Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

I heard the sound of jet engines overhead Monday and looked up to see our Air Force in action. It was a sight that is not too common. Many have seen such as this, and many more have not.

Some 25,000 feet up, a KC-135 jet tanker was refueling a B-1B.

A bit later in the day, while in Abilene, we took a few minutes to drive by Dyess AFB to watch the magnificent B-1B taking off, landing, and circling. It was, to me, awe-inspiring, and it kinda brought goose-bumps.

The feeling I got was almost, but not quite, the same as when I see the Stars and Stripes hoisted to the top of the flag pole.

Among the millions of Americans that share the same feeling for our flag, there are at least five members of our nation's highest court, the Supreme Court, that don't share in that feeling.

The ruling last week by that high court was appalling.

With all due respect to the Justices of the United States Supreme Court, Gentlemen you owe this great country and the millions of Americans who live here along with those who have given their lives for that flag and all it stands for, an apology.

It has been over two hundred years since the Constitution drawn up by a group of men who were chosen to represent a people who came here to start over again because they felt oppressed by a powerful central government that did not allow them, among other things, freedom of religion. That original document was very plainly written, in a manner that most anyone can understand.

The First Amendment, as originally written and adopted, provided for "Religious Establishment Prohibited, Freedom of Speech, of the Press, and Right to Petition." It has since been construed to include freedom of expression as well.

In view of the content of the First Amendment, we are guaranteed the right "to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." There are petitions around and available.

Things, such as this, can make a person really wonder about our government and its goals.

Where do we stand with respect to the Second Amendment when our Nation's highest court says that a person can desecrate the Flag of the United States of America and get away with it because he is expressing himself?

Last week we talked about the EPA and its off-the-wall idea about what kind of gas we can use. That, because it gets hot in West Texas, we must pay a higher price for gas with less in it.

I visited, for quite a while, with Congressman Charlie Stenholm's office Tuesday afternoon late. I learned that the EPA conducted a two-year comment period on the proposal concerning this gas thing. It was news to me.

Well, the information about the comment period was published in the Congressional Record. I just don't know how we all missed it.

Well, last week I promised phone numbers and addresses for the EPA. I, also, will give the address and phone number for the Supreme Court of the United States.

For the EPA—
Richard Wilson, Director
Office of Mobil Sources
U.S. E.P.A.
401 M Street, SW
Washington, D.C. 20460

For the Supreme Court, I could only get a phone number—202-479-3000.

I guess you could write to them in Washington D.C. I would imagine that nearly everybody in that town knows them.

One injured in collapse of historic building

A worker sustained serious head injuries Saturday morning when this building, which was being demolished, crashed down on him.

Cesar Medina, 19, was working inside the building when a support gave way and the building fell in on him. Taken first to North Runnels Hospital, Medina was transferred to Humana Hospital, Abilene with serious head injuries, including a skull fracture.

Longtime residents said that the building, which most recently housed Frank's Body Shop, was, at one time, Winters' City Hall and later was owned by Earnest Thormeyer's Winters Farm Equipment.

The First United Methodist Church purchased the property several years ago and authorized the demolishing of the building only recently.

Congressman Stenholm to visit Winters July 6

Congressman Charles Stenholm will be in Winters on Thursday, July 6, at the Chamber of Commerce office beginning at 9:30 a.m. He is our representative in Washington, D.C. and it is very important that every citizen have the opportunity to meet and talk with him. There are many voices clamoring to be heard at all levels of government.

"I see more clearly every day the importance of staying in close contact with the people who have honored me with this great responsibility," Stenholm said. Your views must be my views if I am to effectively serve. Please give me the benefit of your counsel."

Congressman Stenholm is in the district during the July 4th recess and plans to be in Roscoe, Albany, Snyder, Rotan, Coleman, Bronte, Ballinger, Paint Rock, and Eden for similar public meetings during the week following July 4th.

Now in his sixth term, Charlie has gained national prominence in many areas. Serving on both the Agriculture and Veterans Affairs Committees, experience gained is most helpful with rural problems and health care delivery in particular. As founder and leader of the Conservative Democratic Forum since the early 1980s, he has led the "boll weevils" in communicating conservative common-sense ideas in budgetary matters. Make your plans to attend this and any other meeting to insure that our congressman gets the message

Stenholm reports

Congress Charles Stenholm (D-TX) pledged to co-sponsor a constitutional amendment that would make it against the law to defile the American flag. Stenholm made his comments while addressing the House and voicing his opposition to the Supreme Court's 5-4 decision that burning Old Glory is not a violation of law.

The Supreme Court decision was handed down last Wednesday afternoon and essentially overturns Texas law and federal law which imposes up to a year's jail sentence and/or up to a thousand dollar fine for "desecrating" the flag.

"Perhaps the Supreme Court finds no wrong-doing in treating the flag with anything less than full respect," Stenholm said. "But I'm here to tell you my constituents in the 17th district feel we want him to carry to our nation's capitol.

otherwise."

Stenholm pointed out that the flag flies in respect and gratitude for the more than one million Americans who have died defending our country.

"This court decision is, in effect, an insult to all who served," he said. "It's an insult to the American beliefs and values which they fought for."

Stenholm is currently a co-sponsor of H.R. 1295 which would make it a violation to place the American flag on the floor. He says he will continue to support this bill in addition to the constitutional amendment.

Immunization Clinic to be held in Winters

There will be an Immunization Clinic held by the Texas Department of Health on Thursday, July 6, 1989, from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon and 1:30 till 3:00 p.m.

The location of the clinic will be in the Professional Building, Suite 108, Grant Street Entry.

Please note the date change from Wednesday to Thursday for clinic day.

Caboose soon to find final resting place in Winters

Hopefully the caboose that has been presented to the Z. I. Hale Museum by the Union Pacific Railroad Company will soon be resting on its pad in Winters.

The City of Winters under the direction of City Manager, Chuck MacLivaine, is preparing the location site at the museum.

Bob Bowen is gathering permits and machinery for the long haul. So far, enough money has been received to move the caboose 14 miles at the estimation of $50 a mile.

Contributors to the fund up to date have been the Museum Board, Zelma Dietz, Margaret Baldwin, Mary Margaret Leathers, Roy and Kat Young, and Charlsie Poe.

Those who wish to assist in preserving this important part of our heritage may do so by making a deposit at the Winters State Bank, Peoples National Bank or by mail to the Z. I. Hale Museum, P.O. Box 42, Winters, Texas 79567.

Elsie Lee Sanders is welcomed as a new member to the museum.

The names of Aron and Minnie May Hale have been added to the Pioneer Plaque by their children, Frances Bryan, Doris Bryan and Shirley Denton.

Cattlemen's WTRC Round-Up for Crippled Children set for September

Three months from now the bidding will start at eight very special livestock sales: the 1989 Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children.

Those sales—which begin September 23—are so special because proceeds benefit the 12,000 patients West Texas Rehabilitation Center will serve this year.

That's why I'm asking you today to plan to donate to Cattlemen's Round-Up. Whether you raise cattle, sheep, goats or horses, your animal gift is critical to the success of these sales—and proceeds from these sales are critical to the Rehab Center's ability to treat handicapped children and adults, states James (Jim) Alexander.

For information or livestock pick up service, please contact: Jim Alexander (915/677-1309); Aubrey Stokes (915/653-6866); or Shelley V. Smith (915/691-7200).

Start of school for new year is only two months away

It seems like school was out for the summer only a few weeks ago and, already, we have received word that the first day of school for the 1989-90 school year is less than two months away.

In action taken by the Winters School Board in their June 13 meeting, the first day of school was set for Monday, August 28.

The slightly earlier starting date for the school year is the result of legislation passed in the just-completed regular session of the legislature.

Identified as House Bill 571, the measure was signed into law by the governor. It permits school districts to schedule the first day of instruction no earlier than the Monday of the calendar week in which September 1 falls.

Lord's Acre slated

First United Methodist Church of Winters makes plans for the annual Lord's Acre to be held on Sunday, October 15. Please mark this date on your calendar.

A barbecue dinner will be served at noon and the auction of many items including quilts will follow.

This means that the first day of school for Winters youngsters will be Monday, August 28, 1989.

Homecoming set for Content

Content Homecoming will be Sunday, July 2, 1989, at the Content Community Church.

Everyone is invited to attend. A Basket Lunch will be held at the noon hour.

Men's Championship Golf Tourney held

This past Sunday, June 25, the Winters Country Club held its Men's Championship Tournament.

Children collect for Welfare Board

Michael Franklin, 4 years old, presents Ken Slimp money for the Child Welfare Board. Over $80 was collected by the children at the Methodist Vacation Bible School. The students were concerned with helping children in our area. Ken Slimp a member of the Child Welfare Board, accepted the money on behalf of the Board.

For the Food Pantry

Margaret Anderson accepts canned goods and staple goods from Alisa Presley, a youth helper at the Vacation Bible School. The students brought these items last Friday in a continued interest in helping others in our community.

Mitchell's new home built in 1925

A New Home For The Luther Mitchells

About the only entertainment some of us had when we were growing up was having company or going visiting. This was a lot of fun if you had cousins your age.
"Papa and mama always enjoyed having company," said Ila Conner. On several occasions we had all the relatives including the Howard, Walter, and Travis Mitchell families and the Homer Mosleys. There were about 18 or 20 cousins. At that time it was the custom for adults to eat first and the children last. Mama knew that children got hungry too, so on those occasions she fixed tables on the porch for us to eat at the same time.
"If it happened to be cool or the wind was blowing, mama tacked quilts on the porch to protect us. We had a lot of fun and it seemed that everyone enjoyed coming to our house."

People didn't go to town as often as they do now, due to the mode of travel. "There was one person who was always welcomed at our house," said Ila. "This was the community peddler. He had all kinds of supplies...groceries, dress goods, medicines, candies, chewing gum, and other goodies. Many times we could buy anything needed from him. He took eggs or chickens in exchange for merchandise. One peddler, Mr. Huggins, owned a store at Drasco. He came on certain days and we knew exactly when to expect him. We had eggs gathered and the old hens caught, ready to exchange for things we needed."

"Our yearly vacation trip was to Killeen to visit our grandparents. Grandma Mitchell and Aunt Laura lived in Killeen, near the edge of town. Grandpa and Grandma Yancy lived on a ranch about eight miles in the country. One summer, mama and Aunt May decided we would all go together. There were nine children and about that many bags. It was a task keeping up with us because there was a baby and three small boys.

"About midnight we arrived in Killeen, mama and Aunt Mae woke the children and handed each a bag. Cousin Minnie was carrying the diaper bag, we were all trying to hold on to each other. Minnie's bag came open and spilled the diapers. Knowing that the train stopped for a short time only, she became excited and ran leaving the bag of diapers on the train. A neighbor, who was also on the train, saw Minnie's predicament, ran down the aisle, picked up the bag and diapers and pitched them to the conductor. As the train was leaving the station, the conductor tossed the whole pile to us, what an exciting arrival!"

For several years trips were made to Christoval Baptist Encampment. There were no cabins for people to stay or places to eat. People carried their own tents and camping supplies. Meals were cooked on a campfire. Preaching services were held at night and study courses were taught during the day. There was swimming morning and afternoon. There was no mixed swimming, so the men and boys had a certain time and the ladies and girls had another.

"Mama made our first bathing suits out of black sateen, with a skirt over that, and sleeves to our elbows. Then we wore long black stockings to cover our legs. (I still wonder why they didn't make us wear gloves too!) We learned to swim, even with all that garb."

"Jack Woodfin, whom we called 'Uncle Jack' had told papa he wanted to get married and would like to rent a place. Papa told him if he would stay with us, he would build a new house, then Uncle Jack could live in our old home. Mama and papa started building their new home in January of that year and moved into it in June. Uncle Jack and Johnnie Patterson married the same month and moved into our former home. They lived there until moving to their own farm in 1945.

Owen Ingram was the contractor for the house that the Mitchells built. "Mama found the plan in an issue of Holland's magazine. The house had three bedrooms, the largest was call-

One of the great mysteries of life is how the idiot that your daughter married can be the father of the smartest grandchildren in the whole wide world.

There was a good attendance at the after service Sunday dinner at Hopewell Church. Tiffany, Brandi, Jerry, Stefanie and Dee Benae sang a special.

Sybil and Armal (Pete) Toungot of Blackwell spent Friday with Chester McBeth, did some odd jobs like getting the air conditioner to work. Dennis and Audine McBeth spent Friday night. Sybil spent most of Wednesday.

Sybil and Carl Faubion, Coleman, visited Harvey Mae and Noble Faubion Sunday afternoon. Noble will start taking therapy treatments in San Angelo Monday, 26th, three times a week.

Hazel Mae Bragg and Corra Petrie were in Sweetwater and did some shopping last week. Pat Hambright spent Friday morning with Corra.

Keith and son, Shawn Kraatz, of Ft. Bragg, North Carolina were here for his brother, Kyle's, wedding and will spend several more days. Shawn will remain awhile this summer.

Lawan and Coleman Foreman attended the Foreman reunion in Comanche school cafeteria Sunday. Thirty-eight attended from Dallas, Arlington, Odessa, Pampa, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, Ballinger, Crews, Granbury and Comanche. Two uncles are living, Thomas Foreman of Comanche and Glen Foreman, Granbury; two aunts, Grace Foreman of Comanche and Lena Mae Foreman of Odessa.

Jewel and Richard Denny came awhile Saturday afternoon with the Alcorns. Wilbert and Raymond Alcorn returned from Ruidosa, New Mexico Sunday.

Ruth Pape's daughter, Debbie and Garland Horn, and her daughter, Lark Conroy, came Friday. Ruth's granddaughter of Fairfield came Friday. Lark will be staying a week.

Congratulations to Karen and Kyle Kraatz and the best of everything to the newlyweds, who got married at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 24, in the Lutheran ed the sleeping porch. Under this room was a basement which we also used as a bedroom and storage room. In the main part of the kitchen was a built-in cabinet and big wood stove for cooking, and on one side was an area large enough for the table.

On the back porch near the cistern, we had an underground cistern to catch rain water and it was equipped with a pump. Also, we had a dining room, living room with fireplace, a modern bathroom with all the fixtures. The house had a porte cochere on the south with a concrete driveway around the house. A wire fence surrounded the house and garage. At the same time, papa built a small two-room house for a hired hand, a large barn, and a garage behind our new home. They were all painted white. This had been of my parents long time dreams, but they got to enjoy their home together only four months before she died from typhoid fever and complications.

"Grandma Mitchell and Aunt Laura still living in Killeen, sold their home and came to live with papa and Audra L. until Zora finished college and Zora stayed with papa and Audra until I finished in 1929. She started teaching school and I kept house for papa until 1932, when I began teaching at Pumphrey. While Zora and I were teaching we bought a radio for papa, the first one he had ever owned. He stayed up every night to listen to the Grand Ole Opry.

"When papa died in 1936 we all lived together for awhile and worked to finish paying the land notes and debts that had accumulated.

"Audra married Lila Smith in 1939, and moved into the small house that had been enlarged. Zora and I continued to live in the large house, until I married Robert Conner in 1946. Zora took the smaller house, Audra and family moved to the larger one. In 1955 Zora married Omer Hill. The house arrangement continues until today.

Famine in the Land

Famine in the Land takes the viewer on a 30 minute, sole-stirring trip to Romania and the Soviet Union. Using up-to-date material shot by believers and Underground Evangelism couriers, Famine in the Land gives North American Christians an inside view of contemporary Christian life in countries where a declaration of faith takes enormous courage.

Romania, although fertile and productive, had become a country of hunger and despair, yet Romania has the largest and most vibrant evangelical church in Eastern Europe. Famine in the Land introduces the men and women whose abiding faith in Christ enables them to praise God in the midst of great suffering.

Extraordinary scenes from the Soviet Union document large-scale evangelism meetings held by evangelical Christians in celebration of 1,000 years of Christianity in Russia. With unprecedented boldness the Gospel was carried to the Soviet people, and the fruits of this boldness are seen in the great numbers who committed themselves to Christ.

Famine in the Land is a must-see experience for all Christians who long to see Jesus Christ honored in communist countries. The needs and joys of the church in Romania and the Soviet Union are vividly portrayed, and Western Christians are challenged to get involved.

A special showing of Famine in the Land will take place at: First Baptist Church on Sunday, July 2, 1989 at 6 p.m.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Beating the heat for the elderly

With the hottest months of the year now upon us, heat illnesses are major health concerns—especially for the elderly. About 4,000 deaths related to heat stroke occur in the United States each year, with the majority of the deaths occurring in the elderly population.

Dangerous Weather Conditions

The most dangerous weather conditions for heat illnesses are extreme heat, high humidity and no wind.

"An elderly person, however, can suffer from heat illnesses at temperatures as low as 80 degrees," said Dr. Katherine M. Jew, of the Division of General Internal Medicine at the Scott & White Santa Fe International Medicine Clinic. Dr. Jew is board certified in Internal Medicine and Geriatrics.

The three forms of heat illness, in order from the least to the most severe, are heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

Heat Cramps

"Abdominal heat cramps, the least dangerous form of heat illness, are usually experienced by young, healthy people who have over-exerted themselves physically, but these cramps can occur in older people as well," explains Dr. Jew.

The remedy for heat cramps is simply fluid replacement.

Heat Exhaustion

Symptoms of heat exhaustion include dizziness, headache, nausea and a low grade temperature. "When these symptoms occur and heat exhaustion is a possibility, the person needs to report to an emergency room for treatment which consists of replacing fluids," advises Dr. Jew.

Heat Stroke

The most serious form of heat illness, heat stroke, can result in death if left untreated. (First part of 3 part article)

Coverage for farm workers changed

Important changes in Social Security coverage of farm workers are in effect, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said.

The change affects laborers who live at home and commute to work daily during harvest season to pick fruit or vegetables by hand. If work is paid on a piece rate basis and the laborers are commuters or local workers and employed less than 13 weeks the preceding year, it is only covered by Social Security if the worker is paid at last $150 in cash.

Farmers must pay Social Security taxes for any workers who is paid at least $150 in cash during a year. If the farmer's total expense for agricultural labor is $2,500 or more, all workers are covered by Social Security with the exception of piece-work laborers.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

The cows got out on the maize patch again.

George and Bob were nice enough about it. But, even I could figure out that these bovines were not exactly enhancing the upcoming harvest. This was starting to get as frustrating as being a pastor.

So I went to talk to my friend and mentor in the "cattle business," Allen. We talked for awhile. I told him my problem. The he gave me some words that were truly profound. "You know, Steve, there is a big difference between patching a fence and fixing a fence."

The nuances of the two terms escape my definition. But the idea clicked. I had been trying to "patch" the fence when it needed "fixing." I went back. This time I put in a new fence post. Spent some more time. It held the cattle.

At least it held them until I wrote this. Lately the cows get out about the time I announce in this column that the problem is solved. So I figure it won't be long...

Patching a fence is the easiest way to go. It doesn't take long. It doesn't take a lot of effort. But it doesn't last as long either.

Fixing a fence takes longer. More time and energy. More expense. It is a bigger change wrought by a bigger investment. It holds better and lasts longer.

I figure most of us live our lives trying to patch them up. Something goes wrong, you put a patch on it. Something else goes wrong, you stick another patch in the right place. Until you have a life of patchwork. Not much rhyme or reason. Little congruity. Made of fairly weak links. But is is easier and doesn't require a lot of change.

Sometimes the links get so weak that we are forced to do some fixing. Actually change a few things. This is much harder. But life begins to take on a pattern with some internal integrity to it.

But sooner or later, weak links begin to appear. The whole thing starts breaking down. And we go to "patching" again.

There is another option. Build a new fence. Stronger. Sturdier. Longer lasting.

This was Jesus' option. To make of us a whole new creation. A whole new person. Gets us out of the patching/fixing dilemma. And Jesus builds the fence for us on the cross.

Patching and fixing just doesn't last. The new creation in Christ does.

"Therefore, if any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold the new has come." (2 Cor. 5:17)

Beginning 1988, growers who spent $2,500 or more on agricultural labor were required to report for Social Security earnings of all workers. Because the record keeping was very burdensome when large numbers of workers were needed for a harvest, Congress amended the law effective in 1988, Upp said.

More information for farmers and farm workers is available from Social Security, Upp said, by calling 949-4608. Ask for Fact Sheet #6, Crew Leaders and

Be cautious with fireworks July 4th

An average of 10,525 fireworks-related injuries per year were treated in hospital emergency rooms nationwide during the period 1985-1988, according to the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The number of injuries reported in this manner has doubled since 1974, when 5,000 injuries occurred.

In 1988, almost 50 percent of the reported injuries happened to youngsters under 15 years of age. Half of the reported injuries consisted of burns, according to CPSC. These statistics do not include the number of injuries which were not treated or those which may have been treated in doctors' offices. The careless use of fireworks results in a significant amount of fire damage each year as well.

For instance, in 1987, fire departments in Texas reported 621 fireworks-related fires to the State Board of Insurance, State Fire Marshal's Office through the Texas Fire Incident Reporting System (TEXFIRS).

These fires resulted in about $622,652 in property damage. Currently, about 321 fire departments protecting more than 70 percent of the state population submit data to the TEXFIRS.

The State Fire Marshal's Office, a division of the State Board of Insurance, is responsible for the licensing and regulation of the manufacturing, sale and storage of fireworks in Texas.

Paul T. Wrotenbery, Chairman of the State Board Insurance, joins State Fire Marshal Ernest A. Emerson in offering the following major rules for a safer Fourth of July.

* Many towns and communities have ordinances that regulate the possession and use of fireworks. If you aren't certain about laws affecting fireworks in your area, contact your local fire protection or law enforcement authorities for information.

* Use only fireworks which are legal for sale or use. Federal law bans fireworks that contain more than 50 milligrams of explosive charge.

* Designate a responsible adult to ignite fireworks. Never give fireworks to children. Most fireworks injuries are caused by misuse, and mainly by children, under 15.

* Read the instructions. If you don't understand the instruction, don't take a chance by lighting the firework.

* Never experiment with fireworks. Don't take fireworks apart or mix anything with the contents. Never make fireworks at home.

* Ignite outdoors. Light fireworks only in a clear area away from houses and flammable materials (dry brush, gasoline cans, etc.).

* Allow enough room for proper functioning. Never ignite fireworks in glass or other

Bob Bullock reports

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that the state should not wait for a Supreme Court decision on the state's school finance system, but go forward with needed changes right away.

"There's no sense complaining about court intervention when we have a chance to do what's right for the schoolchildren of Texas before the Supreme Court makes a ruling. The Legislature is in session now. Let's step in and address our school finance problems," Bullock said.

"Texas can't face the challenges of the future with a school system that delivers quality education to the few and denies it to the many," Bullock said. "If your economy is to keep growing, if we are to be able to provide decent jobs at decent wages, we must resolve this problem. And we ought to resolve it before we condemn another generation of public school students to a mediocre education," he said.

Together with Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby and Speaker Gib Lewis, Bullock formed the School Finance Working Group last year. The group drafted a new school finance plan calling for a phased-in approach to equalizing education funding between rich and poor school districts.

"The plan—called the Texas Guaranteed Yield Program—needs only minor modifications to serve as the basis for the action the Legislature is going to have to take, no matter what the Supreme Court might rule," he said.

"We don't have to bankrupt the state to solve this problem. We can phase the solution in over a period of years, allowing us to solve the problem at a more reasonable cost, over a longer period of time," Bullock concluded.

containers.

* Keep a safe distance away from the fireworks ignition area and be sure that other potentially dangerous objects are out of range before lighting fireworks.

* Never handle fireworks that have malfunctioned. Do not try to relight them or pick them up.

Vacation Bible School's visit nursing home

The Vacation Bible School children of the Methodist Church recently visited the Senior Citizens Nursing Home.

Pre-Kindergarten students were: Staci Bishop, Jaci Smith, Tracey Burns, Tanya Melton (Roberts) Cameron Slimp, Michael Franklin, Kirby Hatler, Stefanie Davis, Monica Rodriguez, Ambar Smith, Lawren Hogan, Wade Parramore and KaLene Lincycomb. Workers with this group were: Helen Grantham and Lavera Tharp, Aides: Dean Evans and Julia Whitlow.

Nursery children were: Brittney Franklin and Rachel Davis. Teachers for these children was Laurie Franklin and Brenna Mikeska.

Douse them with water instead.

It is vital that parents enforce these rules for the sake of the health and lives of youngsters, because it's the young people who are most often the victims of accidents involving fireworks.

Local piano students perform in Galveston

Four Winters piano students participated in the ensemble recitals at the Texas Music Teachers Association convention in Galveston June 17-19. Rachel Edwards played on the team from Abilene that played "Stamp On It." Their costumes were "Fifties" with felt poodle skirts decorated with notes. Kristin Deike and Tandy Reagan played on the Abilene team that performed "Capriccio Chromatico". The wore denim skirts and spin art tee-shirts decorated with red and black music notes. J. J. Michalis played "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" by Mozart with other piano students from the Abilene association. They wore long black divided skirts with pink or turquoise shirts and cummerbunds.

In order to be a part of the team the students had to pass the state theory test and audition for a position on the team. They are students of Susan Conner. Also making the chartered bus trip and serving as sponsors were Kathi Edwards and Nancy Michaelis.

Meagan is the daughter of Larry and Lisa Nitsch and Rudy and Cindy Galvan. She is the granddaughter of Lucy Nitsch, Juan and Adela Galvan, Walter Carson and Wendall and Sandra Reeves.

Nursing Home News

We have received some new song books recently from the Lutheran and Methodist Churches. We are grateful for these.

We were surprised last week when Bro. Franklin came to bring our church service. The Vacation Bible School teachers and children came and sang for us. The residents loved it and invite you to come back to see us anytime you can.

Mrs. Pauline Campbell is a new resident. She is in Room 23. She would like for her friends to come by and visit her.

This Saturday we will be having "Family Night" at the nursing home. We would like to remind all family members to be sure and come, beginning at 5:30 p.m. Garland has promised us some good music out on the lawn. We're looking forward to a good time together.

Vela Laird is the Bing Champion this week!

Sew and Sew met

The Wingate Sew and Sew Club met June 20 at the Lions Club Building with Pauline Huckaby as hostess and Mildred Patton as co-hostess. One visitor, Dortha Lawrence, of Winters, attended.

Gifts were exchanged and refreshments were served and enjoyed by: Johnnie Burnett, Pauline Huckaby, Annie Faye King, Lorine Kinard, Mildred Patton, Eura Lloyd, Lessie Robinson, Oma Lee Overman and Ethel Polk.

We will have a special meeting June 27 to make small pillows for the rest home. That will be our last meeting until September 5, 1989, at that time Johnnie Burnett will be hostess.

Let's beat the odds!

The Director of the Department of Public Safety has challenged Texas drivers to show that the DPS traffic death estimate for the long July 4th period is far too high.

"The DPS Statistical Services bureau has indicated that as many as 52 persons could be killed on Texas roadways during these hours," Colonel Joe Milner said. "But the number will be lower if more drivers will slow down, avoid drinking alcohol and use a well-known safety precaution—seat belts."

Col. Milner mentioned that the July 4th period will include the weekend before Independence Day.

"The DPS Public Information Office will conduct the traffic fatality count for 102 hours, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, June 30 and continuing until midnight on Tuesday, July 4th," he said. "As before, we'll be keeping this count with the assistance of local law enforcement agencies along with the DPS troopers and communications personnel."

The final count for the 1988 July 4th period, which was 78 hours in length, totaled 32 fatalities.

Col. Milner said as part of his agency's "Operation Holiday," additional troopers will be deployed to help minimize the risk of driving on all roadways in rural areas.

Crystal Mapes married Gregory Althof last Saturday

Crystal Ann Mapes and Gregory Lance Althof were united in marriage at 3 p.m. June 24, 1989, at St. Luke Methodist Church in San Angelo.

Coughlin, Ohio; Candus Stephens, San Angelo; and Aleesa Webb of San Angelo.

Ring bearer was Jason Barnes of Commerce, Texas.

Flower girls were twins, Jayme and Sara Nelson, of Odessa.

The bride's attendants wore peach satin dresses with peach satin shoes and white pearl necklaces and earrings. The dresses were tea length. They had the V-drop backs accented by a small bow at the bottom. The sleeves were short and puffed. The girls carried white glamillds accented by ivy forage.

Best man was Jeff Althof of Roscoe. Groomsmen were Craig Roughton of Midland; Wes Williams, Roscoe; Perry Leonard, Dallas; Dickie Julian, Sweetwater; and Roy Thompson of Abilene.

Ushers were Danny Richburg of Kentucky; Rod Wilson, Crane; Troy Morgan, San Angelo; and Tony Mapes of San Angelo.

The rehearsal dinner was held following the rehearsal at the church fellowship hall and was catered by Southern Sea.

The reception was in the church fellowship hall. Doodle Dankworth was in charge of the food. The cake was made by Bnd's Cake's Plus. It was a white three tiered cake with peach roses. The groom's cake was a double layer German chocolate cake. The houseparty included Melanie Lackey, LaVanda Gary, Dallas Roper, Alicia Fyfe, Tammy Turner, Michele Lange, Theresa Campbell, Carmen Symes, Julie Huckaby, Shanon Hakala, Laura Graves, Tracey Legendre and Marcy Miller.

The bride will enter Midland College as a freshman after attending Angelo State University.

The groom will graduate in August with a degree in Elementary Education and P.E. and a history minor. He is currently employed by Midland ISD.

After a wedding trip to Colorado the couple will reside at 4301 Raleigh Ct. #401, Midland, Texas.

Local students attend Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar in San Angelo

Attending the Texas Farm Bureau's 27th annual Citizenship Seminar in San Angelo June 12-16 were Heather Granzin, Miles; Amy Mansell, Ballinger; and Jason Corley of Winters.

Sponsored by the Runnels County Farm Bureau, they were among approximately 400 high school junior and senior students from 162 counties across the state.

Thibodeaux of College Station, an Extension 4-H specialist, "Becoming a Winning Citizen"; Dr. Calvin Kent of Waco, director of Baylor University's Center for Private Enterprise, "Free Enterprise and You."

Also, Steve Pratt of Washington, D.C., national field director for the Center for Constitutional Studies, "Freedom in the Nineties"; Basilio Bacher, a Polish immigrant now living in Corpus Christi, "Selling America"; Michael Broome of Charlotte, N.C., "You and America—Two Great Champions."

S. M. Ture of Plainview, president of Texas Farm Bureau; and Vernie R. Glasson of Waco, TFB executive director, also addressed the students.

Purpose of the seminar is to provide the students with a better understanding of their American heritage and the capitalistic free enterprise system, according to Doyle Condro of Ballinger, county FB president.

Speakers at this year's seminar and their subjects were as follows:

Jack Jackson of Fort Worth, president of Jackson, Associates, "Price of Free Enterprise"; Dr. Lynne

Wool and Mohair Contest held

Seven (7) Runnels County youth participated in the 52nd Annual Wool and Mohair Judging Contest held in Sonora on June 14 and 15. Jill Halfmann and Barbara Belk of Norton, Tammy Strube and Wayne Strube of Hatchel, and Will Dugan and Sammy Turney of Ballinger made up the Junior team. They placed 3rd high in Mohair, 3rd in Wool, and 3rd in the Livestock judging division.

Individually, Tammy Strube was 1st high individual in the Mohair division and Barbara Belk was 2nd high in the wool judging contest and 4th high in the livestock division.

Doug Little judged as a Senior individual in the Wool, Mohair and Livestock contests.

The Junior team of Jill Halfmann, Tammy Strube, Barbara Belk and Sammy Turney judged at the Angelo State University wool contest earlier in the month and placed 3rd high overall.

Thanks to these 4-H'ers for this fine representation of Runnels County.

Horse Show held

The District 7 Horse Show was held in Sweetwater on June 16 and 17 with five (5) Runnels County youth participating in the show.

Bridget Mansell of Ballinger placed 1st in 2 yr. old Western Pleasure, 4th in Pole Bending, and 5th in Western Riding class. Beatriz Cisneroz of Winters took 1st place in the Grade Gelding Halter class. Shane Rice of Winters placed 1st in Western Pleasure, 3rd in Showmanship, 3rd place in Mares 5 yrs. and older Halter class, and 7th in Horsemanship. Cheri Dry of Winters took two 4th places, one in Western Pleasure and one in Western Riding. She also placed 8th in Western Horsemanship. Sara Jackson of Winters showed her horse in the show but experienced some tough luck.

The State 4-H Horse Show is set for July 24-29, to be held in Abilene. All of the Runnels County youth are qualified to enter the state show, so good luck in Abilene.

Control brush while it's small, cheap

When plants develop full foliage in early summer, many farmers and ranchers notice an increasing density of brush in their fencerows and pastures. It's also a good time to do something about it, says Dr. Tommy Welch, Extension range brush and weed control specialist.

Left alone, brush eventually decreases forage production of a pasture and can destroy fences costing $3,500 or more per mile to replace. It's usually easier, cheaper and more effective to treat brush when it's small and scattered—before it grows into a bigger problem, Welch says.

For treating fencerows and scattered stands of brush, a method called "high volume foliar application" is both handy and effective, the specialist says. With this method, a diluted solution of a herbicide is hand-sprayed directly on the leaves of the target plant until they're dripping wet. Only the targeted plant is sprayed.

Getting good control with this method requires spraying foliage when it's receptive, covering the plant thoroughly with enough herbicide solution, and using a herbicide that's effective on the targeted plants.

Brush plants are most susceptible when they're actively growing. For best results, spray after the leaves have matured, and turned from light green to dark green. The foliage should be healthy, not damaged by disease or insects. Spray before leaves develop a waxy layer as they will later in the summer, Welch recommends. In Texas, optimum conditions are in mid-May through late June.

Getting good coverage of the plant usually is easier with a handgun sprayer. Welch says pump-up and backpack sprayers may work well on small scattered plants, but power sprayers are quicker and make it easier to cover larger, thicker brush.

The choice of foliar herbicides should depend on the brush species to control, Welch says. Combinations of active ingredients—either in a commercial premixed product or in separate products you mix yourself—generally will broaden the spectrum of control.

Selective range and pasture herbicides readily available for foliar use include Grazon® ET, Grazon PC, Grazon P+D, Banvel and Crossbow®. Used at recommended rates, these selective herbicides won't harm grasses. Susceptible species and directions to mix effective herbicide combinations with these products are on the individual product labels, Welch advises.

Be aware of any potential drift, and avoid herbicide contact with any desirable plants in the area. Using a coarse spray and a drift control agent can help. Carefully read the herbicide label, and follow any recommended safety precautions.

After spraying, affected foliage should "brown out" within two weeks. Be prepared to go back and respray any brush that escaped control the first time, Welch suggests.

Air Force has new nurse age limit and scholarships

Civilian nurse over 35 years of age are now allowed to enter the Air Force.

In February the Air Force Surgeon General designated all nurses as wartime critical. "This means we can now assess nurses up to 48 years of age," said Lt. Col. Susan Barbi, chief of the Nursing Recruiting Division, Headquarters Recruiting Service.

"Anyone over 40 however, must sign a statement of understanding that they are ineligible to retire—they can not complete 20 years of active duty before the mandatory retirement age of 60."

Colonel Barbi said she expects to see an increase in the number of nurses in the 36-40 age group entering the Air Force. In the past most nurses were 35 or younger when they initially entered the military. "Conceivably we could now see a 46-year old second lieutenant," said Colonel Barbi. "Depending on their experience though, most nurses will likely be captains."

In a related matter, 15 nurses anesthetist scholarships have been allocated under the Health Professions Scholarship Program. The new scholarship designation went into effect in April. Here are the criteria for qualification.

- * be a U.S. citizen and physically qualified
- * be currently enrolled in or accepted for the next enrolling class of a graduate nurse anesthesia program. The school must be accredited by the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists within the United States or Puerto Rico. Candidates are expected to follow a school schedule for two years leading directly to a master's degree in nurse anesthesia. Applicants must not be contractually obligated to serve a state or other party upon graduation.
- * have completed the Graduate Records Examination within five years of program enrollment.

After graduation, nurses will be expected to pay back the Air Force with a three-year duty commitment.

Keep frozen poultry hard-frozen until time to thaw, and cook promptly after thawing.

Grants to bolster rural hospitals doubled, Senator Gramm says

The House has agreed to accept a Senate provision in the Urgent Supplemental Appropriations bill to double the number of grants available to aid struggling rural hospitals, says U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

"The Health Care Transition Grant Program will now provide 160 grants of up to $50,000 each to help non-profit, rural hospitals, many of which are struggling to survive these days," Gramm said.

"Specifically, the grant program will provide more than $8 million that is critically needed so that small hospitals in rural areas can change their method of operation in order to cope with changing demands for services," the senator said.

"I believe that it is vital that we explore every avenue to assure that health care continues to be available in rural areas," he said. "Many small Texas hospitals have expressed to me their interest in seeking these grants, so doubling the number available will ultimately double their chances of gaining aid," Gramm noted.

The senator also said that his Rural Health Task Force is currently gathering data from across Texas in preparation for making recommendations to Congress and the administration on the growing problem.

Gramm, a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee and the House-Senate Conference Committee which hammered out details of the bill, said he was particularly pleased that the House had agreed to accept the Senate proposal.

Final action by both houses of Congress on the legislation is expected shortly.

Bentsen Bill would provide health care to uninsured children

Senator Lloyd Bentsen introduced legislation last Monday that would expand Medicaid health care coverage to an additional 300,000 pregnant women and 1.6 million children under age six.

Bentsen, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the bill "is aimed at assuring the most vulnerable of the 37 million Americans who have no health insurance that they will have a chance to get basic health care."

"America is facing what one health group recently called 'child health crisis' and we must respond to it," Bentsen said in remarks accompanying his legislation.

"American babies die at a higher rate than babies born in Singapore - or 16 other countries. More than 40,000 infants die in this country every year."

"The Finance Committee has approved - and the Senate is now debating - my legislation providing a child health care tax credit, to help pay the cost of health insurance for kids. That will benefit many working families, but there's no question we also need this expansion of Medicaid coverage to provide basic care to millions of others," Bentsen said.

Legislation enacted in 1988, and being phased in over two years, guarantees Medicaid coverage for pregnant women and infants under age one in families whose income is at the poverty level: $12,000 for a family of four.

The Bentsen bill guarantees Medicaid coverage for pregnant women and children under age six in families whose income is at 185 percent of the poverty level: $22,385 for a family of four. The bill would be phased in over two years.

The Bentsen bill also requires Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT) under Medicaid whenever a doctor suspects a medical or mental health condition. And it requires prompt treatment once a condition has been diagnosed.

The bill increases funding under the Maternal and Child Health Services Block Grant program from $561 million to $711 million in fiscal 1990.

The bill provides financial protection for hospitals caring for kids with costly illnesses to help assure that more providers will participate in the expanded Medicaid program.

Geatest show of decade scheduled

Dyess Air Force Base will host the Greatest Show of the Decade July 3, when "Alabama" and The Charlie Daniels Band performs at the base.

In addition to these two entertainment greats, the base will feature six bands from the Abilene area. Those bands are, in order of their appearance: Bareback, Clear Fork, Prairie Fire, Rebel Heart, Dawnett Faucett and the Midnight Shift, and Shadetree.

Gates along Hwy 707 west of the base will open to the public at 11 a.m. Local bands will begin performing at 1 p.m. The Charlie Daniels Band is scheduled to start at 6 followed by Alabama at 7:30 p.m.

Cost for the best eight hours of entertainment ever offered in the Big Country is $15 a person in advance and $20 the day of the concert. Children under six will be admitted free.

Tickets are available at McDonald's Restaurants in Abilene, Brownwood, Snyder, Eastland, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Midland and Big Spring and at Odessa's Water Park. They can also be purchased at the Dyess Recreation Center, Officers' and Enlisted Clubs and the Base Exchange. Tickets are also available at Fort Hood, Reese AFB, Carswell AFB, and Goodfellow AFB.

When making plans to attend, remember...no pets or coolers. Pets will not be comfortable at the concert in the car. The parking areas will be patrolled and any pet found will be rescued by the Abilene Animal Control officials.

As food and refreshments will be available, concert goers are asked not to bring coolers into the area. However, blankets, umbrellas, chairs, etc., are welcome and encouraged.

Any questions regarding the concert should be directed to Dyess' Alabama Hotline (915) 696-4200.

Bob Bullock reports

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday said the state's financial picture would remain basically unchanged for the special legislative session set to begin Tuesday.

"While no change is no news, the Texas economy continues to expand and the revenue outlook remains bright," Bullock said in a letter to state officials and lawmakers.

Bullock, who is required by the Texas Constitution to issue a revenue estimate each time the Legislature meets, said there is no significant change in the outlook from the closing of the regular session last month.

Bullock told lawmakers that his office would monitor workers' compensation bills and others filed during the session for financial impact on the state.
