Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

In some 20 years as a journalist (news reporter), I have had occasion to contact many people. Some were easily located while others were playing hard-to-get.

Among those people that I was able to contact were a U.S. President, governors of several states, the Emperor of Japan (at his private residence), the top liaison officer of the Israeli Army (during one of the mid-east wars). The list also included some other folks who were just hiding out from the good guys or from other bad guys and I found them.

The Attorney General of this great state has to rank at the top of the list of those who were hardest to contact. The total of calls to Mr. Mattox now number 18, none have been returned. All his calls have been screened or diverted or mis-routed.

One would think that one simple question would take very little of this important political figure's time. Or maybe he doesn't want to answer the question.

In the last regular session of our state legislature the duty of child support enforcement became the duty of the attorney general's office. The thing that the attorney general is overlooking is on the next page in the Texas Family Code and deals with visitation. Both are equally enforceable as are the orders of an individual court.

In his media packages of news releases and in his pre-printed proclamations mailed to cities and counties for adoption, Mr. Mattox refers to "the failure of parents to take financial responsibility for their children" as a form of child abuse. I believe neglect would be more appropriate description.

Children, who are victims of divorce, are further abused mentally when one parent denies the children the right to have contact with both parents. This abuse is compounded when the top law office in state refuses to look at but one part of these children's welfare.

Yes, I know that I have said all this before. It is an issue that needs to be addressed by the attorney general. If the attorney general is going to enforce only one portion of the law, he needs to explain why.

Well, school is ready to get started, one way or another. Our school boards, administrators, and teachers have their work cut out for them. They must follow the steps laid down by the special session at the request of the governor. How they are going to do what they are now required to do may be a neat trick, one that could require the services of a master magician.

Saw our Blizzards this morning as they began the early session of the second day of two-day workouts. One could almost feel the agony of sore muscles as these guys went through the wind-sprints and agility drills.

Two scrimmages will face the Blizzards before they descend upon the Bearcats of Ballinger for the season opener on Friday, September 7.

We will have only four home games this season and now is the time to begin making plans to travel with the Blizzards throughout the season. We will be there—hope you will be too.

"Meet the Blizzards Night" scheduled

The Winters Booster Club has scheduled a "Meet the Blizzards Night" for Tuesday, August 21 at 8 p.m. in the stadium. The coaches and cheerleaders will also be introduced.

Following the introductions, homemade ice cream will be served.

Runnels County Crimestoppers nets vandals

The Board of Directors of Runnels County Crimestoppers held its regular monthly meeting Monday in the new Ballinger City Council Chambers and heard a report from Ballinger Police Chief Paul Boggess concerning the apprehension of the vandals who caused damage to the Ballinger City Park.

Boggess, who is the law enforcement coordinator for Crimestoppers, said that calls on the Crimestoppers hot-line led the officers to the vandals. He told the board that in lieu of filing charges against the vandals, the vandals would repair the damage at the park, at their own expense. He said that several juveniles and one adult were involved in the damaging the diving area of the swimming pool and the Indian mound in the park.

The Crimestoppers board agreed that a reward would be paid for the information that led to the solution of the vandalism.

Boggess also told the meeting that the Crimestoppers hotline had handled several calls during the past few weeks. Some of the calls involved criminal activity in a neighboring county.

In other business the board made plans to operate their dunking booth at the Miles Cotton Festival on Saturday, September 8. The project will be conducted to raise additional funds for the county-wide Crimestoppers program.

Board president Mark Heinze said that the Crimestopper's reward fund had been placed in an interest-bearing account.

The board also heard and approved the audit of the Crimestoppers financial reports from the past fiscal year.

A number of fund raising activities were discussed by the board. Additional funds are needed by the organization to continue the program in the county.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Glenn Willingham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ballinger. Dedication speaker will be Ballinger Mayor Wayne Irby.

The city administrator also said that a new city logo will be presented. The logo will be the first in the history of Ballinger.

Kindergarten students should bring birth certificates and immunization records. All other students should bring immunization records, report cards, and any other records that are available, especially scores from any school achievement tests.

Both Winters principals emphasized the importance of registering new students this week so that accurate placement in classes may be assured.

County Commissioners consider microfilming

During their regular meeting Tuesday morning, the Runnels County Commissioners were to open bids on the microfilming of records. However, attorneys Everett Grindstaff and Travis Roach asked the Commissioners to reject all bids and allow new bids to be taken with different specifications, to allow them to bid.

The attorneys want to use 16mm film, a different reduction ratio, and a sub-contractor to do the work. None of these specifications were allowed in the original public notice discussing the bids. However, they have been used to film the land records of the county for the Landmark Abstract and Title Company.

Following a lengthy discussion, the commissioners voted to reject all bids, unopened, and to

Two burglaries, one attempt reported

Runnels County Sheriff's officers are investigating two separate burglaries and a burglary attempt that occurred over the past week.

Deputy Steve Boone said that burglars took between $350 and $400 from the coin-operated machines at the Rowena Steakhouse along with about $2 from the cash register and a half-case of beer.

Sheriff Bill Baird said that that restaurant burglary was similar to one that occurred several days earlier near Lowake.

Officers are also investigating a break-in at the Norton Post Office last week. Burglars there decide later whether to re-bid the job with the same or different specifications.

County Judge Michael Murchison signed a proclamation designating August as "Child Support Month" in the county.

In other business, the court: — Voted to close all the roads in the Love Addition of Miles except for First and Second Streets.

— Approved the auditor's report.

He holds a commercial pilot's license. See Lions page 12

Ballinger Council opens project bids

The Ballinger City Council, in a special called meeting Monday, opened for two projects, including street and drainage improvements and water and sewer improvements.

Three bids were read for the street and drainage program with the apparent low bid being submitted by the West Texas Construction Company of Abilene in the amount of $94,161.82.

Other bids were submitted by Seidel Inc. of San Angelo and Bob and Bobby Mobley of Colorado City.

On the water and sewer improvement project, K.R. Utilities of Abilene had the apparent low bid against three other contractors. K.R. Utilities' bid was in the amount of $74,850.

Bids were also submitted by Rhodes Pipeline of Silverton, R.M. McElreath of Gainesville, and Reese Construction of San Angelo.

City Administrator Dennis Jones, in Ballinger, said that the bids would be awarded when the Ballinger City Council meets in regular session next Monday.

Abilene man charged with rape, robbery after wreck

Charges of aggravated rape and aggravated robbery were filed against a 23-year-old Abilene man following a two-vehicle accident near Ovalo Sunday morning.

Held is Charles Ray Edwards, of Abilene. He was arrested by Taylor County Sheriff's officers after Leavita Ann Lugo was robbed at knife-point after Edwards' vehicle collided with the rear of the vehicle she was in. Officers said that approximately $31 was taken from the woman.

The woman's husband, Ludwig Albert Muchnickel, was injured in the accident and was taken to an Abilene hospital by the Runnels County Emergency Service. He was listed in stable condition by hospital authorities.

About four hours after the Sunday morning wreck, Taylor County Sheriff's officers were able to get a description of the armed robbery suspect and his car. Edwards was taken into custody on a bad check warrant that had been issued prior to either of the later incidents.

Water system ready to go at Ballinger's new lake

The pumps at the new Ballinger lake are ready to go according to City Administrator Dennis Jones. He said, "The system works beautifully," and that water will be pumped to the city later this week from the new lake.

The water level in the new lake needs to be raised only a few inches before the new pumps will be brought on-line, according to Jones. The water in the new lake is being pumped from a temporary dam on the Colorado River which is impounding water released from Lake Spence to ease Ballinger's water crisis. Water will also be released from the old lake, which is almost empty, to bring the new lake up to pumping level.

Work was due to be completed on a pipe and valve to allow a slow release of the remaining water in the old lake Wednesday.

By Tuesday afternoon, Jones said, the city was able to pump water from the old lake due to a canal being dredged several weeks ago. He said that, aside from the canal, the area around the water inlet was just mud, no water.

So far, about 1,900 acre/feet of water have been released from Lake Spence since mid-July and that only about 200 acre/feet have been received by Ballinger due to the extremely dry weather.

The cost of the temporary dam and the water from Spence has totaled, so far, about $50,000 according to Jones.

Petticoat Pioneer

Friday was a fun day. It is always exciting when Frances and Sheila Allen of Ft. Worth come to town. The sisters are intensely interested in the history of this area, where they own property, and wanted to visit the Z.I. Hale Museum. They were impressed with the progress that has been made. The Allen sisters have many fond memories of Content where they lived with their parents, who were both doctors, from 1904 to 1910. Their mother, Dr. D. Emory Allen, had the distinction of being the first woman doctor in the county as well as the first to graduate from a Texas medical school.

After their mother's sister, Annie Emery, came to visit and met Jim Bright, whom she married, the girls spent many happy vacations at Content during the 30 years that their aunt lived there. At her death, they inherited the beautiful estate, once the center of community life.

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Richey, who live on the Bright estate, and help the Allen sisters keep it in repair, accompanied them to Winters. At lunch, we discussed securing a historic marker for the Bright home, an example of the aeroplane bungalow, also, one for the little green house on the property where the doctors lived and dispensed medicine. It looks much the same except the small drugstore has been removed from the front yard.

Dr. James W. Allen was also a surgeon and his wife's specialty was in diseases of women and children.

Together or separately the doctors administered to the medical needs of the country folk and did a typical "horse and buggy" practice, often going fifty miles on a call.

This petticoat pioneer, the lady doctor often rode a bicycle when there was no one at home to harness the team.

Dr. Allen, the former Daisy Emery, had wanted to be a doctor since she was 4 years old. Her father was proud of her decision but some members of the university's medical board balked at admitting a woman. However, the university reconsidered when she pointed out rules for admission did not read "men only".

And so it was that pretty Daisy enrolled in the Fort Worth University and began the studies that led to her becoming in 1897 the first woman to be graduated from a medical school in Texas. She served as class treasurer and finished Cum Laude in her class of 17.

Daisy took a serious look at her given name when she was in medical school and it didn't sound dignified to her ears, so she changed it to Frances D. Emery.

As her classmates accepted her at the university, so did Fort Worth accept it's woman doctor. She first hung up her shingle in 1897 on what is now College Ave., and walked her friends and relatives around the block many times to admire. She went to Washington D.C. for an internship and residency, returning in 1901 to private practice.

Following her 1903 marriage to Dr. Allen of Fort Worth, two daughters were born. Frances became a social worker with the Child Guidance Clinic and Sheila taught music at Oakhurst school. Both are now retired. They live at 2256 Fifth Avenue where Dr. D. Emory Allen's shingle still hangs on the porch.

The Doctors Allen practiced first at Vinson, Oklahoma. They had been there only six months when fire destroyed their home and most of the town. They then moved to Content where they lived until 1910, and spent two years in Goldsboro before going to Newark in 1912. When he died of a ruptured appendix in 1913 they had planned to become medical missionaries to China.

With her daughters, Dr. Allen returned to Fort Worth, joined the Fort Worth University medical department faculty and resumed her private practice. She was well established as a physician when the university closed in 1917. Continuing in private practice, she served on the staff of Harris, All Saints

We had 2 4/10 inches of rain early Sunday morning. It put out some tank water and we enjoyed a cool weekend.

Robbie and Carol Jones and children, Shon and Brook, of Sonora visited with the Gordon Brookshier's over the weekend. Gordon returned from the hospital on Friday.

Last week Harold Warren of Dallas came and put a nice front porch on his mother's trailer house.

Donnie and Lisa Dunn and Amanda of Aspermont visited Darrel and Ann Green and Amy over the weekend.

Charlie Aarons of San Angelo brought his mother and nephew from Denver Colorado to visit Merl and Don Smith on Saturday of last week.

Skipper and Shorty Hollinger went to Amarillo over the weekend to visit her sister and husband, Hank and Inez Karle.

Newt and Marie Bains and Ludie Rudolph of Ft. Worth went to Andrews on August 4th to the wedding of their grandson and nephew, Bradley Bains and and Saint Joseph's hospitals. She gave freely of her time to the city county hospital and the Wesley Community Center.

Dr. Allen never left the house without her hat, gloves and a small black leather medical bag that looked like an oversized purse. It was always full of things including emergency medical supplies.

Failing eyesight and a heart condition caused her to slow down in her medical practice, but she didn't retire until she fell and broke her hip in 1952, from then on she was an invalid and died in 1958 at the age of 82.

Not only have the Allen sisters improved their own property, but have spent time and money in the beautification of the Content Community and cemetery. They sponsored a historic marker for the townsite which was dedicated at a homecoming on July 4, 1966. The marker says in part that it was founded in 1881 by Dan W. Hale and named for the contentment of this valley.

The public cemetery for the community of Content was named for R.F. Counts, who bought the surrounding property in 1889. All members of the Bright family except two daughters are buried in this cemetery which the Allen sisters landscaped and sponsored a marker for in 1975.

Soft green grass and loving memories still cling to this peaceful valley. The valley of Contentment.

Cheryl Nelson. They went from there on a trip to the Carlsbad Caverns and Fort Davis mountains.

Visitors in our home over the weekend were Jim and Karen Cats, Steve and Brad of Bryan; Brian Stokes of San Marcos; Brian Stokes of Kerrville; Wesley Stokes and Susan of Jakarta Indonesia.

Wesley Stokes and Susan left on Monday for Indonesia by way of Tokyo, Japan for four days and an over night stay in Hong Kong.

Sunday afternoon visitors of ours were Della Ashcraft of Coleman, Betty Gilstrap, Rhonda Ringled, Regina and friend from San Angelo.

Mrs. Jewel Cassaday of Llano visited in the Benton Cassaday home a few days this week.

We're sorry that Erik Elkin, grandson of Sonny and Wilma Norris, was injured on a three wheeler trike on Wednesday. He was in the Abilene hospital until Friday. He had a broken collar bone, several severe cuts and bruises. He returned home on Saturday to his home at Brookshire. His mother, Deniece Rutherford, and sister, Tiffany Elkin, came after him.

Mr. and Mrs. Felton Jackson of Winters visited Sonny and Wilma Norris on Saturday afternoon.

Marcus and Betty Gilstrap, Richard and Rhonda Ringled and Regina of San Angelo and Della Ashcraft of Coleman visited on Sunday with Kirk Williams.

Island in solar home

Dot Schroeder of the Grant Agency points out the design of a working/dining island in the kitchen of the passive solar home displayed Sunday. The house is located about three miles north of Ballinger on the Old Winters Highway.

A free-standing fireplace graces the living room of Ballinger's first passive solar home, exhibited Sunday by the Grant Agency of Ballinger. The floor tiles are designed to capture the heat of the sun through the south windows in the winter.

Ballinger's first passive solar home displayed

Sunday afternoon the Grant Agency of Ballinger held open house in a unique home located about three miles north of Ballinger on the Old Winters Highway. The house is Ballinger's first passive solar home, catch the winter sun. A vented porch shades that side in the summer.

Rooms on the south side of the house are floored with a special red tile that captures the warmth of the sun and reflects it to the walls.

The large living-dining area features a free-standing fireplace with a humidifier and fan. Five skylights lighten the home, each equipped with a trap to close it off in the summer.

One interesting feature of the home is the back wall which is on the north. This wall consists of wood, insulation, foam and eight feet of earth, preventing the entry of any cold north winds. The earthen wall extends around the east end of the house.

The outside walls are 14 inches thick and are made of brick, plastic, wood, and insulation. During construction, each little crack was filled, resulting in an air-tight construction. Once the house is heated or cooled, it will hold the energy.

A top-of-the-line central heat and air unit with a high efficiency heat pump completes the system.

A modern kitchen was designed for the home with a large island in the center. In the island are the Jenn-Air range, the double sink, and two bars, one chair height and one bar-stool height. Quality wall paper and carpet were selected to harmonize with any decor chosen.

The home, which was built by Dan Reed for his son who formerly lived in Ballinger, was exhibited by Dot Schroeder and Tom Sykes of the Grant Agency of Ballinger. It is for sale.

Plants for decoration of the home were donated by Joyce Piel of Piel's Berry Patch.

The other various committees reported on the activities of the class. The old business consisted of plans for our Christmas project for the nursing home. The state mission offering for the month of September was also discussed.

New business was the resignation of Velma Hart as teacher was accepted. Velma resigned because of health reasons. A love offering was taken and the benediction was given by Ethel Graham.

The Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, August 7 and boarded the church bus for a trip to Buffalo Gap. After picking up Charlsie Poe, they were on their way. Our next stop was Bradshaw where two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield, were picked up and again they were on their way. About 7:30 p.m. they arrived at the fish restaurant in Buffalo Gap.

Inside it was cool and nice. A long table was arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Foster, Chester McBeth, Lucille Tierce, Myra Dorsett, Nina Bedford, Margaret Favor, Jo Olive Hancock, Hortelle McCaughan, Charlsie Poe, and Lorene Moreland to be seated for a most delicious fish dinner with all the trimmings.

The meal was enjoyed by all, as well as safe trip home. They just want to say thank you so very much to Mrs. Bud Davis for doing a good job of driving for us. Memory and Aging
Many people assume that aging and forgetfulness go hand-in-hand. But this is not true for all people—some continue with excellent memories, while others suffer a loss in memory. Some who lose their ability to easily remember do so quickly, and others lose their recall slowly. People of any age can have trouble remembering. Perhaps they never learned what they want to remember very well in the first place, because it had little meaning to them at the time. Or they may be having trouble with recall.

Psychologists have identified a number of things that make it more difficult to remember clearly as people grow older. For example, if they can't see or hear as clearly as they used to, they may not be learning or storing the items very well in the first place. That may be one reason why some elderly people can clearly remember things that happened years ago, but have difficulty remembering things that happened yesterday. Living longer also means that older people have a larger pool of items they have to search through in their minds in order to remember something specific. This can take time.

If they have suffered any of the diseases that affect thinking ability, such as arteriosclerosis or Alzheimer's disease, then memory will be impaired. Poor nutrition, lack of exercise, depression or lowered motivation and fatigue, due to disturbed sleep can all result in memory problems for older people.

In addition, there is sometimes a "psychological" factor. Some older people expect to lose their memories. They don't forgive themselves when they forget things and they see their slips of memory as a reminder of old-age.

While there is no "miraculous cure" for memory loss, here are some suggestions for improving memory:

1. Get plenty of exercise, eat well-balanced meals and stay active enough in the daytime that you can sleep at night.
2. Realize that you may be depressed and you may need to talk to someone about how you're feeling before you'll start feeling better.
3. Make "memory joggers" to give you some extra signals that let you know what you need to know. For example, write down names and phone numbers; set out medicine cups labeled with the time of day; make routine times to check for things, and have routine places for those items you use regularly.
4. Give yourself plenty of time to learn things that you want to remember. You don't have to rush or do things at anybody else's pace. Concentrate on what you want to learn.
5. Forgive yourself when you forget things. Anxiety over forgetting makes it even harder to remember them.

Attentive audience

Local farmers speak to Stenholm's committee

A group of 24 farmers and other interested persons attended a meeting Tuesday morning in the County Courtroom, Ballinger, to listen to two members of United States Congressman Charles Stenholm's agriculture committee.

The workshop was designed by Stenholm to gather local ideas on the farm bill to be written by Congress in the near future. Dale King, a long-time Stamford farmer, and Randy Green, a member of the Congressman's Washington staff, spoke to the attentive group.

The men started the hearings last week in Big Spring and had already visited five towns, with several more to go.

Green stated that the new farm bill is important because everyone is affected by it, even though it deals more with the production of grains. He went on to explain that four major themes will affect the new bill:

1. The federal deficit will limit the amount of money the government can spend. We are "drowning in a sea of red ink," he stated. "Whatever you propose, it better not cost much," he continued.
2. We need more long term policies than quick fixes. He referred to the PIK Program as having "saved a lot of shirts," while only being a short-term solution.
3. People have developed a "growing skepticism in the ability of the government to solve all our problems."

4. Inflation tends to feed on itself, and probably government spending feeds on itself, as well. Wages are adjusted for inflation each year, causing higher prices to pay the wages.

King commented that a country smart enough to put a man on the moon ought to be smart enough to look ahead and plan a farm policy with the future in mind. Three points should be included in the farm bill, he said:

1. How to keep us in the world market.
2. How to maintain food and fiber for America at a reasonable price.
3. How to assure that the producer will receive a price sufficient to keep him in business.

Under the provisions of the Agricultural Efficiency and Equity Act, revised June 29, a history will be kept of each farm, including the number of acres usually devoted to each crop. The history will go with the land, not the producer. Adjustments will be made for the new farmers. To handle all this information, the ASCS offices will become more computerized.

One reason for keeping the records is to keep from producing too much of a particular crop, when there might not be a market for it.

Comments from the local farmers included those on exports, the value of the dollar

Sabrina Avants Coleman Junior Rodeo begins

The 28th Annual Coleman Junior Rodeo will be held on August 16, 17, and 18, at the Coleman Rodeo Grounds. Runt Sloan of Newcastle, Texas will produce this year's rodeo with nightly performances at 8 p.m.

The 1984 queen is Sabrina Avants, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Avants of Gouldbusk, Texas. She will be featured nightly at the rodeo as well as in the downtown Coleman parades on Thursday and Saturday at 5 p.m.

Thursday's parade will feature horse riders and decorated cars to be judged with cash awards to be given. Saturday's parade will host the area riding clubs and feature floats—both to be judged and awarded trophies. The highlight of this year's rodeo is two Longhorn trophy saddles to be given to the high point boy and girl. Trophy buckles will be given to all first places and trophies to second and third places. All events will be jackpot in the three age divisions of 12 and under, 13-15, and 16-19.

Admission charges are five and under free, six to twelve $1, and 13 and over $2. Proceeds go toward two scholarships awarded to county seniors who are active in the Coleman County Junior Rodeo Association.

The Prairie Fire Band from Lubbock will play for the dance at the open air pavilion each night from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission charge is $3 each or $5 per couple.

abroad, the lack of money in foreign countries to buy our products, and whether decreased production here results in increased production overseas. To the latter question, Green answered yes. When we cut production here, other countries increase their production.

Relative of Winters residents stars in new television show

Dane Witherspoon, the handsome young star of NBC TV's new soap, "Santa Barbara," is related to numerous Winters area residents and is the grandson of Clara and T.A. Singleton, who formerly lived west of Winters.

Witherspoon has three aunts here, Mrs. W.S. Cooke, Mrs. Arch Hood, and Mrs. W.C. Harkins. Mrs. Harkins assisted us with this article.

His grandmother was the former Clara McNeill, Mrs. Harkins' sister, and Clara's parents were John and Carrie McNeill who lived on Valley Creek. The McNeills of Wingate are relatives of the young television star, also.

Witherspoon, a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School, plays the character Joe Perkins in the new daytime drama set in Santa Barbara, California. The show premiered July 30 at 2:30 p.m. CDT, right at the beginning of the Olympics, at a time called a "unique opportunity" by Brian Frons, NBC vice president of daytime programs.

The network felt that week would be especially good since "General Hospital," which usually airs at 2:30 p.m., would be scheduled at a different time due to Olympic coverage, leaving many soap fans looking for something to watch.

Witherspoon's character in the drama was just released from prison after serving a five year sentence for murdering someone, a crime he did not commit. He returned home to try to clear up the mistake and to win his former fiance, Kelly Capwell.

In real life, he is the son of Don and Doris Witherspoon, formerly of Snyder. His father was a teacher and coach at Snyder, where his mother taught, also.

The younger Witherspoon studied acting under Jerry Worsham at Snyder High School. He played the lead in the state championship one-act play, "Blood Wedding," one year in high school, and was named best performer in the UIL state competition.

He also studied at the American Conservatory Theater and the Pacific Conservatory. Among his acting credits are appearances in the Utah Shakespeare Festival and the television shows "Eight is Enough" and "The Waltons," as well as the pilot, "The Home Front."

August is Child Support Month

In action before the Commissioner's Court Tuesday, August has been declared "Child Support Month" in Runnels County. County Judge Michael Murchison, speaking on behalf of the Commissioner's Court, said, "Child support is an important issue that aids families and eases the taxpayers' burdens."

Child support enforcement is a part of the Attorney General's Office. Attorney General Jim Mattox initiated "Project Pay-Up" August 1. It is a statewide effort to give parents the chance to pay their delinquent child support payments. The project will make a strong push for parents to meet their responsibilities, especially since the school year will begin shortly.

Judge Murchison stated that "The Commissioner's Court is pleased to assist the Attorney General's Office with this worthwhile project."

Attorney General Mattox has stated, "I am appreciative of local efforts in support of 'Project Pay-Up,' and because of community support in the recent past, child support collection in Texas has increased 41 per cent since my office took over the program in September 1983."

The text of the proclamation is included below:

Child Support Month in Texas
WHEREAS, our state's future lies in the strength of our families and the neglect of our children undermines the hope of that future; and

WHEREAS, the failure of parents to take financial responsibility for their children in this state is recognized as another form of child abuse; and

WHEREAS, in order to ensure our children the needed financial support from their parents, the 68th Texas

Legislature passed resolutions declaring the month of August as "Child Support Month" in Texas; and

WHEREAS, all citizens of Runnels County are urged to join in acknowledging the significance of "Child Support Month" to emphasize the financial aspects of parental responsibility:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Michael Murchison, Judge of Runnels County, do hereby proclaim the month of August, 1984, as CHILD SUPPORT MONTH.

Memo from Kay

The Winters Area Chamber of Commerce will host a reception for C.A. Wilkins of the Texas Aeronautics Commission, Senator Grant Jones and Representative Jim Parker at the Chamber office on West Dale Street Tuesday morning, August 21 from 11 to 11:45 a.m. Everyone is invited to come by and visit with our guests and enjoy some refreshments provided by director Cindy Smith and her women's committee. They will be presenting a program to the Lions Club at noon.

The Chamber sends its congratulations to the Heart O' Texas Savings for its recently completed building. The new facilities are certainly an asset to the community and help to improve the appearance of Main Street in Winters. The Chamber Directors will be participating in a ribbon cutting ceremony at the Grand Opening September 8.

The members of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department have served a delicious barbecue meal to thousands of local citizens and guests through the years. Their annual meal has been an occasion for families and all friends to get together and visit. It is again time for this event so lets all have supper at the Community Center Saturday night and make this a big success for the firemen who serve our town so well.

Among items discussed at the August meeting of the Chamber Board of Directors was a hamburger supper tentatively scheduled for Friday, November 2 before the Coleman football game. More on this later.

Also discussed were ways to recognize local businesses that have done remodeling in the recent past and ones that will be improving appearances in the future. Substantial alterations, remodeling, and upkeep to buildings is worthy of recognition. This is a situation where one effort helps the whole community.

A memorial policy for the Chamber of Commerce was also discussed. It was noted that a number of years ago the directors at that time decided not to ask that the town as a whole, close for funerals of leading citizens rather than each business make individual decisions on this matter. It was decided to include a memorial letter to the family in the minutes of the Chamber meeting to be kept on record and a copy sent to the family.

Promotional literature is received at the Chamber office almost every day. Recently received was information from the Abilene Breathing Club, sponsored by the American Lung Cancer Association of Texas.

This group meets the first Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Center for Personal and Professional Development, Leggett Plaza Office Complex Suite 7-A, 3814 North 1st, Abilene, Texas.

Every meeting provides information, instruction, practical skills and exercises for easier breathing problems and their friends are discovering that others who have faced or are facing similar problems can help them. Each session of the Breathing Club will have a presentation by a physician or health professional with time for questions. For more information contact Jeanine McBeth, CRTT at (915) 677-3551 ext. 2386.

Fireman's Barbecue to be held Saturday, August 18 to be Volunteer Firemen's Day

This Saturday, August 18, has been declared by President Reagan and the Congress of the United States to be National Volunteer Firefighters Recognition Day. Local observance of the day will include the annual Fireman's Barbecue set to begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Winters Community Center.

Everyone is invited to attend the barbecue. Cost is $10 for a family ticket and $5 for a single ticket.

The resolution authorizing the day to honor volunteer firefighters states that the day will be "a tribute to the bravery and self-sacrifice of our volunteer firefighters."

According to a survey conducted in 1981 by Region IV of the Federal Emergency Management Agency in 1981, and quoted in Texas Firemen magazine, about 93 per cent of the firefighters in this region—Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas—are volunteers. In Texas alone, the survey stated that 95 per cent of all the firemen are volunteers.

"There is no way for us to know how many lives have been spared or how much property

Teachers making plans

From left, Brilla Magee, Annie Mills, and Diane Davis, all Winters kindergarten teachers, work on their plans for the new school year. Much extra work is being done by teachers before school starts, to insure that the essential objectives identified by the state are covered.

Changes coming in local schools

Winters teachers and administrators are busily preparing for the new school year and trying to implement the changes mandated by the Texas Legislature in the controversial House Bill 72. We interviewed Mike Grantham, high school principal, and L.C. Hounsel, elementary principal, about plans for the upcoming school year.

Registration of all students new to the school district will take place on Friday, August 17, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Both principals urge all newcomers to register on this day so that assignment to classes may be completed.

Teachers in the local system will officially begin work August 20 with a general faculty meeting. On August 22, Coleman and Ballinger teachers will travel to Winters for a joint workshop on special education. Grantham estimates a crowd of 250 for the session set to begin at 9 a.m. in the high school auditorium.

The cafeteria will offer a noon meal for the teachers that day. Students will report to school at 8:10 a.m., August 27. In the elementary school, class lists will be posted next to each teacher's door.

High School

Building trades and shop will not be offered this year, due to a lack of students interested in the programs. A minimum of 20 pupils is needed to maintain such a course. Grantham cited the need for a three-hour block of time as one reason students have not signed up for the programs. Under the new regulations, most students will need that time for classroom work.

Students must pass all subjects to be promoted. An average of 70 is passing, as it has been for years in Winters.

Concerning eligibility for athletics, some confusion has resulted. The UIL's new rules do not agree with the state's new rules. Grantham says they will abide by the state law which says that an athlete must pass all subjects to play ball, with eligibility being taken after the first six weeks. If a student fails to pass one or more subjects, he will not play for the entire next six weeks.

Junior high athletics will continue to be during the regular school day, with practices after school left to the discretion of the coaching staff.

High school athletics will be after school.

All teachers must teach at least four classes this year. Winters teachers, including coaches, have traditionally taught that many or more, Grantham said.

If a student has more than five unexcused absences from a course, he cannot pass the course. Among absences that are excused are those for illness, doctor visits, serious illness in the family, death in the family, quarantine, and weather conditions making travel to school hazardous.

Absences for trips or vacations will not be excused.

Students who fail a course may be required to stay after school twice a week for 45 minutes for tutoring until the end of the next six weeks.

A maximum of 10 days may be missed for participation in extracurricular activities, which are defined as any activities for which a student does not receive credit.

Report cards will be given every six weeks. If the student fails to return them, signed by parents, the school must mail a report of grades to the parents along with a letter explaining that pupils must pass every subject in order to be promoted. Also two times for a conference will be set and mentioned in the letter. Records must be kept of this process.

Social promotion will not be accepted. A student is expected to master the work on his grade level before being promoted.

Junior high students who scored below grade level on reading or achievement tests will take a remedial reading class. Grantham said they are proud of their junior high students because very few of them will need the class. Only one section of seventh graders and one of eighth graders will be involved in the remedial courses. Test grades from the last three or four years were used to determine who will take the courses.

Sophomores or above will graduate under the old system of curriculum requirements. However, incoming freshmen must choose whether to pursue the regular or advanced diploma. The advanced curriculum features harder math courses and an extra science course as well as fine arts, computer science and foreign language.

In the 1985-86 school year, Winters will begin a computer literacy course for junior high students. Also that year, the computer math/science will be offered for high school.

The school has had several computers which were available to the students during their free time. Many of them learned to run the devices: Grantham estimated that 50% of the pupils in grades seven through 12 could already operate the computers on a basic level.

Overcrowding in the high school building may become a problem in about three years due to large classes coming up. The building will hold 360 students, Grantham said, and within three years, about 450 students will be enrolled in grades seven through 12. The school may elect to remodel the shop building for classrooms, he explained.

Elementary School

School will dismiss at the same times as last year: 2:30 for grades K-3, and 3:10 for everyone else.

A prekindergarten class will not be offered this year, but next year. Elementary principal Hounsel said. Beginning in June 1985, schools will offer a class for preschool children with limited English proficiency. Attendance will be voluntary.

Local programs such as Head Start and the Lutheran Preschool will still be in operation, Hounsel added.

Extra sections of several grades have been necessitated by the school board's decision to limit the class size in the primary grades (1, 2, and 3) to provide the teachers more time to work with the children individually.

Presently, 71 kindergarten children are enrolled, Hounsel stated; but the school knows of 81 children in the community who will be old enough to attend. Parents are urged to sign up their kindergartners on the 17th.

Thus far, three sections of kindergarten are planned. Five first grade classes will be needed, four second grades, four third grades, three fourth grades, three fifth grades, and three sixth grades.

The third grades have been moved to the west end of the south wing of the elementary school since the entire north wing is needed for grades K-2.

The state has also planned how much time should be devoted to various courses during the elementary school day. Kindergarten will include 130 minutes a day of language arts instruction, 65 minutes a day of math, and weekly sessions of fine arts, health, science, and social studies.

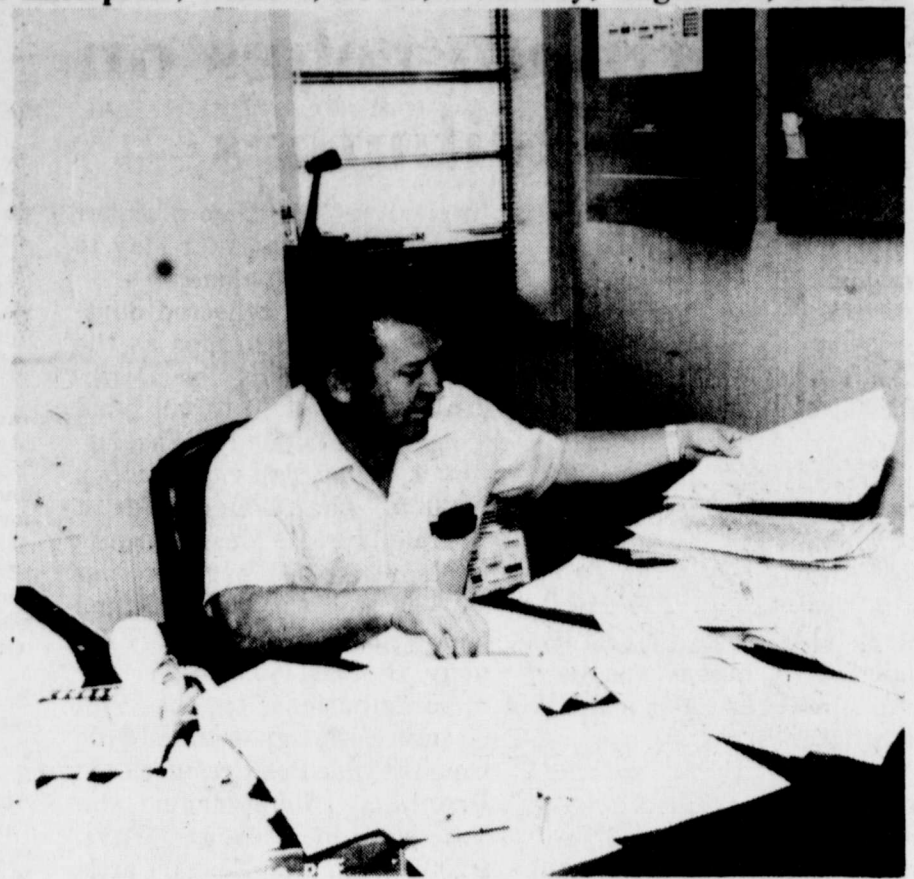

Grades one, two, and three will study language arts 120 minutes a day, math 60 minutes a day, science and social studies 100 minutes each per week, and fine arts and health weekly.

Grades four, five, and six will spend 90 minutes a day on language arts, 60 minutes a day on math, 45 minutes a day on science, 45 minutes a day on social studies, 120 minutes per week on fine arts, and 60 minutes per week on health.

All grades will have physical education daily.

After the first six weeks, tutorial sessions may be required for any student failing a subject. Two 45 minute sessions a week are planned. Voluntary tutoring sessions may begin September 1.

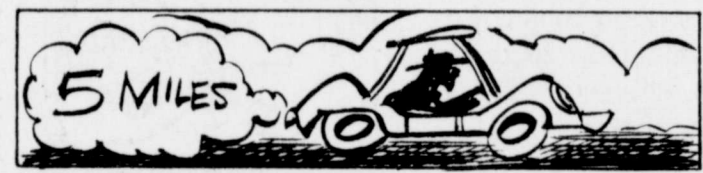

Hounsel said that "Parents are going to have to work with us," and stressed that many of the changes are things that the school has to do, since the Legislature has ordered them.

Phil Gramm relies on small contributors

A comparison of Phil Gramm's and Lloyd Doggett's campaign finance reports has shown that almost 80 per cent of Congressman Gramm's campaign funds have been contributed by individual citizens.

According to information released by the Friends of Phil Gramm, Doggett's donations from individuals amounted to only just over 60 per cent of his total financing. Doggett's reports also reveal that he has tapped labor unions and used personal wealth to help make up the difference.

"I am proud that so many thousands of individuals have invested their confidence in me," Gramm said. "I promise that their money will be put to work for the working people who contributed it."

Financial support from organized groups was widely divergent.

For example, Doggett listed a total of $96,000 from 33 labor unions on his report for May 14 through June 30 alone.

Doggett also collected donations from such groups as the liberal Americans for Democratic Action ($1,000), the Human Rights Fund of Washington, a gay-lesbian rights group ($1,000), the Council for a Livable World, a Massachusetts nuclear freeze organization ($5,830), and the political fund operated by Senator Ted Kennedy, D-Mass. ($5,000).

Contributions to the Phil Gramm campaign included $100 from the Blue Bell Creameries in Brenham, $500 from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, $5,000 from the Texas Cattle Feeders Association in Amarillo, and $5,000 from the Citizens for the Republic, founded by President Reagan.

Range management explained

Alternatives to improving rangelands are important only when they benefit the entire ranch operation, speakers emphasized at the recent International Ranchers Roundup at San Angelo. Among critical considerations are those concerning the number of animal units a ranch can support, particularly during an extended drought. The bottom line is to meet realistic objectives for the business enterprise in an economic framework which will enable survival. This means using a management system founded on a thorough assessment of range resources. The biggest ingredient for a success is a range management plan that the rancher enjoys and believes in.

Winters' sales drop slightly

The Texas Aeronautical Commission provides financial assistance through matching grants, as well as engineering and technical services, to local governments that operate public-use airports. The Commission also conducts a certification program that promotes economic soundness in the intrastate air carrier system; and it provides special training, programs, publications and safety information to individuals and groups throughout Texas.

In a May keynote address to the second annual Texas Airport Operators Conference, sponsored by the Texas Aeronautics Commission and the Texas Good Roads and Transportation Association, Edward Stimpson, president of General Aviation Manufacturers Association explained the need for members of the industry to involve themselves in public relations.

Encouraging signs for the aviation industry, he pointed out, show it to be in a prime position to take advantage of economic recovery after the last couple of years that have probably been the most difficult ever for the industry. During this time confusing economic conditions have stymied aviation growth. All too often the economic magnetism of airports is overlooked, but now the future looks good for the economic development of small communities and airports through working together for economic benefits that are available and only need to be promoted.

Hot spot

Winters Volunteer Firemen were called Friday afternoon to a car fire on the Super D parking lot. A wire apparently shorted out causing a small fire under the hood of the auto and was extinguished quickly by firemen. There was some concern about the car having a full tank of fuel, but the quick action by firemen kept damage to a minimum.
