City to consider boosting water rates by 15 percent

The Winters City Council has set Monday, October 4, as the date for a public hearing for a proposed increase in the amounts charged for city water.

The council is considering increasing the rates by 15 percent for customers in the City of Winters. If the increase in the water rates meets with council approval, the new rates would be effective with the October billing.

The city administrator said that this will be the first year that the city will be paying on the bonded indebtedness from the new lake.

Brown said that a public hearing was not required, but in view of problems caused by water rate increases in Ballinger, it would be better to hold a public hearing on any water rate increase. This, he said, would help to keep residents here fully aware of steps being taken by the city and why.

Both the council and the city administrator noted that in recent public hearings held by the council the only persons present were council members and representatives of the news media. The only exception was the recent public hearing on paving assessment for several streets.

The city officials expressed hopes that local residents will take more interest in the public hearings that are held by the council.

Judge Royal Hart

Runnels County honored newly appointed 51st State District Judge Royal Hart this past week with a reception held in Ballinger. Hart, who has served a number of years as 119th District Attorney, was recently appointed to the post of District Judge by Governor Bill Clements.

A new trailer

Bob Prewit, president of the Area IV Winters Young Farmer Chapter, recently presented a $100 check to Terry Kruse, treasurer of the Winters High School FFA. The money will be used for the lease program for the FFA stock trailer. Each year FFA Chapters trade in their trailer and $100 for a new trailer courtesy of a Wichita Falls company.

New hangers to be built at Winters Municipal Airport

Four new airplane hangers will soon be constructed at the Winters Municipal Airport following action Monday by the Winters City Council.

David Bradley had approached the city requesting permission to construct the new hangers in an area immediately north of the present hanger buildings. In granting their approval, the council cancelled a lease held by the North Runnels Flying Club for a hangar. Bradley told the council that he has lease commitments for two hanger spaces besides the one that he will use. The North Runnels Flying Club has agreed to take one of the spaces and Jay Archer, of California, has asked for another. Bradley said that he has several prospects for the fourth space.

The council noted that there would be a considerable amount of dirt work to be done before the new 32 X 145 foot building could be built. Also discussed was the possibility of paving the apron area around the hangers. Bradley said that the floors of the hangers would not be cement, but would be caliche.

The city council and Bradley agreed to $37.50 per year for the lease on the land to be occupied by the hangers.

Lone Star Gas city gate rate hearing recessed

Railroad Hearings Examiner Michael George granted a joint motion last week by Lone Star Gas Company and the Texas Municipal League for a two-week continuance in the Commission hearing to consider Lone Star's request to increase natural gas rates charged to municipal distribution systems.

Attorneys for Lone Star and TML said they were close to reaching a settlement agreement on the proposed rates and said the recess would allow them to finalize details and have them approved by affected city governments.

Any agreement reached between the parties must still be approved by the Railroad Commission.

In granting the continuance, George directed the parties to file documents associated with the settlement not later than September 27, and scheduled the hearing to reopen September 29 at 2 p.m. at the Railroad Commission headquarters building in Austin.

Lone Star filed a statement of intent with the Railroad Commission June 25 asking for an increase in its city gate rate. The city gate rate is the delivery point at which a city distribution system receives its gas from its supplier. The proposed $90 million increase would affect more than 400 Texas cities and outlying areas and more than 1.1 million bill-paying customers.

The Lone Star application has been opposed by the Texas Municipal League who is representing more than 100 of the affected cities.

He went that way...

Winters police suspect either a prankster or vandal released the brakes on this schoolbus last Thursday evening. The bus, used by the Building Trades Class, was left parked near the shop building at the high school. After the brakes were released, the vehicle rolled down the slope, across the street, and smashed into the porch of an apartment. Damage was minor, and there were no injuries. Witnesses told officers they saw someone running between the school buildings about the time the bus began rolling.

Public ignores hearings, council approves budgets

The Winters City Council gave the approval to the proposed Revenue Budget and the proposed Revenue Sharing Budget this week following a public hearing on the budget proposals.

The council noted that there was no one appearing before the council, or attending the public hearing to speak for, or against the budget proposals.

The proposed budget for the City of Winters for fiscal year 1982-83 calls for revenues totaling $1,176,095 and expenditures totaling $903,807. The proposal also calls for a beginning balance in the of $268,223 and an ending balance of $272,288.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that of the total of $1,176,095 in revenues contained in the budget, the General Fund revenues account for $492,100, Water and Sewer revenues to total $375,500, and $40,272 from Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

The expenditures, which are expected total $903,807, will be broken down to General Fund $489,098, Water and Sewer fund $185,937, Revenue Sharing $40,272, Water and Sewer Bond Sinking funds $179,000, and Water and Sewer Reserve Funds $9,500.

City Administrator Glenn Brown told the council that the 1982-83 budget proposal would have to be adopted this week, and that when the appraisal district releases the 1982 tax rolls the council will be able to adopt a tax rate to go along with the proposed budget.

In the proposed Revenue Sharing Budget, which totals $40,272, the funds will be used like this: $6,000 Street Department for Heavy Equipment Reserve fund; $8,000 Street Department for replacement pick up; $7,000 Street Department for minor street repairs and asphalt; $7,000 Administration for codification of city ordinances; $5,500 for Civil Defense Sirens; $1,000 for Animal Control Shelter repairs; $2,000 for Christmas lights; $1,400 for the Public Library; $600 for the Council on Alcoholism; $600 for the OEO Building; and $1,172 for the Contingency fund.

In a related matter the council gave its approval to contact the accounting firm of Davis, Kinard & Co. to conduct the annual audit for fiscal year 1981-82. The city administrator told the council that of the three accounting firms contacted, all gave approximate cost estimates of $5,000 to $6,000. Last year's audit was conducted by Tom Hamner, CPA, who charged $4,000 and indicated that he would be looking at a significant increase for the same services this year. The council noted that Hamner, who has done the annual audit for the past two years, has done an adequate job.

The city administrator also told the council that the audit firms were experienced in governmental accounting and did have the background to provide the city with a financial statement consistent with the provisions of the Governmental Accounting, Auditing and Financial Reporting which is generally used by most cities of any size.

Dragons 39, Blizzards 13

The Blizzards showed some tremendous improvement in their offense last week as they had a total of 305 yards in their game against Bangs, but they could not seem to punch the ball on into the end-zone. Winters managed to score two times on a previously unscored upon Bangs Dragons, but they had several other opportunities in which the Blizzards were inside the Bangs 15-yard line, but failed to get any closer.

At the end of the first quarter of play, score was Bangs 12, Winters 0. Bangs consistently came up with big plays to get themselves out of trouble. Winters finally scored in the second quarter, with a 3-yd. pass from Jeff Butts to Greg Guevarra. Ronnie Lujano kicked the extra point.

In the fourth quarter, Jeff Butts threw a 30-yd touchdown pass to Kent Billups. The Blizzards went for the two-point conversion, but missed it.

The Blizzard offensive line (Kevin Busher, Kelly Hood, Paul Trevino, Barron Guy, Jeff McDorman, Kent Billups, and Greg Guevarra) did a much better job of blocking this last week against

Special meeting set by city council to discuss trash, parking meters

The Winters City Council has scheduled a special work session and public meeting for Monday evening, September 27, in the Winters Community Center at 7 p.m. to discuss proposed changes in the contract with Tony's Disposal Service for trash pick up and the future of parking meters in Winters.

City Administrator Glenn Brown said that business people and residents are urged to attend the meeting to learn what changes are being proposed in the new contract for garbage pick up in the city. The new proposal, still in the working stage, will mean an increase in the rates that many business pay for the service. Also there is the possibility that dumpster-type containers may be placed in the business district for trash pick up. For residential service, the contractor is proposing no change in the rates now being paid.

Brown said that both business owners and residents will be invited to express their feelings about the parking meters in the downtown area. At the present time, the parking meters are not patrolled leaving the person parking at any particular meter to use the "honor system". The city administrator said that the city needed to either use and enforce the metered parking or get the meters out of the way. If the decision is made to use the meters, a number of parking meters will have to be purchased to replace some that are damaged beyond repair or missing.

All Winters residents and business people are urged to attend the special work-shop session with the city council next Monday evening at 7 p.m. in the Community Center.

Cisco ballgame causes classes to dismiss early

Due to the distance to be traveled for this week's football game against Cisco, Winters schools will be dismissed at 2:30 Friday, Sept. 24. Buses will run at that time.

Blizzard fans are reminded that this game will be the first game in District play, and that all games from now on will begin at 7:30 p.m., instead of 8 p.m.

Glidden Tour in Trouble

Rain fell heavily while the Gliddenites slept at Toledo, and when a start was made on Thursday morning road conditions were the worst possible. The distance was 166.3 miles, according to the route book, and it appeared to be five times that length to those who rode through the rain and the mud. The schedule called for 18 1/2 miles an hour and this was nearly twice as fast as was reasonable under the conditions.

Beginning with the Maxwell Confetti Car, which slid over the bank into the ditch and had to be pulled out with a four horse team, the troubles of the tourists came thick and fast.

Almost at the outset a Pierce Arrow, driven by K.R. Otis, skidded and turned turtle while trying to pass another Pierce Arrow on a narrow, slippery road. The car went down a four foot embankment, pinning Mr. and Mrs. Otis underneath. They received painful injuries and were placed in a hospital, deciding to withdraw from the race. Ed Spooner, photographer, a passenger in the Otis car was unhurt and continued the trip in the Orrel Parker car. The Parkers carried Ed and about 100 lbs. of folding dark room plates. He stood in the back seat with his hobnail boots pressing into the cushion and leaning over to take a picture of the car behind him. Sometimes Ed was mostly in the air.

A second accident of a serious nature happened when a Packard skidded and rolled down a high embankment. The driver was crushed by the wheel, suffering a broken rib and internal injuries. George Hunt took charge of the car which had been hauled out of the ditch. With only a half of the steering wheel left, Hunt making up for lost time took a hill at high speed and could not disengage the clutch. The car drove through a rail of a railroad bridge and hung with the front wheels over the track 30 feet below. Hunt stuck with the car and it was drawn back to the highway. After the clutch and steering gear had been repaired Hunt continued on to South Bend.

There was hardly a car in the race which did not have some form of narrow escape from accidents. One veteran of previous Glidden Tours had ill luck which caused him a loss of 23 points. He withdrew from the race at Chicago. Orrel Parker also decided that he would not continue as a contestant. But he accompanied the tourists on his own schedule, which he said was arranged to meet conditions of the road and weather.

The third day was fairly easy with good roads and the contestants were inspired to know the next two days would be spent in rest. The friction which was evident in the touring board ended in the resignation of Meyers of Chicago, a board member for several years. He said there was no reason for the existence of the touring board when Hower assumed all the responsibilities.

Those who protested that the A.A.A. Tour was developing into a cross-country scramble had their justification as the race resumed on Monday, when the committee put into operation a scheme where it was impossible for any competitor to lay up for himself by fast-driving a reserve of minutes for possible emergencies. Chairman Hower, on official Pierce '99', set out half an hour ahead of the first car, maintaining an average speed and forbidding any contestant to pass the pacemaker. The plan worked, for no complaints were heard. However, the day had not been without its hazards as the mud was plentiful and deep along the route, and at its worst at Crocker where it gave an Indiana farmer some amusement and $54.00 profit to pull 27 Glidden Tour cars out of the mud.

Mrs. Parker enjoyed the Glidden Tour and especially after Orrel withdrew from the race and the pace was not so strenuous. She jotted down "on the spot" information for Ed's pictures. In the hotels at night with all the reporters present, she could tell exactly where and what had taken place. Ed developed his pictures, she and Orrel wrote articles for the newspapers and several automobile magazines. In an article for The Motor World, they gave their opinion of Chicago:

"The grand 'Glidden Tour Race Meet', at Chicago, which the posters announced was to be given in honor of the tourists, was a 'winner'. They were informed by large banners that they were welcome, nevertheless everyone of them was charged $1.00 admission when they reached the Harlem track." Nothing was complimentary in Chicago."

In the fifth days run of 147 miles from South Bend to Indianapolis, three of the contestants lost their places as perfect performers. It was a hard day's trip with the first half through a blinding rainstorm and the latter half under hot rays of the sun. At Kokomo the tourists made brief stops at the Apperson and Haynes factories, where they were met in grand style. Apperson brothers served refreshments, with white-jacketed waiters, while gasoline, water and oil tanks were filled. While the Haynes people sent their refreshments out in cars and served sandwiches and cold drinks to the tourists on the move. When they arrived at Dayton, the Stoddard-Dayton company served food to the tired and hungry travelers.

The Mayor was in the party which escorted the early arrivals into Indianapolis. In a short speech he gave the visitors the freedom of the city. Sorrow was expressed when Mr. Glidden announced that word had come of the death of Mr. Clark, injured in the second day's run. That night the cars were parked in Monument Circle and guarded by policemen.

The trip to Columbus, a distance of 174 miles, was the longest one of the whole tour. In all, 56 cars reached Columbus, of which 46 were contestants, and were parked in the capitol square. Chief of Police O'Conner met the tourists and assured them that breaking of the speed limit would not cause any trouble, so the cars cut loose, coming into State Street that had been cleared by the police. The members of the local committee could not say enough in praise of the police.

So far, so good, but the worst is yet to come!

"Friends of Lawrence Welk" to appear in Ballinger, Oct. 6

"The Friends of Lawrence Welk", featuring stars from the Lawrence Welk television show, will be in Ballinger on Wednesday, Oct. 6 at the high school auditorium for a one-night only concert, sponsored by the Ballinger Carnegie Library Restoration Committee. Show time is 8:15 p.m.

Headlining the evening of musical variety will be the famous singing Otwell Twins, country stylist Ava Barber, and accordionist Joey Schmidt.

The Otwell Twins are often referred to as "America's favorite singing twins." David and Roger Otwell have endeared themselves to millions of television viewers through weekly appearances on "The Lawrence Welk Show".

Natives of Tullia, Texas, the Otwells have also performed at Disney World in Florida, Disneyland in California, countless fairs, concerts, and theatres-in-the-round, plus extended engagements at the Harbor Island Sheraton Hotel in San Diego and most recently in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. Born and raised in Knoxville, Tennessee, Ava Barber began singing professionally at age ten, and joined the "Bonnie Lou and Buster Bluegrass Show" at age fifteen. Several years later she was "discovered" by Lawrence Welk and became a regular on his show. Her recording of "Bucket of the South" ranked in the top ten on stations in the U.S. and Canada.

Joey Schmidt is another Lawrence Welk discovery. Few musicians can recognize fine accordionists better than Welk, and while still a teenage Joey began entertaining audiences on the Welk show. Since then he has entertained at Lawrence Welk Village near Escondido, California, and has recorded a three-accordion album with Welk and the legendary Myron Floren. Joey also plays drums, trumpet, saxophone, and synthesizer, and has produced two records in which he plays all the instruments himself.

"Friends of Lawrence Welk" is presented in cooperation with the Texas Assembly of Arts Councils, and tickets may be obtained at the Winters Chamber of Commerce office on West Dale Street.

The expression "He wears his heart on his sleeve" probably comes from an old English Valentine's Day custom. In the 1700s, a young man used to wear a paper with his loved one's name on his sleeve for several days after the holiday.

Some people once believed that shooting arrows under a fruit tree would cause the fruit to fall off the tree just as the arrows fell.

CRIME: IT'S THE VICTIMS WHO ARE LOCKED UP

I want to talk to you this week about an issue that troubles me greatly and which I know is of great concern to Texans. It seems that whenever I have spoken about crime in the past 12 months I have gotten a strong and troubled response. No matter where I am—Jewett, Roma or Dalhart—people tell me they are angry and afraid about crime in our state.

This anger and fear concerns me for two reasons. First, because this kind of anger and fear serves as a sort of "jail" for innocent people. They are the ones locked in their homes at night while criminals go free. The second reason I am concerned is because unless something is done to stop the crime epidemic, people will be ripe for the kind of politician who will play on citizens' fears. The result could be that Texans lose their liberty in return for their "safety". In that sense, the crime problem is like a cancer gnawing at democracy.

The incumbent Lt. Governor's response to the crime issue has been shameful. While he has been in office the crime rate has risen 131%. He has done nothing to attack crime in a substantial way. In fact, he has fought stronger anti-crime measures. He openly opposed the new wiretapping law designed to catch drug dealers. He openly opposed the Governor's anti-crime package by putting it in a legislative committee run by a hostile Senator, who promptly bottled it up. Much of the package passed anyway and now Mr. Hobby has the gall to go around the state taking credit for it!

His sympathies in the fight against crime are evident. Not long ago he allowed the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) to hold a fundraiser in his Houston mansion and he proudly defends it. The ACLU has consistently opposed laws that would make it easier to deal with the crime problem.

I think such two-faced maneuvering is disgraceful. It is obvious that if we are going to attack the crime problem, if we are ever going to give law officers, judges and prison guards the tools they need to make us safer, Bill Hobby will have to go.

If you have thoughts about this, I'd like to hear from you. Please write me at 1213 W. 34th, Austin, 78705.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

In pioneer days, making a fire was frequently difficult. Today, unfortunately, starting a house fire seems to be too easy.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) reports 284 persons died in home fires last year in Texas. Seventy-six deaths occurred in persons 19 years of age or younger — while 46 persons died in the one through four-year-old category. Fires also killed 94 persons age 55 and over.

The insured property loss last year from all fires in Texas was estimated at $320 million, according to the State Insurance Board.

There are some basic safety measures that can protect your family from becoming a fire statistic, according to the TDH.

With winter approaching, homeowners should inspect their chimneys for cracks which could allow embers or carbon monoxide to escape. It's wise to clean your chimney annually to avoid chimney fires, especially if you burn wood or coal. Make sure the flues are strong and tight, and every fireplace should have a noncombustible hearth and a good spark screen.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, a chimney should be at least three feet above the roof peak and two feet above any portion of the building within 10 feet.

Don't forget the central heating unit. The pilot should burn with a clean, blue flame, and the vents should be unobstructed. In addition, check your electric system. Electrical cords should never run near heaters, through doorways, or under carpets, where foot traffic can cause extreme wear. Tacking cords to the wall is another potential source of trouble.

Never use or store gasoline or other flammable liquids near a water heater. Invisibly fumes can become ignited and cause a devastating explosion and fire.

Every household should work out escape routes from each room and then hold fire drills. There should be a meeting place agreed upon outside where everyone is to go. Many people have lost their lives going back into a burning structure in search for someone who was safely outside.

Finally, install smoke detectors and make sure they are approved by Underwriters Laboratories or some other recognized testing laboratory. If the detectors are battery operated, check the batteries often.

After defrosting the freezer, spray it with a vegetable oil spray. Next time you defrost, it'll be less work.

Runnels youth earns second in awards program

Craig Teplicek, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Teplicek of Rowena earned second place in the 1982 State Record Book Awards Program. The seventeen-year-old youth is currently a junior at Ballinger High School and a member of the Rowena 4-H Club.

At the local and district level, Craig received 1st place winnings to earn the opportunity to enter at the state level. The second place winning entitles the youth to be an alternate at the Youth Range Workshop sponsored by the Texas Section Society for Range Management.

World's Most Spectacular Sights

COLORADO'S MAGICAL MOUNTAINS

Each year, as the weather grows cooler, Colorado—the state known as the top of the nation—dons a coat of many colors. Its magical mountains of aspens first crown the higher elevations and then, as molten gold, slowly flow downward during the month-long season mid-September through mid-October.

A network of Colorado highways takes you within close viewing distance and optimum camera range of the largest aspen groves found between eight and ten thousand feet. Lower elevations are aflame with oak, sumac and cottonwood.

The Aspen area, true to its namesake, is one of Colorado's most spectacular autumn amphitheatres. Independence Pass, Maroon Bells and the ghost town of Ashcroft, all near Aspen, present a dazzling color carnival.

Both the Million Dollar Highway between Durango and Ouray and the Lizard Head Pass Route 145 between Dolores and Telluride offer dramatic stands. The Slungullion Pass Route 149 between Lake City and Creede and the Gunnison area also provide exceptional Nature paints the mountains with an array of colors to delight the photographer and inspire the sightseer.

Less traveled but equally awesome is the Peak to Peak Highway from Black Hawk to Allenspark. The best aspen groves are usually between Nederland and Ward and State 72.

Through early October you can ride into history on the Durango to Silverton and the Cumbres & Toltec narrow gauge railroads. Fishing is at its finest as well.

A free Colorado fall fun packet is available by writing to Colorado Autumn, Dept. 986N, P.O. Box 38700, Denver, CO 80238.

Round 'em up! Move 'em out! Head 'em up the trail toward old Abilene!

Yes, the 23rd annual Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children is in full swing and the countdown has started. For more than 23 years, the ranchers and stockmen of the Southwest have joined hands with the West Texas Rehabilitation Centers to help the handicapped. Every fall the CRCC is a great part of the neighbor-helping-neighbor philosophy of this part of the country.

The kickoff sale of cattle will debut at 1 p.m., Sept. 27, in Abilene. A horse sale will follow Oct. 2 in Abilene; a sheep and goat sale Oct. 4, in Junction; a special auction Oct. 6 in Coleman; and another special auction Nov. 3 in Brownwood.

This writer has joined the many volunteers throughout Texas, traveling and talking to stockmen encouraging them to participate in this year's drive. All proceeds, along with CRCC gifts of cash, are used for treatment of patients at West Texas Rehab Centers in San Angelo, Abilene and Snyder.

WTRC campuses are private, non-profit treatment and diagnostic facilities. A patient needs only a doctor's referral to be admitted. There is no charge for Rehab services. Established in 1953, the WTRC is fully accredited.

I was on duty last week in San Angelo as we officially opened the new $2.5 million facility there. Hundreds of supporters and friends filed through the pride showing as they observed the fully equipped center of "love".

I first became acquainted with Rehab five years ago when my youngest daughter was born with a heart problem. Resident doctors diagnosed her problems and saved her life.

Shortly afterward, Shelley V. Smith, WTRC executive director, came to the newspaper office where I was working at the time and asked me to help him with some writing to tell my readers about CRCC that fall. They needed some help to raise some funds for the center.

Similar to the economic conditions of this year, I toured the Center and addressed the cause. That was five round-ups ago. With all my other businesses and daily problems, my staff and clients say to me: "You're going to have to slow down and maybe drop some of those road trips for Rehab."

Let me share something with my readers out there: I may be forced to slow down or drop a client down the road somewhere, but it won't be WTRC. It's like the printer's ink that's been in my veins for 25 years, the religion in my soul as a Presbyterian or being a Republican, a weird combination, granted, yet it's very much a part of my life!

Folks, the little crippled children need your help. The older adults who have had strokes and used up all their money in medical centers but need additional rehabilitation need your help. When you donate livestock and need some deductions from the IRS, you need help. Let us hear from you now. Call 915/692-1633 or send your cash donation to this column, P.O. Box 1542, San Angelo, Texas, 76902, and I will personally see that your gift gets to the Rehab Center. Your rewards for doing so will be the best thing you ever did.

Texas oil production set at 100 percent

The Texas Railroad Commission has set the Texas oil production rate for October, 1982 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 68th month in a row and the 124th time since the commission first went to the ceiling level in April, 1972.

Chairman Jim Nugent and Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in October totaling 2,459,543 barrels per day, a decrease of 5,009 barrels daily when compared with September, 1982 buyer requests. October, 1981, nominations totaled 2,509,332 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,918,542 barrels per day with actual production estimated at 2,395 million barrels per day. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that area assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in October, 1981, was 2,428,172 barrels daily.

Nugent reported that October, 1982, nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 18,844,872 Mcfd (thousand cubic feet per day). Gas nominations for September amounted to 12,484,229 Mcfd.

CAR CARE CORNER

AVOID ADDING TO TRAFFIC JAM
It happens every year and 1982 was no exception: on that first blistering day of the season traffic piled up behind overheated cars. This situation was aggravated in rush-hour driving when other cars began steaming. Their drivers, possibly unaware of the engine heat generated by the air conditioner running, soon became part of the problem.

The domino theory begins as congestion begets more overheating. Proper servicing of the cooling system before such trouble begins is the logical first step in preventing such inconvenience, says Car Care Council. Overheating usually is caused by failure of some component of the cooling system, something as simple as a split hose or loose clamp allowing coolant to leak out, a slipping fan belt or a weak radiator pressure cap.

If you get caught in a traffic jam created by someone else's car neglect, you can do a few things to reduce your chances of boiling over. First, do not use the air conditioner. It puts a load on your engine.

Speed up your engine, assuming you're sitting at idle, so that the fan can move more air through the radiator and the waterpump will circulate more coolant.

CAUTION: Do not attempt to remove the pressure cap from an overheating engine. You could be scalded. Instead, shut off the engine, allow it to cool down and then remove the cap with the protection of a wad of rags.

Beef & Range Tour, fieldday

A Bi-County Beef & Range Tour and Fieldday has been scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 25. The tour will begin at 8:15 a.m. at the E.J. Bishop & Son ranch near Wingate, and end at the Chadbourne Ranch near Bronte.

Runnels and Coke County Extension and Soil Conservation Services, along with selected producers and resource personnel will present two main programs to area livestock producers. These two programs will consist of improved pastures and Embryo Transplant of Beef Cattle. Along with the tour and fieldday, a free barbecue lunch will be provided.

NEWS FOR WOMEN

Growing Golf Interest

Women play an increasingly important role in golf today. The percentage of women golfers continues to rise dramatically and purses for the Ladies PGA Tour have risen in like manner. They've increased tenfold in just ten years.

During the last decade the number of women playing at least 15 rounds of golf a year has grown to 26 percent while the percentage of men has dropped to 66 percent.

Winters Volunteer Fire Department news

At the monthly business meeting of the department, Tuesday, September 14, Richard G. Hawkins was elected as a member of the department. Richard and his wife operate the Rock Hotel, and Richard also has a repair shop for small motors.

Seven firemen and nine of the wives made the pumper races at the West Texas Fair in Abilene, but had a little hard luck. The ladies team blew a connection, and failed to make time while the men's team made the hook-up in 27 seconds but failed to place in the competition. Even though the teams did not win, everyone had a good time at the fair anyway.

We wish to thank Runnels County and Commissioner David Carroll for the paving of the alley on the east side of Sunlawn where the fire department barbecue pit is located.

The department wishes to remind the citizens who will be using wood stoves or fire places with the cold weather coming on to carefully check all flues and see that they are all in good condition.

The fire department would like to wish speedy recoveries to members Joe Emert and David Carroll. Emert is recovering from surgery at West Texas Medical Center in Abilene and Carroll is recuperating at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene following surgery.

EARLY MATURING

STRONG STANDING

Now here's a hard red winter wheat that was specially bred for the growing conditions in most of Texas and Southern Oklahoma. New 812, the early-maturing variety with excellent grain yield potential. It has yield-power that produced grain yields as high as 90 bu./acre in grower tests.

PRO Brand 812 Wheat also excels as exceptional winter pasture. It's superior because of extra vigor. That means fast-starting forage and rapid regrowth. Growers report it's the best grazing wheat they've ever planted.

Following a luncheon, Mrs. Seale opened the meeting by reading the poem "Appreciation of Love" written by Saint Francis Assisi.

More top-flight commitments for LaJet Classic, Oct. 7-10

Lee Trevino, Andy Bean, Scott Hoch, and Fuzzy Zoeller head the latest list of pro golfers who have committed to play in the 1982 LaJet Classic, Oct. 7-10, at the Fairway Oaks Golf and Racquet Club, according to Tournament Director Steve Threlkeld.

Threlkeld also announced today that former U.S. Open champion Lou Graham and gallery favorite Chi Chi Rodriguez will be in the field for the $350,000 tournament that benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Back surgery has curtailed Trevino's playing time on the pro tour in 1982, he ranks only 108th on the current money list. But he's determined to make a comeback to the level of golf that has made him one of the all-time leading money winners in the history of the sport.

Trevino was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame in Sept., 1981. During his distinguished

FACTS & FIGURES

A freeze on Social Security cost-of-living increases could cut the benefits of the average retired worker by more than $325 a year. For the average retired couple, the figure would be about $475.

Such cuts could result in a poverty rate spurt of as much as 25 percent among the elderly. The AFL-CIO has called on the President and Congress to protect the elderly from their particular vulnerability to inflation.

Social Security experts with the AFL-CIO predict that the Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance programs under Social Security will build large surpluses in the 25 years before 2015. They suggest that shortfalls between now and 1990 be handled by borrowing from trust funds and general revenues. This could then be paid back from the surpluses. And it can help America pay back the efforts of our elderly to make America great.

WATER WISDOM?

A lot of people are all wet when it comes to knowing the facts about water. Here are a few fascinating facts from the experts at Good Water, America, a coalition to tell people about the importance of clean water, that you might like to drop into an average day.

On an average day, 87 gallons of water are used by each of us for everything from bathing, flushing of wastes, laundry, dishwashing and watering our yards.

If you factor in the water needed to create the food and products we consume (120 gallons to produce an egg; 3,500 gallons to produce one steak; 60,000 gallons to produce the ton of steel in your car) our indirect usage of water soars to 2,000 gallons per day for each of us.

Government studies indicate that some 95,000 miles of sewer pipe must be installed or replaced in the next 20 years.

During the next ten years, 170 of our 756 urban areas will be served by water systems which are 90 or more years old.

The federal government is turning over responsibility for water and sewage facilities to the states and municipal facilities.

If we maintain our water and sewage facilities well, we can be more sure of a plentiful supply of clean, fresh water. Now that's a mouth-watering thought.

For more interesting facts about water, write to GOOD WATER, AMERICA at 605 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Hints for Homemakers

Tips To Help You
Kitchen appliances should be carefully evaluated and selected to work harmoniously in an overall kitchen plan.

That advice comes from C. Jean Mattingly, manager of General Electric's home remodeling department and the first woman to earn the title of Certified Kitchen Designer.

Consider all the available options when buying new kitchen appliances.

She stresses the importance of being bold and open-minded in selecting kitchen appliances.

"Most homeowners, for example, know that with refrigerators in addition to right or left hand opening, they can get freezers on the top, on the bottom or as one half of a side-by-side unit," Miss Mattingly says.

When buying ovens—conventional and microwave—consider the eye level models. They're available either as wall or above the range units. They conserve counter space and save the cook from stooping with hot, heavy loads. Countertop microwaves, Childhood Diseases—On Permanent Summer Vacation From School?

This September, approximately 4 1/2 million children will file through the doors of public and private schools all across the country. They will carry with them an enviable record. They are part of a generation of youngsters who have been so well immunized that they are seeing historically low numbers of vaccine-preventable diseases in their classrooms. In 1981, fewer cases of measles, rubella (German measles), mumps, tetanus, and polio were recorded than ever before in our Nation's history. Reported cases of diphtheria and pertussis were near record lows. In 1982, these disease totals are expected to decrease even more.

This happy state was achieved only through the expenditure of great time and effort by numerous people involved in the immunization of our young people—educators, medical practitioners, public health staff, and especially parents. School principals and local health agencies, placing increased emphasis on the enforcement of school immunization laws which cover, in some cases, children from ages 4 to 18, helped to assure that students preparing to enroll in school were protected against these once-common diseases.

In addition, standardized school health records for those already enrolled enabled school nurses to give this same assurance to the remainder of the student body. Parents updated family medical records for preschoolers as well as adolescents to meet these expanded State school requirements. Physicians were asked to complete copies of official State immunization record cards, administering additional doses of vaccine where necessary.

These efforts have won the initial skirmishes in the war against childhood diseases, but we cannot be satisfied with these successes. We have developed strategies, improved technology and worked through cooperation. We have been successful, but further challenge is ahead of us.

Makes Measles a Memory

Perhaps the most serious of the vaccine-preventable childhood diseases is measles, also known as rubeola, red measles and 10-days measles.

The serious complications of measles, such as pneumonia, blindness, deafness and encephalitis, may occur as often as once in every 1,000 cases reported to the Public Health Service.

In 1977, more than 57,000 cases of measles were reported. Last year, there were fewer than 3,000 cases—a sign that the national childhood immunization campaign is succeeding and a reason for medical experts to predict that in 1982 we may be able to eliminate measles as a home-grown disease in this country.

Health officials are now concentrating on protecting a very young and vulnerable group—those children under 5 years of age. Children in this group are often found at home with mother or with other youngsters at a day-care center. These toddlers who spend their days in the home with a family member usually do so for continuing periods of months or years; there is no automatic annual reminder which brings immunization of the preschooler to the attention of the parents. The same situation exists for those enrolled in day-care centers. Unlike older children, these youngsters frequently attend their "play school" every day all year long. For these toddlers and their parents who work, there is no 3-month summer vacation which ends in September—the month in which preparations are made for the older child to enter a new classroom. This, then, means there is no single traditional "season" of the year in which to immunize preschoolers.

Without the convenient reminders which are issued by schools and medical officials in this late summer season, some parents are inclined to let immunizations for this young group slide until they enter kindergarten, or until they are covered by the State school attendance law and immunization becomes mandatory. During the months, or even years, when these preschoolers remain unimmunized, the disease-causing organisms continue to circulate. If a virus is unknowingly brought into a day-care center which has several youngsters who are still susceptible to these diseases, the result could be an epidemic.

Our national immunization levels for children entering school are now the highest they have ever been—most levels average over 95 percent. When we reach these same high levels of protection in children ages 2, 3, or 4 years old, we will be able to say that childhood diseases will be on permanent summer vacation from school.

I urge you to be sure your children are properly immunized.

On top of things

Greg Guevarra moved quickly to recover a fumble at the line of scrimmage during the Bangs-Winters football game last Friday night. The Blizzards are due to start District play when they go to Cisco to meet the Lobos.

Blizzard Ronnie Lujano rolls up yardage Friday night, going around the end against the Bangs Dragons. Although Winters lost the game to Bangs, 39-13, they are showing progress.

Lifting the spirits

Winters Junior High School cheerleaders led the weekly pep rally at the football field prior to the Junior High football games last Thursday.

(Blizzard From Page 1) Jeff Butts had one of his best games ever this last week, as the Blizzard quarterback. Jeff completed 15 of 30 passes for 230 yards.

This week, Winters travels to Cisco to begin their district play. Cisco's record is 2-1, while the Blizzards are 3-0. Winters' record is 3-0. Winters' record is 3-0. Winters' record is 3-0.

whereas Cisco's opponents are 3 wins and 6 losses. The Blizzards have been playing some very tough opponents, and have had some key plays which could have turned the games around. If Winters will start making some of these key plays instead of their opponents, then they will be a strong contender for the district race.

See you in Cisco, beginning at 7:30.

Virginia man is hospitalized, jailed Sunday

Runnels County authorities say that a 19-year-old Virginia man was treated and released from Ballinger Memorial Hospital and then placed in the Runnels County Jail Sunday after he lost control of his vehicle south of Ballinger, ran off the road, and overturned several times.

Jail records show that Kevin R. Carter of North Tazewell, Virginia was charged with driving while intoxicated, no valid motor vehicle inspection sticker, speeding, and possession of marijuana.

Ballinger police, sheriff's officers, and Highway Patrol Troopers were alerted to a possible drunk driver by a store clerk Sunday afternoon in Ballinger and located the suspect vehicle speeding south toward Paint Rock on U.S. 83. Before officers could get close enough to pursue the car, the vehicle ran off the roadway and overturned several times throwing Carter from the car.

Officers said that Concho County authorities were also alerted and were waiting at the county line to apprehend the suspected drunk driver.

IT'S A FACT!

To keep their cool, today's smaller engines need a coolant with a concentration of 44 to 55 percent ethylene glycol. A coolant not only removes heat from the engine but also keeps the automatic transmission and other systems working smoothly.

Eighty percent of car owners install their own coolant. The makers of the best-seller "Prestone II" Anti-Freeze/Coolant suggest that rather than merely draining and refilling the radiator, you flush out the old solution. This job can be easy with a Flush 'n Fill kit from Prestone II. After flushing, add a solution of half coolant, half water. This job will be easier if you use the new "Prestone" funnel which allows ease of pouring even if the radiator opening is angled off on the side.
