Have you noticed something new around our country? Where county roads intersect highways, new signs are starting to appear.

The new signs identify county goads with numbers. This a program that was commissioned last year by our commissioner's court and should be completed within the next few months. By having separate identities for each county road, our homes will be much easier to locate. This will be a big help to fire, law enforcement, emergency medical, and others trying to find a rural home and not know ing where to go. Shucks, this might even help some folks find their own way home. Our commissioners are to be commended for undertaking this program. It is one that will receive little notice until it is needed. Then it just could be one of the most important things ever. I guess that I need to offer an apology to Rudy Hoffmann, Ball inger's City Administrator. He called late last week to discuss what we discussed in this space last week regarding the hospital in Ballinger and the city's opposition to a proposed medical clinic. I was unable to contact Rudy in three attempts. In that issue, my position remains. I am not taking either side in the issue, only making an observation. Apparently my assessment was right on target. Up the other direction, the folks in southern Taylor County are upset, and rightly so. After taking four years for the county commissioners to acknowledge that there is a major problem with emergency medical service in that area, the commissioners have now used up three months, and a bit more, to not arrive at a solution. One person called it "taxation without representation". At any rate, those folks have not been getting what they have been having to pay for the past however many years. These folks are now getting together and getting organized and, when they present their concerns to their commissioners, are sure to be heard. A number of folks are due thanks for their help this past week with the generation of funds for the stock show. By late Tuesday the stock show was some four thousand dollars short of the amount needed to produce the kind of quality livestock show we need and deserve.

A week ago, the funds were over nine thousand dollars not enough.

The livestock show effort, this year, has not received the support from some areas that it has in the past but, the show must go on - and it will.

about 40 area residents heard a presentation from Victor Hud man, of Hawley, regarding a subscription-type service that would charge an annual membership fee of $20 to $30 per year for each adult member of a household.

Hudman told the gathering that non-subscribers to the service would pay a different, higher charge for ambulance service.

He proposed stationing an ambulance, with one attendant, in Tuscola and working with a "first responder" type program. He said that he would equip that vehicle so that one person could operate the equipment.

In his presentation, Hudman overlooked the requirements of the Texas Department of Health, the state agency that licenses ambulance services, that require minimum equipment and personnel for an ambulance.

The state requires at least two certified persons on an am bulance with the minimum certification of ECA or EMT. Hudman said that he would need a minimum of approximately $60,000 to start up a service. Following that presentation, it was agreed that the residents

"The residents of the outlying towns and communities will be better served by a more central ly located operation."

A planning meeting has been scheduled for Friday to begin work on obtaining the signatures of all residents of South Taylor County on the letter.

Winters High School reports TEAMS results

During the January meeting of the School Board, results of the October administration of TEAMS (Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills) were reported. The TEAMS EXIT-Level test was ad ministered to a total of 53 juniors at Winters High School during statewide testing on October 25 and 26, 1988.

Juniors showing mastery of both tests have successfully completed on step toward graduation in May, 1990. Eightytwo percent mastered the mathematics portion of the examination and ninety-four percent mastered the Language Arts part of the test. Eighty-one percent of all juniors mastered both tests; only two students failed to master either test. School officials were excited about gains in all areas. "We feel confident that after students receive proper remediation for the areas not mastered, each will be able to show mastery prior to graduation," said Susie Johnson, WHS Counselor.

Winters High School juniors have consistently scored well on the TEAMS test since its inception in 1986. However, the Texas Education Agency will be changing the examination in the Fall of 1990 to include new objectives more closely in tune with the essential elements. This new test will also include a writing assignment.

Students who did not show mastery on either of the tests in this administration of TEAMS will be given the opportunity to retest in May 1989. All students are given four opportunities in which to show mastery on each section of the TEAMS examination.

The ornate staircase is the focal point of the entrance hallway. Handcrafted of oak, it took three years to build and required the services of 61 craftsmen. The coat of arms for the State of Texas is displayed above the gas burning fire place. Near the newel post is the Gresham's handcarved calling card basket.

The interior woodwork and grand staircase are of rare woods, among them; rosewood, satinwood, white mahogany, American oak and maple.

Imported features include a crystal chandelier from Venice, damask wall covering from London and a marble fireplace from Italy. Col. Gresham purchased fireplaces from all over the world and then built the rooms

The elaborately carved mahogany mantel in the front ballroom won first prize at the Philadelphia World's Fair in 1876. The mantel in the home's second parlor, is valued at $10,000. It was a prize winner at the New Orleans Exposition of 1886.

Even now, 85 years after its construction and furnishing, the home retains the style and magnificance that it displayed in its days of prominence when Col. and Mrs. Gresham entertained as many as 1,000 guests at a time.

Floor length windows on either side of the fireplace open full height to serve as doorways into the adjacent Solarium. The largest space in the home is the basement where there are many storage rooms and stoves on which to prepare food. It is then brought to the small kit-

Col. Gresham died in 1920 at the age of 79, closing a long and illustrious career. One of the highest paid attorneys in the state, he made his fortune in railroads, cotton and law. In 1923 the home was sold to the Diocese of Galveston and soon became known as "The Bishop's Palace.'

The residence is the only building in Texas included in the list of 100 architectural master pieces in the United States. It is also among 14 other residences and civic structure which are included in the Archives of the Library of Congress as being representative of early American Architecture.

The basement of the Palace was renovated in 1963, for use by the University of Texas Medical Branch Newman Club.

Dennis settled down to watch the ball game, Rhuenell and Jeani went shopping while the children played with friends and their gifts. Cliff and I had some more sight-seeing in mind so we drove to Galveston to visit the "Bishop's Palace."

The history of the home, perched majestically on the northwest corner of 14th and Broadway, actually dates back to the early 1880's when Galveston was at the height of its glory as the cultural and commercial center of Texas. The home was officially opened on January 1,

Some great philosopher once said that if he could see a man's cancelled checks for a year, he could tell you what that man valued in life. So far no one has really argued the veracity of that statement. On the way home from a day of pastor's meeting in Abilene last night, I had an idea. Show me a rural pastor's tool box on his pick-up and I will tell you what he values. This afternoon, I cleaned out my tool box and took inventory - just to see.

Here is a listing of the inventory. Two theological books (both written by Roman Catholic theologians) for me to read if I ever get stuck somewhere. 78 12-gauge shotgun shells in 5 boxes lying loose. 1 dozen golf balls. 2 partial boxes of .22 shells. 1 old tennis ball. 2 Communion kits. One emergency flasher/portable tire pump that operates off the cigarette lighter.

¹/₂ Box of calling cards. A quart of oil. Jumper cables. 1 tape that I borrowed from Nina Hoppe and should have given back to her sometime before Christmas, like maybe Halloween. Various John Michael Talbot, Willie Nelson, and Garrison Keillor tapes. Three paper sacks. One plastic bag for cleaned fish. One tow sack for fish that you plan to clean at home. An empty can of windshield de-icer. 1/4 bottle of anti-freeze (probably the most valuable of all the items). A Wes T Go mug for in-town coffee and diet drinks, an Allsup's mug for trips north and south, and a Fina mug for trips to Dallas-Fort Worth. An old rag and a pair of athletic socks. 3 30/30 shells, 12 30/06 shells. 1 Bottle of Deep Woods Off. 1 partial box each of pellets and B.B.'s for the boys.

2 bottles of congealed Sun Screen. A tire gauge. 2 Sets fishing pliers, 2 rods and reels, a tackle box. A bag of assorted paraphanalia. 2 old calendars. Actually a small chest of tools was in the tool box!

The New Testament on Cassette. A T-ball file and score book that I need to get to Ricky and Tammy. Some rope, a first-aid kit, a directory of all the members of St. John's, and an old pair of glasses.

You know, you never can tell when you might be out somewhere and the fish are biting or run into a covey of quail somewhere. That sort of pre-empts most things.

But that inventory told me something that I hadn't planned on. That. God has blessed me richly. The things

Low-interest mortgage money available to buyers of foreclosed homes

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm an- moderate-income who elect to nounced Saturday the State of Texas will make available lowinterest rate home mortgages to qualified buyers of foreclosed properties owned by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"This state-federal initiative was developed to reduce the inventory of foreclosed properties in Texas while enhancing the ability of low-and moderateincome families to qualify for a loan," Gramm said in a press conference in Dallas.

Thomas T. Demery, Federal Housing Commissioner, said the $16.9 million Texas Housing Agency financing program will be offered exclusively to first time homebuyers of low to buy one of 3,685 HUD-owned properties in Texas.

The average purchase price of these properites is $36,531.

"I am delighted to be able to announce this good news for the hundreds of hard-working families throughout Texas,' Gramm said. "The attractive home prices available on HUD properties coupled with this affordable state financing program should allow families earning as low as $15,000 to qualify for an average-priced HUD property," he said.

The downpayment required on typical property ranges from $100 to $500 with the balance of the home to be financed at an interest rate ranging from 8.05 percent to 9.55 percent, depending on the home. In contrast, the prevailing interest rate on conventional loans reported for December is 10.19 percent. A typical buyer purchasing an average priced home in this program will save $20,260 over the life of a loan as a result of this below-market rate financing, said Kenneth G. DeJarnett, Chairman of the Texas Housing Agency. "This unique program will create opportunites for homeownership among lower income renters who never dreamed they were in a position to afford a home," DeJarnett said. "If a family is paying $275-$300 a month rent and has a stable job and few debts, we strongly encourage them to apply for a loan under this program." The first date to apply for a home loan is January 18, 1989. In order to participate in this financing program, a buyer must select a foreclosed property, make an offer through a broker on the property which is acceptable to HUD, and present an executed sales purchase agree ment to a participating lender at time of loan application. Listings of HUD properties are published periodically in the newspaper or can be obtained from local real estate agencies. MOME FOR SALE. Curlan

A special seminar on "buying More Farmland" will be held February 3, 1989, at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, 17360 Coit Road, Dallas, Texas from 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m.

The seminar is designed to ex plore the "best" way of buying more land for Texas farms and ranches," says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist and at torney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Even if there is not a "best way", maybe we can keep peo ple from making mistakes that were common in the past."

Discussions will center on economies of scale, projecting cash flows financing alternatives and tax planning.

Farm purchase agreements include many clauses, notes Hayenga, and many of these will be discussed at the seminar. Benefits and restrictions to both sellers and buyers will be addressed.

One major consideration is projecting income from both the existing operation and the additional land. Dr. Ken Stokes, Extension economist from Dallas will discuss this topic.

Financing alternatives will be covered. Price and interest

Varsity Boys Winters vs Bangs Final Score: Bangs-59, Winters-56 January 13, 1989

James Self, with 14 points, was high scoring individual for Winters and the game. Others scoring for Winters: Dan Killough-13, Willie Belk and Chris Bahlman-9 each, Bryan Green-5, Tommy Selby-4, and Chris Rives-2 points. 9 of 33 free throws were made for 27%.

Comments: This was a very important game for us and we reacted very poorly. We were stone cold the first quarter and this hurt us a great deal. The killer of the night was our 9 for 33 from the free throw line. This poor free throw shooting will ruin a good teams' performance. No matter how well you shoot from the field it will be offset by poor free throw shooting. The loss was very disappointing and hurt us a great deal in our quest for a district championship. We will have to buckle up and go 8-1 in our last nine games in order to make the playoffs. The fellows know this and have accepted the challenge. They will be back! Their character will not allow them to fold and they plan on getting down to business Tuesday in San Saba and also Friday the 20th when we play Coleman at home. We need the tremendous fan support we have had all year in order to get us on a roll, so please come out and support the Blizzard teams. The varsity boys have a season record of 13-7 and a district record of 0-1 following this game with Bangs.

Letter to the Editor

Editor.

I am writing this letter to inform you of what I feel is an abuse of power in your city. On December 16, 1988 received a traffic citation for driving with a burned-out headlight in Winters, Texas. I understand that the citation issued to me was perfectly legal and I do not challenge its legality. However, what I do challenge is the circumstances surrounding the issuing of the citation. First, the traffic and weather conditions, as stated the citation, were as follows. The traffic was light, and the road surface was dry, the weather was clear, and the location was in a very well lighted area, Main Street. Under these circumstances I feel that a warning should have been issued. However, after speaking to Justice of the Peace J. C. Hodnett the following day, realized why a citation was issued in lieu of a warning. The reason, in Mr. Hodnett's words, "Well, the city needs the money." That brings me to my next reason for writing this letter. The following day I corrected the defective light and went to Mr. Hodnett thinking that the citation would be dismissed since the problem had been corrected; however, this was not the case. Mr. Hodnett insisted that the citation be paid since, in his words again, "Well, the city needs the money." This, to say people I learned that the pro- the problem had been corrected. bable reason for the unjust I feel that the only reason that treatment was due to the fact I was given a citation is the fact weekend of Dec. 16, 1988 to that I was from out-of-town. This citation cost me $38.50 plus several miscellaneous costs and may seem trivial to some people. However, I don't think that it is trivial. I look at that $38.50 + as money lost to a unjust legal system which, instead, could have gone toward one week of groceries or an electric bill. The fact of the matter is that I was treated unfairly, and it really scares me to think of what could have happened to me or the people I was traveling with had the circumstances been different.

Oldest Deer: First Rex Lowery. Drawing: First - Alvin Dunn, Second-Luther Parker, and Third-Billy Frank Belew.

An interesting note is that T. C. Smith, a fifth grader at Ballinger Elementary School, won the Big Doe category; and Wade Edington, a first grader at Ballinger Elementary School, won that I was from out of-town and considered prey.

Next, your remark, "Well, the city needs the money," was both unprofessional and totally out of line. I have doubts about your definition, but my understanding of the purpose of a police department is to "Protect and to Serve the Public." It is not meant to be a revenue source for the city!

We would like to suggest that next year you weigh in all you deer, so that we can age them. You may not win in the buck, spike or doe categories, but you could win in the oldest deer category.
