Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

Talk about Mondays, it seems that they have suddenly hit, one right after another.

Some of the folks in our office are of the firm opinion that I cannot read, much less write. What happened was, I wrote a story on the annual Mayfest and kind'a got carried away talking about a rather unique friend, Sam Lewis, who will be here this year. In the midst of thinking about Sam and his inventions and exploits I gave a totally incorrect date for the annual community-wide event.

The date for the Mayfest is May 5, not May 25. I admit it, I couldn't read somebody else's writing.

I would like to express my appreciation to those at the Chamber of Commerce and on the Mayfest 84 committees for their polite consideration in not making an issue of my oversight. I was not as lucky in my own office however.

Now to set the record straight MAYFEST 84 WILL BE SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1984.

Now in talking about Sam, well, there is good enough reason to lose sight of a date. That guy has raced his armadillos all over the country. Why, he even had his critters perform for the Queen of England.

Sam, along with some other characters of question, formed the World Armadillo Breeding and Racing Association several years ago.

This is the guy that turned the jalapeno pepper into a lollypop. He and his wife are well known in the elite circles of world championship chili cooking, rocky mountain oyster frying, and many other unique ventures.

He probably is the same fellow that decided to make money off of those folks from up north (Yankees) by selling them porcupine eggs. All that takes is a lot of imagination, some white paint and a field full of cockle burs.

Be sure and mark the date on your calendar, MAY 5, for the Mayfest and don't miss Sam and his entourage. With those folks around, anything can (and most likely will) happen. There is no telling what will happen when he gets my bill for this build-up.

Now I have confessed and hopefully have been forgiven.

Boy, they are really pulling some big ones out of the new Winters Lake.

A bunch of local law officers, a wrecker driver, and this intrepid reporter landed one early Sunday that weighed probably a couple tons.

Yep, a late model automobile that some nice car thief turned loose on the boat ramp. Just less than a year ago we fished a citizen's pick up out of the drink at the same place.

Of course there was a for real fish story told this week. Ricky Davis landed a whopper—a six and one-half pound bass. I would'a had a picture but it was Monday and the camera had a malfunction in the operator.

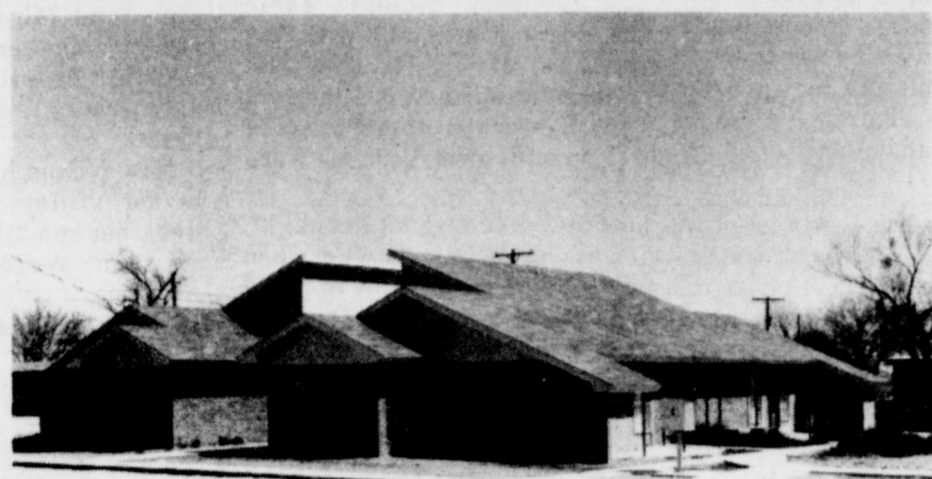

Now wait a minute...

Mayor proclaims Lite-a-Bike Week

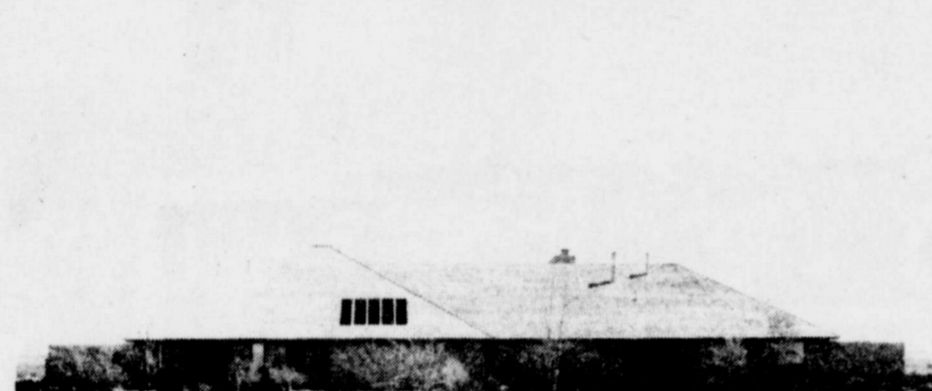

Mayor Lee Colburn of Winters has issued a proclamation designating March 26-31, 1984, as "Lite-a-Bike Week" in Winters, and commending the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9193 and the Ladies Auxiliary for their participation in this worthwhile project.

The Lite-a-Bike project has as its goal the development of safer bike riders. The VFW provides reflectorized tape for bicycles, which does add to visibility but does not eliminate the hazards of riding under the conditions of dusk or darkness.

The program also provides for inspection of bicycles and tests of a bicyclist's riding ability. Special attention is called to the fact that riding at night is always dangerous, even with lights and reflectors.

The kitchen cabinets and built-ins were designed and installed by Joe Kozelsky of Winters. An artistic display of Norman Rockwell series plates and family pictures decorates one wall of the living room. Kindergarten pre-registration slated

Pre-registration for 1984-85 kindergarten students has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 3, at 7 p.m. in the Winters Elementary School Library. Parents or guardians of children who will be five (5) on or before September 1 should bring birth certificates (hospital or church records) and immunization records.

Those children not enrolled in kindergarten and who will be six (6) on or before September 1 should also register for the first grade.

The child does not have to be present during registration.

"It is very important that all students be registered. The school needs to determine the number of kindergarten and first grade teachers needed for 1984-85," L.C. Hounsel, elementary principal, stated.

Teens to barricade intersection Saturday

For the benefit of the Kidney Foundation, the Total Teens will hold a barricade at the intersection of Main and Dale Streets on Saturday, March 24, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., taking donations for the charity.

Lines are drawn in local elections

Absentee balloting is underway for the April 7 elections in the City of Winters, the Winters Independent School District, the Wingate School District, and the North Runnels County Hospital District.

There are contested races in two of those elections, the Winters City Council election and the Winters School Board election.

In the city election, there are three council seats up for election and there are five candidates seeking the at-large positions.

Incumbents Dawson McGuffin and Rick Dry are seeking re-election to their seats along with June Hays, who is in her first full term on the council. Mrs. Hays was appointed last year to fill an unexpired term.

Two new-comers have also tossed their hats into the political ring in the city election, Charles Wearden and Ramon Hudson.

In the city election, voters will select three council members from the five candidates—the three with the most votes will be elected.

In the Winters School Board election there are three places to be filled and only one of those races is contested. Charles R. Allcorn, a former Vocational Agriculture teacher, and Earl J. Foster, a ranch manager, are seeking the seat being vacated by Dr. Jimmy Smith.

Two other incumbents on the school board are unopposed in their bids for re-election, Joe Bryan for place 3 and Gary Don Pinkerton for place 4.

Three candidates are seeking re-election, unopposed, as directors for the North Runnels County Hospital District. Those candidates are: Bill Cathey, Ronnie Poehls, and George Mostad.

In the Wingate Independent School District, there are two positions on the school board at stake in the election along with a proposition calling for the Wingate ISD to be governed by a board of five trustees.

There are no announced candidates for the Wingate School Board, which is normal, and the trustees will be elected by a write-in vote.

N.R. Water Supply Corporation will meet

Stolen car found in Winters lake

Winters Police officers, Runnels County Sheriff's officers, and Highway Patrol Troopers recovered a late model car from the waters of the new Winters Lake early Sunday morning, just hours after the auto had been reported stolen.

The car was stolen from Betty Sue Gray of Route 1, Winters, early Sunday morning while she was at work at the Senior Citizens Nursing Home.

In her statement to officers, Mrs. Gray said that while on duty at the nursing home, she heard her car start and ran to the door in time to see the car back slowly out of the parking area and drive away. She told officers that the person driving the car waved to her as he drove away.

As officers began searching for the late-model Chevrolet, Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird and Highway Patrol Trooper Tom Barkley were stopped by a motorist on F.M. 53, east of Winters, who told them that there was a car with its lights on under water at the boat ramp at the lake.

When that car was pulled from the water, officers checked the registration and learned that it was the stolen vehicle.

Officers say the incident is still under investigation. No arrests have been made but officers indicated that they were considering several suspects in the car theft.

New state education plan would cost millions

According to a news release from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office, reforms recommended by the Select Committee on Public Education would cost the public about $2 billion.

Leading the list of costs is a whopping $906.5 million which would be required to limit the average class size to 15 students in grades kindergarten through four. Currently the average class size is 25.

Ranking second in amount of money required is the four-year-old pre-kindergarten, which would cost $402.7 million.

Third place goes to the "career ladder" basis for teacher compensation—$341 million. Extending the school day by two hours would cost $303 million.

Full-day kindergarten for five year olds would cost $246.3 million, while lengthening the school year by 10 days would run about $95 million.

To increase the funding of teacher education programs in state universities would cost $74.8 million. Changing the textbooks every six years instead of the present eight would cost $20 million.

The cost of annual testing with nationally-normed tests would be $6.6 million.

reunion of men who had fought fires in Winters 20 years ago. Harris Mullin, a rancher from Dalhart, said the barbecue had been a feature since 1920, and he had barbecued the beef for the affair for the past 23 years.

"For the first few years, the firemen all shared in the expenses of the feed held annually at Tinkle Park," he said. "Then the late C.N. Kornegay donated the first beef. The next year C.L. Green donated the beef and other businessmen followed suit."

Green and his son donated the beef again for 1950, making the third time they had shown their appreciation for the fire department.

In relating the history of the firemen's barbecue, Mullins said it had grown from a small party for just the firemen and their families to the point that it now includes many businessmen and friends in the community and guests from other cities.

From Tinkle Park the picnic was moved to the basement of the First Methodist Church and in recent years has moved again to the school house.

Twelve firemen who were members of the department 20 years ago included Mullins; P.G. Garrett, from Big Lake; State Pension Commissioner Frank Williams, who became an instructor in fire fighting out of A&M in 1933; Byron Unsell of Ballinger; Louis Johnson of Anson; and Henry Sanders of Guion.

Those still living in Winters at the time were Joe Baker and Jesse Wetzel, still active members. Others were Barney Bryant, John W. Norman, B.G. Owens, and John Shipman, both of whom were retired members of the department.

Baker and Wetzel were presented 20 year pins by Mayor C.S. Jackson on behalf of the city. Jackson also

HAND IN HAND WITH PROGRESS

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1911. James Holiday was the first fire chief and water was supplied from Bedford Wells. Fire-fighting equipment consisted of buckets. Soon, a hand-drawn cart with a fifty-gallon chemical tank was bought, several hand extinguishers, pick axes, and two ladders, all carried to fires by hand.

Pistol shots by Buford Owens at the drug store sounded the alarms. Later, the Methodist Church bell gave the signal until the present siren was installed. Frank Williams became the fire chief in 1917. By public subscription a Ford truck was bought; it was finally exchanged for a Rio, which was eventually replaced by La France pumps. Williams accepted a position with the State Fire Department, and Buford Owens, as assistant, became fire chief. He was followed by L.E. Hamilton, Floyd Sims, Jess Wetzel, Bailey McCaughan, N.D. Waggoner, Marvin Bedford, David Carroll, and Johnny Merrill, the present fire chief. Marvin Bedford is now fire marshal.

Fire losses have been kept to a minimum by the faithful and valiant efforts of those citizens who have volunteered their services for the safety of local lives and property. The firemen's annual barbecue, begun many years ago, is very popular with friends attending from near and far.

At the 1950 annual fireman's barbecue, there was a presented 15 year pins to Fire Chief Floyd Sims and Rankin Pace.

Twisted clouds in the northeast resulted in the feast being moved from the school grounds to the cafeteria at the barbecue held in 1958.

M.G. Middlebrook was presented a 25 year fireman's service pin by Mayor George Poe. Jack Harrison received a 15 year pin, and 10 year pins went to Fire Chief N.D. Waggoner and Monroe Dodd.

By 1973 the barbecue attendance had become so enormous that it became difficult to meet expenses. In the past, the barbecue had been more or less an open affair, with no membership in any organization required. Invitations were sent to many people and at times several hundred attended. Therefore, it was decided to form an organization for the purpose of promoting the barbecue, with membership dues used to pay expenses.

A Fireman's Association was organized which has no direct connection with the Volunteer Fire Department, but is a sponsoring organization to help obtain needed equipment and to sponsor the annual firemen's barbecue, held on the third Friday each August.

Family membership in the association is $5, and besides helping to purchase new equipment, will entitle each family member to attend the barbecue.

Marvin Bedford, fire chief, received a 35 year pin at the 1974 barbecue. Others receiving pins were Robert Carey, 10 year pin; Leonard Bowden, five years; Wesley Vogler, five years; J.A. Henderson, 10 years; and Lee Roy Chaney, five years.

The first mention we find of the "Fireman of the Year" award was when it was given to Carson Easterly, a 20 year member, in 1972. This person is chosen by members of the department. In 1973, Glenn Hoppe was presented the special plaque by Mayor Homer Hodge, and the following year it was presented to Jerry B. Whitlow. Two members were Firemen of the Year in 1975. They were Leonard Bowden and Richard Hamilton.

Two men received a surprise recognition for designing and engineering the rural fire truck and for their interest in the project. They were James Spill, assistant fire chief, and Fred Armbricht.

Mrs. Middlebrook recalled that Martin and Louis Johnson were living upstairs at the fire station in 1929 and slid down the pole every time the fire alarm sounded. The men always went at once to fires with no time to change clothes. If Martin were waiting on a customer in the store someone would have to finish the job. He always came home wet and muddy and they were lucky if his trousers were not burned or the seat torn out. The men paid their own tailor bills which were tremendous. Now, the boys are given a bonus at Christmas.

Marvin and Nina Bedford have the longest record of service in the department. She is the only charter member of the auxiliary who is still a member. Marvin has been a member for 42 years and was fire chief for 18 years before becoming fire marshal. He was secretary-treasurer for 18 years and now has the job again.

Bedford recalled a fire some thirty or more years ago. To get a better shot with the water hose, he moved, unknowingly, on top of a red ant bed. Some 50 ants started stinging him all at the same time. He dropped his pants and turned the water on himself - of course,

New Methodist pastor

Gary Turner has assumed his duties as pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Winters.

McMurry grad assumes local Methodist pastorate

By Patsy Roach
Reverend Gary F. Turner, 28, assumed the pastorate of Winters' First United Methodist Church on February 29, a position vacated by Bob Holloway, who is now pastoring a church in Acton, near Granbury. Turner and his wife, the former Carol Criswell of Abilene, moved here from Waco where they served the Austin Avenue United Methodist Church for almost three years.

The youthful pastor responded to questions in an interview this week, praising the local church and the former pastor for the excellent work they have done, which will enable him to devote his attention to spiritual aspects of the ministry, rather than having to concentrate on facilities, finances, and other areas.

Turner is from Comanche and is the son of a Methodist preacher. His father attended McMurry, as he did; and his grandfather, Frank L. Turner, Sr., was President of McMurry from 1938-1942. Before accepting that position, his grandfather pastored a church in Ballinger. Because of these connections, the couple feels right at home in this area.

Turner received his Bachelor of Arts in religion and speech from McMurry in 1977. His wife Carol graduated summa cum laude that same year from the college with a degree in English and Spanish. She does not plan to work outside the home in Winters, preferring to stay home with the couple's two children, Tamara, aged three, and Allen, eight months.

Turner said he felt the call to the ministry about 14 years ago, a call which he described as "internal, and very personal. When that's the way the Lord is leading you, you commit your life. From time to time, you question the Lord as to whether it's still the right path, and He always says 'Yes.'" He has been in the ministry nine years.

While attending McMurry, he pastored a church in Tye, a small community west of Abilene. Following graduation, he studied at Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and served churches in Palmer and Bristol in the Waxahatchie District.

He did a year of internship in Graham under Dr. Eugene Robertson, and served churches in China Springs and Speegleville in the Waco District. He received his Master of Theology degree from SMU in 1981, and proceeded to the Austin Avenue church in Waco where he was assistant pastor.

Asked to comment on the purpose of the church in the world, Turner stated, "The church as the body of Christ is the extension of Christ's ministry to the world. As I see it, Christ's ministry was twofold, yet the purposes are the same: primarily to call persons to a reconciled relationship with God, and within that reconciled relationship, to reach out to the society through service. The church is never an end in itself; it always has as its goal, service to the world."

Turner said the response of the Winters people has been overwhelming. The church gave them an old fashioned "pounding" last week, and Turner said, "We were not surprised, because we know the character of the people in this country. There are no finer people anywhere than are in this part of the country."

He commented that the future of his new church looks outstanding, and that it would not be that way without the careful work of Bob Holloway and others who have served in the church. "We are heirs of our predecessors' work," he stated.

He concluded by saying he is pleased at number of young couples in the church, as well as with the older adults and youth. "Each age group makes its own significant contribu-

Literary and Service Club

Members and guests of the Literary & Service Club met March 15. They had a sentimental trip through the Z.I. Hale Museum on Thursday afternoon, when Mary Margaret Leathers, secretary of the museum board, directed them on the very interesting "itinerary." Many unique objects belonging to people of past and present generation are displayed. There are three glass cases in the entrance hall that hold antiques, among which are two large silk fans belonging to Lillian Roberson; beautiful hand-work including lace and tating; and other interesting objects. In one case, there is an antique accodian, owned by Mrs. Charles Adami; and a drum-major's mace, which the late Mr. Albert Spill used in directing the Winters High School Band in 1924. Other items of interest included an old fashioned salt box belonging to the mother of J.W. Bahlman; and two interesting hot-chocolate pots, submitted by Edna England and Mary Margaret Leathers.

In the next room, one finds an interesting and unique scene in the corner of an old fashioned kitchen, displaying a little lady sitting and reading a Sears Catalog while churning. Many antique farm and ranch implements are also exhibited, including an old iron wash pot, saddles and bridles, and various tools.

In the hallway, downstairs, photographs of number of early day and well-known Winters physicians are displayed in a wall glass-case. Several new display rooms, upstairs, have been added recently. One that attracts many viewers is the book room that houses the trophy room, showing trophies received by students of Winters High School and others, dating back to 1925. Also, in the same room, displayed on a large table, are the various scrapbooks and kept by the late Joe Baker, depicting many interesting scenes and write-ups from the Winters Enterprise as well as those from other sources of interest to Winters people.

A small furnished bedroom, upstairs, contains a small bed belonging to Edna England, and the coverlet on the bed was made by her. Here are other interesting quilts shown in this room.

Also, upstairs, one finds a display of interesting memorabilia belonging to the late Judge Henry Rampey, which includes a watch and a desk-set.

tion," he noted, adding that the older adults recall the past and give direction to the future with their deep spiritual insights; the younger adults are the leaders financially and administratively, and the youth supply the vitality, ambition, and drive to carry out the dreams of the church.

Vitality and enthusiasm are evident in the conversation of First Methodist's new pastor, who will be striving to serve the needs of his church and community in the days ahead.

Fertilize farm ponds for more fish

Fertilizer can double or triple fish yields from fish ponds, and now is the time to apply it.

An inorganic fertilizer is the best choice, with granular 20-20-5 at the rate of 80 pounds per surface acre or liquid 16-32-0 at the rate of 1 gallon per surface acre most often recommended, says Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

For best results with granular formulations, pour the fertilizer directly onto sunken platforms. If this method is not feasible, split the sacks and the place the fertilizer in shallow water. Fertilizer may be poured directly into water less than 3 feet deep.

If a liquid formulation is used, dilute each gallon of fertilizer with 10 gallons of water and pour directly into the pond.

Water in the pond should develop a greenish color, indicating a phytoplankton bloom, about four to six weeks after the first application of fertilizer. Phytoplankton increases the amount of food in the food chain and therefore produces more pounds of fish.

To maintain a phytoplankton bloom with granular fertilizer, apply 20-30 pounds of 20-20-5 per surface acre whenever a shiny object is visible in the water less than 18 inches from the surface. Liquid fertilizer applications of 1 gallon per surface acre will be needed about every two weeks to maintain the bloom. Stop fertilizing with the onset of hot weather, usually around June 1, says the agent.

Occasionally, fertilization programs fail to provide desired results. Excessive water flow through a pond following fertilization will result in nutrient loss and poor phytoplankton bloom. Also, ponds with excessive weed growth seldom respond to fertilization since weeds take up the nutrients.

Muddy ponds also will not normally respond to fertilization since muddy water screens out sunlight necessary for phytoplankton growth.

In addition, ponds that contain soft water (low total hardness) also seldom respond to fertilization. In this case, adding agricultural lime may help. But, never lime and fertilize a pond at the same time since the limestone settles out phosphorous in the fertilizer.

Once a fertilization program is started, it should be continued annually to provide sufficient food for existing fish populations, says Turner.

The Windy Ryon Memorial is held just north of Fort Worth near Loop 820 at the Saginaw Exit. As you know, we have 50 boxes on the West side, with 8 seats in each box, at a price of $250.00. On the East side, we have 26 boxes, with 10 seats in each box, at a price of $250.00. Both sides are covered. Parking passes will be issued to each box holder. You have been a great backer of the roping and we look forward to your continued support.

It will be a fun-filled weekend that I know you will want to be a part of. The proceeds this year will again go to the West Texas Boys Ranch.

Roping benefits Boys Ranch

The battle continues to escalate at the Windy Ryon Memorial Roping! Last year it was the battle of the beers; this year the battle of the states, with Texas and Oklahoma pitted against each other. Both of the combatants from last year's battle, Roy Cooper and Mike McLaughlin, lead their hardy bands of ropers into the fray in 1984, as four calf ropers from Texas and four from Oklahoma, each going for three calves, strive for dollars and bragging rights. The best time on the 12 head per team will determine the victors in a winner-take-all payoff.

The 1984 renewal of the prestigious roping event will be held May 25-27, starting Friday with an open team roping. The calf roping and the Texas-Oklahoma Match Roping will be held Saturday, with the Steer Roping scheduled for Sunday. Another innovation for this year's event will be an invitational wild horse race. Invitations have been sent out to local ranchers to field a team for the event, which will be held Sunday, the final day of the fun-filled extravaganza.

Invitations have been sent to the top calf ropers and steer ropers across the nation, and most of today's top competitors will be on hand for the action.

Farm workers need insurance

Attorney General Jim Mattox Friday said he strongly supports insurance coverage for farm and ranch workers and urged Gov. Mark White and the Texas legislature to act quickly to see that such legislation is passed during a likely special session this spring.

In order to give the legislature time to act, Mattox said he is filing a notice of appeal on a ruling by state District Judge Harley Clark that struck down the statutory exclusion of farm and ranch laborers from insurance coverage under the Texas Workers' Compensation Act.

"Farm and ranch workers have been excluded from insurance coverage in Texas for more than half a century," Mattox said. "A change is long overdue. These workers face the same or greater hazards as other workers in our society."

"Today, I am filing a notice of appeal with the Third District Court of Appeals concerning Judge Clark's ruling," Mattox said. "I am doing this in order to give our legislators time to act on a bill that Tony Korioth and his committee have worked hard to put together."

In the meantime, Mattox said he recommends that the state's farmers and ranchers proceed immediately to obtain insurance coverage for their workers.

Mattox said Judge Clark's ruling has complicated legal ramifications because there are questions about whether this court ruling in Travis County has statewide applicability.

"I firmly believe that the proper place for this issue to be resolved is in the legislature, not the courts," Mattox said. "Therefore, I hope quick action will occur when the legislature meets in special session."

"If this issue is not included in the special session or if the legislature does not act," Mattox said, "I will at such time reconsider the State's position concerning the appeal."

Assistant Attorney General Bill Barbisch is handling the case for Mattox.

Homestead exemptions

Texas homeowners have until May 1 to file for a homestead exemption. By claiming their home as a homestead (principal residence of January 1), taxpayers are entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes, notes a real estate specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Once an exemption is granted by the appraisal district, it remains in effect as long as the property qualifies. Taxpayers 65 or older or disabled can get an additional $10,000 exemption.

Card of Thanks

Third time's the charm: I believe this as I am home for the third time. So now it's time to thank Dr. Lee and all of his hospital staff for their care, and to thank all the people of Winters for everything they did for me while I was in the hospital and at home: for all the visits, food, cards, and most of all their prayers.

Thanks again.

Miss Robinson's dish of Cheesy Chicken Tetrazzini also won a blue ribbon. Her high score was earned by her outstanding demonstration of knowledge of nutrition, food buying and serving principles.

The 15 year old Ballinger High School freshman is now eligible for state level competition to be held June 5 at Texas A&M University.

Other senior division winners from Runnels

County included Gena Davis, Ballinger, blue ribbon and second place in fruits and vegetables; Brenda Niehuus, Norton, blue ribbon in breads and cereals; Danna Little, Ballinger, snacks and desserts.

Girl Scouts give program

The Family Night Supper for March was Friday night, March 16th in the Fellowship Hall of the Blackwell United Methodist Church with 40 attending.

The Girl Scouts set the tables. They had made decorations for the tables, using the green table cloths and had made small white hats with a green band and a green shamrock and they were very pretty.

The mothers and the scouts prepared most of the meal, but each one that attended carried a covered dish.

Dr. John English gave the invocation before the meal telling how proud we were to have them. The mothers and the scouts served the meal, which always was a very delicious and as usual plenty. The Girl Scouts carried the plates and the glasses of tea for ones that needed help and then they cleared the tables and cleaned the dishes.

After the meal a very good and interesting program was given by the girls and they were directed by Mrs. Lucile Taylor. Some of the Girl Scouts didn't get to come as they had to go to a birthday party.

After the program, Mrs. Inez Tucker thanked the girls bringing such a nice program, asked them to come again and said she thought we should give a big hand and welcome.

Scouts selling show tickets

When you buy a ticket for Scout Show 84 you help in four ways. First, you help his Troop or Pack to earn money to buy tents, flags, or other unit needs. Forty percent of the $1.50 that a ticket costs is earmarked to be returned to the local unit. The units also get 25% of the Scout Show Book ads they sell.

Second, the Scout can earn prizes such as a flint and steel set, compass, or a sleeping bag, if he sells enough tickets. Third, you help the Chisholm Trail Council meet its operating budget as profits from ticket sales and Scout Show ads are used for this purpose.

Finally, it treats you to a good show and helps stimulate your faith in this generation of American youth.

The shows will be in continual operation during the times listed before: Round Building, Taylor County Fairgrounds, Saturday, March 24 between 2 to 5 p.m. Haskell Fairgrounds, Saturday, March 24 between 2 to 4 p.m.

Charles Smith, owner of Win-Tex Feeders, is ready to serve the needs of local cattle ranchers.

Win-Tex Cattle Feeders have increased capacity

Win-Tex Cattle Feeders of Winters has recently added 3,000 additional pens to bring their capacity up to 13,000 head of cattle.

The feed lot currently has 11,500 cows which are being fed for markets in Abilene, San Angelo, Dallas, and other cities. The feed is highly concentrated corn and alfalfa pellets.

Located north of Winters, the modern, computerized business is operated by Charles Smith and his son, Phil. Cory Crow, a Nebraska native as are the Smiths, has recently joined the operation.

Other employees include Penny Smith, Mark Bridgman, Rex Rutherford, Jan Hatler, Terry Kruse, and Kay Whitfield.

The group prides themselves in the appearance of the yard, and strives to provide a healthy environment for the cattle. Shots are given to each cow upon arrival at the lot.

Golf tourney, costume contest set for April 1

The Winters Country Club will tee off the 1984 golf season on Sunday, April 1, with a "Best-Ball" Tournament and "Goofy Golfer" costume contest.

The tournament will begin at 2 p.m., according to Tournament Chairman James Gehrels. Players will be limited to the use of three clubs only, a three wood, seven iron, and a putter.

The "Goofy Golfer" contest will be held in conjunction with the tournament. All golfers are encouraged to wear their goofiest golfing attire because prizes will be awarded to best female and male costumes.

A chili dog supper will be held after the tournament. At 7:30 p.m. a drawing will be held to determine the winner of a new 19 inch color television.

WMU met

The Women's Missionary Union of the Blackwell First Baptist Church met Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. with seven ladies attending. Opening prayer was voiced by Mrs. Thelma Smith. The Scripture and Calendar of Prayer was read by LaNelle Montgomery. The prayer for the missionaries was voiced by Jo Ann Rhynes who also gave the Bible study which was "Mission Possible" then the group was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Thelma Finley.

Those attending were:

Tickets for a chance on winning the t.v. may be purchased for $2 from any club member.

Entry fee for the tournament is $6, which also entitles the player to attend the supper.

"The tournament is open to all golfers and you need not be a club member to play. Even if you don't play golf you are invited to come enter the costume contest or just see the goofy golfers at play," Gehrels stated.

Costs

These costs are estimates developed at the March 15 meeting of the Select Committee. Further explanations indicate that the ratio of students to teachers in grades 5-12 should be 25 to 1.

If the school day is extended, the extra two hours will be spent in remedial work and "life enriching experiences."

Average compensation of teachers staying the extra two hours would be $8 per hour, plus 7.1 % retirement.

An additional 12,500 teachers would be needed to teach the four year old pre-kindergarten. Average salary of the teachers would be $22,089 plus 7.1 % retirement.

Certified teachers for the parenthood education would be compensated at the rate of $20 per hour plus 7.1 % retirement for 20 weeks each year. The class would meet once a week, with hopefully 30 parents in attendance.

The career ladder would provide additional compensation and professional advancement opportunities for teachers. Assuming 170,000 teachers, with 11 % increase over 1983-84 pay levels of $3.4 billion, minus $33 million scheduled increase, plus 7.1 % retirement, the total would come to $365.2 million for the school year 1984-85.

Tour

from the road amid carefully planned landscaping. The house designed by Kathi Edwards, with assistance from Judson Hardy of McMurry College, is a three-bedroom traditional home with a formal dining room, living and music room combination, study, den and children's playroom upstairs. The color themes are blues, browns and terra cotta. The cut-stone fireplace in the den is a family favorite plus the excellent view from this room of the old Winters Lake surrounding countryside. A feature not to be missed is the 105 year old piano in the living room. Landscaping for the house was done by Tittle, Luther and Loving of Abilene.

Mrs. Thelma Ledbetter, living in the Bradshaw-Winters area most of her life, has recently moved to the Quadrangle Apartment house. She has chosen maple early American furniture for this cozy two-bedroom apartment. Several items showing her interest in birds are scattered throughout the apartment. She has pictures of quail, turkey and other birds plus ceramic birds on display. A picture in the guest room matted in bright blue was given to her by her grandmother Mrs. C.M. Bradshaw. The community of Bradshaw bears their name, and was built on family land given for the townsite in 1909. An antique chair and her mother's cake plate, framed uniquely, are some of the memory pieces from early days in Bradshaw.

The Professional Building, downtown Winters, is an exciting addition to the community. It provides adaptable space for several businesses. The accounting firm of Bennie Polston, Pat Walker Salon, and the commodity brokerage office of Hudon White, Jr., are some of the offices that will open for this tour. Refreshments will be served here. For easy access and parking the front and rear entrances of the building will be open.

The Quadrangle Apartments and Professional Building, built by J.W. and Nelan Bahlman, were designed by Randall Underwood a graduate of the School of Architecture, Texas Tech, Lubbock. He has given careful thought and planning to both buildings, and the Professional Building is a unique renovation of an old movie theatre into a contemporary functional office building.

The public is cordially invited to enjoy the tour of these attractive and newly designed homes and commercial building. 1984. Gay Erwin, executive director of the Governor's Commission for Women, said the panel of judges will evaluate individual candidates on their achievements and not on the quantity of written nominations received. NK 2030
GRAIN SORGHUM
GREENBUG RESISTANCE

NK Brand 2030 is an extremely uniform medium early maturing grain hybrid, well adapted to non-irrigated farming conditions. It has demonstrated a high yield capacity and very good standability. The semi-open heads are well exerted and filled with bronze colored, yellow endosperm grain. Good greenbug resistance and drought tolerance make this hybrid adapted to most farming conditions from Central Texas to South Dakota. It is especially well adapted to areas with 12 to 18 inches moisture and 130-150 day growing season.
