Winters ISD named in $1.8 million suit

Members of the Winters Independent School District Board of Trustees learned in a special board meeting Monday that the school district has been named in a law suit filed by B & B Developers of Temple seeking a total of $1.8 million. The suit also names the school architect, Atmar Atkinson of Lubbock as a defendant.

B & B Developers filed the suit in Runnels County's 119th District Court on Monday, May 11.

The development firm was one of several firms that submitted bids for the refurbishing program now underway at the Winters Schools. The lowest bid for the work was submitted by B & B, but architect Atmar Atkinson recommended that the board accept a bid submitted by J.W. Cooper Construction Company. The Cooper bid was some $93,000 more than the bid from B & B.

The school district's architect told the board that his investigations into the bidding companies indicated that if the bid were awarded to the low bidder, the district would also have to employ someone to oversee the work of the low bidder and that the cost of supervision would almost make up the difference between the low bid and the bid accepted by the school district.

Acting on the recommendation of the architect, the school board toured several sites under construction by the low bidder before deciding on the next higher bid.

The school district then consulted with its attorneys on the proper steps to take in accepting a bid other than the lowest.

B & B Developers were given an opportunity to meet with the school board to present evidence of its responsibility as a contractor and following that hearing the school board accepted the bid of J.W. Cooper Construction Company.

The suit filed by B & B Developers Attorney James O. Cure of Temple alleges that architect Atmar Atkinson was negligent by failing to thoroughly and properly investigate B & B Developers qualifications as a responsible contractor, that Atkinson "made certain false and slanderous statements" concerning work said to be done by B & B Developers and that B & B Developers was not the lowest responsible bidder.

The suit also alleges that the Winters Independent School District failed to follow its Policies and Procedures Manual in not awarding the contract to the lowest responsible bidder.

The suit continues by alleging that the "action of Atmar Atkinson was intentional, wanton, and malicious and was intended to harm the plaintiff".

The suit also alleges that the taxpayers in the Winters Independent School District "have been damaged in the amount of $93,723 as a

Emergency notification plan due here this fall

A fall completion date is anticipated for an emergency notification system for Winters according to Frank Settle, General Manager of Texas Cablevision, of San Angelo.

Settle told The Enterprise Monday that plans were finalized this week for a system that will provide Winters Officials a way to notify residents of emergency situations.

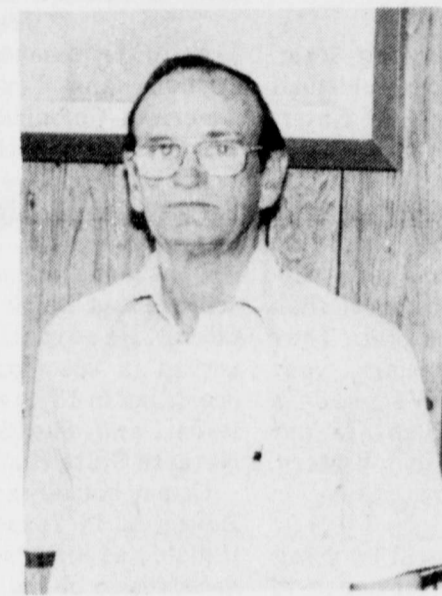

The system will allow designated city officials in time of weather or other emergencies to utilize the television cable system for notification.

Settle said the system can be activated by remote control and will override the audio portion of all the channels currently carried on the t.v. cable.

For example, if a tornado were to threaten Winters, city officials would be contacted by the National Weather Service and would then activate the system by use of a special link with the City Hall. When the link is completed, the special announcement would be heard on all channels on the cable in place of the audio or sound portion of any program that might be on the cable.

The cost of the system will be about $7,000 and is being furnished to the City of Winters. Settle said he hopes the system will be fully operational by this fall.

Similar systems in other cities using television cable, radio stations and television stations if any, have been in use for a number of years and have met with considerable success.

LEE F. CRAIG

Business manager introduced

The Winters Enterprise has named Lee Craig, of Coleman, as business manager. He assumed his duties earlier this week in the Winters office.

The new business manager will handle commercial advertising, as well as supervising accounting.

Craig, who formerly served as Coleman County Clerk for 18 years, also was an account executive for the legal stationery firm of Clark & Courts of Houston. Most recently, he was office manager for a soft drink distributor in Coleman.

He has been active on the local district and state levels of Lion's International, and a member of the County and District Clerk's Association of Texas, and was a feature writer for that association's monthly newsletter.

Craig and his wife, Evelyn, plan to relocate in Winters in the near future.

Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain purchases Tuscola elevator, store

Alderman-Cave Milling and Grain Company announced last Thursday of the purchase of the Tuscola elevator and farm store from Tuscola Farm Supply.

According to Murray Edwards, President of Alderman-Cave, the Tuscola elevator is located on the Santa Fe Railroad and will provide the livestock feed manufacturing company with access to two different rail lines.

The Tuscola facility has undergone extensive renovation over the past four years and Alderman-Cave expects to continue the improvement and expansion program.

Preston Barker, a partner in Alderman-Cave, said, "By having a shipping and receiving facility in Tuscola, it could be beneficial in the future to the Winters operation and to our area customers."

"Feed grains purchased in the Tuscola area will likely be used to manufacture livestock feed in our Winters plant," Barker said.

The company plans an open house barbecue to be held at the Tuscola elevator on Friday, May 21 between 5 and 7 p.m. Area farmers and their spouses are invited to attend the complimentary barbecue.

Letter To The Editor

To The Community Of Winters and Surrounding Area:

The high school choir performed the Broadway musical, Godspell, last week. This performance was probably the most impressive entertainment Winters has had in a long time. But this group of kids performed to a lot of empty seats. The choir, under the direction of Judy Holloway and Johnny Key, had put in many hours of practice. They are to be commended on such a fine performance. I wish everyone in this town could have seen it.

Winters people are really great to help the kids in any financial endeavor they undertake. But they need your presence at these activities, also. School is nearly out. But I would encourage the entire town to become more involved in school activities.

Just because someone doesn't have a child in school shouldn't keep one from going to school activities. They are published in The Winters Enterprise for the purpose of notifying the public. So let us be more receptive to the young people of this community and support them with more than just financial aid. They would appreciate your presence. We had a wealth of talent in our kids here in Winters. Let's support them in every way.

The choir will be doing a repeat performance of Godspell during the Mayfest activities. I urge everyone to attend.

Groundbreaking for WTU's first coal-fired power plant, May 22

Groundbreaking for West Texas Utilities Company's first coal-fired power plant will be held Saturday, May 22, at the plant site eight miles southeast of Vernon.

The public ceremony at 2 p.m. will be jointly sponsored by WTU and the Vernon Chamber of Commerce.

The Oklahoma Power Station will be a joint project of three operating companies in the Central and South West System. WTU will be the major owner and will operate the plant, while Public Service Company of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Company will own smaller shares.

Total capacity of the plant's first generating unit will be 640 megawatts. Construction is expected to take more than four years, with the unit scheduled for commercial operation in December, 1986. Boiler fuel will be low sulphur coal from Wyoming.

Auxiliary buys TV sets for NR Hospital

The liquidation of the North Runnels Hospital Auxiliary's assets made one last contribution to the hospital and the community possible. During the past month, seven (7) 17-inch colored television sets were installed in some of the patients' rooms. Also the large console model TV in the hospital lobby was replaced by the disbanded Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary was disbanded earlier this year due to the lack of volunteers.

Former members wish to thank the Winters community for their support and the opportunity to serve.

Historic Accomplishment

After digressing from my subject of Texas history, it is time to return to our Texas Heroes as outlined in the display recently at the Winters State Bank.

Perhaps there are readers who wonder why so much emphasis on the Lone Star State. As Texas is observing her 150th Anniversary in 1986, it behooves loyal Texans to brush up on history and be able to inform the throngs of visitors who will be touring our state of its many charms and fascinating history.

The fifth poster of the Texas Heroes exhibit described the accomplishments of Sam Houston, Jose Antonio Navarro, and Mirabeau B. Lamar.

As Commander-in-Chief of the Texas Army, Houston's defeat of the Mexican General Santa Anna in the battle of San Jacinto had a great historic effect and led to Texas independence, and later annexation by the United States. The ensuing Mexican War enabled the U.S. to acquire most of its present Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast areas.

Sam Houston was also a friend of the Indians who influenced them to make peace with the settlers; President of Texas from 1836-1845; A United States Senator in 1846, and a Texas Governor in 1859. Courageous on the battlefield and devoted in service to the Texas government, Houston deserves to be called a Texas hero. His philosophy is summed up in words he wrote to his Confederate son, "If Texas demands your services or your life in her cause, stand by her."

Jose Antonio Navarro

As a representative to the state legislature of Coahuila and Texas, Navarro was a Champion of American Colonization efforts. With the outbreak of the Texas Revolution, he was elected a delegate from Bexar to the Convention of 1836 at Washington-on-the-Brazos, and he signed the Texas Declaration of Independence.

During the period of the Republic of Texas, Navarro represented Bexar County in the House of Representatives. He advocated secession, and all four of his sons served in the Confederate Army. Navarro County, organized in 1846, was named for this republic of Texas leader, and also commemorating his memory in the Navarro State Historic Site in downtown San Antonio.

Lamar has already been discussed as the "Father of Education in Texas". For both his service on the battlefield and his wise planning for Texas' future, Lamar deserves to be hailed as a Texas hero.

Exhibit No. 6, gives the accomplishments of Governor James Stephen Hogg and Governor Lawrence Sullivan (Sul) Ross.

Governor James Stephen Hogg

As a crusading editor at Quitman and Longview, Hogg campaigned against railroads, then a dominant political force. Admitted to the bar in 1875, he held office as Justice of the Peace, County Attorney, District Attorney, and Attorney-General, and served as Governor of Texas from 1891-1895.

While he was governor, Hogg sponsored legislation creating the Texas Railroad Commission and a Board of Pardons to examine and advise the Governor on all applications for pardons. Also enacted during Hogg's administration were laws forbidding ownership of land by aliens, a law requiring issuance of stocks and bonds protecting investors, and other laws to regulate business corporations.

The first native born Governor of Texas, Hogg has been honored by Governor Hogg State Park in Quitman; a 177-acre historical park in Cherokee County; Varner-Hogg Plantation State Park east of West Columbia with a plantation house open to the public donated to the State of Hogg's daughter, the late Miss Ima Hogg; and the creation of Jim Hogg County in 1913.

Governor Lawrence Sullivan (Sul) Ross

Known as Texas' Indian fighter Governor, and the son of an Indian fighter and Texas Ranger, Sul Ross was noted for unflinching steady nerve in danger and for good, sound sense. With a group of 125 friendly Indian warriors, Sul Ross supported warfare against the Comanche Indians, and later a band of Texas Rangers with Sul Ross as their commander gave the Comanches a blow from which they never recovered, also rescuing Cynthia Ann Parker.

In the Battle of Wichita, he rescued from the Indians a white girl who had been their captive since infancy, naming her Lizzie Ross, and his mother reared her to become a useful woman. Entering the Civil War as a private, Sul Ross took part in 135 battles, had five horses shot out from under him, and rose to the rank of Brigadier General.

In civilian life, Sul Ross served as a member of the Constitutional Convention, was a member of the State Senate and was elected Texas Governor. He also served eight years as President of Texas A&M, where many young men profited from his example of manliness, modesty and strong, unaffected character.

He was honored by establishment of Sul Ross University at Alpine and Ross Volunteers Military Guard at Texas A&M and the naming after him of a street in Houston.

More Chamber Chatter...

May is always a busy month and it's always a time for expressing love and appreciation to those who contribute the most to our livelihood — our Mothers. We hope all of you had a most enjoyable and happy day!

May is a time to congratulate those who are completing another level of their education — our graduating Seniors! By the way, if you are shopping for those very important Graduation gifts, be sure you buy them in Winters. Our stores have excellent gift ideas and the Seniors enjoy going around town collecting their "treasures". It saves you time, too, by not having to deliver them. And, if they need to be mailed out of town, most of the merchants are very happy to wrap them "ready to mail" for you.

We're hoping this May will be special for our community because of Mayfest on Saturday, May 22. Pete Stack of Brownwood (remember Pete? He was here a couple of years ago for Winters Birthday Celebration) will be Master of Ceremonies. Entertainment will include some local talent as well as out-of-town guest performers.

This will be going on inside the Community Center along with the Arts & Crafts Show and a Dessert Bake-Off, while outside in the City Park area, there will be all kinds of delicious food booths and activities going on all day. Some of the events include: a pet show, a tennis tournament, a domino tournament, a sack race, an egg toss, a dunking booth, a big wheels racing booth, a horseshoe pitching contest, pony rides, and much, much more. Support your community and your Chamber of Commerce by coming out and joining in the fun, food, and fellowship!

Ah, yes, May! Always a favorite month! Who can forget the excitement of the last day of school? A whole summer to enjoy, the opening of the swimming pool, cold watermelon in your backyard on a lazy warm day, picnics on Memorial Day (and car races on T.V.), yelling for our favorite team at the Little League park, wheat ripening in the fields, and even the threat of thunderstorms can be exciting! (especially when you remember we have a new lake to fill up and we don't want to miss any of the lovely rain that's been coming our way lately.) We don't have to be kids to enjoy life's little pleasures and we don't have to live anywhere else in the world but Winters, Texas, to have them, either.

After we reluctantly bid farewell to May, the Chamber of Commerce directors will be busy with another new and different project and we want to leave you with a hint of what you will be approached with —

The name of the game is "Wheeler-Dealer."

Speed up processing on SS claims, benefits

When filing a claim for disability benefits at a Social Security office, the easiest way to speed the processing of the claim is to have the needed documents and information ready for presentation to the Social Security interviewer.

A worker will want to file for disability benefits when fully unable to work due to a disabling condition that has lasted or is expected to last for at least 12 consecutive months. Claimants with a date of birth in 1930 or later must always provide a birth certificate, and in some cases a birth certificate is needed for older claimants. If the worker has a spouse and children, the spouse's birth certificate may be needed, and the children's birth certificate will always be needed. Social Security numbers for all family members should be provided also. When filing a claim, the worker should be prepared to provide complete names, addresses, and phone numbers of medical sources such as doctors, clinics, and hospitals who have records of the disabling

"Godspell" performance captivates audience

With the setting an alley of a big city, members of the Winters high school choir sang their way into Winters residents hearts with their rendition of Godspell last Thursday evening. The cast takes you on a galloping trip through the Gospel of Matthew to the beat of soft rock, folk, and gospel music.

In the musical, Jesus appears, not as someone dressed in a white robe — untouchable and unreachable. Rather, he appears in the colorful dress of a clown. Jesus as a clown underscores the important relationship of humor to life. Jesus is portrayed as a very real person, easy to relate to, willing to laugh at himself and to help others laugh at and with him and at life. To be able to do that, decided John-Michael Tebelak, creator of Godspell, "to have tolerance and love and jubilation — which is what Christ is all about"

Godspell was written by Tebelak a few years ago when the 22-year-old student decided to go to a sunrise Easter service. He is a devout Episcopalian and what he saw and heard at that sunrise service on Easter morning called him to a new commitment. Some people who call themselves Christians continue to bury the body of Jesus, rather than celebrate that which is central to the Christian faith: the joyous belief that Christ lives. As John-Michael walked away from that dismal sunrise service with the conviction that joy must be brought back into the life of Jesus and into the lives of those who seek to find him, to know him, and to follow him, he made the decision to stage the Christ event as a musical with Jesus as a clown. He wrote the production as a masters' thesis at Carnegie Mellon University and the production has now become one of the hits of the American Theater. The title, "Godspell" is taken from the old English word for gospel meaning a good tale, and a good joyous tale it is.

Song selections included in the performance were "Prepare Ye", "Save The People", "Day By Day"; "Learn Your Lessons Well"; "O Bless The Lord"; and "All For The Best".

Also sung were "All Good Gifts"; "Light Of The World"; "Turn Back O Man"; "By My Side"; "We Beseech Thee" and "On The Willows".

Singing solos during the performance were Donnie Daily, Barron Guy, Josie Rodriguez, Beverly Hamilton, Anna Vera, and J'Lynn Russell.

Members of the ensemble were Ralph Austin, Donnie Daily, Barron Guy, Perry Bedford, Josie Rodriguez, Diana Rodriguez, Betty Graham, Beverly Hamilton, Debra Lanter, and J'Lynn Russell.

Pianists for the program were DeOnn Deaton, Bill Wheat and Resa Porter. Guitarists were David Evans, Paul Trevino and Alan Cooper, and Gloria Isaacks performed on the drums.

Other members of the choir included Susie Vera,

Rosalinda Vera, Yolanda Sanchez, Eloisa Cortez, Dawn Traylor, Brent Lancaster, Don Kvapil, Tammy Murray, LaShea Guy, Maggie Campos, Becky Cortez, Tammy Chambliss, Shana Young, Penny Cowan, and Stephanie Smith. Brent Lancaster and Don Kvapil provided the narration of Godspell, with Maggie Campos performing pantomimes. The musical was directed by Judy Holloway.

Big plans in store for cable viewers

It won't be long before Winters television cable subscribers will have 18 channels to choose from according to Frank Settle, Texas Cablevision General Manager. Among programming on the way is an all sports network, a health network, cultural programming, and an all Disney network.

Settle said, "Our goal is to expand and have 18 channels active in Winters by the summer of 1983." Adding the new services will be on an incremental basis starting in the late summer of this year, with about three channels to be added in the near future.

Settle said that an Earth Station, satellite receiving dish, will be erected at the local cable tower in south Winters just as soon as a fence can be built and the cement base poured. With the dish completed, Settle said, all the electronic components are ready to go and the first of the planned additions will be on the way to local cable subscribers at no additional cost.

The first of the additional programming, ESPN, the Entertainment and Sports Network will be available for local viewers in July. Also in the plan is television station WGN in Chicago and a return of KTVT, the independent television station in Dallas-Ft. Worth.

KTVT had been on the local cable up until January of this year when it was switched due to microwave availabilities to WTBS television in Atlanta.

The Cablevision executive said that about 90 per cent of the televisions in Winters do not have capabilities to receive the new channels, but that converters would be available. The converters will be available at electronic stores or from Texas Cablevision and will enable subscribers to receive the new programming. The one-time cost of the converters will be about $35.

Shooters Assn. held May shoot

The Winters Shooters Association held their May shoot Saturday, May 15. This was the first match that included the international slow fire course, and it proved to be very challenging.

Some of the younger shooters are turning in some very impressive scores. Ronnie Gann had a 609 aggregate for 4th place. One of his national match courses was a 250-4x. Two new shooters, Ace Polk and Rick Dry also did very well.

The next match will probably be held on June 19.

The U.S. and France are the world's largest producers of apples.

At General Telephone... We're Not Simply Talking About Service Improvements We're Making Them In Winters

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal, it's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects, modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For Winters this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

The Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has established certain standards in public hearings, and our service results are listed against those standards.

Soil Stewardship Week, May 16-23

Soil Stewardship Week annually focuses on the care and conservation of our soil, water and related resources.

This year's observance is set for May 16-23, with the theme: "A Time for Tenacity."

"Tenacity (firmness or persistence) is needed in using our natural resources wisely and in conserving them for future generations," points out Dr. B. L. Harris, soils specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "We need to give particular attention to creative conservation and management practices to protect our precious land and water resources," emphasizes Harris. "Every one has a personal responsibility to care for the soil, water and other vital elements making up our environment."

America's farmers who till the soil are particularly concerned about the loss of valuable cropland to urbanization and other uses, notes the specialist. In addition, soil productivity continues to decline due to destructive erosion.

"We must protect our soil resources because we depend on them for the food we eat as well as for the food we ship abroad," notes Harris. "Our farmers work hard to protect this nation's soil and water resources, and each one produces enough to feed 70 other people."

"We should applaud the work of our farmers and ranchers in using our natural resources wisely," adds Harris. "At the same time we need to pledge our support and efforts to become actively involved in caring for these precious resources

The third inning brought 4 runs for the Outlaws, stretching the score to 8-0.

Action picked up in the fourth inning with the Outlaws scoring two runs, and having the Warriors matching those with their own runs by Wallace Johnson and Dwight Hubbard. Score then became 10-2.

Fifth inning play brought one run by Jackson, while the sixth inning slowed the Outlaws, when John Esquivel flew out, trying to advance the runners on base.

Seventh and eighth inning plays brought 1 base hit by Joe Martinez, and with the Warriors upping the score, 11-3.

The Outlaws had the game in their hands with 2 more runs by Kenny Young and Jack Davis, Jr. The Warriors added three more points to their score with the help of Tony Johnson, Roy Campos, and Eric Belk. Final score for the game was 13-6.

TMA warns of animal bites that leave a bad taste

As the weather gets warmer, our contact with dogs and wildlife increases. So does the possibility of contracting rabies. According to public health reports, an estimated one to one and one-half million dog bites alone are reported in the US each year, and between 30,000 and 35,000 anti-rabies treatments are given. It is important to recognize the symptoms of rabid animals and to know how to treat animal bites in general. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) has some pointers which will help you identify and avoid animals which may have rabies.

The most common cases of rabies occur in wildlife such as skunks, raccoons, foxes and bats. Beware of abnormal behavior in animals. If a wild animal which usually shies away from people comes up to you and acts friendly, or if a typically friendly housepet suddenly becomes vicious, rabies should be suspected. If you're in the woods and normally nocturnal animal approaches you during the day, this is a sign that the animal may be rabid. Stay as far away from it as you can. Technically, any warm-blooded animal can have rabies if attacked by a rabid animal.

In dogs, rabies can be identified if the dog either snaps at imaginary objects or sits quietly with its jaw hanging open, staring into space. A rabid dog's bark will be higher-pitched than usual, the pupils of the eyes will be larger and the mouth will foam or drool.

If you do happen to get bitten and you suspect rabies, call a doctor immediately. Animal bites pose other serious health threats besides rabies, however, such as infections and lockjaw. Any animal bite victim who hasn't had a tetanus shot in the last five to ten years should see a doctor. If the bite appears minor and the skin hasn't been broken, the wound can usually be taken care of at home just by washing it thoroughly and making sure that its condition doesn't worsen. If the bite is wide and deep, or if you're just not sure what to do, waste no time. Seek medical treatment.

That gray discoloration that often appears on highly polished furniture may disappear if the surface is wiped with a soft cloth that has been wrung out in warm water containing a little vinegar. Dry and polish afterwards.

crash by Live Oak County Justice of the Peace Charles Huegler.

Three Jacksboro oil field workers, including two former Winters area residents were killed and another man critically injured last Wednesday when their car ran off a Farm to Market road and hit a tree near the roadway according to Highway Patrol Trooper Joe Martin.

Killed in the crash were Troy Lee Childers, 19, and Samuel Arnold "Cricket" Wallis, 20. Both were former residents of the Winters Area and were employees of Originala Well Service at Jacksboro and were pronounced dead at the scene of the crash by Jacksboro Justice of the Peace J.L. Laceywell.

Investigating troopers said that the car, driven by 30-year old Gary Stephens of Jacksboro, was northbound on FM 206 when the accident occurred about 3:40 p.m. last Wednesday. Stephens was thrown from the vehicle and was said to have been in critical condition in a Ft. Worth hospital. Winters School Superintendent T.D. Lancaster said that the school board agreed to employ the law firm of McMahon, Smart, Surovic, Sutter, and Baskerville of Abilene to represent the school district in the action. Lancaster said that Mike Baskerville and Jane Varner of that law firm will be actually handling the case for the school district.

Lancaster said, "We have acknowledged the suit and employed legal counsel and we have acted in the best interest of the school system." He concluded his statement by saying, "any other questions concerning the suit should be directed to the Winters Independent School District's legal counsel."

Atmar Atkinson, the architect employed by the school district and named in the suit has, according to Lancaster, employed a separate attorney to represent him in the case.

School Board officials said that their action in accepting a bid other than the lowest was in accordance with the law and the steps were approved by the schools district's legal counsel before they were taken.

Spokesmen in the Runnels County District Clerk's Office said Monday that it was not known just when the suit would come up for trial.

Guilty pleas heard in District Court

Five persons entered pleas of guilty in Runnels County 119th District Court last week before Judge Curt Steib of San Angelo.

Alfonso Campos of Winters received a ten year prison term, probated after entering a pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated assault in connection with an incident in which Campos attempted to escape from the custody of Winters Police officer Winfred Reel. Campos allegedly produced a hidden weapon and threatened Reel, broke out a window in a patrol car and again pointed the weapon at the officer before being subdued.

Campos plea was the result of a plea bargain agreement with District Attorney Royal Hart.

Also entering a guilty plea to a charge of aggravated assault was Connie Carson of Ballinger, in connection with an incident in South Ballinger in which shots were fired at Deputy Sheriff Odell Denton. Carson's sentence was set at four years in prison, probated, and a fine of $500. The incident occurred in November of last year.

Other guilty pleas came from Frank Neito on a charge of felony driving while intoxicated, Mike Martinez and Aldo Galvan who were charged with theft of livestock. Neito and Galvan had been accused of stealing one goat. District Judge Curt Steib ordered the bond for Arthur Zapata-Ortega forfeited after the man failed to appear for his trial. He had been charged with felony driving while intoxicated.

Man charged with indecency with a child

Charges of indecency with a child were filed in Ballinger Sunday against a 35 year old Robert L. Jones of Ballinger.

Runnels County Sheriffs officers said the incident occurred at an apartment in the Ballinger Housing Authority early this week and involved an 11 year old girl.

The Sheriff's Department said that Jones is being held in the Runnels County Jail in lieu of bond and that the case will be presented to the next session of the Grand Jury.

Officers also said that Jones may face other charges in connection with the girl's 13 year old brother who was struck several times when he tried to stop his sister from being fondled.

City Council to decide on school request

If the Winters City Council agrees, the Winters Community Center may house classrooms for the Winters School District next fall.

Members of the school board and the school administration met with the City Council in the regular Monday meeting to make that request. The temporary classroom space will be needed due to the renovation program getting underway at both the elementary and high schools.

No action was taken by the council this week after council members asked for time to consider and investigate the request.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that, if approved, the plan would allow use of the Community Center by groups other than the school only on weekends. Brown emphasized that reservations already made for the Community Center would be honored.

School officials are working to find places to house classes from both the elementary and the high school for the first part of the next school year.

Brown said that the council would take action on the request in their next regular meeting.

That request was the only business item on the agenda for this week's city council meeting.

Reduced brucellosis vaccine as effective as old strength

The reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine for brucellosis control is virtually as effective as the old strength which was blamed for causing some reaction problems. Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, reports.

"Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission were instrumental in getting the reduced dosage approved for this state more than a year ago. Our results show that the reduced dosage is getting the job done," Dr. Holcombe said.

A program to encourage increased vaccination for brucellosis control is now in progress in Texas. Use of the reduced dosage is recommended in this effort.

The old strength of Strain 19 contained about 90 billion organisms. Experience over the years indicated this might be too large and could overwhelm the younger calves' immunity systems resulting in no immunity being produced. In older heifers, this large dose produced persistent vaccinal titers which occasionally resulted in a Strain 19 infection.

"The reduced dosage contains about one billion organisms, but that is sufficient to produce immunity," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Vaccination is a cornerstone of the Texas brucellosis program. Vaccination ages for heifers as official vaccinates are 4 to 12 months of age for all breeds. Bulls are not vaccinated.

Financial assistance is available for vaccination of eligible heifers. Cattle producers should contact their area Texas Animal Health Commission office or their veterinarian for details.

"Although we have seen an increase in vaccination in Texas in the past few years, we need to get more cattlemen aware of the need for vaccination for brucellosis control. While no vaccine produces 100 percent immunity (not even in humans), the higher the percentage of vaccinates in a herd the greater is the immunity attained. In a fully vaccinated herd, the immunity may exceed 90 percent," Dr. Holcombe said.

Many physicians now advise treating even borderline — or fluctuating — hypertension, reports Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist.

High blood pressure (which is hypertension) affects nearly 40 million Americans, the specialist says.

Left untreated, it can result in heart disease, stroke and kidney failure, she adds.

Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
