Wait a minute...

It is really amazing the things that become political footballs these days. Here is the latest: Stacy Dam.

For however many years the huge lake has been planned and for the number of times a stumbling block has been encountered, one would think somebody would finally get something done, one way or another.

Mr. White (you remember Mark) is apparently trying to recoup some of West Texas in his anticipated news conference Wednesday morning in his office.

Keep in mind that this is being written late Tuesday night. By the time you have read this far, this item will be on the radio, television, and the afternoon front pages of the big city papers.

Word is that Mark will announce a tentative agreement between the two warring factions in the Stacy Dam issue. An agreement that may lead to a step forward in the construction of the lake.

For this good old boy to get a retraction of my endorsement of his retirement from politics he would have to do more than deliver Stacy Dam full of water on a silver platter and then walk on it.

As we continue this lambastic revue—one can hear some really interesting things on the scanner. Things that sometimes leave you scratching your head.

For instance, one day last week there came a call from a city radio unit asking how someone could get fuel for their airplane at the local landing strip.

Now several calls were made before the city dispatcher found someone that had a key to the tank of av-gas at the airport.

After the elusive key was located the question was asked, "Can they pay cash?"

There is no mystery here. The aviation fuel at the airport is not controlled by the city. Private individuals have their own fuel there and obviously are not set up to accept the cards you are not supposed to leave home without.

Now flying an airplane is not like driving a car. When you start running out of gas you can't simply pull off to the side of the road and stop. In an airplane when the gas gauge starts getting low, you had better have a service station stop planned well in advance.

Thousands of dollars have been spent to provide Winters with an above average airport. It would seem that someone should think of a way to help the members of the traveling public who find it necessary to stop at the Winters International Airport for fuel—and not have to demand cash.

That would seem an insult to someone travelling in a half-million dollar airplane to be asked to pay cash for twenty gallons of gas.

Maybe the city mom and dads can come up with a solution to peddle petrol to these aeronauts.

Poisoning prompts warning on carbon monoxide dangers

After four Winters men were hospitalized Tuesday suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning, the Runnels County Office of Emergency Preparedness issued a warning concerning the dangers and warning symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is produced by the incomplete combustion of carbon or carbonaceous materials. Any flame or combustion device is likely to emit carbon monoxide. The worldwide emission of carbon monoxide is approximately 232 million tons each year.

Carbon monoxide is, in our area, primarily generated by gas space heaters being used in cold weather. These heaters should be vented; if that is not possible, a person should contact a representative of the gas company or the appliance dealer who sold the heater for information concerning the danger of carbon monoxide.

Acute poisoning from the inhalation of carbon monoxide and the resulting symptoms are closely dependent on the concentration of carbon monoxide in the air breathed, the time of exposure, and the state of activity of the person exposed.

A slight exposure to carbon monoxide during light work may cause no symptoms, or only a slight headache or shortness of breath.

A longer exposure, or exposure to greater amounts of carbon monoxide, will result in symptoms of headache, nausea, irritability, increased respiration, chest pain, confusion, impaired judgement, and fainting on increased exertion.

Higher concentrations of the invisible gas can result in unconsciousness, respiratory failure, and death if exposure is continued for more than one hour. At this stage, recovery may result in hyperactivity or bizarre behavior. Convulsions can also occur during the recovery period.

Chronic poisoning, in the sense of accumulation of carbon monoxide in the body, does not occur. After the blood carboxy-hemoglobin has returned to the normal level, the individual does not have increased susceptibility to carbon monoxide unless he has incurred cerebral damage.

However, repeated anoxia (a condition characterized by a defective or insufficient oxygen (See Warning page 10)

Winters woman is victim of assault

Winters Police officers and Runnels County Sheriff's officers are investigating the possible assault of a 24 year-old Winters woman who was found lying in the street near the intersection of Bishop and Meeks Streets, in south Winters Tuesday evening.

The woman, identified as Patricia Roberts of 208 Truitt Street, was taken to North Runnels Hospital by a NRES ambulance.

A hospital spokesman said the woman apparently suffered head injuries along with facial injuries and abrasions. Following emergency treatment, the woman was transferred to Hendrick Medical Center's Trauma Center by ambulance.

Investigating officers said that one suspect was questioned in connection with the incident and later released. By late Tuesday evening no charges had been filed in the incident.

Persons who reported the incident to authorities said that they thought the woman had been either dragged, pushed from, or fell from a pick up.

Police officers said that the investigation would continue into the incident.

Carbon monoxide poisoning sends four to hospital

Four Winters men were taken to North Runnels Hospital Tuesday morning suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. The men were all working at a cabinet shop in north Winters when they became ill and were hospitalized.

Hospitalized were Joe Kozelsky Sr., Mike Kozelsky, Kye Franke and Joseph Kalina. The men were all working at the Kozelsky Cabinet Shop.

According to a spokesman at North Runnels Hospital, the men came into the hospital about mid-morning Tuesday with "classic symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning." The spokesman said that the men said that they had been experiencing headaches each afternoon for the past week or so and that all became ill shortly after reporting for work Tuesday morning.

An unvented gas heater was blamed for the incident. The men said that the heater had been in use during the times the headaches were noticed and had been left on, in a closed, well insulated, building Monday night.

By late Tuesday Joe Kozelsky

Sr. and Mike Kozelsky had been released from the hospital. Kye Franke and Joseph Kalina remained hospitalized.

The two remaining in the hospital would, according to hospital authorities, be kept for several days for observation and would be treated for at least 24 hours with a high concentrate of oxygen.

Historical Commission Expands Service

In the early days of its organization the Runnels County Historical Commission was called a Survey Committee. Among the first official markers secured was a site marker for Maverick. This marker was dedicated at the Maverick Homecoming on June 6, 1965. Originally the group had seven members but at the April 1965 meeting three more were added. Mrs. Clarence Lee, Mrs. Roy Roper and Mrs. Rube Cope all of Norton.

Lillian (Maverick) Padgett, granddaughter of Samuel A. Maverick was present to speak at the ceremony.

The marker reads: "Founded in the 1870's. Named for Samuel A. Maverick (1803-1807), who came to Texas 1835. Fought in the Texas War for Independence. In secession convention, 1861, he was made one of the commissioners to negotiate surrender of United States troops in San Antonio. In 1853 he had land in this important ranching area. 1964"

The historical commission now has 34 members and has branched out into many other fields in the county as well as in surrounding counties.

Ballinger became one of the first fourteen towns in the state to reach the status of Sesquicentennial Community and will also observe its 100 anniversary in 1986.

Mrs. Edgar Boelsche, chairman, represents the Historical Commission on the Sesquicentennial board for Ballinger. Mr. and Mrs. Neuman Smith are serving on the social committee for both anniversary celebrations.

Winters became an Independence Community in a ceremony held at the City Hall on December 8, 1984. Mrs. George Poe, secretary of the Commission, serves as co-chairman and M. R. Williams is a member of the planning committee.

The Historical Commission voted to accept the project "To Research, record and publish a cemetery survey of all county Cemeteries." The importance of this work is emphasized by the State Historical Commission of Texas, and is an excellent source of history. This work was begun as a bicentennial project under the direction of the late Frank Jenkins, a Historical Commission member. Two volumes, Winters and Ballinger, were completed and published. Members continuing this work are Alton O'Neal, John Hancock and Neuman Smith with Mrs. Poe as coordinator.

Early in the year members voted to enter into the San Clemente Mission Celebration to be held at Millersview on Sunday April 1, which is near the site of the mission established 300 years ago. Although it lasted only six weeks the mission brought Christianity to the wilderness with far reaching results.

Mrs. Boelsche appointed Anthony Lange as chairman of the committee on arrangements and Mrs. J. W. Barr to assist him. Lange reported on the success of the San Clements pageant and Mass, attended by approximately 4,5000 people. He displayed a scrapbook which included pictures, a copy of the pageant and articles of history. Ten members cooperated by attending.

Gayle Vancil, Lange and Robert Wright collected historic pictures for an exhibit at the Texas State Ethnic Festival held on the courthouse lawn. They were displayed at the WOOD BOX, courtesy of Helen Earnshaw.

Five Commission members attended the Annual Preservation Conference at Lubbock, May 3-5. They were Dr. and Mrs. Boelsche, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Poe. Mrs. Smith gave a report on Oral History at the May 19 luncheon meeting of the Commission.

The Chairman introduced two new members at the May meeting: Stanley Bickel and Dr. Jerry Simmons both of Ballinger. It was reported that the Ballinger Catholic Church marker application had been approved and the money to cover to cost had been sent as requested.

Members voted to send a pot plant to the dedication of the former Santa Fe Railroad Station Restoration. Smith served on the restoration committee from the county commission. Ten members attended the dedication and open house.

Melvin R. Williams reported on his project of collecting history of Runnels County gins: Wingate gins were completed.

Williams, Mrs. Robert Leathers, Mrs. Loyd Roberson and Mrs. Carl Hancock, a new member, are all member of the Z. I. Hale Museum board at Winters.

This has been an outstanding year for the museum. Open house is held each month with emphasis on some important phase of our heritage. The Firemen's Auxiliary presented their scrapbooks to the museum and were honored for 35 years of service to the town.

In August, four women attended the museum institute at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum in Midland to continue their education in the operation of the museum. The two members of the Commission are Mrs. Leathers and Mrs. Poe.

A very valuable exhibit of Fort Chadbourne artifacts were presented to the museum during a program by a retired oilfield worker with a hobby of using a metal detector. Employed to look for artifacts at the fort, he found everything from horseshoes to buttons and bullets. A display case for the collection was provided by a local merchant.

In cooperation with the town's Arts and Crafts Festival in the Fall, a quilt show was held and was well received. The museum's project for 1986 included building on more space to accommodate the gift of a 1906 horse-drawn hearse. Another project is the keeping of a scrapbook of activities.

September was an eventful month for commission members who combined business with pleasure by traveling to beautiful Buffalo Gap in Taylor County for sightseeing and a dinner at the bi-monthly meeting.

First on the agenda was a tour of the Buffalo Gap Historic Village which has nine original buildings in the complex, most of them are over 100 years old. The combination courthouse and jail was erected in 1879-1880, when law and order was badly needed. It contains many Indian artifacts and history of the area.

Climax of the evening was a freshwater catfish dinner at the Deuschlander Garten. The group was served in a private dining room. A business meeting preceded the dinner.

Fourteen members attended a regional history meeting on October 6 to hear a talk by a professional archeologist, J. A. Jacques of San Angelo. Several areas of regional history were also discussed. The meeting was held at Paint Rock.

An archeological committee was appointed for the Runnels Commission by the chairman to implement the State Historical Commission goals. They are Stanly Bickel and Dr. Jerry Simmons, co-chairman: Mary Margaret Leathers and Jo Olive Hancock.

Five members attended to Oral History Workshop at the Fort Concho Museum in San Angelo on October 20th in preparation for the 150th celebration of Texas Independence.

The year concluded with the traditional cookout held at the Smith's Elm Creek Bluff Acres picnic grounds.

At this time the secretary Mrs. Poe, was attending a State Sesquicentennial meeting at the Sheraton-Crest in Austin for the purpose of community planning for the year 1986.

Mrs. J. Dexter Eoff, Historical Commission member, has served on the Carnegie Library Restoration board since the beginning. Another member recently contributed $10,000 to complete restoration of the Carnegie Library for the newspaper. He has conducted ten programs on history of the county for the year. Others gave twelve history talks to various groups.

There are 34 members of the Runnels County Historical Commission and six of them are under the age of forty. Six bi-monthly meetings have been held. A $500 yearly budget is provided by the Commissioner's court.

Substituting for Mother: a look at Winters babysitters

By Patsy Roach

[Editor's note: This article is the second in a series on Winters babysitters.]

By Patsy Roach

Frances Davis, wife of local fireman and electrician Jack Davis, Sr., is a smiling, mild-mannered, slender woman who has been keeping children for about 20 years altogether and for about eight years "this time." She babysat some when her children were little, she said.

In the business of babysitting, Frances said, "The most thing I think of is giving them love and affection, seeing they're well nourished."

The seven children playing at her home during our interview were obviously well-cared for and energetic, to say nothing of being curious. The children played well together and enjoyed playing with the two babies. They tried playing the piano, also.

"Mornings are hectic," Frances admitted.

Previously, Frances worked in several different departments at Dry Manufacturing. She also worked in a grocery store for a time; then she answered the phone for the ambulance service. She decided that, since she had to be at home for that job, she could keep children as well. She has kept this particular group of children since they were babies.

Frances and Jack are both from Brady originally. They married there and Jack went into the Marine Corps. While he was gone in the service, Frances came with her parents to Winters, and Jack joined her upon his discharge in 1953. They have two grown sons, Jack Jr. and Ricky.

Frances was licensed by the state for babysitting at one time, but did not want to keep that number of children. (According to state regulations, homes that are licensed may keep more children than homes that are registered.) Now she is registered and keeps six children during the day and six after school. Their parents must pick them up at school and bring them to her home.

State rules require that she keep the children's immunization records up to date; also she must have a checkup and tuberculosis test every year.

Her occasional helpers are her husband and her sister, Pat Staggs.

A fenced yard invites the children to play outdoors when the weather permits, and a playroom off the kitchen holds numerous toys for the children. Frances recalled a time when she was assisting in potty-training a young child, a task babysitters know well. She asked him if he had to go to the bathroom, and he answered pertly, "No—I have on a Pamper."

Another humorous incident involved a little girl whose divorced mother was about to remarry. The child overheard some of the other children talking about their daddies. She mentioned her daddy, and the other kids said, "No, you don't have a daddy." The little girl replied petulantly, "Well, my mama's gonna buy me one!"

Frances says she has always loved kids and says she has "all good kids" now. "All of these are like my grandbabies," she commented, adding that they call her "Mamaw." Her life as a babysitter seems very busy but enjoyable, and Winters is blessed to have her and many other caring women to keep the youngsters of mothers who work.

Seeding rangeland

Since last year's drought took a heavy toll of ranges over most of Texas, ranchers may want to consider a seeding program to boost rangeland in 1985. Seeding should be done in late winter or early spring, but now is the time for planning, says a range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Evaluate the quantity and distribution of desirable plants currently present. If these make up less than 10 to 15 percent of the vegetation, seeding is probably necessary. Seeding is usually necessary following a brush control method such as "root-plowing" that destroys existing turf and to establish desirable vegetation on abandoned cropland. Give special attention to site and seed selection and seedbed preparation.

Request for Qualifications
The City of Winters is soliciting qualified consultants for (1) planning and administration and (2) engineering services required for the implementation of its Community Development Program Grant. Statements of Qualifications will be accepted until 2:00 P.M. Friday, February 15, 1985, at City Hall, (January 24, 31, 1985)

Alternate fuel benefits operation

During the fuel embargo of the 70's, the federal government and the private sector began an extensive search for practical, affordable alternatives to gasoline and diesel fuel. Research has yielded many possible energy sources, including electricity, methanol, gasohol and compressed natural gas (CNG). However, these alternatives are, for the most part, impractical and unaffordable.

Yet from the beginning of the rush to develop new energy resources, there has been an unpublicized alternative fuel which offers better service to fleet owners and operators than conventional fuels. Propane or liquefied petroleum gas (LP-gas), has been used as an engine fuel since the early 1900's when it first powered farm vehicles and equipment.

During the past several years propane has grown in popularity as a fleet fuel. The reason for this changing attitude is simple. Propane offers many benefits to fleet owners and operators, including economy, safety, clean air and more.

Since propane is burned in an engine as a dry, relatively pure gas, it will neither contaminate lubricating oil nor leave troublesome carbon and sludge deposits on vital engine parts. It burns exceptionally cleanly and evenly, reducing engine wear and improving performance. As a result, propane reduces maintenance requirements substantially, and can keep engines running long past their average life with conventional fuels.

The clean and even combustion of propane offers another advantage. Since propane combusts almost completely inside the engine, it releases much lower concentrations of carbon monoxide and other dangerous gases than gasoline or diesel nonpolluting. In a world filled with environmental problems and growing public concern over those problems, this is an important benefit in itself.

The conversion from gasoline to propane fueling normally pays for itself in reduced fuel and maintenance costs within the first 25,000 miles of vehicle operation. But in order to ensure top performance and safety, a licensed, experienced propane mechanic should perform the conversion. Each propane motor fuel tank is also more than 20 times as puncture resistant as a comparable gasoline fuel tank. As a result, fuel leaks and fires are much less likely with propane.

All in all, it seems that many fleet owners and operators are missing out on an opportunity to conserve natural resources, help clean up the environment, and save money!

For further information about the benefits of a propane-fueled fleet, call the Texas LP-Gas Association's hotline toll-free at 1-800-252-8232. The Texas LP-Gas Association is a statewide trade organization comprised of retail LP-Gas dealers and suppliers whose main objective is to promote safety and education throughout the industry.

During a lifetime, the average human heart beats 2.5 billion times.

Cook receives DHT five year honor

Charles W. Cook, with the Runnels County Maintenance Section of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT) located in Ballinger, was honored at a safety meeting on January 8, 1985 when he was awarded a Certificate of Service for five years of service with the department.

Cook started his DHT career in 1979 as Maintenance Technician II, and is presently assigned the duties of crew chief.

The Certificate of Service was presented by Maintenance Construction Supervisor Emiliano R. Gonzales of Ballinger. A letter of congratulations from District Engineer D.R. Watson accompanied the certificate. He thanked Charles for his dedicated years with the department and hoped "his continued service would be pleasant and productive."

One thing can be said for people who put their money under the mattresses. They have something to fall back on.

The Richard Dennys and the Walter Clendenens who will host the Saturday night, February 2, supper hope to see a large crowd. They will have the gym warm. The usual meal, your favorite dish or dishes, will be served at 6:30 p.m. See you there.

The Norval Alexanders received word that their cousin Dennis Jenkins was killed while working on a water well rig out at Artesia, New Mexico.

We have good news that Alta Hale is doing so good after surgery in Abilene that she may be home in a few days.

The Richard Dennys spent the weekend at Wichita Falls with their families.

The Mike Praters and their two children and two dogs left here Sunday morning from her folks' home on their way to Michigan where he was transferred to K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base. We wish them a safe and happy trip. We will surely miss them.

Bernie and Rodney Faubion gave the Praters a pizza party on Saturday night in the Noble Faubion home. Present were the Marvin Gerhart family, Noble and Harvey Mae and Bea Dye.

The Rodney Faubions returned after visiting her grandmother Bea Dye and aunts and uncles in Sentenil, Oklahoma this past week. Bea returned home with them and will stay two weeks.

The Hopewell ladies had their Bible study Monday in the church fellowship hall.

On Wednesday Jimmy King and a friend of Ballinger came out a while to see Corra Petrie.

Mike and Eileen Prater and more of these methods of mechanical brush control may want to give them a try this winter while moisture conditions are favorable, says the agent.

children came by on Friday to say bye and get some pecans on their way to see Mrs. Jetta Faubion in Ballinger.

Mrs. Hazel Mae Bragg spent Tuesday with Dr. and Mrs. Larry Bragg and family, San Angelo; and on Sunday, D. H. Grounds of San Angelo came to see her.

Those having lunch Saturday with Noble and Harvey Mae were the Rodney Faubions and boys; the Mike Prater family; Carolyn, Melinda, Wayne, and Chad Kraatz; Amantina, Claudette, and Melissa Faubion; and Bea Dye.

Corra Petrie visited a while Thursday with Mrs. Effie Dietz. Clarence came on Wednesday and did odd jobs.

Nila and Therin Osborne went over to visit with Bea Dye of Oklahoma in the Rodney Faubion home Thursday.

Rodney Faubion is attending the Farm Bureau meeting in Austin for three days this time.

Viola Foster, Wesley, Karen, John, and Stephanie McGallian spent Sunday here with the Therin Osbornes.

Ferry Alcorn spent part of Sunday with Mrs. Amber Fuller.

Mrs. Lucille Rogers, Winters, spent Sunday afternoon with the Noble Faubions.

I was told Corbert Cooper was back in the North Runnels Hospital, Winters, since Sunday.

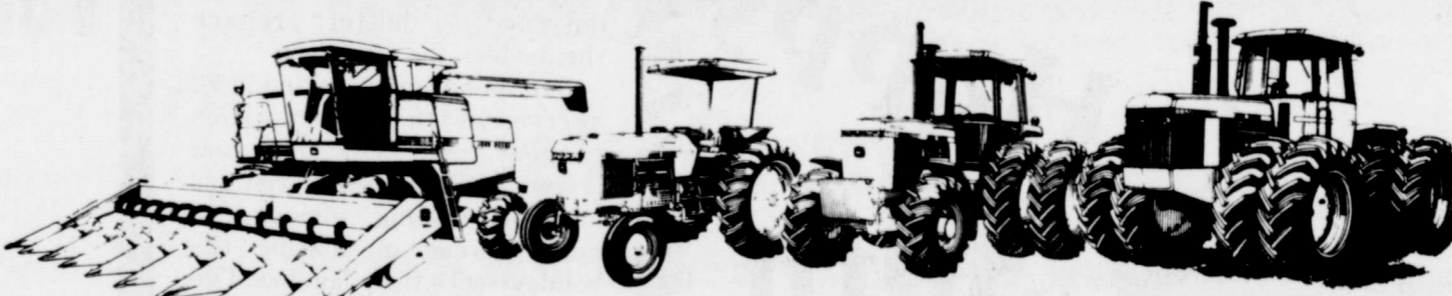

Becky and Elwood Brown came Monday night to see Pat and Earl.

The Walter Jacobs and Mrs. Louise Michalewicz attended the surprise birthday party honoring Cecil Halfman on his 55th birthday in the Saint Lawrence Hall Sunday. While there they also visited with the Ben Dierschkes.

Chad stayed with the Noble Faubions while his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kraatz were at an A&M College fish seminar recently.

Memo from Kay

By Kay Colburn

On display in the Chamber office are several paintings by a local artist, Virgil Roberts.

She said that she had always wanted to paint but had only been able to work it into her busy schedule during the last several years.

Virgil started by taking Tole painting classes and then studied different mediums of painting with other artists.

She studied at the Village Tole House in Arlington, Tx. with Peggy Hobbs of Ft. Worth and Mary Joe Leisure, now of Kansas.

She has also taken lessons from William Earle of Connecticut, who taught in New Mexico, from Alva Pittman in her home studio in Tulsa, and from Lindy Doly of Houston.

She studied glass painting with Sherry Nelson of New Mexico, and Virgil is the representative of her painting method for this area.

Virgil has taught classes in Big Lake and in San Angelo and is currently teaching locally at Melba's Arts & Crafts. She is also teaching workshops in Abilene at the Board & Palette and at Kathy's Crafty Parlor.

Virgil says that she finds painting to be a joy in her life.

Her paintings will be on display for public enjoyment for a few weeks and all who are interested are invited to come by the Chamber office.

Dry, Witte take Pinewood Derby awards

Chris Dry of Winters won a first place award for the most original racer in the nine year olds division of the 11th Annual Pinewood Derby of the Cub Scouts, held at the Mall of Abilene on Saturday.

Chris' racer also took first place in his heat. Other nine year olds competing from Winters were Jim Calcote and Chad Springer.

In the eight year olds division, Steven Witte of Winters took second place in the Best Design Category of competition. His racer also took first place in the second heat of the race; Brian Briley won the first heat. Heath Watkins also competed for Winters.

Among ten year olds competing for the Winters Cub Scouts, Aaron Bradley's racer won in the first heat. Others competing included Jeremy Epperson, Ben Barker, Russell Parramore, and Lance Brown.

Next week is the 75th anniversary of the Boy Scouts and the 55th anniversary of the Cub Scouts. Sunday, February 3 is Scout Sunday; First Baptist Church will honor the Scouts in attendance, and they will wear their uniforms and sit together in the services that morning. Other local churches may participate, as well.

Letter to the Editor

I know this letter will be difficult to write, as I feel I am slightly prejudice toward the fire department.

I just want the people of Winters to know that I am proud of this dedicated group of men. Besides risking their lives to put out someone's fire, they also spend a lot of their time educating themselves in courses designed to better prepare themselves for this task.

I've seen them in action in 20 degree weather with icicles hanging from their faces and fingers and spending Christmas morning helping someone in need instead of sharing the holidays with their families. I've seen them leave a good football or baseball game where their children were participating to put out a grass fire out of control. I've seen them come home with soot clinging to their brow and clothes and their boots ruined from water and smoke damage. I've seen them weep when they couldn't save someone's house or belongings, race to highway accidents miles from town to use the "Jaws of Life" to save a life.

I've also found that behind their dedication is a good wife full of support, praise and a ready push to get them out of a warm bed and into the freezing weather to do their duty.

I am proud to be the President of the Firemen's Auxiliary and we welcome all women to join our organization. Our purpose is to be supportive of the Fire Department whenever called upon.

Our funds are used to buy blankets for persons having house fires, to send firemen to the convention each year and any other need the firemen might request.

Anyone interested in information may call 754-5401.

Thanks for the chance to serve.

Locals return from Farm Bureau trip

Allen and Elsie Belk of Winters and James and Rose Eggmeyer of Miles have returned from the 66th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau at Honolulu, January 7-10.

They represented the Runnels County Farm Bureau, and were among the more than 600 county Farm Bureau leaders who qualified for the trip in a Texas Farm Bureau awards program. The program allowed for up to two county FB leaders and their spouses to be chosen by their county FB Board of Directors to receive an award which helped to defray the cost of the trip.

They attended the AFBF meeting at which 1985 policies were adopted for the AFBF. They heard addresses by AFBF President Robert Delano former Environmental Protection Agency director William Ruckelshaus, and Peter Grace, whose commission studied ways to reduce federal spending. There were also conferences on national issues, economic services and commodities.

Following the convention, they departed for a tour of the islands of Maui and Hawaii, which is known as the "Big Island."

They saw the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park, including Kilauea, the Kona Surf and a Macadamian nut farm on the island of Hawaii. They also saw the volcanic crater atop Haleakala ("House of the Sun"), a floral nursery and Lahaina, the former capital of Maui which was an historic old whaling center.

The Texas National Guard had its origin in frontier days when neighbors combined to protect their homes from Indians or outlaws.

Texas Most Wanted

Anthony Ginnetti

The people around the West Texas town of Coahoma say Anthony Ginnetti was a super salesman.

Investigators from the FBI, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the Swisher and Howard County Sheriff's Departments say the same thing. The only problem, they say, is that all Ginnetti sold was a "bill of goods."

Ginnetti, who also goes by the names of Terry Lee Ginnetti, Terry Lee Prero, Anthony Culpert, and Tony Argus, is wanted by state and federal law enforcement officials on charges of defrauding the Coahoma State Bank out of $260,000 and a private individual out of some $150,000.

The dapper-looking 37-year-old fugitive began negotiating with Coahoma State Bank in October 1982 to secure an automobile "floor plan" for his Car City Auto Sales and Service business. The original agreement, say investigators, was for $38,000 worth of automobiles. A total of $20,000 was to be secured by a Certificate of Deposit held by the bank and the rest of the loan was to be secured by automobile titles held by the bank as collateral.

But detectives say that between October 1982 and April 1984, Ginnetti was able to get the floor plan raised to $80,000, with $30,000 in CD's and the remainder in titles.

During the same period of time, say investigators, Ginnetti was able to defraud the bank in the following manner:

-replacing all good automobile titles held by the bank with illegally acquired titles, thereby effectively reducing a portion of the collateral held by the bank.

-passing insufficient fund checks, which were honored by the bank.

-having the bank release liens on automobiles by telling them he had the vehicles sold and would return with the money. He would never deposit the money in the bank.

-by writing checks on collected funds which subsequently had "Stop Payment" placed on them.

-by purchasing a large number of automobiles on customer drafts which were honored by the bank, despite the fact there was not sufficient money on deposit at the bank.

-forging signatures on vehicle titles held by the bank.

-forging his partner's signature to checks and drafts which were honored by the bank.

Investigators caution that while Ginnetti might have left the state, a possibility exists that he may still be somewhere in Texas operating in the same manner.

Ginnetti is described as a white male, 5'9", 175 pounds, with blonde hair and blue eyes.

This week Texas Most Wanted is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to Ginnetti's capture. To be eligible for the reward, citizens are asked to call Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free at 1-800-252-8477 or the Runnels County Crimestoppers at 365-2111 or in Winters by dialing 0 and asking for Enterprise 67574.

Callers do not have to give their names.

Texas Most Wanted is a cooperative effort between Crime Stoppers and the Department of Public Safety and is designed to enlist the support of citizens in capturing dangerous fugitives.

As of January 16, 1985, the Department of Public Safety reported that Ginnetti is wanted on the following warrants:

Swisher County No. 1796, dated 4-18-84.

Howard County No. 3948 and No. 3949, dated 4-27-84.

FBI warrant dated 5-14-84, Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution.

Higher Education Authority, "Federal Programs," Gene Linder, ACU; "State Programs," Mary Swanson, McMurry; "ROTC," Lt. Col. Ed Leach, professor of military science, Tri College ROTC at HSU.

Bill Armour or a representative of the trust department of First National Bank, Abilene, will discuss the Campbell Scholarship.

Gerry Armstrong, director of student financial aid at HSU, and Linder and Swanson will also speak on private aid possibilities.

Elliott will make a special presentation on applying for financial aid and be in charge of a question and answer period.

Parents and prospective students from Abilene, The Big Country, and beyond are especially invited. Persons may contact Tyler's office, Box 1100, HSU Station, Abilene 79698 (Tele. 915-677-7281) for a registration card for the symposium.

Blackwell had another high wind storm to blow in late last Saturday night, which dropped temperatures to below freezing so Sunday morning many found their water pipes frozen; they did not thaw out until late Wednesday afternoon, but all frozen and burst pipes were outside pipes and drains. Some say it was as cold as the spell we had last December, just that it did not last as long, as it only lasted four days this spell.

Another cold spell with high winds blew in late Friday evening about 4:30 which dropped temperature again to freezing this morning (Saturday morning) the sun came out pretty early and was soon nice and warm.

Correct use of winter pastures

Correct use of winter pastures can provide cattle with high quality grazing while, at the same time, lowering feed costs, say specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. In a demonstration on the Capp and Leroy Hillboldt farm in Austin County, limit-grazing of ryegrass pastures for one to one and-a-half hours every day along with hay supplementation kept the winter pasture cost per cow at only 19 cents per day. This is below the cost of other supplements and is about one-fourth the cost per cow had the winter pasture been grazed continuously.

Burwick.

Minnie Kinard (the secretary) read the minutes of the last meeting and they stood approved as read.

Jo Ann Rhynes read the Scripture and Calendar of Prayer, which was also their dismissal prayer.

Those attending were: Mmes. Holland, Burwick, Kinard and Rhynes.

They did not know why there was only four ladies there, unless it was because of so much sickness and bad weather.

BASKETBALL

Varsity Boys

Coleman 38, Winters 34. This game started the second half of district. Winters' record in the first half was 2-5. The first time Winters played Coleman, the Bluecats won, 76-46. Coach Farmer commented, "We played much better ball this game. I am very proud of these young men for their tremendous effort." Eric Belk was high point for the game with 13. Mando Tamez scored ten points. The team made 12 of 24 free throws for 50 percent.

Baird 70, Winters 63. Belk led the scoring in the game with 32 points. Mando Tamez had 14. The coach said his team "didn't play as well as we did Tuesday. We looked a little tired, both physically and mentally. Eric had an excellent game offensively."

Varsity Girls

Coleman 56, Winters 31. Coleman's girls are ranked tenth in the state at this time. Coach Dearen stated, "We played a whole lot better this time than the first game against Coleman. Our defense did a lot better after we began to move and rebound. Our offense did a lot better even though we shot poorly from the free throw line." Leslie Pruser had six offensive and six defensive rebounds in the game; Maggie Campos had three steals and tie balls. Scorers for Winters were Leslie Pruser with eight; La Shea Guy and Melinda Sims with four; Maggie Campos, Melisa Poehls, and Libby Bedford with four each; and Lana Rice with one.

The girls played Baird there on January 25. Baird is currently in second place in district. Baird led 17-4 at the end of the first quarter, but Winters outscored them in the second and third quarters, due to better team play and a successful half-court press, the coach said. Winters took the lead in the fourth quarter, "only to cool off on offense and turn the ball over with five minutes to play in the game." Coach Dearen reported, "We didn't give up and kept after them all four quarters," he said. Melinda Sims had 10 offensive rebounds and nine defensive rebounds; La Shea Guy had three tie balls and two steals. Maggie Campos scored 14 points; Melinda Sims eight; La Shea Guy and Leslie Pruser seven; and Melisa Poehls one.

Junior Varsity Boys

Winters 31, Baird 30. This game was another come-from-behind victory for the JV boys. Baird had them down 5-2, 15-8, and 28-16 at the end of the first three quarters. In the last quarter, the local boys scored 15 points to Baird's two to win the game by one point. "These young men showed a great amount of character and courage," Coach Randolph commented. "They rallied from a twelve point deficit at the beginning of the fourth quarter to win by one at the buzzer. I am very proud of them." Tony Soto scored 10 points to lead Winters' scoring. Doug Wheat scored eight, Kevin Halfmann six, Chuck Patterson four, Jack Hood two, and Robert Vera one. The team made seven of nine free throws for 77 percent.

Eighth Grade Boys

Winters 35, Baird 20. Winters was down 10-5 and 14-12 at the end of the first two quarters, but scored 13 points to none for Baird in the third quarter to gain the lead, then added ten points to six for Baird in the last quarter to put the game on ice. James Self scored 13 points as high point for the game.

Eighth Grade Girls

Winters 34, Baird 19. The Winters girls led throughout the game. Landa England was high point for the game with 16. Tracey Grantham and Heather Brown scored eight each. The team made four of eight free throws for 50 percent.

Seventh Grade Boys

Winters 38, Jim Ned 14. Jimmy Ripley led Winters' scoring with nine points. During the game, 11 Winters players scored, an unusually high number of players for a junior high game. Coach Selby said.

Baird 26, Winters 24. Jimmy Ripley scored 14 points for Winters; Baird's Deel was high point for the game with 15. Winters was called for 14 fouls, while Baird was called for only three. Baird went to the free throw line 11 times; Winters never got to shoot a free throw.

"THOSE EPISCOPAL"

In many ways, very few people are as happy as the folks who are satisfied with something of their own religion. Maybe the Episcopal Church reputation has long been of a religion that members value their own mind shopping. They lay out the one that is different from other religions. They know what they read pray. And they are not strange Christian to know your Episcopal minister to explain your own mind shopping.

UPS application granted Jan. 23

The Railroad Commission Monday granted the application of United Parcel Service for authority to transport packages from point to point within Texas.

The Commission voted two to one to approve the examiner's recommendation and grant the UPS application. Chairman Buddy Temple and Commissioner Mack Wallace voted for approval, while Commissioner James E. (Jim) Nugent voted against and filed a dissenting opinion.

The order signed by Temple and Wallace adopted the examiner's conclusion that "the proposed UPS service would meet the demonstrated public need for a single, consistent, and reliable statewide carrier" and that it would "advance the commercial potential of all areas of the state, not just the locations along service routes."

The commissioners went on to say that "no existing regulated transportation service can presently fulfill this public need."

Nugent said in his dissent that "I am firmly convinced the Legislature has not granted the Railroad Commission the power to grant authority for a common carrier to operate over irregular routes with no schedule." He also said the evidence in the case "demonstrates the applicant does not intend to provide a service in accordance with present laws and regulations of the Commission."

UPS filed its application with the Commission in August, 1978. After lengthy consideration in state courts of the question of whether the Commission had jurisdiction to consider the application, hearings were conducted by the Commission's Transportation Division in 1982 and 1983.

In August of last year the hearings examiner recommended the application be denied, saying state law requires applicants to provide specific route maps and service schedules and that in her opinion, the UPS application did not meet those requirements. Commissioners Wallace and Temple overruled that recommendation and directed the examiner to prepare a new recommendation based on the question of need for the proposed service in Texas.

The examiner returned to the Commission Dec. 10 with a recommendation that the UPS application be granted, citing the testimony of over 300 public witnesses who supported the application.

Today's Commission order grants UPS authority to transport packages or articles between all points in Texas. The packages or articles may not exceed 50 pounds in weight or 108 inches in combined length and girth measurement. Each package or article must be considered a separate shipment.

Before beginning its package delivery service within the state, UPS must file a schedule of proposed rates for Commission approval. Examination of such rate requests usually involves a public hearing. Another matter to receive Commission examination will be the type of shipping documents UPS will use in its service. The company must also file proof of insurance and must register all vehicles it will be using in the state with the Commission.

Phosphorus boosts cattle production

Phosphorus supplementation is important in boosting cattle reproductive performance, note specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Phosphorus intake by cows varies due to seasonal changes in grazing quality, particularly during the winter. A high salt level in an animal's diet can also affect phosphorus intake, particularly where natural salt sources are available, such as in the marshlands along the Gulf Coast. A demonstration in Calhoun County showed that a 12 percent phosphorus mix should contain less than five percent salt or cows would not consume it.

Winters native writes award-winning drama

By Patsy Roach

Del Shores, a Winters native, has gained acclaim for his play entitled Cheatin' currently in production at the Mainstage Theater in North Hollywood, California. The play is set in Lowake and concerns small town immorality.

According to a column entitled "Stage(Wright)" by Philip Reed, Shores has had a nagging fear of what the people of Lowake would think if they saw the production. Shores said he was always interested in the immorality that took place in little Texas towns.

The cheating is exaggerated a bit, Shores said, but the production is a blend of fact and comedy.

The play won two Drama-Logue awards in a January 20 presentation. Sherry Landrum, director of the drama, won the award for best director, and Newell Alexander was named best actor.

Shores, a 27-year old playwright and actor, is the son of Reverend and Mrs. W.D. Shores and was born in Winters. Mrs. Shores was the former Lorraine Fuller. According to local historian Charlie Poe, Del's family attended Southside Baptist Church here. She was friends with his mother, as was Noleta Rice, who used to babysit for "Delton" and his older brother Dexton when they were small children.

Mrs. Rice remembers the children as being very intelligent and their parents as very active workers with the youth of Southside Baptist. Mrs. Poe said that Del's father became a preacher after taking a group of young people to camp at Glorieta, New Mexico, where he felt a call to preach. The family then moved to Brownwood where the parents attended Howard Payne University. Del was about six years old at the time, Mrs. Rice recalled.

Following graduation, the couple became home missionaries and soon moved to Zapata. Mrs.

Shores began the River Ministry there. Del graduated from Zapata High School and then from Baylor University.

Mr. and Mrs. Shores have returned to Winters a number of times and have spoken in both Southside and First Baptist Churches, Mrs. Rice said. Her family is still close friends with the family, and Del has invited them to visit him in California.

According to the story by Philip Reed, Del became interested in writing and acting at an early age. He wrote his first play in the seventh grade.

On college graduation night he left Waco and drove to Los Angeles where he has worked as an actor for the last four years. He has been seen in several commercials and television shows, most recently on Gimme A Break, Divorce Court, and Days of Our Lives.

Shores has also written a religious musical entitled No Better Way. Also to his credit is an anti-nuclear musical, I Want to Dance, and a book called Scene Book. He co-authored The Original Scene Book; both books were published by Samuel French Publishing, Inc.

In Cheatin' Shores plays a mechanic and womanizer; he had some difficulty in acting while wanting to keep on rewriting the play.

The play, which will run at the Mainstage Theater through February 2, is being considered by television executives and may go into production in Dallas. Shores has several other writing projects underway, and may write a sequel to Cheatin' using characters mentioned but not seen in the play.

Revenue tax collected

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent checks totaling $13.4 million to 220 counties and 427 cities as their share of the state's mixed drink tax collected at the new rate of 12 percent during the fourth quarter of 1984.

The Texas Legislature raised the tax from 10 percent to 12 percent effective October 2, 1984.

Texas cities and counties are receiving a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state. The state's general revenue fund received the balance—$33 million—of the tax to 12.5 percent, effective with first quarter collections in 1985, and the state will then get the entire gain from the tax increase.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's Office.

Bullock said the mixed drink tax brought a total of $167 million to state and local coffers during 1984.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS" are they just "religion shoppers?"

In many areas you find very few native-born Episcopalians. Often they're folks who shopped around till they found a church that satisfied some longing for something missing in their own religious experience.

Maybe that's why the Episcopal Church, along with its reputation for peculiarities, has long been known as sort of a thinking-man's religion. It embraces so many members who made up their own minds... then stopped shopping.

They lay no claims to having the "only religion" or even the right one. It's just the one that's right for them.

Episcopalians are a bit different. They have formal services. They don't chit-chat much at church. They kneel at times. They read prayers from a book. And they offer guidelines, not straight-jackets, for Christian living. If you'd like to know the reasons why your Episcopal neighbor or minister would be flattered to explain, without "twisting your arm."

To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning, air concentration must be kept below acceptable levels at all times by proper ventilation. All combustion devices must be vented to the outside air. These devices include flame water heaters, stoves, gas refrigerators, and internal combustion engines.

Emergency measures to be taken in the event of carbon monoxide poisoning, or suspected carbon monoxide poisoning, require removal from exposure, giving 100 percent oxygen by mask, by medical personnel, until the blood-gas level is reduced below the dangerous level; if respiration is depressed, artificial respiration with 100 percent oxygen is needed until respiration is normal.

Treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning should be given by trained medical personnel. Steps should also be taken to prevent any further possible exposure to the poison gas.

CAPITOL UPDATE

by Jim Parker

As the session is commencing, I will once again take up the task of advising you as to issues facing the 69th Legislature and hopefully give you some insights that will prove helpful to your understanding of the direction our State will take for the coming two year period.

Since money, or the lack thereof, is the most talked about issue in the state government today, I would like to make a few comments concerning the "State of the State," from a fiscal prospective.

As a little historical background, it is important to realize

A Navy within our Navy Remembering the Alamo

Today's Navy has nearly 600 ships in it. Within this number are ten that proudly carry the banner of Texas tradition. One of these ships is the USS ALAMO.

The ALAMO is a dock landing ship of the Thomaston class, a swift and powerful unit of the U.S. Amphibious Forces in the Pacific. Commissioned in 1956, she was named for the Texas national monument, the Alamo, in San Antonio. She reflects the spirit of the Texas volunteers of 1836.

The ALAMO's primary mission is to transport and control loaded boats, landing craft, vehicles and tanks in early assault waves on enemy beaches. She accomplishes this task in a unique manner: the back portion of the ship is lowered into the water a few feet so that the landing craft and other boats, or amphibious tanks, can be floated out and head directly toward the beach.

A secondary mission of the vessel is to act as a boat haven, repairing amphibious craft of all sizes in its after portion (the back) of the ship. This versatility makes this ship much in demand by the fleet, by the Marine Corps, and by the Army. Her motto reflects this demand: "We deliver anything, anytime."

anywhere."

The ALAMO was built by Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation in Mississippi. She is 510 feet long, and her well-deck of 395 feet by 48 feet can be flooded to a depth of 10 feet. The ALAMO is able to carry three very large landing craft, known as LCUs, or 20 medium-sized craft (LCM), or 40 smaller craft (LCVP). As many as 100 two-and-one-half ton trucks used in combat can be transported at one time.

The ALAMO carries a crew of 21 officers and 384 enlisted personnel. She is capable of transporting a Marine Corps unit of 29 officers and 272 troops, plus nine staff officers, in addition to the ship's crew.

Navy ships have always played an important role in aiding victims of disaster, and the ALAMO is no exception. In October 1962, she delivered emergency relief supplies to typhoon-stricken Guam.

Similar missions throughout USS ALAMO's 18 year career ensure that, like her namesake, the United States will "Remember the Alamo." She continues her mission today serving in the Pacific Fleet from her homeport of San Diego, California.

Ballinger City Park

Ballinger's Park will be expanded and landscaped with matching funds of $90,000 recently secured from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The playground and picnic areas will be improved, along with the addition of volleyball and tennis courts and hiking and biking trails.

that since at least 1971, each successive session of the Legislature has found itself in the enjoyable position of having significantly more money than was absolutely needed to fund the State budget. The additional funds, while looking like a blessing, may actually have been a curse, for the reason that many programs of questionable value were commenced simply because the money was available. Those programs are still in place but we no longer have the additional money to fund them.

We must put our state spending priorities in order and eliminate unnecessary and inefficient programs.

In talking with the people of the state, I find that most are not opposed to paying taxes but simply feel that the tax dollars they are paying are not being wisely spent. We all have heard of state money being spent on items we thought were either unnecessary or at least extravagant.

Specifically, the hard cold fact is that as of this writing the state lacks $1.1 billion having sufficient funds to maintain current service levels and state spending for the next two years.

We, as legislators, and you, as citizens of this state, are faced with two prospects: (1) cut back state spending to a level consistent with reduced revenue; or (2) increase taxes to maintain current spending levels.

My feeling is that you want thrift and frugality and you want a reassessment of spending priorities.

You have all been very good about expressing your feelings to me in the past, and I hope you will continue to do so.

Over the coming weeks I will discuss specific revenue/expenditure areas with you. Remember, for comment, my address is: Jim Parker, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769.
