Like Charlie used to say, "We got some bidness to take care of here."

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department will be holding their annual Fireman's Bar B Que this Sunday in the Winters School Cafeteria from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Adult tickets are $5 and children's tickets are $3 for a choice of brisket, chicken or sausage along with beans, tater salad, and iced tea.

Now that we have our "bidness" out of the way, we can go on with the weather.

The past week presented with some weather that was completely out of character for mid-August, with mild temperatures, cloudy skies and a few rain showers around. Alas, it is all gone now.

In a meeting Tuesday, the folks who are planning our community's 100th birthday party agreed to undertake a program that will outdo anything that has been done before. It will be a birthday bash that will blow our socks off.

Since such an opportunity presents itself only once in a hundred years, I think it is a good idea.

In looking at some of the plans, we will have the opportunity to participate in some really big-time activities.

Imagine, if you will, a huge stage with 250 actors complete with costumes, backgrounds, and professional lighting and sound for an historical play.

Each evening, following the pageant, there will be a big-time fireworks display, the kind like you see somewhere else or on tv.

All that is just the evenings activities for the final five days of a 10-day fandango.

In all, the birthday party will be something bigger than anything ever before attempted in our community and it will require the help of us all.

We will need to help in the planning of the event as well as in the actual production of it all.

If you are not contacted by the Centennial Celebration committee, contact them.

This will be one thing we will not want to miss.

Well, it was the last straw Tuesday. The highway department guys were in town and they were pulling up the rails on West Dale Street and taking away, forever, those bumps that we used to complain about. The same bumps that, in recent months, were a reminder of the railroad that once came to town—and then went away.

You know, just thinking about that big birthday todo and the railroad, it would be a real neat trick if the Centennial Committee and the firm they employed to produce the party could produce a real train to take part in the historical pageant.

There were quite a few folks with comments about my sunburn last week. Here is an update on that tender subject—it peeled.

Not only did my pate peel, so did my feet, my wife and both kids.

Hopefully, by the time we recover, we can venture forth again next year and frolic in the sun and sand and, with experience, keep our hat on.

Paving underway

Several streets in Winters received a new surface this past week through a cooperative effort between the City of Winters and Runnels County.

The paving program has been used for the past several years, with the city furnishing the materials and the county providing the equipment.

Sections of North and South Church Street were re-surfaced as was a portion of Tinkle Street last week.

Plans approved for Centennial Celebration

The Winters Centennial Celebration, Inc. Steering Committee finalized contract agreements Tuesday evening with The Rogers Company, of Pittsburgh Pennsylvania, to produce a historical pageant and week-long celebration for Winters' 100th birthday.

A tentative date for the Winters Centennial Celebration, which will span ten days, will be the week prior to the last week of June, 1990. Members of the steering committee, along with other community leaders, met with Jack Brancewicz of The Rogers Company to look at possible plans for the celebration.

The Rogers Company specializes in directing communities, large and small, in activities such as centennials and other special events.

The company has produced special events in over 100 Texas cities and communities as well as many cities and communities across the nation.

Among the Texas cities are Abilene, Brownwood, Archer City, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Temple, Colorado City, and Big Springs. Also listed among the references are such cities as Worcester, Massachusetts, Providence, Rhode Island, Buffalo, New York, Kansas City, Missouri, Charleston, South Carolina, and New Orleans, Louisiana.

When first contacted by the centennial committee, The Rogers Company required the committee to contact other communities in which the company had directed such celebrations to find out what those results were.

The concept of the organization of the Winters Centennial Celebration is based on total community involvement in the total project.

In a prepared proposal for Winters, The Rogers Company outlined the entire year's preparation for the event which will include an historic stage show to be presented five evenings in the celebration week, fireworks displays each of those evenings, along with a multitude of other activities and events.

The cost of the celebration is projected to be $46,000. Of that amount, The Rogers Company will charge $15,725. The remaining $30,275 is budgeted for the expenses of the celebration.

The projected budget also calls for revenues of $66,845.

Using those figures, Jack Brancewicz told meeting that the Centennial Committee could expect, with 100 percent achievement of the goals, a net profit of $20,845. With a perhaps more realistic figure of 70 percent achievement, the profit figures would total $791.

A recommendation for the initial funding of the project was

Ballinger coach loses his appeal

The 3rd Court of Appeals on Wednesday found no merit in the appeal by a former Ballinger elementary coach fired by the school board after a 1986 controversy over corporal punishment.

David Burton was fired after a hearing before the Ballinger school board, which determined that the elementary physical education teacher used excessive force in paddling two fourth-grade boys who were disrupting a class.

In his unsuccessful appeals to Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby and to an Austin district court, Burton argued that he followed school policy.

However, the 3rd Court noted in its opinion that Kirby and the district court both found that Burton did not follow that portion of the policy that said a paddling must be administered in a "reasonable manner."

In addition, the appeals court said school officials properly used a similar incident in 1979 involving Burton to back up its decision. After the 1979 incident, Burton was prohibited from using corporal punishment for five years, according to court records.

A Young Dentist Comes To Stay

The story of the J. L. Heaths moving to Winters and building the Rock Hotel is mentioned in a book written by their daughter, Virginia Draper. She also tells about a young dentist friend, Dr. Zebulon (Zeb) Vance Dry, helping them move.

My father called his trip to West Texas "Prosepecting for a new home." When he returned he told my mother that he had found, and bought for $1,500, just what they had hoped for and were moving. The property was in the little town of Winters, population at the time of about one thousand. It was a white two-room house, with a hall between the rooms, on an acre of ground. When he informed us that we were moving to Winters, my father assured mother that the house although small, was a nice house on plenty of land, and that we could add to it. He also assured her that Winters would soon have a railroad, and that the town would prosper.

The problem was how to move our family and possessions from Heathtown to Winters. Moving was not as easy then as it is today. Carthage had the only railroad in Panola County, and Ballinger was the nearest town to Winters with a railroad, some twenty miles away.

My parents wanted to take household furnishings, best cow, and lumber to add three rooms to our new home. Also they wanted to take Clara Mullins, the little black girl, who lived with us. Father had our belongings hauled in wagons from Heathtown to a rented box car in Carthage. He had to have someone ride in the boxcar and take care of the cow. Fortunately, to do this, he was able to get a young dentist in Clayton, Dr. Zeb Dry, who was looking for a new location to practice his profession and was persuaded that Winters might be the place.

Father then went on ahead, and was in Ballinger when Dr. Dry arrived in the boxcar with our possessions. He had hired wagons to move us to Winters. He and Dr. Dry got our household furnishing set up as best they could in our two-room house. When this was accomplished, mother, my sister, Clifford, Clara, the black girl, and I took the train to Ballinger and rode in a surrey to our new home in Winters. Our big move was completed in late 1905. I was ten and my sister Clifford was three.

Dr. Dry not only helped to get our household furnishings, cow and lumber moved, but also lived with us while he established a practice in town.

I remember how difficult it was for my mother to adjust to our small house while the three extra rooms were being built by father and Dr. Dry. She called it "camping out." She missed the beautiful trees of East Texas very much. West Central Texas was prairie country, and there were sandstorms which were hard for her to take, but she did like the higher, dry climate.

When he had saved enough money to build a house, Dr. Dry went back to Clayton and married his East Texas sweetheart, Mabel Densen, and brought her back to Winters where they lived the rest of their lives. They were dear, good friends whom we loved very much.

From some newspaper clippings sent to me by Dr. Dry's son Jerry, of Houston, we learn that the young dentist had a stroke of luck when Dr. Fred Tinkle offered the young dentist office space.

"I was broke and he took me in like a boy taking a pup in," Dr. Dry recalled.

That first office was about a half block down from his later office space above the Winters State Bank, where he moved in 1911, and again luck was with him. The building he moved from burned down a few weeks later.

His office looked down on Main Street which in those days every now and then became a muddy strip where wagons sunk to the wagon axles.

He remembered the local residents had to burn cotton seed to keep themselves warm on occasions. The roads got so bad one couldn't go to Ballinger or Abilene to buy coal.

1989 Property Tax Rates in Winters

This notice concerns 1989 property tax rates for Winters. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 237,550
+ Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
= Last year's total taxes	$ 237,550
+ Last year's tax base	$ 39,591,690
= Last year's total tax rate	$.60 / $100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 237,550
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting taxes on new property)	$ 40,357,587
= This year's effective tax rate	$.58861 / $100

A city that adopted the additional sales tax in a 1989 election must include the following lines:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ / $100
= Effective tax rate	$ / $100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing $.60626 / $100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 288,145
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 40,357,587
= This year's effective operating rate	$.71397 / $100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.77109 / $100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0- / $100
= This year's rollback rate	$.77109 / $100

A city that imposes the additional sales tax must include these lines, regardless of when it held the election:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$.12478 / $100
= Rollback tax rate	$.64631 / $100

SCHEDULE A: Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following balances will probably be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
Maintenance and Operation	$ $32,000.00

SCHEDULE B: 1989 Debt Service

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid	Interest to be Paid	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
		N/A
Total required for 1989 debt service			-0-
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A			-0-
- Excess collections last year			-0-
= Total to be paid from taxes in 1989			-0-
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only % of its taxes in 1989			-0-
= Total Debt Service Levy			-0-

from Additional Sales Tax

(For counties and cities with additional 1/2 cent sales tax)

In calculating its effective and rollback tax rates, the unit estimated that it will receive $ 50,595.00 in additional sales and use tax revenues.

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rate calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at City Hall

Dear Betty Crocker

Q. Why do some pie crust recipes call for an egg?

J. P. Neoga, IL

A. Eggs make a pie crust richer and add flavor. They also may toughen the crust. For best results, use yolk in pie crust and save white for glazing.

Q. After I've shredded raw potatoes in the food processor, they turn gray and mushy during frying. Any suggestions?

A. Potatoes are 80 percent water and have a tendency to get watery. Process them in quick on/off's rather than continuously shredding them. It may help to add a few teaspoons of lemon juice or ascorbic acid to prevent oxidation. Blot with towel before frying to remove excess water. Cook potatoes immediately.

Tip of the Week: To quickly peel tomatoes, dip tomato into boiling water for 30 seconds and plunge into cold water. Peel with knife.

Card of Thanks

I would like to say thank you to all my family and friends for all their thoughtfulness during my stay in the hospital and since I've been home. Thanks for all the calls, visits, cards and gifts. I appreciate each of you and your kindness. May God bless each of you in a special way. Pat Pritchard

For those of you who woke up this morning with nothing in the way of a long term issue to worry about, let me help you. You will recall that Mark Twain said, "There are lies, damned lies and statistics." In spite of that ringing endorsement, statistics can be fairly illuminating. Recent statistical reports show that on any given school day, 3,899 teenagers drop out of school. Of every three urban high school students; one will be on welfare as an adult and the remaining two will have to support the welfare recipient. Nationally, only one high school graduate in ten meets the minimum literacy standard for mail clerk jobs. Eighty percent of all job applicants to Motorola fail an examination that requires seventh grade English and fifth grade math. Recently when New York Telephone Company announced job openings, 117,000 people applied. 2,100 passed the basic exam. I could go on and on, but I think you get the idea. We now spend more money on education than at anytime in the history of our nation and state and an excellent argument, well supported, can be made that we are doing the poorest job of educating our children in our history. Right here in this state we throw billions of dollars, over half our state budget, at the education problem and consistently get disappointing returns. What is the cure? There likely is no single cure. Certainly the problem cannot be cured by the application of more of that magic elixir, money. Probably the changes that would truly effectuate a cure, such as total elimination of all non-academic activities, are so socially unacceptable as to be wishful thinking. It does occur to me that if you have been engaged in an activity for a long time it stops working, you go back and do it the way you did when it worked. I suggest we are seeing this in the form of home schools. More and more people are doing it and, so far, the results are phenomenal. In the short term, look for a dramatic increase in public school alternatives, even for people of modest means. Also look for our local schools and local control of schools to become further ensnared in the tar baby of State and Federal bureaucratic reforms. For the long term, spend a few moments worrying about just how much of your income is going to go for support of those millions of unemployable dropouts that the present system is generating.

Teacher Reception August 28, 3 p.m. Winters State Bank Lobby

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Took the family to Arlington last week to take in our annual Texas Rangers' baseball game. Got to see Nolan Ryan get within two outs of his 6th major league no-hitter.

It was great! I think he is the only active major leaguer who is older than I am. Nolan is 41.

It didn't dawn on me what was happening until the 7th inning. I looked up at the scoreboard and saw all the goose-eggs on the Detroit side of the score. Then I saw that same figure posted in the place that announces the total number of hits by the Tigers.

It was about that time that an unusual electricity began running through the stadium each time one of the Tigers was put out at first base or struck out. Guess everybody else figured it out, too.

What was surprising was that I was determined not to mention that Nolan had a no-hitter going. It is a baseball superstition that you do not talk about a no-hitter-in-progress. If you do, it will be broken.

I found out about this baseball belief when I was eleven and had a no-hitter going through 4 innings of little league. I mentioned it in the dugout, and my coach informed me of the severity of my action. The only thing I can remember is that I got knocked out of the box in the 5th.

I am an educated person. I know better than to be superstitious. I know that the reason that you don't talk about a no-hitter is so that the pitcher won't be concentrating so much on the no-hitter that he forgets to concentrate on the very next batter, and the very next pitch. I also know that superstition is a form of occult religion, spawned in the ignorance and oppression of the middle ages. Yet, still, I was shushing the boys, lest they break the sacred baseball tradition and talk about the no-hitter. Thus breaking the spell.

St. Paul talked about believing in superstitious practices. He called them "elemental spirits of the universe" in the fourth chapter of Galatians and in the 2nd chapter of Colossians. "If with Christ you died to the elemental spirits of the universe, why do you live as if you still belonged to the world?" (Col. 2:20)

Sometimes I like to think that I have come a long way since first century humanity. But every now and then, I am reminded that I still need a saviour. I still need Jesus and his teachings that honor my intellect as a God-given gift. Even if it comes in the form of a seemingly harmless baseball superstition, hitting me from the center-field bleachers.

Department on Aging offers certificates honoring grandparents

Grandparents are more important today than ever before. Recent social trends have obliged many grandparents to raise their grandchildren as well as their children, often delaying their retirement as a result. And, as always, their wisdom, experience and work ethic make them the unacknowledged backbone of our state.

The Texas Department on Aging, in honor of the vital role grandparents play in society, will sponsor Texas' observance of National Grandparents Day September 10, 1989. As in the past three years, TDoA will offer free certificates for presentation to understanding grandparents.

These certificates are suitable for framing. They are printed in color on parchment paper and signed by Governor Bill William P. Clements and Department of Aging Executive Director O. P. Bobbitt. A space is provided for inscribing the name of the recipient.

Last year, TDoA distributed more than 100,000 Outstanding Grandparent certificates to individuals, schools, nursing homes, churches and civic groups. Many schools and other organizations sponsored local Grandparents Day celebrations which included presentation of certificates.

The Department on Aging urges people who are ordering certificates to place requests as soon as possible to assure that the orders will be filled in time for Grandparents Day.

Submit orders in writing only to: Grandparents Certificates % Texas Department on Aging, P.O. Box 12786, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Immunizations are required by Texas schools

With the new school year just around the corner, the Texas Medical Association encourages parents to check their child's immunization records. Although outbreaks and epidemics of killer diseases like polio and diphtheria don't pose the threat they once did, infectious diseases can still spread among us.

Children are not born immune to infectious diseases; they must be immunized against them. More than any other preventive health-care practice, immunizations begun in childhood and kept up to date save money, misery, and lives.

In Texas, proof of vaccinations for six communicable diseases—polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), mumps, and diphtheria—is required by law for all children registering for day-care or public schools. In addition, pertussis, or whooping cough vaccine is required for children less than 5 years old in day-care and public schools. The Texas Medical Association recommends the pertussis vaccine be extended for children through age 6.

Because of vaccinations, only two cases of diphtheria and one fatal case of polio have been reported in Texas in the past 10 years. However, some preventable diseases persist because parents allow the original vaccinations to expire without getting the necessary follow-up booster shots. In 1988, the Texas Department of Health recorded outbreaks of measles, mumps, rubella, pertussis, and tetanus. About 3,000 cases of measles were reported during an epidemic in Texas in late 1988 and early 1989. Victims of these diseases included unimmunized children, as well as adults who had allowed their immunizations to lapse.

Parents should follow their physician's advice in scheduling the necessary vaccinations and boosters and in keeping accurate records for each child. Parents who are not sure if their children's vaccinations are current should update their records now, to be ready for the upcoming school year.

The Texas Medical Association reminds you to immunize your child. Although outbreaks

Nursing Home News

by Billie R. Bishop
I failed to get the newsletter in last week on time. I apologize for that.

Our sympathy is extended to the family and friends of John Evrard, who passed away August 2 in the Senior Citizens Nursing Home.

We have had four new admissions. We would like to welcome them, they are Rufus Smith in Room 25A; Lionicia Ruiz in Room 20B; Earl Richey in Room 10A; and Mrs. Vicie Self in Room 4B. They would appreciate your visits, cards and letters.

We want to thank those who brought vegetables. Those we have names for are O. C. Hill of Drasco for cantalope; Mrs. Hudson White for cantalope; Travis Downing, watermelon; Richard and Jewel Denny, peaches; George and Cleo Brown, peaches; and others I might have missed. Also I don't want to forget to thank Pool Company for the ice and Herb Bentrup for bringing it to us.

Aleene Mapes, one of our residents, has been in North Runnels Hospital, but is back with us now. Her husband, Melvin Mapes, is still recuperating at his son's house in San Angelo. He was able to visit Aleene Sunday and maybe will be back home soon.

Mr. Floyd Grant is in North Runnels Hospital.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Inez Danford. She passed away early Tuesday morning. Inez will be missed by all her friends here who knew and loved her.

Our residents met in their quarterly Resident's Council Meeting, with Rachel Seldon, president presiding. Everyone spoke and gave their views on topics of interest to them. Items discussed were food, activities and entertainment. There was no new business, and the meeting was adjourned. Those attending were Rachel Seldon, Lena Bahlman, Dora Busher, Trudie Freeman and Vela Laird.

Thanks to all of you who are so faithful to come and visit and entertain. Your time here is appreciated greatly. A special thanks to Celia Holloway for the tapes and movies from time to time.

Hance outlines energy plan

Kent Hance, Chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, today, August 8, outlined his proposal for a national energy plan at a Department of Energy regional hearing.

"I am pleased that the Bush Administration is taking the first steps toward a national energy policy. My proposal is designed to stabilize oil prices, provide tax incentives for the drilling of wells, and to dramatically expand our use of natural gas," Hance said.

Chairman Hance, who was invited by D.O.E. to testify at the hearing, said, "For two years I have called for a national energy plan. We are moving in that direction now and it could not come too quickly as far as the Texas oil and gas industry is concerned."

Bryan reunion held

Several friends and over 100 descendants of Harbert Alexander and Sarah Ann (Hudson) Bryan gathered at the Norton Community Center Saturday, August 5, for their annual (1st Saturday in August) reunion.

Harbert Bryan served in the armies of the South during the war between the States. Also, the town of Bryan, Texas was named after a cousin, William Joel Bryan. Another cousin, Rebecca Bryan, was married to Daniel Boone.

Harbert and Sarah married in 1859 in Tennessee, and shortly afterwards moved near San Saba, Texas. A few years later they acquired a 225 acre farm near Osceola, Hill County, Texas. In 1903, two of their sons, Bob and Ed, moved to Rannels County. They purchased farm land 17 miles southwest of Winters, at Old Norton. There they built a wooden church building and pews. This building served many years as the worship place for members of the Church of Christ. In the late '60's a new brick building was built, where many of their descendants still worship.

Harbert and Sarah had nine children: Billy, Alex, Pete, Bob, Lizzie, Ed, Emmie, Oscar, and Julie. Of the nine children, almost 70 of Ed's family attended the reunion; Bob's family, almost 30 attended; Emmie's family, six attended; Oscar's family, one attended.

The oldest person present was Eunice (Wisnaker) Bryan, age 87. The youngest was Kellyn

This notice concerns 1989 property tax rates for Winters I.S.D. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

"Charlie"

Richie Tubbs, 20, and Shoni Smith, 18, both of Winters landed the big one last week on a trot line in Coleman's Memory Lake. The old city lake, just west of Coleman, yielded this 30 pound Yellow Catfish between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. last Thursday morning.

Scouts

Eagle Scout, introduced the cinematography merit badge. President George Bush also made an appearance at the Jamboree.

By J'Dan Miller

The trip from Dallas to Washington seemed very long. While in Washington D.C. I saw the Capitol Building, the Washington Monument and the White House. I also went to the Arlington National Cemetery, the National Zoo and National Aquarium and also visited the Smithsonian Air and space Museum and the Museum of Natural History.

Saturday, we left Washington D.C. and went to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. There we saw Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell and learned much about this interesting town.

Finally, we made it to the Jamboree where things began to happen very rapidly.

One place of major attraction was Fish Hook Lake. Here, anyone could go fishing and almost catch something. A group of our guys caught 30 fish in one trip. All together, almost 1,000 fish came out of the lake every day.

Probably the biggest and most exciting part of the Jamboree was the Arena Show. Though it took two hours for our troop to move to the Arena area, it was well worth it.

There were amazing fireworks and awesome laser show. A pair of F-14s made a fly-by of the camp and got to see The Jets in concert as well seeing Steven Spielberg and President George Bush.

The trip home seemed quick, I had a cold for the first few days due to the humidity and good old Texas dust.

Southside Baptist Pastor to relocate

Bro. Jim Lanning, Pastor of Southside Baptist Church for the past three years, has accepted a position at San Marcos Baptist Academy in San Marcos, Texas; his last Sunday at Southside will be August 20.

The church invites all of his friends to come to worship at 10:50 a.m. next Sunday and hear his closing sermon entitled "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Bro. Jim said, "I am taking more with me from the people of Winters than I am leaving behind. I love the people at Southside and Winters."

'90 Seniors to have Back to School Swim

Memo from the Chamber of Commerce

Entries for the 19th Annual Arts and Crafts Show went out this week. If you are not on our mailing list and would like to be, please call the Chamber office for an entry blank. It will be a great show this year and many people are looking forward to coming to Winters.

A news release just out from the State Comptroller tells us that sales in the State have been up compared to this time last year. In reviewing Runnels County and the cities from Runnels, more especially Winters we see that taxes paid were up from the same period in 1988. The State office has predicted the steady growth will continue. That is good news!

You will notice some fresh paint on the curbs downtown, thanks to a group of Boys Scouts, Dean Evans, Greg Evans, Scott Kozelsky and Mark Deike from Troop 249: Please take notice when you come to town and let them know you appreciate their efforts to help beautify Winters.

Texas Highways to feature special 'Travel Texas History' Issue

"We want to show Texas Highways readers places they can go today to experience yesterday," said Frank Lively, editor of the state's monthly travel magazine. Lively and his staff have put together a special 'Travel Texas History' edition of the publication for September. The special, edition out in mid-August, includes an additional 16 pages.

Lively stressed that the 64-page issue is not intended as simply a history of the state to be read and put away.

"We want folks to use it as a field guide. Take it along on trips to see our state's historic buildings, battle sites, and other noteworthy monuments."

"People from other states marvel that we in Texas take the entire seventh grade school year to teach our children the state's history," said Lively. "Texans just have so many important events to learn about."

Three writers, each of who concentrated on a region of the state—east, central, and west—

Wee Care School registration set

The preschool committee of the First United Methodist Church has set August 25 as the deadline for pre-registration for Wee Care School.

The preschool is a Christian school for 3 and 4 year-olds. The class meets on Mondays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. until noon. Our teachers this year are Diann McMinn and Chris Paramore. Kay Smith will be the aide and Jeri Speegle will be the director.

Tuition is $25 a month and there is a one time supply fee of $15. The church has registration forms and financial aid applications. Call 754-5213 or come by the Methodist Church office from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Other people available for information are Nancy Davis, 754-5565; Margaret Anderson, 754-4589; or Laurie Franklin, 754-4172.

The first day of Wee Care School will be Thursday, September 7. Children need to be 3 or 4 by that day. The preschool also needs a copy of your child's shot records.

Texas Highways to feature special 'Travel Texas History' Issue

focused on the most historically significant places to visit in those areas.

"We cover the state's development from pre-Columbian times up through the era of the great oilfields of East Texas," said Lively.

Other features include listings of books on the history of the state that every Texan should read, maps of early territorial boundaries, and additional references for those who want to delve a bit deeper into Texas' early days.

The magazine's 'Fun Forecast' column, which lists festivals and celebrations for the month, will identify those events in September that spotlight Texas history or heritage.

The September issue will also include an article on Austin's history, since the city is celebrating its 150th birthday this year.

Appropriately, the September cover pictures the Alamo, that shrine most often identified with Texas heritage.

Supermarkets to feature school supplies among August Specials

August's arrival means it's time to start shopping for school supplies, shoes and clothes as summer speeds away.

One of the fastest growing sources of school supplies is your favorite retail food store, according to Dr. Dick Edwards a Texas A&M University food marketing expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Massive displays featuring school-related items will begin appearing at supermarkets early in August. Numerous specials will be noted on lunch boxes, notebooks, pens, pencils, paper and even calculators," Edwards said.

Food retailers also will offer specials on school lunch food items as the first day of school approaches, he said.

"Besides traditional sandwich items of luncheon meats, peanut butter and jelly, parents should watch for specials on single serving pak items such as assorted individual packages of puddings and fruit," Edwards said.

August to retailers is a time to clear out summer items and make room for fall merchandise. Edwards said this means discounts on lawn mowers, edgers, hoses and other lawn care items.

August also is one of the few months when most of the nation's fruit and vegetable production areas are supplying products, thus produce prices are generally lower than during other months, the economist
