Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. The award was presented to Colburn by Charlsie Poe.

GTE tells city of rate request

Melvin Jennings, Division Manager of General Telephone of the Southwest, met with the Winters City Council Monday evening to bring the council up to date on the latest request for a rate increase filed recently by the telephone utility with the Public Utility Commission in Austin. Jennings said the increase request totalled $110 million dollars and that such an increase was necessary to allow GTE to realize a fair rate of return on their investment.

The division manager broke the total amount of $110 million into areas of need within the company. Of the amount requested, $43 million would be earmarked to come from basic local service rates, saying the phone company would attempt to place the bulk of the cost on the cost causers, $30 million would be derived from intra-state tolls, he said that GTE wanted the same rate of return in this area as is received by Southwestern Bell telephone, at present, GTE is not allowed the same intra-state rates.

The increase also would include $14 million to cover a recent mandate from the Federal Communications Commission requiring the phone company to accelerate depreciation on expendable materials such as the wiring used in a house or business. Another $18 million would involve the terminal system and the final $5 million would come from miscellaneous charges such as directory equipment and charges for directory assistance.

The charges for directory assistance would, if allowed, give the customer the first three assistance calls free, then charge 20 cents for each call to directory assistance.

When asked by the council how the proposed increase would affect local telephone customers, Jennings said the increase would be about 26 percent.

The present rate for basic residential service is $6.95, with the proposed increase the rate would be a total of $9.45. Of that amount, Jennings said, $8.30 would be for the basic service and the additional $1.15 for extended area service. The extended area service refers to toll-free calls to Wingate, Bradshaw, and Crews areas.

The increase for the basic business telephone would also increase about 26 percent. The rate now is $18.30 and under the new proposal would jump to $22 plus an additional $3.05 for the extended area service.

When asked if this extended area service charge could apply only to those who desire the added service, Jennings said that each telephone customer would pay for the service regardless. He said the only way to not have to pay the price for such service would be for the city and these areas to agree to dropping the service.

Officers checking rural burglaries

Runnels County sheriff's deputies are investigating at least two burglaries of rural residences that have occurred in the past two to three weeks.

Deputy Johnny Wilson said that two small mobil homes were broken into and a considerable amount of property taken about 15 miles northeast of Winters. Wilson said that a small television, radio, and other electric appliances were taken along with groceries, dishes, butane bottles, and fishing equipment.

Wilson said that one of the homes belonged to Jim Elliott of Abilene and the other belonged to T.D. Chambers of Lawn. Both of the mobil homes were used as weekend retreats and a specific time the break-ins occurred could not be determined other than the past two to three weeks.

Local officers were checking with Coleman County Sheriff's officers to determine if recent arrests connected with similar burglaries were connected and if any stolen property had been recovered.

Bud Everett is candidate for county treasurer

Bud Everett has announced his candidacy for the office of Runnels County Treasurer in the May Democratic Primary Election.

Everett is presently serving an unexpired term as county treasurer, having been appointed to the office in Oct., 1981, by the Runnels County Commissioners Court.

Tuckey at Home Furniture Company until 1969, when he and John King purchased King-Holt Furniture Co. Concern over 'Blue Stars' expressed here

By Kerry Craig

Winters Police Chief L.C. Foster contacted The Enterprise earlier this week concerning the copy of a letter he had received from Ballinger Police Chief Paul Boggess. The letter had originated in Midland, the office of Allen Farnel, a registered pharmacist and owner of Allen's Pharmacy.

Chief Foster used the information contained in the letter to compose his own notice to parents:

"The following information has been brought to our attention. We urge you to take notice. Your alertness and proper education of your children could keep them from serious damage or even death."

"We have been informed that a form of tattoo transfer called 'Blue

City to contract water meter reading

The Winters City Council, in their regular meeting Monday okayed the signing of a contract with Mrs. Jim Hamner to handle the reading of city water meters. The contract will call for a salary of $300 per month plus 20 cents per mile for vehicle expense.

City Administrator Glenn Brown told the council that the city water department employees had been kept very busy with other work and there was not enough time for the reading of the meters.

Brown said that the water crews also will be working very soon at installing some new sewer and water lines in the city, and that along with routine repairs would not leave time for the meter reading chores.

The council gave unanimous approval to the contract with Mrs. Hamner to read the water meters.

1982 tax exemptions and applications

Runnels County Chief Appraiser, Clayton Brazelton, is advising area land owners to come in to the office by April 30 to file for ag use or open space evaluation on their farm land.

Also, everyone who owned and lived in their home as of January 1, 1982 is eligible to file for a homestead exemption.

Churches, service organizations, and veterans organizations are reminded that they must file for property exemptions by the April 30 deadline also.

Area farmers are asked to render their farm equipment and to file for farm implement exemptions.

All these filings must be done by April 30 on forms that are available at the Runnels County Appraisal District office which is located on the corner of South 6th and Strong Avenue in Ballinger.

For more information, contact the Runnels County Appraisal District office at 365-3583 in Ballinger.

Two transferred to Huntsville prison

Runnels County Sheriff Hershel Hall said Tuesday that his department had transferred two men from the Runnels County Jail to the Texas Department of Corrections facility in Huntsville to begin serving prison terms assessed them in Runnels County District Court.

Danny Escobar is to begin serving a four-year sentence in connection with a burglary at Keel Drug in Ballinger last summer and John Ray Christian of Talpa is to serve 15 years in connection with the robbery of the Allsup's convenience store in Ballinger before Christmas.

Star' has become readily available in neighboring states and areas and could possibly be here. This is a small sheet of white paper containing numerous blue stars the size of a pencil eraser. Each star is impregnated with LSD and can be removed from the paper and be placed in the mouth. Absorption can also occur through the skin by simply handling the paper or tattoo."

"There are also brightly colored paper tabs resembling postage stamps in size, which have pictures of Superman, Mickey Mouse (dressed in sorcerer's clothes), Dopey and possibly other cartoon characters."

"The stamps are packed in a red cardboard box with a picture of Mickey Mouse wrapped in foil in a clear zip-lock type bag. They come in five-inch square sheets with one hundred perforated 1/4 inch stamps."

"This is a new way of selling acid. A young child could happen upon these and have a fatal trip. It is also feared that little children could be given a free 'tattoo' by older children who want to have some fun at someone else's expense. It is important that all parents and students be alerted in case their children or brothers and sisters should become involved in such a scheme, even in an innocent way."

"Parents, this is particularly for your information. PLEASE BE ON THE ALERT. THIS MESSAGE IS NOT INTENDED TO ALARM ANYONE...SIMPLY TO ALERT AND INFORM."

Upon receipt of a copy of the letter The Enterprise contacted a number of sources including The Associated Press, The Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics Division, The San Angelo Police Department, The Big Spring Police Department, and pharmacist Allen Farnel in Midland.

In Big Spring, the head of that city's narcotic division said that in the past several weeks raids have netted a number of the 'Blue Stars' referred to in the letter. In one raid alone over 100 of these stars, complete with LSD, were confiscated along with smaller amounts in other raids.

The Big Spring narcotic officer said his department considered the 'Blue Star' to be a threat and noted that his department is noting an overall increase in the use and availability of LSD and other mind-altering chemicals.

The Associated Press in Dallas said their first report of any problem of this nature came from Carrollton, just north of Dallas, where the letter was thought to have originated. The A.P. said that a number of their news correspondents around the state had reported information concerning the 'Blue Stars'.

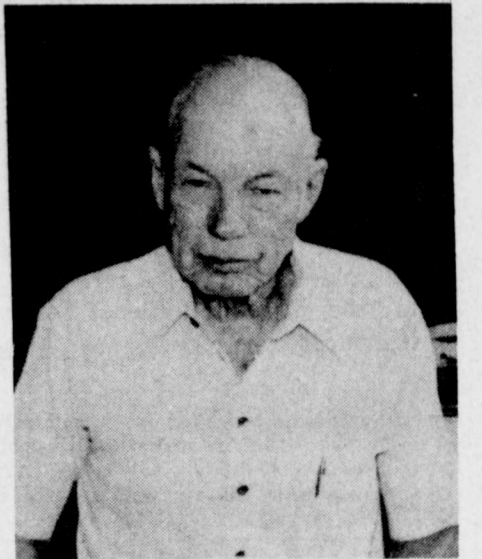

San Angelo Police Chief Travis Johnson said that although his narcotics division had not seen the 'stars', they were being considered a serious threat. Chief Johnson also said that his officers were noting a large increase in the use of LSD and similar chemicals. He said that in the past two weeks, search warrants and subsequent raids had netted officers a considerable amount of mind altering drugs and that his officers were on the look out for the 'stars'.

The Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics Division spokesman said that he could neither confirm or deny the existence of the 'Blue Stars'. He said that as a general rule chemicals such as LSD was being found on blotter paper and stamps. Although the DPS would neither confirm or deny the 'Star' theory, he said that state narcotics officers were on the look out for them. He did say that statewide, officers had also noted an increase in the use of LSD and other mind altering chemicals.

In Midland, Allen Farnel told The Enterprise that he first received notice of the 'Blue Stars' from a nursery school his children attended. He said that he was very concerned about the method of use of such drugs and expressed a fear that small or very small children could be seriously damaged or even killed as the result of contact with the chemical.

In Winters, Police Chief L.C. Foster regards the idea as serious and is proceeding with his own letter in an attempt to warn everyone about the 'Blue Stars'. Foster has already spoken to a group of Boy Scouts, parents, and visitors to the Scout meeting about the 'Blue Stars'.

In my opinion, Chief Foster is taking the proper steps. The information that I have received from the above mentioned authorities convinces me that there is a threat to not only children but others who might accidentally come into contact with the 'Blue Stars' that had been treated with a mind altering chemical.

Although there is no cause for panic or alarm, the potential is there for a real problem, especially if one of these items were to fall into the hands of a small child. In the truest sense, a dose of mind altering chemical such as LSD could be very harmful, even fatal, to a small child. If we are aware of such a possibility, we stand a much better chance of avoiding something like this.

Alarmist? No, I don't think so. Forewarned is forearmed.

Maybe there is nothing to this 'Blue Star' idea...or is there? Police in Big Spring picked up one hundred or more of them in one raid and by car that city is less than two hours away from Winters.

I think that men such as Allen Farnel deserve much respect for speaking out, for making an effort to at least let people know what might be happening.

I also feel that Police Chief L.C. Foster should be commended for not waiting to see what someone else might do, but taking the steps he felt were necessary to distribute what he feels is very serious, very important information.

Total loss

Winters firemen pour the water to a car fire last week. The pickup, belonging to Gene Wheat, was thought to be a total loss. The vehicle caught fire behind the Bob Loyd LP Gas Co. offices. Firemen stated that a flammable chemical was being used to clean the engine and the engine was started before the chemical evaporated, resulting in the fire.

Honor The Texas Flag
Did you pause to honor the Texas Flag on March 2, which is a part of Texas Week as designated by the legislature?

Perhaps you do not have a Texas Flag and do not know the Pledge of Allegiance - If so, then we should start educating ourselves about the history of our flag.

The only Texas Flag that I have is a small one that stands in a replica of Texas styrofoam base, a banquet favor, but I placed it on the breakfast table and recited the pledge of allegiance:

"HONOR THE TEXAS FLAG;
I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO THEE,
TEXAS, ONE AND INDIVISIBLE."

Thanks to the "Six Flags Over Texas" entertainment center between Fort Worth and Dallas, most of us have been reminded that the six flags of Texas were the Spanish, French, Mexican, Lone Star, United States and the Confederate. Few, however, know of the history of the lone star flag and its many predecessors.

First, let's make a distinction between the different kinds of flags. There were many individual banners made to fly as battle flags during the Texas Revolution. At the same time, there were at least three designs for national flags used prior to the adoption of the "Lone Star".

The first battle flag is considered to be the "Come and Take it" flag, flown by Texas volunteers at the battle of Gonzales on October 2, 1835. The skirmish was over a cannon which the defiant Texans refused to turn over to the Mexican authorities. The flag was made of white cotton and in the center was a painted picture of the controversial cannon with the challenging words, "Come and take it."

The second flag of which we have record is the first banner to carry the Lone Star. It was made at Harrisburg in the later part of 1835 and was presented to the company of Captain Andrew Robinson. A five-pointed white star was set in a field of red.

Another famous battle flag flew at San Jacinto on April 21, 1836. It is made of white silk with a painted figure of a woman, symbolizing liberty, in its center. She holds a sword over which is draped a streamer with the words "Liberty or Death".

This flag was made by ladies of Newport, Kentucky for the Kentucky volunteers who joined forces with General Sam Houston.

The flag was presented on April 21, 1833, to the state of Texas by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. It has been restored and now hangs in the state capitol.

Other battle flags include the James L. McGahey Flag of 1835, flown in conception and perhaps the siege of Bexar.

William Ward's Georgia Battalion Flag waved in 1836 at Velasco and Goliad. The New Orleans Grays' Flag flew in San Antonio and the Red Rovers carried their solid red flag from Alabama in the Battle of Coloto and at Goliad.

While each of the battle flags served their purpose to identify the troops, a national flag for the independent nation was necessary. Stephen F. Austin initiated the concept of a national flag in 1836, but his design was never officially adopted.

At the Convention of 1836, at Washinton-On-The-Brazos, Lorenzo De Zavala proposed a new design for a flag. Because of the hasty dispersion of the convention to escape Santa Anna, there are no records that it was ever displayed.

The first official flag of the Republic, known as David G. Burnet's flag, was adopted on December 10, 1836, by the First Congress. It had an azure background with a large golden star in the center.

All of these national flags, while different in some degree, had incorporated the use of a single star.

The Texas "Lone Star" flag, as we know it today, dates back to 1839. In 1838, a committee with Oliver Jones as chairman, worked out a design for a new standard. That design was approved on January 25, 1839 by Mirabeau B. Lamar, President of the Republic.

The Lone Star flag is divided into three equal parts, called bars. One bar is blood red signifying bravery, one azure blue indicating loyalty, and the third is white meaning purity. The blue bar, perpendicular to the staff, is known as the flag's right.

It has in its center a white star with five points. One point is always at the top when the flag is displayed. Historically, the star signifies that Texas was alone in the Mexican Confederation and that the Star of Liberty was rising.

The Texas legislature in 1933, passed a law providing for a salute to the Texas Flag to be used on appropriate occasions.

There is no more appropriate occasion than Texas Flag Day!

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Irion County ranchmen Hal and Monte Noelke and their "Great Mesquite Wars" are featured in the latest issue of Time magazine.

"Mesquite is a brush, a shrub, a tree, an infestation and a tremendous thirst," explains the article. "It ends down roots as deep as 40 feet; it sucks up the earth's moisture as if it were drinking through a straw."

"During the great drought of the 1950s, hardly a shower fell on Tom Green County for eight years; only the Mesquite lived well. Mesquite resembles an otherwise handsome tree afflicted by terrible arthritis, but it possesses a sort of peasant vitality. It is a vigorous, complacent survivor, an efficient brute of evolution, like the shark."

"The ranchers in West Texas do not exactly like to talk about Mesquite; to do so is a little like discussing roaches with a New Yorker."

Well, I agree with much of the article but parts thereof are not all together truthful. Mesquite have been a problem to West Texas for many years, no doubt. But not to the degree of a roach or a shark in their environments.

We kept a number of head of livestock alive on Mesquite beans during the drought. And the old "arthritis" branches provided a shade on hot days while having a picnic or trying to catch a fish at the creek. As a kid, one of the best swings I ever had was hung from an old Mesquite limb.

I will not take issue with that business of them "sucking up the earth" moisture as if it were drinking through a straw."

Back in 1971 when I was editor of the Sheep & Goat Raisers magazine, I co-authored a story with Soil Conservationist Barney Jefferson. The story centered on Rocky Creek, about 20 miles west of San Angelo in the panhandle of Tom Green County, southeast corner of Sterling County and the northeast portion of Irion County.

Six months before the story was written, Rocky Creek was dry. It is believed that the tributary to the Middle Concho River started running because of sound conservation. Yes, a lot of Mesquite was removed.

Rocky Creek was well known in the early days, having flowed year-long until the early 1930s, when it became an intermittent stream, flowing only during years of above normal rainfall and then going dry.

Brush invasion started about 40 years ago and spread over the deep valley soils and up the slopes to the more shallow soils. About 20 landowners took some 90 percent of the land and developed conservation plans.

Finally when Rocky Creek started running at a rate of over 2,000 gallons per minute, all those concerned agreed it was because Mesquite trees used heavy amounts of water. The tale of Rocky Creek would complement the Time magazine article. If nothing else, it would tone-down the yankee writer's interpretation of the "great Mesquite wars".

Our sincere and heartfelt thanks to friends and relatives in the Winters, Wingate and Wilmet areas for their kind thoughtfulness in the death of our mother, Delilah Gooch. Your words of comfort, the flowers, food and memorials were all deeply appreciated.

Gov. Clements to keynote annual meeting

Governor William P. Clements will be the keynote speaker at the 49th annual meeting of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association on Sunday and Monday, March 7-8, at the Abilene Civic Center.

Harry Bettis of Graham, president of the WeCTGOA, said the association has lined up an outstanding panel of speakers.

In addition to Governor Clements, speakers will include Harold E. (Gene) Wright of Gilmer, Vance Maulsby of Dallas, and Tom Haywood of Wichita Falls.

Wright will speak on the possibility of price controls being lifted from natural gas. Wright, a petroleum engineer, is chairman of the Natural Gas Supply Association and chairman of the Natural Gas Committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Maulsby, a partner with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., a leading accounting firm, will discuss the so-called "windfall profit" tax. He is Peat Marwick's national "windfall profit" tax liaison tax partner.

Haywood, executive vice president of North Texas Oil & Gas Association, has been instrumental in leading the fight against oil field theft. He will discuss the industry's efforts to curtail the recent rise in the theft rate.

Wright, Maulsby, and Haywood will be the featured speakers at the Monday morning session at 9:30 a.m.

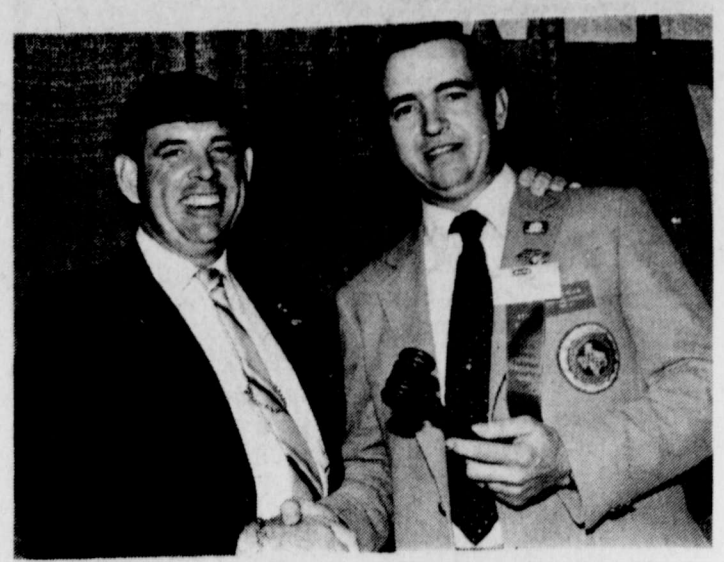

Governor Clements will deliver the keynote address at the noon luncheon on Monday. Clements, a native of Dallas, elected Governor in 1978, has announced his candidacy for re-election this year. In 1973, he was appointed Deputy Secretary of Defense, a position he held under two presidents. He established SEDCO in 1947 and it is now a worldwide drilling contractor.

Also highlighting the meeting will be the election of a new slate of officers.

The annual meeting will begin with registration at the Abilene Civic Center from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 7. A cocktail party will be held from 6-7 p.m. in the West Hall of the Civic Center. The barbecue/dance will begin at 7 p.m.

On Monday, breakfast will be served from 7 to 9 a.m. at the Abilene Petroleum Club. The general session will be held from 9:30 to 11:45 a.m. in the Civic Center Auditorium. The membership luncheon will begin at noon in the Civic Center Foyer. WeCTGOA's Board of Directors meeting at 2 p.m. in the Civic Center Auditorium will conclude the meeting.

Registration is $25 per person and is open to all WeCTGOA members and their guests.

Speed up tax refund; use label, be accurate

Taxpayers can help speed up the processing of tax returns by using the pre-addressed, peel-off labels and by double checking their arithmetic before mailing the returns. As simple as the items appear, they are the cause for thousands of errors every year, the IRS says.

The label comes with the tax package in the mail and lists the taxpayer's name, address, social security number and other bits of information which help the IRS in processing the return quickly.

If any of the information on the label is incorrect, the correction can be made directly on the label. Taxpayers should also use the coded envelope included in the tax package. It's pre-addressed and helps the IRS sort returns.

Errors such as checking the wrong filing status, failing to sign the return, math mistakes, and the omission of necessary documents are common mistakes which can delay taxpayers' refunds. The IRS must correct the errors or obtain the documents before processing the return.

Most errors can be avoided if the return is double checked for accuracy and the label is used.
