Notice to advertisers, correspondents

The Winters Enterprise would like to remind our advertisers and news correspondents that the deadline for items to be printed in The Enterprise is 12 noon Tuesday of the week of publication. This deadline applies to classified advertising, display advertising, special announcements, features and news stories. Material submitted for publication after the noon Tuesday deadline will be held for publication the following week.

WTU rate applications filed Monday

West Texas Utilities Company has filed for a general increase in its rates for retail customers.

The official application was filed Monday in Winters by local manager F.R. Anderson.

The manager said the application is a systemwide request for higher rates. Simultaneous filings were made in other incorporated towns for retail customers within their jurisdiction and with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for an increase in rural areas, unincorporated towns and in 13 incorporated towns which have ceded jurisdiction over electric rates.

The principal reasons cited for the request were the cost of WTU's construction program, high interest rates and the effects of general inflation on the cost of providing service.

The proposed rates would produce an increase in total retail revenue of $20,404,166. This amounts to 9.4 percent.

No major changes in rate structure are proposed except for some adjustments of allocations among customer classes. For residential customers, the average electric bill, including fuel costs, would go up about 10 percent, although the actual increase would vary with the amount of usage.

WTU's last rate case was filed in the fall of 1981 and settled early in 1982 without a hearing and for an amount considerably less than had been requested. WTU had asked for 15.2 percent but received 8.3 percent. Company officials said at that time that another increase probably would be necessary within the year.

The Company had to spend over $55 million this past year on new construction and must spend even more in the years immediately ahead to assure a continued reliable supply of electricity. The construction program includes a new coal-fired power plant at Oklaunion, as well as new transmission lines and distribution facilities over the system.

WTU built its last power plant in 1977 and since then has been able to lag behind most other utility companies in new construction and in rate increases. A recent survey by the Public Utility Commission of Texas shows that WTU's customer bills are lower than the state and national averages.

Winters arrest clears out of state crimes

Runnels County Sheriff's officers say that a man arrested Monday in Winters is now being held for authorities in the State of Washington on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and for violation of probation.

Winters police officers said that 19-year-old Dayle Beck was taken into custody Monday on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with several incidents earlier that day. After Beck was placed in the county jail, a routine check was made with the National Crime Information Center computer. That check resulted in warrant information from Washington State.

Sheriff's officers said that Beck was being held in lieu of $2,500 bond on the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle charge and $1,500 bond on the violation of probation charge.

Beck is due to be formally arraigned before 51st District Judge Curt Steib. Beck is expected to waive extradition and be transported back to Washington in the next several weeks.

Paving plans changed again, council begins budget workshop

The Winters City Council, meeting for a public hearing regarding paving assessment Monday, cut back even further its plans for street paving in the city.

Initially, the city had planned to pave portions of Redtner, Albert, Rogers, and Melwood streets, but modified their plans initially to not consider paving a portion of north Melwood.

Some 15 or 16 persons showed up for the assessment hearing Monday, mostly in favor of the paving project on Redtner and Rogers streets. Several persons were opposed to the paving of Albert Street, and some who wanted the street paved told the council that if the paving assessment would create a hardship on some of the residents along that section of Albert Street, they would rather not have the street paved.

As a final result, the council agreed to go ahead with plans to pave Rogers and Redtner streets and asked that the city administrator contact the low bidder on the project to see if he (the contractor) would pave only the two streets at the same price submitted in the bid originally.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said Tuesday that the contractor, Seidel Inc. of San Angelo, had agreed to do the paving at the bid price of $44,919. Brown said that no starting date for the paving program had been set.

In other action in the Monday meeting the council tabled for further study a proposal to make some improvements at the water treatment plant. The improvements would involve a cement slab to handle water that is drained from settling tanks. At the present time, the water must be drained onto the ground and causes a problem with mud.

The council also held their first workshop session on the proposed budget for the next fiscal year for the City of Winters and for the Revenue Sharing budget.

The council will be meeting each Monday this month to handle the budget workshops and several other items of business that must be handled on a pre-determined time schedule.

Paving completed

Runnels County road crews put newly acquired equipment to work last week when they paved the portion of a county road that extends from Highway 53 to W. Lee Colburn Park at the new Winters lake.

Ballinger tax office closed due to move

The County Tax Office, originally located in the County Courthouse in Ballinger, has been closed temporarily in order to relocate in the new tax office south of courthouse.

According to VaRue McWilliams, Runnels County Tax-Assessor or Collector, it is impossible to transact business during the move across the street. The office will be closed beginning Wednesday, Sept. 15 and will reopen as soon as possible.

McWilliams stated that KRUN will be asked to broadcast notification of the reopening just as soon as possible.

Sub-offices in Miles and Rowena are available to handle vehicle registration, and the sub-office in Winters can handle all business transactions of the tax office. An extra deputy will be located in the Winters office to assist during this time.

BP, diabetes, anemia clinic

The Winters Multi-purpose Center at 142 W. Dale will sponsor a free clinic for blood pressure, diabetes, and anemia on Sept. 21 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. A children's immunization clinic will also be offered from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m.

Coleman Bluecats hold Winters Blizzards Friday, 20-0

The Coleman Bluecats proved to be too much for the Blizzards to handle last Friday night, taking the game in hand with a score of 20-0.

The Winters team began the game playing some good defense, but their offense never could get untracked during the game. Four turnovers (two fumbles and two interceptions) helped stymie their offense as well as their ineffective blocking against the Coleman defense.

The Blizzards were in a scoring position four times, but the Bluecats defense rose to the occasion every time to keep Winters out of the end zone.

Good defense play shown by Ronnie Lujano, Jeff McDorman, Kevin Busher, Kent Billups, and Don Kvapil kept the Blizzards in the game until the fourth quarter, but Coleman finally iced the game away in the fourth quarter with their third touchdown.

If the Blizzards can improve their blocking on offense and start moving the ball consistently, they will still make a run at the playoffs.

The Winters Blizzards need to rebound from this loss with a good game against Bangs, which is the last game before district play begins.

The Winters players travel to Bangs this Friday to play the Dragons at 8 p.m. The Bangs team is 2 and 0, while the Blizzards are 0 and 2.

The Glidden Tour

Last week we left the honeymooners, Mr. and Mrs. Orrel Parker, in Chicago, and we'll see what happens as they leave Chicago headed east, taking the route of the Glidden Tour. Remember, the year was 1907. The first day's run ended at Plymouth, Indiana, via South Bend. The second day the party reached Indianapolis and half of the third day was devoted to making Dayton, Ohio. The fourth day Newark, Ohio was reached and the fifth day Washington, Pennsylvania. Half of the sixth day was required to reach Pittsburg and the seventh day Bedford Springs was the destination. It was a fair run from Bedford Springs to Lancaster, Penn on the eighth day and the ninth day was required to reach New York.

Speaking of the roads, Orrel said that the mountain highway between Pittsburg and Bedford Springs was by far the worst of the trip. The surface of the so-called road was a path over rocks and boulders. Some of the grades were four or five miles in length, and it required a powerful motor in good condition to climb the ascents and good brakes with vigorous application to make the descents safely. But he considered the beautiful scenery as a large measure of compensation for the wretched roads.

During the journey back to New York the Royal Tourist did constant work and the tires required no attention. Aside from tightening a fan belt and replacing a small bolt that was broken, nothing was done to the car. Orrel, being an expert with the machine, did most of the driving, and the trip was in reality a nice vacation for Oliver Edick. On returning, the tires were examined by the same committee that sealed them on before the start and found to be the original shoes.

Orrel expected the tires to give good service and widely advertised the successful trip in all the newspapers and magazines, saying that the Newmastic tires were not subject to puncture or blowout and gave service of a constant character, since they could not be deflated and the resiliency was unchanged by any condition. He proclaimed to the world that this tire was the greatest step forward concerning automobiles since the pneumatic tire was invented.

Back in New York, the newlyweds barely had time to close out Orrel's bachelor house and move into an apartment before the Glidden Tour took place.

Feeling that their chances were extremely good in the Glidden Tour, the parkers lined up as No. 16 among the 81 cars in front of the Hollenden Hotel at Cleveland, Ohio, on July 10, in what was considered the most important tour of demonstration ever held in this country.

Apparently the contestants were in competition for the Charles J. Glidden trophy, but the Glidden event was simply an excuse for the much greater public demonstration of the reliability of American cars.

Orrel entered the race as a representative of the automobile club of Buffalo, as the trophy would be awarded to the club whose team finished with the greatest number of points instead of to an individual as previously. Edick was taken along to help driven and assist with repairs.

If more people would drive right — more people would be left.
 Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill went into Winters to the Z.I. Hale coliseum Sunday afternoon where her late brother, Judge

In this caravan of education which was to traverse seven states, one mountain range and 1,500 miles of all kinds of roads within 14 days were to be 33 different makes of gasoline and one of steam vehicles. Started at minute intervals, the procession covered approximately 50 miles of highways between the first and last cars. In the club competition for the Glidden Trophy were 51 cars representing nine clubs. In the contest for the Hower prize covering high power runabouts were 13 machines. In addition, there were 12 non-contesting cars and five official cars which included the touring board, the press, the pilot and the confetti distributor who went ahead and scattered confetti at the crossroads to show the route because there were no road signs.

There was excellent organization which sent the machines engaged in the automobile association of America tour away on their journey with perfect regularity, amid the huge mass of idle spectators. The contestants were in high spirits because they knew their trip through the mountains of Pennsylvania would be for more picturesque than anything seen on last year's tour through Canada and Maine. This was the fourth ambitious tour of this kind which had ever been conducted to show the worth of the automobile.

No sooner had Cleveland's asphalt boulevards been left behind than the real struggle began, as the machines entered roads that were often rocky and uneven as a track of virgin country. But weather conditions were favorable and practically all the cars were able to stand the grind for the 121 miles separating Cleveland from Toledo.

A continuous cloud of dust stretched along the highway for many miles and was the cause of one mishap. The No. 7 car approached a narrow wooden bridge in a cloud of dust, veered to avoid hitting a small boy, and ran into the bridge abutment. This spring an axle, smashed a lamp and bent a mud guard. Fortunately a blacksmith's shop was close at hand and the injured car was quickly repaired, but not without the loss of two points for replacements.

One thing that was apparent during the day was the antagonism of the people along the way as many endeavors were made to ruin tires. Broken glass was seen in several towns and at Henrietta, boards pierced with wire nails were thrown into the streets with the points turned upwards. One car was subjected to abuse in the form of a stream of water from a garden hose turned into it while passing.

Orrel Parker was one of the eight motorists who suffered tire trouble because of the broken glass, a casing and tube were cut as to expose the filling. The tire was repaired and with the time lost had only four hours and four minutes to go 91 miles. A wild dash got the party to Toledo with 54 minutes leeway at the night control. This information came from letters, pictures, and newspaper articles belonging to Orrel A. Parker. When he saw my interest in his adventurous life, he gave me boxes of material describing his various careers. — Charlie Poe

VA reminds to safeguard all vital documents

The Veterans Administration is reminding veterans and their families to safeguard important documents relating to their military service, marriage, life insurance and VA correspondence.

Discharge papers, marriage certificates or child custody evidence should be secured from fire, theft or loss, as well as government and commercial life insurance policies, any VA correspondence with identifying claim numbers, social security numbers, wills and — where applicable — naturalization papers.

The VA reminds potential beneficiaries that they should be aware of survivors' benefits which may include VA pensions, dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected death, burial benefits and interment in a national cemetery for the veteran and his or her dependents.

The few minutes spent by the veteran in organizing and protecting his or her documents — and informing the family of their whereabouts — can do much to avoid needless anguish during times of emotional stress.

Veterans should also alert their families through veterans' service organizations or by calling the Waco VA Regional Office toll-free number listed in your telephone directory.

Traffic delineators send safety messages to travelers

Have you given much thought to traffic delineators?

Probably not, because you may not be sure you know what a traffic delineator is.

If we had said road reflectors, you would have immediately visualized the objects beside the road on metal posts that reflect light back to you from your car headlights when you drive at night. These reflectors send you messages to make your night driving easier and safer.

There are five basic traffic delineators. Each one signals its message to make you aware of potential driving hazards.

A series of single white delineators beside the road shows an upcoming curve and the extent of its curvature, as well as the width of the safety parking strip should you need to pull off the road.

A series of delineators with two amber reflectors one above the other sends a message to make you aware of an upcoming entrance or exit point. These delineators extend the length of the entrance and exit ramps.

For your convenience and safety when approaching the double amber delineators, proceed with caution because vehicles may be exiting or entering the thoroughfare. If the entrance or exit is channelized, the first delineator will have three horizontal amber reflectors.

The same arrangement also warns of potentially dangerous objects in the middle of the road such as the beginning of a median strip or center island. You are to pass on the right of these.

They also are used to show the division point of a branching highway, channelized exit or entrance ramp, which you will pass to the right or left.

A delineator with three amber reflectors mounted one above the other appearing in isolated places makes roadside hazards such as interruption of shoulder pavement, bridge structure, light-pole traffic sign, tree, boulder, etc.

The fifth type of traffic delineator is a diamond shaped series of three parallel sets of triple reflectors arranged in echelon. This delineator advises of a dangerous situation in the form of an immovable object such as a massive bridge pier, dead end, or a 90-degree turn of the road.

The traffic delineators placed on the roads and highways by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation send distinct messages to aid you in your night driving, making it safer for you and your fellow motorists.

New developments in the world of medicine

Medical news about drugs is so prevalent in the media that it is difficult to keep it all straight.

The Texas Medical Association compiled these developments involving new drugs and a vaccine:

— Production of the first hepatitis vaccine began recently. Researchers say the vaccine against hepatitis B is 95 percent effective. It is made from blood plasma of people who cannot donate to blood banks because they have had hepatitis. The vaccine, approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, also may help prevent liver cancers linked to hepatitis.

— Eli Lilly and Co. has voluntarily stopped selling its anti-arthritis drug Oralflex, which had been linked to more than 70 deaths in the U.S. and Great Britain. Company officials nonetheless contended the drug is safe. Several health groups had filed suit to have Oralflex removed from the marketplace. The FDA acknowledged it had approved the drug without knowing its possible side effects — liver poisoning, jaundice, rashes and gastrointestinal problems.

— Researchers may be making headway toward a cure for genital herpes, a sexually transmitted disease that has reached epidemic proportions in the U.S. An FDA-approved drug, acyclovir, speeds the healing of herpes sores the first time the infection strikes but is ineffective against recurrent outbreaks, according to a study.

But a researcher at The University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio is working on a new drug, BIOLF-62, which he says is more effective against the herpes virus.

— Dr. Denton Cooley's Texas Heart Institute in Houston is testing an experimental drug that reduces the body's tendency to reject transplanted organs. In previous tests, cyclosporin A, extracted from soil fungus, has shown considerable promise in lessening rejection during liver, kidney and heart transplants.

Reports from Washington

Mexico: The First Steps

The Mexican government's second devaluation of the peso this year and its nationalization of private Mexican banks has sharply focused attention on the economic problems that our neighbor to the South now faces.

The United States was alerted to the severity of the situation when Mexico's Finance Minister flew to Washington immediately following the peso devaluation to report that his country did not have enough foreign currency to pay for a month's imports. The reaction by the United States and others to the Mexican report was prompted by the same motives that inspired a multinational effort in the 1960s to defend the British pound — maintenance of world economic stability. Mexico is now the world's fifth-largest oil producer, has the 13th largest economy, and is the largest international borrower, with a foreign debt estimated at over $80 billion.

Because the economies of Texas and Mexico, particularly along the border, are so closely intertwined, an explanation of the United States current role in this and update of what is potentially a $10 billion economic assistance program is appropriate.

First of all the program essentially involves two major participants: the United States and the International Monetary Fund. Less than half of this economic assistance is to come directly from the United States. The remainder is contingent on the final outcome of negotiations between Mexico and the International Monetary Fund, which is an international organization composed of 146 member countries including the United States. The IMF is designed to promote monetary cooperation and provides financial support for member countries that experience temporary balance of payments problems.

The assistance is divided into five components.

- First, the Commodity Credit Corporation, which is part of the Department of Agriculture, will make available up to $1 billion in loan guarantees for the export of U.S. agricultural products to Mexico. Among them will be feed grains, soy beans, and vegetable oils.

- Second, the Department of Energy signed an agreement with PEMEX, Mexico's state owned oil company, and the United States Treasury has advanced $1 billion for high quality light crude oil. It will provide immediate cash for Mexico and a substantial amount of the oil needed to fill our Strategic Petroleum Reserve in the next year at a price no greater than $35 and no less than $25 a barrel. The total amount of oil to be delivered will depend on the price established each quarter to reflect market conditions.

- Third, the largest single component of this economic assistance is still being negotiated between Mexico and the International Monetary Fund. This is a proposed three-year loan of approximately $4.5 billion, which would be the maximum available based on Mexico's membership share of the Fund. Although the United States government is not involved in these negotiations, it does sit on the IMF executive board, which must approve the loan. To obtain this loan, Mexico and the IMF must reach an agreement as to what measures the Mexican government will take to improve the country's economic performance.

- Fourth, the Bank for International Settlements in Switzerland has approved a $1.85 billion short-term loan. Credits for this loan come from the central banks of the leading industrial nations. Of the amount, our Federal Reserve has contributed $925 million to the package and Spain, the second largest buyer of Mexican oil after the United States, contributed $125 million, with the remainder coming from central banks of West Germany, Britain, France, Italy, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Sweden, Canada, and Japan. The ability of Mexico to draw on this short-term loan is based on the progress of negotiations between Mexico and the International Monetary Fund.

- Finally, commercial banks in both our country and other nations will extend to Mexico new credits of between $500 million to $1 billion and accept a moratorium on the principal repayments for a specified time. Negotiations are between Mexico and these private commercial banks, and are also contingent on the outcome of approval of the IMF loan.

At the same time that Mexico addresses its problems, we must also be ever-mindful of the need for solutions to the problems faced by our own citizens. The Small Business Administration has already announced a $200 million loan package for small businesses severely impacted by the peso devaluation, which is similar to a bill I had cosponsored before coming to Texas in August.

This is a complex issue, which continues to unfold and change almost daily. Those of us on both sides of the border are affected and will be for months — and possibly years to come. We must not lose sight of our common goals and shared friendships as we work to find responsible, effective, and lasting solutions.

Conserving energy through landscaping

Attempting to control environmental factors outside the home is not a feasible answer to energy conservation, but certain landscaping practices can significantly change the climate in and around the home.

"By placing trees, shrubs, vines and landscape structures properly, the homeowner can reduce the energy required to keep homes and surrounding areas comfortable during winter and summer," says Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

And if landscaping is well done, homeowners receive the added benefits of beauty and increased real estate values, he notes.

Welch suggests using trees, windbreaks and vines to save energy.

"Trees planted on the south and west sides of a house can reduce inside temperatures up to eight degrees by shading the roof from the afternoon sun," he says.

Deciduous trees provide shade during the summer and also allow light and sun to penetrate through their bare branches in the winter to warm the home.

Welch cautions against planting the fastest growing tree available for several reasons. Trees that grow at a moderate rate usually live longer, are less likely to break in wind and ice storms and are often more resistant to insects and disease.

Besides using trees to shade roof areas, plants can be utilized to protect walls from heat and cold.

"Vines, shrubs and certain trees can insulate the wall against and also be highly effective in reducing noise and dust pollution," Welch adds.

"For masonry walls, Welch suggests Boston Ivy and Virginia Creeper because their leaves intercept and absorb the sun's rays while allowing convection currents to carry the warm air up and away from the wall.

"These deciduous vines are most effective on southern and western masonry walls with a great deal of direct sun," Welch says, "and evergreen species such as English Ivy are better on sunless walls where their foliage can deflect winter winds and their stems provide an insulating effect."

Clinging vines are not suggested for wooden walls, he notes, since their stems and tendrils hold moisture and cause deterioration.

But the same cooling effect can be achieved on wooden walls by using twining vines, Welch says.

"Training twining vines such as wisteria, carolina jessamine and muscadine grapes on trellises placed near the walls and even on overhead structures over terraces can provide relief from the heat," he announces.

Whether the homeowner prefers trees, windbreaks or vines, good landscaping practicing of one of the most practical methods of reducing energy consumption in homes.

At this writing, South Texas was in the forecast to receive up to five inches of rain. The upper part needs the moisture bad as does other parts of the Lone Star State.

If the Gulf front moves on to land, it will stop cotton harvest. Harvest of cotton is progressing throughout South Texas. The Jack Parker family of Uvalde work the South and Central Texas area. The Parkers are one of the largest cotton harvesting firms in Texas and are presently working their way north.

In Kerrville the other day, I had the occasion to visit with some ranchers in a bank lobby. They were saying that parts of the Texas Hill Country had received up to an inch or more of rain but other parts were high and dry.

Dale Brandenburger of Junction said parts of Kimble County received about an inch last week.

"Concho County is in pretty good shape considering it is early fall and we experienced a fairly hot summer," stated W.F. Houston at the warehouse.

John Stephens of Eden was wishing for a shower to "cool things off a little more."

In Brady and around McCulloch County, terrain appears in good shape. However, a good rain would not hurt unless of course it came too close to the peanut fields there and Mason County.

A note from Frances Sears reports she has leased the Sears ranches at Sweetwater. "But I am still running Longhorns and crossbred steers at Alpine on a place that Lance had leased," she added. "We need rain — the eternal envy of the West."

Maize harvest is winding down in West Texas and yield appears to be good. I noticed several big piles at Vancourt and Rowena.

As we move into fall, things are beginning to look better — except for the economy and it could have better days! The politicians are on the loose and promising everything from lower taxes to greener pastures.

The lucky ones will win on such rhetoric.

Homemade Jams Are A Money-Saving Treat

As grocery prices continue to rise each year, more and more economy-minded homemakers are making their own jams and jellies. It's no longer a pastime reserved for those years beyond middle age, as research indicates that a growing majority of today's canners are under the age of 40.

Perhaps this increasing number of home canners also is due in part to how easy it really is to make your own delicious jams. Time-saving kitchen appliances such as the food processor make grinding fruit seem almost effortless. The use of pectin eliminates the need for hours of cooking over a hot stove. In fact, most homemade jam recipes can be made in about an hour — from start to finish — with cooking time of only 2-4 minutes.

Considering that most 8 oz. jars of commercially prepared jams and jellies cost more than $1.00 each at the local supermarket, people who have fruit trees realize a considerable savings by their ability to make six or seven 8 oz. jars of jam for less than $2.00. Even if the fruit must be bought, it's still likely that a real savings can be enjoyed, not to mention a higher quality product.

Another advantage of making jams and jellies at home is the innovative combination of fruit you can use such as apricot-raspberry, apricot-rhubarb, peach-orange, etc. Even single fruit jams can be made more interesting and tasty with a little imagination.

Following is a recipe for Spiced Peach Jam from the kitchens of MCP Foods, Inc. that presents a whole new taste to traditional peach jam:

- SPICED PEACH JAM
4 cups Peaches, ground
1/4 cup Lemon Juice
1 stick Cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon Whole cloves
1/4 teaspoon Whole Allspice
1 package MCP JAM & JELLY PECTIN
6 cups Sugar

To Prepare Fruit
Wash, peel, pit and grind Peaches.

To Make Jam
Measure sugar into dry bowl to be added later. Measure ground Peaches into 6 or 8 quart kettle. If short of fruit, fill last cup with water to equal exact amount. Add lemon juice and the spices tied in a cheese bag. Add the package of MCP JAM & JELLY PECTIN to fruit in kettle, stir well. Place over

Winters Volunteer Fire Department News

Practice has begun for horse races at the West Texas Fair at Abilene Saturday, September 18, at 1 p.m.

On the men's six-man horse team are Jack Davis Jr., Johnnie Merrill, Leon Hilliard, Leonard Bowden, Britt Ashley, and Richard Hamilton.

The women's team is also getting ready for the competition. The members of the women's team include: Teresa Davis, Lou Bowden, Cindy Ashley, Beth Hamilton, Oleta Webb, Betty Easterly, Janice Merrill, Jo Miller, and Melba Jo Emmert. The final six women who will participate in the races will be determined when the races are run.

Prizes will be awarded to the winning teams and will be composed of cash or trophies.

If you happen to be visiting the West Texas Fair Saturday, you are invited to support and cheer the local firefighters in the competition. It takes a good bit of practice and a whole lot of luck to win, battling the clock, a slip, bad connections, or almost anything that will count against you when it is down to seconds.

We can all think of many reasons to purchase items in a retail store at list price — convenience, return privilege, "free" delivery, charge privileges, an attentive sales person, and "easy payment" plans, emphasizes Nancy Brown, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Many times we either want or need these services, she adds. However, if "dollar saving" is the name of your "shopping game," take the no-frills discount route and keep a tab on your pocketbook, Brown suggests.

Blackwell

The Women's Missionary Union of the Blackwell Baptist Church resumed their weekly meetings after being out all summer. Thursday with eight ladies attending, meeting at the church.

Mrs. E. K. Finley presided for the meeting.

The scripture and calendar of prayer was read by Mrs. Ben Noble in the absence of Mrs. Olin Corley.

The prayer for the missionaries was voiced by Mrs. Vernon Ramsey. The Bible study, entitled "To What Shall I Give My Money?", was given by Mrs. Eula Nabors.

The dismissal prayer was voiced by Mrs. Thelma Smith.

Attending were Meses. Finley, Noble, Ramsey, Nabors, Smith, Charlie Strickland, Willie Burwick and Kinard.

Saturday at noon, Blackwell is having nice cool and cloudy weather. A nice breeze is blowing and a few sprinkles of rain fell about mid-morning, so we are hoping to get a good rain real soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Powell and children of Wyoming have been visiting their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Powell and Mrs. Powell's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. and Lena White, other relatives and friends.

Mr. Powell did not enjoy his visit here as he said it was too hot. He said it was nearly always just 80 degrees out there and very seldom ever reached 85 degrees and was always 50 degrees at night, so he was ready to go back home to the cool weather.

Johnny Chew of Abilene visited with his parents last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Chew.

Mrs. Ernest (Noba) Ware was rushed by ambulance late Wednesday afternoon to the Rolling Plains Memorial Hospital in Sweetwater and is still in the Intensive Care Unit, but was reported to be some improved yesterday (Friday).

Mrs. A.O. (Lena) White received word late Thursday afternoon that her brother, Duncan, had suffered a massive heart attack and she was waiting for word late Friday afternoon for word to see if she would go out there now, or if she could wait a few more days before going to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry and Lynn White and daughter, Faith, have moved to Sweetwater.

Mrs. Esther Davis came home last Monday, after spending about two weeks in the St. John's Hospital in San Angelo and then over three weeks in the Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center, also in San Angelo. Mrs. Davis is proud to be home and her sister, Marie McLendon from Arizona is staying with her now, but she don't know how long she will stay with her.

AJRA was sponsored by Barq's Root Beer.

They sponsored the AJRA National Finals at Snyder this year, Aug. 10 through Aug. 14.

Tom Messick, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Messick of Blackwell, won at the Finals World Champion in the 13 to 15 year age Bull riding.

During the finals, Tom won second in First Go Around; he then won 4th in the Second Go Around and then won 2nd in the average for the Finals Rodeo.

Besides prize money, Tom received a saddle, belt buckle and boots for his World Championship.

Tom is a sophomore at Blackwell High School. He participates in Football, track, golf and is also a class officer. He also shows swine in area livestock shows, and works part time on the R.H. Jordan Ranch.

Tom will move into the 16 to 19 year age group soon in Bull Riding. He has been a member of the AJRA since he was 7 years old.

He will participate Sunday, Sept. 12 at Alpine in a Texas High School Rodeo.

Bob Tallman of Reno, Nevada, best known as The Voice of the Rodeo, who also does the PRCA Finals in Oklahoma City, for the Hesston Telecasts was the announcer for the 2nd year at the AJRA finals. Bob is also known as the voice of "The Great American Cowboy", a nationally syndicated radio program produced by Pro-Rodeo Network.

Bob and his wife, Kristen Tallman have established the Great American Cowboy Scholarship at Western Texas College in Snyder.

The scholarship goes to a Christian member of the Jr. Rodeo Association who has a financial need and wants to pursue a college education and participate in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

The United Methodist Women of the Blackwell Methodist Church did not meet last Monday, due to the Labor Day Holiday.

They will meet this Monday for their regular meeting in the home of Mary Louise Alderman, with Mrs. Alderman as hostess. She will give the program, "Fairness and Justice: a Christian Viewpoint."

The ladies will meet twice each month now, on the 2nd and 4th Monday of each month.

Mr. and Mrs. John and Georgia Mae Clark from Gilmore are visiting their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Clark at their Oak Creek Lake Home.

The Clarks had lived in Blackwell, then moved to Tennyson where they lived several years before moving to Gilmore to be closer to their children. They reported to be in pretty good health but Mr. Clark's eyes are failing, so their son brought them out here by car. He can still drive around home, but can't drive this far.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shewmake, who have recently moved to Blackwell from Ballinger have as their visitors this week, his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Shewmake from Dallas. They report they really like that Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shewmake have moved here from that busy street they lived on in Ballinger. Mrs. Shewmake has been in bed ever since they moved as she hurt her back when they moved, but is much improved this weekend.

SS benefits for students being 'phased out' slowly

Recent legislation made a number of changes in Social Security benefits. One change affects college and other post-secondary students between the ages of 18 and 22 who are receiving benefits on the record of a retired, deceased or disabled parent. A post-secondary school is a college, university, or approved vocational school.

Under the old law, these students could receive Social Security benefits as long as they were full-time students, unmarried, and under the age 22. The new law is gradually phasing out these benefits. By April, 1985, the only students eligible for benefits will be those under age 19 in a high school, junior high school or elementary school. Children under age 18 will continue to receive benefits regardless of their student status.

Those student beneficiaries who were entitled to a check for August, 1981 and who were in full-time attendance before May, 1982 in a post-secondary school will continue to receive benefits until they marry, reach 22 or are no longer in full-time attendance. However, beginning in 1982, no benefits will be paid for May, June, July or August and these students will not receive any cost-of-living increase. In addition, these students benefits will be reduced by 2 percent each September when the checks resume. A student 18 or over who did not receive a Social Security check for August, 1981 or who was not in full-time attendance at a college or other post-secondary school before May, 1982 will not be entitled to student benefits after July, 1982 unless that student is under age 19 and in full-time attendance at a high school, junior high or elementary school. These students will be paid under the old law through July, 1982.

If you have any questions regarding student's benefits or any other Social Security matter, call 949-4608.

Arson is becoming a major activity in our state and Texans are getting the bill. Last year, more than 5,000 buildings were destroyed, an estimated loss of 100 million dollars in structures.

When criminals play with fire for revenge or profit, you pay the price with higher insurance rates. A key element in detecting and prosecuting an arsonist is the exchange of information between concerned law-abiding citizens, insurance companies and public officials. By facilitating the exchange of information, more fraudulent arson claims will be denied and the number of arrests and convictions will increase.

Governor William P.

Clements and the Texas Legislature have provided the state's criminal justice system with new tools to fight crime in Texas and stiff laws with which to prosecute. For the month of September, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on arson. Any citizen having information regarding arson activities is urged to call the anti-crime hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of these criminals.

If arson schemes are to be curtailed or controlled, we need your help. Call 1-800-252-TIPS today and help burn an arsonist.

SMALL BUSINESS— A RESOURCE WE MUST PROTECT

You can look around the square of any Texas town and see the backbone of the state economy—and of the national economy. It's small business and it provides half of all jobs. By the current state definition there are 260,000 in our state—that's 97% of all Texas businesses. The small businessman and woman not only provide jobs and pay taxes; their independent tradition also helps explain the enduring quality of our democratic form of government.

The state of Texas recognizes the importance of small business and has programs to help it. But we can do better.

For one thing, we can abolish the sales tax on utility bills which now falls basically on small business owners. Large manufacturing and processing firms don't have to pay the tax, but the grocer, retailer and florist do. It is not fair.

My opponent opposed doing away with this tax in the last session of the legislature. The tax will bring in an estimated $220 million in 1984-85. But when you compare that with the extra $5.1 billion the legislature will have to spend during that time, I feel we can do without the tax and the revenue it will bring. And, as Lt. Governor, I would support its repeal.

I would also support putting into effect recommendations of the small business task force initiated by the Governor. Two of these recommendations are especially appealing. One is to help small business borrow money at better rates. Most small businesses which fail do so because they are under-capitalized. To help that situation, franchise tax money would be deposited in participating banks, which would, in turn, make loans at lower rates to small businesses.

The other recommendation is that we form a group of small business development centers at colleges and universities statewide. Money for the centers would come from the U.S. Small Business Administration, the state and participating schools. The centers would provide training, counseling and other help to small business owners so that they could be more competitive in the marketplace.

If you have any thoughts on this, I'd like to hear them. Please write me at 1213 W. 34th Street, Austin 78705.

A DOG'S LIFE:

Stress and Your Dog

Helpful Information From The ALPO Center For Advanced Pet Study

A healthy dog has the best chance of coping with the stresses of everyday life, a situation too many dog owners neglect.

All sorts of factors can cause stress in dogs. Noisy children, a dog show and a long automobile trip are just a few. If your dog is healthy and has good nutrition reserves, he is better equipped to handle such situations.

How do you know when your dog is at its best? There are several signs dog owners can easily observe themselves including dog behavior, weight, coat and stool. If they are positive, they probably mean that the dog's nutritional reserves are adequate to handle stress. If there's a problem, your dog could be more vulnerable to other health disorders.

To start, look for a shiny coat that is clean, pliant, smooth and free of dandruff. To check for proper weight, feel the dog's ribs. The ribs should be easily felt with gentle pressure but should not be seen. The dog's behavior should be bright, alert, responsive and interested. Stools should be small, dark, dense and well-formed. If they are often loose, abundant, pale in color or poorly formed, consult your veterinarian.

For a new, free booklet on stress and your dog, send a request together with 25 cents for postage and handling to the ALPO Center for Advanced Pet Study, P.O. Box 2187, Allentown, PA 18001.

Before storing leftover yarn, snip a strand from each and tape to the outside of the box. At a glance you'll know what the box contains.

REPORT FROM SECRETARY OF STATE DAVID A. DEAN

Elections Update

At the request of Governor Clements, the Secretary of State's Office will undertake a comprehensive analysis of the election systems employed by other States. Governor Clements, noting the dissatisfaction of Texas voters with their election process as set forth in the survey for the Secretary of State's May 1 primary election analysis, commissioned the study of the various election systems nationwide for the purpose of developing solutions to offset Texas' low voter turnout and increased election cost trends. Findings of the analysis will be made available to the Governor, State leaders, and members of the 68th Texas Legislature prior to commencement of the 1983 legislative session.

On July 23, 1982, the Secretary of State was joined in Austin by state and federal law enforcement officials and prosecutorial officials for the purpose of announcing the formation and objectives of a State/Federal Voter Fraud Task Force. Since assuming the Office of the Secretary of State, numerous incidents of voting irregularities have been brought to the attention of this Office which could very well involve violations of federal and state law. On-going investigations of alleged election law violations are being conducted by the Texas Rangers in Duval, Jim Hogg, Starr, Webb, and Zapata counties. Alleged violations of election laws will be turned over to the appropriate authorities for investigation by the Texas Rangers. It is the goal of the Voter Fraud Task Force to put election law offenders on notice that elections in Texas will be conducted honestly and those who violate those laws will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

In an effort to inform the citizens of Texas of the crime of election fraud and in addition to offer state rewards for those who provide information leading to arrest and indictment of election law offenders, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council, October, 1982 public service announcement will feature election fraud as its topic. Any citizen observing instances of election irregularities is encouraged to call the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council's toll-free number at 1-800-252-TIPS.

All Texans not currently registered to vote must do so by October 3, 1982, in order to vote in the November 2nd general election. To be eligible to vote, potential voters must be a citizen of the United States, at least 18 years of age on the day of the election, a resident of the county or political subdivision conducting the election, and registered to vote. Young Texans may register to vote if they are at least 17 years and 10 months of age, but may not vote until they reach 18 years of age. To register to vote, Texans should complete a postage-paid voter registration application and mail it or present the card in person to the voter registrar in their county.

The term "maraschino" in reference to cherries derives from the liqueur distilled from the juice of the marasca cherry in which the fruit was originally preserved.

A Robert Lee man charged with murder and attempted murder in connection with the shooting death of a 37-year-old woman and the wounding of a game warden in Robert Lee was taken to Tom Green County Jail in lieu of $200,000 bond last Wednesday night.

Luther Lara Jr., of Robert Lee, was arrested at his home Tuesday, Sept. 7, in connection with the slaying of Victoria Delacruz Ortiz of Robert Lee, who was pronounced dead at a Robert Lee residence at 8 p.m. Sept. 7 by Justice of the Peace Cova Sparks.

Sparks Burdett, a former San Angelo policeman who has been with the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife since 1980, is listed in improved condition after being moved from Intensive Care to a private room in Shannon West Texas Memorial Hospital in San Angelo with bullet wounds to the right arm and stomach, according to a hospital spokesman.

Coke County Sheriff Marshal Millican, investigating the case, said Burdett was hit by a .38-caliber bullet which pierced his right arm and entered his right upper chest, stopping on his left side.

Law enforcement sources say Ms. Ortiz and Burdett were hit by shots fired from a handgun wielded by a man who forced his way into Burdett's home, after an incident stemming from an argument in which Ms. Ortiz came from a nearby house to Burdett's residence seeking assistance.

Services for the youngster were held at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 9 at Higginbotham Funeral Home in Cross Plains.

Steve Baugh was treated at Hendrick Medical Center late Tuesday for burns to his arms and chest he received trying to rescue his daughter, according to Tim Bishop, Cross Plains rural volunteer fire chief.

Baugh's wife, Dale, and Samantha's 6-year-old sister, Theresa, ran to a nearby neighbors home when the fire was discovered, and were not injured.

Baugh was aided by a neighbor and two unidentified truck drivers in his rescue attempts, but they were unable to pull the girl from the flames.
