Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

It took just over a half-day for two people to highly commend the folks at our hospital for the efforts to make our hospital pass the re-inspection last Friday.

A few short weeks ago, it took five inspectors two days to tell the world that our hospital would be decertified as far as Medicare was concerned.

Our hospital is in good condition—and has been. It will continue to be.

After calling to our attention to the need for an investigation of Dr. Carrell's division in Austin, and causing much worry and concern for our entire community, the new inspectors came by, said "Hi", looked around a bit and complimented our hospital folks for going beyond what was actually necessary—now wait a minute...

How can anybody know just how much of what needs to be done? Especially when the inconsistencies between inspection teams, and inspectors, are so many.

Not only should our State Legislators investigate that division of the Texas Department of Health, so should the Attorney General's office. On a much larger scale, our Congressmen in Washington D.C. should investigate the Medicare program with regard to treatment of these vital, rural hospitals.

The future of these hospitals is vital to the communities they serve—and to the lives of the people that make up those communities.

Such action by agencies such as the one that tried to close our hospital must not be allowed to continue. For our sake, and the sake of all of our neighbors in this state and country.

Let us not forget what almost happened here. More importantly, let us not let the powers that be forget.

I noticed something on the past election day, something unusual for our community.

Before I say anything else, let me say this, I am not taking either side, I was only observing.

There was an issue on the ballot in the last election that attracted considerable attention, the issue that would allow betting on horse and dog races, or whatever.

Factions in the religious community, for their own reasons, were strongly opposed to the issue.

On the other side of the coin, those in favor of the issue also felt strongly about it.

The part that got my attention was when one of those opposing the issue was standing less than 100 feet from the door of a polling place and campaigning against the issue.

Now whether you are for, or against, any particular thing, you must abide by the law. Even if you think that the passage of a certain amendment in an election is, in your opinion, against the law.

Maybe it is against the principles of an individual to allow betting on a race—or maybe it isn't.

There is no reason to violate an established law to campaign for, or against, something that has been left up to the voters.

Two wrongs do not make a right, no matter how you figure it.

Last Friday was one of those in which Mr. Murphy (the guy that wrote Murphy's Law) took command.

After finally getting to Bangs (no I didn't get lost) for the football game, I found that there was only one roll of film in the camera kit. Okay, fine. I opened the camera and proceeded to load the film, something I do two or three times a week. Guess what? The camera was gone, totally lost.

Well, it is the last game of the season. Perhaps I can use some old pictures and nobody will

NR Hospital passes inspection

By Kerry Craig, Editor

At a cost estimated to be between $20,000 and $30,000 and depletion of the Hospital Equipment Fund, North Runnels Hospital passed the re-certification inspection by officials from the Texas Department of Health Friday. Inspectors from the health Facility Licensure and Certification Division of the Texas Department of Health spent less than a full day in checking to see that the local hospital met the criteria for Medicare certification.

In late September an inspection team composed of five employees of the Texas Department of Health, Public Health Region II spent over two days in the hospital and, at the end of their visit, told administrator Rita Williams that the hospital would be decertified for receipt of Medicare funds.

An unprecedented 90-day extension was granted the hospital to correct a multitude of infractions found by the inspecting

Arts & Crafts Show and Stew Cook-off set for this week

Friday and Saturday, November 13 & 14 are the days for the 1987 Arts & Crafts Show and Stew Cook Off, held each year in the Community Center and sponsored by the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce.

As in the past, the Arts & Crafts Show is shaping up to be an excellent offering of top notch crafts presented by artisans and craftsmen from around the area as well as by local exhibitors.

Many friends and shoppers from surrounding towns are expected in Winters for this Annual Arts & Crafts Show, which began as a downtown attraction and grew to become the large event that it is now. Scarlotte Mikeska of Wingate is General Chairman of this year's show. She is assisted by Stew Cook Off Chairmen Tooter Harrison and Dolly Airhart and by Kitchen Chairman Sandy Griffin.

Local cooks will be demonstrating their culinary skills as they vie for first, second & third place prizes in the Annual Stew Cook Off. Coveted prizes of containers of choice cuts of beef and selected cheeses will be awarded to the three outstanding stew cooks chosen by a trio of out of town judges.

Great judges for this year's Stew Cook Off are Jack Cowan from The San Angelo Standard Times, Kim Hope, "Around the Big Country" editor and Jess Cagle, entertainment editor from the Abilene Reporter News.

These three lucky people will begin tasting the 30 or so pots of stew at 9:00 Friday morning, so come on up to the Community Center and watch as the judges tickle their palates with ingredients known and unknown. Winners will be announced immediately following the contest and the prizes will be awarded to the winning cooks.

Starting at 11:30 both Friday and Saturday, Stew, cornbread, and tea or coffee will be served, all you can eat for $2.50. Also available will be pie, cake, cold drinks, and chili.

A special attraction at the Arts & Crafts Show will be the sale of the old parking meters by the City of Winters. These will be for sale starting at 10:00 a.m.

All clubs and organizations, youth groups, churches, school classes and clubs, businesses etc. are invited to enter this year's Christmas Parade. Prizes will be awarded to winners in designated divisions of the parade.

An entry blank will appear in next week's edition of The Winters Enterprise and will also be available at the Chamber office.

Divisions and the amount of the prizes will be announced next week.

Plan now to be a part of the 1987 Christmas Parade and help make this the best parade to be held in downtown Winters in years and years.

Miss Ballinger/Christmas Parade set

The 1987/88 Ballinger Chamber of Commerce Christmas/Miss Ballinger parade is set for November 28th at 4:00 p.m.

Larry Lange is the Parade Chairman and Parade Committee members are Hamp and Wanda Byler, Rebbie Lange, David and Misty Ueckert and Heather Bethany. The theme for the parade will be "A Christmas Wish."

This year a $5.00 entry fee will be charged to all participants (groups or individuals). Every group or individual will be eligible for trophies. The children's division (age preschool through high school) will not pay a fee but will be required to donate a canned holiday food item as their entry fee. The canned goods will go to needy families for a holiday meal.

We encourage all area queens, bands, riding clubs, auto clubs, walking entries, scouts and area clubs to participate to really improve our Christmas Parade.

The Parade entry blank will be in the November 4th and 5th editions of the Winters Enterprise or the Ballinger Ledger or may be obtained by calling the Chamber Office at 365-2333, according to Lange.

Grandparents Remembered

Alex Orr of Tyler is one of many fond memories I have of a multitude of people who meant much to me and still do in my memory," he said.

Orr is related to many people in Winters. His grandmother Nance was a sister to Frank Pumphrey and Mrs. W. P. Lloyd. He inquired about his cousin Ralph Lloyd who was in a recent car wreck.

Orr's paternal grandparents moved to Runnels in 1910 and lived on a farm, later owned by Claude Hightower. They moved to town and his grandmother, Harriette Orr, taught piano. His grandfather, Alex Orr, was a cotton and grain broker. They moved to Dallas in 1912.

Alex Junior returned to Winters in 1924 as a semi-pro pitcher on the local baseball team. He and Jewell were married at the home of her parents on her mother's birthday August 18, 1925.

After Pearl Harbor was bombed, Alex was saddened to see two of his uncles, Worth and Bill, go off to the Army Air Corps and Navy. But not for long because in 1944 he was called into the Army Aviation Cadet program.

After the war he returned to the University of Texas and received his degree in electrical engineering. He worked for Texaco seven years and in 1955 became an agent for Southwestern Life in Tulsa, Oklahoma. His dad had been agent for the company since 1926, the year he was born.

While in Tulsa, Orr was married to Nannette O'Banion in 1952. They have a daughter and two sons.

Orr advanced in the Life Insurance business and moved to management in 1959 as sales supervisor at Houston. In 1964 he was named manager of the River Oaks office in Houston, after three years he moved to Dallas as branch manager. In 1976, he was one of five senior field managers, now retired and living in Tyler.

"We have a number of Runnels County folks here who at counter and pick out three cents worth of caramels and a one cent package of Polly Pop, forerunner of Kool-Aid.

tend the same church we do," writes Orr. "Tom Manns and Eula Mae Sneed Manns, Bernice Gardner, Ray Pumphrey and son, Jay, Steve Turner who is the grandson of Mrs. Cooke and the late Sam Cooke, and Dennis Rogers, assistant postmaster."

In a former letter, Orr say he would like to walk the old trails in Winters. He would go by Sim's filling station and pump the gasoline up in the globe with the hand pump, then fill grandpa Nance's Model T "convertible" he used as a work truck. He would then go to the candy

"The next stop will be the Queen Theatre to see a Buck Jones cowboy movie and Fu Manchu's serial, two or three times. After the show I'll visit the Main Drug and let Raymon or Ralph fix me a cherry phosphate.

"After that I'll go around the corner and get uncle Frank Pumphrey to put some new heels on my boots. Then back around the corner for Joe Baker or Tab Hatler to give me a haircut. So they don't feel slighted, I'll go over to Owen's Drug for an ice cream soda."

Pleasant, care free days that none of us can walk again except in memory.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:
 Please change my address for the Winters Enterprise that I receive each week.

The old address is: Walter Durham, 2400 Arrowhead #122, Abilene, Texas 79606.

The new address is: Walter Durham, 1302 Marshall, Abilene, Texas 79605.

Truly the best paper around. I enjoy reading about what happens in Winters, as I grew up there. It's still home to me. I will retire in about twenty-nine months.

I will move back to Winters when I retire. As I still know a lot of people there.

I am happy to know that the Rock Hotel will become part of the museum.

Also enjoyed reading last year of the people who helped settle Winters.

You also stirred up a lot of memories.

My grandmother, Mary Bains, settled in Winters. She was the widow of a Confederate soldier.

Keep the paper rolling off the press. I enjoy it so much.

I enjoy myself every time I come back to Winters. That's as often as I can. It's a good feeling to walk the streets of Winters, remembering the good times as well as the sad times.

I look forward each week to reading the Winters Enterprise.

Thanks for publishing it and hoping to read it for a long time.

Sincerely,

The test unit is the first of its kind and is the proto-type for a production run of 420 units by General Aviation Industries of Ft. Worth, Texas. Mr. Ken Onken, a Winters native, will be in charge of the test program and the General Aviation Crew. The test will also be witnessed by several U.S. Navy Engineering, Production, and Quality Control personnel. Most of the testing will be on unimproved roads and seldom used paved roads west of Winters and will begin on Tuesday, November 17 and continue through the week.

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

Need help? Toll free # 1-800-TEC-MARY

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I have recently been trying to resolve a problem with an unemployment claim and have made several calls to the state office of the Texas Employment Commission. Needless to say this has been somewhat expensive because the calls are all long distance. Isn't there some way I can get help without it costing me?

J. B. McKinney, Texas
 Dear J. B.: Your timing is superb! Beginning November 3, 1987 my office will have a toll free number-1-800-TEC-MARY. If someone in my office cannot immediately give you the information you need we will route your call to a department that can help you.

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I'm really mad! I just bought an existing business. The state should be delighted because the old owner was about to take bankruptcy.

Now, however, the Texas Employment Commission tells me that I cannot have a new business rate of 2.7%. Instead they want me to assume the ex-owner's rate of 7.3%.

I consider my endeavor to be a new business-new owner, new management, etc.
 Can you help me?

F. A. Dumas, Texas
 Dear F. A.: The provision of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act which applies to your situation is relatively new and many business people are totally unfamiliar with it. This is unfortunate because it can make a BIG financial difference to a company.

Section 7(c)(7)(A) states that if you, as an employer, acquire all of the organization, trade, or business of another employer and you continue operation of that organization trade or business, then you must assume the predecessor business' tax rate.

The factors you mentioned new name, new owner, new management-are minor considerations in determining whether the business is really new or just a continuation of a former business. The Texas Employment Commission must look to see if you acquired all of the former business. If you dispute the local Texas Employment Commission's finding that you acquired all of the organization, trade, or business of your predecessor, then you should request a Rule 13 Tax Coverage Hearing. The Commission will review all of the facts and give you a final decision on your status.

Texas has an experienced rated tax system. This means that an employer's unemployment tax rate depends, in part, upon the number of payable claims filed against its business. This tax rate, which may currently be as high as 8.44%, should be a consideration in purchase negotiations. Buying a business with a high tax rate can have unforeseen and expensive consequences.

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas, if you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at Texas Business Today, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

Conserve dryer heat

Grain drying can use a lot of energy, but there's a scheme that can make the process more efficient.

One way to increase the efficiency of high capacity dryers is to partially dry high moisture grain and then transfer it to a separate bin for tempering and cooling, points out Richard E. Withers, Jr., agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"This technique, sometimes called dryeration, has been used in corn drying for many years," notes Withers. "It's also been used in commercial rice drying by making multiple passes of the rice through a high heat dryer followed by tempering and cooling."

According to the agricultural engineer, the process uses less heat and thereby reduces the amount of energy used.

In the grain drying process, individual grain kernels lose moisture to the surrounding air if its vapor pressure is less than that of the kernel. Kernels will continue to lose moisture until the vapor pressures are equal, explains Withers.

During this tempering stage, moisture moves from inside the kernel to its surface. Then cooling removes the surface moisture and does this more efficiently than if fans had been running continuously. As the surface of the kernel dries, the

Bentsen reports

Senator Lloyd Bentsen said his Space Grant College legislation, given final Congressional approval Tuesday, is needed to help train a new generation of U.S. space scientists.

Bentsen said he is hopeful the President will quickly sign the National Aeronautics and Space Administration authorization bill, which includes his measure, into law. The Bentsen bill authorizes NASA to establish Space Grant College and Fellowship programs "to help secure American leadership in space science."

The Senate approved the NASA authorization bill by voice vote Tuesday evening and sent it to the White House.

"The need for these new programs is obvious. NASA has a graduate research program which provides funds for about 80 new scholars each year. In the 1960s, by contrast NASA supported an average of 500 doctoral students a year, creating a national intellectual resource on which we have drawn ever since," Bentsen said.

"Those scholars who were trained in the 1960s are aging. internal moisture movement continues.

"Any method that will dry grain to a safe storage moisture content fast enough and take advantage of tempering and cooling will use less energy and therefore should be efficient and economical," contends Withers.

To think of you as a "fighting man" Disturbs me — makes me sad. For kinder eyes, I've never seen, Than those "baby-blues" of my Dad.

But, if I go back and try to see, through your eyes The things that you must have seen. I'm proud you did what you could do To keep our country clean.

You saw a flag with stripes and stars Of colors — red, white, and blue And, it's evident to me — that banner was more — Much more than just "cloth" to you.

You saw homes, and factories and schools and dreams, Of a people who longed to stay free. You gave your time — put your life on the line, To insure that that freedom would be.

Your eyes must have seen "unspeakable things" There had to be nightmares and tears. But did your eyes see the "family-to-be," you'd have in future years?

Children and grandchildren, who were lucky enough To be raised in the "Land of the Free" To pursue our dreams and dare to be The best we can be.

For you weren't just defending your country, Or a people who longed to be free. I know, now, that even before I was born, You were defending me.

I'm ashamed that its taken me so long to say "Thank You." But, now, through more mature eyes, I see. That without you, Dad, and many Veterans just like you — Today, I might not be free.

Thanks
Cyndi

Runnels County Pecan Show to be held in Rowena

The 1987 Runnels County Pecan Show will be on Tuesday, November 24th in the First National Bank in Rowena, according to Allen E. Turner, Runnels County Extension Agent, and Anthony Lange, Horticulture Committee Chairman.

Pecans are probably grown by more people in Runnels County than any other crop and a Pecan Show is an excellent way to learn about pecans. Everyone is encouraged to participate in this show - entries will be accepted from pecan growers in Runnels and any adjoining county, providing there is no pecan show in their county. No person can enter more than one county show.

Pecans may be entered at the

Runnels County 4-H Food Show set

While proving that "you are what you eat" may be difficult, 4-H members in the food-nutrition program have certainly gained a better understanding of nutritious foods that can contribute to healthful living, says Patricia Hohensee, County Extension Agent-H.E.

Climaxing their project will be the Runnels County 4-H Food Show on Saturday, November 14th in the National Guard Armory. 4-H'ers will be divided into three age categories and will be competing in four different food classes: Main Dish, Fruits & Vegetables, Breads & Cereals, and Snack and Desserts.

Judging will begin at 1:30 p.m.

County Extension office in the County Courthouse in Ballinger, Alderman-Cave in Winters, or the First National Bank in Rowena. No entry will be accepted later than Monday, November 23rd.

Each single entry should consist of not less than 50 pecans. They should be packed in paper (or plastic) bag with the exhibitors name, address and variety of the pecan, if known.

Divisions will be: In-Shell, Shelling and Native.

Champion and Reserve Champion will be selected from each division. A plaque will be presented to the Champions and Rosettes to the Reserve Champions.

The awards ceremony will be at 3:30 p.m., followed by a Tasting Tea. The public is invited to participate in the Tasting Tea for a $10.00 fee. Recipe booklets will also be available for purchase.

The 4-H Foods & Nutrition Project is one of the most popular project areas for Texas 4-H members, as it gives them the opportunity to gain lifelong learning experiences regarding a nutritious diet. Learning basic food preparation skills, menu planning and nutrition concepts are all part of the project experience.

ference room of the San Angelo Independent School District offices at 1621 University in San Angelo.

Forty-three science and math teaching teams from Texas have been selected to participate in the program over the past two years, including one team from Region 15 in 1987. The GIFT program provides opportunities for school enrichment and professional development to secondary school mathematics and science teachers from both public and accredited non-profit schools.

Charles Watkins of General Telephone Company of the Southwest in San Angelo, coordinator of the Texas program, said the grants reward outstanding teachers by providing them with an opportunity to update their subject knowledge and to translate their learning experience into effective teaching.

GIFT offers a school enrichment grant of $2,500 each to the mathematics and science teachers which must be matched by an additional $2,500 each from the school or community; a personal development grant of up to $2,500 each for study field work or in-service training; and an opportunity for each teacher to participate in an all expense paid seminar with GTE scientists, managers and human resource experts to address real-world needs in mathematics and science education.

Winters Young Farmers met

The Winters Young Farmers met for their November meeting, Monday, November 9th at the Winters High School Vo-Ag building. Allen Turner, Runnels County Extension agent presented the program. He explained to the chapter how new government regulations are affecting agriculture. Pesticide regulations, trucking regulations, and predator control are areas of concern to those who produce food and fiber that sustain the life of the world. Turner stressed how the farming community needs to be aware of regulations both before and after they go into effect.

During the business meeting conducted by President Rodrick Bredemeyer, plans were made for the annual Christmas Party. Details of a High-Plains tour to be held in February were discussed. The chapter also made plans to support Dale Duggan in his bid for state president at the State Convention in Lubbock, January 14-16. Registration fees for all paid members will be paid from chapter funds for those attending the state convention.

Refreshments were served to the sixteen members attending.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

Legislation by Senator Lloyd Bentsen, seeking to bar all waste dumping from ships anywhere in the Gulf of Mexico, was approved by the U.S. Senate.

The Bentsen measure was approved unanimously as an amendment to the resolution ratifying Annex V of the International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships, known as MARPOL. The Senate then voted 93 to 0 to ratify Annex V itself, which prohibits the dumping of plastic articles from ships.

"I believe we can and should take an additional step to bring the extra protections of Annex V to the Gulf of Mexico," Bentsen said.

"The gulf is a semi-enclosed basin with currents and circulation that take as long as 90 years to flush it. It is economically important and ecologically vulnerable. It has the same characteristics as other bodies of water already designated 'special areas' under the terms of the annex.

"In such zones, only food wastes can be dumped into the sea. In other ocean areas, all kinds of floating wastes - except plastics - can be tossed overboard so long as the boat is at least 12 nautical miles from shore."

Bentsen noted the determination of Americans to clean up their oceans and beaches. He pointed out that last spring over 23,000 Americans volunteered for beach cleanup activities, covering more than 1,800 miles of coastline and collecting over 670 tons of debris.

The Senator said Texas were particularly active, fielding over 7,000 people who gathered more than 306 tons of debris.

"I am grateful that the Senate has agreed to go on record expressing its support for designating the Gulf of Mexico as a special area where no solid waste dumping would be allowed," Bentsen said.

"The U.S. Government has already recognized the desirability of making such a designation. The U.S. delegation to the International Maritime Organization has announced our intention to seek approval of the designation at the IMO's meeting later this month. Today's Senate action will give added force to this effort," Senator Bentsen said.

Christmas at Old Fort Concho set

Fort Concho National Historic Landmark will be filled with costumed entertainers, merchants and craftsmen, food vendors, and shoppers during the Sixth annual Christmas at Old Fort Concho: December 4-6.

The festival is a fast-growing Christmas heritage celebration in West Texas and Fort Concho's biggest public event. Officials expect 37,000 visitors this year. The celebration has won the prestigious Texas Historical Commission award for community involvement.

Admission is $2 for adults. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Fort Concho was a U.S. military post from 1867 until 1889. It is considered one of the best preserved western frontier forts in the nation.

During the three-day festival, the fort's 21 historic buildings are decorated to celebrate the diverse ethnic backgrounds of area residents. Flickering candles in 2,000 luminaries and campfires tended by soldiers, cowboys and Indians light the grounds at night.

Inside the historic, cut-limestone buildings, more than 100 merchants and artisans from San Angelo and throughout the Southwest will offer items for sale, some available only at this event.

Buildings decorated in ethnic themes include the English Victorian House, Mexican House, German House, Czech House, and Early Texas House.

Additional festival highlights include religious services in the fort chapel, sampling of ethnic foods, special events, craft demonstrations, marching and drill performances by the Fort Concho Memorial Infantry, Calvary, and Buffalo Soldier Units, visits with Santa Claus, wagon rides, a living Nativity scene, an exhibit of needlepoint tapestries at the San Angelo Museum of Fine Arts, performances by a wide range of singers and dancers, and the presentation of an historical pageant featuring more than 200 costumed actors, singers, and dancers.

Food and beverages will be served at three locations on the 24-acre fort grounds, including the "Arc Light Saloon," which celebrates San Angelo's Wild West beginnings.

Important safety tips from Lone Star Gas

You can take comfort in Natural Gas.

Trusting gas for your home is a natural. After all, Lone Star Gas Company has been faithfully serving its customers for more than 75 years. Through the years, we have worked to earn your trust by providing safe, dependable natural gas.

Do you know why gas has a strong odor? Because we have added a harmless odorant to the gas that lets you know it's there. This is for your safety, so if you ever smell the strong odor of gas in your home, follow these rules:

Since gas lines run underground, you should also take precautions against disrupting these lines, particularly if you plan to:

- 1 Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use your own telephone (telephones use small amounts of electricity). Do not strike a match, and do not do anything that might cause a spark.

- 1 Put in a new fence.

- 2 Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open for ventilation.

- 2 Install an underground sprinkler system.

- 3 Go to the nearest telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the cause before returning to your home.

- 3 Perform any major landscape renovation.

Before you dig, call your local Lone Star Gas office. If you smell a gas odor while you're outside, immediately contact Lone Star Gas.

In our continuing effort to provide better, safer service, local Lone Star Gas offices are ready to answer any questions that contractors may have concerning the location of gas lines in their areas.

The safety record for natural gas is impressive, and peace of mind is an important part of what natural gas has to offer. By following these simple rules, you can take even greater comfort in natural gas.

Ghostly Decision

by Ralph Vara

I was walking along an old, dirt, rocky road. I saw a sign in front of me. It was pointing in two ways. It said Ghostville and Monstertown. Ghostville was pointing to the east. Monstertown was pointing to the west. I decided to take the Monstertown road.

I started to walk along the road. I heard a noise. It was a werewolf. It jumped at me. I started to run. It was still after me. I looked back, it was gone. I turned around and saw Monstertown. I kept walking toward it. I stopped when I got into the middle of town. I heard someone behind a house on my right. I went around to the back. I saw a black cat. I looked toward the wall. I saw a man nailed to the wall I started to run. Each time I turned around, I saw red eyes staring at me.

Next, I saw a head rolling out of the house. It started to talk to me. It told me that I was going to die if I stayed here any longer. Then it rolled away.

I turned around and saw a store. I walked in. An old lady was standing behind the counter. She didn't move. Her hands were cold. I stepped away from her. She started to talk to me. She told me to go away. I asked her if she had a phone. She told me that it was in the back. I started walking to the back. I turned around and she was gone. I kept walking and saw a man hanging from a rope. I started to run outside. Then, the old lady jumped out from nowhere. She had a knife. She swung at me and cut me in the arm. My arm was bleeding. I saw a bat, picked it up and hit her in the head. She fell on the floor. Then she disappeared.

I looked outside. I saw her calling some monster. I locked all the doors and windows. They were coming toward the store. The sun started to come up. All of the monsters hated the light, so they turned and ran. I walked outside and started to walk to the next town.

Ghostly Decision
by Joe Reyes

I was walking along an old dirt rocky road. I came to a dead end and saw funny looking signs pointing in two directions. The sign pointing to the east said Ghostville, the other sign was pointing to the west and it said Monstertown. I decided to go to Monstertown, it was a long walk in the thundering rain.

I was walking down the hill and I saw a car crash. I looked inside the car and there was a dead lady without hands and legs. It looked like someone cut them off. I looked for them to see if they were there. I didn't find them, so I stopped looking. I turned around and I saw the legs and hands moving behind me as if the lady was walking, but there was no body. I started to run like crazy. I looked back, but she wasn't there anymore. I stopped running. I was soaking wet. I walked five miles and nothing happened, then I saw a sign that said, "Welcome to Monstertown."

I started walking when I saw a hotel. I opened the door and walked in. It looked creepy. I heard a noise, it sounded like someone was snoring. I opened another and looked in. I saw someone asleep. I ran to the bed and woke him up. He jumped up and said, "Who are you?"

I said, "Joe" and asked him his name.

He said "Adrian."

I heard someone walking, I told him, "let's get out of here."

I opened the door and there was a man with one eye and he had an ax. Adrian jumped. He swung the ax and I moved. He hit Adrian on the head. Adrian had blood all over. I ran into the bedroom closed the door and locked it. I sat down and WAM! The ax went threw the door. I jumped out of the window and saw Tim. I stood there and stared at Tim.

Suddenly! Someone tapped me on the shoulder. I jumped and turned around quickly. I saw Adrian! I thought he was the monster. I jumped and poked him with the pencil. Adrian screamed! The whole class was laughing.

Rural health care clearly is undergoing an evolutionary process with the end result of that process being an item of significant speculation and concern.

Across my district and in the surrounding rural area rural hospital after rural hospital has closed its door with many more at or near the point of closing. Almost on a daily basis I am asked where this process is going. The truth is, I'm not sure I know.

At least two factors have contributed to the demise of rural hospitals, the first and foremost being Medicare/Medicaid regulations applicable to rural hospitals. A simple operation done in DeLeon, Texas, has a rated amount to be paid by Medicare/Medicaid. That same operation in Dallas has a much higher payment schedule rating and, in San Francisco, still a higher payment rating. For the life of me I cannot see the basis for the difference in the amount Medicare/Medicaid pays, regardless of where the operation is performed.

Many rural hospital simply can't measure up to Medicare/Medicaid requirements and if they could, they couldn't compete with larger hospitals.

The other factor that appears to be of increasing importance in the demise of rural hospitals is that local ad volrem taxpayers

Runnels Baptist to hold meeting

The regular meeting of the Runnels Baptist Association will be held November 16 at the First Baptist Church in Bronte.

The meeting begins with W.M.U. and Executive Board at 5:30 p.m. The evening meal will be served at 6:30 p.m.

The program begins at 7 p.m.

Two possible solutions are: 1) on the federal level, we need to bring some semblance of reason and reasonableness to the Medicare/Medicaid criteria; and 2) on the local level, perhaps, we need to study new alternatives to finance hospitals. It has been said that one must be careful not to "ride a good horse to death." Truly, we may have ridden the ad valorem tax horse to death and that may well be the reason for such strident opposition to recent hospital bond issues in my district and in the area. Perhaps, it's time to look at some innovative financing. Innovative methods are available and are being used but it's very difficult to break out of the decades-old method of thinking that ad valorem taxation is the only means of financing available.

By way of prediction, assuming something fairly significant isn't done, rural health care is going to consist of something roughly equivalent to the "minor emergency clinics" that we see so many of in metropolitan areas. The will, of course, take you in, do a quick diagnosis and ship you somewhere else. Unfortunately, for all too many people I fear that "somewhere else" may be the funeral parlor.

The program is to be on Foreign Missions Emphasis. Barbara Akins, Southern Baptist foreign missionary to Japan, will be the speaker.

The public is invited to attend.

How to assure good service from the Post Office

Customers rarely get the opportunity to add to the quality of service they receive. The Postal Service gives the following tips on how you can help them do a better job and give you the service you deserve.

- To get the best service from your post office, be sure to address your mail correctly and legibly, use apartment numbers, use correct postage, and most importantly, USE ZIP CODES!
1. Mail early in the day for fastest delivery.
  2. Keep all envelopes clean, with no unreadable information.
  3. When you move, complete a change of address card available from the post office or your mail carrier.
  4. When mailing oversized envelopes, be sure to mark them clearly if you are mailing them First-Class. Write "First-Class" on both the front and back of the envelopes so they will not be mistaken for Third-Class.
  5. As an extra precaution, put your name and address on a slip of paper inside your packages, so that they can be returned if the address is illegible.
  6. Use strong, reinforced tape on parcels, since string or twine can get caught in postal machinery.
  7. It is not necessary to use wrapping paper on packages. On a clean box, mark out any confusing addresses and print the mailing address and return address in large clear letters.
  8. If you are mailing a package that contains fragile or perishable items, do not hesitate to mark the parcel appropriately so that clerks know to handle it with extra care.

9. You don't have to use Registered Mail (minimum cost of $3.55) when all you really want is a Certificate of Mailing (45 cents). Use Registered Mail to send irreplaceable items or items you want to insure beyond the $500 limit on regular insurance. Certified Mail will provide you with a record of delivery.
10. You can buy postage stamps and stamped envelopes through the mail by using a "Stamps by Mail Order Form" available at your post office or from your letter carrier.
11. You can buy 14-cent post cards at your post office, thereby paying only for the postage, and not the card.
12. Except for the purchase of money orders and C.O.D.'s the post office will accept personal checks for payment of postal services and products up to the amount of purchase.
13. And by the way, you can apply for a passport at about 950 postal facilities located nationwide. The passport is issued by Passport Services, U.S. Department of State. The passport fee may be paid in cash, check or money order. The Passport Office for this area is Abilene.

Bentsen reports

Senator Lloyd Bentsen, noting that U.S. energy research and development has lagged since oil prices plummeted last year, said he is considering legislation to encourage a cooperative research effort by industry and government.

Bentsen said energy research can pay tremendous dividends, freeing billions of barrels of oil that can't be recovered with existing technology.

"You have approximately 28 billion barrels of proved reserves, but well over 10 times

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, one of the basic aims of Veterans of Foreign Wars as set forth in its Congressional Charter is "to foster true patriotism"; and

WHEREAS, the Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and its Ladies Auxiliary, has proved to be an effective instrument for putting these words in action; and

WHEREAS, the Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program, in this its 41st year, provides an opportunity for high school students to think, write and speak up for our country and for freedom and democracy; and

WHEREAS, this year's theme, "America's Liberty-Our Heritage" focuses the attention of youth on their role as the leaders of tomorrow and how their guidance will preserve democracy as a way of life in our Republic; and

WHEREAS, an active, dedicated and resourceful citizenry is vital to the preservation of freedom as our nation embarks upon its third century.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Randy Springer, Mayor of Winters, Texas do hereby proclaim 15th thru 21st of November as Voice of Democracy Week in Winters, and

IN OBSERVANCE THEREOF, I do hereby commend the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary for their sponsorship of the 41st annual Voice of Democracy Program and I call on 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in our schools to think, write and speak up for Freedom and to address the theme, America's Liberty-Our Heritage."

that—about 320 billion barrels of oil—that could be recovered if we knew how to do it," Bentsen said.

"I'm talking about things like using gases, heat or chemicals to thin out that oil, reaching into every nook and cranny of those reserves to bring that oil up to the surface," he said.

"We have to turn around this situation of overdependence on foreign oil, and we can do it if we improve the research," he said.

Bentsen said his legislation would encourage companies to pool their research.

"Recently, as the price of oil went down, they cut by approximately 40 percent their research for improving the recovery of oil," Bentsen said.

"If we could pool the resources and, in turn, have the government participate—perhaps with some seed money—I think the whole nation would profit by it," Bentsen said.

Bentsen said he realizes that some in government and the energy industry don't like this approach.

"I'm going to be talking with my colleagues in the Senate, talking with some of the people in the industry—seeing if we can bring together a consensus that will help us have a drive for increased research to improve the recovery of oil within our own country," Bentsen said.

"With our dependence on foreign oil rising, we've got to beef up our search for better ways to bring our own oil out of the ground," Senator Bentsen said.

Options for Health

by
Dr. Scott White

DR. SCOTT WHITE is offered as a public service by Scott and White Memorial Hospital and Clinic in Temple. If you have a question please write to DR. SCOTT WHITE in care of your local newspaper.

Q. I've been having stomach pains along with headaches. My doctor says these symptoms are caused by stress. Is it true that job pressures make me feel this way? How can I learn to control stress in my life?

A. Stomach pain, headaches, backaches and other symptoms may be related to stress. If your doctor has thoroughly evaluated your condition medically and finds no other cause for these symptoms, then they might be related to the effects of stress in your life. Many people, however, have a high stress level but do not display these types of symptoms.

Controlling stress may be difficult. However, there are several things you can do to begin this process. One would be to avoid chemicals that might increase anxiety such as caffeine or nicotine. Another good way to control stress is to begin a regular aerobic exercise program. If these methods are ineffective, other methods such as muscle-relaxation skills, psychological counseling or stress-reduction classes may help. Your doctor should be able to recommend where you can find these types of programs.

Q. Today I saw on television that aspirin may help prevent heart attacks. Should I be taking aspirin regularly since I have a history of heart attacks in my family?

A. Aspirin affects one of the clotting mechanisms in blood. It slows small platelet particles in the blood from sticking together, which prevents the formation of small blood clots. Studies have shown that taking just one aspirin a day will effectively reduce the clotting tendency of the blood.

The clotting ability (thickness) of the blood is a factor in the development of heart disease and may play a role in the increased risk of heart disease from high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure and smoking. Simply taking one aspirin a day may reduce the risk of heart attack up to 50 percent. There is no need to take more than one aspirin each day. Since aspirin is a safe and well-tolerated drug for most people, most people with a family history of heart disease or who have had risk factors of heart disease, should take one aspirin a day to help prevent heart disease.

Big Spring VA Medical Center hosted seminar

The Big Spring VA Medical Center hosted a County Service Officers Seminar October 20, 1987. It was attended by twenty-one (21) Service Officers and nine (9) staff members. Mr. Peter J. Pegan, Chief, Medical Administration Service, and coordinator of the program opened the meeting by welcoming the visitors and introducing Mr. Conrad Alexander, Medical Center Director. Mr. Alexander discussed the plans to continue to provide quality health care to all eligible veterans.

Harold H. Burnine, Associate Director, was introduced and added his appreciation of the support received from the Service Officers in assisting the veterans in applying for health care, as well as the many other areas of concern.

Dr. Robert Jones, Chief of Staff, discussed the future plans of a state-of-the-art surgery suite as well as the plans for improvements in the Radiology department. Dr. Carolyn Reed, Coordinator for Women Veterans, discussed the plans for the Women Veterans Recognition Day and Wellness Clinic to be held at the Big Spring VA Medical Center, November 10, 1987, at 10:30 a.m.

Mr. Alfred Stanley, Disabled American Veterans Representative, discussed the plans for the Volunteer Transportation Network to assist veterans who have no other means of transportation to and from the Medical Center for scheduled appointments. Mr. Stanley asked that volunteers contact him at the hospital by calling (915) 263-7361, Ext. 219.

Additional topics covered at the meeting included eligibility regulations pertaining to hospitalization and outpatient treatment, changes in beneficiary travel regulations, reimbursable insurance policy and guidelines for releasing medical information. This was followed by an open discussion for questions and concerns which the Service Officers found to be very informative.

"KEYS TO THE SELL"

Co-op and Color
—one saves money
—one gives clout

Retailers should take advantage of those billions of co-op dollars being offered to help pay for their ads, and for using color in the copy. Co-op saves you money. And color adds clout to your message.

- Use of color increases sales of the advertised product by as much as 64%
- Use of color increases readership of the ad by 50 to 80%.
- Over $3-billion in offered co-op dollars were left on the table unspent in 1986.

Spurs and Cosmos soccer champs

This past Saturday was our last soccer weekend for the Fall. All the teams have completed their competition except for the two championship teams, the Under 12 Cosmos and the Under 10 Spurs. Both teams will be heading for Garland in December for the Tournament of Champions. Each year their tournament is sponsored by the North Texas State Soccer Association. It will feature 8 teams in Division III in both the Under 12 and the Under 8 age category. The Spurs and the Cosmos have 5 weeks to practice and arrange exhibition contests to keep them sharp and ready for the tournament. Both teams are very good so we expect good things from each team.

In the Under 8 age group the Wizards and Stingers played a close game and tied at 3. The Gunners continue to play tough as they swept away the Winters Bumblebees 5-0. Congratulations to the coaches and all the little Gunners. They had a very strong season and will be a really tough team to reckon with in the Spring.

Congratulations to Coach Cindi Wilde and her assistants. The Spurs clinched the championship by barley beating the energetic determined Rovers. The Spurs really haven't had it easy this year and this games was no exception. The Rovers led most of the game, but the Spurs gutted it out with 2 late game goals to squeak by 3-2. The Spurs almost blew it. Congratulations to the Spurs. They got it when they needed it most and avoided a playoff with the Rangers because they easily handled the Mustangs, drubbing them 3-0. The Rangers played well all year and again this Saturday they play a controlled game and dominated the Mustangs on the wings and down through the center. The only failing the Rangers had all year was that disappointing loss to the Spurs in their only head to head very memorable encounter; in a game that ended in a 15 shoot out. Congratulations to Coach Emil Gonzales and his assistants as the Cosmos won the Under 12 championship and continued their undefeated season, edging the Lazars 2-1. It was a tough game as they hoped to finally trip the Lazars. In the second game, the Winters Wolverines brought their season to an end on an upbeat note as the secured second place and out lasted the Apollos in a shoot out needed to decide a game tied at 2 at the end of regulation time. The Wolverines easily won the shoot out 3-0 and will be a very good team in the Spring. I expect that they will be very tough and vie for first place again.

On Saturday, November 7, 1987, we will have our skills contest. Each player will be able to compete for a skill badge in six different skills. Standards have been set for an achievement in gold, silver and bronze for each skill. The player will be competing against a national standard, not each other. It will be very interesting because it is our first season to put on the skills contest. We will announce the achievement next week.

The Soccer Association still has some candy bars and candy almonds that have not been sold. Please contact Kim Buxkemper or Don Higgins if you wish to purchase almond candy for Christmas or any other social occasion.

The Soccer Association has purchased 4 videos entitled: Coaching Youth Soccer, and have contributed one each to the Carnegie Library, the Elementary and Junior High School Libraries so that they can be utilized by teachers, coaches and parents interested in soccer.

Everybody is invited to watch the skills contest this Saturday. We are going to hold it in the football stadium and it will begin at 10 p.m.

See you there.

Lillie Harris Heath attends 127th General Hospital Reunion

The date was October 17th, 1987, Hallettsville, Texas was the site where members of the 127th General Hospital (the U of T unit) from World War II, met as a group for the first time since the unit disbanded in 1945.

Lillie Harris Heath was Captain Harris then, and was the chief nurse for the two year tour in Europe.

The reunion was held on the carefully manicured grounds of the Half Way Ranch owned by Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth.

Dr. Ainsworth was a member of the medical staff and his wife, Margie, was one of the nurses in the unit. The twenty-five doctors and twenty-two nurses attending met on the warm Fall afternoon under giant live oaks to relive their experiences as the unit that set up a hospital in England waiting for D-Day, then

Nursing Home news

Seems like all the ghosts and goblins have turned into turkeys. 'Tis the season for thanksgiving and we sure want to give thanks to so many of you for giving of yourselves as we approach this holiday season. We all enjoyed the trick-or-treaters Halloween night—even if we did run out of treats and punch. We also enjoyed the special visits of Winters 4-H Club and their gifts of cookies and fruit for our diabetics. What a thoughtful way to remember those with special health needs. The girl's missions organizations of First Baptist Church brought a terrific evening of homemade ice cream and cookies and sherbet not to mention a spontaneous girls choir that truly invited the Lord to "come by here." The gift of time to our residents can mean so much! As our residents listened to the music their faces reflected the Glory God was receiving from these girls in action.

We are delighted that Joe Emmert is back from the hospital and can play the organ for us again soon. We are sorry to hear that Richard Watkins has been hospitalized lately but hope he has a speedy recovery! We appreciate each of our faithful volunteers and miss you when you're away. Evelyn Haley, one of our activity assistants has had surgery on both feet. She hopes to attend nursing school in February and needed her feet fixed. We all wish her the very best and God's speed during recovery.

As we talked about in the beginning a gift of time is among the greatest gifts. Those of us that know Tommy O'Dell know how much she loves our residents and her work as our Director of Nurses. She and her pushed through France after the invasion.

The unit followed Patton's Army into France and set up 1,000 bed hospital teams on temporary duty, then moved on to do it all over again. Many of the doctors and nurses had not seen each other since the war; consequently the reminiscence flew fast and furiously.

The unit was formed to initially consist of personnel who graduated from the University of Texas. The afternoon had a definite UT flavor - orange and white visor caps monogrammed with each persons name, and the singing of the "Eyes of Texas."

Barbecue with all the trimmings was served, movies and slides taken of their time overseas were shown and the visiting went on late into the evening.

in-laws—virtually all the O'Dells and several friends pitched in to buy the materials and build some rehabilitation equipment for our residents. Helen Merrill added an exercise bicycle and soon our staff and many of your family members will have an opportunity to learn how to use it safely with our residents. Work has begun on Inspiration Gardens! We're trusting the Lord for its completion. Much is left to do and the gift of time from the Knights of Columbus has made the dollars go farther. The deck will be a great place to watch the squirrels play!

All of our beds are full and have been for several weeks now. We appreciate the community of Winters believing in us as you do. We want to add twelve more beds this spring if the need is here. Should you think that a possible need for long term health care may exist within your family please consider a pre-admission conference with our administrator.

Prospective and current volunteers are encouraged to attend our home volunteer orientation and hospitality hour Saturday evening, November 12 at 6:30 p.m. in our dining room. Trained volunteers are happy volunteers. Contact Elaine Miller or Liz Willson for your reservations. Seating may be limited. We need you and so do our residents. Thanks.

Card of Thanks

My family and I would like to thank everyone for all their prayers, cards, gifts, phone calls and food that I received during my stay at the hospital and when I returned home. God has really blessed me with some wonderful friends.

Hopewell W.M.U. met in the church fellowship hall Monday at 9:30 a.m.

On November 2 six ladies from Hopewell Baptist Church toured Ben Richey Boy's Ranch. Dee Faubion, Paula Faubion, Netha Kirby, Selma Dietz, Melvina Gerhart and Bernie Faubion were conducted over the ranch personally by Charlie Jordan.

He showed us the chicken house built since he came to be the Ranch director because he thought buying three dozen eggs daily was to great of an expense. Also they raise their frying chickens. They have horses to ride, a tank stocked with 500 fish to be fished in, and each boy has a bicycle of his own.

On the grounds they have a large building for playing basketball and other sports besides the basketball court outside. Next to this building is a swimming pool that every boy is required to use two hours every day during the summer months. We wondered why two hours daily. "Because these boys have so much energy to expend," Charlie explained.

They have a garden where all kinds of vegetables are raised and frozen for winter use. Every boy has chores to do—all the way from making their beds and cleaning their rooms to fence building, table setting, washing clothes and ironing.

Points are obtained for good behavior and chores done. These points turn into privileges like fishing, horse back riding, and other activities. And also these points turn into a weekly money allowance to be spent as they wish.

Charlie has twenty-one boys at the present time and each day presents a challenge to the two couple parents and to Charlie Jordan.

Since Charlie has been there, he has renovated one dormitory, lowered ceilings, made individual rooms holding two bunk beds, made closets and individual hampers.

One boy is in FFA and has a pig as his animal project. They are all hopeful that this pig will be the champion. Charlie was proud of this accomplishment because it is the first time any boy has been in FFA.

All of the boys are required to go to church and their ages range from eight years to eighteen. Almost all come from single parent families, taken in due to neglect or abuse.

Upon our leaving, Charlie thanked us for our monetary contributions and explained that our groups are always welcomed and especially any contributions are needed badly. He is doing a wonderful job.

Card of Thanks

I would like to express my thanks to all those who sent flowers, cards, for visits and their prayers. Also to Dr. Thorpe and the nursing staff for their special attention while I was in North Runnels Hospital.

Drasco Baptist Church celebrates 80th Anniversary

The Baptist organized a S.S. in the spring of 1907, meeting in the school building. In the fall of the second Sunday in November, they organized a church with Bro. Hicks as the first pastor. There were 24 Charter members: Mrs. Sarah Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nix, Webb Nix, Ora Nix, Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Crow, Jesse Crow, Hattie Crow, Mrs. Annie Green, Walter Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, Welbourne Walker, Lela Walker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Saunders, Mrs. Ollie Saunders Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gordon, R. O. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Tyre, William Tyre.

The first church building was a one-room structure, completed in August 1908, with the men of the community building it. Pastors serving in this building were Bro. Hicks, B. S. Sullivan, Edd Thompson, and Lee Hurt. After 16 years, the membership had outgrown the building and a new two-story concrete structure with a basement. Mr. Owen Ingram was in charge of the building, with the members of the church helping with the construction.

Dirt breaking service began on March 17, 1924.

On the third Sunday in July of 1924, the protracted meeting was held in the new church basement. The old building was sold for $300.00.

Rev. John Riddell was our pastor at that time. It wasn't long until we had a membership of 200. The largest membership roll the church has ever had.

We were only a half-time church at that time. The Methodist were half-time also. We would go to the Methodist Church on the Sunday's we didn't have preaching.

On December 1, 1945, we became a full time church when Bro. Emmett Brooks became our pastor.

Pastors who served during the 16 years that the second building was occupied were: John Riddell, E. D. Dunlap, Willis J. Ray, Thomas Young, W. I. Taylor, Harold Russ, Melvin Byrd, Ted Bryan, Emmett Brooks, Bennie Hays, Orville Sanders, Earl McManus, Thurston Healer, and D. W. Ward.

We moved a house in for a parsonage and fixed it up. It was at the time Bro. Emmett Brooks who came to be our pastor.

Our concrete church building burned on Halloween night in 1951, after an electrical storm. It was a shock, but our church members met in the school parsonage and decided we would build another church on faith.

The men of our church and other men in our community and other communities helped build our third church.

The new building was dedicated in March 1952 debt free.

Pastors serving since the early fifty's were: D. W. Ward, Randall Reeves, V. E. Gideon, Bill Bearden, W. I. Taylor, Charles Murray, Larry Lancaster, James Vermillion, and James Powers. There have been 25 pastors. Bro. W. I. Taylor serving two different times. There have been 38 Deacons.

The W.M.S. was organized in 1913 with Mrs. Owen Ingram as the first president. We have had 15 W.M.S. presidents in the 75 years we have had a W.M.S. During part of the time we had Y.W.A.'s, G.A.'s, R.A.'s, Sunbeams and Brotherhood for years we had a fully graded S.S. and Training Union. Today we have mostly adults.

These three church buildings have held a lot of memories.

There have been a lot of people converted and baptized in this community. We usually had our revival around the 15th of July. Other communities would take part. We had people from Shep, Moro, Bradshaw, Wingate, Pumphrey, Wilmeth, and Winters. Our church would attend Revival services in each of these communities.

Before we had our Baptistry. We went to a tank or creek for our Baptizing. I recall one Baptizing we had at night. It was at Mr. Zack West's tank in 1947. They had cars to park around the tank and when they got ready for the service each car turned on the lights so we could see, several were Baptized that night. Several years they went to the "Mitchell tank" for their Baptizing. It was where James Mitchell used to live. Other times they went to the creek on the Wood's place.

Annie D. West is the only one who had a relative who was a Charter Member, her Grandmother, Mrs. Annie Green.

Zora Hill has been a member since 1916. She has held membership the longest.

The men in our church, who has held the longest membership are Travis Downing and James Mitchell.

Bro. W. I. Taylor pastored our church two different times. He served 13 years in all, having served the longest time of any of our pastors.

Bro. Lee Hurt served 11 years, we have had 25 pastors.

Former members who have gone into the ministry were: Nelson Crow, James Alexander, Clyde Jackson, Emmett Brooks, L. G. Mosley, and Louis Sneed.

Some History on Drasco Community—

Drasco was originally called County Line, as it is located near the line between Taylor and Runnels Counties. The name was changed from County Line to Drasco, when the community was granted a post office on December 16, 1904.

Mr. R. O. Kerr came to the community as a singer and musician and built the first general store. He made application for a Post Office and submitted the name County Line. It was not accepted, as there was another place by that name in Texas. Other names were submitted, but they had already been used. Then it was decided to take letters from the various names that had been suggested. R. O. Kerr saw a name in a history book, similar to some of the same letters. He sent the name Drasco and it was accepted.

The Post Office Department approved the name on December 16, 1904, and Mrs. Kerr was appointed as the first postmaster. Mrs. Sam Hancock, as the first mail carrier, brought the mail from Audra near present day Bradshaw to Drasco. The mail was brought to Audra from Abilene by back. On April 20, 1909, Mrs. Ada K. Benson was appointed postmistress and served until discontinuance of the post office on August 31, 1911.

During the late summer and fall of 1902, a one-room school was built by the people of the community. The school was called County Line School, and began classes in January of 1903. Later called Drasco.

A Union Sunday School was organized in February of 1903, both Methodist and Baptists met together in the school building. They agreed to use Methodist literature one quarter and Baptist Literature the following Quarter. This arrangement continued until the Methodist organized a church in 1904.

RRC levies fines

The Railroad Commission assessed $10,000 in administrative penalties Monday to six oil and gas operators for problems under the Commission's well plugging rules.

Trailwest Operating Company, Inc. of Austin was penalized $4,000 for two inactive and unplugged wells on the company's J. A. Wright lease in Wharton County. A similar $4,000 penalty was assessed to Coldwater Creek Operations, Inc. of Milton, Florida for two unplugged wells on the Waggoner-Watson lease in Wilbarger County.

Four operators agreed to penalties of $500 each without admitting any violation of Commission rules. The operators and wells involved included B. M. Hester of Wichita Falls, one well on the Hamilton-Hirsch Unit lease, Harris County; Doilco Exploration, Inc. of Rockdale, two wells on the Bravenee lease, Burleson County; Consolidated Oil and Gas, Inc. of Denver, Colorado, five wells on the North Lehn-Apo Unit lease; and Cadaseo, Inc. of Fort Worth, one well on the Alice Jones lease, Sutton County.

To date in 1987, the Commission has levied more than $742,000 in pollution and well plugging penalties. Last year the Commission assessed more than $1.6 million in such penalties.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has announced that applications for the 1988 summer internships in his Washington, D.C. office are now available.

College students from the 17th Congressional District, teachers at any level or residents of the district between the age of 19 and 25 who have demonstrated an interest in government, are eligible for the internship program. The interns, who are selected after a thorough screening process by a selection committee, are paid a one-month stipend, which helps cover basic living expenses.

Four interns work in Congressman Stenholm's office during June and July. While in the nation's capital, they attend committee meetings, floor debates and a speakers' series. They also research constituent inquiries and assist in the day-to-day operations of the office.

Deadline for completed applications is January 9, 1988. Ten finalists will be announced in February, 1988. The winners will be named in March at a Selection Luncheon after personal interviews of the finalists are conducted.

For applications and additional information, please contact Raymond McDaniel, Jr., Chairman, Omar Burleson Congressional Intern Selection Committee, P.O. Box 543, Abilene, Texas, 79604 or call Elaine Talley at the district office in Abilene, (915) 673-7221.

Adopt A-Highway rules finalized by highway commission

The new guidelines for the Adopt A-Highway program are now final. In July, the highway department announced new guidelines for the highly successful program. The temporary guidelines were published in the Texas Register, with a 60-day period for the public review and recommendations.

In its October meeting, the highway commission gave its final approval to the guidelines.

The Adopt A-Highway program, begun in late 1985, allows groups of private citizens to adopt two-mile sections of highway for litter pickup. The highway department provides the groups with safety vests, litterbags, and safety instructions, and installs signs at each end of the adopted section giving credit to the group.

By early summer of 1987, the number of groups in the program had mushroomed to over 2,300, including church organizations, garden clubs, motorcycle clubs, and civic groups.

But in June, the department administration directed districts offices to accept no new groups, pending a review of the program. Questions regarding adoption by political organizations and the program's cost-effectiveness prompted the action.

The new guidelines require four pickups a year by adopting groups, and a two-year adoption period, among other things.

After feedback from the public, the department has made some modifications in the guidelines. For example, several groups in West Texas felt that their sections of highway did not have enough litter to require pickup four times a year. The department has decided that, in such cases, the district engineer may permit some sections to be cleaned only twice a year.

Comments from school groups noted that it is difficult for them to commit to having one of their four pickups during the department's Great Texas Trash Off in late April. The department's response is to change the groups' participation in the Trash Off from a mandatory requirement to a recommendation. The Great Texas Trash Off for 1988 will fall on Saturday, April 23.

Remarried couples need financial plan

A budget and spending plan can benefit any family, but for remarrieds it may be critical, says a consumer economics specialist. "Finance, children and child-rearing have been identified by researchers as the major problems in many remarriages," says Bonnie Piernot, "with finances often ranking the highest." People entering a remarriage often have assets—and debts—to bring to the new marriage. When couples share this information prior to the wedding, it will make it easier to develop a financial plan, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist. "Fluctuating income from child support can be a major strain on the new family's budget," Piernot says. One recent study of remarried couples in Kentucky found that when child support was awarded, 36% either never received it, received it irregularly or regularly received it but not in the full amount, she reports.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Last Sunday an old friend dropped by the house. He was on his way home from a weekend trip.

I had been his pastor once. And his friend. We sat and talked for a long time.

Toward the end of the conversation, he began telling me how much he still thought about things I had said to him in the past. And how my being with him in certain crucial times of his life and helped him get through some pretty rough "passages" in his life.

I didn't remember saying any of the things he told me I had said. Though they were things that would be consistent with what I proclaim and believe. When he talked about the specific times that I had been with him that had been helpful, I remembered being there. But I had no idea that I was that helpful. I had no idea what was going on inside him at the time. Much less that my presence had made much of a difference to him.

Sometimes Christian ministry (either lay or ordained) can be a pretty frustrating business. Often you don't know if you are doing any good or not. It feels good when you find out that somehow, in some way, you have made a difference to somebody. It made me glad I had been there. But it also made me think. Of how little we know about the results of our ministries, our giving of ourselves. In other words, how God uses us for healing and building up. Just in the course of being who we are!

Most of the time we never know.

As we approach Advent and the season of watchfulness, we wait expectantly for the coming of Jesus. But maybe Jesus' words are particularly appropriate also for our watchfulness. As we anticipate and watch for opportunities to be used as Christ's servants.

Sometimes Jesus comes in the form of a friend who just needs us to be there. And to be a friend. Be ourselves. The Words of Jesus in St. Mark, the beginning of the Gospel lesson for the First Sunday in Advent, let me know that God sends opportunities for me to serve all the time. If I just open my eyes.

"No one knows, however, when that day or hour will come—neither the angels in heaven, nor the Son; only the Father knows. Be on watch, be alert, for you do not know when the time will come."

And sometimes you just never know...

Nurses play big part in Cancer Prevention and Detection Programs

Historically, nurses have played a major role in the prevention of infectious disease, taking part in patient education and performing preliminary examinations. Today, an innovative program at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute is putting nurses' skills to use in the prevention and detection of cancer.

More than 800 nurses from all over the country have participated in the Cancer Prevention and Detection Program at UT M.D. Anderson Hospital. They represent public health clinics, private physicians' offices and industrial health and safety offices.

During each of the courses offered, nurse-students learn the risk factors associated with cancer as well as techniques for finding cancer at an early stage.

"We are giving nurses the knowledge and skills they need in cancer prevention and detection, so that they can go back to their communities and increase the quality and availability of services to the public," explained Linda N. White, R.N., program head.

Dorothy Towns is a registered nurse who sees people come to her public health clinic in Bellville, Texas, for everything from vaccinations to physicals. Upon completion of a cancer prevention and detection course offered at UT M.D. Anderson Hospital, she was trained to offer her patients something more.

Towns recalled one woman who brought her child to the clinic for a shot.

"While we had the chance to chat, I started a conversation about the mother's health and learned that she had never had a routine Pap smear," Towns said. "I talked with her about the importance of getting one, and she was later diagnosed with cervical cancer. Without the examination, she might have learned about the cancer too late."

Read your food handling instructions

"Reading handling directions can help you make sure food remains safe to eat," says Marilyn Haggard, a nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. All perishable products must give handling instructions, such as "keep frozen" or "keep refrigerated," she notes. Some meat and poultry products may be labeled "ready-to-eat" or "fully cooked," which means no further cooking is necessary. The specialist advises checking the labels of acceptably packaged products, since many will require refrigeration after opening. "Although some product labels carry directions on how long and at what temperature to cook a product, the directions are not required or verified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture," she remarks. "When cooking instructions are not included on the label or you have some doubts about them, the safest course is to cook the product thoroughly," Haggard said.

Hospital —

After members of the Texas Congressional Delegation in Washington were contacted by concerned hospital board members, along with other local officials, the extension was apparently ordered by the Health Care Financing Administration regional head in Dallas.

The head of the certification division of the Texas Department of Health was more than quick to deny that there was any effort underway to close small hospitals, too quick in fact.

The inspecting team that visited the hospital this past Friday arrived to find that our hospital was more than ready for re-inspection.

In fact, Delma Armentrout, Program Administrator told the hospital that the effort to meet the standards was a "blue-ribbon effort," that everyone at the hospital deserved a "gold star." She said, "the hospital had corrected the deficiencies to the extent of an over-kill."

That last comment would lend some credibility to the rumor that there was a "private-line" phone call from the Dr. Juanita Carrell, division director, to the inspectors that North Runnels Hospital would pass inspection. It would also indicate that the head of the division had no desire for any kind of investigation of the division.

It would seem difficult, at the very least, to over-do efforts to meet some specific standard when those empowered to perform inspections have no set guide-lines to follow. What might seem right to one inspector just might seem totally wrong to another. A hospital is not told how to correct the problems cited by the inspectors, there is no standard for the inspection. So, there is no way to measure just what needs to be done, or must be done.

The hospital has passed this crucial inspection. It is in good shape for another year. But at what cost?

By Tuesday, administrator Rita Williams said that about $15,000 had been expended to correct the alleged deficiencies and the biggest bills had not even been received yet. Probably the total cost will be around $25,000.

To further compound the impact of inconsistent inspection teams, and the un-expected costs they bring about, North Runnels Hospital had just signed a purchase agreement for cardiac (heart) monitoring equipment for the intensive care unit at a cost of some $20,000.

To satisfy some of the requirements of the first inspection team, the hospital was forced to purchase a new blood bank at a cost of $3,146.

The expense of the cardiac monitors was budgeted by the hospital district, the rest was unexpected.

Now, to make matters even worse, the hospital staff discovered that the smoke stack on the hospital's incinerator, a required piece of equipment, must be replaced. This will exceed $7,000.

Generous donations over the past several years has enabled the hospital to purchase radio communications equipment, X-Ray equipment, a cardio-version unit for ICU, and other equipment. The fund totals $8,181.

If one were to put a pencil to the dollars budgeted for equipment and add to it the amount in the equipment fund and then subtract the cost of this needed repair to the incinerator, the cardiac monitoring equipment and the additional $25,000 cost of meeting inconsistent standards, one will end up with a negative figure—more money than is available.

It would be hard to imagine the state paying any of the tab, even though the big part of the expenses was due to indiscretions on its part, and federal dollars are practically not available.

The taxpayers in the North Runnels Hospital District and those generous people who donate to the equipment fund will have to pay the bills for somebody's political ambitions.

What has happened with our hospital is not an isolated case. The inconsistencies are not something that happened here alone.

Reagan County Hospital in Big Lake was cited for serving a salad to a patient that was not pleasing for the inspector to look at.

In Albany, in Shackelford County, the hospital was cited for borrowing a specific drug from a neighboring hospital.

At Lone Star, the Hospital in the Pines, in deep East Texas is closed. A similar inspection resulted in a public notice that the hospital would be decertified. The doctors, the only two, had to move. The hospital is now closed and the closest medical facility is in Longview, 45 miles away.

The folks causing these problems are quick to tell everyone how bad a hospital is but, they don't say anything about their own errors.

Another interesting item, perhaps most significant, is the fact that the majority of the items leading to a hospital's decertification deal with paperwork—not with the level of care rendered to a patient.

It apparently makes no difference what kind of treatment is performed, offered, or available at a particular hospital.

The only thing that is important to these inspection teams is how paperwork is filled out. That and the fact that there are no set guidelines for inspection. The outcome of an inspection may very well depend on what kind of mood the inspector got up in.

This procedure, and the division that follows it, needs supervision. The way it operates, apparently without any set protocols other than personal discretion is not right.

The state and federal governments should take a very close look—subject this division to an inspection of its own kind—and make many, much-needed changes.

If the changes are not made, we will suffer. We are the residents of north Runnels County, of the State of Texas, and of the United States of America.

Wait —

know. Nope, that just wouldn't work.

While standing back out of sight (I hoped) and trying to figure out how to fake the game pictures, I heard someone call my name.

A glimmer of hope. There on the other side of the fence was a face I knew. Michael Lee, a student at Baylor stopped by to say hello.

Hey Michael, do you have your camera? Yup, he did.

And we have pictures of last Friday's game.

Thanks Michael. And I still didn't learn just how to operate your camera.
