Wait a minute... By Kerry Craig

In case you have missed it, we now have two signal lights—the one that has been here since shortly after Wilbur helped build Moro Mountain and a brand spanking shiny new signal light at the intersection of F.M. 53 and U.S. 83.

Now things will be a bit more confusing to strangers somewhere in Dallas when we try to explain to them just where Winters is.

To get to our town from Dallas, one must take I-20 west to Abilene. Turn left on U.S. 83 and Winters is the first stop light. I guess that, now, we must tell these folks that if they get to the second stop light they have almost gone too far.

The light will also be confusing to the local natives for a while. After all, the only signal light on F.M. 53 between Coleman and Sweetwater stayed downtown when the highway drifted a half-mile south.

It will take some getting used to. There may even be some crunched finders and flared tempers before we get comfortable with the new signal light.

Don't misunderstand. I am not being critical of the new light. It is something that has been needed for many years.

The light will serve several purposes. It will make that highway intersection safer, it will slow traffic down on the major highway through our town.

All in all, those who live in this community and who must get on the street will be a bit safer with the new traffic light and traffic moving, hopefully, at a slower pace.

The Highway Department and our city council are to be commended for getting this job done.

Talking about highways, have you heard about that state out west that decided it had had enough of the speed limit blackmail.

That state re-instated the old 70 mph speed limit. The first thing that happened was a threat from Washington D.C. to cut off federal highway funds if the speed limit were not reduced.

That state decided to bite the bullet and keep the higher speed limit.

Those folks that want to give us money to build super, high-speed highways to drive slow on, just don't understand.

They have never, probably had the opportunity to spend a quiet day or so on an afternoon drive to El Paso from here.

No doubt they think that distances are the same here as they are back east. They don't realize that Washington D.C. or even some states could be completely lost between here and El Paso.

The lower speed limit started out as a means to conserve energy. As soon as the price of gasoline topped $1 a gallon, we were told that there was an "oil glut".

We were then told that the lower speed limit would result in fewer accidents. I still have a question.

For over seven years I have been asking the Highway Patrol's head guys to explain something to me. I still have not received an answer to the question of why do accidents attributed to speeding—under the limit outnumber the ones caused by speeding—over the limit by as much as eight to one or more.

If slower speeds are safer, why the big difference?

The mail, this week, brought a summary of all accidents that occurred in Texas in 1985. That summary reflects the same ratio of accident causes.

In box 16, in the bottom right corner, on the back of the page is the title, "Violations Contributing to Accident"

The first line across is "speeding over limit" and lists a

New officers

N.R. Hospital accepts communications bid

The board of directors of North Runnels County Hospital District gave approval Monday evening to the purchase of a radio system for the hospital.

Two bids were considered by the board and the bid submitted by Western Communications of San Angelo in the amount of $5,399.39 was accepted. The Western bid was the lowest and more closely met the bid specifications.

Motorola was the only other firm to submit a bid for the system. That bid was in the amount of $6,189.25.

It is anticipated that the system can be installed and the system licensed within about six to eight weeks.

When the system is operational, the hospital will be able to have direct contact with doctors, lab technicians, and X-ray technicians.

The new radio system will also enable the hospital to have direct contact with ambulances transporting patients to the hospital.

With the system in operation, hospital personnel can be informed of the nature of illness or injury and have necessary preparations made by the time the patient reaches the hospital. This includes being able to contact technicians in special areas.

The hospital will also have the potential of contacting the doctor on call with the system and be able to initiate treatment ordered by the doctor by radio. This is a move that will also give our hospital the capability to communicate with major medical facilities in Abilene and San Angelo.

Systems such as this have been in use in many area hospitals for several years.

Hospital officials say that the radio system can be purchased from money in the Hospital Equipment Fund, which is made up from donations and memorials.

In other business, the board heard a report from administrator Rita Williams concerning the Life Safety Code Inspection conducted recently by medicare.

Several deficiencies were pointed out by the inspection and the board authorized the necessary steps to correct any problem areas.

The administrator also updated the board on the search for an infra-red infant warmer that is needed for the delivery room. Following the close of the meeting, the board members inspected the new Arterial Blood Gas Machine recently purchased.

Ballinger man drowns while swimming in Elm Creek

Runnels County recorded its first drowning Saturday when Pedro Adon Galvan died in the waters of Elm Creek, just north of Ballinger.

Authorities said that Galvan, 33, had been fishing on the creek when he apparently decided to wade into the creek to swim.

The level of the creek was rising and there was a strong current due to the heavy rains when Galvan disappeared.

The man's body was found by Game Warden Robert Wood, who had led a two-hour search for the man. Galvan was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Wilburn Davis about 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Farmers invited to run for committee

Eligible Farmers in Taylor/Runnels County are invited to become nominees for the Farmers Home Administration county committee. FmHA County Supervisor Don Newhouse announced June 5.

As a result of the 1985 farm bill, two of the three members of FmHA county committees must be elected. The third member is appointed by FmHA. The Runnels County committee assists the FmHA county office in reviewing applications for FmHA farm loans and on other farm credit matters.

Generally, farmers who are residents of the county but not FmHA borrowers are eligible to become nominees for the FmHA county committee.

"Farmers in this county, serving on the committee, can play an important role by assisting in the process of loan applications and reviews," said Newhouse. For this first election only, two members will be elected at the same time. One will serve a one year term of office and the other will serve two years.

In the future, all terms of service will be for three years each on a staggered basis.

Nominating petitions must be returned to the FmHA Taylor county office by June 16, 1986.

Additional information and application forms for those who are interested in becoming nominees for the county committee are available at the FmHA county office, 2203 Fed. Bldg. or by calling (915) 672-1181.

A Journey Through Life

When Lucy Lugo displayed a chart at the museum recently of her mother's family and their migration from Mexico to the United States, I became interested and wanted to know more about them and their experiences up to the present.

An interview with Josie Lugo, Lucy's mother, and her aunt Maxima (Aguilar) Trevino, provided a pleasant afternoon and an understanding of the hardships these people faced as they traveled to a new country.

With Joise as interpreter, Maxima told us how she and her brother, Miguel Aguilar, Josie's father, came here. Someone told them about the United States and they wanted to come.

They crossed the Rio Grande River in a boat and started walking, all they had was a basket with a few dishes, coffee pot, water bucket and a blanket apiece. Maxima and Miguel walked through several towns including Mathis, Alice and San Diego before arriving at Georgetown where they found work.

Brother and sister stayed in Georgetown for ten years where they picked cotton and slept in the wagon at night. They also chopped wood and finally bought a truck which became their home. Maxima said they could get all kinds of vegetables to eat and the cabbage was "so good."

From Georgetown the Aguilars went to Fredericksburg, then to Eden and back to Fredericksburg for cutting the wood and then to Hondo where they lived for many years.

Eden is where the Santillanos lived—"And this is where my father met my mother, Theodora," said Josie. "They corresponded for two years before they were married."

"I wish my mother could be here to talk to us, but she died in 1984, so we get Aunt Maxima who lives nearby and feel like we are still family."

"Mother talked more about the depression days than anything else. Times were so hard and she went everywhere searching for food and clothing, even to trash barrels, to take care of her brood of eight girls and one boy," Josie recalled.

The Aguilars came to Winters

It is time for chicken barbecue

Chicken barbecue is an all-time favorite, and the spring and summer seasons are ideal for polishing up the fine art of barbecuing, says a poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. For great-tasting chicken barbecue, follow these steps: split birds in half and sprinkle generously with salt and black pepper before placing on the pit. Inadequate coals are white-hot before barbecuing, use a basting sauce during cooking that contains no tomato or sugar product because such sauces burn easily, and apply a finishing sauce during the last 20-30 minutes before cooking is complete.

The worst thing about history is that every time it repeats itself the price goes up.

Parkinson's disease causes shaking

Nobody knows what causes the most common forms of Parkinson's disease, sometimes called "palsy." But the Texas Medical Association says modern drug treatment can do much to relieve the symptoms.

The most characteristic symptom of Parkinson's is a type of tremor. There is an involuntary, rhythmic shaking of the hands, the head, or both, often accompanied by a continuous rubbing together of thumb and forefinger. As the disease progresses, other symptoms may include a decreasing ability to move parts of the body, excessive salivation, abdominal cramps, and sometimes in the later stages of the disease, deterioration of memory and through processes.

These symptoms are produced by a gradual deterioration in certain nerve centers inside the brain. The centers are those that control movement, particularly semi-automatic movements such as swinging your arms while walking.

Most people who have Parkinson's disease are elderly or in late middle age. Men are slightly more susceptible than women, and there is some evidence that Parkinson's disease runs in families. Because the disease does not affect nerves that supply the heart or other vital organs, it is not directly life-threatening.

Many people develop mild tremors after age 50, and these are not necessarily symptoms of Parkinson's. Consult your physician, however, if you have other symptoms of the disease or if your tremor worsens.

Encouragement and support from family and friends can be very helpful to people with Parkinson's disease. Practical changes in the house, for example, bathrail supports, special banisters along regular routes, and chairs with high arms will help patients get around more easily and be more comfortable.

No treatment has yet been found to slow the progression of Parkinson's disease, but the relief from symptoms give has kept many people with this disease in reasonable health.

Outdoor workers need precautions

People who work outdoors have one thing in common with sun bathers—a higher risk for developing skin cancer. "Farmers and ranchers, construction workers and others who work outdoors may not expose large areas of their skin to the sun, but the cumulative effect of the sun's rays just to the forearms, head and neck can add up over time," says health education specialist Dr. Mary Ann Heussner. She reminds outdoor workers to wear hats when in the sun. Dark, thick hair offers more protection than light or thin hair, but most it's possible to get a scalp burn regardless of your hair type. Protective clothing is an important precaution, she says, along with putting a sunscreen on any exposed body parts such as the forearms, face and neck. Avoiding the midday sun when possible will also help workers stay away from the sun's strongest and most damaging ultraviolet rays.

Love is blind; friendship tries not to notice.

Home resale predicted to decrease

Figures released by the nation's largest trade association predict that existing home sales in Texas will decrease 1.0% this year from 1985 levels, according to Conrad Bering Jr., president of the Texas Association of REALTORS (TAR). The figures compiled by the National Association of REALTORS (NAR) were its latest outlook on the Texas economy and real estate.

A total of 203,300 home resales are likely this year in Texas, compared with 205,400 last year. In 1987, a 1.1% increase to 3.5 million units is expected.

Single family and multi-family housing starts in Texas are expected to total 136,500 this year, down 0.7% from the 1985 total of 137,500. An 11.5% decrease to 120,800 starts is predicted in 1987.

TAR is the largest trade association in Texas with a membership of over 50,000 members. TAR is dedicated to increased professionalism in the real estate industry. TAR is also a member of NAR.

He said collections in May this year amounted to $438.4 million compared to $458.7 million in the same month last year.

Bullock said the $20.3 million drop was due to declines in retail sales, services, construction and oil and gas.

Last month, he said, taxes attributable to retail sales were up 10.9 percent while May's collections showed a 10.7 percent decline.

Taxes from services were down 12.7 percent in May, reversing at 15.5 percent gain in April.

Taxes from oil and gas were off by about 40 percent and construction was down about 18.5 percent.

He said last month's sales tax collection were the first time this year that the monthly income has fallen below the same month of the previous year.

Bullock said the downturn had been predicted because of falling oil prices.

Improve bass ponds

The largemouth bass and the channel catfish are the two most commonly stocked game fish in farm ponds. The thousands of ponds that have been constructed for livestock water and erosion control provide a great potential for fish production and recreation.

According to Steve Nelle, biologist with the Soil Conservation Service, many ponds in this area are not well suited for bass production. A good bass pond should be at least one acre in size, should have relatively good water quality (not excessively muddy or murky), and should have adequate underwater structure and cover. Many people try to raise bass in ponds that are not well suited for bass production.

If a person has a pond that is an acre or more and has good water quality, then there are several things he can do to develop a healthy bass population. First, and foremost, a good bass pond must have a plentiful supply of forage fish. It takes about 8 pounds of forage fish to grow one pound of bass. So a 5-pound bass will have eaten about 40 pounds of forage. There are many species of fish that provide bass food, but by far the most important are bluegill sunfish. Bluegill are about the only fish that are prolific enough to sustain heavy bass production and still maintain a population.

A pond in need of additional forage can be stocked with 50 adult, mature bluegill per acre in the spring. These fish will spawn several times before fall, and will provide countless thousands of young for bass forage.

Secondly, in order to insure that forage fishes are not eliminated, it is desirable to provide cover in a pond if it is not there naturally. Brush piles, tire reefs or piles of rock or old brick are all good kinds of cover that can easily and inexpensively be added. They will not only provide escape for forage fishes, but they will also serve to attract bass for better fishing.

Lastly, the productivity of many ponds can be significantly improved by fertilization. The basis of pond fertilization is that microscopic plants called phytoplankton are the food base eventually of everything in the pond. By fertilizing the phytoplankton, the food supply is increased for microscopic animals, water bugs, crustaceans, minnows, perch and bass. A properly fertilized pond will have a clearish green color and a visibility of about 18 inches. The millions of microscopic plants will actually cloud the water to reduce light penetration. Fertilization can be a tricky practice to properly carry out. Therefore, Nelle recommends that landowners contact someone experienced in pond fertilization before it is attempted. Ponds fertilized too heavily or too late in the year can cause an oxygen deficiency and fish kill. Also, improper fertilization can create an undesirable weed problem.

Landowners interested in any phase of fishpond management can contact the Soil Conservation Service office for more information and on the ground assistance.

Protect yourself from lightning

Lightning often is a companion of spring thunderstorms in Texas and can be a deadly force. Quick thinking combined with common sense can go a long way in preventing lightning fatalities when thunderstorms are on the prowl, says a safety engineer with the Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service. For protection for lightning, stay away from telephones, large fixtures and appliances while indoors. If outdoors, seek shelter in a building protected from lightning, a large, steel-framed building or an automobile; don't touch metal objects; get off bicycles, horses, tractors, or golf carts; avoid lone trees or taller trees in groves; don't huddle in groups; seek a low spot, such as a ravine or gully; avoid railroad tracks, beaches, piers or any open space; and don't go swimming or boating.

Manage lawns to cut water bills

Proper lawn management can keep summer water bills from skyrocketing, says a turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Water bills can be reduced as much as 40 percent by watering, fertilizing and mowing lawns properly. Water only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress—discoloration, wilting and leaves rolling up in late afternoon. Soak the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches. Do not use nitrogen fertilizer during the summer as this will only make the lawn grow faster and use more water. Finally, mow less often and cut grass at taller heights.

A brighter peanut market ahead

The market for peanuts appears a little brighter than for most other agricultural commodities, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Total food use and the peanut crush should increase slightly while exports remain steady. This year's national average support price for quota peanuts is $607.47 per ton, up $48.47 from a year ago. However, the support price for additional peanuts is only $149.75 per ton, about the same as last year. Additional peanuts for export edible use only have a guaranteed price of no less than $400 per ton or 102 percent of the average price for additional peanuts under contract.

Cholesterol discussed

A lot of information—as well as misinformation—is going around regarding the nutritive value of beef and its fat and cholesterol content. There is much confusion, for instance, about the effects of saturated fat and cholesterol on human health and on which meats contain these products, says a livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The really high cholesterol foods are chicken livers, eggs, beef liver and shrimp. When comparing a large egg with a rib steak, shrimp with ground beef, roast chicken (light meat, skinned) with canned tuna, crab meat with ground beef, and extra lean ground beef with roast chicken (dark meat with skin), the first food listed is higher in cholesterol but the second item has more saturated fats.

POLICY STATEMENT

POLICY STATEMENT

Nebe Communications Advertising, Inc. is the agency of record for Furr's Supermarkets and Super Duper Supermarkets. Our clients have authorized us to make the following policy statement:

Double Coupons!

"As of 8 a.m. today, Furr's Supermarkets and Super Duper Supermarkets will accept double coupons every day, all day long. Now you can save even more at Abilene's two leading supermarkets. Our double coupons will save you more on your grocery bill than any alleged 'warehouse price.'"

"Due to Albertson's recent misleading advertisements that claim it is a warehouse store, we have chosen to make a public statement. In the interest of truth in advertising, we feel it is necessary to rebut Albertson's claims and to set the record straight.

"We take offense at the fact that Albertson's is trying to pass themselves off as a warehouse store. Albertson's is a fine example of a modern supermarket, and their claim to the contrary puts a black mark against the rest of the supermarkets in town.

"A warehouse store is just what it sounds like -- a warehouse for groceries. When you shop at a warehouse store, you push your cart between crates and boxes of merchandise.

Not down the wide, clean aisles of a store like Albertson's. In many warehouse stores you mark your own groceries as well as bag them and carry them to the car. At Albertson's you enjoy fast and efficient checkout and carryout service.

"These glaring differences between a warehouse store and Albertson's are obvious. We feel that Albertson's claim of being a warehouse store is misleading at best and is not in the interest of truthful advertising.

"We prefer to maintain both our standards and our specials. We are supermarkets and we are straightforward in our advertising to that effect. In order to further our reputation as leading supermarkets, we will begin honoring double coupons today.

"We thank you for the opportunity to state our views and to tell you about our new policy. If you have any comments, please address them to: Nebe Communications, P.O. Box 2875, Lubbock, Texas 79408."

Management of horn flies resistant to pyrethroid insecticides

During the past two years, horn flies have developed some resistance to pyrethroid insecticides applied with insecticide impregnated ear tags. Resistance levels developed have depended on the intensity of selection pressure placed on developing fly population. Practical control of horn fly populations is lost when resistance exceeds three-to-five-fold as compared to a susceptible population.

Cattlemen using insecticide ear tags on their herds need to keep a close check on control once the horn fly season starts to determine whether or not the tags are effective, says Allen Turner, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University. If pyrethroid resistance is confirmed, special management strategies need to be implemented.

The Agent also suggests these management strategies also may be used to reduce the development of horn fly resistance to pyrethroids:

- Do not apply insecticide-treated ear tags to animals before economically damaging populations of horn flies develop. Populations which do not exceed an estimated 200-250 flies per animal will not cause economic loss.

- Horn fly resistance to pyrethroid insecticides can be suspected if new tags have not satisfactorily reduced fly number within 10 to 12 days.

- Use insecticides with an alternate type action in normal treatment schedules before pyrethroid resistance becomes evident. Use dust bags, oilers and other self-treatment devices to reduce and delay the pyrethroid resistance problem.

- Spray, "pour-on," "spot-on," or dust treatments with phosphate compounds—coumaphos (Co-Ral), crotoxyphos (Ciodrin), dichlorovos (Vapona), dioxathion (Delnav) or malathion—provide a different mode of killing action and can be used to reduce pyrethroid resistance and to control horn fly populations.

- Do not use whole-body sprays or pyrethroid insecticides to control resistant flies which can not be controlled with ear tags. These sprays will provide significantly higher selection levels of already resistant flies.

- Pyrethroid ear tags can be used successfully where the spinose ear tick and Gulf Coast tick are the target pest.

- Remove insecticide impregnated ear tags from animals as soon as they have lost their effectiveness in killing target pests. Tags emitting a sublethal dose to the animal appear to add to the resistance problem by killing or weakening susceptible flies in the population.

- Pyrethroid tags can be successfully used to manage horn flies where resistance has not developed. In general, western and southern areas of Texas have not experienced a resistance problem. However, tagging entire herds year after year with pyrethroid ear tags can develop serious resistance.

- Some producers are enjoying satisfactory management of horn flies by a system commonly termed, "tagging only the calf." Insecticide tags are applied to calves in the herd once fly populations require control. Fly movement within the herd is sufficient to achieve pesticide control in this manner. Self-treatment devices with phosphate-type insecticides can be easily integrated into the management system if pyrethroid resistance develops or is suspected.

Suggestions for managing the horn fly resistance problem must be considered on a herd-by-herd basis, notes Mr. Turner. Previous herd treatments must be considered as well as possible cases of resistance already confirmed.

New insecticide ear tags are being offered for sale for the first time in 1986 which disperse a pyrethroid-phosphate combination of insecticides to combat the pyrethroid resistance problem, adds the Agent. These tags have demonstrated some limited success in other areas which are also experiencing significant insecticide resistance problems.

Additional information on horn fly control is provided in a new Extension Service publication, B-1306, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry," available at the county Extension office.

Oil and gas drilling applications down in May

A total of 1,204 drilling applications were processed by the Railroad Commission in May, according to RRC Chairman James E. (Jim) Nugent. In April, the total was 1,349.

The May total included 777 applications for permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 47 to deepen existing holes, 167 to plugback existing holes, and 40 for service (non-producing) wells. Operators also filed 173 amended drilling applications.

Applications for new oil and gas holes in May included 98 in the San Antonio area (District 1), 39 in the Refugio area (District 2), 79 in Southeast Texas (District 3), 54 in deep South Texas (District 4), 17 in East Central Texas (District 5), 46 in East Texas (District 6), 157 in West Central Texas (District 7B), 34 in the San Angelo area (District 7C), 76 in the Midland area (District 8), 63 in the Lubbock area (District 8A), 91 in North Texas (District 9) and 23 in the Panhandle (District 10).

In the first five months of 1986, the Commission has received 8,998 drilling applications, a 39 percent from the 14,780 received during the same period of 1985.

Farm labor coverage explained

This is the time of year when San Angelo farmers are hiring summer workers, and they should know the rules concerning Social Security coverage, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

It is important that farm employers keep the proper records and report their employee's earnings for Social Security purposes. Employers should record their employee's name, address, Social Security number, wages paid, and their own employer identification number. This information is needed so that if reports are required, they can be made promptly and accurately.

If the workers' wages are covered, then Social Security taxes must be withheld. Agricultural wages are covered if the employee is paid $150 or more in cash wages during the year.

Also, if an employee is paid on a time basis—by the hour, day, week, or month—all of his or her wages are covered when the employee works on 20 or more days during the year.

Should the employer withhold Social Security taxes from an employee's wages and then finds out that the wages are not covered because neither test is met, the Social Security tax should be refunded to the employee.

Wages covered by Social Security should be reported by the farm employer after the end of the year in which they are paid.

More information about coverage of agricultural labor can be obtained from the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Gov. Mark White ask for lawsuit

Governor Mark White made the following statement in response to an announcement today (May 28) by the White House that President Reagan had selected Deaf Smith County as one of three sites for detailed site characterization for a nuclear waste repository:

"Today's announcement makes it apparent that this administration and the Department of Energy continue to ignore the concerns we have raised about the geotechnical suitability of the Deaf Smith site for licensing, as well as the obvious risks a nuclear waste repository would pose to the Ogallala Aquifer and the agricultural economy of the Texas Panhandle.

"Since August 1983 we have repeatedly asked the Department of Energy to consult with us on this issue and have been consistently denied participation in developing the site ranking process. We have reviewed the methodology used by the Department and question its validity. DOE has insufficient data to differentiate among the sites being considered, much less to make a technically sound decision about the potential safety of any of the sites.

"Today I have asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to file a lawsuit in the US District Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C. challenging DOE's recommendation of the Texas site. We have already filed two suits challenging DOE's site selection standards and method of documentation. Those standards and the Environmental Protection Agency's regulations for a repository seem to have been crafted to preserve the sites favored by DOE.

"The Department has ignored the fact that the Ogallala Aquifer, the largest and most economically important in the nation, supplies water from Texas north to the Dakotas. It has refused to acknowledge that the viability of agriculture in the Texas Panhandle rests on the availability of water from the aquifer. And, it has glossed over the very real threat that salt, excavated to create the repository, would pose to the region.

"The Department itself estimates that excavating the repository would leave 6.3 million tons of salt on the surface, enough to cover one square mile of land with a salt pile 100

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to release excess water

Recent rains have resulted in higher than normal water levels at lakes operated by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Fort Worth District. The excess water, stored in the flood control portion of the lakes, will be released as downstream areas permit.

Rivers and creeks downstream of these lakes will be nearly bank-full for the next 20 to 30 days as waters are released.

The public is warned to use caution when approaching low water crossings and that low areas adjacent to streams may be difficult to enter. Periodic inspection of livestock and equipment confined to those areas is recommended.

Army Corps of Engineers lakes releasing water and rivers and streams affected are:

Wright Patman Lake, Sulphur Creek; Lake O'Pines, Big Cypress Creek; Sam Rayburn & B.A. Steinhagen, Neches River; Benbrook Lake, Clear Fork and West Fork Trinity Rivers; Grapevine Lake, Denton Creek; Lewisville Lake, Elm Fork Trinity River; Lavon Lake, East Fork Trinity River; Bardwell Lake, Chambers Creek; Navarro Mills Lake, Richland Creek; Aquilla Lake, Aquilla Creek; Waco Lake, Bosque and Brazos River; Proctor Lake, Leon River; Belton Lake, Little River; Stillhouse Hollow Lake, Lampasas River; Georgetown, North Fork San Gabriel River; Granger Lake, San Gabriel River; Somerville Lake, Yequa Creek; Canyon Lake, Guadalupe River.

"We have just seen a terrible tragedy in Russia. The Soviet Union experienced a bitter mistake because it didn't make the right technological choice. This administration today made the same terrible mistake, choosing to ignore both scientific evidence and common sense in making a site selection for high level nuclear waste."

Dairy Mating Service

A mating service for dairy bulls and cows—that's HerdMate. Actually, HerdMate is a computer program that can help dairymen maximize profits for their specific dairy herds, according to officials at Texas A&M University. The program allows dairymen to go to one source for information on females and bulls. The ability to rapidly view this information enhances the dairymen's ability to make a mating decision. HerdMate helps dairymen select service sires that will maximize their genetic investment dollars. The program calculates sire summaries based on net present values. These sire summaries developed at Texas A&M yield the most profitable sires.

NOTICE OF RIGHT TO NOMINATE BY PETITION

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is accepting nominations for County Committee elections for Taylor & Runnels Co. This notice is issued to inform eligible voters of the right to nominate candidates by petition. Golden Age and Golden Access Passports

Golden Age Passports and Golden Access Passports, free lifetime entrance permits to federal parks for certain U.S. citizens or permanent residents, are available at U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' offices throughout Texas.

Golden Age Passports, issued to persons age 62 or older, and Golden Access Passports, for blind or disabled persons, reduce or eliminate use fees charged at federal parks.

Both provide a 50 percent discount on fees charged for services provided at Corps camping sites, such as electrical hook-ups, camping, boat launching and parking. A card admits the permit holder and a carload of accompanying people. If entry into the recreational area is not made in a private vehicle, the passport admits the permit holder, his or her spouse, children and parents.

Eligible persons must obtain Golden Age or Golden Access Passports in person. For a Golden Age Passport, proof of age must be shown in the form of a state driver's license including date of birth, a birth certificate or a Medicare card. For a Golden Access Passport, a statement proving applicant has been medically determined to be blind or permanently disabled must be shown.

Passports can be obtained at Hords Creek Lake, a local federal park, or for more information, contact U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Ft. Worth District, Public Affairs Office at (817) 334-2150.

There are two kinds of cleverness, and both are priceless. One consists of thinking of a bright remark in time to say it. The other consists of thinking of it in time not to say it.

Turnrow Tidbits

General Situation

Well! The rains have been great! We're running a little behind now but we're in much better shape for the growing season than we were two weeks ago.

Grain sorghum ranges from in-the-bag to heading. Overall it's doing fine. There is still lots to be planted though and I think most producers will wait to plant it after all their cotton is in.

Very little cotton is planted. Weather (and sanity) permitting, maybe you'll all get started soon. Perhaps it's time to get out your pontoon tractor..

Boll Weevils Everywhere!

Boll weevil trap catches are high this week. It looks like most cotton will be planted so late that the weevils may not pose much threat until late season. However, early planted cotton may be squaring in time for late-emerging weevils to infest it.

Trap catches in average number of weevils per trap for the week of June 2 are as follows:

Location	1984	1985	1986
Glen Braden Test	-	-	122
Burt Book Test	-	-	18

E. Weierhausen	-	-	66

As you can see, weevil catches are higher than we've seen in a while. I'm fully convinced that either weevils can swim or they all wear little inner tubes!

Crowd Control

Those grasshoppers are crowding into our area and this time it's the flying hoppers instead of the jumbos we had last year. Looks like another hopper year is here!

What to do? Spend some time now and find where the heaviest concentrations of hoppers are and apply insecticides now to control hoppers in the hot spots near your cultivated fields.

The advantages of controlling the hoppers now are:

- 1) The hoppers are easier to control when they are small.
- 2) Applications to hot spots now may reduce the necessity of broader applications later and reduce costs.
- 3) Bait applications may have some effectiveness now and won't have later when the hoppers have wings. A 5% Sevin bait is available commercially.

The following products are labeled for use on grasshoppers in ditchbanks and pastures.

★ Diazinon AG 500	3/4-1 pt/a
★ Pennacap-M	1-3 pts/a
★ Malathion 57%	1 1/2-3 pts/a
★ Orthene	1/8-1/6 lbs/a
★ Sevin XLR Plus	1/2 qt/a
★ Sevin 80S	2/3-1 1/4 lbs/a
★ Sevin 50W	1-2 lbs/a
★ Pydrin	2 1/3-5 1/3 oz/a

Orthene may take 3-5 days to work well so be patient.
Sevin XLR Plus is an extra long residual product. To get wash-off resistance against rain, dilutions must not exceed 1 quart waters Sevin XLR Plus to 10 gallons of water.

Be sure to read the label before applying these or any insecticides. Carefully check grazing restrictions prior to pasture or fencerow applications. (And when it's in all capital letters, that means really and truly do it!)

Munch a Bunch

That's what those grasshoppers do! The following chart tells the percentage that various instars (growth stages) of grasshoppers eat:

Percentage of Total Forage Loss Caused by Grasshoppers
3rd instar	22%
4th instar	19%
5th instar	17%
6th instar	14%
Adult	28%

Most of the hoppers we have now are in the 3rd or 4th instar. These are the most damaging stages other than the adults.

Choose beef for Father's Day

What's cookin' for Father's Day? Turkeys have their day at Thanksgiving. Hams generally grace the table at Easter. Why not beef for Father's Day? It's nutritious, fun to cook and dads love it!

"We want to tie beef to Father's Day like turkey has been tied to Thanksgiving," says Lucille Sterling, president of the Texas CowBelles, an organization devoted to the promotion of beef in the state. "If we can establish that connection, we can get people to head for the meat case in June and think of beef when they think of Father's Day."

Governor Mark White strengthened that connection by signing a "Beef for Father's Day" proclamation which states...

"Beef is a basic American food. It is rich in protein, iron, B-vitamins and other essential nutrients making it a food that fits well into today's active lifestyle. The beef industry is a vital part of our State's food chain and contributes millions of dollars to the state economy annually..."

Texas CowBelles from across the state and representatives from the Beef Industry Council were on hand May 15 as Governor Mark White signed the proclamation in the Governor's Reception Room at the State Capitol. A beef rib roast was presented to the Governor during the ceremony.

"Consumers are often surprised at how low in calories and cholesterol beef is," says Anne Anderson, Texas Beef Promotion Coordinator. "The rib roast presented to Governor White, for example, contains a mere 217 calories per three-ounce, roasted, trimmed serving. It contains only 68 milligrams of cholesterol as compared to the same amount of roasted chicken which contains 76 milligrams of cholesterol."

According to the American Heart Association, no more than 300 milligrams of cholesterol should be consumed per day. A three-ounce serving of beef rib roast accounts for less than one-fourth of the American Heart Association's recommended maximum.

To encourage consumers to purchase beef for Father's Day, the Beef Industry Council in Texas is working with food editors around the state on everything from special features to exclusive photography. Photography and interview sessions with grandfathers, fathers and children are being scheduled for food editors to help them with their "Beef for Father's Day" features. The nutritional value of beef, which is often overlooked or misunderstood, is being stressed in this promotion.

As the Beef Industry Council and the Texas CowBelles join efforts to promote beef as a nutritious, tasty component of the diet, beef should be making an appearance at quite a few tables on Father's Day across the state. Why not at yours?

THERE'S NOTHING PUZZLING ABOUT IT.

A MESSAGE FROM THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

We made a better coffee. You'll enjoy the change.

New "Custom Roast"™ Coffee.

Now better coffee flavor costs less. "Custom Roasting" is a new coffee roasting process that gives you more coffee flavor at a lower coffee price.

How?

Two ways. First, custom roasting involves the carefully controlled movement of coffee beans through the roaster under exacting conditions of heat, air velocity and time. This intensifies the natural coffee flavor.

Second, this special process expands coffee beans significantly more than ordinary roasting. The result is more coffee surface area to interact with the water in your coffee maker. And this gives you more flavor from the coffee.

The result is that you need less coffee to get more flavor. Which means you save money.

And to help you save even more, here's a special introductory offer. Just use the coupon below and you'll get 70¢ off your next purchase of new Maryland Club Custom Roast Coffee.

THC to address budget cuts

The Texas Historical Commission, like many other state agencies, is feeling the effects of Gov. White's request to reduce state spending: agency services have been reduced, grant programs have been cut or eliminated, and staff will be reduced through attrition and lay-offs.

These dramatic changes will directly impact the work of county historical commissions, museums, historical organizations, and even city and county governments. In an effort to address and explain these changes, the THC will host a series of regional meetings this summer in 11 cities across the state.

Focusing on the theme "Is There a Future for History in Texas?" the meetings are designed to answer questions pertaining to the budget, offer suggestions, and encourage discussion among preservationists. Local participants will be informed of how they can keep heritage efforts alive in these tough times.

In addition, THC staff will report on the results of an economic study recently completed by the agency's Field and Museum Services Dept., which indicates that cultural institutions and historical sites account for much of this state's economic stability. It has been determined that native and out-of-state travelers enjoy visiting Texas museums and historical sites — this, in turn, brings in needed dollars for state coffers.

The regional meetings, which are open to preservationists, museum personnel, government official, and other interested residents, will be held in El Paso, Denton, Jacksonville, San Angelo, Crosbyton, Panhandle, Wesaleo, Corpus Christi, Clifton, Boerne, and Hempstead. Pre-registration is not required and there is no charge for the workshops. For additional information on times and locations, contact the THC, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, Texas 78711, 512/463-6100.

contained in the Texas Property Tax Code ensure that taxpayers will be informed of proposed tax increases through public notices and can become involved in the tax rate adoption process by participating in public hearings.

Each seminar will concentrate on these truth-in-taxation steps: calculating and publishing the effective tax rate, publicizing a tax rate increase, holding a public hearing for a tax rate increase, and conducting a rollback election when mandated by local voters.

A special segment of each seminar will be devoted to discussing the effect of indigent health care on local taxes. Beginning September 1, 1986, many taxing units will start providing mandated health care services to their resident indigents. Local property taxes will help pay for this care.

SPTB staff will discuss how to meet the Property Tax Code's requirements for calculating and publicizing indigent health care costs, as well as the effect of a rollback election on a taxing unit's ability to meet these expenses.

There is no pre-registration necessary; attendance is free to property tax officials and interested taxpayers.

total of 19,295 accidents with 783 deaths and 9345 injuries.

The second line across is speed under limit with total accidents numbering 116,948 accidents with 565 deaths and 43,917 injuries.

The only other violation that comes close is "failure to yield right of way to vehicle."

There were a total of 32,377 accidents attributed to driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs with 931 deaths and 16,434 injuries.

In that summary there were a total of 448,315 violations that resulted in 3,364 deaths and 150,740 injuries in 1985. Of those totals "speed — under the limit" accounted for about a fourth of the total. The other 20 violations listed made up the remaining three-fourths of the accidents.

Again, I would question the slow speed limit.

Eastern Star officers to be installed

Winters Chapter #80 Order of Eastern Star will have their regular stated meeting Monday night, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Lodge Hall on West Dale Street.

Most Wanted

For someone who is just wanted for unauthorized use of a vehicle, Larry Wayne Alfred is sure attracting a lot of attention from several Texas police departments.

However, that might be the least of his problems.

Corpus Christi police detectives would like to talk to Alfred about the December 8, 1985, murder of Leo Cantu during an armed robbery.

And Beaumont police detectives would like to question Alfred about the March 30 armed robbery at a local convenience store where the clerk was shot in the leg.

This week Alfred has been added to the Texas Most Wanted list. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered by the Governor's Office for information leading to Alfred's arrest.

Alfred is described as a black male, 5-8, 160 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes.

The warrant charging Alfred with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle was the result of a complaint filed by the Blinking Caution Lites company of Corpus Christi. Alfred, an employee of the firm allegedly took a company truck to Portland, Texas, on April 28 and never brought it back.

At the time of the theft, Alfred was being investigated by Corpus Christi detectives for Leo Cantu's murder.

Investigators say Cantu and his wife had driven to a car wash around 10:30 p.m., when they were suddenly confronted by two armed black men. The offenders forced the couple back into their own vehicle and had them drive to a downtown Corpus Christi restaurant where Ms. Cantu was an employee.

The gunman ordered Ms. Cantu to open the restaurant and the safe, then tied her hands and feet and left her in the office.

Cantu was taken as a hostage, his body was found about an hour later near the city landfill. He had been shot several times.

The Beaumont convenience store clerk was much luckier, receiving only a leg wound in the March 30 robbery at the Market Place #3 store. Investigators say an armed robber entered the store and ordered the clerk to get on the floor. When the clerk refused, the offender aimed a .45-caliber automatic at the employee's chest and squeezed the trigger.

Fortunately, the weapon misfired. When the gunman fired a second shot, it hit the clerk in the leg.

The offender fled the store, taking with him $15 in cash.

Anyone who might have information on Larry Wayne Alfred's current whereabouts is asked to County tax deadline July 1

Runnels County Tax Assessor Collector VaRue McWilliams has issued a reminder to Runnels County residents that July 1, is the deadline for payment of 1985 taxes without penalty.

Property owners who do not pay their taxes by July 1, will be required to pay an additional 15 percent penalty which is required by state law.

Mrs. McWilliams says that the total effective penalty and interest for delinquent taxes paid in July will total 35.7 percent, including the 15 percent penalty.

This reminder is to provide some incentive for property owners to avoid the penalties and interest that accompany late payment of taxes.

Whether it's a dryer or a range, gas does it better. Better because with a gas dryer, you can dry three times as much laundry as an electric, for the same price. And better because a gas range gives you instant heat control.
