Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

By the time this is read the local option election will be over.

The winners will be happy and the losers not quite so happy.

Regardless of which way we felt about the election and its outcome we can make our community a winner—or we can make a loser.

We were very fortunate in that our community was not divided in anger over a political issue. There was some disagreement, sure, but each respected the other's opinion. Those in our community any way.

Not too many years back, in a similar situation, one saw neighbors who were life-long friends suddenly develop a fierce hatred for his neighbor because of a difference of political feeling.

Thank goodness we don't have that here!

While on the subject of the local option issue, there is something I feel must be said. This is something that I had hoped wouldn't be necessary to say. It did, however, sufficiently arouse my ire. Now I will have my say.

There were two items that I felt were newsworthy during the past two weeks or so—a local option election date had been set and a tragic accident that claimed the lives of three high school students and left two others seriously injured.

As I said, both of these items were deserving of news coverage—but not in connection with each other.

There were, however, two news outlets(?) in Abilene that felt it their duty to try their best to dig and gouge and intimidate to connect these incidents.

At best, their efforts bordered on a weak attempt at sensationalism, something a responsible journalist/reporter would not use as a crutch to fill space on the page or time on the tube.

What was done by KRBC-TV and The Abilene Reporter-News was totally uncalled for.

In my opinion, and I've been a journalist for a while, it was a cheap shot.

These two members of the Abilene news media went beyond the duty and responsibility of being a news gathering/reporting organizations in their efforts.

Their supposition, implication, and innuendo border on what I would term yellow journalism.

If they were in a race to see who had the best ratings, the most listeners or viewers or readers, they did a good job—for everyone else in the race.

Their efforts certainly had an effect on my television set (I've deleted one channel) and the newspapers in my yard.

Maybe we can now get about business without the insensitive badgering by these folks.

Drawings will be held throughout both days for door prizes. Anyone attending this year's show may register at the door for the drawings.

Meals will be served each day, beginning at 11:30 a.m. with the featured meal on Friday being all the stew and cornbread you can eat. Saturday, a chicken spaghetti plate will be served with all the trimmings. Concessions will be available both days.

Local option - Winters stays dry

A large number of voters went to the polls Tuesday in Justice Precinct 2 of Runnels County to cast their ballots in a local-option, wet-dry election.

A total of 1,383 votes were cast in the local election with 777 votes against the issue and 603 voting for the issue.

At stake in the election was the legal sale of all alcohol beverages for off premise consumption.

All boxes showed an opposition to the legal sales of alcoholic beverage. Box totals are: Box 6, 35 against and 7 for; Box 4, 168 against and 143 for; Box 5, 99 against and 39 for; and Box 3 415 against and 370 for.

With the issue failing by a margin of 174 votes, David Carroll, a promoter of the election, said that he was disappointed at the outcome of the vote but that he "was not torn up at the people that voted against the proposal."

Randall Boles, a member of Citizens Against Legalized Liquor, said that he was pleased with the vote, that he felt that the voters had the best interests of the community at heart.

Both Carroll and Boles agreed that news coverage by KRBC-TV and The Abilene Reporter-News carried the issue too far.

Carroll said, "I think that's what hurt us. If they had left the two issues separate, the outcome of the election might have been different."

Boles said that the excessive coverage may have had an effect on the outcome on the vote. He said that having stories trying to connect the recent fatal accident near Tuscola and the local option election here on the air every night and in the paper every day was carrying things too far.

The last attempt at allowing the legal sales of alcoholic beverage in Winters failed by a narrow margin about five years ago.

Voters in Ballinger will have an opportunity to vote on a similar issue sometime in December.

A petition has been completed and verified and is scheduled to be presented to the county commissioners who must set a date for that election.

"Jail 'n Bail" big success

The American Cancer Society's "Jail 'n Bail" was a smashing success. A total of $987.21 was raised for the fight against cancer.

There are so many people that graciously helped to insure the success of this fun fundraiser. The ACS wants to express appreciation to two officials of the "court" - Mike Meyer, the arresting officer and Steve Byrne, the honorable (?) judge.

Gratitude is also expressed to those who were "arrested" that so graciously gave of their time and energy. Their good sense of humor and sincere efforts made success possible. Thank you Lanny Bahlman, Ted Meyer, Arnold Thormeyer, Estelle Bredemeyer, Fran Polston, Bobby Mayo, June Hays, Betty Pinkerton and Randy Springer.

The North Runnels Unit of the ACS is one of the best in the state and it is because of the people in Winters who cooperate so beautifully in the struggle against this killer disease.

Fatality

A Tuscola resident was fatally injured Thursday morning when her car was struck broadside by an oil field service truck.

Pauline Stewart, 56, apparently died instantly in the crash. Investigating Highway Patrol Trooper Larry Hill said that the woman was thought to have attempted to make a U-turn from in front of her residence on U.S. 83 in Tuscola and pulled in front of the truck.

The truck, which was owned by Kramer Rat Hole Service, was driven by Scott Lee Kramer, 26, of Abilene. Kramer was not injured in the accident.

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene of the accident with their "Jaws of Life" to free the woman from the wreckage of her car.

Mrs. Stewart's brother was taken by ambulance to an Abilene Hospital after suffering a possible heart attack at the scene of the crash.

Mrs. Stewart was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Justice of the Peace Frank Lockman of Tuscola. Funeral Services for the woman were conducted by Fry Funeral Home of Tuscola.

Blizzards lose to Coleman 27 - 18

The Winters Blizzards lost total control of second place in District 11-AA with the loss to the Coleman Bluecats Friday 27-18.

The district's second representative in the play-offs will be determined this week as the Blizzards host the Albany Lions and the Bluecats descend on hapless Jim Ned.

Late Friday there was some question as to whether Jim Ned would be able to field a team after some internal disputes and the loss of a number of players to poor grades.

The loss left the Blizzards with a season record of 5-4. Coleman upped its record to 6-3.

By any standards, win or lose, the game Friday was a good one. Both the Blizzards and the Bluecats excelled offensively and defensively in the game.

Winters got its first touchdown late in the first quarter after Coleman obtained a 13-0 lead. It took the Blizzards nine plays to cover 80 yards, highlighted by Robert Baker sprinting 36 yards. The score came when Steve DeLa Cruz pushed in from the eight.

The Blizzards added to the scoring late in the game when Kyle Kraatz recovered a fumble at the start of the second half and the Blizzards took control of the ball on Coleman's 23 yard-line.

Robert Baker took the ball five plays later and made the touchdown.

The Blizzards made it to the score board again late in the fourth quarter when Sam Smith caught a 47-yard pass from Doug Wheat for the score.

Lorenzo de Zavala is a man who Texans should honor on April 21 when "San Jacinto Day" is observed in the Winters City Park. Music will be furnished by the high school band with an ice cream social to follow. School students, assisted by their teachers and Mary Cortez, Sesquicentennial member, will pay tribute to this staunch leader and others in the Texas Revolution.

De Zavala entered San Antonio in July of 1835, never to return to his position as governor of Mexico. He had known the Texans' cause well, for it was he who tried to persuade higher officials in Mexico to give the Anglo-Texans their cherished independence. He had pointed out that it was unreasonable to govern a people who were some 800 miles away and of a nationality entirely different from the Spanish-Indian origin of the Mexican people. But Santa Anna, the newly elected president of the republic, would not listen. It was then that Lorenzo de Zavala resigned and came to Texas to further the cause of independence.

Texas, as time went on, desired separate statehood, and a convention in 1833 had appointed Austin, with two others, to present a petition of grievances to the government in Mexico City. The others shrank from the dangerous trip and Austin went alone. He was imprisoned and placed in a lone dungeon for more than two years before money could secure his release.

When de Zavala arrived in Texas, Austin was still in prison. De Zavala assumed the leadership of Texas. In San Antonio, he was made chairman of the Central Committee of Safety, a group organized for the purpose of protecting the colonists. The spirit of love that had brought him to Texas began to throb in his veins. It was his duty to arouse and unite the colonists.

He issued the following statement in August: "The fundamental pact, having been dissolved, and the guarantee of civil and political rights of citizens having been destroyed, it is incontestable that all the states of the Mexican Confederation are at liberty to act and to provide for their security and preservation, as circumstance might require."

Santa Anna immediately issued a standing order to General Cos, the Mexican commander-in-charge of the San Antonio Province, to arrest the "war party in Texas."

But Mexican efforts to seize de Zavala failed, and he continued his effort. "Liberty," he said, "is worth any price. Liberty is in every blow, and we must rise up now and do or die."

De Zavala traveled all over the southern part of Texas, encouraging his friends to participate in the convention held on November 11, 1835. His work took shape when the General Council of Texas was formed and at once recognized by the colonists as the supreme body of the province. The fires of liberty had been built.

The tall, dark man, who in 47 years had borne the trials of life, spoke to the group of leaders assembled that day. He closed his remarks with these words: "Let the love of freedom and the love of liberty drive us to the eventual free Republic of Texas. Let us remember that the same almighty that gave us life also gave us liberty, and it is up to us to secure and preserve that which is ever dear to our hearts."

With these words, Lorenzo de

Zavala stepped down at this, his greatest hour. The one hour of triumph had come to pass. He was Texas' most active patriot and an understanding man of principle.

A signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence, de Zavala died on November 17, 1836. He was buried on the banks of Buffalo Bayou in Harris County, where the city of Houston has grown and flourished.

He rests there today opposite the San Jacinto monument, and somehow one feels that Lorenzo de Zavala is guarding those principles for which he fought alongside Houston. He had seen Santa Anna captured here, and here he had been the interpreter for General Sam Houston when terms were negotiated.

VFW Membership Supper to be held

Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States of America Post 9193 and the Ladies Auxiliary will have a Membership Supper Saturday, November 9, at 6:30 p.m. in the Post Home. All members and their families are encouraged to attend. The officers of the Post will present Ted Meyer with a 40-year membership pin.

Ted Meyer served in World War II and joined the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Caldwell, Texas in October of 1945. He later belonged to the Dalhart and Abilene Posts when he moved to these towns.

In 1956, Ted moved to Winters and became an active member in the Winters Post. Ted has served as Commander, Quartermaster and in several other offices throughout the years. Ted has served as Service Officer to the Post for most of this time. Ted has helped many a service man or their family in need to get help, not only VFW members, but any who have asked. Ted lets the VFW store their wheelchairs, hospital beds and other items at his business, Winters Funeral Home, and takes care of lending them out. One of Ted's pet projects is to see that the American flags are flown on the business streets on holidays. If you get up early enough, you will see him leading the men in putting up the flags in the morning and picking them up late in the evening. If no one shows up to help him, he goes ahead and starts and flags down someone to help or gets his sons or grandsons to help. By his actions and deeds, Ted Meyer shows what the Veterans of Foreign Wars stands for.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars has a long and colorful history. The first of several units which later merged into the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States was organized September 29, 1899 in Columbus, Ohio. Twelve veterans of the Spanish-American War, who fought on the Cuban and Philippine battle fronts, were so disturbed by the suffering of their comrades, many so desperately ill, they could not work steadily, met in the back room of a tailoring shop and pledged "to help one another and to work together for the benefit of our country and for the men who fight for this nation."

On December 1, 1899, another group of Spanish-American War Veterans held a similar meeting in Denver, Colorado. They adopted as their principles - comradeship, perpetuation of the memory of departed comrades and assistance to their widows. They pledged "loyalty to the United States, fostering of true patriotism and to extend the institutions of American freedom."

Other units were organized in Altoona and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in 1901 and in Philadelphia during 1902. All of these groups agreed from the beginning that their job was to represent the men who had fought in the defense of American democracy. The VFW overseas veteran has stressed patriotism, comradeship and service ever since.

These groups united as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and were granted a charter by the 74th Congress of the United States of America.

The new organization had lots of work ahead of it because at that time there were no government hospitals, no helping hands and no financial assistance. The ailing veterans were ending up in the poor house and dying in squalor with no future for their families. They were truly the forgotten men.

Now the VFW is a proud and independent organization of more than 2 million members. There are nearly 10,000 "Post" located in all states, the District of Columbia and 12 foreign countries. Their programs include Rehabilitation Service, Community Service, Americanism Activities, Youth Activities and the National Home.

The Winters Post was organized November 28, 1951 with the following Charter members: Lona Allen, Gaston Boatright, Floyd Boykin, Earle Bruce, Horace Coleman, Carson Easterly, James Frost, Frank Hechler, Raydeene Hornbuckle, Alvis Jobe, Thomas Land, George Lloyd, Roy Maddox, Ellis Moore, Leroy Mosley, George Pace, Johnnie Pierce, Varnell Pierce, Billy Robinson, Elmo Smith, Nolan Stanfield, Harold Thornton, James Thornton and Ray Wilbanks.

Of these Charter members, Gaston Boatright, Alvis Jobe and Nolan Stanfield are still on the roll to help their fellow veterans. In the past two years, Rankin Pace, Billy Joe Robinson, and George Lloyd were lost through death.

The Post has 120 members and tries to serve their fellow veterans and community through the Voice of Democracy Program, Boy Scouts, providing hospital equipment to the sick, American flags on the streets and in the cemeteries, and also support the VA hospitals and other veteran programs.

If you would be interested in joining the Veterans of Foreign Wars and helping your fellow veteran, please come to the supper and get acquainted. Everyone is always welcome.

Condolence Wishes

The members of the Ovalo Baptist Church and the surrounding area wish to extend their deepest sympathy to the families whose children were lost and others injured in the tragic car-bus accident last week.

Our people are saddened and we are praying that God's presence will comfort them in their sorrow. As the Bible scripture says, "The Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow." Isaiah 14:3.

Card of Thanks

The Total Teens wish to express their sincere thanks to everyone who donated to their Red Light Barricade for the North Runnels Hospital and the EMT unit. Many thanks again.

Letter to the Editor

What have you been doing these cold rainy days and nights?

Reading a good book would certainly be a nice choice and you don't even have to buy one. Just go by the friendly Winters Public Library and check one out. If you don't know what you want just talk to the librarian, Margaret Mathis, and she will find one that is just right for you. Want to make some Christmas gifts or some other kind of handwork, need a book on decorating, woodwork, the books are there for the asking.

Don't forget to pick up a couple of books for your children or grandchildren. With all the emphasis on good education in the schools, it is still a proven fact that it all starts in the home in the early, early years by being read too. Are you doing your part?

While you are in the library notice the new mini-blinds given by the Junior Culture Club. They have really helped the looks of the library and have reduced the heat of the afternoon sun through the summer. A Big Thanks to the Junior Culture Club for this gift and all the other things they do for the library.

Winters is very fortunate to have such a nice library and the opportunities it offers. Remember it is a public library, that means your library. Many people in the past have worked to acquire it and many are working now to keep it. It is up to everyone to use it, encourage others to use it, support it and keep improving it.

Methodist Women met November 5

The Winters United Methodist Women met in the church parlor on Tuesday morning, with Billie Middlebrook presiding.

During the business meeting reports were made out for the president to send to the district. Part of the officers were elected and names for the circles were drawn. Love members were suggested to add to each circle.

Margurite Mathis was in charge of the program, "In Step With The Parade." The purpose of the program and the World Thank Offering is to help United Methodist Women recognize and be active parts of a continuing commitment to missions in today's world; also it is to encourage United Methodist Women to thank God for the mission of the Church expressed through the witness of women who are involved in its task. From Acts 4:33 and 34 we find "With great power the apostles gave witness to resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and God poured rich blessings on them all. There was no one in the group who was in need."

Jonah Vinson spoke on Korean women; Ozzie Stanley spoke on Brazil women; and Billie Middlebrook spoke on women from Zaire.

Silent prayer was made by all present. The group read the song "This Is My Song".

ed poor diet can affect them psychologically and reduce their ability to fight disease, advises Hunt.

Are your parents eating right now?

Since our parents teach us to eat our vegetables when we're children, it's difficult to imagine that they may not be eating right in their later years. Yet research shows that older people in all economic groups in this country often don't get enough calories, protein, vitamin C and calcium, says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "The need for nutrients does not change with age, but a decreased sense of taste and a less activity can result in a loss of appetite and lead to a less than adequate nutritional intake," she says. Adult children should be concerned about older parents' eating habits because a prolonged

NEWS OF NUTRITION

A variety of delicious, nutritious snacks can be easy to make at home.

When it comes to after-school snacks, there can be much beyond milk and cookies. Children want snacks to be quick and good. Parents want the snacks to be easy to prepare as well as nutritious: low in fat, salt and sugar.

Lucy DeVine, nutrition consultant for IGA food stores, suggests these palate-pleasing, healthful snacks as delicious after school surprises:

- Popcorn (dry-popped), dusted with chili powder, onion powder, or Parmesan cheese. A brief dusting of non-stick aerosol spray keeps it in place on the popcorn.
- Apples baked in low-cal soft drinks. Try baking in ginger-ale.
- Fruit, whole or in chunks threaded on toothpicks or wooden skewers. Select grapes, melon and pineapple.
- Taco Chips, homemade, using tortillas from the supermarket. Cut in quarters and bake on a lightly greased sheet until crisp.
- Spicy Bean Dip—for those taco chips or carrot sticks. You can blend canned kidney or pinto beans from IGA with chili, onion and garlic powder, and add a few drops of bottled hot sauce and a dash of vinegar.
- Banana Magic—Peel ripe (or over ripe) bananas, wrap tightly in foil or plastic wrap, and freeze overnight until rock-hard. Then carefully break or cut into one-inch chunks and process in the food processor for a minute or so. Those brown bits will turn into silky almond-colored "ice cream."

"Mirri-Pizzas" can be easy to make at home with a pit loaf split horizontally and toasted on one side. Spread the other side with a dollop of spaghetti sauce, (buy it or make your own). Sprinkle with low-fat mozzarella cheese and broil until bubbly.

Parfaits begin with angel food cake or lady fingers (both low in fat and high in protein-rich egg whites). Alternate chunks with fruit—frozen, fresh or canned. Next, top with plain yogurt flavored with vanilla and a sugar substitute.

In 1893, New Zealand became the first nation in which women had the right to vote.

CAPITOL UPDATE
by Jim Parker

The adage "believe nothing you hear and only half of what you see" certainly has application in regard to judging the results of activities of the State Legislature.

Two things that have recently occurred bring this adage into stark prospective.

The first such instance, that many of you have contacted me about, is the termination of some positions in the Agricultural Extension Service that furnishes all counties with a county agent, home demonstration agent and support staff. The Extension Service administration appears to be justifying staff reductions by blaming the Legislature in its last session for severe cutting of the Extension Service's budget. That is not true.

The fact of the matter is the Extension Service received exactly the same appropriation out of the 69th Legislature as it received in the 68th Session. The difference is that the administration of the Extension Service has apparently made the determination to divert funds from field staffing to some other area. I do not know what other area the funds are intended for but I intend to make every effort to find out.

In another instance, many, many of my constituents have written concerning the demise of small schools. The culprit for the demise of small schools is thought to be the Legislature and its passage of H.B. 72. That is not true.

With very few exceptions, H.B. 72 injected more state aid funds into small school districts than they had ever realized before. As a matter of fact, H.B. 72 contains a funding formula that actually gives additional state money to schools under 1600 ADA. The smaller the school, the more additional funds. Whoever has told you H.B. 72 is killing small schools just simply told you wrong.

The prospect for small schools is, admittedly, bleak at best but that is because of curriculum requirements passed in 1981, and only now coming into full implementation, and because it

Firearm Safety- 10 commandments

- Accidents with firearms don't just happen. They are caused by ignorance, carelessness or disregard for safety rules.
- With hunting season at hand, now is a good time to review firearm safety rules, says Allen Turner, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.
- He lists these "Ten Commandments of Firearm Safety:"
- 1] Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
  - 2] Watch that muzzle! Be able to control the direction of the muzzle even if you should stumble.
  - 3] Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying.
  - 4] Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know identifying features of the game you hunt.
  - 5] Unload guns when not in use. Take down or have actions open; guns should be carried in cases to the shooting area.
  - 6] Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay with a firearm.
  - 7] Never climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
  - 8] Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water; at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.
  - 9] Store guns and ammunition separately beyond the reach of children and careless adults.
  - 10] Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

Cotton Council Meeting scheduled

The National Cotton Council will hold its 48th annual meeting at Lake Buena Vista, Florida, January 26-28. More than 1,500 cotton industry leaders from 18 states are expected to attend.

Grazing efficiency

Livestock producers' in Texas are using planned systems on about 15 million acres.

Carl Smith, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Ballinger, said that the efficiency of forage production is dependent on the health of the plants on rangeland.

"Plants capture solar energy in their leaves and use this energy to manufacture their own food," Smith said. If these leaves are continuously grazed short, the plant will use all its stored food reserves, reduce forage production, and die."

Livestock are highly selective in what plant species they graze. They graze the best first and the worst last. They also like to come back to the same plant and graze it again because of the tender regrowth.

Carl said this is why the better plants have been killed off our rangeland, reducing forage production on much of it by up to 75 percent.

The loss of these better plants that the livestock prefer can be stopped and the process reversed if the rancher desires to maximize grazing efficiency.

To maximize grazing efficiency, the better plants must be made as healthy as possible. To accomplish this, they need a chance to grow without continually being grazed. Animal numbers need to be balanced to forage produced.

A planned grazing system, tailored to meet the needs of the plants, the livestock, and the rancher is the best way to maximize grazing efficiency, Smith stressed.

"You can't tell a cow what to eat, but you can limit the length of time and when she eats, using a tailor-made planned grazing system."

Planned grazing systems can be applied using a rotation between as few as two pastures.

If you are interested in maximizing grazing efficiency and improving your grassland, contact your local Soil Conservation Service personnel. They give technical assistance to landowners and operators through soil and water conservation districts and can help you design a system to meet your needs.

Spring is the best time to start a planned grazing system, so now is the time to start planning.

Cottonseed for feed is good for cattle

With the winter season approaching, cattlemen looking for a bargain in livestock feed should consider whole cottonseed, says a livestock specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Cottonseed is high in energy and is readily available at a low price due to a large cotton crop this year. It is currently selling for about $3 per hundredweight, representing almost a $2 savings over a like amount of meal-sorghum mix. Cottonseed can be fed alone or combined with other ingredients and may be used to make up as much as 20 percent of the total daily ration of beef and dairy animals.

Southern forest are high in value

While the value of national forests is difficult to determine, such forests in the 13 southern states are worth at least $15 billion, says a forester with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. These forests cover some 12 million acres, and their value is based on such resources as clean water, wildlife and fish, timber, recreation, livestock grazing and living trees. Harvested timber alone is valued at almost $8 billion while living trees are worth some $2.5 billion.

Late-calving cows can lose money

Cattlemen should have little respect for late-calving cows because they are income robbers and should be culled, says a beef cattle specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Late-calving cows wean lighter calves and have lower rebreeding rates than early-calving cows, and that means money down the drain. In a recent study by the Extension Service in Calhoun County involving 200 crossbred Painting is complete as a distraction. I know of nothing which, without exhausting the body, more entirely absorbs the mind. Whatever the worries of the hour or the threats of the future, once the picture has begun to flow along there is no room for them on the mental screen.

"Where the deer and the antelope play" is in poor condition

The playground for the "deer and the antelope" is in poor condition on more than half of the Nation's Federal and privately owned rangeland and this is cause for great concern, said Wilson Sealing, Chief of USDA's Soil Conservation Service.

Wildlife share with livestock the almost one billion acres of rangeland that is an important asset to agriculture, to the economy, and to the quality of our environment.

Although some of the poor condition is caused by shallow soil and low rainfall, much of the rangeland productivity can be improved by good management, Wilson emphasized.

Often in the same general area, poorly managed rangeland provides little forage for livestock and poor feed and cover for wildlife, while well managed rangeland provides adequate forage for livestock and supports healthy populations of wildlife.

Wildlife can mean additional income from hunting fees for ranchers. The kinds and amount of plants determine the kinds and number of animals, livestock and wildlife the area of rangeland can support.

Proper rangeland management practices will improve forage growth and protect the soil and water resources. These practices include deferred grazing, brush management, range seeding, and proper grazing, said District Conservationist Carl Smith.

You can't get a better warranty. And it's free.

There's no extra charge for John Deere's extended 4-wheel-drive tractor warranty. And there's no deductible, either. That means you get rock-solid protection—for 3 years or 3000 hours on the engine and power train, and 2 years or 2000 hours on the basic tractor. It's the strongest warranty in the industry. And it's free with every new 8450, 8650 or 8850 John Deere 4-Wheel-Drive Tractor.

Why do we make such a strong commitment when some manufacturers are cutting back their warranties or charging extra for this protection? Because we know—in today's challenging economy—that product support is becoming more important, not less. It's what you expect from a leader. That's...

Driver thankful to be alive and well

This past summer, a 1974 Oldsmobile Delta 88 plowed into a solid dirt embankment at a speed of more than 50 miles per hour. At the moment of impact the driver's unrestrained body continued its forward motion - a collision with the car's interior and possible death seemed inevitable. Just as the driver started to crash with the steering wheel, a piece of equipment which had been installed in the vehicle 11 years ago, unknown to the driver, was activated - an airbag.

From the center of the steering wheel, a bag rapidly inflated and pushed the driver back in his seat. "That bag come out, hit me, big old bag just blowed up, knocked me back in the seat." A second bag on the passenger's side also popped open. The car was a total loss. Previous accidents at the same site had resulted in several severe head injuries to drivers and passengers. This driver received a few scratches and a bruised lip. He is thankful to be alive and well, thanks to a safety device he was not aware of - the airbag.

Drunk drivers beware! In an effort to decrease the number of drinking drivers, a new technique is being used by police and law enforcement officials - the Horizontal Eye Gaze Nystagmus (Ni stag mus). Nystagmus refers to an involuntary action wherein the eyeballs exhibit varying degrees of "jerkiness" after drinking alcohol. This "jerkiness" is enhanced and becomes more pronounced as more alcohol is consumed and occurs at reduced angles in direct proportion to the blood alcohol concentration.

Research by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has led to the development of an effective behavioral test to help police officers assess whether a suspected drunk driver is legally impaired. A properly trained officer can predict whether an individual's blood alcohol concentration level is above or below the legal limit of .10% with a reliability factor of 77%.

Although the Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus is not a solution to the apprehension of the drunk driver, it does have the capability of correctly identifying a drunk at much lower levels than some present methods. The addition of this technique should aid agencies in greatly reducing the number of impaired drivers on the road, and help increase the perceived risk of arrest by the drinking driver.

WHITE lines are used to show the separation of traffic flow in the SAME direction or to mark the RIGHT edge of the pavement.

YELLOW lines are used to represent the separation of traffic flow in OPPOSING directions or to mark the LEFT edge of the pavement on divided highways and on one-way roads.

What causes potholes? First, rain, sleet, or snow works its way into the soil under the pavement. Then, as the temperature drops, the water freezes and expands. This pushes up the soil and the pavement. As thawing occurs, the soil recedes and creates a hole under the pavement. As vehicles pass over and break the pavement, the familiar pothole emerges which in turn can cause serious damage to tires.

If a wheel of your car gets stuck in snow (or mud or sand), don't try to free it by racing your engine. The free spinning wheel on the other end of the axle will turn at twice the speed of your speedometer. As a result, tremendous centrifugal force develops quickly and the tire can explode in a matter of seconds.

"Flags of Texas" just in time.....

Just in time for Texas' forthcoming Sesquicentennial year, when Texans will be looking back on their colorful heritage, the folks at the Travel Division of the State Highway Department have come up with a new folder capturing the very meat of the state's epic heritage.

Titled "The Flags of Texas," the folder pictures in high-quality detail the famous six flags of Texas history, and for good measure includes bits about the state seal, bird, tree, flower, grass, gem, stone and dish. (The official Texas state dish is - what else - chili.)

"Speaking of birds," said Tom Taylor, Director of the Highway Department's Travel and Information Division, "this little folder may well get two or three with the same proverbial toss. It's not only timely for next year's Sesquicentennial, but it'll answer a lot of questions we get from millions of travelers at our Texas Tourist Bureaus."

WTU winter rates go into effect

The price of electricity for residential and commercial customers of West Texas Utilities Company will decrease slightly in November as the company's winter rates go into effect.

Beginning with November billings, base rates will be reduced by 3/4-cent per kilowatt-hour. Residential base rates will drop from 3.97 per kilowatt-hour to 3.22, while commercial base rates will drop from 4.18 to 3.43 cents per kWh.

Result of the base rate decrease and slight adjustment in the fuel cost factor will be an 8.2 percent reduction in costs for residential customers. For example, a customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours will be charged $6.56 less than for the same amount under the summer rates.

The summer-winter rate differential for the two classes of customers was established by the Public Utility Commission of Texas during negotiations in 1984. Seasonal rate differentials have been used by many companies for many years. The main reason is that the cost of providing service is higher during the peak usage season, or summer months when air-conditioners are in use.

Winter rates will be in effect from November 1 through April 1986.

The Flags of Texas

Taylor explained that most of the state's 12 tourist bureaus began flying all six of the historical flags in recent years. Among non-Texans, they generate perpetual questions about what they are and which is which.

"We Texans took it for granted that everyone would recognize the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, and so forth," said Taylor, "but after thousands of questions, it's apparent that folks from Ohio or Illinois have no idea, but they do want to know."

Acknowledging that the folder was produced primarily for out-of-state visitors who come by the millions each year, Taylor added, "This little folder also may become a 'must' for school youngsters studying Texas history. But that's all right, we printed enough to supply our tourist bureaus and lots of mail requests, too."

Individual copies of the new folder are available free by mail from The Flags of Texas, P.O. Box 5064, Austin 78763-5064.

Helping improve eating habits

Depression, physical limitations, medications or dentures may result in poor nutrition for some elderly people says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt. Healthful convenience foods, a community meal service, or just some company at mealtime may help improve eating habits. In addition, a discussion with the doctor about the possible effect of medications on appetite and regular dental check-ups can help, she adds.

Crews

By Hilda Kurtz

Little did our grandparents think the day would ever come when the steering wheel would be the family circle.

Around 40 attended our Thanksgiving supper Saturday night. The Richard Dennys and the Walter Clendenens were the hosts and furnished the Turkey and Dressing. Richard Denny called a brief business meeting, visitors were recognized, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Pape, of Crews, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Archer of California.

Six tenths inch rain seems to have been popular around here. Mrs. Alta Hale was transferred to the Humana Hospital in Abilene from the Coleman Hospital on Monday, last word she was doing better.

Shirley Hallford and her sister, Willie Adams, from Ballinger spent Thursday afternoon with Amber Fuller.

Holly Englert, granddaughter, attended Saturday night Thanksgiving supper with the Noble Faubions.

Rev. Oscar Fanning accepted the Hopewell congregation call Sunday as pastor of their church. They come from Abilene, his wife's name is Jamie.

The Sam Faubions and the Ken Bakers enjoyed supper honoring Jana Brown, who was home over the weekend from Texas Tech, in the home of Fred Tyree, it also was Fred's mothers birthday.

Marion Wood and work hand worked Monday on Mrs. Effie Dietz house. Mr and Mrs. John Couch, Big Spring, came Tuesday evening, she brought Effie homemade candy and Effie gave her a potted ivy.

A come and go birthday party for Mrs. Helen Hamilton, Ballinger, on her 80th birthday was attended by 50 guest in the home of Chauncey and Susan Mansell, given by her daughter, Mrs. Elwood Brown, and granddaughters, Susan Mansell and Lindsay Duggan.

Mike Hill, of Sweetwater, spent Sunday with the Robert Hills.

Dave and Lee Craig were up from Houston to visit their mother, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Pape, over the weekend. Dave is a senior in high school in Houston. Mrs. Bradley (Ruth) Pape attended the UIL meeting for one act plays at McMurry in Abilene, Saturday.

Those enjoying Marion Wood's 39th birthday supper, (so he tells me), Saturday night were Frances Mincey, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Maloy Bryant and boys, Abilene; Bobby and Larry Calcote and boys, Winters; Darla and Jeff Cameron, from Coleman.

Happy 30th Birthday next year Marion!

Mable White, of Tuscola, and Chester McBeth had dinner with Joe and Pinkie Irvin in Winters. Bro. Oscar Fanning and wife Jamie enjoyed Sunday dinner with Jewel and Richard Denny.

Deadline nearing for Maid of Cotton

The deadline is nearing for submitting Maid of Cotton applications.

The National Cotton Council says applications and required photographs must be submitted by midnight, Nov. 9.

Now in its 48th year, the selection is open to young women between the ages of 19 and 23 inclusive who were born in a cotton-producing state or who have maintained legal residence in the Cotton Belt since at least age seven.

Applicants also must be at least five feet five inches tall and never have been married.

The new Maid will promote the cotton industry by touring the United States and the Far East. Her first official appearance following the final selection Dec. 30 in Dallas will be at the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

The new Maid will receive a $10,000 educational award made possible by a grant to The Cotton Foundation from Ciba-Geigy Corporation. The first alternate will receive $4,000; the second alternate, $2,500; and all other finalists, $500; and all other finalists, $500 each.

A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. This involves covering hay bales with black plastic and injecting anhydrous ammonia. Hay ammoniation increases crude protein, digestibility and animal intake, all of which lead to increased animal performance. In feeding studies, steers fed ammoniated hay gained one-half pound more a day than those on the same type of hay but untreated. Treated hay should remain covered for at least three weeks before feeding.

WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT HEAT PUMPS...

COULD COST YOU MONEY!

An Electric Heat Pump & The Energy Saving Plan Will Help You Save Money in These Ways:

- 1 The electric heat pump is the most efficient system for heating and cooling a home, and can offer you years of energy savings. A heat pump can actually produce more than 2 units of heat for every unit of electricity used in a properly insulated home.
  - 2 You can get a $110 per ton cash bonus for installing a central system heat pump in your home through the Energy Saving Plan. Your home must meet all the E.S.P. requirements and be served by WTU to qualify for the bonus program. Also, be sure to ask about WTU's incentive plan for installing a heat pump window unit.
- For more information on the electric heat pump and the Energy Saving Plan, contact your local West Texas Utilities office today.

Remember REDDY Supplies the energy— but only YOU can use it wisely!

plays were done this school year including, "Hicks Fashion Show", which was carried to and presented in Ovalo. Class Student Night for all classes, as well as the Senior play, "Here Comes Charlie." Stunt night was an activity that got the participation of all the high school classes competing for first place. Freshmen had Christine Brown and Imogene Thornton standing behind a table looking as if they were three feet tall and sang, "I'll String Along With You", and "Little Man You've Had A Busy Day". Sophomores impersonated, with much levity member of the faculty. The Junior Class had a three round boxing match between "Slop-bucket Harry" (Harry Dobbs) and "Bloody Bill" (William Roundtree), which was a draw carrying the fight into an extra round in which they turned on the referee, Mr. W. Curry. The Seniors presented Ernie Harville, dressed in western cowboy attire, working his mouth, Raymond Spill baritone, sang from behind the curtains, "O Bury Me Not On The Lone Prairie", and "Home On The Range." Then Wayne Roberts tried to give a forgotten speech and it was so bad a lady in the audience (Doris Gannaway) let out a blood curdling scream in pain and disgust. Two doctors and an assistant carried her on stage to an

The faculty for the 1934-35 year was very small because of the Big Depression, but small did not keep them from being full of ambition for their students, and great ability, and vitality in working with their students. 44 students completed work for graduation and four others graduated at mid term to make this the largest graduating class up to 1935. Senior Class officers for that year were, President, Terrill Davis; Vice President, Jane Oliver; Secretary-Treasurer, Virgil Wright; Reporter, Wayne Roberts.

The "Gale" was an important part of the weekly school life and made a big contribution to school spirit. It was published each Thursday with a staff of students doing the work. Sponsors were; Miss Melba Read and Mrs. Wilburn Curry; Editor In-Chief, Virgil Wright; Associate Editor, Anita Maddox; Art Editor and Cartoonist, Wayne Roberts; Sports Editor, Terrell Davis; Circulation Manager, Frances Lyle; Typist, Harris Cohen; Business Manager, L. F. Wilson.

Mrs. C. S. Jackson worked tirelessly with the Glee Club, and they made a trip to Belton to Mary Hardin Baylor to enter the Texas Interscholastic Music Meet. A Yuletide Program "The Babe of Bethlehem" was presented at the Baptist Church. Springtime found Mrs. Jackson rehearsing her Glee Club for an opera in two acts, "Melinka of Astrakhan" by Charles Ross Chaney, which was presented in March. Officers of the Glee Club were; Virgil Wright, president; Davena Dunnam, vice president; Marguite Duncan, secretary and treasurer; and Anita Maddox, reporter.

The Pep Squad cheering our team on to victory, was an important segment of school life. We made up for it with extra enthusiasm and vitality, the Pep Squad came off Loud! This enthusiastic group had Jane Oliver as president;

Forty members of the Senior Class, accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Roberts, Mrs. Roy Maddox, Coach Bob Fulkerson, and sponsors, Mrs. Edgar Parten, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Damron, made the Senior trip to San Antonio. Reservations were at the new Grande Courts near Breckenridge Park, much sight seeing besides seeing the Battle of the Flowers was enjoyed.

The book "Texas" is being contributed to the Winters Library Memorial: Miss Edgar Parten, students, Raymond Spill, Dora Pruser, Nina B. Moseley, Howard Northam, L. F. Wilson, and Jack Harris.

Aging brings out changes in everyone

Aging brings out physical and emotional changes in everyone. Your body changes and certain functions slow down, which you must learn to accept.

That does not mean your health should automatically go downhill, says the Texas Medical Association. In fact, taking care of yourself can greatly improve your chances of a longer and more enjoyable life.

A TMA pamphlet titled "Aging In Good Health" offers suggestions on doing just that.

Checkups: A personal physician who knows your medical history can best determine how often you need a checkup. Jot down questions or problems you may have before visiting your doctor.

Diet: Your diet need not change radically unless special foods or supplements are recommended for certain conditions.

In general, cut down on the amount of fat you eat. For some women, a lack of calcium can bring about a degeneration of bone, called osteoporosis. Your doctor may want you to consume more dairy products. Many people, as they grow older, must watch their weight because their energy needs are less. Cutting back on sweets can help solve the problem.

Exercise: It helps maintain muscle tone, helps keep your weight down, aids digestion, and helps relieve stress. The type of exercise depends on your physical condition, which your doctor can best determine. If you have been inactive for a while, see your doctor before starting an exercise plan.

Sleep: As you grow older, sleep patterns may change significantly. Falling asleep and achieving a deep sleep may not come as easily as before. You may just need less sleep at night. If falling asleep becomes difficult, physical activity during the day may help by making you tired by bedtime. Avoid sleeping aids unless your doctor recommends them.

Finally, a positive attitude about yourself can help immensely in adjusting to the natural process of growing older.

(Copies of the TMA pamphlet and seven others in its HealthWise Series are available by writing to the Texas Medical Association, Communication Department, 1801 N. Lamar Blvd., Austin, Texas 78701).

News about Social Security benefits

The full Social Security benefit retirement age is currently 65, but a person can retire as early as age 62, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

For those who do retire before 65, however, the amount of this retirement check is permanently reduced. In addition, payment amounts are reduced if a wife, husband, widow, or widower starts getting payments before age 65. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months the person receives checks before age 65.

Beginning in the year 2,000, the age at which full benefits will be payable will gradually increase until it reaches 67. This means that people born in 1938 and later will be affected.

"Reduced benefits will still be payable at 62," Upp said, "but the reduction will be larger than it is at present.

"More information about reduced benefits can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608."

We don't need any more well-rounded people. We have too many now. A well-rounded person is like a ball: he rolls in the first direction he is pushed. We need more square people who won't roll when they are pushed.

Breezes blast the Bluecats for 10th straight win

Editor's note: This article was submitted by Coach Tom Selby.

The Winters 8th Grade Breezes continued their undefeated season with a 53-0 victory over the Coleman Bluecats. The win raises their record to 6-0 for the year. The Breezes have amassed 149 points while allowing their opponents 0. The two-year record is raised to 13-0-1 and their unscored upon string now stretches to the last 10 games.

Our defensive unit is very proud of their unscored upon record and they work very hard in an effort to maintain it. They bend at times but never seem to break and they always rise to the occasion when needed.

In the Coleman game, I can't remember our defense allowing a first down. (After viewing the game film, I may find this to be incorrect.) The defense was so dominate that Coleman even punted on the third down twice.

The 53 point scoring outbreak was our largest in two years. (Even though the game was called in the third quarter.) On our first offensive play, Ruben Hernandez went around left end on a reverse and ran for a 65-yard touchdown and the kick by Richard Lett was blocked. The second touchdown was set up by a fine run by John Salazar and capped off by a two-yard pass from Brady Cowan to Dan Killough; the kick by Lett was good to bring the score to 13-0. Don Patton scored the next touchdown on a fine 60-yard run behind excellent blocking and the pass from Cowan to Hernandez was good but it was called back by an off-side penalty, then the next pass was incomplete.

James Salazar set up the next touchdown with a fine 25-yard scamper and the final three yards were carried in by Elizar Rangel and the two-point pass from Cowan to Patton was good for a 27-0 lead. Ruben Hernandez then intercepted a Coleman pass and ran it back 15 yards for the touchdown; the run by Timothy Torres was no good.

Cowan then had a 30-yard punt return for a touchdown but it was called back for a clipping penalty. Don Patton then raced for a 25-yard touchdown and Cowan's run for two-points was good bringing the score to 41-0. Michael Thornhill carried twice for 35 yards and scored but the run by Torres was no good. The final score was a good 45-yard run by John Salazar and the run by Craig Slaughter was no good so the game ended at the end of the third quarter with a final score of 53-0.

There were many excellent performances offensively, but the Offensive Player of the Week award goes to John Salazar. John rushed for 115 yards, scored one touchdown, set up another touchdown on a fine 25-yard run, and made a key block which allowed another player to score. Don Patton also had a good night as he rushed for 105 yards and scored two touchdowns and an extra point.

Defensively, all the kids had an outstanding night. Chris Perez had five solo tackles; Dan Killough knocked down two passes; John Salazar had four solo tackles; Michael Thornhill had two beautiful tackles; but the Defensive Player of the Week goes to Gibo Lujano who had six solo tackles, caused two fumbles and completely played havoc on Coleman's offense all night.

The 7th and 8th grade teams have been combined as a result of other schools not being able to field a 7th grade team. These 7th graders did an excellent job against larger players. This week brings up our final game and it will be played in Albany at 6 p.m. We will be trying to wrap up another District title and again go undefeated for the season.

It's not far to Albany and we would appreciate all the fans turning out to cheer us on to victory.

happened that a little green snake had hidden itself in one of those plants, and it got carried inside.

When the house—and the snake warmed up, it came slithering out of one of the plants and went under the sofa. The fellow's wife saw it and let out a great scream.

He happened to be taking a bath at the time, but he leaped out of the tub, and ran naked to see what his wife was screaming about.

His wife told him a snake was under the sofa. So, he got down on the floor to look for it, and here came his dog and cold-nosed him.

He thought it was the snake and fainted, dead away.

His wife thought he'd had a heart attack and called an ambulance. The attendants rushed in and loaded him on the stretcher and started carrying him out.

About that time the snake came slithering from under the sofa, and the ambulance men saw it and dropped the stretcher and broke the fellow's leg, and that's why he was in the hospital.

Well, with her husband in the hospital with a broken leg, and a snake under her couch, the wife went next door to enlist the aid of a neighbor who had the reputation of an out-doorsman, having camped out with the Cub Scouts last summer.

His wife was at the grocery store and he volunteered to corral the snake.

Armed with a rolled-up newspaper, he took a few swishes under the couch and declared that the snake had
