Winters Blizzards blitz Baird, 35-12

Support urged for Blizzards

The Winters Blizzards started off rather slowly in last week's game against Baird, but finished strong. After running only four offensive plays the first quarter, the Blizzards got their offense untracked in the second and third quarter. The Winters team couldn't score points the first quarter, but managed to score 15 in the second quarter and 20 more during third quarter play.

Jeff Butts began the scoring on a 31-yard scamper after he dropped back to pass and could not find an open receiver. The point after was no good. Dwight Hubbard scored a little later in the second quarter on a 9-yard sweep around the right end. The Blizzards went for a two-point conversion but failed in their attempt. Scoring in the second quarter was wrapped up when Ronnie Lujano kicked a 33-yard field goal to make the score 15-0, Winters favor.

Baird kicked off to Winters, beginning the second half, and Winters drove the ball 51 yards for their third touchdown of the game. Ronnie Lujano capped off the drive with an excellent 20-yard run. Lujano then kicked the extra point. The Baird Bears fumbled the ball back to the Blizzards, and Lujano finished off another drive with a 7-yard run. Lujano kicked the extra point.

Later in the third quarter, Lujano caught a 41-yard pass from Butts to score again. The point after was missed, and the Blizzards led 35-0.

Coach Dan Slaughter noted that this was a good game for Winters, as the second team got to play in most of the fourth quarter. Kent Billups, Jeff McDorman, Barron Guy, Kevin Busher, Kelly Hood, Don Kvapil, Paul Trevino, Greg Guevara, and Perry Bedford made many good plays offensively and defensively all night to spark the Blizzards to their fourth win.

The Blizzards still need a win against Albany this week to get into the playoffs. The Winters team is playing confident, hard-hitting football, and Coach Slaughter urges everyone, especially those who have not seen them play, to come out this week and get a look at the new improved team.

The Blizzards are 4-1 on the year and 4-1-1 in district play. They are in second place in district, and only need to score a win against Albany this week to be in the state playoffs.

Everyone is invited to attend the Winters Blizzards Pep Rally Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. and to attend the Winters-Albany game Friday evening, kick-off at 7:30 p.m.

The Blizzards, after a slow start, have picked up momentum and now are within sight of a district championship. A win over Albany would insure the Blizzards a berth in the district play-off.

The Blizzard Cheerleaders, the Booster Club, the Winters Band Boosters, and many other groups and individuals are going all out in support of our team and to generate interest and spirit in the entire community.

All Blizzard backers are urged to wear blue and white both Thursday and Friday of this week, an official proclamation has been issued by the Winters City Council naming Friday Blue and White Day in Winters, and "Luv Ya Blizzards" placards for car windows and business windows are available from the Chamber of Commerce and McDorman's Furniture.

Lets all get out and support our Winters Blizzards.

Council names Rick Dry to Housing Board

The Winters City Council met in regular session Monday to consider a routine agenda of business that included two public hearings.

The first public hearing was on the Community Development Block Grant Application. The funds, about $800,000, have been designated for the northwest portion of Winters and would fund street improvements, improvements to water lines, and assistance to qualified residents.

James A. Cooley II, the unsuccessful Libertarian candidate for the 17th Congressional District, appeared before the council to speak against the city's application for the federal funds. Cooley told the council that such money came from taxes and that if all cities would not apply for such funds maybe taxes would not be as high.

Following Cooley's appearance, the council gave its final approval to the grant application.

Also while conducting the public hearing, the council gave the okay to setting rates for using the city-owned sanitary landfill and passed the related ordinance.

In other action the council named Councilman Rick Dry to serve on the Housing Authority Board of Directors. Dry will fill a vacancy created with the resignation of Billie Alderman.

Approval was given to City Administrator Glenn Brown to sign a lease with J.A. Archer of Glendale.

Blue and White Day

Mayor Pro-tem Ted Meyer signs the official document proclaiming Friday 'Blue and White Day' in Winters. The proclamation was issued in support of the Winters Blizzards, who are looking for a berth in District Playoffs. On hand for the official proclamation were City Administrator Glenn Brown, Band Booster representative Noleta Rice, Booster Club President Royce McDorman, and Chamber of Commerce representative Kenneth Slimp.

Sanitary landfill fees set by city

The Winters City Council, meeting in regular session Monday, gave approval to an ordinance establishing fees to be charged at the city-owned sanitary landfill.

City officials emphasized that city residents who personally bring their own refuse to the landfill will not be charged. All others, however, will have to pay a fee for dumping at the landfill.

The rates established by the council that will be paid by city businesses, county residents and businesses, and all contractors are as follows:

1. Car/pickups $3.00
2. Pickups with sideboards rounded full $5.00
3. Trailers-8 feet or less-$3.00
4. Trailers-8 feet or less with sideboards-$5.00
5. Trailers-over 8 feet-level full $8.00
6. Trailers-over 8 feet-level full with sideboards rounded full-$10.00
7. Large trucks $10.00
8. Tires, large quantities (over 10 tires)$1.00 per car tire or $2.00 per truck or tractor tire
9. Barrels or drums containing liquids $3.00 per barrel (for materials approved by State Health Department)

The ordinance establishing these prices becomes effective on Saturday, November 13.

In setting the prices, the council also discussed a method for payment of the landfill use fees. The ideas ranged from cash to the use of tokens which could be purchased at the City Hall and then handed to the landfill manager.

The city council also authorized the city administrator to employ a

Plans finalized for Arts & Crafts Show

Plans are now complete for the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce Arts & Crafts Show to be held November 12 and 13 at the Winters Community Center.

Chairman of the annual event is Kay Colburn. Serving as co-chairman is Naida Barker.

This year's Stew Cook-off will be under the direction of Rhunell Poe and Becky Blackwell, while meals will be served each day under the direction of Sandy Griffin and Melanie Wade. Other committees and their chairmen are as follows: Publicity, Sue Spill; Decorations, Dottie Loudermilk; Game Sale, Mary Slimp; Registration, Ethel Mae Sawyer; Shopping Spree, Rhea Sue Parramore; Booth Space, Brenda Killough; Children's Show, Marthiel Russell.

All booth space has been reserved and there will be a great array of items that will be offered for sale at the Arts & Crafts Show.

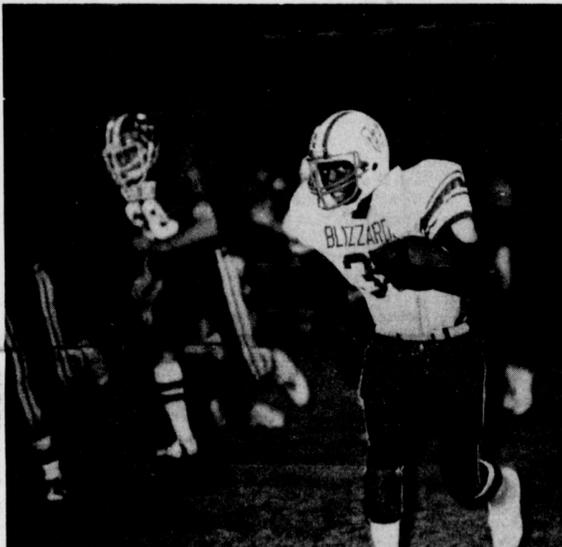

Three lucky persons will win shopping sprees again this year.

Fine money paid to City of Winters

Municipal Court Judge J.C. Hodnett has handed the City of Winters a check in the amount of $1,137 which represents the total amount of fines assessed in municipal court.

Of the fines, Judge Hodnett, said portions of the total money came from traffic offenses, public intoxication charges, disorderly conduct and other charges filed by city police officers.

The October amount marks an increase in the amount of fines collected over the past several months.

Runnels Grand Jury in session Thursday

The Runnels County Grand Jury was to meet Thursday to consider several cases according to District Attorney Dick Alcalá.

The cases to be considered by the Grand Jury include a charge of aggravated assault on a peace officer, burglary of a building, aggravated assault, possession of a controlled substance and two cases that will be investigated.

Named in the aggravated assault on a peace officer charge is Bill Hicks of Winters. According to Winters Police spokesmen, the charge against Hicks stemmed from a disturbance at Hicks' residence in south Winters. Officers took Hicks into custody on a charge of public intoxication and the aggravated assault on a peace officer charge was the result of a scuffle that ensued when officers attempted to take Hicks into custody.

Jackie Bean was named in the possession of a controlled substance charge after sheriff's officers executed a search warrant at Bean's residence and confiscated a quantity of a substance thought to be methamphetamine (speed) and a small amount of Marijuana.

Linda Concepcion, of Winters, is named in the aggravated assault charge that was filed as the result of a stabbing incident in Winters in which another woman received knife wounds.

Named in the burglary of a building charges to be considered by the grand jury are Rudy Martinez and Sammy Lopez. The pair is charged with a burglary in Ballinger.

According to the district attorney, two cases will be presented for the grand jury's consideration and investigation, one involving a travel agency and a tour promotion. In the other case, the district attorney would only say that it was a matter that would be investigated by the grand jury.

The findings of the grand jury will be reported to District Judge Curt Steib.

County officials take office

Three Runnels County officials running unopposed in the general election will be sworn in Friday after votes are canvassed by commissioners court, according to County Judge Bill Stultz.

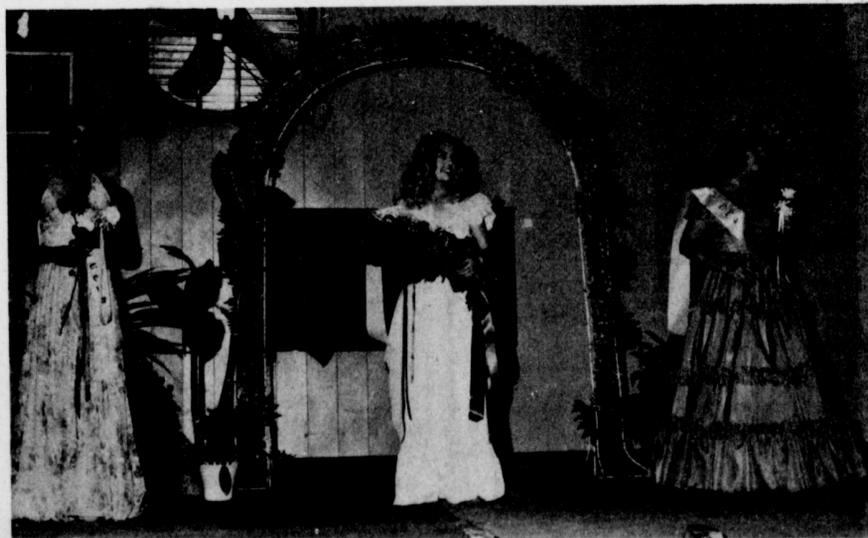

Nora Halfmann will be sworn in as county treasurer, Kendal Granzin as county attorney and Linda Bruchmiller as county clerk.

Mrs. Halfmann defeated Bud Everett in the May Democratic primary. Everett was appointed in October 1981 to fill the unexpired term of Bobby Bryan.

Granzin defeated E.C. Grindstaff in the Democratic primary. Grindstaff was appointed to the post in 1981 to fill the unexpired term of John McGregor, who resigned.

Ms. Bruchmiller was appointed county clerk May 1 to fill the unexpired term of Frankie Berryman, who retired.

Texas Governor's Mansion

As members of the Texas Historical Foundation, three Winters women were invited to visit the recently restored Governor's mansion in Austin on Monday.

Mary Margaret Leathers, Lillian Roberson and I left Winters in time for our own fall foliage tour in brilliant October weather and a leisurely lunch before reaching Austin. At 2 p.m. we joined others for a guided tour of the mansion. A person was stationed in each room to explain the furnishings and answer questions.

In the entry hall was a large picture, said to be the most authentic painting of "The Battle of the Alamo". The guide said it had resurfaced recently and was restored by Rita Clements. A glassed-in cabinet displayed flat silver used during the administration of the following governors: Lanham, 1903-07; Colquitt, 1911-15; M. Ferguson, 1925-27, 1933-35; Stevenson, 1941-47; and Jester, 1947-49.

From the hall we entered the double parlors on the north. The small parlor featured a picture of Sam Houston. Both it and the large parlor had been decorated by a governor's wife, not quite in keeping with the period of the house, but were left standing. Both rooms were dominated by magnificent crystal chandeliers said to have come from the palace of a sultan in India.

The library on the left of the entry featured a Stephen F. Austin desk and picture, also two large book cases filled with books on loan from Texas University. Back of the library is the state dining room with large oval dining table and valuable wine coolers contributed by Miss Ima Hogg.

The conservatory, family dining room, floor was covered with a hooked rug made by the New England Guild of Maine. Seals of the six Texas governments were woven into the rug and these were interspersed with replicas of Texas wildflowers. A breakfast room housing a collection of Texas governors was assembled by Mrs. Lee O'Daniel.

A large Texas seal was woven into a mat in the back hall which led to the kitchen fitted with large

Services held Thursday for Mrs. D. Shafer

Mrs. Douglas Shafer, 77, of Abilene, and a long-time former resident of Wingate, died at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 26, following an illness of several weeks.

Services were held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Winters Memorial Chapel with Dr. Leland Kennedy, pastor of Abilene Trinity Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Wingate Cemetery under the direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born Sybill Denson, daughter of the late William and Ada Denson on May 24, 1905 in Oklahoma, she moved with her family to Belton and later to Wingate, where she lived for a number of years. During World War II she moved to Abilene and later to Beaumont. She returned to Abilene about 8 years ago. She married Doug Shafer in 1924 in Wingate. He died in 1969. She was a member of Trinity Baptist Church in Abilene.

A daughter, Louise Collins, died in 1977.

Survivors include two sons, Hugh of Chicago, Ill. and Ray of Beaumont; a daughter, Peggy Overman of Abilene; a sister, Laverne Branham of San Angelo, nine grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were J.B. Denson, E.J. Bishop, A.N. Crowley, Max Overman, O.J. Murray, and Joe Davis.

refrigerators and ice maker.

Also in the back hall was a cabinet filled with china plates depicting the war between Texas and Mexico. The plates were made in Staffordshire, England.

Access to the upstairs was from a spiral stairway which rose from the middle of the lower hall. The first guestroom on the south was the Sam Houston bedroom. The canopy bed was covered with a hand-woven spread that was a copy of the design on the china plates downstairs, depicting the Texas-Mexico War, 1846-1848. Two small closets have been made into bathrooms and a large wardrobe for clothing has been added.

The second guest bedroom is the Governor Elisha Marshall Pease room. He moved into the house in 1856, the first to occupy the Governor's mansion. The two canopy beds have bedspreads made by the Kentucky mountain women. They are of beige silk with raised embroidery. One can trace the outline of the mansion, state seal, yellow rose of Texas, blue bonnets, Indian paint brush, and man on a horse.

Upstairs rooms were bedrooms and the halls were sitting rooms. (The governor's private quarters are the ten rooms on the north). In the upstairs hall is a portrait of a man and his son, painted by Joshua Reynolds in the 18th century. It was given by France to the Republic of Texas, 1840-42. It was in a private home but was later given to Allan Shivers. This hall also boasts a chest given by Ima Hogg, and a clock given by one of her friends. The chandeliers date from 1901 and are called inverted pyramids.

Taken from an official marker: "The Governor's mansion is the official residence of the Governor of Texas. By law, each chief executive must live here during his term of office. Before the erection of this building in 1855-56, the only official executive home had been the rough, two-story frame "President's House" at present 7th and San Jacinto Streets.

"Within these walls, many decisions of statewide import have taken place. Here in 1861 Governor Sam Houston decided not to support the Confederacy. Also like numerous 19th century houses, the mansion acquired a ghost story after the nephew of Governor Pendleton Murrah (1863-1865) committed suicide here.

"Built some 30 years before the pink granite capitol, this structure was first occupied by Gov. Elisha M. Pease, who selected the site and design. Pioneer architect-contractor Abner Cook supervised the construction of the stately residence in Greek Revival style. Austin made bricks were used, and huge pine logs were hauled from Bastrop, then adzed to form the six massive pillars with Ionic capitals.

"Distinguished visitors have included U.S. presidents and heads of state from other countries. More than perhaps any other residence in Texas, the Governor's mansion is a repository of Texas history (1969)"

When the Clements' moved into the Governor's mansion in January 1979, they became aware that time had taken its toll of this 125-year-old residence, and felt that the mansion should be restored to its former simple elegance and at the same time provide the modern conveniences necessary for comfortable living and official entertaining.

The 66th Legislature appropriated $1 million for renovation and Friends of the Governor's Mansion was formed to provide resources for another million.

The Texas Commission on the Arts commends Governor and Mrs. William P. Clements, Jr. for their contribution to the restoration of the Governor's Mansion.

The Governor's Mansion belongs to all Texans! Take time off to visit a home that continues to play a significant role in the proud history of the Lone Star State. Tours are held Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon (512/475-2121).

Farmers urged to dispose of empty pesticide containers properly

Farmers can dispose of empty pesticide containers on site by triple rinsing, crushing, and burying the cans. The correct procedure is to triple rinse the container with water and pour this rinse into the pesticide application equipment at the last use. Crush or puncture the empty containers so they cannot be reused. Dig a trench in some area of the farm and bury containers. This is legal only if the containers are triple rinsed and rendered unfit for use. Before burying the empty containers, farmers should consider the possibility of contamination of surface water or water in underground sources such as aquifers or wells.

Homeowners often have either unused pesticide or empty pesticide containers that they want to dispose of. These can legally be placed in the ordinary garbage pickup if certain procedures are followed. Empty containers that still have pesticides in them can be placed in trash cans as long as the container is less than 1 quart in size. If a homeowner has several containers for disposal, it would be appropriate to feed these into the ordinary garbage pickup a little bit at a time. The disposal procedure is to place the container in a sealed package prior to disposal. Empty coffee cans are ideal for this purpose. It is not necessary to crush the pesticide container. It would, however, be good to pack newspaper around the pesticide container after it is placed in the coffee can. Empty pesticide containers can also be wrapped in several layers of newspaper and disposed of in this manner.

Sweetwater TSTI to host Nov. 17 Education Day

Texas State Technical Institute in Sweetwater is hosting a Vocational/Technical Education Day, Nov. 17.

Over 300 persons, representing business, industry, civic organizations and public schools, are expected to attend the day's activities which include tours of the TSTI campus, a barbecue luncheon and a discussion of the current trends in vocational and technical education.

Many changes have taken place on the TSTI-Sweetwater campus since last year. Guests to the campus will receive a progress report on the D.A. Pevehouse Technology Center. This 37,000 square foot instructional facility will be completed by September, 1983. The ground work has begun on the Graphics Communications Building, another structure to be completed in early 1984.

New program offerings are constantly being investigated, and several programs, designed to benefit this area, are being planned. A program in Industrial Maintenance Technology is planned to admit students in the fall of 1983. Another program exploring the design and maintenance of industrial robots is being planned. Participants can learn more about all the programs TSTI offers.

State Senator Grant Jones of Abilene will be the keynote luncheon speaker. He will focus on the present and future of vocational/technical education and the role it will play in meeting the changing labor needs of Texas.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. Tours of the campus, conducted by TSTI students, begin at 9:30 a.m.

State Fair Winner

Winters youths place at State Fair in Dallas

The Junior Lamb Sale grossed $17,588.50 with the 125 lots that were sold by auctioneer Colonel Walter S. Britten of Bryan. The average price per lamb, including champions, was $140.70, far better than the regular market price of approximately $55.00 to $65.00.

Russell Stone, of Winters, was the owner of the champion crossbreed, Henry, his yearling Hampshire and Ram-bouillet cross, had never won in a show before. The son of Leonard and Cynthia Stone, he is a member of the Winters FFA and has been raising lambs for two years. He is fifteen and attends Winters school, where he plays football.

Placing second in the Lightweight Suffolk Crossbred division was Allison Allore, a member of the Winters FFA.

Vo-Ag students in Texas schools earn money while they learn

Approximately 61,988 students in Vocational Agriculture Education earned a net profit of $24,263,518.12 from their supervised occupational experience programs in the 1980-81 school year. This is an average of $391.42 per student. These projects are usually livestock, poultry and/or crops. A record of expenses and income is kept on each enterprise under the direction of the Vo Ag Instructor/Future Farmer of America (FFA) adviser.

Vo Ag and FFA is an elective course taught in 870 school districts in Texas. Students in Productive Agriculture (I, II, III, IV) are required to carry on a successful Supervised Occupational Experience Program each year while enrolled in the course.

The following students of the Winters Elementary and Junior High Schools have made an average of 90 or above on all subjects for the first six-weeks of the 1982-83 school year:

Elementary, Junior High honor rolls

Miscellaneous SOEP were carried out by 5,848 vocational ag students who earned $616,766.01, or an average of $105.46 per student. Students were assisted by 1,610 vo ag teachers in carrying out successful SOEP programs in 1980-81.

FOOD IDEAS Tips To Help You

Nutritious Peanut Snacks - Fun To Make And Eat

Chocolate Coated, Sugared and Spiced Peanuts are nutritious snacks that give lots of go power along with good taste.

Peanuts and peanut treats are great items to have on hand to guide your family toward nutritional snacking habits. Peanuts are power packed with protein, B vitamins and minerals, in addition to good taste.

Get the family involved in the making. The easy preparation guarantees success to almost any cook. For Sugared Peanuts, raw peanuts with the red skins on are added to a simple sugar solution, cooked until coated and then roasted in the oven. The addition of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg produces irresistible Spiced Peanuts.

Chocolate Covered Peanuts is a combination everybody loves. You need peanuts with the skins on to hold the chocolate. Try french frying or oven roasting them and then dunk into melted chocolate. Packaged in a pretty container and stored within easy reach, these nutrition packed peanut treats will be a hit with the whole family (and company, too).

SUGARED PEANUTS
 1 cup granulated sugar
 1/2 cup water
 2 cups raw shelled peanuts, skins on

Dissolve sugar in water in saucepan over medium heat. Add peanuts and continue to cook over medium heat, stirring frequently. Cook until peanut is completely

SPICED PEANUTS
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup water
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
 1 pound roasted peanuts (blanched or red skins on)

Boil sugar, water and spices until syrup threads from spoon. Drop one pound of peanuts into syrup. Stir until nuts are dry looking. Pour out on waxed paper and let stand until cool and dry.

CHOCOLATE COVERED PEANUTS
 1 pkg. (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate bits
 2-1/2 cups roasted peanuts (with red skins on)

Melt chocolate pieces in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Add peanuts to melted chocolate and stir to coat. Turn out on waxed paper spreading so that peanuts are separated as much as possible. Allow to cool.

Volunteers for VITA needed

Would you like to help people and receive training in preparing basic individual Federal income tax returns, too?

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program of Internal Revenue Service may be what you're looking for. VITA is a program designed to help lower income, elderly, handicapped and non-English speaking individuals in preparation of their tax returns. Volunteers will attend a series of IRS training sessions on the preparation of Form 1040A and basic Form 1040.

If you are interested, and can spend two hours or more a week on VITA from approximately Jan. 1 through April 15, please contact Joy Osner, VITA Coordinator for the Abilene area, 915/676-5700.

CARD OF THANKS

A special thanks to the parents of the Boy Scouts who worked at the Halloween Carnival: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Childers, Mrs. Lora Carrillo, Tommy Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Vera, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Baldonado, and Eloydia Ysa.

'New Eyes For The Needy' needs old eyeglasses, jewelry

Mrs. Perry Nelson, President of New Eyes for the Needy, Inc. gave new hope for thousands of people who can't afford to buy eyeglasses — therefore must go through life with impaired vision.

Mrs. Nelson said, "This year's drive for eyeglasses is already bringing in an unprecedented response. But there are so many people who have trouble paying for eyeglasses, we've got a huge job keeping up with even a fraction of the demand. Still, we estimate over 150,000 people will benefit from the New Eyes for the Needy program in the coming year. It's one of the few charities on earth that doesn't ask for money — uses something you no longer want."

New Eyes for the Needy collects used metal and plastic framed eyeglasses from people who wish to donate them to the cause, melts down metal frames, then uses the money to buy new glasses for those with impaired sight in the U.S. New Eyes for the Needy also collects discarded jewelry for the same purpose. The plastic framed glasses are tested and graded and shipped overseas to medical missions.

If you wish to donate either your discarded eyeglasses or jewelry to this excellent cause, send them to: New Eyes for the Needy, 549 Millburn Avenue, Short Hills, New Jersey 07078.

October oil & gas hearing

The Railroad Commission recently set the Texas oil production rate for November 1982 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 69th month in a row and the 125th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972. Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in November totaling 2,533,424 barrels per day, an increase of 70,915 barrels daily when compared with October 1982 buyer requests. November 1981 nominations totaled 2,444,973 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,909,506 barrels a day with actual production estimated at 2,385 million barrels per day. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production is a little high, but the firemen decided it was better to burn it than to take a chance on the pile of wood being set on fire at a less convenient time.

Winters Volunteer Fire Department news

At a called meeting Tuesday night, it was decided to sponsor a carnival and to give the proceeds to the auxiliary after expenses were paid. After the meeting, firemen went to the football field to watch over the homecoming bonfire.

tual production in November 1981 was 2,440,719 barrels daily. Temple reported that November 1982 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 20,517,940 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). Gas nominations for October amounted to 20,713,241 Mcf/d. November 1981 gas nominations totaled 25,028,939 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held Thursday, Nov. 18, at 9 a.m. in Austin at the Railroad Commission headquarters building, Rm. 107.1

Temple reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 4,953,000 barrels daily for the four weeks ending Oct. 1, down 368,000 barrels per day for the same period last year.

Not to reflect on the department, we have recently heard the one about it taking two men to hold a ladder up and one to climb it and one at the bottom to measure how tall the ladder was. Then the same four men laid the ladder down to measure and see if the ladder was as long as it was tall.

Well, so much for humor. Seriously the fire department is thankful that there have not been many fire or other emergency calls of late.

Surprise Someone with a Birthday Ad!

Lone Star Specialist Pete Evans uses two balloons to explain an important home-heating message. The message is that a new high-efficiency* gas furnace can help you stretch your energy dollars.

A high-efficiency gas furnace makes a difference you can see.

The larger balloon could hold 104,000 cubic feet of natural gas; enough to heat an average home for more than a year.

The smaller balloon can also hold enough natural gas to heat the same home for the same amount of time.

Why the difference in size?

The larger balloon represents the gas capacity you'd need to operate a gas furnace built 10 or more years ago.

The smaller balloon represents the gas capacity you'd need with a new high-efficiency gas furnace.

Yes, it's quite a difference. Especially when you add up annual savings over the lifetime of the new furnace.

Gas has always been your most efficient fuel. A high-efficiency furnace makes gas go even further.

Call your local dealer. Tell him you'd like to stretch your energy dollars with a high-efficiency gas furnace.

Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Boyd will be honored with a 50th wedding anniversary reception from 2:30 until 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7 at the Shep Community Center in Shep. Hosting the celebration will be sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Boyd of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Boyd and Mack Boyd of Shep.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd have nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Boyd was born March 23, 1913 in Jones County, Mrs. Boyd, the former Adolphine E. Zips, was born May 28, 1915 in Jones County. The couple met in 1930 and were married in 1932 near Anson. They lived in Jones County until 1943 when they moved to the Shep Community. Mr. Boyd is a farmer.

Drasco Baptist to celebrate anniversary

The Drasco Baptist Church will be celebrating their 75th anniversary Sunday, Nov. 14 beginning with Sunday School at 10 a.m. and morning worship services at 11 a.m. Bro. James Vermillion, former pastor, and now pastor of First Baptist Church at Buffalo, will provide the message.

At noon a basket lunch will be enjoyed, with meats, drinks, and paper goods furnished.

A 1:30 p.m. song service and praise will be led by Omer Hill, music director. A devotional will be given by Rev. James Powers, pastor, and the church history and recognition service will be led by Mrs. W.L. England.

Pam Bryan honored with bridal shower

A bridal shower was given in honor of Pam Bryan, bride-elect of Mike Helm on Oct. 19 at the Main Street Church of Christ fellowship building.

The table was decorated with flowers, candles, and napkins of brown, rust, dark apricot, light apricot and ivory. Mocha punch, cookies, mints and nuts were served to approximately 40 guests.

Hostesses for the occasion were Edna Self, Becky Airhart, Jane Allcorn, Janice Merrill, Bettye Pinkerton, Sally Dunlap, Glenda Bryan, Pat Williams, Wanda Brewer, Maudie Bartee, Ann Walker, Oleta Webb, Bonnie Walker and Betty Blackerby.

on to Korea, where he flew as the fourth fighter on an interceptor wing. On his 67th mission, as they were going on to destroy an aviation fuel dump in North Korea, his plane was hit by the flak from the radar 88 ground guns, causing the plane to crash land; and inflicting very serious injuries to Gen. Sibley. Following many months of treatment in hospitals, four teen of them at the medical center in San Antonio, Gen. Sibley stated that he "had the finest care and rehabilitation of any place in the world"; and although doctors believed he would always be confined to a wheelchair, he was able, after fourteen months "to walk out of there".

A more complete write up about Gen. Sibley is found in the story written by Charlie Poe in "Poe's Corner", Winters Enterprise, Oct. 28, 1982.

Gen. Sibley is a very interesting speaker, and his friends know him as a man of tender compassion, and love for his fellowman.

Following the program, club members were asked to remain for a brief business meeting at which time plans were completed for the annual turkey dinner, which preceded the homecoming football game on the following evening.

Young Homemakers to hold program on Christmas, Nov. 8

The Winters Young Homemakers will hold their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8.

Shirley Deal, West Texas Utilities representative from Abilene, will present the Christmas program. "It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas" in which she will share several good ideas for the holiday season.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Winters VFD to sponsor Dance, Nov. 6

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a dance at the Winters Community Center, Saturday, Nov. 6.

The dance, which will feature the Texas Sun from Midland, with Johnny Beck, formerly of Winters, will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Admission is $4.00 per person, and barbecue sandwiches will be offered.

United Methodist Women met Tuesday

The Winters United Methodist Women met in the church on Tuesday morning with Mrs. Billie Middlebrook presiding.

Mrs. Ethel Bridwell gave the opening prayer. The program, "World Thank Offering: Freedom Is...Something More", was given.

The two circle leaders drew names for the 1983 year.

The Nov. 30 meeting will be the organization and naming of the circles, and working on programs for next year.

Present were: Ethel Bridwell, Ionah Vinson, Willie Lois Nichols, Pauline Mayhew, Marie Neely, Odessa Dobbins, Billie Middlebrook, Aileene Mapes, Ozie Stanley, Margurite Mathis, and one visitor, Lois Parks of Alabama.

The group repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison for the benediction.

Tax act encourages preservation activity

Texas developers and property owners are discovering that there is money to be made in the restoration of older buildings for new commercial and residential uses. One of the major new incentives behind the increasing preservation activity in Texas is the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981. Offering tax credits of up to 25% on certified rehabilitation of historic structures, the tax act has stimulated the initial planning of some 105 major restoration projects in Texas.

One such project involves the State National Bank Building, a 58-year-old National Register site on Houston's Main Street.

Developers are planning a $1 million restoration of many of the distinctive architectural details of this 13-story office facility. Care is being taken to either repair or duplicate original moldings, window and door fixtures, brass mailboxes, and other decorative features. The marble entranceway will be repaired and refinished, as well as the tiled roof cupola, plaster and gold leaf interior trim, and the building facade.

The neoclassical State National Bank Building is an early achievement of one of Houston's best-known 20th century architects, Alfred Finn. The building is a durable and tasteful representation of an earlier period of the city's development.

A few of the other important Texas landmarks that have benefited from the Tax Act preservation incentives are the Sartor House in San Antonio, the Old Ellis County Jail in Waxahachie, the Galvez Hotel in Galveston, Albany's Blach Building, the Old Mercantile Building in Sonora in Sutter County, the Fort Worth Livestock Exchange, and the Ragland Building in Sweetwater.

For a historic structure to receive tax benefits, a Historic Preservation Certification Application must be submitted to the Texas Historical Commission. After review by the Commission's National Register Department, all applications and recommendations are forwarded to the National Park Service for final review.

For further information on rehabilitation tax incentives and National Register nominations, contact the THC National Register Department, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, Tx. 78711.

Tea Knows No Season

Did you tuck away that jar of tea in the back of the cupboard just because you thought the iced tea season was over? Well, the home economists of The Lipton Kitchens suggest you take it out because they've learned that 100% instant tea is a product for all seasons!

To prove it, they've created an exciting book of holiday ideas, "Holiday Gifts from the Hearth and Heart." It contains delicious recipes for cakes, cookies and beverages that are perfect for the holiday season. And, there are special tips on festive wraps for all your baked goods, if you want to give them as gifts.

Here's a sample recipe from the book; instant tea is used as an ingredient here to give a spicy taste to the cookie dough:

COOKIE PRETZEL TWISTS
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1/3 cup dark corn syrup
2-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup Lipton® 100% Instant Tea powder
1-1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
Coarse decorative sugar

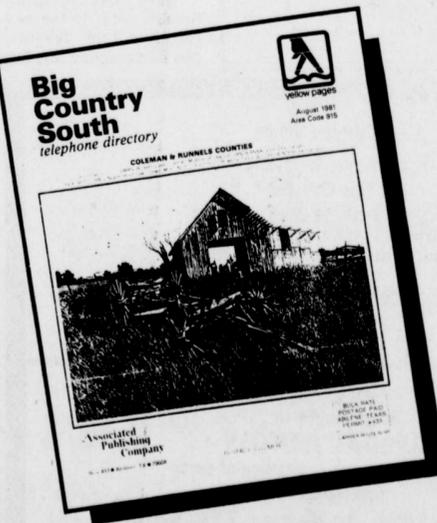

Preheat oven to 375°. In large bowl, blend butter with sugar until light and fluffy; beat in egg and corn syrup.

In medium bowl, combine flour, instant tea powder, cinnamon and allspice. Gradually add to butter mixture, blending well after each addition.

Roll dough into 12-inch ropes. Gently roll ropes once in sugar. On ungreased cookie sheets, carefully form into pretzel shapes and bake 8 minutes. Cool slightly before removing to wire racks; cool completely. Makes about 2-1/2 dozen cookies.

To receive your free copy of the booklet in time for all your holiday baking, send a post card with your name, address and zip code to: HOLIDAY GIFTS-MR, P.O. Box 4093, Clifton, NJ 07012.

Frank and Jean Cox pulled into San Angelo last week with several truckloads of pumpkins and citrus fruit. After Halloween they will go down to their place near London in the Texas Hill Country for a few days. Then, it's off to Wisconsin for Christmas trees. They will return to the Concho City on Thanksgiving with the trees and several truckloads of citrus from the Rio Grande Valley.

Barring an unforeseen weather calamity, forecasters are predicting a good citrus crop this year from the Rio Grande Valley. The Texas Department of Agriculture reports grapefruit production is forecast at 540,000 tons, down 3 percent from last year's harvest, the largest since the 1947-48 season. Orange production is projected at 264,000 tons, up 4 percent from last year.

According to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, growing conditions have been good despite dry weather.

Harvest of early season oranges began in late September. Grapefruit harvest was set to start in mid-October.

Nationally, grapefruit production is forecast at 2,618,000 tons, down 6 percent from last season. Orange production is expected to increase 20 percent from last year to 9,186,000 tons.

Fall vegetable acreage is up overall this year. Carrot harvest will be lower, lettuce harvest higher, and the tomato crop about the same as last year when Texas vegetable producers tally their production figures.

Forecasts show that farmers will harvest 3,600 acres of carrots during the fall quarter, a 14 percent drop from last year.

Lettuce growers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and Winter Garden area are expected to harvest 1,500 acres, up to 25 percent over last fall. Tomato acreage remains a 500 acres, the same as last year's fall quarter.

Short moisture and hot weather had depleted soil moisture and increased irrigation demands in many fields.

National projections for seven fresh market vegetables — broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, celery, sweet corn, lettuce and tomatoes, are up 6 percent.

Upland cotton production in Texas is now projected to be 57 percent lower than last year with 2.4 million bales.

Based on conditions surveyed by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on Oct. 1, cotton production is expected to be at its lowest mark since 1975. Projected yield at 311 pounds per acre is down 65 pounds from that of 1981.

Hail and high winds in May and June destroyed much of the crop in the Plains, the state's major production area. The Southern High Plains producers expect to harvest 830,000 bales, 35 percent of the State's crop. Harvest there has dropped 69 percent from last year.

County agent offers checklist for cattlemen

Many cattlemen are concerned about keeping their stock in good condition despite poor grazing and possible feed shortages. Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, offers the following checklist to help guide cattlemen in caring for their herds.

Where pasture is still available but low in quality:

1. Provide a good mineral supplement — 8-12 percent phosphorus and calcium, 3-4 percent magnesium and salt free choice — which will maintain forage intake and efficient use.
2. Feed 1-2 pounds of a high protein supplement to dry cows and as much as 2-3 pounds to lactating cows to maintain forage intake and efficient use of forage as well as the energy coming off the cow's back as weight loss. Oil meal supplements such as cottonseed meal, protein blocks and liquid supplements are appropriate.
3. If only dried forage is available for more than 100-200 days, consider supplementing or injecting Vitamin A.

Where pasture is lacking in amount as well as quality:

4. If only slightly limited, feeding range cubes (20 percent protein) or mixtures of grain and cottonseed meal at rates of 3 to 5 pounds per cow daily may work for awhile. Cubes with a large amount of natural protein and a low crude fiber level (less than 10 percent) are preferred. Whole cottonseed at 2-4 pounds per cow daily would be a good alternative in some areas.
5. When pasture becomes extremely short, purchasing hay or a replacement feed for the pasture must be considered as well as selling off stock. Remember that most grass hay has only 50 to 65 percent of the energy content of grain so that one pound of grain can replace 1.5 to 2 pounds of hay. Drying off cows by weaning calves will reduce feed requirements considerably. It is definitely more efficient to supplement calves directly than to

Joint Venture accepting donations

Oilfield equipment and service donations are now being accepted for the 4th annual Joint Venture for Crippled Children Oilfield Equipment and Services Sale to be held Wednesday, Dec. 1 at the Abilene Civic Center.

The annual Joint Venture raises about one-third of the budget of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, where handicapped children and adults are treated without charge at campuses in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder.

Previous fund-raisers, the Andy Williams Benefit Dinner, the West Texas Oil and Gas Exposition, and the recent PGA LaJet Classic Golf Tournament, have also added to the JVCC total.

More than $150,000 in goods and services have already been donated for the auction and more is expected. "Gifts of cash, properties, equipment, and services are anticipated before the end of November to help the Joint Venture reach its goal," said JVCC Chairman Dick Bowen. The West Texas Rehabilitation Center will arrange to pick up donated equipment. The oil and gas industry members may call the WTRC central office at 915/692-1633 for delivery arrangements.

Bowen encouraged petroleum industry leaders who have not already made their commitment to the Joint Venture for Crippled Children to please do so now.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center is a private, non-profit treatment facility for handicapped children and adults. The Center was founded in 1953 and will treat over 10,000 people without charge in 1982.

provide extra feed to the cow to produce milk for the calf.

Turner also notes these precautions regarding cattle feeding:

1. Use of salt to limit feed intake may increase water intake 50 to 75 percent or about 5 gallons of additional water for each pound of salt. Water must not be limited in any way or salt toxicity could result.
2. Overconsumption of urea-containing supplements by cattle on forage-scarce ranges can result in urea toxicity. Generally, cattle performance on urea-type supplements is also poor whenever energy or forage is in short supply.
3. Hay cut under moisture-stress conditions, especially sorghum-type hays, may contain high levels of nitrate. If in doubt, test for nitrate before feeding such hays, especially before feeding high levels.
4. Cattle grazing short pasture are more likely to consume toxic plants and acorns.

Russell named president of Runnels FU chapter

Members of the Runnels County Farmers Union have elected B.R. Russell of Winters to serve as president of the local chapter of the family farm organization.

Elected to serve as fellow officers are Bobby Rogers, secretary-treasurer; and Randall Conner, publicity director.

The election of officers was part of the annual meeting of Runnels County Farmers Union in preparation for the 79th Annual Texas Farmers Union Convention which is scheduled for January 20-22, 1983 in Austin.

Prior to the statewide gathering, individual counties are asked to submit resolutions concerning agriculture and other rural matters to a Policy Drafting Committee composed of members from each of the nine districts of Texas Farmers Unions.

State delegate positions are also allotted to each county based on the number of family memberships. Elected to serve as delegates to the Austin convention, along with the automatic representation of the county president are: Dwaine Lange, Bobby Rogers, Leo Minzenmayer, Randall Conner, and Anthony Lange.

Texas Farmers Union represents approximately ten thousand farm families in the state and is part of the twenty-two state National Farmers Union. State delegates at the January convention will officially adopt policy for Texas Farmers Union and elect national delegates to the annual NFU meet scheduled for Feb. 27-March 2, 1983 in San Diego, California.

Angelo along with other members of the Winters Young Farmer Chapter.

On October 2, Scotty and Peggy spent the weekend in Gonzales with another state officer, Steve and Kathleen Ehrig, and attended the Area III convention at Weid Hall at Hallettsville. They also enjoyed the festivities of the annual "Come and Take It" celebration in Gonzales.

On October 9, the couple flew to McAllen for the Area X convention, which was held at the Holidome there. Scotty spoke at the business meeting that afternoon and again at the awards dinner that night to a large number of young farmers, wives, and special guests. On Sunday, they enjoyed a small portion of the Confederate Air Show at the Harlingen Airport while waiting for their flight.

Belew has three more Area conventions to attend before his tenure as state president is over. His schedule has been busy, but very enjoyable.

Area pecan growers ready to compete in annual show

The Runnels County Pecan Show will be held Nov. 20 in Ballinger, with the judging to be held the day before. Any pecan grower in the area may submit entries to the show, providing there is no pecan show in their county. No person can enter more than one county show. No entry limit per exhibitor is made, but participants are limited to one entry of each named variety they grow. The grower may enter as many seedlings, known hybrids or natives as he wishes. The exhibitor must be the grower.

A minimum of 40 pecans are necessary for each entry. This sample of 40 should represent the variety and be uniform in size and shell color. Mixed samples — more than one variety in an entry — are disqualified.

The grower may wish to select the heaviest pecans by weighing individual nuts.

A varietal entry may be composed of nuts from more than one tree. For example, if the grower has 10 Choctaw trees, each tree could contribute nuts to the grower's one Choctaw entry.

Nuts should be free of dust, dirt, and shuck remains. They should not be buffed to the extent that shape or color is altered.

Discolored shells and kernels may result from peeling pecans from the shucks too early. Pecans

10th anniversary banquet planned by Young Farmers

The Winters Young Farmers held their monthly meeting Monday night in the Vo-Ag building, with Bob Prewit, president of the organization, presiding over the meeting.

Allen Turner, Runnels County Extension Agent, gave a program on Feed and Nutrition of Sheep.

Plans were made for the tenth anniversary banquet of the Winters Chapter. Dec. 3 at the Winters cafeteria.

The Christmas dance, sponsored by the Young Farmers, will be held Dec. 17 at the Community Center.

Approximately 30 members and guests were present for the meeting.

Winters Livestock Assn. 1982-83 officers elected

The Winters Livestock Association met on Monday, Oct. 25 to elect officers for the 1982-83 year. Elected were president, Calvin Helm; vice president, Murray Edwards; secretary-treasurer, Bob Webb; and reporter, Michael Deike.

New directors for the upcoming year are: 1982-84 (two year directors): Phil Anderson, Scotty Belew, A.N. Blackerby, Gaston Boatright, Edward Bredemeyer, Joe Bryan, Sealy Bryan, Nancy Davis, Connie Mac Gibbs, Stanley Greer, Delbert Kruse, Johnny Merrill, Brent Mikeska, George Mostad, Jimmy Smith, John Spill and James West.

The annual barbeque date has been set for Nov. 30, at 6:30 p.m. at the Winters Community Center. The livestock membership drive for this year will be $8.00 per family.

The annual Livestock Show is to be held Jan. 16-17, 1983. The Cattle and Hog Show will be on Sunday, Jan. 16 and the Sheep Show will be on Monday, Jan. 17.

The next Livestock Association meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 22 at the Winters Vo-Ag Building.

Caution the best policy in use of aspirin with children

Many medical scientists now believe that giving aspirin, or any medication that contains aspirin, to a child who has chickenpox or flu may increase that child's chances of developing Reye Syndrome, a rare but sometimes fatal childhood disease.

First recognized some 19 years ago, Reye syndrome is a serious condition that begins with vomiting and lethargy and may progress to delirium and coma. The condition is rare: fewer than 1,200 cases occur each year in the United States. But it may be fatal. Death occurs in 20 to 30 percent of all reported cases, and permanent brain damage has been reported in many children who survived.

Reye syndrome most often occurs in children between the ages of 5 and 16 who are recovering from viral infections, particularly chickenpox and influenza. Although the cause of this condition is unknown, researchers have, for years, suspected an association between the development of Reye syndrome and the earlier use of common medications to treat the preceding viral illness. They have been especially suspicious of aspirin.

Now, controlled studies by health departments in Arizona, Michigan, and Ohio have provided substantial evidence that there is at least a relationship between the aspirin that a child is given for a viral illness and the subsequent onset of Reye syndrome. For that reason, I, as Surgeon General, have felt it prudent to tell parents and physicians about this new medical evidence and to warn them that they should not give aspirin to children who are suffering from chickenpox, influenza, or a flu-like illness. The American Academy of Pediatrics has issued a similar warning.

I should emphasize that the relationship between aspirin and Reye syndrome is suspected, not proven. Yet, as a parent and a physician, I know that in all matters involving the health of our children, it is better to be safe now than sorry later. The better, safer way, when your child is sick with chickenpox or flu or with an illness that you think might be the flu, is to leave the aspirin on the shelf and pick up the Echocardiography is rapidly establishing itself as one of the most important advances in the diagnosis of heart disease.

Echocardiography aids heart disease diagnosis

As its name indicates, echocardiography uses high-frequency sound waves (ultrasound) to view the inside of the heart, says the Texas Medical Association. The principle is similar to that of sonar used in ships to determine ocean depth. This involves measuring the time it takes for the sound wave to bounce off the bottom and return to the ship.

Aimed at the heart, ultrasound indicates the depth of the organ's various parts and, with a timing device, allows the doctor to determine certain aspects of the heart's motion. Problems may be detected. These include the thickening, narrowing or shortening of heart valves, which can result in valve leaks.

Echocardiography also may detect a tumor causing the heart to malfunction, heart chambers that are too small or large, or fluid around the outside of the heart. A heart wall that moves improperly or bulges out can be detected. In children, congenital problems may be found.

Echocardiography is being used successfully for screening patients and determining those who need more elaborate tests, such as cardiac catheterization, angiography and other exams that require hospitalization and carry some risks. Though requiring rather elaborate apparatus, echocardiography involves neither hospitalization nor the use of tubes or needles. Rather, a small, microphone-like device is placed on the patient's chest. The instrument also is used to follow the progress of heart disease in patients who have undergone cardiac catheterization and angiography. This often eliminates the need to repeat these elaborate tests.

Cardiologists — doctors who are heart specialists — also use personal history, a physical examination, x-rays and the electrocardiogram (EKG) to diagnose heart problems. But echocardiography has enabled them to diagnose these problems earlier and with greater precision.

(Council From Page 1) California for hangar space at the municipal airport for a sum of $35 per year. The hangar space is a portion of a new hangar complex being constructed at the airport by David Bradley.

City Administrator Glenn Brown told the council that he had received a letter from Harvey Cargill, the Abilene City Attorney, seeking Winters' support in attempting to get the Public Utilities Commission to move the hearing on West Texas Utilities rate increase to Abilene. The council noted that Abilene was more centrally located in the WTU service area and that holding the hearing in Abilene would give more residents an opportunity to present testimony before the Public Utilities Commission. The council agreed to support the effort to move the hearing from Austin to Abilene.

Before closing the meeting the council agreed to the hiring of a caretaker for the landfill and advised the city administrator to secure the employee. The council discussed a proposal to pave the roads in the Northview Cemetery and Mayor Pro-tem Ted Meyer signed a proclamation naming Friday Blue and White day in Winters in support of the Winters Blizzards.

Making Your Work EASIER

WASHER

Traveling around the house or up and down stairs to some hidden location to get to your washer and dryer can add extra time, effort and inconvenience to doing the laundry. There's no need for all those extra steps, say home economists from Whirlpool Corporation. Today's washers and dryers are handsome enough to move right into the kitchen or family room where they're close at hand and ready to go to work for you.

Major home appliance manufacturers are placing greater emphasis on the appearance of appliances so there is no longer the need to keep them hidden in your basement or utility room. But just as important as good looks are the efficient time-saving features. For example, Whirlpool's solid state electronic touch controlled washer offers the versatility needed to handle modern fabrics with just a touch of a finger. For a regular/heavy load, the user merely sets the water level, and the "power on" switch, and the machine does the rest. For other wash loads, after the water level and "power on" have been set, the user just touches the fabric selector to fit the load.
