WINTERS, TEXAS 79567, THURSDAY NOVEMBER 27, 1986

Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig Normally I spend Tuesday nights writing news stories, making up stories, and writing this column. This week, however, this is all being done on Monday evening.

This is one of those weeks when an editor is faced with the problem of what news will be printed and what will not. The problem is what news is there, much less whether we print it or

My predecessor was often accused, at times like these, of just using the news that was left over from the week before.

With a short week to start with, there just wasn't time for news to happen. Too many folks either behaving were themselves, or gone hunting something, or other.

We find ourselves, this week, faced with barely more than two options. One option would be a giant-size headline that reads, "News Shortage Grips Area!", the other option would be to just make something up.

A bunch of folks have asked why we didn't have a story about that civil suit against the mayor. There is an answer for that - actually two answers.

The first answer is that a suit of that nature should be tried in a courtroom with a judge, jury, and attorneys, not on the front page of the news paper.

The other answer, it would seem to be a waste of space to spend time writing a story about something that folks have been talking about for weeks.

We all know what the allegations in the suit are. When the finding of the court is found, then there will be a story. Maybe, by doing it that way, I can get ahead of everybody else and tell you something that you didn't know already.

I am getting ready to put an end to the steak story - forever, I hope.

As a result of the Great American Smoke Out last week Gary Turner presented me with the required list of confirmed quitters, people who have quit smoking.

In return for that list, I am the one who now has to dig deep and furnish the steak dinner, with all the trimmings.

The whole episode of the steak has been fun, especially for me and, hopefully, for Gary Turner. Regardless of who gets the steak and who buys, there are some folks that are really the winners, those that have quit smoking.

Gary called them stars and I agree. It takes a lot of self control, will power, and guts to kick a habit like that. The folks that make it should be recognized.

In the list that Gary brought were these folks that have quit smoking in the past year: C. R. Pinkerton, Dawson McGuffin, Lillian Hendrix, Pat Wood, Tobin Burns, Buddy Price, Hanna Price (how is the new computer), Joannie McAdoo, Garland Crouch, Shirley Crouch, and Nell Patton.

There are also that should be recognized for their kicking the habit more than one year ago. They are: Jim Black, Father John Hoorman, Nancy Bradshaw, Jiggs Nichols, Gary Turner, and me.

Now Gary is going to get his steak. While the meat is cooking we should also say thanks to the folks who have called, written, and visited with us about the original bet. We have had response from both the east and west coast and many points in

We also were honored by the American Cancer Society for the whole deal.

On one thing you can bet, though, we will keep something going and remind you every once in a while how important it is to not smoke.

Our office will be closed Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday for the holiday.

From our house to yours, Happy Thanksgiving.

Respiratory Therapist Karen Carter administered the lung capacity tests to a number of people during the day. The test was to give people an accurate picture of what effect smoking has on their lungs. McGuffin kicked the habit earlier this year.

Ted Meyer resigns from Winters City Council

In the regular meeting last week, the Winters City Council accepted the resignation of Alderman Ted Meyer.

Meyer told the council in early October that he would be leaving the council after the November 17, meeting. He cited business interests as one of the main reasons for stepping down from the council seat he has held for some seven years. During Meyer's tenure on the council, a number of major steps were taken by the City of Winters. Among those steps was the creation of the office of city administrator, the start of construction and subsequent completion of Winters-Elm Creek Reservoir, the construction of a new waste-water treatment facility, and the start of construction on the much needed fresh water treatment plant.

The council accepted Meyer's resignation, with regret.

Meyer will be missed on the Winters City Council. He has been an outspoken member of the council and seldom misunderstood.

The council heard the regular report from General Telephone's Fred Wright. Wright said that his was a courtesy visit to answer any questions the council might have and to receive any complaints.

Wright told the council that the phone company was seeking permission from the Public Utility Commission to set tariffs for emergency number service, 911.

He said that the 911 concept was being studied by the state and could, by next year, be required. The phone utility, Wright said, would not charge the rates for 911 in any area

Mrs. Lanning would like to thank the volunteers who assist each month in the sacking and distribution process. Mrs. Alice Hale, Co-ordinator of VISTA volunteers, is available at 754-4443 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday if you would like to talk with her about volunteering for Winters Multipurpose Center.

Holiday plans are in full swing

The Holiday Season is here and the whole town is banding together to make this a big time in Winters.

Friday night, December 5, will be a time for late night shopping and 'Green Light Specials' in downtown Winters. Stores will be open until 9 p.m. to give everyone the opportunity to shop for special bargains. Santa will be in town to visit with the children and give away candy to all the good little boys and girls.

Saturday, December 6, will be a busy day full of Christmas fun. Lovely Sno-Queen candidates will begin the day by meeting with the judges for interviews in the pursuit of the 1987 Sno-Queen title. Besides the Sno-Queen title, two contestants will be named as first and second Award and a prize for the most clever and resourcefully decorated contestant car. The Perhaps there are many people who would like to know how leadership, cooperation, and the Future Farmers of American organization began. Being one of those, I read a 50th anniversary 1978 Texas Future official FFA Manual. Farmers magazine presented to marker ceremony.

act that established Vocational Agriculture in the Nation's public schools was passed in 1917. During the first year of operation in Texas, there were approximately 28 schools, and the program has continued to grow. The State Association was Chartered by the National FFA in November 1929 and was the 34th state to be chartered in the tunities for leadership. In 1978

The Texas State Charter which was issued by James Y. McCallum, Secretary of State, was dated February 28, 1929.

> Dr. J. A. Marshall, Director of Agriculture Education, in 1978 wrote the article from which I took much of my information. He said, "I can only see rich opportunities ahead for Vocational Agriculture and the FFA so long as we have strong and dedicated leadership in our State. The future rests in the hand of local program activities, and the imagination and enthusiasm exhibited by students and teachers."

Winters has always had a strong FFA and F-H program, and most of the projects have been developed to a high level of efficiency.

Varsity Boys beat Early in overtime

Winters Varsity Boys played Early in Winters November 18, winning in an exciting game with overtime play, final score was 49-43.

Edmund Tamez scored 21 points. Other Winters boys scoring were: Martin Martinez with 17 points, Wayne Poehls, 4; James Self 4; and Chuck Patterson with 3 points. Five out of 27 free throws were made for an average of 18.5%

Coach Farmer says of the game, "We didn't look bad for the first game of the year. We got excellent effort out of everyone and all ten players on the roster played. Edmund did a real fine job of directing our offense and shooting from outside, he was 9 out of 15 from the floor for 60%. Best of all though was his defense. Martin also had a fine game offensively and defensively and was also our leading rebounder with 12. Hopefully with a lot of hard work on our weak points we will get better.

"Our most glaring weakness was at the line where we converted a very poor 5 of 27 for 18.5%. This will improve with time and hopefully and as our conditioning gets better.

"The game was exciting all the way as the lead changed hands several times. Edmund made a clutch free throw to send the game into overtime where he and Martin took care of the scoring while Wayne Poehls, Doug Wheat, Shawn Bean and the rest of the team held Early scoreless in the second overtime to finally sewed up the first win of the year."

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank everyone who helped us while Jim was in the hospital.

The visits, telephone calls, food, babysitters, prayers and cards were greatly appreciated! The cards from Mrs. William's fifth grade class and Mr. McAnulty's fifth grade band were terrific!

We also like to thank Dr. Lee, Dr. Thorpe, the nurses and staff at the hospital and Bro. Juanita Reyes; 2. Gregory Shoemake for all their concern.

A Thanksgiving Letter

One November in the late '50s when I was in Seminary, I read one of those inspirational little articles in Reader's Digest for which it is famous.

The author, William Stidger, was telling of his yearly practice at Thanksgiving time of writing letters of gratitude to people who helped him along life's way. One year he wrote to a former teacher. He later received the following reply from her. "I am an old lady in my 80s. I am ill and cannot leave my room. Your letter came like a ray of bright sun, illuminating my dark day and even darker life. You will be interested to know that after 50 years of teaching, yours was the first letter I ever received from a former student.

That article inspired me to sit down and write some Thanksgiving letters of my own. I wrote to several people who had been very important in my life, but to whom I had never expressed my gratitude in words.

One of these was my father. My father and I had a typical male relationship with each other. We dearly loved and respected each other. But we seldom, if ever, expressed those feelings in words. In fact, as far as I can remember, this letter was the only time in our entire relationship where one of us tried to put his feelings for the other in words.

My father died in October of

As his only child, I was appointed executor of his estate. One responsibility was to inventory the safety deposit box where he kept his valuables.

There among the deeds, certificates of deposit, insurance policies, will and the like-I was surprised to find a letter. The letter of thanks I had written him back in 1957.

That was a moving moment for me. It made me feel extremely good to know that my father appreciated that letter enough to keep it among his valuables.

And it made me feel good to realize that for once in my life I had done something good, and right, and loving-when I wrote that Thanksgiving letter. There is no telling what that letter meant to my father.

I believe very strongly that the prime way God works in my life is through other people. God speaks to me through human lips. Listens to me with human ears. Supports me with human hands. Comforts me in human arms. I experience the love of God through the love of other people.

And I believe the prime way I love God is by loving other people. "As you have done it unto the least of these my brethren, you have done it unto me."

The Bible is filled with exhortations to "Give thanks unto the Lord!" One very appropriate way to do this is to "Give thanks unto other people!"

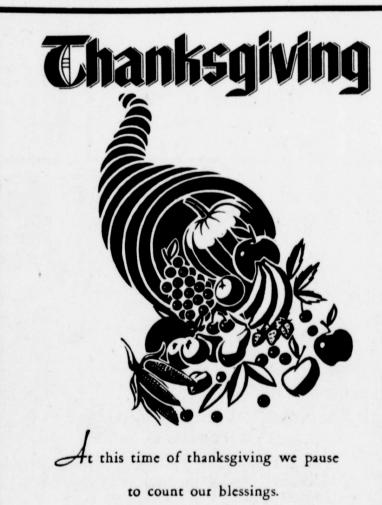

We express our gratitude to God when we show our thanks to the people through whom he has worked in our lives.

May I suggest that this Thanksgiving season is an appropriate time to remember God's people in your life. And to express your gratitude to these people in some way - maybe by

Varsity Boys win big over Santa Anna

Santa Anna traveled to Winters November 22, going home with a loss of 75-34.

Scoring for Winters were: James Self with 17 points; Martin Martinez with 14 points, Ed- Winters JV Girls win mund Tames, 10; Wayne Poehls, 10; Kevin Halfmann, 10; Shawn Bean, 7; Todd Grantham, 3; Chuck Patterson and Andy ball team played Santa Anna in Deberry both with 2 points. Winters, Saturday, November Thirteen free throws out of 35 22, coming away with a big win were made for an average of of 34-13.

"We played a fair first half without much patience on offense and the defense stood around too much. The second half we played much better with much more intensity and really showed what a little effort and hustle can do for us. We have good team quickness and are beginning to utilize it to our betterment rather than our detriment. We received very balanced scoring, 9 players scoring and with 5 in double figures, led by James Self's 17 and Martin Martinez 14. Our rebounding also showed vast improvement over the Early game with 81 total boards (30 offensive and 51 defensive). We were led in rebounding also by James Self with 19 followed by Kevin Halfmann with 15, Martin Martinez 11, Wayne Poehls 10 and Shawn Bean with 9.

"We defintely need to improve on our free throw percentage as were only 13 out of 35 (37%) but this was better than

The Winters JV Girls Basket-

Melissa Smith scored 11 points and was high scoring girl for the game. Other Winters girls scoring were: Sandy Martinez with 8 points; Lisa Faria, 7; Heather Brown, 4; Barbie Bradley and Teresa Lugo with 2 points each. Four out of 17 free throws were made for an average of 23%.

"Our girls did a good job with their full court press and out rebounded Santa Anna 42-9. We need to improve our shooting as we were only 22% on field goals. I think we are capable of shooting better, if we will slow down and not be in such a rush. The girls had 17 ball steals, which is great," quoted Coach Whittenburg.

Memo from the Chamber

by Kay Colburn, Mgr.

Three men have worked extra hours to get our Christmas Shopping promotions underway and they deserve a special thanks from all of us. The 'Cold Cash Giveaway'was the idea of Carl Grenwelge and he spent a lot of his time getting it started. Nelan Bahlman and Charles Ludwick worked hard turning the shopping circular into a reality. It takes citizens with dedication to the betterment of our town to really set projects in motion. Thank you gentlemen.

How about the face lift job at Heidenheimer's-dosen't it look nice? A round of applause for Esther and all the employees there.

Diane Cross and Barbara Phillips have volunteered to make decorations for the parking meter poles for the Holiday Season. That's what it takes to make a community specialvolunteers.

People who care about Winters enough to graciously offer their time and talent to improve the quality of life in our town are truly special. Numerous volunteers go quitely about their chosen tasks in all phases of our everyday life here in Winters without concern for recognition.

They deserve our appreciation and a pat on the back for being unselfish with their time and concerns. Let them know that you appreciate what they are doing. Positive attitudes are so much nicer to live with than negative attitudes.

Let's support all the Christmas events planned for the weeks ahead. Those sponsored by the Chamer are the Sno-Queen Contest and Christmas Parade plus a Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, December 6.

Late night shopping on Friday night, December 5, with Santa on hand to visit with the little ones. The 'Cold Cash Giveaway' running from November 20 to December 20 when $2,750 will be given away to 53 lucky people. The American Cancer Society will be selling hot dogs and cold drinks in town the day of the Christmas

The Chamber says thank you to all the good people of Winters for all the support needed to carry out to work of the Chamber. The campaign to sell $20 shares to support the Winters Livestock Show for 4-H and FFA students in the Winters area is underway. Buy several shares and become a shareholder in the Livestock Show. Our young people need your Proper handling

of leftovers

It's easy to over estimate the amount of food to prepare during a Thanksgiving holiday, so proper handling of leftovers is as important as the preparation of the food itself, according to Dr. C.
