Crispy critter

The snake in the foreground, or what is left of it, was the cause of a city-wide black-out Sunday evening. West Texas Utilities servicemen John Joeris (left) and Ray Guevara (right) relax a little after the power was back on.

WTU manager Gary Moore said the snake apparently climbed atop a transformer on the main power line coming into the Winters substation and caused a short when the snake's body made the connection between two of the high-voltage lines.

TABS results give Winters students high ratings

Students in grades three, five, and nine in the Winters Schools placed high in the annual TABS (Texas Assessment of Basic Skills) testing conducted at the end of each school year and the beginning of each school year.

Superintendent T.D. Lancaster said that along with the three grades tested the graduating class was rated "excellent" in their TABS test. He said the results showed 100 percent of the students demonstrated mastery of the "TABS testing of minimal com-

Three charged in disturbance

Winters Police Chief L.C. Foster said that three adults were charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a disturbance last Friday at a baseball game on the Senior League Field at the Winters City Park.

Foster said that the disturbance involved spectators at the game and not the players. He said the incident began with shouts of profanity between the trio and the following fight was broken up by police officers who arrested them.

All three were taken before Municipal Judge J.C. Hodnett who set the fines at $106.50 for each of the three.

The police chief emphasized that the adults charged were not baseball players, he said that they were watching the game and apparently disagreed over the progress of the game.

petency" as required by the Texas Education Agency.

In the testing of reading skills, the third grade showed 97 percent mastery of the objective in following written instructions. In the fifth grade, 97 percent showed mastery of using context clues while the lowest rating was in identifying the main ideas of the story. For the ninth grade, 97 percent indicated mastery in the use of reference skills while the only 65 percent showed mastery in using the parts of a book.

Math skills testing reflected the highest percent of mastery in both the third and fifth grades in the multiplication of whole numbers. The third grade scored 97 percent while the fifth grade chalked up 100 percent. The ninth grade showed 93 percent mastery in the adding and subtracting of whole numbers.

On the low side, the third grade had only 67 percent in selecting units of measure while the fifth grade scored its lowest percentile in the area of identifying geometric terms and figures. The ninth grade achieved 57 percent mastery in the use of fractions, mixed fractions, and the addition, subtraction, and multiplication of mixed fractions.

Another phase of the TABS testing was handwriting where the third grade was 99 percent acceptable, the fifth grade was 100 percent acceptable, and the ninth grade 98 percent acceptable and 2 percent hard to read.

Lancaster said the handwriting was graded into four categories, acceptable (highest level), hard to read, illegible, and not readable.

The superintendent said that the schools would be working the next school term to improve the areas indicated low by the testing and that the schools will be definitely doing some things different from the past year.

Snake blamed for power, water problems

West Texas Utilities officials said that a snake, probably a bull snake, was the cause of a power outage that dimmed or darkened the lights in Winters Sunday evening.

Gary Moore, local WTU manager, said that the reptile apparently climbed to the top of a large transformer at the WTU substation in north Winters and came into contact with two of three high-voltage wires.

The result was a blown fuse on the main circuit that carries electric power to Winters. Some parts of the city were immediately blacked out while others experienced very dim lights or "brown out".

WTU servicemen Ray Guevara and John Joeris along with manager Gary Moore rushed to the substation and while attempting to restore the power found one well-done snake on the transformer along with the blown fuse on the main line.

The short circuit caused by the snake caused a flash that was visible for several blocks and resulted in damage to two of the three large insulators on top of the transformer.

WTU officials said that crews from Abilene were in Winters the next day to replace the damaged components and make the connection solid again.

Along with the power outage Sunday evening, Winters residents awoke Monday morning to find that there was no water or very low water pressure on the city water mains. A spokesman for the City of Winters said that a malfunction at the water treatment plant in an electrical circuit was the culprit there and said that the power outage from the night before may have been the cause of the water problems.

By Tuesday afternoon, the city water department was still working to get pressure back to normal and to get the treatment plant back into full operation. One city employee said that due to the dry weather and increased watering of yards by residents, the water department was having some difficulty in getting the system up to normal pressure.

WISD Board buys boiler, gets rid of asbestos, hires new ag teacher

The Board of Trustees of the Winters Independent School District accepted the low bid of an Abilene firm for the replacement of a boiler in the Junior High building and approved the hiring of a new vocational agriculture teacher for the high school in their last meeting.

Abilene Boiler Company was the successful bidder for the replacement of an old boiler in the Junior High building with the bid totaling $46,838. Only one other bid was received and almost doubled the amount of the winning bid.

School officials said the new boiler would replace two boilers used for heating the Elementary-Junior High building and that the bid included the removal of asbestos insulation around the old boilers.

The old equipment, which has been used for a number of years, is in constant need of repairs and is not energy efficient. The replacement boiler will not only function more efficiently, but will provide more heating capabilities than the two old boilers combined.

The school district would have had to remove the asbestos whether or not the boilers were replaced because the insulating material has been determined to be a health hazard. The removal of the material had been mandated by state and federal agencies.

In other action the board approved the hiring of Jackie Tension as Vocational Agriculture at Winters High School. Tension will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Allcorn.

Tension is a graduate of Clyde High School and Tarleton State University and formerly taught in the Junction school system. While at Tarleton, Tension was listed in Whose Who in American Colleges and Universities and was also named to the list of distinguished students at TSU.

In a report to the board Superintendent Tommy Lancaster said that 34 percent of the Class of 1983 will be attending either a four-year college or technical school this next year. He said that colleges selected included Angelo State University, Texas Tech, McMurray, and Hardin-Simmons. Those who will attend technical schools have indicated TSTI in either Sweetwater or Wace. The superintendent also told the board of education that one member of this year's graduating class had made plans to join the military.

The members of the board learned that the ADA or Average Daily Attendance in the Winters School District for the just-ended school year was down somewhat from the year before. The ADA for 1982-83 totaled 761.35 students compared with 765.64 the year before. The school superintendent attributed the decline to illness and absence.

The enrollment in the Winters Schools was up slightly in grades K through six, according to the superintendent who said the average classroom membership in those grades was 65.

Superintendent Lancaster was certified by the school board to serve as a Joint Committee Member for the Region XV Education Service Center.

The board approved the five-year accreditation and evaluation update plan which is an annual report that is made to the Texas Education Agency.

The school board noted that even though there was a reduction in funds from the federal government the Title I program in the Winters Schools would continue next year with only minor changes. The program will be able to operate this next year, as in the past, with out the use of local funds.

The School Bell Rings Again

Fifty years have fled swiftly by since the 1933 class graduated from Winters High School, but those who attended the class reunion at the Housing Authority Saturday became children again when they heard the school bell ring.

Pauline Johnson rang the bell loudly for attention and Odessa Dobbins led in the memorial service by calling the rol of the deceased classmates and teachers, followed by a silent prayer. They were Buford Brian, Kittie Cole, Joyce Denton Gerhart, Ralph Hill, Roxie Harris, Orville Parks, and Nathan Woods; teachers, Mattie Alete White, Pearl Land and Howard Miller.

Depression days were here in the '30s and this class had to do without an annual all four years of high school but a scrapbook kept by one of the members gave some information. Senior officers were Fred Hunt, president; Jack Pierce, vice president; and Olene Dunnam, secretary.

Colors were pink and green and the flower was pink rose. Class Motto: "Good, better, best, we will never let it rest until the good is better and the better best."

Wilna Cooke Grisham was pep squad leader for three years. In 1931-32, Ray Krauss and Maurita Penny were her assistants and the next year her helpers were Orel Caskey and Athene Ramsel. Buford Baldwin and Annie Lee Davis led the singing of the school song.

Miss Lucille Anderson, teacher, now Mrs. A.A. Rodden of San Angelo, told the group how she loved Winters. The people were so kind when she lost her mother and father just nine days apart. And it was here she met her husband. She called the roll, which was to be answered with some personal data.

Walter Adami said that he had lived here all his life and he was just a poor red-neck farmer. He and Cecil Schwartz were the only ones to marry classmates, and she said, "I'm that poor, red-necked farmer's wife, and we didn't even get to change houses. My Mother and Dad lived there 18 years and we have lived there 40. We have three children."

Pauline Baldwin Johnson said, "I married J.E. 'Cooter' Johnson and we ran the Fireside Cafe until his death. We have three children."

Odessa Carwile Dobbins stated that she felt like she was also celebrating her wedding anniversary, as she and M.L. were married in December after graduation. They have four children.

Anna Lee Cobb Davis of Ennis introduced her husband and said, "It took me awhile but I have a good husband - he has two boys and I have two - and we two became six." She also feels that she should have credit for helping the Anderson-Rodden courtship along. Anna Lee knew their favorite song was "Moonlight and Roses" and when she saw Mr. Rodden drive up across the street she began her serenade on the piano - which lasted and lasted.

Wilna Cooke Grisham related that she and Otis lived in San Angelo for 37 years. "After Otis retired we moved to Eden to be near my sister, Helen and husband. Charlie's grandson, Cliff, is my pastor. Otis died two years ago."

Benjamin Clift said that he came to Winters one day before he started to school and left one day after he graduated. He retired from Humble Oil Co. eight years ago and went into the cattle business at Seguin.

Virginia Cramer recalled that she sat a whole year in Mrs. Jackson's bookkeeping class and did nothing. "I did not want to take the course, and I was not allowed to drop it. I knew nothing about it, and I didn't want to learn - so I sat. Of course, she gave me zero. But how I wish that I had tried to learn for most of my adult life I've made my living by bookkeeping". Miss Cramer is retired now and lives at Grandbury.

Clara Bell Ashby Fitzgerald of San Angelo - "I don't have much to say but I'm glad to be here. I have one daughter who is married, but I can't pronounce her husband's name."

LaDell Davis has lived in Winters all his life. Omega Dobbins Snow of Altus, Oklahoma, "I met my husband, Chester, at the Air Force base in San Angelo and we've been married for 41 years."

Olene Dunnam Spill from Eagle Mountain Lake north of Fort Worth - "I enjoy my two grandchildren, Joshua and Sarah, very much. But I didn't enjoy babysitting Sarah's guinea pig for two weeks while the family was on vacation." Her husband, Clarence, and daughter, Arlene, are deceased.

Vera Davis Pennington said that she was an Avon manager in Amarillo for 22 years but is now married. And living in Alto, New Mexico.

Lewis Irvin of Lubbock said that he had been looking forward to this event for 50 years. He also said he had sold vanilla extract and didn't drink any of it. He is now in the Realtor business. In accepting the invitation he wrote that a rocking chair would be nice to relax in, and one was provided.

Elois Davis and C.E. Beeler have been married 39 years and live in Fort Worth. They have one son who is a doctor.

Emilia Gerhart and R.S. Lewis of Lamesa have been married since 1950. They have a son, a daughter, and four grandsons.

Lillie Mae Kiefer, now Mrs. J.B. Templeton of Ballinger, reported that she had five children, six grandchildren and one great-grand.

Henry Manns of San Angelo related that he had been following the meat cutter's trade since 1937.

Eugenia Manns, now Mrs. John Chapman, said they had been living in Fort Worth since 1942. She entered nurses' training in 1938 and has continued in the field of nursing.

Cecil McDonald of Hurst left Winters after he was 21 years old and worked for several oil companies. He was seriously injured in the service but was one of those to come out of the Philippines alive.

His wife is deceased and he brought Mary Gallagher from Sidney, Australia with him, "a lady whom I'm trying to persuade to share my lot."

Rosmond Prusser Holle said that she married in 1935, and has five children, 10 grandchildren and two great-grand. Her husband is deceased.

Marvin Onken confessed that he had been here a long time. He lost his wife in 1955 and reared three children. "I've traveled extensively, once to Buffalo Gap and twice to Lowake." A voice from the audience could be heard, "And twice to the coffee shop in the morning and twice in the afternoon."

Thomas R. Smith of Hawley had been a trucker and said he used to see Pauline Johnson every week at the drive because of my eyes."

A teacher, Amy Willingham, who became Mrs. Bob Stokes, lives in Marlin and wrote, "I broke my left hip two days before Thanksgiving in 1981. I have to limit my driving to here in Marlin." She has two married daughters who live near.

Other graduates of 1933 are Royce Bridwell of Long Beach, Ca., Ray Caskey of Georgetown, Gladys Fry Davis of Ballinger, Maurine Cotton (Mrs. Clarence Weaver) of San Benito, who is now a widow and runs a jewelry store; Ralph Osbourne of Midland, Worth Nance of Pasadena, Fred Vinson of Fairfield, Ill., who came a week ahead of time and had to return home, and Virgie Poe Dunn.

Teachers, Charles Damron and Clyde Pratt of San Angelo also were unable to attend.

Cooking Hints

On pasta and casseroles, in salads and toasted sandwiches, with bread and fruit or a glass of wine, cheese can fill a hundred chinks in your meal plans with satisfying nourishment. A new book called Betty Crocker's Kitchen Secrets, shares with cooks everywhere authoritative, up-to-date information on cheeses, plus dozens of other culinary hints in categories ranging from Beverages through Vegetables.

***

To cut Bleu or Roquefort cheese without crumbling, use a piece of dental floss or heavy thread. (To prevent cooked cheese from becoming stringy use low temperatures and avoid over-cooking.) Add cheese in small pieces or shreds to casseroles for quick, even melting.

***

Firm cheese will freeze well if tightly wrapped in small amounts. Thaw in refrigerator to prevent crumbling. Save leftover bits of cheese by freezing and using later to blend with cream for spreads and dips. Betty Crocker's Kitchen Secrets is a Random House publication, available at book and department stores.

The arctic tern is the most-travelled of birds. Its round trip migration from the Arctic to Antarctica totals 22,000 miles.

POKIN' FUN
 By Doc Blakely

Puerto Rico is one of the few U.S. possessions that has its capitol in San Juan and its citizens in New York City.

I was there recently, invited by a drug company. I felt guilty the whole time because I had never smoked anything stronger than cedar bark.

An island is defined as a body of land surrounded by water. Most of the bodies I saw were gringos surrounded by sunburn.

This island is the home of Jose Feliciano, Puerto Rico's answer to Willie Nelson...and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who still has relatives back home - big shot cousins Boom Boom and Bang Bang.

There are whites, brown, blacks, yellows, reds, rightists, leftists, neutralists, etc. The only minority group is represented by Eskimo cab drivers.

The language is rather strange. If you speak in English, you are answered in Spanish. If you speak in Spanish, you are answered in English. The answer is usually "not my job", or "the tip is not included".

I never saw a flying insect while I was there because the sea breezes blow them to Mexico. The wind stopped blowing for a few seconds one day and everybody fell down.

But when the wind blows, it is an important part of our military preparedness. The chief of the Air National Guard is a guy named Wilbur Orville Sanchez who once donned a Zorro costume and accidentally flew backwards over the entire island. He is a legend to this day for his experiments with female pilots...night maneuvers of course.

"She's beautiful, young, and intelligent, Wilbur," explained an Air Force general, "But she hasn't learned to fly yet. Why is that?"

"Don't worry, mi jefe," replied Sanchez, "We are making so much progress in the ground school."

Ah yes, Puerto Rico, where they do things differently.

The volunteer fire department is a guy with a garden hose named Flaming Garcia. Ask for condensed milk and you'll get a machete and a coconut. Saccharin is made from artificial sugar cane. A candlelight dinner is a switchblade and a flashlight in any dark pineapple field. Free public transportation is available by bus if your fingers are like suction cups and you can hang on to the back. You can go anywhere around the island by water and if you drink it, you get there twice as fast. Medical research consists of massive doses of light or dark rum.

Alas, this island paradise may sadly soon fall to modern progress. As one flamenco guitar player explained, "Romance has gone. No longer can I serenade the señoritas from their balconies."

"Regulations?" I asked.

"No," he wept, "Condominiums."

FACTS & FANCIES

High school and college students buy some two million karat gold school rings annually.

Many students see their karat gold school ring as more than just a fine piece of jewelry, they see it as a symbol of their passage into adulthood.

Gold school rings can be customized with the student's birthstone or sign, engraved initials or signature, favorite school activity, and a variety of stone cuts and colors.

Many parents, recognizing the intrinsic and symbolic value of a karat gold school ring and the meaning that such a ring can have for their youngsters, are giving school rings as gifts to their offspring.

Blackwell

The Women's Missionary Union of the Blackwell First Baptist Church have disbanded for the next three months of June, July and August so they will resume their meeting each Thursday afternoon beginning on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 1st.

The Senior Citizens of Blackwell did not meet the second Tuesday of June, their regular meeting day, due to the death of Jack Waggoner, so it is to be July 12th, their regular meeting day. But the Blood Pressure Clinic was held at the City Hall, and a good crowd was reported.

The Blackwell First Baptist Church have had their Vacation Bible School this week and a good group of children have attended and we hope to have a good report on it next week.

Blackwell is having some nice cool and cloudy weather, but so far just showers so we are hoping to get good rains soon. The gardens are really producing nicely and everyone is busy canning and putting their vegetables in the freezers.

The Women of the Blackwell United Methodist Church met Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Church with ten members and one guest attending.

Mrs. R.Q. Spence presided for the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. T.J. Oden, who was unable to attend. Mrs. Spence opened the meeting with prayer, which was voiced by Mrs. Juanita McRorey.

A business meeting was held at which time the secretary gave her report and then the treasurer's report was given.

It was agreed that the Family Night Dinner would be held this month on Wednesday night, June 22nd, instead of the third Wednesday night, as the new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Weldon Tucker, who were unable to attend on the third Wednesday night, as they have been having it.

Mrs. Spence then adjourned the meeting and turned the program over to Mrs. Bobby Sanderson. The program, "The Challenge: To Be Doers Of The Faith", was very interesting.

Mrs. Sanderson then closed her program with a silent prayer, and Mrs. John English voiced the Dismissal Prayer.

A refreshment plate was served to Mmes. Spence, McRorey, Sanderson, English, Margaret Stout, Mary Louise Alderman, Bobby Barrett, Savannah Thompson, Georgia Lewis, Laura Seale, and one visitor, Mrs. Weldon Tucker.

Mrs. Sanderson was to give the program, but Eileen Hood was to have been her hostess, but as Mrs. Hood was out of town, Mrs. Sanderson served as hostess.

The United Methodist Women will only meet once a month during June, July and August, so the next meeting will be July 11 in the home of Mrs. Betty Cole, with Mrs. Cole as hostess, and Mrs. Elaine Hood bringing the program, "Leaves and Fishes".

SAFETY SENSE

One-Piece Capsules Have Many Advantages

Nowadays, when it comes to packaging, safety is no accident.

In the discussion regarding safer packaging for over-the-counter pharmaceutical products, some experts have pointed out that one-piece hermetically-sealed soft gelatin capsules are more tamper-resistant than tablets and two-piece hard shell capsule products since they are manufactured in one continuous operation. From a heated gelatin mass, soft gelatin capsules are formed, filled and hermetically sealed. Besides being more tamper-resistant, the seal prevents oxidation and evaporation.

A number of products such as vitamin E, lecithin and beta carotene are marketed in soft gelatin capsules. The Pharmacsaps and Encapsulations subsidiaries of Iroquois Brands Ltd., manufacture the one-piece sealed soft gelatin capsules and point out that they offer the advantage of improved stability, taste, ease of swallowing and accuracy of fill compared with compressed tablet dosage forms.

Pharmacsaps said industry estimates indicate that soft gelatin capsules account for only two percent of the total capsule and tablet dosage form market in terms of units sold. However, significantly over 40 percent of consumers reportedly have indicated a preference for soft gelatin capsules over the two-piece hard shell and tablet dosage forms.

Airman Standley nominated for Brig. Gen. Sarah P. Wells Award

SrA. Sharon K. Standley, granddaughter of Lucille Virden of Winters, and the late Gene Virden, was recently nominated by the Pacific Air Forces for the Brig. Gen. Sarah P. Wells Award.

The annual award recognizes the Outstanding Air Force Medical Technician in the Air Force Speciality Code 902X0, or one of its sub-outlets.

Airman Standley was nominated for the award because she "distinguished herself in the performance of outstanding service, exhibiting superior technical skills, initiative and devotion to duty," emphasized Lt. Col. Maureen A. King, chief of Nursing at Hickam's Clinic.

"She has displayed all of these qualities in several emergency situations. In one response, which involved a Naval officer who had been washed overboard from a ship, Airman Standley was the first person to locate and performed initial treatment of the patient's fractured femur, pelvis and multiple severe lacerations," commented Colonel King.

"Airman Standley evaluated the patient, treated the fractures, dressed the wounds, started an IV and treated the patient for shock before he was transported for definitive care."

Airman Standley was promoted to her current rank under the below-the-zone program and is also an applicant for the Air Force Physician's Assistant Program.

She was recently certified as a cardiopulmonary resuscitation instructor and is an active member of the Nursing Training Advisory Committee.

She will complete the final requirements for her Community College of the Air Force degree in emergency Medical Technology when she completes a college math class.

"Airman Standley spends several volunteer hours supporting HCTV 32, the on-base cable channel. She has taken first place honors in the base photography contest in the People Division and honorable mentions in the General Photography contest," Colonel King said.

As a competitive runner, Airman Standley has competed in racing events in Hawaii, including the Honolulu Marathon and the Interisland Military Cross Country.

"Airman Standley's professional conduct, impeccable skills, military bearing and community activities make it a privilege to recommend her for this award," Colonel King concluded.

MRS. THOMAS SIMS DAVIS

Monnie Brewer, Thomas Davis united in double-ring ceremony

Monnie Marie Brewer and Thomas Sims Davis were united in marriage in a 6 p.m. service at First United Methodist Church in Winters.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, all of Winters.

The double-ring ceremony, was performed by Bill Hooten of Main Street Church of Christ, before arrangements of fern baskets, altar candles, and pew markers.

DeOnn Deaton and Teresa Osborne provided music for the ceremony, singing chosen music, "Endless Love".

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown featuring a full skirt with natural waistline, complete with pleated sides and tiers of lace ruffles. A high neckline, with sheer yoke, was adorned with lace applique and pearls. The full-length sleeves had wide lace cuffs, closing with pearl buttons. Her silk chapel train was also adorned with applique and pearls. A pearl and lace applique cartwheel hat held a gathered knee-length veil, spotted with lace roses. She carried a bouquet of orchid and white silk daisies with baby's breath.

Monnie wore pearl earrings borrowed from her bridesmaid, Kelly Green; for something blue, she wore a garter made for her by Mrs. Earnest Brown. She had a 1902 Indian head penny furnished by the groom's grandfather, Floyd Sims, in her shoe, for something old.

Matron of Honor was Barbara Davis of Winters. Bridesmaids were Kelly Green of Bangs and Alice Antilley of Abilene.

They wore taffeta sundresses with a lavender overlay of dotted swiss. The dresses' bodices were trimmed with lace satin ribbons and bows, and the floor-length skirts had ruffles at the bottom, also trimmed with lace and ribbon.

Best man was Bryan

Davis of Winters. Groomsmen were Larry Nitsch and Mark Rogers, both of Winters.

David Brewer of Winters, brother of the bride, and John Sims of Winters, uncle of the groom, acted as ushers.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sims.

A reception was held following the wedding in the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall, hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride's table was adorned with a basket of African violets, and an antique punch bowl set, belonging to the bride's grandmother. Both cakes were made by the bride's mother.

The groom's table was decorated with a yucca plant.

Serving at the bride's table were Candy Nitsch and Leigh Ann Hall. At the groom's table were Kathy Grenwelge and Betty Hall.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Winters High School, and attended Bauder Fashion College.

THEN & NOW!

Since its functions remain discreetly behind closed doors, few of us give much serious thought to the history of the toilet.

THEN: The development of personal hygiene facilities can be traced back to the ancients. In mid-Eastern cities of 3,000 B.C., drains served bathrooms on upper and lower floors of residences, connected with street drains via brick and terra cotta conduits. Perhaps the earliest known "modern" hygiene facilities were located on the island of Crete about 2,000 B.C. where the Queen's toilet room at Knossos Palace emptied into an elaborate drainage system. The Romans were known for their piped hot and cold running water, water-flushed sewage systems and large aqueduct networks that brought water into the city and then into homes through lead pipes. By the Middle Ages such plumbing systems had virtually disappeared.

NOW: Modern plumbing had its start in the early 1800s, although the first flushing toilet dates to the Elizabethan era when the Queen is said to have installed a model at Richmond Palace. The most modern type of water closet then known, complete with a system of drains, was installed at Windsor Castle during the reign of Queen Victoria. One of the first products developed especially for the purpose was Sani-Flush®, developed in 1912, a name that has almost become synonymous with toilet bowl cleaners. The same company, Boyle-Midway, the household products division of American Home Products Corporation, today has introduced Tank II™. It's a no scrub toilet bowl cleaner, an innovation that eliminates routine bowl scrubbing with a two-compartment system of bleach and blue cleaners. What's ahead in the field? Experts theorize that the answer may come from space where revolutionary technologies are being explored.

WHY BUY NOW?

Some experts have suggested that federal price regulations that are supposed to keep prices down are actually keeping some prices artificially high.

Federal price regulation of natural gas steadily increases natural gas prices. This has created disorder in the gas market. If the regulations were removed, prices might adjust downward to meet market conditions.

After controls were removed from petroleum in 1981, gasoline prices declined.

There is now more gas available for sale than there are customers willing to buy it. That situation is attributed to high prices of natural gas mandated by federal regulations.

Legislation has been introduced in the Senate by Senator James McClure, R-Idaho, and in the House by Rep. Thomas Corcoran, R-Ill., that would decontrol natural gas.

Many Americans are asking their legislators to support those bills. They are writing to the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20510.

understanding your skin

The Egyptians, Greeks, during their adolescence and many other ancient peoples thought the sun was a god. They worshipped the sun, made offerings to it, even built temples to honor it.

Today, man knows that the sun is really just one of billions of stars in the universe. It's our major source of heat, light, and many kinds of energy.

Many people still remain "sun worshippers." They spend hours on the beaches every summer, attempting to get the "perfect tan." All too often, they are foolishly exposing themselves to sun-caused skin damage.

The damage done to the skin during sunbathing—especially during the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., when the sun is strongest—can be considerable, especially among redheads and other people with light complexions. This damage may not be evident during the teens and twenties, but light-skinned people who spend hours in the sun

understanding your skin

may show premature wrinkling of their skin in their early thirties or even late twenties and look older than they are.

Sun-damaged skin begins to show some irregularity in color. According to the American Academy of Dermatology, brown and mottled brown-black spots develop on skin that has been over-exposed to the sun, especially as a person grows older.

Another undesirable consequence of excessive exposure to the sun can be development, in later years, of skin cancers. These spots, growths and scaly patches come in all sizes, shapes and varieties, and should be checked by a dermatologist.

It makes sense if you're going to be spending some hours out in the sun to use some form of sun protection—a hat or umbrella, special make-up or a sunscreen gel or lotion. With such protection, you can still enjoy the sun.

Former Winters man to head 1983-84 SCSA

Bailey R. Mayo, Area Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Alice, Texas, succeeds Dr. Billy L. Harris of Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station, as president of the Texas Council of Chapters, Soil Conservation Society of America for 1983-84.

Bailey, the son of A.L. (Dick) Mayo and the late Neva Mayo, is a 1954 graduate of Winters High School, and a 1961 graduate of Texas Tech in Lubbock.

The Seventeenth Annual Meeting of the Texas Council of the Soil Conservation Society of America met at the Abilene Civic Center in Abilene June 17-18, with Mayo as program chairman for the meeting.

Theme for this year's program was "Agricultural Energy, Technology, Finances, and Natural Resources." Speakers were from Texas, Iowa and Oklahoma.

Attending were twenty-two chapters in Texas with a combined membership of about 800 members. The Society is composed of people who are interested in promoting conservation activities throughout the state of Texas. The membership is composed of those actively involved in conservation activities, and include the academic leaders from the college and university system; research and extension, Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Agriculture Research; private foundations; farmers and ranchers; and agency personnel from Farmers Home Administration; Agronomist Soil Conservation Service; county agriculture agents, and from the Soil Conservation Service.

Mayo and his wife, Mary, will be moving to Harlingen, Texas in the near future, where he will be the Area Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. He begins his duties there June 27. They visited with his dad the past week, and attended the activities and meetings in Abilene.

Gardening tips to help with tomato problems

Tomatoes are the Number One garden vegetable in Texas, but they also cause a lot of headaches for gardeners. Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, reviews some of the common tomato problems, along with their causes and

IRS grants extension

The Internal Revenue Service this week announced that it is granting to all payors of interest and dividend income an automatic 1-month extension of the requirement to withhold tax scheduled to begin July 1, 1983. The automatic 1-month extension is being granted to alleviate any undue hardship to payors.

The action is being taken in light of the June 16, Senate action to repeal the withholding provisions which were enacted by the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982. The IRS noted that there has been no final action concerning repeal. The Congress continues to consider expanded backup withholding and other compliance measures.

Perhaps the second most misunderstood mechanism in state government is the committee process under which both the House and Senate operate. As an example that perhaps could be kept in mind in the course of this discussion — when Governor White went on television toward the end of the regular 68th Legislative session and made certain proposals concerning areas of taxation and the application of proposed new tax revenues to teacher pay, AFDC, etc., three or four of my constituents called or wrote and mildly criticized me for not immediately "voting for the Governor's plan."

The fact of the matter is that at the commencement of the Legislature, the Speaker of the House appoints members to standing committees through which all proposed legislation must be sent for consideration, public hearing and, ultimately, a favorable recommendation by that committee. Of course, as a practical matter, this is the only system which would work because the House, as a whole, simply cannot take up and consider four to five thousand individual pieces of legislation regardless of their merits.

Any given committee, after going through the public hearing process, has several options as to what to do with a piece of legislation. It can report a bill favorably back to the full House; it can refer the bill to subcommittee for further study or a quiet demise; or it can simply "sit" on the proposal and do nothing which also insures a quiet demise of the legislation. (A perfect example is the open container bill.)

Assuming a piece of legislation is favorably passed out of a House committee, it is referred to the Calendars Committee where it may be placed on one of several categories of daily House calendars. (The daily House Calendar is the order in which bills are considered and acted upon by the full House). Again, however, a bill may be simply ignored and allowed to die because of the time factor. The individual member's ability to move his bill through this torturous process is usually proportional to his seniority and ability to do grievous damage to the individual legislation of persons whose cooperation he must have. Should or diseases cause this problem.

— Blossom-end rot — Low soil calcium and too much as well as not enough moisture are causes. Add calcium-containing material, water regularly and improve drainage.

— Misshapen tomatoes or catfacing — Cool weather during blooming is the usual cause, so avoid planting too early.

— Abnormal leaves and growth — 2,4-D weed killer and virus diseases could be at fault. Remove affected plants to prevent spreading diseases and use care with weed killers to avoid spray drift.

Basic interest rate for homes increased by VA

The Veterans Administration increased the basic interest rate for homes and condominiums by a half percent June 8 to 12 percent, said William E. Weststead, Loan Guaranty Officer for the Waco VA Regional Office in Waco.

It was the first rate hike in 16½ months and returned the basic rate to the level set last November 15.

At the same time, the VA maximum interest rate for Graduated Payment Mortgage loans was increased to 12¼ percent.

Other current VA loan-guarantee rates: 13.5 percent for purchase of manufactured home units; 13 percent to buy both a mobile home and a lot, and 13 percent for loans to purchase a lot and the cost of necessary site preparation.

For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year, average GI loan of $55,000, the rate increase of a half percent will raise the monthly payments by $21 over the previous 11.5 percent rate. The change, however, doesn't affect existing closed GI loans, whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement.

VA guarantees loans made by private lenders to eligible veterans, widowed spouses of veterans who died as a result of service-connected disabilities, or spouses of service personnel officially listed as missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

Texas rabies cases up sharply so far in 1983

During the first four months of this year, 333 cases of rabies were reported compared to 253 cases for the same time period last year, points out Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. That's more than a 30 percent increase.

The big jump was due mainly to an increase in skunk rabies. Cases of skunk rabies for the first third of this year totaled 269 compared to 204 for the first four months of 1982. Rabies cases also were up slightly in foxes, dogs, cats and cattle.

Cat rabies continue to pose the greatest potential danger of rabies exposure to humans, he notes. Cats, like dogs, may expose up to 20 or more people, a much higher number than wild animals.

Even though state law requires annual rabies vaccination of dogs and cats, a much lower percentage of cats are actually vaccinated than dogs, says Turner. This situation is unfortunate because cats, being predatory animals, are more likely to come in contact with wild animal rabies.

The agent urges all dog and cat owners to make sure their pets are vaccinated annually against rabies. It's much easier and far less expensive to vaccinate a dog or cat than to provide post-exposure rabies treatment to humans.

Studies have shown that dogs and cats will not shed rabies virus as early as 10 days prior to showing signs of rabies. Therefore, a 10-day quarantine of these animals will determine if a bite could possibly produce rabies infection, explains Turner. However, this is not necessarily true for other warm-blooded animals. So, if there is a question of possible exposure to rabies by a wild animal

The basic home-loan guarantee is for a maximum of $27,500, or 60 percent of the loan, whichever is the lesser amount.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Part of being good neighbors is the willingness to help each other. This spirit of cooperation benefits not only the individuals involved, but enhances the whole neighborhood.

The concept of neighborly cooperation extends to nations as well. In our own "neighborhood," the Western Hemisphere, there is a problem that the United States needs some help from its neighbors to overcome.

That problem is drug smuggling.

Congress now has under consideration the President's Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI), a package of assistance programs targeted at 28 nations and dependencies in the Caribbean Sea and Central America.

These nations are our neighbors and they are threatened with serious economic problems. The CBI is a comprehensive effort on the part of the United States to be a good neighbor and lend a helping hand.

Maintaining economic stability benefits the whole "neighborhood," which is in our own best interests. But the United States can also expect in return some help with the drug trafficking problem.

The Senate Finance Committee has unanimously approved my amendment to the CBI bill. It requires countries wishing to receive CBI benefits to cooperate with U.S. efforts to combat illegal drug trafficking.

The CBI already included other standards for nations eligible to participate in the program. Countries that have expropriated American property or have failed to sign an extradition treaty with the United States, for example, would be barred from receiving the trade preferences, foreign aid and tax incentives that will flow from the CBI.

Additionally, a precedent already has been set for enlisting cooperation on narcotics control. Countries applying to receive duty preferences under the U.S. Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) will not be eligible if "such country does not take adequate steps to cooperate with the United States to prevent narcotic drugs and other controlled substances from entering the United States unlawfully. The GSP, however, expires in a year's time.

My amendment is similar to the GSP standard and I will be working to see that it is approved by the full Senate.

Drug abuse is a serious and growing problem in the United States, one that has concerned me for many years. On numerous occasions I have expressed my concern about the declining level of federal drug law enforcement in the State of Texas.

Including narcotics control standards in the Caribbean Basin Initiative will help ensure the continued cooperation of our neighbors and will reinforce our efforts to win the war against drugs.

Bluejays to State Play-offs after placing in Coleman

The Winters Bluejays, coming home last weekend from a tournament in Coleman, brought with them 17 trophies, a second-place title, and the right to play in the State Play-offs.

The Winters team began their weekend with a game against the Brownwood Angels at 11 p.m. Friday night, losing to the Brownwood team, 25 to 3.

Saturday morning the Bluejays played the San Angelo Weeboils, and winning 9 to 8, eliminating the San Angelo team which already had two losses. At 1 p.m. Saturday, the Bluejays played Brownwood Trenching, taking a one-point win, for a final score of 6-5. At 3 p.m. the Winters team played the host team, Coleman. With a good crowd of supporters, Winters managed to come back after a slow start, beating Coleman 12 to 11.

Playing the Ballinger Spoilers at 6 p.m., the Bluejays took the game 12 to 2, putting them in the play-offs.

They played the Brownwood Angels, winning 10 to 2, and as this was the first loss for the Angels, the two teams played again back to back, with the Bluejays losing in the final game, 10 to 7, placing them in second place.

Kathy Reyes, Bluejays team member, won the Most Valuable Player Trophy, hitting four homeruns in the finals.

Anna Vera and Mona Martinez each hit two homeruns, and Christine Liggins, two homeruns.

The Bluejays also played Mereta last week, winning 7 to 0, with Tawana Gray hitting a homerun, and Debra Whittenburg hitting a triple. They played Lawn, winning by a score of 14 to 3, with Debra Whittenburg hitting two homeruns, and Tawana Gray and Christine Liggins hitting one homerun each. The team played against the Rowena Farmers and Daughters earlier in the week, also, winning with a score of 6-5.

The Bluejays have a season record of 24 wins, 3 losses.

Martha Stone named as 1983 U.S. National Award winner

Martha Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stone of Irving, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaDell Davis of Winters and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stone of Virginia, Minnesota, was recently named a 1983 United States National Award winner in Business Education by the United States Achievement Academy.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than ten percent of all American High School students.

Martha, who attends Nimitz High School, was member, Roy Torres hit a double to bring in two runs to close the inning, 8 to 6, Abilene's favor.

In fifth inning play, Abilene's offense scored five more runs. Winters came right back as Joe Escolana hit a double with two runners on bases, followed by Ronnie Lujano's double, following Little Joe's single, and Joe Escolana still on base, to bring the score to 13-11, with Winters trailing.

In the sixth inning, Abilene's offense was held to no score. Winters' Johnny Lujano his second homerun of the game to bring the score closer, 13 to 12. Roy Torres brought in two more runs as he singled to center to help Winters take the lead, 14 to 13.

In seventh inning play, Abilene was held again to no score. Winters brought in four more runs for the final score.

Winters team recorded 18 runs, 14 hits, and 8 errors, to Abilene's 14 runs, 5 hits, 5 errors.

Roy Torres and Ronnie Lujano combined for 7 RBI's, while Johnny Lujano led the team with four runs scored.

IT'S THE MOST!

Most of the world is covered by water. Only about 30 percent of the earth's total surface is dry land.

The most inexpensive utility is the one that supplies water. Safe, clean drinking water costs an average of a penny for ten gallons across the country. The American Water Works Association points out that water itself is free. What you get billed for is the cost of gathering, treating, storing and distributing it. But what a bargain it is.

District 7 Horse Show held in Abilene

The 1983 District 7 4-H Horse Show was held Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18, at the Ray Boeshort Arena in Abilene.

Members of the Runnels County 4-H that placed in the Halter Classes with their registered geldings were Kelly Hays, 9th place; and Cory Lee, 10th place, both of Ballinger. Michelle Moore of Winters, daughter of Ronnie and Tresia Moore, placed 9th in the barrel racing contest.

Also participating in the Horse Show from Runnels County were Dottie Chambliss of Winters.

4-H Range team places well in Sonora

The Runnels County 4-H Range Evaluation Team placed first in the 1983 Range Judging Contest, held in conjunction with the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show on Wednesday, June 15 in Sonora.

The team consisted of Craig Teplicek, Grant Teplicek, Terry Davis and Scott Orzechowski. Craig Teplicek was also the 4th high point individual in the contest.

The Range Evaluation Team is coached by Carl Smith, Range Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Ballinger, according to Curtis Thompson, assistant county extension agent.

Trees more than 4,000 years old can be found in California's Inyo National Forest.

Deadline Friday for County 4-H Camp

Deadline for registration for County 4-H Camp, to be held August 10-12 at the Texas 4-H Center, is Friday, June 24, reminds Mrs. Juanita O'Connor, County Extension Agent. A $10.00 deposit must be in the office by this date.

Mrs. O'Connor also reminds Runnels County 4-H members and their families that a covered dish supper will be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 28, at the Ballinger City Park. Iced tea and paper goods will be furnished, and members are asked to advise the office if they plan to attend with their families. The organizational leader of your club may also be contacted, and they, in turn, will contact the office.

Gen-Tel service agency closed

General Telephone officials are now looking for another local service agency location since the closing of Flowers, Etc. in Winters. For now, they request Winters' customers either mail in their phone bill payments or take them to GTE's Ballinger Service Office located at 711 Hutchings in Ballinger. The facility can arrange for new phone service, addition of telephones or discontinuance of service.

GTE General Manager E.O. Cambern said efforts are underway to relocate the local service agency and a final decision should come within two weeks. "In the meanwhile, we apologize for any inconvenience this has caused our Winters customers," said Cambern.

TSA urges motorists to take the seat belt pledge

"I pledge, for the next two weeks, to buckle-up, to protect children by placing them in safety belts or child safety seats, and to encourage my fellow passengers to get into the buckle-up habit."

That's the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" safety belt usage pledge, and you're encouraged to take it, said George R. Gustafson, Executive Director, Texas Safety Association.

This year the Texas Safety Association and many McDonald's restaurants across the state are participating in the National Safety Council's "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" campaign which runs from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Many groups in Texas will be asking friends and neighbors to sign the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" pledge this summer.

Many McDonald's restaurants in the state will be distributing pledge cards beginning June 20. Other groups such as the Texas Safety Association, safety councils in Dallas and Houston, private corporations and government agencies will also be participating in the program.

Gustafson said one major aim of the program is to encourage continuing use of seat belts. "Hopefully, after persons see how easy it is to use the belts, they'll continue wearing them," Gustafson said.

According to the Texas Safety Association 14,000 to 18,000 lives nationally could be saved yearly if all passengers in motor vehicles wore safety belts at all times.

Gustafson said that safety belts are effective

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The recent summit meeting of NATO leaders to discuss economic issues is a sign of the degree to which all of our economies are inextricably linked. This linkage affects every level of business and commerce.

For Texans, there are two areas of particular concern in our trade relations with the European Economic Community -- agricultural products and steel. Recently, I had the opportunity to express these concerns to Mr. Etienne Davignon, Vice President of the European Economic Community. I came away from our discussion somewhat encouraged. While there are still significant problems in both of these areas, the EEC seems to be shifting its approach to them.

In agriculture, EEC policies cause two problems for Texas farmers. First, import barriers make it difficult for them to sell within the EEC; and, secondly, the EEC nations subsidize their inefficient agriculture to the point that their farmers are undercutting our sales to Third World nations.

I asked Mr. Davignon how long European nations could continue to subsidize their farmers so heavily when they have their own budget deficit problems. He said the EEC is concerned about this problem and has asked its agriculture experts to examine the wisdom of subsidizing products which heretofore have been purchased more cheaply from the United States.

The EEC will address this point at a meeting this month in Stuttgart, West Germany.

Steel mill and steel pipe and tube imports from Europe also are having a negative impact on the Texas economy. In 1982, there was a reduced demand for steel pipe and tube products, which caused U.S. domestic production to fall. However, imports from the European Community and other nations continued to enter the U.S. in quantities significantly in excess of market demand.

The pressure of these increased imports on top of decreased demand brought about unprecedented U.S. layoffs and plant closings. For example, Lone Star Steel was forced to shut down its oil pipe and tube manufacturing operations in Texas last year.

Mr. Davignon told me the European Community has concluded that it is producing 55 million tons of steel a year

Expenses for education may be deductible

Educational expenses related to your present employment may not only increase your future earnings, they may be deductible on your federal tax return to boot, the Internal Revenue Service says.

because they eliminate the "human collision" inside cars. "When your vehicle hits something, you as an occupant will continue moving inside the car after the car has stopped," he said, "then you'll have a second collision either with someone in the car, or with something else in the car."

"Some persons mistakenly believe it's better to be thrown from the car in an accident, but being 'thrown clear' often turns out to be thrown into the path of an on-coming car, onto a cement street or against a telephone pole," he said. "In fact, statistics indicate that you are 25 times more likely to be killed if you're thrown from the vehicle," he added.

Persons who would like to encourage their friends and neighbors to buckle-up for safety are urged to participate in the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" campaign. They can write to the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 9345, Austin, Texas, 78766.

To qualify, the expenses must meet one of two guidelines. Taking the course of study must be mandatory in order for you to keep your present job -- for example, a teacher required to take a course to retain a teaching position. If not, the course must be helpful in maintaining or improving skills which are required in your present employment -- for instance, a television repairman taking a special course to keep up with the latest changes.

Educational expenses for tax purposes include amounts spent on tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees, and similar items, and certain travel and transportation costs.

Except for reimbursed expenses included in income, travel, and transportation, educational expenses are an itemized deduction and should be listed on Schedule A (Form 1040) as a miscellaneous deduction. Travel, transportation, unreimbursed expenses, and all outside salesperson's educational expenses are deductible as adjustments to income using Form 2106.

Additional information on educational expenses appears in the free IRS Publication 508, "Educational Expenses".

A new record

above what is justified by market demand. He expects the EEC to cut that production by 30 million tons. However, he also indicated that the EEC likely will demand that we modernize our steel industry and cut our capacity as a condition of a new steel agreement. This causes me great concern.

The recession that has plagued our economy also has affected Europe, some nations more severely than the U.S. This makes reaching trade agreements more difficult, but at the same time all the more important. We must continue to work together to solve our mutual economic problems, but we also must ensure that the Europeans understand our basic philosophy -- we are willing to compete on equal footing, but we will not tolerate unfair barriers on our goods while affording our trading partners free access to our markets.

The U.S. Army adopted olive-drab for winter service uniforms in 1902.
