Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

It was welcome news when top cop Tim called Monday to advise his troops were going to work the school zones around the elementary school.

Normally, the police car is visible on Main Street during the hours the school zone is in operating. The police presence is needed to slow down the traffic on busy U.S. 83.

The police officers are also needed, perhaps more so, on the other side of the school complex. On the back side of the school, over on Rogers Street, we find the little kids going to and from school.

We also find folks there who are more intent on getting somewhere else in a hurry than watching out for our kids.

Now there are some of those big, bad speed bumps on that street. Some folks seem to get some enjoyment trying to see how far they can bounce over these bumps, while other folks try to see how fast they can get around the bumps with half of their car, bumping with the other half, and seeing how close they can get to a fence—all at the same time.

I hate to say bad things about our commissioners and the employees in the precincts. These guys do a good job and work hard.

The commissioners are to be commended for having all the county roads identified. It helps when emergency response folks are called to know which road they are to go on. It saves having to know what the roads were called in years gone by. There are some of us who have lived here only nine or ten years and haven't learned where the Old Whatchyoucallit School Road is and these numbers will help.

There is a problem, however. After we get on these roads and get to the first intersection, the number changes and we have to stop, get out the new map, and try to find where we are.

It will be better, sometime, than trying to find some road that is known locally because of its location and that of some long-gone facility.

Of course, though, you can never get any better than "taking the first turn (whatever direction) by the big pecan tree that was just down the road from the old house where Uncle Ned's first wife's third cousin's nephew used to live back in 1850.

Almost forgot. Our county roads would look a lot neater if the brush was trimmed with something other than a shredder turned up on its side. After the limbs grow back we will never see the bare and shattered limbs, but we will for a while.

Memorial Day

*At Gettysburg, at San Juan Hill,
In Flanders Fields now all is still,
But men still drill and march away
Like you who made Memorial Day.*

*In Normandy, and on Bataan,
At Inchon, Khe Sanh, and in Iran,
Selflessly the need you met,
And now we know we must not forget.*

*Those who fought and those who fell,
To hear the bell of freedom knell,
We crouch beside your graves today,
These wreaths of vernal buds to lay.*

*And to you who died for freedom's sake,
A pledge to carry on we make:
The torch that you so bravely bore
Shall be our beacon evermore.
We pray that by its guiding light
We'll find our course and hold it right,
We hope it may throughout the years
Bring an end to blood and tears.*

*For we're a nation proud and free,
And sometimes it is hard to see
Where friendship for our cause abides
And where a foe of freedom hides.*

*You have found peace while we still weep,
And wait o'er charges we must keep,
There'll be no peace until we find
A way that's just for all mankind.*

—William J. Acker

Same mail boxes, new location

The after-hours, drive-by mail boxes at the Winters Post Office are now in a new location, on State Street, immediately across the street in front of the Post Office.

The boxes were moved and set in place by contractor Jim Lincecomb, of Winters.

Winters Postmaster Dean Thompson said that the boxes were moved to make them easier to get to and to ease congestion in the Post Office parking lot and, also, to reduce the chances of accidents where the parking lot and drive-by boxes exit onto Church Street.

10th Annual Rodeo termed big success

The Tenth Annual Rodeo concluded with ticket sales and attendance up markedly over last year.

The 1989 Miss Rodeo was announced and crowned on Friday night to reign over the rodeo. Miss Rodeo 1989 is Tabitha Grohman, daughter of Freddie and Landa Grohman, of Winters. Miss Grohman received her crown, a $125 belt buckle, and a two hundred dollar scholarship to the university or trade school of her choice. The scholarship is provided each year by the directors of the Winters Rodeo Association.

The rodeo parade held on Saturday afternoon was one of the best ever. There were thirty two entries, with a large number of local participants. There were out of town entries from Sweetwater, San Angelo (West Texas Boys Ranch), Coleman, Abilene, Hawley, De Leon, Potosi, and Ballinger.

First, second and third place trophies were given in the Horse Clubs division, where the Potosi Riding Club placed first, the Comanche County Sheriff Posse placed second, and the Nolan County Sheriff Posse placed third.

A first place trophy was given in the floats (decorated cars and pickups) division. This trophy went to Cheri Dry, Jana Jackson and Clyd (the Clydesdale).

A pair of clowns, Heather Brown and Stephanie Powers, won first place in the Youth (bicycles, walkers, horseback, etc) division.

The Motorized Vehicle division was won by James Andrae and Jennifer Prewitt.

Antique Cars division was captured by the Abilene Model A Club.

The Horse Drawn Vehicle trophy was won by the People's National Bank Entry.

The Most Unique trophy was won by Esta Watson of Coleman for her pony cart.

Judges for the parade were Melinda Hudson of Miles, Soil Conservationist with the United States Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, located in Ballinger; and Todd Swift, of Ballinger, Assistant Agriculture Agent with the Runnels County Agriculture Extension Service in Ballinger.

Parade Marshall was Lanny Bahlman, of Bahlman Jewelers in Winters. Parade director was Linda Dry with Linda Hanson and Ruth Jobe assisting.

David Evans, president of the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce, was the announcer for the parade in the downtown area.

The 4-S Rodeo Company producer, Sammy Smith, paid a purse of $8,180 which was $2,395 above the $5,785 which was paid last year. A total of $4,410 prize money was paid in Team Roping, $1,240 in Bull Riding, $1,480 in Calf Roping, $770 in Ladies Barrel Racing, and $280 in Bare Back Bronc Riding.

Placing first in Team Roping were Tony Dodds and Corey Foster, second place went to Lanham Mangold and Kevin Steward, in third place were Jeff Bailey and Glen Hutto, fourth place was captured by Jay Smith and Carey Foster, David Outlaws and Joe Day won fifth place, and Smitty Smith and Ross Graham landed sixth place.

Winner in the Calf Roping event were Keith Hudson of Paradise, in first place; Freddie Hernandez, of Abilene, in second place; Lanham Mangold, of Huntersville, in third place; and Billy Dale Haley, of Abilene, in fourth place.

In Ladies Barrel Racing, Jimmy Outlaws, of Granbury, captured first place; Tammy Mulanx, of Midland, came in second; Joy Jean Basinger of Southland, was third; and Kody Newman of Stanton, took fourth.

The Bareback Bronc event ended with Adam Brewster of Snyder, in first place and Billy McAnally of Monahans, in second.

Jim Bob Stoeber of Abilene, rode his way to victory in probably the most exciting event—Bull Riding; with Kenneth McKee of Lubbock, coming in a close second. Boon Byrd of Brownwood, placed third; and Timmy Blancher of Thibodaux, LA, hung on to take fourth place.

Winners in the Junior Barrel Racing in the eleven years of age and under division were Trina Moore of Odessa, first; Lori Jobe of Winters, second; and Austin Jobe of Winters, third. Winners in the twelve through eighteen division were Michele Moore of Odessa, who easily captured first place; LaTricia Palmer of Blackwell, fell into second; and Bridgett Mansell of Ballinger, came in third.

Rodeos and parades of this magnitude are not a natural occurrence. They are the results of many hours of work. The Winters Rodeo Association expresses thanks to the unified efforts of the businesses, clubs, organizations and individuals in Winters, Runnels County, and the surrounding area. Contributing to the success of the rodeo were the many friends who purchased advertising in the program; all the people who assisted with the parade; the participants in the parade; the parade spectators; the Winters

Commercial rabbit production hopping in Runnels County

Natives of West Texas have a reputation for being resilient and innovative in the face of hardship. The economic conditions of the past two years, especially in agriculture, have caused several West Texas families to turn to something new, commercial rabbit production.

Commercial rabbitry is big business in other states as well as in Europe. In Texas, however, the rabbit industry has been in a no-growth state for over 30 years due to failures in supply, processing, and proper marketing.

In looking for ways to supplement the economy and to introduce a new industry to the area, John Dankworth, of Ballinger, joined forces with eight other area residents to form a cooperative which is now known as Commercial Rabbit Producers.

Utilizing information from the United States Department of Agriculture, the Texas Department of Agriculture, research results from several major universities as well as dietary information from health-related organizations, the rabbit production cooperative has begun operations in this area.

According to John Dankworth, with the production of quality rabbits, if a sound and stable processing and marketing business is well established in the area, this should be incentive for many rabbit growers to take the risk and secure the funding necessary to construct controlled environment housing and properly equip it, a more profitable part-time or full-time

School Zone traffic patrols to include elementary areas

Winters Police Chief Tim Dexter said Monday that police officers will increase patrols in the Elementary School areas as well as continue the enforcement of the reduced speeds around the schools in other areas.

Dexter said that there have been several complaints of excessive speed, especially on Rogers Street, during hours when the Kindergarten students and first, second and third grade students are leaving school or arriving at school.

The chief said that officer would be issuing citations to drivers not observing the speed limits and endangering the young school children.

business can be developed.

One of the main stumbling blocks for the commercial rabbit production is the "Easter bunny syndrome" as it would relate to using a pet as a food source.

The rabbit can, in one respect, be similar to beef cattle or swine production.

In quite a different way, rabbit as a food source far surpasses nearly all other meats in desirability due to extremely low cholesterol content, calorie potential, and ease of preparation. With the public awareness of health there is now a demand for health in foods with special attention being paid to the protein, fat, cholesterol and sodium contents.

In this area of the country, beef is the primary food source followed by pork and poultry. Further north, pork takes the lead. In Europe, rabbit is near the top of the list.

Locally, rabbit is just beginning to appear on the shelves of meat markets and the meat is beginning to gain acceptance in health care institutions.

The potential growth of the rabbit industry is tremendous, according to Dankworth. If the annual consumption per person would reach three pounds, 600 million pounds per year, it would require approximately 50 million rabbits per month.

Solely on a productivity basis, one doe rabbit can produce the equivalent weight of meat to that of one cow, in total pounds of meat produced because of the rapid reproduction of the rabbits.

In order to produce 600 million fryer rabbit per year, it would take 36 very large, automated plants operating across the country. Each plant would need to process 17.5 million rabbits per year, or an average of 337,000 per week.

These rabbits would have to be supplied by growers utilizing controlled environmental housing to eliminate fluctuations in production. This would, according to information supplied by the Rabbit Producers Cooperative, require 18,000 full-time grower operations, with about 500 in the area of each plant. Each growing operation consisting of about 720 breeding does, could produce for market 35,000 fryers per year, or about 49 fryers per doe per year to supply the processors.

At the present time, the cooperative is made up of nine members. These nine members, using the combined buying and marketing power of a cooperative is working to build programs to reduce the costs of feed, to find and secure more production facilities for the packaging of the rabbit fryers, and more outlets and buyers of the packaged product.

Dankworth said that there is plenty of room for additional rabbit growers, which are needed to further the growth of the cooperative and help open more doors in the market-place and further reduce the cost of production.

For more information on the "High-Protein, Low Calorie" rabbit and the Commercial Rabbit Producer's Cooperative, contact John Dankworth at 306 Sharp in Ballinger or by calling 915-365-5681.

 by Charlsie Poe

Charlsie Poe comes of age

Children and grandchildren of Charlsie Poe are inviting you to help them celebrate her 80th birthday May 28, 1989, from 2 to 4 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

Charlsie is well known for her articles in the Winters Enterprise each week but she does not like to write about herself and has asked Kat Young for permission to use an article that she wrote in March, 1982, when the Diversity Club submitted her name as a candidate for Hometown Hero.

The submission was in cooperation with the Texas Historical Agencies and the Sons and Daughters of the Republic of Texas who declared March as "The Heroes of Texas Month". Each county was asked to select five of their own "Hometown Heroes" who are remembered for contributions or exceptional service to their counties, to be published in a statewide Roster of Honor.

Runnels County joined 253 counties in this heritage project. The five people selected were Felton T. (Pooch) Wright of Ballinger, founder of the Bearcat tradition; one of the founding fathers of Ballinger; Paul J. Baron, founder of Rowena; Charlsie Poe, historical writer and community leader; John W.

Charlsie Poe

Norman, civic, church and school leader and provider of wholesome entertainment.

Poe says that little has changed since the article was written except she has a few more wrinkles and four more great-grandchildren.

Hometown Heroes
 by Mrs. Roy Young
 The Diversity Club of Winters, Texas submits the name of Charlsie Mae Graham Poe as candidate for Hometown Hero.

Charlsie was born May 28, 1909 in Jones County - moving to Winters with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Graham, in 1915. She graduated from Winters High School and attended Hardin-Simmons University before her marriage to George W. Poe in 1927. The couple lived on a farm west of Winters until moving to town in 1949. Their daughter, Jeannine, lives in Tillamook, Oregon, and their son, Dennis, lives here. He is a farmer and cotton buyer. The couple have four grandsons and two great-grandchildren. Mr. Poe served four years on the city council and four as mayor of Winters before his death in 1973.

Always interested in civic and church work, Mrs. Poe is a past president of the Band Mothers Club, Parent-Teacher Association and Diversity Club. She served as president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Runnels Baptist Association for six years and as superintendent of the Intermediate department in Sunday School at the First Baptist Church for 30 years, devoting a great deal of her time to the youth of the community. Since 1974 she has been a director of the adult Sunday School department. In 1971 she became a member of the board of directors of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene.

During the time she was teaching in the Winters Public Schools from 1942-49, Mrs. Poe took an extension course in creative writing, along with some other courses, from HSU. She studied and worked at writing periodically and became a correspondent for the Abilene Reporter-News in 1955. Since that time she has worked steadily at writing, and has had articles and poetry published in a number of magazines, and is a regular contributor to the True West Magazine.

Charlsie has written special articles for the Winters Enterprise through the years and wrote all the historical articles in the special addition, June 18, 1965, for the 75th anniversary of the town. In 1975 as a bicentennial feature, she began a weekly column, Poe's Corner, which continues today. Columns for the year 1978 have been made into a book.

Her first book Angel To The Papagos was published in 1964. It received third place for adult nonfiction in Texas Press Women awards, 1965. In 1970 she received the official Texas award for the best publication of the year on local or regional history for her book Runnels Is My County.

Other awards include first in article writing at the Glorieta, New Mexico Writer's Conference in 1959. Sweepstakes winner in Grand-parents Brag Contest, West Texas Fair, 1973. First place in poetry, 5th annual Abilene Writer's Guild Contest,

TSTA pleased with passing of Bill 85

Two far-reaching retirement bills affecting every current and retired school employee in Texas have been passed by the Texas Legislature and sent to Gov. Bill Clements for his signature.

The Texas State Teachers Association praised the Legislature for passing both House Bill 85, sponsored by Rep. Jim Rudd of Brownfield, and Senate Bill 490 by Sen. John Montford of Lubbock.

Among the major provisions in the bills are options for early retirement for current school employees, improved provisions for beneficiaries, and a raise for currently retired employees.

TSTA President Charles Beard said the retirement legislation was top priority legislation for his 95,000-member association, along with an improvement in the state's basic salary schedule.

"This bill will go a long way in attracting new teachers to choose teaching as a career," Beard said. "It adds an important benefit for all other school employees, including the educational support personnel."

House Bill 85 provides full

- First Grade: 3 Child Craft, 2 Encyclopedia of Science.
- Second Grade: 1 World Book Encyclopedia, 4 Child Craft and 2 Dictionaries.
- Third Grade: 2 World Book Encyclopedia, 2 Child Craft and 1 Dictionary.
- Fourth Grade: 2 World Book Encyclopedia, 1 Child Craft and 5 Encyclopedia of Science.
- Fifth Grade: 1 Child Craft, 1 Encyclopedia of Science and 2 Atlas.
- Sixth Grade: 1 Child Craft, 1 Encyclopedia of Science and 1 Atlas.
- Total: 5 World Book Encyclopedia; 12 Child Craft; 9 Encyclopedia of Science; 3 Atlas; 3 Dictionaries.

Many Winters citizens sponsored one or more of these students. Your participation was generous and appreciated very much. Pledged amount collected by the students was $3,848.84 and World Book matched amount was $1,924.42, for a total of $5,773.26.

retirement benefits to any 55-year-old school employee who has 30 years of service in the profession. It also would reduce the early retirement penalties for others. For example, an employee at age 55 years with 20 years of service could retire with only a 10 percent reduction in benefits, as opposed to the current penalty of 30 percent.

The bill also increases monthly benefits for currently retired employees, ranging from four percent to 16 percent depending upon the year of retirement, up to $100 per month. The raises will be distributed in four groups: those retiring between September 1975 and August, 1980 will receive 12 percent; those retiring between September 1980 and August, 1983 will net eight percent; and those retiring between September 1983 and August 1986 will receive four percent.

The state's contribution to the Teacher Retirement System will be increased from the current 7.2% to 7.65% for four years, after which it will automatically increase to eight percent, the original amount of the state's contribution before reductions were made several sessions ago.

Senate Bill 490 also adds key benefits in that it reduces the current vesting period from ten years to only five years. It also provides options for beneficiary payments in that it will allow a retiree to elect to receive smaller monthly retirement payments in order to guarantee a lifetime annuity for the designated beneficiary. Should the beneficiary die first, however, the retiree will now be able to revert back to drawing full benefits.

It also provides the beneficiary the option of receiving a $10,000 lump sum or a monthly allotment.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Once in this column I wrote about how much the Texas Agricultural Extension Service does for the morale of rural ministers with its Town and Country Church Conference every fall. It seems that this same organization had added another resource for pastors of small town and rural congregations.

A couple of months ago, my Bishop called. Said he had met with the other two Bishops in Texas and Louisiana. Wanted me to serve on the design team for a course being offered by the Extension Service at Aggeland. Rural Social Science by Extension.

I did some checking and figured the idea had enough merit to offer whatever meager resources I have on rural ministry. The first meeting was last week in Austin. Three days.

It is one of the best training tools for rural ministry that I have ever come across. The Rural Social Science Department at A&M brings pastors on to campus for a three-day session to become facilitators of the class. Complete with a handbook with many articles on what makes rural areas and people tick. How things get done in a rural area. How the values differ from the city.

Then the facilitator takes this back into his or her local area, rounds up a group (usually ecumenical) of pastors (and spouses). Together they work through the material, doing projects designed to learn first hand how things really work and get done in that area.

A pilot group has already gone through the process. The results were good. Many of the ministers who completed the course in their areas have found a new appreciation for their own congregations, communities, and ministries.

I am excited about that. The ELCA (which, I am told, is typical of all demonations) sends out new seminary graduates every year, less than forty percent have ever lived in town and country settings. About 77% of those graduating take first calls to town and country churches. The resulting culture shock has been known to produce some pretty devastating results for pastors AND congregations.

This is the first thing I have seen come along that directly addresses the problem and seeks to improve it. Who knows, maybe we will begin to see longer pastorates in rural areas, as Pastors understand their people better. And appreciate them more. It's funny. But the best way I have found to get appreciated is to appreciate first.

As the program begins its second year, this fall, with more facilitators training, it is attracting national interest. Extension service folks from 4 or 5 other states want to receive the training. And possibly set up similar courses in their states. A midwestern college wants to use this course in its Sociology Department.

I think that it is important for people who live in rural areas to know that there are people who appreciate them and are not only cheering them on, but actually working to make rural life better. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

It is ALMOST enough to make an Aggie out of a person..ALMOST!

NORTH RUNNELS HOSPITAL
WINTERS, TEXAS
Call 754-4553 for appointment

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer. Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. (The cost is only $55.00)

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Pecan nut casebearer control

by Richard Minzenmayer
Now is the time to be checking pecan nutlet clusters for pecan nut casebearer eggs or nutlet feeding damage from this destructive pecan insect pest.

Detection of eggs or feeding damage indicates when chemical control applications should be made.

Adult female moths will soon be laying eggs on the pollinated nutlets. Eggs should hatch in 4 to 7 days and then the young worms will attack the nutlets.

Eggs are usually placed singly on the tips of the nutlets. Eggs are flat and blue-greenish white in color when first laid but take on a pinkish red color after 1 or 2 days. Eggs are small in size, about the size of a pinhead.

Young worms hatching from eggs, first feed on leaf buds and then attack the small nutlets. First significant nut entry is expected May 24.

Young worms cut a hole into the base of the nutlets and feed inside the nutlets. As the small worm feeds, pellets of frass are produced and collected outside the nutlet in fine webs.

At least 100 pecan nutlet clusters should be checked on trees in home yards for eggs and worm feeding damage. Check trees 2 to 3 times a week for the next 2 weeks. Where eggs are detected, chemical treatments should be applied in 3 to 6 days. Where feeding damage is detected, chemical treatment should be made that day.

Sevin®, Zolone®, or malathion® sprays may be used for control of pecan nut casebearers on home yard trees. Commercial producers can use fenvalerate (Pydrin®), azinphosmethyl, (Guthion®), cabaryl (Sevin®), endosulfon (Thiodan®) or phosalane (Zolone®). Check the label on the chemical container for rates of application, mixing and application instructions.

A second insecticide application about 7 days after the first is needed in most years for effective pecan nut casebearer control.

The pecan nut casebearer has 3 generations per year. It is about 42 days between the occurrence of each subsequent generation. Some years the second and third generations of this insect may cause considerable nut damage. Total nut loss is usually greater during the first generation because an individual larvae may destroy a complete nut cluster.

For further information on pecan pests and their control, contact the County Entomologist or your County Extension Agent.

The event will take place on Monday, May 29, 1989, at 10 a.m. in front of the medical center.

The public is invited to take part in honoring those who have died in defense of our nation.

Refreshments will be served in the main lobby beginning at 9 a.m.

Diabetic children can have summer fun

Camp Sweeney will celebrate its 40th camping season this summer. Over 10,000 campers have attended this very exclusive camp for children with diabetes.

Too often, regular summer camps are unable to accept a child with diabetes because of their special diets and medical needs. At Camp Sweeney, a medical staff skilled in the knowledge of juvenile diabetes, gives campers round-the-clock supervision and attention. At daily medical lectures the campers learn the vital importance of balancing their insulin intake and their diet in order to live a long, healthy and happy life.

Camp Sweeney is located ten miles northeast of Gainesville, Texas, near the Oklahoma border. Camp facilities include six air-conditioned cabins, lodge, hospital, and various staff cabins and a pavilion where arts and crafts and rainy day activities such as country and western dancing are enjoyed. Camp Sweeney also has two tennis courts, basketball/volleyball courts, soccer and baseball fields, a swimming pool, horseback riding, archery, riflery, and a 34 acre lake where the children enjoy paddleboating, sailing, rowing and fishing.

Camp Sweeney has never denied admission to any child with diabetes. The only requirement is to have diabetes and be each week. You have made students' activities known to the community; thus drawing us closer.

School will dismiss early Friday, May 26, which will close the 1988-89 school year.

Remember! Eighth Grade Commencement and awards program, Friday, May 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Everyone come for this last event of the school year.

Lutherans announce Bible Study

St. John's Lutheran Church announces that it will offer a Bible Survey Seminar, Saturday, June 17, and Sunday, June 18.

"I used to think that all those dusty Bibles in people's homes were because they did not want to read the bible, or that they didn't want to take the time," said Steve Byrne, pastor of St. John's. "But, in talking to people, I have come to realize that very often the problem is not in the lack of desire. Rather, it is in the fact that people begin reading the Biblical narrative and get bogged down and confused. What is lacking, for a lot of Christians, is not the motivation, but some basic handles in order to understand what they are reading."

See Through The Scriptures is designed to provide these handles to enable people to read the Scriptures with understanding and meaning. Pastor Byrne received training in leading this survey course in April at St. Crispin's Retreat Center, Seminole, Oklahoma.

He is presently teaching the class of 40+ adults during the Sunday School hour. "However, there are some people, Sunday School Teachers and the like, for whom Sunday mornings are a bad time. Yet they want to participate in such a class," offered Byrne. Thus the reason for offering the entire class in a two-day session.

Saturday hours are from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Participants are asked to bring a salad or sandwiches for a light pot-luck over the noon hours. Sunday's conclusion is from 2 to 5. Registration cost is $7.50, due by June 7, which helps defer the cost of materials. Scholarships are available.

"We are opening up this course to the general public and welcome persons of all faiths," the Lutheran preacher declared. "Our goal is to get people into the work of God. Not to necessarily gain converts from other churches. If a Baptist becomes a better Baptist from this teaching, our mission will be successful. And on down the line for the other denominations."

Any one interested in attending the two-day seminar may contact the church office at 754-4820 or Pastor Steve's home at 754-4704.
