Wait a minute... By Kerry Craig

The results of last Tuesday's primary election in Runnels County are nothing to be really proud of.

While about half of the voters in the county voted the way they thought they should, the other half didn't.

With the number of contested races on the ballot in our county alone, one would expect more concern and interest from the voters. There were contested races for two offices that manage our county, contested races for constables, tax assessor/collector and the county's top law enforcement job.

Of more concern than who won, or didn't, win in a particular race is who did not care enough to go to the polls to vote. On the Democratic ballot alone, only about 51 percent of the registered voters cast their ballots. The other 49 percent, or so, apparently were not interested enough to go vote, or they just "let George do it".

At this point in time, my feelings about who won what election don't seem to really matter. What matters is the fact that approximately half of those of us registered to vote didn't.

Less than a month from now, we will be going back to the polls to vote in some run-off elections. A month from then there are elections for seats on the city councils in both Ballinger and Winters, both school boards, and the hospital board.

One would hope that the residents of this county will take a bit more interest in how things are done and take a few minutes to go vote in the next elections.

Well, we finally found out who is doing the sonic booms. During the past six months, or so, we have spent much time on the phone with various military and civilian officials trying to find out who was rattling our homes.

In that time we have asked questions in the Pentagon, questions about the super secret, super fast, super high flying SR-71 and even some classified aircraft the military really doesn't want us to know exist.

All it was was an airplane mechanic taking a plane out for a test drive after working on it.

Hopefully, by next week, we will have some official pictures of the F-14 Tom Cat to let you know what the culprit looks like. Dallas Navy said they would send the photos.

The PR guy for the Navy asked me if I had any specific complaints about the booms and I replied, "Not really." I did suggest that the next time they plan to make another boom they give me a call. I would like to go along for the ride—they say you don't hear the boom when you are in the airplane that makes it.

Social Security slates March visit

Garland Gregg, representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his March visit to Winters. He will be at the Housing Project Office on Monday, March 28, between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Recounts called in two races

Runnels County Democratic officials began a recount Wednesday morning of the ballots in two contested races.

The recounts were requested in the race for Runnels County Sheriff and for Runnels County Commissioner, Precinct 1.

Runnels County Democratic Party Chairman Cecil Darby, Jr., said that a recount of the votes in the race for Sheriff was requested by Odell Denton, who missed being in a runoff with incumbent Sheriff Bill Baird by only three votes.

The other recount was requested by Tommy New who missed a runoff with incumbent Commissioner Robert Virden by 37 votes. Following the official canvass of the votes in precinct one, a runoff election was set between Virden and Skipper Wheelless.

In the race for sheriff, incumbent Bill Baird polled 1,612 votes, three votes more than the other three candidates combined. Odell Denton came in second in the race with 939 votes while D. J. Goetz Jr. received 592 and W. H. Nord received 75.

According to Darby, if at least three votes are found to be miscounted, Denton will be on the runoff ballot with Baird. He said the three votes could be spread among the three candidates in any way, that for a candidate to win in a race with three opponents, he must receive at least 50 percent of the votes plus one in the race. Otherwise, a runoff would be necessary between the two top vote-getters.

In order for Denton to obtain a recount of the ballots, he had to post a bond of $250 against the actual costs of the recount which are estimated by the county party chairman to be about $500.

New was required to post $50 against the costs of the recount in precinct one.

The deadline for requesting a recount in the election was at 9:00 a.m. Monday.

In the recount of the sheriff's election, the ballots in all the boxes in the county would be counted while only the absentee box and the precinct one box would be counted in the commissioner's race recount.

Darby said that election clerks from each precinct in the county would be involved in the recount and that each the counters would "handle every ballot." The presiding judges from the voting precincts cannot participate in a recount.

The recount of the votes was being conducted Wednesday morning, beginning at 8 a.m., on the second floor of the Runnels County Courthouse in the Grand Jury Room and in the District Court Room.

Darby said that while the candidates may be present for the recount, "We will take all legal steps to insure that unauthorized persons not enter the recount areas."

The county Democratic chairman said that only 51 percent of the registered voters went to the polls in Runnels County and that such a light turnout was quite unusual for an election with so many highly contested races.

Darby said that Wingate had the highest turnout of voters with 67 percent of the registered voters going to the poll in that precinct. Rowena was second highest with 61 percent of the registered voters voting.

With runoffs already set in some races and the potential for a county-wide runoff for sheriff, Darby said, "Even if you didn't vote in the primary, you can vote in the runoff." He said however, "persons who voted in the Republican Primary may not vote in the Democratic runoff election."

Critically needed truck

Work has started on a much-needed rural truck for the Winters Volunteer Fire Department. When completed the truck will carry 500 gallons of water and be equipped with a pump to enable firemen to either fight fires or pump water to another fire truck, or draft water.

Firemen estimate the cost of building the truck to be about $7,000. With the extremely dry conditions and a high potential for grass and brush fires, firemen have already placed orders for a water tank and a pump for the truck.

Donations to help finance the truck may be given to any member of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department.

Filing underway in city school, hospital elections

With the Super Tuesday primary elections only a week old, the period for filing as a candidate for positions on the Winters or Ballinger City Councils, the Winters Independent School District Board of Trustees or the Ballinger Independent School District Board of Trustees or the Board of Directors for North Runnels County Hospital District will end on Thursday, March 24, at 5 p.m.

The election for these elections falls a month later than in the past due to the Legislature's re-arrangement of the primary election for Super Tuesday. The election date in the city council, school board, and hospital district elections will be Saturday, May 7.

Here is the way the elections are shaping up:

Winters ISD—

Two trustee positions will be on the ballot. School Board place 6, currently held by Ronald Presley, and Place 7, held by Randall Connor.

Ronald Presley has officially filed as a candidate for re-election to his school board seat while Randall Connor is not seeking another term on the school board.

Three candidates have filed for the Place 7 seat. They include Michael Deike, Randall Boles, and Bob Prewitt.

Ballinger ISD—

Three school board seats are at stake in Ballinger, Places 1, 2, and 3.

Place 1 Trustee Chauncey Mansell had filed as a candidate for re-election by late Tuesday while Place 2 incumbent Scott Warren and Place 3 incumbent Mike Egan had not filed for re-election.

Two persons have announced as candidates for Place 2. They are Joe J. Kozelsky Jr. and Robert (Bob) Campbell.

The only candidate to file for Place 3 on the Ballinger School Board is Gordon Hays.

Winters City Council—

There is considerable interest in the three positions on the Winters City Council that will be filled on May 7.

By late Tuesday, incumbents Jerry Sims, Dawson McGuffin and Rick Dry had not announced their intentions concerning their council seats.

Three candidates have filed for the positions in Winters. Jim Lincycumb, Charles Weardon, and Gary Goff have officially filed as candidates in the city election.

In the Winters City Council election, the three top vote-getters will be seated on the council in the at-large positions.

Ballinger City Council—
The office of Municipal Judge for the City of Ballinger has already drawn two candidates and incumbent Judge Charles Bradshaw has not announced his intentions.

The two candidates who have officially filed for the city judge's position are Bud Everett and Ruby Louola (Mrs. L. V.) Johnson.

On the Ballinger City Council, Place 3 incumbent Woodrow Hoffman will be leaving the council after serving two terms. The city charter does not allow a council member to serve more than two consecutive terms.

Weldon Brevard is the incumbent for the Place 4 council seat in Ballinger.

Source of sonic booms identified as Navy jet

The most recent sonic booms, those heard late last week and over the weekend, was identified by military sources as an F-14 jet fighter based at the United States Naval Air Station at Dallas, Texas.

Following the booms heard on Thursday, March 10, at 9:39 a.m., a spokesman in the Public Affairs Office at Dyess Air Force Base said that Ft. Worth Center spokesman Bob Caruthers identified the aircraft as "Pistol 3", an F-14 Tom Cat from the Dallas Navy Air Station.

The air traffic control center said that "Pistol 3" was exiting the Brownwood Military Operational Area or MOA at an altitude of 41,000 feet with a speed in excess of the speed of sound.

Radar indicated "Pistol 3" to be over San Angelo at 9:44 a.m., six minutes after the boom was heard, and felt, in Winters. The time lapse and distance would be consistent with an aircraft speed of approximately 700 mph.

A spokesman in the Public Affairs Office at the Dallas Naval

By late Tuesday, there were no announced candidates for the city council in Ballinger.

North Runnels Hospital—
With three seats on the Board of Directors for North Runnels County Hospital District up for election, only the three incumbents have officially filed as candidates.

Seeking re-election to the hospital board are Fred Watson, Ronnie Poehls and Bill Cathey.

The deadline for filing as a candidate in any of these elections is 5 p.m. Thursday, March 24 in the respective business offices. The election date for these elections will be May 7, 1988.

Littlefield Denim Plant for Levis

Members of the Young Farmers Tour group were all agog because of the glowing remarks heard from everyone who had seen the Denim plant at Littlefield, Makers of material for Levi Strauss, and we were out early Friday morning for our bus tour to this fabulous place. Randall Conner, our faithful guide, provided information and pointed out places of interest as we traveled: Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock County Museum (old farm equipment), DeKalb and Pfizer Genetics Seed Research and Production Plant, oil in Lubbock County, Helena Chemical, Gould Pumps, irrigation suppliers. The level, fertile, cultivated plains of Lamb County, surrounding Littlefield, is the number one producer in Texas of alfalfa with 19,000 acres; fourth in all hay with 28,000 acres; sixth in corn; fifth in soy beans; and third in sunflowers. Many visitors are interested in the mechanized, irrigated cotton farming. The Littlefield Denim Mill was recently purchased by Plains Cooperative Cotton Association of Lubbock from American Cotton Growers. This plant consumes 90,000 bales of cotton per year, making 28 million linear yards (60" wide) of denim each year. This is enough fabric to make 26 million Levis. The denim is contracted to Levi Strauss. The mill employs 500 full-time people and has 10 acres under one roof. It has been in production since 1976. The initial stage of denim production is opening and blending. "Opening" begins with baled cotton fiber being separated into small tufts. A blend of cotton fibers from 28 bales is made on each of three opening lines. This gives uniformity to the material. Cotton is delivered by air through additional cleaning and blending machines to the carding machines. Carding removes foreign matter and short fibers, straightens the fibers and form them into a web. The web is then converted into a rope-like form known as a sliver. Six card slivers will be converted into a single uniform sliver as the slivers are processed through the Drawing machines. Cotton fibers are then formed into yarn by centrifugal action in open-end spinning. Individual fibers are laid down in the groove of a fast spinning rotor and twisted into yarn. After the cotton fibers are spun into yarn, the yarn is wound into a large package known as a cheese. Individual strands of yarn are removed from yarn packages prior to being gathered into a rope form. 355 individual strands of warp yarn (the lengthwise yarn in a fabric) are gathered into rope form, 14,800 yards in length, and wound into a log, thus forming a Ball Warp. The largest single machine in the plant is the indigo dye range. It handles 20 Ball Warps at the same time. The yarn goes through sulfur dye, wash boxes, indigo dye vats, over a skying device (to allow oxidation to take place), through additional wash boxes, over drying cans, and is then coiled into tubs which are transferred to the Long Chain Beaming process. Yarn enters indigo dye vats five times to obtain the correct shade for the customer. Bob Wood, manager, showed us through the plant and he said that black was used for the first coat of dye, indigo dye is terribly expensive and can be bought only at one place in Buffalo, New York. Long Chain Beaming separates the dyed yarn into individual strands, parallels the strands, and winds them onto a large section beam in preparation for Slashing. "For the Slashing we size the material with paraffin and lard, we use more shortening than anybody. Then we coat the ends with corn starch and hot water to strengthen the yarn," said Wood. The solution also reduces the fuzziness of the yarn. After the weaving process, in which one thread of white is used on the back to get the right color and texture, it is then ready for the final touches. In the finishing department the material is run through a gas flame which gives a smoother finish to sell. The denim is pre-shrunk in boiling water for 14% shrinkage, next shrinkage is 4% when pulled on the bias.

Each yard of finished denim is inspected and wrapped in heavy bags for shipping. 24 million linear yards of denim are shipped annually.

Wood estimated that it takes about three bales of cotton to make 2,500 yards of cloth and that will make 2,000 pairs of Levis. They are able to sell 99% of the material to Mr. Strauss. The other one percent can be sold to small jobbers. Bus tours such as ours could buy denim all the way from two to 20 yards in length. Most every woman had to buy some material. I held out till the last, but finally gave in. Now, I'm looking for a seamstress. One thing, for sure, is that we came away with a greater appreciation of denim and the patient people who make it.

Ben Richey Boys Ranch receives challenge grant

The Ben Richey Boys Ranch has two fourteen passenger vans that serve to transport the boys to church, little league, after-school functions—just about everything that any family would use a vehicle to do. Both vans are worn out. Each van is nearing 90,000 miles and repairs are no longer economical. Ben Richey Boys Ranch has received a challenge grant from an anonymous donor. The donor will provide one new van if the Boys Ranch can raise $16,500 for the other van by June 1, 1988. Tom Ceniglis, President of the Ben Richey Boys Ranch Board of Directors, stated that we happily accept the challenge and that he was confident that the Big County supporters would help the Ranch obtain these desperately needed vans. Donations may be mailed to Ben Richey Boys Ranch, Box 893, Abilene, Texas 79604. READ THE CLASSIFIEDS!

Wheat leaf rust update

The threat of wheat leaf rust is not as great this season as it has been for the past several years, according to Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "Disease incidence in South and Central Texas is considerably less than it was one year ago. This does not mean, however, that no threat exists. Growers should be aware that the organism is present and that future conditions may be ideal for rapid development," Horne cautions.

Factors that may explain why wheat leaf rust is less threatening this season, Horne says, include less wheat acreage planted in South and Central Texas, more varieties being planted as opposed to one predominant variety, more slow-rusting varieties being used, and rather dry weather conditions. "Producers should watch their fields for increases in wheat leaf occurrence. There's still plenty of time for an epidemic to develop if weather conditions favor such an event," Horne says.

He notes that there may be more reason for some producers to use fungicides this year than in the past. "Wheat prices have increased and another highly effective fungicide is on the market. Chemical control will not likely pay for everyone, but it may pay handsomely in many situations," Horne says.

Growers considering use of a fungicide should make sure that they have a 40-bushel yield potential and that leaf rust represents a serious limiting production factor, he says. They also should be sure that they have a wheat variety that will respond to fungicide use. Slow rusting varieties, such as Sturdy, are not as likely to give favorable returns as non-slow rusting varieties, such as NK-812, Horne adds.

When one determines that fungicides will pay, make sure that timely applications are made properly according to the product label.

"The object is to protect the flag-leaf (the last leaf produced and located just below the head) and insure its full function until grain filling is completed. It also is recommended that the labeled rate of fungicide be used in five gallons of water per acre by air. Growers who use ground application equipment should apply 20 to 25 gallons of water per acre," Horne says.

Producers should watch their wheat fields closely from now until heading time to determine the potential for leaf rust damage, Horne recommends. Fungicides are available if yield levels warrant and potential disease development represents the major limiting production factor, he says.

KTAB to air special For Kid's Sake

On March 16, at 7 p.m., KTAB-TV will present "The Gift of Time" as part of For Kid's Sake, a nationwide public service campaign of this station and the For Kid's Sake sponsors, General Dynamics-Abilene Facility, First National Bank, Skinny's, Inc. and Southside Baptist Church. The campaign, aimed at adults, is devoted to improving the quality of life for young people. "The Gift of Time" hour-long special, with guest appearances by actor Alan Thicke and his 13-year-old son, Brennan, focuses on people across the country who give their time generously to children.

The local segment of the special will feature Mr. Frank Pellizari, a Breckenridge resident. Mr. Pellizari is KTAB-TV's "Gift of Time Local Hero". Pellizari has been an active leader in Boy Scouts of America for over 50 years. He attended the first Boy Scout Jamboree in 1937 and was named the 1978 "Scoutmaster of the Year" for the South-Central Region. Topping the list of his many contributions to scouting is Pellizari's efforts in bringing 65 young men to Eagle Scout status since 1962.

Others profiled in the program are:

—Jerry and Sandy Tucker, a husband and wife who have adopted or help raise more than forty children in the hills of Kentucky. All of the children have physical and/or mental disabilities. The Tuckers believe that "everybody's time should be a gift to something or somebody".

—Kent Amos, a man who is concerned about inner city children who are not doing well in school. Every afternoon Amos, a successful businessman, opens up a "study hall" in his home in Washington, D.C., where he encourages youngsters to take education seriously. Amos says, "Everybody has 24 hours in a day. That was given to us, so that's the one thing we give away...you can do something with it."

—Dr. Lois Lee, who set up "Children of the Night," a Los Angeles-based organization that works with youngsters who survive on the streets by prostituting themselves.

—Eugene Lang/Bill and Elaine Farrell: Lang "adopted" a New York City elementary school class and promised to send each student through college upon high school graduation. The Farrells of Texas heard what Lang was doing and set up a similar project in Dallas.

—Mariam Wright Edelman/Robert Valverde: Edelman is the President and Founder of the Children's Defense Fund, a national organization that provides a voice for the children of America who cannot lobby, vote or speak on behalf of themselves. Valverde is a San Francisco teacher who gives his students a sack of flour that represents a "baby" requiring enormous care during a three-week life training course he teaches.

Alan and Brennan Thicke share with viewers their reflection on giving to others and on spending time together. In addition, they appear in four public service announcements about sharing the gift of time that will be broadcast from the end of February through mid-April.

"The Gift of Time" was produced by Garland Waller at WBZ-TV in Boston. Executive Producer, Francine Achbar, WBZ-TV is owned by Group W (Westinghouse Broadcasting, Inc.)

Q. What's the secret to stop cookies from spreading too much?

Mrs. J. G. Evergreen Park, IL
A. You may need to add more flour to batter. If recipe calls for solid shortening, don't substitute butter or margarine because they have more water than shortening and may make dough too soft. Cookies may spread because the oven isn't hot enough. Or you may be over-greasing the cookie sheets. Except for low-shortening cookies, cookie sheets rarely need to be greased.

Future Blizzard Cheerleaders

Winters Blizzard Cheerleader tryouts to be held March 18

Cheerleader tryouts for the 1988-89 school year will be held at 8:10 a.m., Friday, March 18 in the WHS gymnasium.

To be eligible to tryout each candidate must have a signed permission slip from parents. Each candidate must make a one to two minute speech on why they want to be a cheerleader and what they will do if elected. Each candidate will lead the student body in the same yell. Each candidate will be rated by college cheerleaders while doing their yells. If a candidate misses more than three practices before tryouts, she will not be allowed to tryout.

There will be three senior and three juniors elected. The entire student body will vote on all the candidates. This means each student will vote for three juniors and three seniors. The student body elections will count 50% and the rating from college cheerleaders will count 50%. A first place in either the student elections or cheerleader rating will receive 10 points; second place, 8 points, third place, 6 points; fourth place, 4 points, fifth place, 2 points; sixth place, 1 point. The student election will be decided by a majority vote. The senior with the highest total points will be the head cheerleader. In the event of a tie on points, the girl with the highest number of student votes will be declared the head cheerleader.

To be eligible to be a candidate, a student must have been enrolled in WHS, the previous semester prior to tryouts. At least an average of 80 overall (excluding Band, P.E. and Athletics) in all subjects taken up to the end of the semester grading period prior to tryouts, and must not have failed any course for the same period. She should have demonstrated that she will exhibit a good school image by having enthusiasm—being respectful—willing to work long hours—being dependable—being cooperative with her peers, the sponsor, faculty, and the administration. She should have completed the first semester of the Sophomore year. Attended, accompanied by a parent or guardian, a meeting with the sponsor and administration prior to tryouts. Ninety-five percent (95%) attendance during enrollment in high school unless ill with doctor's excuse.

Being cheerleader is a demanding job and wish you all good luck!

Breezes cheerleaders to be selected

The Winters Junior High will choose their 1988-89 Breezes cheerleaders on Friday morning, March 18, 1988.

The following 6th and 7th grade girls will be trying out.

Honoring America's Providers

Farmers are efficient producers

U.S. farmers today produce over 80 percent more crop output on an acre of land than did their fathers. Today, one hour of farm labor produces 16 times as much food and other crops as it did in the 1919-21 period. New technology has made these gains possible. The productivity of the land now depends upon the skill and knowledge with which capital is applied. The bigger the volume that farmers can raise and sell, the lower the product cost per item. So U.S. consumers gain from the increase in farm production efficiency.

The following chart on productivity indicates how labor requirements have changed since the beginning of the 19th century.

Labor required to produce wheat, corn, and cotton.

	hours	1800	1935-39	1955-59	1980-84
Wheat (100 bushels)	373	67	17	7	3
Corn (100 bushels)	344	108	20	3	7
Cotton (1 bale)	601	209	74	5

Yield per acre were 15 bushels for wheat, 25 bushels for corn, and 154 pounds for cotton.

And the following chart shows yield changes since 1800.

Yields per acre of wheat, corn, and cotton.

	1800	1940	1960	1985-86
Wheat (bu)	15	15	20	34
Corn (bu)	25	29	55	118
Cotton (pounds)	154	253	446	630

In 1790, 3,000 bales of cotton were produced. With the advent of the cotton gin in 1793, production rose to 73,000 bales by 1800. Other crops produced at this time include 160 million bushels of grain products, 22 million bushels of wheat, 107 million pounds of tobacco, and 300 million board feet of lumber.

Food prices rise less than other consumer prices

Food prices rose 3.2% in 1986, slightly higher than the 2.3% increase in 1985, according to the Consumer Price Index.

The farm prices of food products, that is, the value of the farm goods that go into the food product, went down for a second consecutive year making the 1986 farm value of food the lowest since 1979. Following a 7.1% decline in 1985, the farm value of food fell 1.3% lower.

The farm value averaged 30% of the retail cost for a "market basket" of foods purchased in grocery stores, down from 31% in 1985 and 34% in 1984.

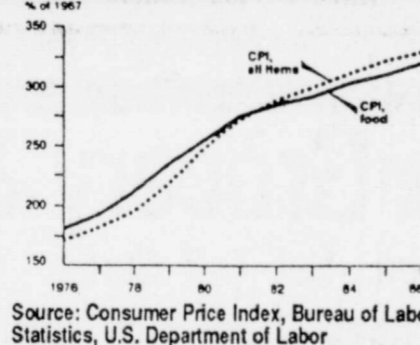

The farm share of the food dollar has declined recently because abundant food supplies have held down farm prices while rising costs to processors and distributors have boosted retail prices.

About 25 percent of last year's food spending went back to farmers, who received about $89 billion. This share is lower than the 30 percent farm value share for the market basket of food because it includes the much lower 16 percent farm share for away-from-home food spending.

A Farmer Comparison.

An American farmer provides food and fiber for 114 people.

Compared with a farmer that provides food and fiber for:

- 3.5 in China
- 4 in Brazil
- 3 in Japan
- 8 in Argentina
- 11 in the U.S.S.R.

Skill combined with technology make this production miracle possible.

Join us on NATIONAL AGRICULTURE DAY, March 20, 1988 -- in honoring America's providers: the 21 million men and women who make up the food and fiber industry.

Food and fiber industry

There are 21 million people working in agriculture. Each additional $1 billion of agricultural or food and fiber demand creates 30,000 to 35,000 additional jobs and adds a total of $2 billion to the Nation's Gross National Product. Each $1 billion earned from farm exports in 1986 created another $1.51 billion of output in the U.S. economy, for a total of $2.51 billion. In 1986, 0.8 million (or 781,000 full-time jobs) related to agricultural exports. Nearly 450,000 of those were non/farm jobs assembling, processing, and distributing farm products for export.

Facts on agriculture and the hungry

The U.S. is the world's largest food donor.

In 1985, the U.S. exported $1.3 billion under PL 480, the Food for Peace program. African drought relief accounted for this higher-than-usual level of food aid. In 1986, world food needs weren't as great. Weather still drives world agriculture, however, and is increasing estimates of world food shortages for 1988. Severe drought in India and Ethiopia and inadequate rainfall in many African countries have increased world food needs to 26 million tons.

	World Food Needs	U.S. Shipments
FY 84/85	11.7 mil. tons	7.5 mil. tons
85/86	8.8 mil. tons	6.7 mil. tons
86/87	6.6 mil. tons	6.5 mil. tons (est.)
87/88	26.0 mil. tons	6.1 mil. tons (est.)

A growing portion of the USDA budget goes to feeding the hungry in America.

The number of Americans facing hunger in 1986 was 20 million, according to the Physicians Task Force on Hunger. That number continues to grow. More and more families are standing in soup lines, whereas in the 1970's the hungry was largely made up of single men. Although many programs were cut in 1980, USDA costs for these programs have increased 42% (not adjusted for inflation). The total cost for various food distribution programs was 20 billion in 1986. Programs include: the Food Stamp program, Women, Infants and Children program, Child nutrition programs and other. Funding is also provided by private organizations and some state and local organizations mostly in the form of "emergency food assistance."

The food problem in some Third World countries has prompted Lloyd Timberlake in his book Only One Earth to remark that "the average British cat eats twice as much animal protein every day as the average African citizen." Further, the estimated cost of maintaining a British cat is $260 per year; a figure that is "more than the average annual income of the one billion people who live in the world's 15 poorest nations," he says.

We can't attest to the cost of feeding a cat in Britain. The British spend about $900 per person annually on their own food, beverages, and alcohol. To take nothing away from the desperate need of poor countries for protein, it still can be said that the kind of animal protein in cat food wouldn't cause very many people to salivate, nor would it likely send very many to the stump to advocate that we kill the cat and send the cat food to the "poor people around the world."

Special Olympics Basketball team 1988 Division 5 North Zone State Champions

The Runnels County Special Olympics Basketball team recently participated in the North Zone State Basketball Tournament which was held in Abilene on March 3, 4, and 5. The team won first place in division 5 making them the 1988 Division 5 North Zone State Champions.

Athletes participating from Winters High School were Otis Liggins, Sammy Little, and Jay Vancil. Other members of the team were Shelley Anderson, Jolene Dennis, and Tom Hollis. Head coach is Jenny Carothers, Assistant coaches are Freda Perez, Shannon Caughron, Nan Orman, and Linda Fountain.

On their way to the championship, the Runnels County Olympians defeated teams from Grand Prairie, Corsicana and Johnson City. They clenched the title in an exciting win over Johnson City.

Otis Liggins was high point man. He set a new record for scoring the most points in a North Zone State Tournament. His three-game point total was 170 points.

Each athlete received a gold medal, and the team as a whole received a large trophy.

"This is our first year to participate in Special Olympics basketball. When we started practicing in January, I didn't dream that we'd even make it to the state tournament, much less win first place! These athletes have not only learned the fundamentals of basketball, but they have begun to understand how to play together as a team. They have also improved their social skills and their self-confidence. I think that Special Olympics is making and will continue to make an important contribution to the communities in Runnels County," said Nan Orman, the Winters student's life skills teacher.

Albarado and Reyes win second in Paint Rock Tennis Tournament

The Wingate Pirates attended the annual Paint Rock Invitational Tennis Tournament in Paint Rock on March 4 and 5. The boy's doubles team of Adrian Albarado and Vennie Reyes placed second in the tournament.

To get to the final round of the bracket, Albarado and Reyes defeated teams from Miles and Paint Rock. They met the No. 1 doubles team from Christoval in the finals. Albarado and Reyes were defeated in the final round by scores of 6-0, 6-0.

Wingate also had a girl's team compete for medal honors. The team of Joanna Reyes and Beulah Reyes placed fourth in the tournament, being defeated by the Christoval No. 1 girls doubles by a score of 8-5.

"When taking our experience into account, our students performed very well. We haven't had much playing experience, so I felt the kids did excellent jobs," said Coach Derington.

The Pirates will see more action in two weeks. They will be traveling to Christoval to play a head to head match. Coach Derington said, "With one match behind us, we should have a lot more confidence in our play."

Farm and Ranch Estate Planning set

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring a two-day Farm and Ranch Estate Planning Seminars for farmers and ranchers College Station, April 7-8, 1988.

The two days are designed to give a thorough analysis of relevant income and estate tax rules as they affect families and their agricultural businesses. It is designed for each of a married couple in that it discusses estate administration and tax reporting requirements for the surviving spouse. This same information is useful for potential executors and trustees of estates and to all who want to make their estate settlement less of a burden to their loved ones. The goal is to give the participants knowledge sufficient to make an informed choice as to the best alternative for their family and financial situation.

For more information, contact your Texas Agricultural Extension Agent of Dr. Hayenga at the Department of Ag Economics, Texas A&M College, College Station, Texas 77843, phone (409) 845-2226.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Thursday I had a full days worth of meetings in Haskell. Decided I would just move on over to the South Plains to visit with my folks for a night or two after the meetings. Which I did.

It was one of those days that reminded me of why I left the South Plains to begin with. I left Haskell about 3:00 on Highway 380 all the way to Brownfield before I turned north.

The sun was hazy. As if it were being hidden by a cloud. But there were no clouds in the sky. The normally yellow or white colored sun took the appearance of a reddish brown. Top soil and sand was proceeding rapidly toward the Texas-Oklahoma border.

I noticed that my left hand was gripping the steering wheel at the crossbar. Only instead of the crossbar being perpendicular to the plane of the front seat, it was more like 39 degrees. I was in for a 2 1/2 hours drive in a South Plains sandstorm. The wind was out of the south; I was heading west. So it was a cross wind.

I think it is harder to drive in a cross wind than into a headwind. When the wind is at your back, the going is easy. When you are bucking a headwind, you know you are in for an uphill struggle can you brace yourself for it. But the cross winds...A different story altogether.

They pounce against the side of your vehicle, threatening to scoot you into the bar ditch. Now and then the wind will die down and you will let up. The next minute a gust hits you broadsided, as if to say, "GOTCHA!" And the fight is on once again.

Life is kind of like that. You sail in a tailwind from time to time. When you see the headwinds coming on you brace yourself. And you get the job done. But the constant, irregular pelting of the cross winds of life can be not only annoying. They can get us off the track.

The Early Church referred to Jesus as their ANCHOR. We all know that this image of Jesus was for folks who live around and make their living from the seas and oceans. Like the people of Israel and Judah. For them, Jesus is the anchor cast from the boat to keep the boat from being blown off course with every ill wind.

But if you think that you have to be in a boat to need an anchor to keep from being blown around and losing your course, you just haven't driven in a West Texas sandstorm yet.

Jesus is our anchor. All in all, not a bad description for folks in West Texas in March.

Hometown youth scrambles at Houston Rodeo

Among the arms and legs of 28 energetic contestants and 14 unruly, exuberant calves, Michael Thornhill, Jr., 4-H/FFA member from Winters managed to scramble into the winner's circle with his calf in tow during the March 5, 1988 Matinee performance of the 1988 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

The object of the calf scramble is to catch, halter and maneuver and uncooperative calf across the finish line in the Astrodome's 2.75 acre arena to win a $600 calf purchase certificate.

Michael will use the certificate, sponsored by Huse Chiropractic Group to purchase a registered beef or dairy heifer. The winner is required to raise the animal and maintain monetary records, progress reports and a scrapbook detailing the project. In addition, the youth returns to Houston the following year to compete against other scramble winners in a special showing competition. A vocational agriculture teacher or county extension agent works with the winner to make sure all requirements are met.

The calf scramble contest awards 164 certificates each year. Some 10,796 calves, valued at more than $2 million, have been donated to young Texans since 1942 through the help of generous sponsors. The real value of the program is not measured in dollars, but is based on the emotional impact felt by the youngsters as they struggle to catch and subsequently raise the calves.

The southwest's largest civic event, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo packs a wealth of opportunities into one reasonably priced ticket including the world's largest livestock show, a horse show and much more family entertainment.

Fruit and nut production meeting set

Dr. George Ray McEachern, Extension Horticulturist from College Station, will present a program on Fruit and Nut Production on Wednesday, March 23, at 9:00 a.m. It will be held in the County Extension office conference room on the third floor of the county courthouse.

All home owners, commercial growers or other interested persons are encouraged to attend. Allen Turner, Runnels County Extension Agent-Ag, states this will be an excellent opportunity to have your questions answered and to assist you in growing high quality fruit and pecans.

"Bring on the beef"

Beef. Today, it's lower in fat, lower in calories and lower in cholesterol than ever before - a result of new breeding and feeding techniques. That's good for everyone who enjoys eating, but wants to eat right.

Beef offers a great tasting package of nutrients for its relatively low calorie cost. And the ease of preparing beef makes it ideal for today's active American families. The fact is, beef fits into all our busy lifestyles.

If you need to learn more about fitting beef into your family's lifestyle, you will want to attend "Bring On The Beef," a seminar for consumers featuring lean beef. On Monday, March 21, experts in the topics of nutrition, beef usage, health and food preparation will conduct this evening of information on lean beef. Seminar location will be the Houston Harte Center at Angelo State University in San Angelo. (Not the Holiday Inn, as reported earlier.)

From 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., consumers can visit an array of booths to taste delicious dishes made with beef; talk with grocery store market managers; view exhibits and demonstrations provided by beef industry representatives; home economists; health organizations and others.

Following the viewing of exhibits and demonstrations at 7:30 p.m., will be the seminar itself. Elizabeth Wunderlich, Beef Industry Council representative; Dr. Dan Hale, Meats Specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service; and Debbie Christian, Extension Home Economist, will be presenting factual information that consumers are wanting to know about beef. By understanding the fact on beef, consumers using beef in a balanced diet, can select from a variety of cuts and can prepare them for the enjoyment and health of their families. Recipe packets, dietary analysis, door prizes and money off coupons will be included in participants packets.

The Seminar is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and is open to the entire public. There is no charge for participation. Business and organizations who are involved include: Furr's Supermarket, Food Emporium, M System, Skaggs Alpha Beta, West Texas Utilities, Silver Belle Cattleman, Handy Packing, Beef Industry Council and the American Heart Association.

Why Crop Insurance is Your Best Loan Collateral

Here are seven reasons why it's best for your lender and best for you:

- Crop insurance is immediate. Prompt payment of claims permits prompt repayment of loans (which means interest savings for you).
- Crop insurance is liquid. Indemnity payments are in cash - unlike other kinds of collateral that have to be converted to cash.
- Crop insurance has a known value.
- Crop insurance avoids the need to sell productive assets - such as land or equipment - in order to repay loans.
- Crop insurance doesn't reduce your net worth. In fact, when used to repay loans, it's the only form of collateral that doesn't reduce your net worth.
- Crop insurance is certain. It's a source of repayment income you and your lender can count on.
- Crop insurance is convenient. All that's necessary is your signature on the optional collateral assignment provision contained in the policy.

It's Easy to Figure Your Crop Insurance Protection . . . and What It Would Cost

With a few numbers that your local agent will be happy to provide, the cost of various levels of insurance protection can be calculated in a matter of minutes. It's as easy as filling in the spaces in the worksheet below.

Winters Firemen still need donations for truck

Donations are still needed by the Winters Volunteer Fire Department for the construction of an additional rural fire truck.

Firemen have received a number of donations, both money and materials, to help build the truck however, Chief Johnny Merrill said that at least $6,000 is still needed.

Merrill said that the department has purchased a truck and that a special aluminum water tank and a special pump have been ordered. The cost of the tank, which will hold about 500 gallons of water, is about $2,200. The pump will cost another $2,350.

The fire department cited the high number of grass and brush fires as one of the main reasons for the urgent need of additional water and pump capacity for the department. There have been several instances in which a fire has been almost under control when firefighters ran out of water and by the time a water truck could arrive the blaze was again out of control.

Chief Merrill said that with the large number of farmers and ranchers placing their land in the CRP program, the danger of fire increases due to the land being taken out of cultivation or no longer being used for grazing purposes.

Because of the high potential for range fires right now, the fire department official said that the need for the funds to complete the truck is urgent, if not critical.

To make donations to the fire department, contact any member of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department.

J'Dan Miller receives Lutheran Living Faith emblem Sunday

J'Dan Miller of Winters was presented the Lutheran Living Faith emblem at St. John's Lutheran Church of Winters on March 13, 1988. The recipient is the 15-year-old son of Dan and Elaine Miller and a member of Troop 249 of the Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Winters Lions Club.

The Lutheran Living Faith program is a religious growth program which fosters in Lutheran youth in civic youth-serving agencies a deepening understanding of the relevance of their Christian faith to life and strengthens their relationship to God and their church, pastor and community. Recipients must give evidence that they have a meaningful knowledge of the Christian faith, that their worship life reflects their love for God and their desire to communicate with Him often, that they witness to their faith in word and deed, that they are concerned for the spiritual and physical welfare of their fellowmen and that they render worthwhile service to their church and community. Robert Parramore, leader of Troop 249, presented the candidate for this special recognition by the church. The Rev. Steve Byrne, pastor of the church, officiated at the presentation ceremony.

The Lutheran Living Faith program is administered nationally by Programs of Religious Activities With Youth, 8520 Mackenzie Road, St. Louis, Missouri 63123 on behalf of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod upon the recommendation of the youth's pastor.

The emblem presented on completion of the program consists of a pendant with white background designed with the Chi-Rho in red, superimposed on a gold cross, red circle and modified Luther seal. The pendant is suspended by a red ribbon from a white bar with the words "Living Faith" in gold. The pendant is equipped with a safety catch. It may be detached from the ribbon and worn as a pin or brooch.
