Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

We, sometimes, may not be aware of just how fortunate we are in our community.

For the past two years, there have been major problems in Ballinger with their hospital. The future of that health care facility is still somewhat unstable.

Our neighbors in Southern Taylor County have, for quite a few years, been without emergency medical care, and, in some instances, have not known even who to call for help.

These are problems that we are not faced with in our community. In years gone by, our community took the steps to keep our medical facility secure.

Through judicious use of tax dollars, our county commissioners have continued to provide us with emergency medical services.

There are many other ways in which our community has been spared problems because the members of our community and our county and city governments planned ahead.

Maybe the things that were done here wouldn't work in these other places, or maybe it would.

We are close enough to these neighbors to share some of their anxiety and their concerns, and to join with them in hopes of rapid, positive solutions to their respective needs and problems.

Just after noon Tuesday, folks in Winters who just happened to be looking toward the north, may have seen a huge plume of black smoke rising on the horizon.

I did. And only minutes later the news was flashed on television that another of the great airplanes from Dyess AFB had gone down.

Only weeks earlier, one of the new B1-B airplanes crashed just north of the base without major injuries.

I viewed the Tuesday accident with more than interest or concern.

For a number of years, the Air Force welcomed members of the news media to their facility and provided the news types with many rides on the different airplanes at the base.

During that time I was able to spend quite a few hours with the military and their planes. The majority of those hours were aboard the KC-135 jet tanker, like the one that crashed Tuesday.

During that time, friendships were made and, too, a fondness for that huge flying machine.

The "Tank" serves the Air Force not only as flying gas station but as an aircraft to carry personnel and to also carry supplies and equipment.

Through our relationship with the plane and the men who fly it, we feel close to the families of those men and to their Air Force family.

We feel their concerns and share their grief.

By the way, what about the elected folks in Washington D. C. and the pay raise they want to give themselves?

The pay increase issue, along with a multitude of legislative items coming from the nation's capitol could lead one to wonder if there could be a solution to the national debt—and get some new faces in the news, too.

Third-grader wins rail weight contest

The final figures were checked and re-checked Tuesday to determine the winner in the contest to guess the weight of the railroad and the winner is Heather Watkins, an eight-year-old third grade student and the daughter of Fred and Brenda Watkins of Winters.

Heather's winning estimate was only 156.95 tons over the weight of the railroad as provided by Midwest Corporation. The total weight, as estimated by John Wilhoit, vice-president of Midwest Corporation and purchasing agent, is 6,457.08 tons.

Heather's winning guess was 6,614.03 tons.

Heather will receive a crisp $100 for her winning guess. The prize will be presented later this week.

A total of 37 entries were received in the contest with weight estimates that ranged from hundreds of thousands of tons to six entries that were within winning distance of the weight.

Four indictments alleging felony driving while intoxicated were returned by the grand jury. Indicted were Phillip Scott Perry, Jesus Lopez Martinez, Johnny Perfecto Saucedo, and Ruben Ray Galino.

South Taylor County meeting discusses EMS

A large cross-section of South Taylor County was represented at a meeting Monday evening in the Jim Ned High School Gym to seek ways to provide emergency ambulance serviced to the rural area.

Speaking to the group was Andy Cargill, EMS Field Supervisor for the Texas Department of Health, Taylor County Commissioner John Thompson, and Randy Nolte, owner of North Runnels Emergency Service of Winters.

The discussions centered around problems encountered with Abilene Emergency Medical Service and that service's response time to the southern Taylor County areas.

Several residents told of calling for an ambulance and having to wait for over an hour for emergency medical help to arrive.

Commissioner John Thompson told the gathering that the Abilene ambulance service was called about a year ago to transport a member of his family to a hospital. He said that the ambulance attendants requested payment before providing service. Thompson said the ambulance "even had their MasterCard thing on the dash."

One of the solutions discussed involved a volunteer service that would provide area residents with a "First Responder"-type service which provide the same care as an ambulance could until the ambulance arrived.

The committee working to solve the problem said that Taylor County should provide financial aid to get some kind of service started.

A number of dollar and cent figures were discussed and comparisons were made of the amounts spent by Taylor County for emergency ambulance with the amounts spent in neighboring counties.

Those figures ranged from a high of $124,000 per year in Nolan County to the low in Taylor County of $12,000 for rural residents.

Some time was spent in discussing the possibility of creating an Emergency Service District with the power to levy property taxes.

At the present time, Taylor County is looking into contracting with North Runnels Emergency Service, of Winters, to provide coverage for the area in question.

Randy Nolte, owner of NRES, said that his service would respond to calls in that area for up to one year to allow time for some type of service to begin in Tuscola or some other central location in southern Taylor County. Nolte said that his service would also be ready to assist with the required training for ambulance personnel in that area.

At the conclusion of the meeting, committee members said that they would continue to gather information and that another community-wide meeting would be scheduled later.

Persons attending the meeting were urged to contact their county commissioners by phone and by mail, as well as to attend the commissioners' court meetings to make the county's governing body aware of the need for a responsive ambulance service in southern Taylor County and the residents concern about the lack of such service and the lack of action on the part of the commissioners in resolving the problem.

Rebel or Crusader?

Randy Nolte calls himself a rebel but he is more like a crusader, always the champion of those who need a helping hand or a little encouragement. Nolte opened the Radio Shack in Ballinger in 1981. He was also going to paramedic school in Eden and taking part of his study in San Angelo. He started working in Winters in 1982 when there was need for a respiratory contract and he worked here two years before moving to Winters.

As there was opportunity for ambulance service, Randy moved to Winters because the people were so warm and friendly, that he wanted to live here. Although the hospital regulations provided only one meal a day for outsiders, could it be that he always found some warm left-overs in the oven at night?

Although Nolte is the only respiratory care practitioner in the county, he operates three ambulances with the help of eight part-time drivers. Each is paid $25 for an ambulance run which can help as a supplement to a regular income. However, they do not receive pay while on duty waiting for a call.

Perhaps Randy's desire to give a helping hand stems from his own trauma at the divorce of his parents when he was 14 years old. He lived with some neighbors while he finished high school, spending half the day in school at Greenville, Illinois, and the other half in vocational electronics. His adopted family raised registered hogs for fairs and stock shows. They spent the summers traveling and the winter time selling. He stayed with this work for two years and started training as a private pilot in Illinois.

The war came on and Nolte served in the United States Navy as a radio and morse code operator, spending most of his time in the Middle East and around the Indian Ocean. He enlisted in 1973 and served through 1976.

In 1977, Randy moved to

The official competition in each age group entitled Baby

Junction to live with his stepbrother, who was a flight instructor, and take flight training. He decided this wasn't what he wanted and moved to Del Rio to open a business with others called the "Ice and Keg Inc." at the same time he was taking on the job training as a veterinary technician. He stayed with this three years and then returned to Junction in 1980 to work on a satellite system, helping build the first type of motorized polar mount. While working there he was learning how to become a respiratory therapy technician

Another 1981 he helped form another satellite company and started the Radio Shack in Ballinger. At the same time he held a contract for respiratory therapy with the Ballinger hospital. In addition to conducting the ambulance service for the county he is holding three types of classes for trainees throughout the district for which they can obtain college credit and help care for the needs of others. The first class is training for Emergency Medical Technician. The two advanced levels of training—EMT with special skills (EMT-SS) and Paramedic. Nolte says his classes that meet in the Rock Hotel two nights a week are growing to such an extent that some have to sit in another room and watch by television.

Although he is not married, Randy has taken two teenage boys under his wing and is helping them start careers, one is Rick Smith, his adopted son, and Dug Gray. For his vocation, Nolte is in the Naval reserves now, train-

Petite (0-2 years), LaPetite (3-6 years), Our Little Miss (7-12 years), and Ideal Miss (13-17 years), will be judged in party dress (evening gown for Ideal Miss), sportswear, and have close-up appraisal with the judges. In the Our Little Miss and Ideal Miss division, talent is also mandatory.

A second competition in each age group is Universal Beauty. This competition is judged on beauty only by a separate panel of judges. The contestant will model party dress (evening gown for Ideal Miss), sportswear, and have close-up appraisal. A contestant may enter one or both competitions.

Talent routines must not exceed three minutes in length. All costumes must be in "good taste" and no exposed midriffs allowed. If the talent requires a tape it must be of a high quality cassette such as "Memorex" and must only have one music selection per tape. Bring a duplicate tape with you in case of an accident. All tapes must be labeled with the child's name and the title of the selection. Tapes must be picked up after competition. A piano will be available. No fire acts are allowed.

Optional Categories: Photogenic is offered in each age division. Pictures may be in color or in black and white, but must be at least 3x5 size photos. Framed pictures will not be accepted. All pictures will be judged before the contest and winners announced at finals. Pictures will be returned at the completion of the pageant.

Best Party Dress and Best Sportswear are offered in each age division and will be judged during official competition.

Winners Circle is a competition for any girl who is already eligible for the state competition. She may enter the official and/or universal beauty competitions. She will compete against other winners circle contestants in her age division only.

Please fill out the entry blank completely and sign the release. Mail in on or before February 10, 1989. After we receive the above, we will send an acknowledgement and a tentative schedule. Due to time efficiency we encourage no registration the day of competition at the door. If you have any ing Petty Officers in Abilene as a hospital Corpsman, 2nd Class, and spends one weekend a month out of town, two weeks in the summer.

With all of his many activities, I'm sure Randy was happy to see his mother and step-father, Rita and Warren Fansler, when they came south for the winter and are parked at his house in their motor home. He will probably taste some of mom's cooking once more.

When the Emergency Medical Service was threatened in rural areas, Randy got on the band wagon and with others helped stop the proposed change. Now he is on the EMS Subcommittee of the Texas Senate for special Task Force for Rural Health Care Delivery.

Is it a wonder that Nolte has been selected for inclusion in the 1988 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

His life is an example to all the youth of America—"where there is a will there is a way."

Memo from the Chamber of Commerce

Winters Area Chamber of Commerce would like to thank all of you who attended our Annual Banquet last Thursday evening. It was a great event. Travis Franklin did a great job as Master of Ceremonies. Randall Connor did an outstanding job of making the presentation awards to Citizen of the Year, Lanny Bahlman and to Agriculture Citizens, Billy Joe and Kay Colburn. Our most sincere congratulations to those very deserving people.

To Travis, Randall, Jim Corley, Jim Lanning and those who stood up and said what Winters had meant to them, we are grateful. The young man from ACU did an excellent job of presenting the musical program. Thank you goes to a group of girls from Total Teens who waited tables so efficiently. The food for the evening was excellent due to the "good cooks" of the school cafeteria.

Your asking, What's next for the Chamber? Plans are beginning to be made for an event in the Spring for downtown Winters and of course we are beginning to look toward Mayfest. As members of the Chamber of Commerce your input is always welcomed. For any suggestions, criticisms, etc. call 754-5210 and let's talk.

To the readers of this column, I would like to thank this opportunity to thank the Directors who served in 1988 so competent and efficiently. Nelan Bahlman, Mitzie Deike, Mike Kozelsky, Carl Grenwelge, Mike McDonald and Randy Hoelscher. They gave of their time and energy many, many hours. And for the beautiful piece of cutglass presented at the Banquet by these Directors to your manager, I am indeed grateful.

We would like to recognize some very new members of the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce. George and LaRue Garrett, Ava's Dreams by the Yard, Winters Motel, Cherry Dry, Linda Dry, Joni-Lynn Factory. Thank you for becoming a part of your Chamber.

Pruser, Gloria Poehls, Linda Dry, and Gary Pinkerton.

Date set for TEAMS Testing

It is time once again for Texas students in grades 3, 5, 7, and 9 to take the TEAMS tests. TEAMS (Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills) measures basic skills in the areas of mathematics, reading, and writing. Students in Winters Elementary (grades 3 and 5) will take TEAMS tests on February 7-8-9. Junior high students in grade 7 will take the TEAMS tests on February 7-8-9, while high school ninth graders will be tested on February 15-16-17.

Since testing will take place in the mornings only, it is important for students to be present and on time each morning. Parents are urged to encourage youngsters to do well and be prepared for these tests. However, there is no last minute studying which can be done for the test. TEAMS is designed to correspond to the essential elements at each grade level. Therefore, students should have covered any material being tested. Students will do better on the tests if they have a good night's sleep and a nutritious breakfast prior to coming to school.

Testing will help teachers and administrators pinpoint student needs and weaknesses. The tests will identify areas of poor performance in basic skills so that appropriate instructional remediation can be provided. In the past Winters students have done well on TEAMS and that trend is expected to continue. Because of changes in the state's requirements, TEAMS will be replaced in the 1990-91 school year to include more difficult items and higher passing scores.

As students progress into a new era of state-mandated testing, more importance will be placed on this new state test. Scores on achievement tests will be watched very closely for signs of weaknesses. Schools are being required to provide more and more courses designed to help in remediation of skills. WISD is committed to doing this at each grade level.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

I enjoyed the evening at the Chamber of Commerce Banquet this year. Good food. Talented entertainment. The awards for citizens of the year were well deserved.

The part that I enjoyed most was the superb job that my colleague up the street did emceeing the evening's festivities. It is a hard position to be in; I know. I did it once or twice.

What impressed me most was Travis' sense of presence. And his spontaneity. Which is almost the same thing. These two qualities are signs of a strong spiritual life.

It is relatively easy to get up and speak from prepared notes. But to truly BE PRESENT at a function like that, in front of all those people, you can't be insecure. You can't always be thinking about what you are going to say next or how people are responding to you because that takes your concentration away from the events taking place.

Most people are self-conscious in situations like that. We need affirmation from our peers and listeners.

Self-security and spontaneity are by-products of a healthy spiritual life. Where our affirmation comes from God. It is taken care of. We don't need to worry about it any more. And we can focus all our energies into being PRESENT in any given situation.

Our response, like Travis', tend to be creative. Because we are in touch with the Christ who dwells in us.

It is a paradox. Of course all truth at its deepest level is paradox. If we are trying too hard to get praise or affirmation from others, we are least likely to get it. But in self-forgetful style of being ourselves, praise comes. And is deserved.

Jesus got put on the spot a lot by his enemies. He received his affirmation from God, Himself, so he could be present in any situation. Which he was.

Once Jesus found himself in the situation of being asked whether a young woman caught in adultery should be stoned (which was Jewish law) or let go. He was in a lose-lose situation. Either way he would have been accused of not taking either the law or the value of human life seriously enough.

But his strong spiritual life made him truly present. He answered with one of the most creative responses I have ever heard. "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone." He got the point across and got off the hook.

There are all kinds of creativity. The kind we most likely think about is the creativity that the young man from ACU showed us that night. Another kind is the creativity that comes from being truly present in this world. With events and with people.

Both kinds of creativity are gifts of God. The latter almost always is a direct by-product of a close walk with the Creator.

Thanks for the reminder, Trav. I hope the Methodists know what they've got.

Men turning 26 in 1989 must register

Young men who will turn 26 in 1989 will be reaching an important milestone, according to the Selective Service System.

Beginning on January 1, 1989, men who were required to register with Selective Service in 1981 will be turning 26. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept late registrations after a man reaches his 26th birthday.

Selective Service State Director Harold D. Doyle warned that, with a few exceptions, a man who fails to register before turning 26 will permanently forfeit his eligibility for certain federal benefits such as student aid, job training, and most federal employment, in addition to facing possible prosecution as a felon.

Some states also require registration for state student aid, entrance to state-supported colleges and universities, state employment, and permission to practice law.

Many of the men who have not registered may be unaware of the requirement or do not understand the importance of the obligation to register. Some may even have served in the military but failed to register either before entering the armed forces or after leaving active duty. Others may have been institutionalized or incarcerated at the time of their 18th birthday and did not realize they were required to register if released prior to age 26.

State Director Doyle points out that men age 18 through 25 who have not yet registered can avoid the risk of prosecution and loss of benefits by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to 5 years in prison, or both.

For those men born in 1963 who have registered, 1989 also marks the year that ends their eligibility for selection for induction under present law.

Over 21 million men have registered with Selective Service since registration was reinstated in 1980. Currently, over one million Texas men age 18 through 25 are registered.

Texas Agri-Women to hold meeting

Subjects ranging from water rights to pesticide safety will be among major discussions when the Annual Conference of the Texas Agri-Women convenes February 11-13 in Austin.

Addressing the meeting will be some key leaders of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, representatives of the Texas A&M University System and of the Biomedical Sciences Center at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, and key industry leaders of the state.

"A major part of the program will be a pesticide panel symposium February 12," said Georgia Lee Swickheimer, state president of the organization. She operates a ranch at Fannin, near Goliad.

Swickheimer said more than 70 women from across the state are expected to take part in the conference, called "Texas Agri-Women in Action."

She said the Texas organization is affiliated with the American Agri-Women, an agricultural organization that works toward educating, developing and promoting agriculture for Texas and the nation.

Stenholm

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm is fast becoming one of the senior Members of the U.S. House Veterans Affairs Committee.

The area Democrat is now the eleventh-ranking Representative on the 41-member committee. Congressman Stenholm also serves on the Subcommittee on Hospitals and Health Care, on which he is the only Texan.

"I realize that one of the major concerns for those of us in rural areas is the availability of adequate health care and that is why I have made this one of my legislative goals," said Congressman Stenholm. "You've heard me talk about this in the past and you're going to hear it more as we wrestle with this issue during the 101st Congress."

"Our job right now is to find a way to provide better health care at a lower price," the Congressman continued. "This philosophy must hold true in all areas of government. After the first committee hearing, we are aware that everyone's budget will be tight, including the Veterans. But we have an obligation to the men and women who have served this country. Many will forever carry the physical burdens and scars that resulted from their actions. They made a commitment to our nation and now we must maintain our commitment to them."

Chairman G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery presided over the reorganization of the VA Committee on Tuesday, January 24. He said of Congressman Stenholm, "In Charlie Stenholm you have a fine man who is genuinely interested in looking out for our Veterans. I am glad that he serves on this committee because he works for all Americans. I know he will contribute greatly to our legislative agenda and will be at the forefront of maintaining needed medical care and service for Veterans."

Social Security sets February visit

Winters school to participate in Texas/National Citizen Bee Competition

Winters High School students will have the opportunity to participate in a unique social studies academic competition which could lead to a scholarship, prizes and a study trip to Washington, D.C. later this year. The school has registered for the Close Up Foundation Citizen Bee.

The Citizen Bee is an academic competition that focuses on social studies and progresses through school, regional, and state events. Three Winters students will advance to regional competitions with top students there going to the state finals later this year.

Each of the schools registering for the event is permitted an unlimited number of participants and each school will receive a number of copies of a source book from which most of the questions will be derived. State winners earn a trip to Washington to participate in the Foundation's government studies program and the competition where winners receive college scholarships. The Milken Family Foundation is the national sponsor of the Citizen Bee with additional support provided by RJR Nabisco, Inc.; Peat Marwick Main & Co.; Kraft, Inc.; and the Monsanto Fund. In Texas, the Citizen Bee is sponsored by the Houston Chronicle and Southwestern Bell Foundation. Continental Airlines is the official "airline" of the Texas Citizen Bee.

Susie Johnson, an educator at Winters, will be coordinating the Citizen Bee at the school.
