling south of Wingate, and moved to Wilmeth in 1910, where she had lived for more than 60 years. For the past 11 years she had lived in McAllen. She was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband on July 9, 1970, and two daughters.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Herman Heck of Lubbock, Mrs. T. E. McCollum of McAllen, and Mrs. T. O. Nance of Poway, Calif.; a foster son, Elma Lee Eubanks of San Angelo; seven half-brothers, Ben Norman of Killeen, Wilson Norman of Lipan, Doyle Norman of Stark City, Mo., Hassel Norman of Long Beach, Calif., George Norman of Hico, Alvin Norman of Granbury, and Glenn Norman of Houston; two half-sisters, Mrs. Mabel White of Killeen and Mrs. Elsie Aycock of California; eight grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Don McCollum, Earl Dean, Gary Bryan, Dewitt Bryan, Howell Norman and J. B. Denson.

According to data from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a bowl of vegetable soup has more vitamin A than two heads of lettuce, 12 ears of corn, or four tomatoes. A bowl of chicken noodle soup has more protein and thiamin than peanut butter, or rye bread.

Services held Thursday for Lena M. Wheat

Lena May Wheat, 79, a lifelong Wingate resident, died at 8:40 a.m. Tuesday in the Ballinger Care Center after a long illness.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Winters Memorial Chapel, with Ron Briley, Mrs. Wheat's grandson who is a Church of Christ minister from Gatesville, and the Rev. Charles Myers, pastor of Wingate Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Wingate Cemetery.

Born Lena May Bryan on April 10, 1902, in Wingate, she was a piano teacher for many years. She was a member of the Wingate Church of Christ. She married Willie W. Wheat Nov. 7, 1921, in Wingate. He died March 17, 1963.

A son, Cullen, died during World War II in France and two infant sons also preceded her in death.

Survivors include two sons, Arley Wheat of Norton and Gene Wheat of Winters; two daughters, Gladys Matthews of San Angelo and Veda Briley of Midland; two brothers, David Bryan and Hubert Bryan, both of Wingate; a sister, Bonnie Carter of San Angelo; 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Grandsons were pallbearers.

IRS regulates commercial tax return preparers

Commercial tax return preparers must comply with certain requirements when making out clients' returns, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

The IRS explains, paid preparers are responsible for providing a copy of the completed return to the client for his/her records when the client signs the return. Preparers are required to keep copies of returns or a list containing taxpayers' names and identification numbers for three years. These records must be available for IRS inspection during this period.

Paid preparers are also required to sign completed returns and to provide their employer identification number on the return. Rubber stamps and signature facsimiles are not accepted by the IRS.

EAR INFECTIONS: MORE THAN AN 'EARACHE'

The common childhood ear infection may be far more serious than we realize.

Most ear infections are marked by a buildup of syrupy fluid behind the eardrum in the child's middle ear. "The fluid may cause hearing loss for weeks and even months at a time, and as a result, it may cause delays in language development and learning," says Charles D. Bluestone, M.D., director of the department of otolaryngology at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The infection is called otitis media with effusion (OME), and its incidence is staggering. It is second only to the common cold as a disease of childhood, and more than two-thirds of all children will have had at least one episode during their first three years. About one-third will have had three or more.

Most children with these acute infections have fluid in the middle ear for weeks or months. The fluid may cause some impairment in hearing. Thus, many children spend prolonged periods of time during their first years of life with impaired or fluctuating hearing. Doctors fear that some of these children may lag behind in educational achievement, says Jerome O. Klein, M.D., professor of pediatrics at Boston University School of Medicine.

About two-thirds of the time, both ears are affected, and the child hears as though he has his fingers in his ears, says John Nelson, M.D., professor of pediatrics at the University of Texas Health Science Center, Southwestern Medical School at Dallas. The low-frequency sounds come through, he says, but the high-frequency sounds, which are critical to language perception and development, are missed.

If an effective antibiotic is prescribed, the signs and symptoms of OME usually diminish within 42 to 78 hours. The commonly used antibiotics, ampicillin and amoxicillin, are usually effective. But they sometimes fail to clear the initial infection, because the bacteria associated with OME have learned to outsmart these drugs.

For example, certain strains of Haemophilus influenzae, one of the most common causes of ear infections, have become resistant to ampicillin and amoxicillin. Thus, even if a child's ear infection is being treated, it may not go away.

That is why follow-up visits to the doctor after initial therapy is completed are so important. Physicians also recommend that parents help their children recover from OME by following some simple suggestions:

• Make sure your child takes the prescribed medication at regular intervals and for as many days as prescribed. To cure the infection, a high enough concentration of antibiotic must be present at the site of infection for eight to 10 days.

• If your child seems no better 48 hours after beginning medication, call your physician. Your child may be infected with a resistant strain of bacteria, and your doctor will want to prescribe another antibiotic.

• If your baby is bottle-fed, hold him upright at mealtime. When an infant is lying down with his bottle propped, bacteria may travel from the back of the throat to the middle ear, exacerbating the ear infection.

• If you think your child has any problem in hearing, consult your physician.

A recent article in some publication stated that the ice age was returning and the winter of 1982 was nothing compared to what's coming.

If that's true, I know one editor who might entertain the idea of flying south with the birds. I like my winters cold enough to enable a glowing fireplace scene in the den and enjoy sleet and snow only when it appears in those western Christmas card pictures.

Already, snow has paralyzed West Texas in January and the thermometer has dipped to near zero too often. This winter was supposed to be mild for the most part. And I guess it was until almost Christmas as roses and other annual flowers were blooming — until a few days before. I mean plants that normally had been frost bit by Halloween.

However, when mother nature finally opened the north-gate she left it open!

The old Farmer's Almanack predicts a wet February. It states precipitation should range from one to four inches for the month. We are expected to have cold and rainy weather with possible snow several times this month. Each spell will be followed by a warming trend.

Although, moisturewise, West Texas is far short of normal rainfall by this time, the snow and showers have caused oat and wheat patches to live up. Having turned brown in early January from lack of rain, or possible overgrazing, they are green again.

Most all stockmen are calling for more rain from local politicians to congressmen and higher powers. Both sheep and cattle markets are way off, too. This adds another winter worry on top of breaking ice on water troughs and the daily feed rounds.

Matter of fact, many of the local and regional marketing centers have experienced almost double in numbers of livestock being sold at this time. The low prices, the dry and cold winter and fear of higher feed bills is no doubt playing a big part in the decision to sell before spring.

Bert Dennis, who ranches in Borden County said they had a good snow "but it was not very wet. We need a great deal more moisture," he added.

Bill Shurley said the same thing about Marfa and the Big Bend country.

In the Texas Hill Country where Angora goats are being shorn, there is little ground cover, even of old grass. Supplemental feeding is in progress. Bill Upton had about half of his goats sheared at the Fort McKavett ranch when the January snow and ice spell hit. "The sheared goats did much better than the haired ones," he said.

"I don't understand that?" someone said as I retold the story. Well imagine all that hair wet from rain and snow and the temperatures down about eight degrees. That goat is a block of ice. Those without hair can hide under a cedar bush and keep warm.

Well, I am going to try to make the winter and hope the ice age is not returning.

Bredemeyer places in meat judging

Bill Bredemeyer of Winters, along with members of his Tarleton State University meat judging team, placed seventh among the top 10 colleges and universities in the nation at the National Western Intercollegiate Meat Judging Contest held recently in Denver, Colorado. The contest was sponsored by the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Oklahoma State University finished the contest in first place, followed by Kansas State University, University of Nebraska, University of Wyoming, Colorado State University, Texas Tech University, Tarleton, New Mexico State University, North Dakota State University, and Texas A&M University.

The TSU team members also include Walt Clemmer of Hawley; Lee Howard of Ballinger; Jim Carter of Hawley; and Leslie Vann of Lampasas. The team is coached by Randy Hines of the TSU agriculture faculty.

Individually, Bredemeyer placed fifth in pork judging and the TSU team ranked second in placing.

The team placed fifth in beef judging and sixth in lamb judging and pork judging.

Buddy Miller selected for feature article

Buddy Miller, manager of the Winters Piggy Wiggly store, was recently selected for a feature article in the Affiliated Food Stores Weekly Bulletin Publication. The article, which goes to all Affiliated store members, was written due to his contributions to the community.

The article praised Buddy for his participation in various community activities such as being a ten-year member of Winters Fire Department; presently, President of Winters Volunteer Fire Department; and Past President of Texas Hill County Firemen and Fire Marshals Association. He also is a ten-year member of Winters Lions Club and has served four years as Alderman of Winters City Council, and for two years has served on the Board of Directors of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

Texas to continue two-area brucellosis program

Faced with several changes which will affect Texas this year in the federal brucellosis eradication program, commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission have taken action which will allow Texas to continue its two-area brucellosis program.

Members of the Texas Animal Health Commission requested the U.S. Department of Agriculture to reclassify the present brucellosis control areas of the state, explained Allen Turner, Runnels County Agent.

Based on this action, the present Class A control area—generally the western half of the state—would become Class B area. The present Class B control area—generally the eastern half of the state—would become Class C when the recommended changes in the Uniform Methods and Rules (UM&R) take place, Turner said.

"The SAHC took the action so that Texas livestock producers will be aware of impending changes as soon as possible," John B. Armstrong of Kingsville, Commission chairman, said.

The new federal regulations were expected to be in place not later than the end of January, however it will take additional time to fully implement them.

Until the new regulations are in effect, Texas producers should continue to operate under the present Texas brucellosis program according to Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The proposed Class B area would include 140 counties, as recommended by Commissioners. Additionally, the proposed Class C area would include 114 counties.

Changes in the rules of the federal brucellosis program were recommended by the U.S. Animal Health Association, which has responsibility for making recommendations to the Secretary of Agriculture in regard to UM&R.

The classification categories are based on the number or percentage of infected herds—not individual animals—in the state, Turner said.

States with a zero percent infection rate would receive a free classification status, where no tests would be required for shipment within a state or area, but certificates would be required for shipment between states or areas.

To obtain Class A status, individual states could not exceed a 0.25 percent infection rate. No tests would be required for shipment within an area or state, but one would be required before movement between states or areas.

Class B status, obtained by any state with less than 1.5 percent but more than 0.25 percent infection rate, would require one test before shipment within an area or state, and one before and one after shipment between states or areas.

Class C status, for all states and areas with greater than 1.5 percent infection rate, would require one test before movement within states or areas for vaccinated and non-vaccinated. For shipment between areas and states for vaccinated animals, one test would be required before movement and one after movement. Non-vaccinated would require two tests before movement and one after movement.

In all classifications, animals that would be exempt from the testing requirements include steers and spayed heifers, official calfhood vaccinates of dairy breeds under 20 months of age or beef cattle under 24 months of age; and non-vaccinated cattle under 18 months of age, unless six months or more pregnant.

I may not always be right — but I'm never wrong.

Hopewell Church ladies will meet in the home of Harvey Mae Faubion on Monday at 9:30 a.m. for their Bible study.

Sorry to hear Mrs. Mary Lewis of Levelland is ill. She is the sister of Mr. and Mrs. Burley Campbell of Ballinger, and is formerly from around here.

Our sympathy to the families of Mrs. Bertha Berry, especially her brother, Corbett Cooper of Winters. Mrs. Berry passed away Saturday at 4 p.m. in Levelland, and will be buried Monday.

If you have seen a new blue and white Ford pickup cruising down the highway, it's probably Noble Faubion at the wheel. Congratulations.

Earl and Pat Cooper spent last weekend with the Richard Chambliss family in Hawley.

The Wilbert Alcorns visited Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Denson Sunday in San Angelo. They also attended Donal Alcorn's birthday party in the Alcorn home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bryan of San Angelo spent last Sunday here with the Doug Bryans. During the week with the Doug Bryans were Kendra, Shana and Jason Nitch of Winters, Dewitt and Francis Bryan, Lelon, Doris and Vicki Bryan of Coleman, and Brent Bryan of Winters.

Bro. Bryan Ross of San Angelo was speaker at Hopewell Church Sunday. Afterwards he had lunch with Sam and Dee Faubion. Mrs. Jettie Faubion of Ballinger came in the afternoon.

Visiting with Hazel Deitz during the week and is doing better were, Arthur Kerby, Joe Bryan, Walter Jacob, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Faubion, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Faubion.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walz and son, Walker, of San Angelo spent Sunday with the L.C. Fullers. Walker will spend the rest of the week out here.

Mrs. Effie Deitz visited with Selma Osborne Saturday evening in Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wood returned home Sunday evening late after being at her sister, Jean Huffman's, side for 10 days who is seriously ill in a Temple hospital.

The Community supper will be served in the Hopewell Church fellowship hall Saturday night at 6:30 p.m. Bring one or two covered dishes and a Walt Disney film will be shown after the meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Gibbs visited the A. Z. Dean's in Robert Lee Sunday. Also her brother, Calvin McCutchen in Bronte. His wife, Irma Lee, is in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Faubion and boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Faubion spent Sunday in Abilene with the Danny Phillips family. Brandon Phillips came home out of the hospital Sunday.

I hope by the time you read this, Amber Fuller, you are feeling all well again.

Kings Messenger SS Class met in Drasco Sunday

The Kings Messenger Sunday School Class of the Drasco Baptist Church held its regular quarterly meeting Sunday night after church. Hostesses for the occasion, which was held in the fellowship hall, were Viola Lewis and Mabel Williams.

A devotional on love was given by Annie D. West.

Roll call was answered with famous Bible couples.

After the meeting, the men of the church were let in for refreshments from a table decorated with a Valentine theme.

"Heritage Family Day" museum open house topic

In a meeting held at the Winters State Bank, members of the Z. I. Hale Museum were reminded that monthly meetings would, beginning in March, be held the first Tuesday in each month at 5:30 p.m. in the museum. The meetings are always open to the public.

Joyce Bahlman, exhibits director, announced that Sunday, Feb. 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. would be open house at the museum. The theme is "Heritage Family Day" and anyone wishing to display some meaningful momentos of early family life are asked to bring them to the museum Saturday, Feb. 13, between 10 and 12 a.m.

A workday was also set for Friday, Feb. 12, at 3 p.m.

Edna England, treasurer, reported $1,689.29 remained in the treasury after cost of the new roof, $1,170.00 had been taken out. Monthly utilities for the museum average about $35.00 per month. She also announced a year's flag service had been donated by Ted Meyer.

Since the new roof had been completed, Mildred Gardner, curator, stated that the next priority was to prepare the storage space and catalogue its contents.

Maurine Davis, in charge of renovation, stated that John J. Swatshue had contributed some much needed fluorescent lights. Help is needed in getting the frames painted.

Bethany SS Class met recently

The Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the fellowship hall recently.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Omega Priddy and Mrs. Lorene Moreland.

Mrs. Myrtle Duncan presided, with Mrs. Myra Dorsett opening the meeting with prayer.

Committee reports were given by chairmen of each committee.

Roll call was answered with favorite Bible verses.

Mrs. A. L. Mitchell brought the devotional on "Love Thyself", with Mrs. Lucille Tierce in charge of the Bible games.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Myra Dorsett, Tina Milliron, Pinkie Irvin, Ethel Mae Clark, Billie Whitlow, Lila Mitchell, Myrtle Duncan, Lucille Tierce, Omega Priddy and Lorene Moreland.

Former Winters resident joins advertising firm

Media Design and Marketing, Inc., a full-service advertising and marketing firm in Abilene, has announced the addition of Sarah Harville as Vice-President/Account Services Director, according to MD&M President Tony Zook.

An experienced advertising executive, Mrs. Harville spent two years with Zachary Associates, Inc., an advertising/printing firm, four and one-half years as continuity director of KWKC/KORQ Radio, and several years in the newspaper business serving as Editor of The Merkel Mail and office manager of The Winters Enterprise. Mrs. Harville also has experience in retail accounting.

A graduate of Winters High School, Ms Harville attended McMurry College, Angelo State University, and graduated from business school in New Mexico.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Johnnie Spence of Winters and F.S. Eckols of Victorville, California. She and her husband, Don, make their home in Abilene.

Nursing Home News

February is the month filled with many and varied activities in our home.

Our Valentine's party will be Monday, Feb. 15 at 3 o'clock. The voting boxes have been set up for the election of King and Queen, and the first runners-up will reign as Prince and Princess.

The G. A. girls led by Mary Jane Blackshear from the First Baptist Church came to our home on Feb. 2, and brought us a very enjoyable program.

Our newest residents are Wilma Irving, Lena Bahlman, Stafford Hand, and Julia Hinds. We hope they can be happy in this home. We look forward to them making a speedy adjustment.

Lola Eckert has returned to the home after spending several days in North Runnels Hospital.

We are looking forward to the String Band coming down next Friday evening at 6:30. The public is invited to join us in this hour of music and relaxation.

The first public high school in the United States was opened in Boston in 1821.

HAM-BROCCOLI AND POTATO BAKE

- 1 package Betty Crocker scalloped potatoes
- 4 cups boiling water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter, melted
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 cups diced fully cooked smoked ham
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and drained
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese (about 4 ounces)
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

Heat oven to 375°. Grease pie plate, 9x1 1/4 inches. Cover potatoes with boiling water in 2 1/2-quart bowl; stir in salt. Let stand uncovered 15 minutes; drain thoroughly. Toss potatoes with melted margarine and 1 egg. Press potato mixture against bottom and side of pie plate. Bake 10 minutes.

Mix ham, broccoli, 1/2 cup of the cheese, 2 eggs and the onion. Heat 2 tablespoons margarine in 2-quart saucepan until melted. Stir in Sauce Mix, milk and mustard. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Fold into ham mixture; spoon into potato shell. Bake uncovered 30 minutes; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake until cheese is melted, about 5 minutes longer. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. 6 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Heat oven to 400°.

TURKEY-RICE CASSEROLE

- 1-1/2 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons butter or margarine
- 1-1/2 cups Minute rice
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 package (9oz.) Birds Eye small onions with cream sauce
- 1 cup Birds Eye sweet green peas
- 1-1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
- 2 tablespoons sliced pitted black olives (optional)
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine (optional)
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine 1-1/2 cups water, the salt, 2 teaspoons butter and the rice in 1-1/2-quart casserole. Cover and bake at 450° for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, heat bouillon cubes and 1/2 cup water in saucepan until cubes are dissolved. Add milk, onions, peas, turkey, olives, and the 1 tablespoon butter. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Cover and simmer about 4 minutes. Move rice to sides of casserole; pour turkey mixture into center and sprinkle with cheese. Place in preheated broiler for 2 or 3 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes 4 cups plus rice or 4 servings.

Council sets limit at five for P & Z

The Winters City Council, meeting in regular session last Monday, acted on a recommendation from City Administrator Glenn Brown, to establish the number of members of the City Planning and Zoning Commission at five.

When the city council initially created the Planning and Zoning Commission there was not a specified number of members noted in the ordinance. The question of setting the specific number of members came up after P & Z member Shorty Foster moved out of the city limits and left the commission with five members. Brown told the council that other cities, as a rule, operated with an odd number of commission members, usually five or seven. The council then unanimously agreed to limit the commission to five members, leaving no vacancy to fill.

The council again last week had the question of restricting the sale of alcoholic beverages in a residential area on its agenda and quickly disposed of the matter on a motion from councilman Jim Hatler who suggested the item be removed from the agenda. He said the issue was something with which the city was not concerned due to the fact that alcoholic beverage cannot legally be sold in Winters.

After some discussion the council gave the okay to the city administrator to finalize a lease with Edwin Deike on the city sewer farm. Deike had asked that the lease provide for him to recover surface damages in the event the city leased the property for oil exploration. The council agreed to split the damages equally with Deike to compensate for his loss to crops and land. Also the council agreed to a 50/50 split with Deike on the sale of water from the sewer farm for use in drilling operations if such a sale were a reality.

The council gave approval to a request from Walter Spill to use a temporary electric fence to keep his livestock from roaming over the entire old lake area when the water level is low enough to be below his fences that cross the water. Along with its approval the council emphasized that it did not want cows on other parts of the lake.

Before wrapping up their meeting, the council gave approval to a recommendation from the administrator to increase the salary of Albert Sudduth and allow his vehicle expenses. Sudduth maintains the city property at the Community Center, park and City Hall. Along with the salary increase of 7 percent, Sudduth will receive $60 per month for pick up expenses. Sudduth will also begin caring for the city property around both water towers and at the Senior Citizens Center.

The council gave its approval to the city administrator to advertise for bids for the sale of a front-end loader that the city had used at the landfill for quite some time. The piece of equipment is not in good condition, but could be sold for approximately $10,000 to $20,000.

Sign on the dotted line

Runnels County Judge Bill Stultz signs the proclamation designating February 15-20 as Farm Bureau Week in the county. Looking on is Allen Belk of Winters, president of the Runnels County Farm Bureau.

Rodeo Assn. calls meeting

The Winters Rodeo Association has called a special meeting to be held February 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the ag building.

Savings Bond sales failed to meet goal

Sales of Series EE & HH United States Savings Bonds in Runnels County were reported this week by County Bond Chairman E.C. (Judge)

Grindstaff to be $3,634.

Sales for the first twelve-month period totaled $73,188 for 37 percent of the 1981 goal of $200,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $19,354,166, while sales for the first twelve months of 1981 totaled $252,438,142 with 100 percent of the yearly sales goal of $252.3 million achieved.

Inflation-Fighting Food Ideas

TRY TASTY MINUTE-SAVING MACARONI TACOS

For a fresh tasting 30 minute meal, try crispy tacos filled with a Mexican accented macaroni-vegetable mixture. The conveniently canned macaroni with little meat balls combines well with the crunchy fresh vegetables. This "eat-out-of-hand" meal is certainly popular with the younger set. They can top their tacos with chopped onion or lettuce—even hot peppers if spicy food is a favorite. For kitchen cooperation, let them select and chop their own toppings. Here's a hearty at home meal that saves time and money.

RONI-TACOS

- 1-1/2 cup chopped carrots
- 1 cup chopped peppers
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 1/4 cup cooking oil
- 1 can (15 oz.) Chef Boy-ar-dee Meatball-a-roni (macaroni with little meat balls in tomato sauce)
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder (optional)
- 12 taco shells
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Sauté vegetables in cooking oil until tender. Add Meatball-A-Roni and chili powder to sautéed vegetables. Let simmer for 5 minutes. Fill Taco shells with 2 tablespoons of Meatball-a-roni mixture; top with shredded Cheddar cheese. Arrange filled tacos in shallow casserole. Place in pre-heated 300° F oven for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and serve with toppings such as chopped onion or lettuce. Fills 12 taco shells.

BUTTERFIELD STAGELINE CHILI

- 4 white onions
- 1-1/2 whole garlic bulbs
- 3 Ortega green chilies
- 10 lbs. lean brisket
- 2 lbs. fresh pork, ground
- 4 Tbsp. Wesson oil
- 12 oz. Hunts tomato sauce
- 12 oz. Hunts whole tomatoes
- 12 oz. Budweiser
- 1/2 oz. Montezuma tequila
- 2 bottles (1.7 oz.) Gebhardt chili powder
- 2 Wylers beef bouillon cubes
- 1/2 Tsp. brown sugar
- 3 Tbsp. cumin
- Pinch of salt
- Pinch of oregano
- 1/2 Tsp. dry mustard

Chop onions, garlic and chilies finely. Chop brisket, brown brisket and onions in 4 tablespoons of Wesson oil. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer, covered, for three hours, stirring occasionally. Do not stir for the last 30 minutes. Makes 15 servings.

CONSUMER CORNER

Save By Plant Care
If you ever had a new plant that died of unknown causes, then some helpful advice could save you money in the future.

When you take a new plant home, let it sit for a few days. Plants, like people, sometimes go into "shock" when they go into a new environment and have to adjust.

PUTTING A PLANT IN the right size pot is just one way to help it thrive.

Now you can check to see whether the plant needs a bigger pot. If the roots fill the old one, the answer is a definite yes. Go to the plant display in your supermarket, such as the one where you'll find House In Bloom products, to get a pot one size larger. Also select some high quality potting soil, as well as plant food that's right for your kind of plant. (There are special foods for foliage plants, flowering plants, African violets and for organic gardeners.)

You might also want the help in repotting that an all-purpose Plantool can give you. Its knife part will help loosen the rootball from the pot; then use the scoop, rake and tamper parts to make the plant at home in the pot. If you treat your plants right, and use quality products to feed and pot them, you'll have the pleasure of their beauty—and the economy of not having to replace them for years to come.

4-H members exhibit at Fort Worth

Twenty Runnels County 4-H members exhibited livestock at the big Fort Worth Fat Stock Show this past week. The group showed 4 fat steers, 3 breeding heifers, 3 barrows and 69 fat lambs.

Fifty of the entries qualified for the premium sale. Runnels County exhibited the 1st place pen of 15 Finewool lambs, 3rd place group of Crossbreed lambs and 4th place group of Medium wool lambs. Roy Walston placed his Limosine heifers 3rd & 8th, while his Hereford steer stood 14th. Also showing steers was Beth Patton and Chris Hoelscher. Brandon Poe and Deron Robinson showed Fat Barrows. Lamb showmen included: Heath Belk, Connie & Deron Robinson, Kevin Eschberger, Raense Turner, Sanford Bryan, Scott Flanagan, Betty Sue and Belinda Smith, Paul and Beth Patton, Amy Eggenmeyer, Kristi and Kathy Hays, Susan and James Bonnett, Caroline Niehues, John Andrae and Roy Walston.

SS reps schedule February visit

Garland Gregg and John Willis, Social Security representatives for the San Angelo Social Security office, have scheduled their February visit to Winters. They will be at the housing project office on Monday, Feb. 22 from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact them at this time.

PET FACTS & FIGURES

Dogs, as members of the family, carry a lot of weight around the house. But they run the gamut in the weight column from the Chihuahua, which generally tips the scale between two and four pounds, and one of the heaviest of the heavies, the St. Bernard. One St. Bernard in Wisconsin holds the record: 295 pounds.

Whatever their size, dogs do litter up their homes. Not only does dirt and hair collect on carpeting but persistent animal odors cling there too. Luckily, there's Lestoil Deodorizing Rug Shampoo, the clean way to keep odors away. Just foam it on, let it dry 15 minutes, and vacuum. Result: a clean, odor-free rug.
