Council okays street closing

The Winters City Council, in their regular meeting Monday gave approval to a request from the Winters Independent School District to close a portion of Fannin Street, between Jones and Popular streets.

The council had scheduled a public hearing on the request, but no one showed up at the hearing either in favor of or against the proposed street closing.

The school district had requested the street closing for that portion of Fannin street that runs through the school campus. School officials said the closing would allow the school to fence off the street and use it for storage of materials to be used in the renovation of the school buildings. After the renovation program is completed, school officials indicated the closed street could be used for marching practice for the band and other school activities. Superintendent Tommy Lancaster also told the council, in the meeting two weeks ago, that closing the street would cut down on the amount of traffic around the school before classes, during the lunch hour, and after classes.

On a motion by Councilman Randy Springer, seconded by E.J. Bishop the council voted to approve the street closing.

Also involved in the closing is an area that originally was dedicated for use as an alley, but had never been used. The alley runs east from that block of Fannin Street.

In other action, the council was presented a petition from property owners in the eastern section of the Vancil Addition requesting sewer service. The property is in the city limits but had never had city sewer connections. One of the petitioners, Billy Simpson, told the council that his present septic tank system would soon be out of service and not repairable and that he needed to have the city sewer service.

Administrator Glenn Brown told the council that a lift station would be needed for the sewer connections to tie in with existing lines on Cryer Street and that the total cost would be about $4,000.

In making the motion, Councilman Ted Meyer said, "Let's get it done," and the motion was seconded by E.J. Bishop.

The City Administrator told the petitioners that it may take several weeks to start work on the project, but that it would be done as soon as possible.

Those signing the petition were Billy Simpson, Evelyn Smith, Sherman Hord, and Sammy Terrill. The petitioners said that they understood that they would be responsible for the cost of their sewer tap and the sewer lines from the main line to their residences.

Family heirlooms, keepsakes shown at museum open house

The Heritage Family Memorial Plaque was on display and created much interest along with family heirlooms at the Z. I. Hale Museum open house on Sunday, with 39 guests registering.

Among the unusual and beautiful items displayed was an antique silver butter dish owned by the great-grandmother of Myra Dorsett; and used in her home in Georgia, during the Civil War period. The lower compartment was used to hold ice to keep the butter fresh.

Perhaps the oldest keepsake shown was a rolling pin, hand carved from the broken mast of a ship by a sailor, Larry Maccrea, while on a long sea voyage. He was a friend of the family and gave this to Margaret Bennie Gordon in Scotland for a wedding present in 1840. Margaret was the grandmother of Mrs. E. J. Barnes and the great-grandmother of Mrs. Buford Baldwin.

Roy Young displayed a gold writing pen that was given to his mother in 1888 when she was 17 years old by one of her brothers. She was attending college in Hillsboro. She died in 1963 at the age of 92.

A wedding gift to her parents, Otto Turk and Minna Schroeder, Dec. 4, 1896, was a cut glass pitcher presented by Mrs. Bill Bredemeyer. It was a double wedding at Cheapside, Texas with Charles Kruse Sr. and Doretta Schroeder.

Nina Bedford contributed a rock crystal cup bought by her grandfather Meeks at the Texas State Fair in 1906. Also a pewter communion cup thought to have been used by the First Baptist Church in 1890 found in a trash barrel by the pastor, W. T. Hamor, and given to Mrs. Fred Bedford.

Mrs. Loyd Roberson exhibited a black velvet purse that belonged to her mother-in-law when she was a girl, over 100 years old. Also a black silk cape that was also as

A Letter From Washington

There is always an element of surprise in my mail and many times a delight as I receive letters and clippings from those who read my newspaper column and know of my interest in history.

Such a letter came from Dolly Standley of Puyallup, Washington recently. She is the daughter of Lucille Virden and grew up here.

Dolly writes that she has been busy since Dec. 14, when they sold their house on the hill and moved into town. She has been redecorating; painting, adding carpets, drapes and cabinets. And will have plenty to do in the yard and garden when she has finished — but it was a lovely, sunny day and she wanted to sit by the fireplace and visit.

Dolly's husband, Dan, was in the service until he retired and they lived in many different places, so it comes natural for their children to travel. She says they are waiting for Sherry to come home in May from Turkey, but in the meantime she is going on a three weeks vacation in London, Paris, Switzerland, Austria and a week of skiing in Germany.

Pam, the 20-year-old daughter, was taking a plane for Los Angeles on the 19th to attend the wedding of her boy friend's brother, and a tour of the city attractions. Dolly says that Pam and Dan H. have been going together for three years, but both want to get better set up in careers before marriage.

"Times have changed since I met Dan," says Dolly. "We knew each other about three months before we married and neither of us thought about a career. Here 28 years later, I still haven't got around to one."

The Standleys have two other children: David, who is 23 and a ten-year-old daughter.

As she was reading the Tacoma News Tribune, Dolly saw an article written by Jack Pyle about a little drug old or older, and other items such as a chocolate pot, ladle from her mother's silver chest and vase of carnival glass.

One item from the W. W. Poe collection was an Elgin watch and fob that is to be handed down to the youngest son in each generation.

There were many more historic items of interest but perhaps the most unusual was the written acceptance of a date by Lillie Brown from Albert Spill (mother and father of John and Mildred Gardner). It was in the days when a boy asked a girl for a date in writing, so the Gardners have proof that the families are friends of long standing. The letter was dated Feb. 22, 1896.

The next open house at the museum will be held March 14, and will have a theme of "School Days".

store down by the Water, where she enjoyed going for an old fashioned strawberry soda and wanted to share the story with me.

The town is only about a block from her and a lovely view of Puget Sound. She says there are so many interesting areas, some are picturesque, and full of Victorian homes with board sidewalks, that she never runs out of places to see and things to do.

Even though the store his father, W. L. Bair, built in 1895 still is doing business in Steilacoom — the first town to be incorporated in the state of Washington — it isn't the same anymore, said G. L. (Cub) Bair displaying a factory-labeled plastic bottle of pills in his gnarled 91-year-old hand.

Bair lamented the passing of the oldtime drugstore that served as a community meeting place where people would gather around the old pot-bellied stove.

It looks the same, of course, with all the mysterious bottles and shelves and candy cases and soda fountain, but that's because Bair Drug and Hardware Co. is a historical museum and is listed in the National Historic Register.

It was restored to its original appearance by the Town of Steilacoom. Souvenirs, ice cream and sandwiches are sold there, but not pharmaceutical items.

"Steilacoom was the headquarters for all the communities between Olympia and Tacoma and all the islands in South Puget Sound," Bair said. "Everybody for 10 or 15 miles around came here for supplies. We had to have six saloons here in the early 1900s, and we never had any problem with anybody."

The end of the line for the streetcar from Tacoma was right in front of the Bair drugstore then, and there was plenty of business.

Medicine in the early 1900s was just something "we would stir up and dispense," Bair said. "They took it by the spoonful — not in these pills like we have for everything today — They could take a dose in the store, but usually carried it home with them."

"We had cigars and tobacco and candies," said Bair. "When I was a kid, my dad put me in charge of the candy counter. We had a nice business in candy. We bought it from candy plants in Tacoma."

Bair said that since Steilacoom is bordered on the south of Fort Lewis, "We would have as many as 75 to 80 soldiers at a time waiting at the soda fountain" during World War II.

"But drug store? Well, they'll never come back like they were," laments Bair.

The great French writer Emile Zola and the great French painter Paul Cezanne were boyhood friends.

At General Telephone... We're Not Simply Talking About Service Improvements We're Making Them In Winters

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal, it's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects, modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For Winters this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

The Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has established certain standards in public hearings, and our service results are listed against those standards.

MRS. LEE ALLEN JOST

Wilde, Jost married in double-ring ceremony

Susan Marie Wilde of San Angelo became the bride of Lee Allen Jost of Rowena during a double-ring ceremony Saturday, Feb. 13 at 3 p.m. in St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Wall with Rev. Benedict Zientik and Rev. Leo Diering officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Velma L. Wilde and the late Fenton A. Wilde of San Angelo. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Jost of Rowena.

A brass archway entwined with ivy decorated the altar with two heart-shaped candelabra and wine colored gladiola arrangements. Candles lined the aisle to the archway where the couple knelt before the altar.

Given in marriage by her mother and brother, Alan Wilde, the bride wore a formal length gown of silk organza. The Queen Anne neckline and empire waistline were outlined with French chintilly lace scattered with pearls. Her full skirt and attached cathedral length train featured medallions of French chintilly forming a diamond design, matching lace trim overlaid a full circular flounce of silk organza on the fitted sleeves, skirt and train. Her headpiece and veil were of tulle and matching lace.

The bride carried a nosegay of white carnations and white roses. For something old, she wore her late grandmother's (Mrs. Ida Jacob) gold ring and a wedding band belonging to Mrs. Emma Jost, the late grandmother of the groom. For something new, she wore a pair of pearl earrings given to her by the groom. For something borrowed, the bride wore her mother's strand of pearls. Her

QUICK QUIZ

TRUE or FALSE?

Of the 55,000 people who die a year, a reliable estimate is that 5,500 might never have developed cancer if cigarette smoking had not been romanticized (sometimes for secret payments) in motion pictures.
True  False

False. Although painful deaths from lung cancer have risen along with rising cigarette sales, there is no scientific proof of how many deaths from lung cancer are attributable to romanticizing smoking in motion pictures.

Microwave Menu

Winter snows and frigid temperatures have been in full force in many parts of the country. As the mercury dips, our minds turn to thoughts of palm trees, island beaches and warm surf. If you are like most, the family budget won't stretch as far as the South Seas. But don't despair. You can escape to the Islands with easy Pork Polynesian.

Since microwaves are reflected by metal be sure to cook this recipe in a heat-resistant glass or ceramic baking dish. You can use this space age appliance to complete your microwave menu. Heat up the chow mein noodles, bake the bananas and even brew tea in individual cups in your microwave oven.

THE LOEFFLER
Congressman
The District-Texas

Reports from Washington

During the recent congressional recess, I had the opportunity to travel and visit extensively with a broad range of people all across the 21st Congressional District. I found strong support for President Reagan and a sincere belief in the program for economic recovery. We have charted a course to correct our troubled economy and regain our prosperity. Given the time to work, it will.

A recent Sunday edition of The Washington Post confirmed what people at home have been telling me all along. A story by syndicated columnist David Broder on the continued popularity of the Reagan economic program in the Midwest said the President's bipartisan program "is still playing in Peoria." National polling data collected recently also confirms what we already know in the 21st District and throughout our region.

When asked to name the most important problem facing the country today, seven out of every 10 Americans gave a response relating to the economy. This result was nearly identical to a year ago when 67 percent cited some economic issues as the country's number one problem.

The poll was conducted at random among 1,500 people across America.

While concern about inflation and high interest rates are major issues, concern over unemployment has risen sharply. In January 1981, only 4 percent of the public listed unemployment as the number one problem; now, 17 percent consider dealing with this issue to be the national priority.

The findings also showed that while the public continues to be concerned about the economy, of more importance is the public perception of what the Reagan Administration is attempting to do about it.

Last January, prior to the inauguration of Ronald Reagan, only 26 percent of the people felt that things in this country were going in the right direction. Now, a year later that figure has nearly doubled. Generally speaking, 50 percent of the people said things were going in the right direction while 45 percent said the administration was on the wrong track. Just a year ago, 61 percent of those questioned were pessimistic about the country's economic direction.

On the issue of the economy in particular, nearly six out of every 10 Americans presently feel the program for economic recovery will help, not hurt, the national economy. This figure has remained high despite media reports of increased dissatisfaction with the program.

It is logical to ask, "If there is faith in the current economic program, why does the public continue to worry about the economic issues?" The figures show that two major reasons account for this.

First, the public does not feel that President Reagan's whole package has been enacted. Only 37 percent say the President has gotten "almost all" of his program passed, while nearly 60 percent feel only half or less of the program has been passed.

The second major factor is the amount of time the public was willing to let pass before making judgments about the effect of the program. Two-thirds of the public was willing to give the economic program a year or more before they anticipated seeing its effects.

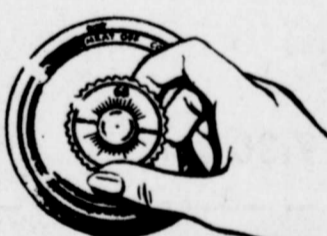

In the meantime, the President remains highly popular. On specific characteristics — such as being effective, trustworthy and a strong leader — his ratings remain high. Over two-thirds of the public considers these to be "excellent" or "good" descriptions of the President.

In the 21st District we learned long ago that good things don't come easy. No one ever promised us we could reverse a half century of runaway government spending quickly. We have lived far too long with an artificial perception of good times and easy money that just wasn't there. We're having to pay for that now. But I firmly believe that given the time to work we will soon see the beginnings of a new period of economic health and prosperity.

Energy Saving tips on Electric Heating.

Check your thermostat setting. Recommended temperature setting for winter heating is 68°. Remember, the lower you set the thermostat in the winter the lower your energy cost.

Have your heating system checked regularly! Proper servicing is good preventive maintenance.

Keep filters clean. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions. If it's disposable, replace when dirty.

Use the warmth of the sunshine! On sunny days open the drapes. The sun shining through the glass will supply additional heat at no cost.

Have your home properly insulated! Adequate home insulation keeps the warm in, cuts energy use... can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.

Remember, Reddy Supplies the Energy, only you can use it wisely!

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

This columnist arrived in the Alamo City Monday to attend and report on the 1982 edition of the stock show and rodeo.

In over 25 years of attending this annual event, I can only remember two years in which the weather was warm. One of those was the first time I attended, when Rex Allen was the star. It was so warm that year, a group of us had a picnic on the river. But most years it was so cold icicles hung around the doors in the sheep and goat barn where I spent most of my time. This is one of those kind of years.

The San Antonio Stock Show is famous for the trail rides. I mean real trail rides that organize early and are on the trails and country roads for a week or more, camping and roughing it. We complain about the cold but most of us have forgotten how really cold it can get when you're in the saddle for eight hours.

This year's trails were filled with over 8,000 horsemen and horsewomen, lead by 11 trail bosses and covering 1,000 miles. All different routes, the rides started all over South and Central Texas and passed through over 100 Texas towns to finish the trail in San Antonio on the opening day of the stock show and rodeo last Friday.

Leading the 28th annual Texas Trail Ride was trail boss Ralph Gertson. The ride was from Hallettsville to San Antonio, with Sonya Weich of Weimer as queen.

In its 23rd year was the South Texas Trail Ride from Robstown on February 5 with trail boss Howard Stulting. Trail boss Ronnie Morris lead the 21st annual Six Flags of Texas Trail Ride from Victoria to San Antonio.

They came from Cuero, Laredo, Bee Cave, and the Texas Hill Country communities of Stonewall, Bandera, Bastrop and Kerrville.

It's quite a sight to see all these 8,000 cowboys and cowgirls arriving, their chuck wagons and other traveling wagons bringing up the rear of each outfit. The colors of their different riding club uniforms finishing off with hats, boots and chaps along with the beautiful horse, every color too, add so much to this annual event deep in the heart of Texas.

Certainly, as spectators attend the stock show and rodeo here and walk across the large fairgrounds and exhibit halls, coliseum and many livestock show barns, they realize the parade of trail riders are just another part of the overall success of the show. For example, the Southwest's largest Western Art Show is part of this annual event.

The stock show's livestock judging results and the blue and other ribbons won by thousands of youths here every year represent many months of feeding, grooming and preparation. The same goes for all the professional cowboys who ride the broncs and bucking bulls, rope the calves and ride barrels. It's a big production and one the folks of Bexar County can truly be proud of.

Michael Deike selected for feature article

Michael Deike, Area Young Farmer from the Winters Chapter, was recently selected by Farm Journal editor, Roger Neilsen, for an article in their Hog Extra. Deike's Swine Confinement Operation was discussed in the November and December issues with a follow-up article in the January issue.

The articles centered around Deike's gestation feed practices which saves in cost of feed and provides immunity to specific diseases for unborn pigs; ultimately saving in his medication programs. This type feeding is further elaborated on in the January issue of Farm Journal.

Deike runs 70 to 90 sows in a semi-confined environment on a farm located in Runnels County, and has been in the hog business for approximately 8 years.

Laws regarding SS numbers now stricter

Stricter laws regarding the misuse of Social Security numbers or cards are now in effect, according to Frank Upp, manager of the San Angelo Social Security office. A law signed by President Reagan in late December, 1981, provides criminal penalties for: (1) using a Social Security card obtained with false information, (2) using someone else's Social Security number, (3) buying, selling, or counterfeiting Social Security cards, or (4) possessing a regular or counterfeit card with intent to sell or alter it.

An unlawful act affecting the Social Security card or number is now considered a felony, rather than a misdemeanor, added Upp.

Penalties for conviction can be a fine of up to $5,000 or a prison term of up to 5 years or both.

According to Upp, individuals wishing to report misuse of Social Security cards or numbers should call the Social Security office listed in the telephone book, or the HHS Hot Line in Washington, D.C. at (202) 472-4222.

HIGHLIGHT THE VEGETABLES

Vegetables—vegetables—why not highlight the vegetable next time you're planning that party fare or family fixin'.

Try this Creamy Broccoli Bake for a good start. The broccoli is tossed into a creamy yogurt sauce that is topped with herbed crumbs of Cheese NIPS Artificially Flavored Crackers.

Nutritionists recommend increasing fiber in the diet by eating more grains, fruits and vegetables. Also, don't forget to "cook them right," to get the maximum vitamin content. A helpful hint for broccoli is to peel that thin outer layer of the stalks. By removing the tough skin the stalks and flowerlets will be cooked in the same amount of time. Don't overcook—here's to your health!!

CREAMY BROCCOLI BAKE

- 2 pounds fresh broccoli, coarsely chopped
- 1 (10 3/4-ounce) can condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 (8-ounce) container plain yogurt
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire
- 1 (4-ounce) jar DROMEDARY Diced Pimientos
- 3 1/2 cups Cheese NIPS Artificially Flavored Crackers, finely rolled (about 2 cups crumbs)
- 1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 2 teaspoons basil leaves

Place broccoli in boiling salted water; cover and cook 10 minutes; drain.

Combine next five ingredients; blend in broccoli. Place in a 2-quart shallow baking dish. Combine next three ingredients; spoon over top. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until bubbly. Makes 10 (about 5-ounce) servings.

Applesauce Meringue Pie

Applesauce is a good buy in supermarkets and it's available in a variety of styles and containers. This recipe for Applesauce Meringue Pie uses 4 cups, so buy a large jar (35 ounces) and you'll save opening another container. Either smooth or chunky styles of sauce may be used. And the filling goes well with a pastry crust or a crumb type crust made of gingersnaps.

Applesauce pie has a custard-like consistency. Raisins and slivered almonds offer a pleasant texture contrast. The filling may be topped with meringue or whipped cream. To intensify apple flavor the sauce is cooked first about ten minutes before adding other ingredients. Use a skillet or shallow saucepan as the wide top surface speeds up evaporation of juice. Then add egg yolks, lemon rind and salt and cook so egg yolks can finish the thickening process. Add raisins. Pour the filling into a pastry or crumbed pie pan and add the meringue.

APPLESAUCE MERINGUE PIE

- 1 pastry-lined 8 or 9-inch pie plate
- 4 cups canned applesauce
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 slivered almonds

Cook applesauce for about 10 minutes, stirring to evaporate the juice. Separate eggs. Beat yolks with a fork and add salt and lemon rind. Add to the applesauce and cook until quite thick—a custard consistency. Add raisins and pour filling into prepared pie shell. Beat egg whites, gradually adding confectioners' sugar to make a stiff meringue. Cover surface of filling with meringue and sprinkle with slivered almonds. Bake at 425 degrees about 10 minutes or until golden brown. Cool before serving. Serves 6 persons.

Sundials were once used to check the accuracy of clocks.

Selective Service list open to public viewing

The Selective Service System is continuing to make available for public inspection lists of registrants and their tentative local board assignments. This is in keeping with the intent of Selective Service that its procedures be open to the public.

The list may be viewed at the County Courthouse.

The lists cover registrations processed through September 30, 1981, and include men born in 1960, 1961, 1962, and 1963.

Local board assignments are arranged by ZIP code based upon the registrant's permanent address.

The requirement to register applies to U.S. citizens, and to aliens residing in the United States, born on or after January 1, 1960. Men born in 1960 and 1961 were scheduled to register during July 1980; men born in 1962 were scheduled to register during January 1981; those born in 1963 were scheduled to be registered during 1981. Men born in 1964 are required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. They may do so at any U.S. Post Office.

On January 7, 1982, President Reagan announced his decision to continue peacetime Selective Service Registration. In announcing his decision, the President declared a grace period during which late registration would be accepted without penalty.
