City Council transfers funds to TexPool

The Winters City Council, meeting in special session Monday, voted to transfer approximately $300,000 in city funds to TexPool as soon as practical. City Administrator Chuck MacIlvaine told Mayor Randy Springer and council members Sandy Griffin, Gene Bernal and Jerry Sims that TexPool was paying an average of 8.50% compounded daily for the month of March. MacIlvaine also told council members that moving city funds would create approximately $30,000 more in interest income for the city on a yearly basis. After some discussion as to the effects, both good and bad, for the city, council members present voted unanimously to move the funds to TexPool.

In other business, council members also voted unanimously to install a new sewer line on State Street near the Dry Manufacturing Division plant at a cost of $1324.00.

Winters Cleanup Week—April 9-13

During this Centennial year of 1990 the City Council urges all Citizens of Winters to make a maximum effort in cleaning up the City. The two previous cleanup weeks have been a big success and this year is hoped to be even better.

The City Street Department will assist in this effort by hauling junk, limbs, brush and trash to the City landfill free of charge during the Special clean-up week. Old appliances, tree limbs, brush tied with twine, grass and weeds which have been boxed or sacked must be placed by the street or in the alley if they are to be hauled by the City crews. No tires will be picked up or accepted at the Winters landfill due

WTU to hold microwave cooking school

Today's busy schedules leave little time for the traditionally prepared dishes in the kitchen. Men and children as well as the homemaker spend time each week warming foods. The microwave oven is a marvelous machine that can do so much more and make your life easier if you will use it.

The WTU Electric Living Consultants from Abilene will be demonstrating quick food ideas, candies and snacks. All recipes will be fast, easy and suitable for everyone on the go.

"A four year old child shall be eligible for Pre-Kindergarten if he/she is unable to comprehend the English language or is from a family whose income is at or below subsistence level. Pre-Kindergarten classes shall be offered for one-half day."

It is very important that all students should be registered. The school needs to determine the number of Pre-Kindergarten, Kindergarten and First Grade teachers who will be needed for the 1990-1991 school year.

to EPA Regulations.

Trash and debris will be picked up on the following schedule: Using Dale and Main Streets as dividing line - on Tuesday, April 10, the Northwest Quarter of town; on Wednesday, April 11, the Northeast Quarter; on Thursday, April 12, the Southwest Quarter; and on Friday, April 13, the Southwest Quarter of town.

Everyone is urged to take pride in the appearance of their property and the City as a whole and put forth an effort in the project. This may well be the last time the City can participate in a City Clean-up week because of new EPA regulations which may force the City to close the landfill by next year.

Joe Bryan for Place 3 over Rodrick Bredemeyer.

A motion was made to re-instate all present officers by acclamation. Motion seconded and passed. Directors for 1990 are Mike Mitchell, Lanny England, Rodney Flanagan, Rodney Faubion, Joe Bryan, Gary Bryan, Clarence Wessels, Gary Jacob and Monte Angel.

Everyone attending the microwave cooking school will receive a brochure of all the recipes that will be prepared, a complimentary gift, and an opportunity to sample the candies and snacks. There will be an additional drawing for the door prizes to be given away. Mark your calendars and make plans to attend. The school will be held Tuesday, April 3, at 7 p.m. in the Winters Community Center.

WHS One-Act Play

If you were unable to attend the One-Act Play presentation "I Never Saw Another Butterfly" Monday night, you missed a truly magnificent effort. These young people and their director, David Evans, have put together a very poignant play, dealing with a difficult subject. Cara Bahlman and J. J. Michaelis both turned in excellent performances in the dual lead and special mention is deserved for Jason Dry, who never appears on stage, but sets the tone of the production before the curtain ever opens.

The One-Act Play competition will take place at the Winters High School auditorium Saturday, March 31, beginning at 10 a.m.. The public is invited to attend.

Scholastic Marathon

The Winters Secondary School held its annual Scholastic Marathon in the school auditorium on March 22. The students were tested over English, science, history, and math. Nineteen teams (consisting of an "A" student, a "B" student, and a "C" student) competed for approximately $1,000 in prize money. (See related pictures on page 9)

Last Tuesday, March 10, the Lutheran Preschool visited the Winters Kindergarten classes. The eight 3-year olds visited Dawn Bryan's Pre-Kindergarten class and the twenty-seven 4 and 5-year olds visited Nancy Randolph and Dianne Davis' Kindergarten classes. They saw what they could expect when they go to "Big" school next year. The Lutheran Preschool would like to thank the teachers and school administration for allowing this visit.

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles

It has been about a year since the Exxon Valdez was run aground by a second mate with the sailing skill of a brick. The damage caused by the incident was more than a ruptured ship belly and oily beaches. The physical effects were obvious and probably correctable, but the petroleum industry has suffered irreparable harm to its image. The public will consider oil producers an enemy of the environment for some time to come as a result of the spill.

You are probably saying to yourself, "Who cares, that was Alaska and this is West Texas. We're just good 'ole country boys who don't mean anybody any harm. No one is going to stick their nose in our business way out here." Maybe so, but let's think about this a minute.

The environmentalists' case goes something like this: "You oil guys are just rich spoiled brats who are destroying the ecology of the world. You are careless and wasteful and just plain sloppy. Oil companies are exacting a cost to the environment far in excess of their products' value. If you have to kill a seal to produce a barrel of oil—we don't need oil."

A little extreme, to say the least, but some points may hit home. Before we examine it in depth, let's look at the oil producers' view point: "You comic radical environmentalists are weenies. We have a job to do—so we do it. And we do it well. We're careful most of the time, but hey, we are gonna spill some oil on the way to your gas tank. So what—it's minor compared to the world's other problems. We are just trying to make a living."

A little extreme, also. I've purposely picked the opposite ends of the spectrum in this debate to provide contrast for discussion. Most of us are in the middle somewhere, which is precisely the point. We have to get past all of this name calling and meet on some common ground. That is the only way to ensure that both sides can live with the outcome, otherwise, we all suffer. The oil business suffers economically if we are overly constrained by the zealot environmentalist, and the environment will suffer if we refuse to even consider our role in the world's preservation.

Let's look at the two arguments and see where there might be room for compromise.

First of all, most environmental damage occurs either through tanker spills or pollution (air and water) spewed out by refineries—not from drilling oil wells and not from producing them. Not that is doesn't occur in the production side of the business, but the greatest danger our coastlines and waterways face is the incoming tankers filled with imported oil. Furthermore, (sounds like it came right out of the Congressional Record) it is impractical to think that the world can do without petroleum. Most of the environmentalists drive gas guzzling BMW's to their Sierra Club meetings, but never face up to the fact that they need this form of energy as bad as we do. On the other hand, we must realize that the ecosystem of the Earth is fragile. It can't take abuse, forever. We are running out of places to dump our garbage as it is. Emptying tank bottoms in the pasture may not seem significant, but if everyone does it, it's going to cause lasting damage. We have a responsibility to be prudent and avoid soiling the environment at every opportunity.

Where can these two viewpoints reach common ground?

If imports are reduced, tanker spills are less likely. They can be reduced by increasing domestic production—economic incentives can help that cause. Oil producers win and environmentalists win. Hmmm.

If more areas are opened for drilling (not tankering), an operator can make more opportunities for themselves and further increase domestic production in the process. Environmental issues must be considered or the environmentalists will not be interested in the long range possibility of lowering imports at the possible cost of the environment. We have to do our part if we expect them to help us. Likewise, the ecology set must understand the significance of our product's impact strategically and economically.

The list can go on, but I think you get the picture. Compromise is the name of the game, otherwise the friendly Feds will be encouraged to force us to do things we'd rather not do. All because we couldn't work things out ourselves. Even way out here in West Texas, we can't go our own way. We have to consider the other guy's opinion in the hope that he will do the same for us.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

I'm not much of a basketball fan. But it is getting to be that time of year when many of us who remain relatively indifferent toward the sport turn into red-eyed fans. NCAA Division I playoffs.

Since weekend before last, I have watched more basketball on TV than I have or will the rest of the year. From that first 64 and the non-stop coverage on ESPN to the final four next Monday night.

Great games. Close games. Last second shots that fall in for the win. Followed by the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat.

But this year's playoffs bring about some major contrasts and questions. One of the top teams is Loyola Marymount. Who, earlier in the year, had a young man named Hank Gathers who played for them.

A few weeks ago, Gathers collapsed on the basketball court and died of a heart attack. As a junior last year, he had reached college basketball superstar status. But now he is dead.

Some news reports said that his doctors had told him last year he had a heart condition and shouldn't play basketball any more. It wasn't the first time he had collapsed.

I suppose we will never know for sure. But IF he knew and continued to play, it brings up some questions. Was it the love of the game that would make a man risk his life? Or was it the megabucks that were surely waiting for him after his collegiate days were over?

What is so important about sports and its rewards that would be worth a life ended at age 23? I wonder if these are the priorities that our culture wants to leave behind.

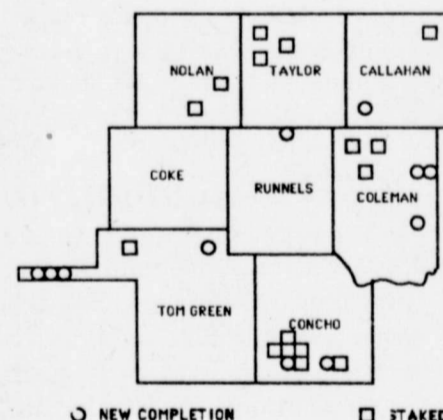

But then I wonder, too, if any athlete is worth 1-4 million a year to play a game. While others performing services more crucial to society's welfare are not even being paid enough to be middle class.

Jesus said that there are things worth dying for. I don't recall basketball as being one of them. "For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me and for the gospel will save it."

Maybe it is time we all took an honest look at what is worth dying for. My hunch is that when we find the answer to that question, we will have the answer to the question, "What is worth living for?"

Mr. and Mrs. David McAdoo

Popejoy, McAdoo exchange wedding vows

Cherri Christine Popejoy, Grand Prairie and David Lee McAdoo, San Angelo, were married February 17, 1990 in Ridglea United Methodist Church, Fort Worth. Officiating was Rev. Robert Young.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Popejoy, Wichita, Kansas, formerly of El Reno. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John McAdoo of Winters.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white taffeta with a cathedral-length train. An off-the-shoulder fashion, the bodice of the gown was styled with puffed sleeves and trimmed with Alencon lace and beads. Matching lace was used in cutout designs on the gown. Hemline of the skirt and train was edged with Alencon lace and lace medallions.

The waist-length veil of bridal illusion was attached in a pouf to a wreath headpiece of satin flowers, pearls and sequins.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement centered with clusters of white glamelias with white tulips, stephanotis, baby's breath, English ivy and sprays of pearls.

Sandy Hunt of Trophy Club, Texas, was honor attendant.

Other attendants were Cheryl Hudson of Oklahoma City, former Le Reno resident; and Glenda Meyers, Fort Worth.

The attendants' floor-length gowns were fashioned with black velvet bodices, long puffed sleeves, jewel necklines and Basque waistlines. The gathered skirts of red moire faille had matching bows at the back waistline.

Each carried a cascade bouquet of white glamelias, red tulips and English ivy.

Keri Meyers of Fort Worth was flower girl. Maggie Wynn of El Reno served a ring girl. Both wore black velvet gowns with red moire faille bows.

Best man was Rick Jones of Odessa.

Groomsmen were Jay West of Abilene; and Rusty Allen of Melvin.

Serving as ushers were Tom Hunt, Trophy Club; Chuck Bane, Odessa; and Larry Oster of Carrollton.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo went to Maui, Hawaii for a wedding trip and are making their home in San Angelo.

Boys golf team played Eastland

The Winters boys golf team traveled to Eastland March 19 and placed 7th in a 20 team field. The team was led by Brady Cowan's 87, closely followed by Billy Frank Belew's 89. Rounding out the team was Kenyon Black at 91, Russell Parramore, 107. Also competing were Joel Dry and Daniel Shoemaker. The tournament was played on two different courses, which made the scoring extremely difficult. The boys next action is on March 27, as we travel to Hamlin before our district competition starts April 3.

Conservation Reserve Program Maintenance

Under CRP, operators are required to control weeds when they interfere with the establishment of a stand of grass. According to Melinda Hudson of the SCS, Soil Conservation Service personnel evaluate all the CRP plantings during the course of the year, but with over 400 active contracts to look at the SCS cannot see every contract in time to advise weed control. Although the SCS tries to evaluate possible weed problems in March and April, many times 75% of the contracts will be evaluated in late summer and fall.

Maintenance is required for regular crops and maintenance may be needed on perennial grass plantings also. In most instances, the maintenance will not extend past the first year. Take it upon yourselves to ensure a good stand of grass by taking care of problems as they arise. The myth that you shouldn't do anything with CRP land unless told to by the SCS or ASCS is not true. Not only should an operator be conscientious enough to take the management upon themselves, but it may end up costing them more to establish the stand in the long run if the first planting is a failure.

If there is a severe problem with weeds such as ragweed, tumbleweed, ironweed, bitterweed, cocklebur, sunflower, etc. the recommended time to spray is from the middle to the end of April with 3-4 pints of picloram and 2,4-D depending on how severe the problem, Thick Johnsongrass requires shredding in March and may need to be shredded again near the end of August.

If there are any questions concerning a weed problem and you are unsure what action to take please call the Soil Conservation Service at 365-3415 and we will be more than happy to help.

Melinda Hudson, SCS Soil Conservationist in Ballinger, inspects a severe stand of juvenile tumbleweeds infesting a CRP stand in a northeast section of Runnels County. April is the time to spray with Picloram and 2,4-D for most CRP weed problems.

Twain Talk by Twyla Twain

Did you watch the Academy Awards? I tried, honestly, I did. But to endure four hours of watching celebrities applaud one another when I'm certain they'd probably rather punch their opponents is more than I can handle. I'm always amazed at how incompetent these "professionals" become when it's time to read the nominees and winners. How come these people can make billions of dollars with their talents both in front of and behind the movie cameras, but are totally unable to read a list, find the right camera or make a complete sentence. I suspect it's because the girls are much too busy trying to contain all their body parts in those slinky, glittery dresses. Or maybe it's because they fixed their hair using tools by Black & Decker and are unable to see around all that stuff hanging over their eyes. (I think that must feel something similar to having a swarm of gnats bothering your face, but maybe "star people" are accustomed to that). Then there are the male celebrities. While they usually don't have to fret too much over their formal evening wear, they run a close second in the wild hairdo department and often contend with that over-the-eye situation. Maybe it's a vision problem.

Anyway, it gets a little tough wading through all the acceptance speeches and thank-yous. I wonder what would happen if one of the big winners got up to make their famous speech and realized they had their "Things To Do Today" list or their grocery list. Now that's my kind of people.

Why don't we all get together and give our own kind of awards for the things we think are really important? Things like an award to the person who pulls out of the best parking spot at the mall when it's freezing weather just in time for you to have it. Or to the boss who shares the company's profits with all the employees (including the little people who made it possible). And how about to your kid who shocked you by actually cleaning his/her room and carried out the trash and fixed you a special peanut butter and jelly sandwich - without being asked. I'd give one to my mother-in-law for "being on my side" and to my dentist who knows I can't stand even the stress of having the bib put around my neck without going into total panic. An award should go to almost any teacher of any kind who deals with any kid of any age. How about a special award to the husband who actually notices that you cleaned the shelves of the refrigerator or the fur balls off the ceiling fan, and doesn't mention the black roast and paper mache'-thick gravy.

See, we could really have a great program and wouldn't even have to have commercials. You wouldn't have to dress up either. And all acceptances and thank-yous would be given in hugs and smiles. How 'bout it?
- And Ne'er the Twain Shall Meet -

Centennial Sentinel

by Edna England
Publicity Chairman

The gathering of the Centennial Belles and the Brothers of the Brush was an hour of fun and fellowship for over 100 people at the Community Center on Tuesday evening. The whole-hearted support and enthusiasm of the men and women of the community and area is instrumental to the total success of the Centennial Celebration.

Proclamations were read by Cheryl Bryan and Steve Byrne, chairpersons for the Belles and Brothers. Steve also explained about the charter and certificates for each chapter. Any organization or individual may organize an active chapter in the Celebration Belles or Brothers of the Brush. Be sure to go to Headquarters, located in the Chamber of Commerce office, for chapter kits which contain Celebration Belles or Brother Certificates, Celebration Badges, Organization sheets and registration for Chapter name. Cost of membership certificates and badges for each individual is $2.00 total. All charters and members will be recorded in the official records of Winters Centennial Celebration. There is no limitation to the number of members who can belong to any one chapter and a person may belong to more than one chapter with the purchase of only one membership.

Some of the Belle Chapters which have been formed are as follows:

- Literary and Service Club-Blue Bonnet Belles
- Elementary School Teachers-School Belles
- Winters State Bank girls-Dollar Belles
- Winters Business Women-Busy Bee Belles
- Susan Conner, open chapter-Jazzbelles
- Eastern Star-Eastern Star Belles
- Canasta Club-Wheeler Dealers Belles
- Mary-Mahaffey-Brownie Belles
- Ouida Nichols-Silver Belles
- Winters Woman's Club-Library Belles
- Ann Baldwin Beauty Shop-Curley Top Belles
- Tinkle Street, Betty Byrns-Tinkle Belles
- Winters Service League-Jingle Belles
- Ladies Golf Association-Birdie Belles
- Jr. High Girls-Teen Belles
- Drasco Rd. Neighbors-Cow Belles
- Ruth Sunday School Class, First Baptist Church-Glory Belles
- Scarlett Mikeska, Wingate-Country Belles

In a celebration commemorating an important historical anniversary, it is only logical and natural to honor our pioneers and contrast the past with the present. Everyone can dress like our ancestors. For the ladies, fashion is probably the most visual way women have changed in our history. Going back to our pioneering ancestors and dressing as they did in their day is one way to honor our heritage. Women donning sunbonnets and fashions of the past will bring a festive air to the community--and what lady doesn't like to dress up!

For the men, the Brothers of the Bear, or Brush were really busy at the Centennial store getting their garb together--buying the grey or black topper hats, ties, vests and arm bands. We all had to take that second look when we thought Colonel Sanders walked in. There was also the steamboat gambler, Abe Lincoln, the country preacher, the country doctor, then there are others we haven't named yet.

The Centennial Store in the Chamber of Commerce office is a very busy place, not only selling Centennial Clothes, but also getting in new things each day for women, men and children. Lavera Tharp will be glad to help you make a selection.

Virgil Roberts is chairperson of the art exhibit to be held during Celebration Week, June 23-30. She is inviting all area artists to a meeting Tuesday, April 3, at 4:45 p.m. at Melba's Art, Gift and Craft Shop on South Main Street. Virgil says "We need your input in the planning and your cooperation and willingness to show your art to make this exhibit a success. Whatever medium you work in, whether it is watercolor, oils, acrylic, alkyls, dyes or mixed medium, every artist is needed. Please come to this meeting so as to help us make a good show."

Maurine Davis is chairperson of the window displays for the celebration and she is asking anyone that has antique items to please contact her. She and her committee are planning to paint designs of days gone by on the show windows of vacant buildings. Susan Conner is planning a window display of old sheet music and is in need of some antique musical instruments.

Notes from the Centennial and the City Clean-up and Beautification Committees to remind us all that the appearance of our City is the responsibility of everyone who has a business in Winters, who lives in Winters, and who resides in the area surrounding the town. We need you as a partner. All who are interested in helping in a volunteer group to do some painting, mowing, general clean-up, or who would like to ADOPT-A-SPOT as a personal project are asked to call one of the following:

- LaRue Garrett - 754-4213
- Kay Colbum - 767-2272
- C of C office - 754-5210
- Donna Donica - 754-4424

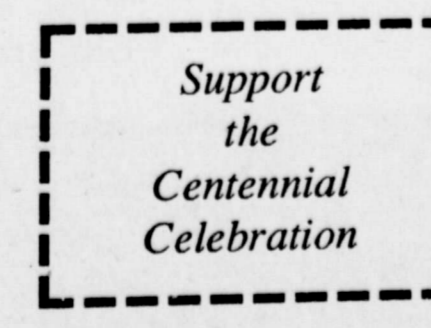

Also needed are individuals who will volunteer to serve as a Block Clean-Up Captain for their block, to act as a contact for special pick up times and to organize the residents on their block in order to make their block the most improved one in town. Call one of the above numbers to register as a Block Captain.

The following points are critical to a CLEAN BUSINESS AREA as well as a CLEAN RESIDENTIAL AREA:

1. Freshly painted exterior
2. Premises kept repaired, including unsightly and hazardous awnings
3. Outdated, old signs removed
4. Necessary signs kept painted and maintained
5. Outdoor merchandise and/or machinery kept clean, neatly stacked and arranged, work areas clean, no piles of junk accumulating
6. Convenient trash receptacles available to public
7. Loading dock area free of litter
8. Entrances clean, uncluttered and inviting
9. Area around dumpster picked up regularly, dumpster lid closed
10. Curbs clean
11. Parking lots clean, weed free, mowed and edged
12. Fence lines clean
13. Sidewalks free of stray weeds

No one wants to be faced with higher taxes, more fees, or other expenses which would be necessary if some entity had to be paid to do the above jobs. The volunteer committees have no funds to use in trying to spruce up our town. What we have to offer is encouragement and a clearing house committed to organizing all who care enough about Winters to give some of their time and talent to improve the appearance of the town.

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR--your business, your home, your lot, all cast either a good or bad light on the whole town. Clean up your space and help to clean up other spaces that need attention.

Green selected for Group Study Exchange to France

Rotary International District 589 has selected Keva (Harrison) Green for a five-week Group Study Exchange (GSE) to France. The GSE program is an educational activity of the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International. Its purpose is to promote goodwill and better understanding among countries around the world.

The GSE team is comprised of four Houston area professional women and two alternates age 25 to 35 with varied vocational and educational backgrounds. Last year Ms. Green had the opportunity to be an alternate to the Australian GSE team.

The French team will be led by Rotarian Walt Lackey and his wife Rosalyn. Ms. Green and the other team members left March 25, 1990 and the official schedule will last until April 30, 1990. Ms. Green will be staying in France for a few additional days in order to meet with French Telecom.

While in France the team will be giving speeches and presentations to the various Rotary clubs as well as other organizations. They will have the opportunity to observe their host's way of life and study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics.

The team will spend several days in Paris before traveling to Rotary District 172. This District is in the Loire Valley and is both beautiful and historical. It is known as the "Garden of France" and naturally is a wine producing area. It has both medieval fortresses and classical chateaus. It is the site of the castles of Francis I, Charles VII, Katherine de Medicis, Louis XII, St. Louis, Cardinal Richelieu, Richard the Lionhearted, Leonardo da Vinci, and many, many others. The team is looking forward to having time between presentations to do some sight-seeing.

Green is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harrison of Winters. She is currently an Area Manager-Marketing Technical for Southwestern Bell Telephone in Houston. Her organization is responsible for technical support for the Marketing department. The Design Consultants which report to Ms. Green, assist Account Executives in handling the largest industries in Houston. They are responsible for designing the switching and telecommunications network for the Houston area.

Married to Michael A. Green, who also works for Southwestern Bell Telephone, the couple reside in Houston and have two children, LeeRand, age 9 and Kevin, age 7.

Green attended Winters High School and graduated in 1974. She then attended Texas A&M University where she graduated with honors with a degree in Industrial Engineering. Last year she completed her Masters Degree in Telecommunications from Southern Methodist University.

Her involvement in professional and civic organizations include being a registered Professional Engineer in the state of Texas, President of Women's Business Support Network, Director of Professional Women of Southwestern Bell, and Life Member of the Greater Houston Chamber of Commerce. Other activities and involvement includes: American Business Women's Association, Texas Society of Professional Engineers, Federation of Houston Professional Women, and the House Society of Telephone Engineers.

Ms. Green is presently taking lessons to learn to speak French. "My teammates have all lived in France at some time and speak French fluently. I'm the only native Texan and I have laughingly told my team that the only language I am presently fluent in is the "Texas drawl." It should be a great learning experience for me to travel to France, especially with the Group Study Exchange program. I am really looking forward to the opportunity."

Keva (Harrison) Green

Aerobic exercise important for fitness

There's no doubt about it. Every year, more and more Americans participate in sports and fitness activities. They have many goals: Improved fitness, weight loss, more energy, better health or to improve in their favorite sport.

Yet, when surveys report on the number of people who exercise regularly at levels vigorous enough to achieve these goals, the number of true participants drops. You see, it takes a little more than just a weekly game of tennis or an occasional swim to become fit.

First, to improve the fitness of your heart and lungs, it is necessary to do some form of cardiorespiratory endurance exercise at least three times each week for a minimum of 20 minutes each workout. This form of exercise, known as aerobic exercise, uses large muscle groups and requires a lot of oxygen. As your heart pumps hard to bring oxygen and nutrients to your muscles, it gets stronger and healthier. Some popular aerobic exercises are walking, jogging, swimming, aerobic dancing, cycling and cross-country skiing.

Muscular strengthening exercises are also important. Strong muscles are less likely to be injured and they make it easier to do endurance exercises for extended periods of time. Also, strong abdominal muscles help prevent lower back pain, which is a common problem today.

The women at the Housing Authority have made quilts, stadium blankets, lap covers, place mats, pillows, etc., which will be for sale at Granny's Attic with all proceeds going to the Centennial Celebration. All items will be very reasonably priced. Many thanks are extended to the women who helped with this project.

Not pictured, Willie Ludwig, Dee Faubion, Nell Patton and the late Daisy Rainey.

Everyone who donated quilt scraps is appreciated. These ladies are pleased with their accomplishments and hope you will come by Granny's Attic and see these items and support the Winters Centennial Celebration.

Our Sympathy is extended to the family of Sera Howard. She passed away Tuesday morning in Sr. Citizens Nursing Home. Mr. Carl Parks passed away Saturday morning at Senior Citizens Nursing Home. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Parks and the family.

There is a new flag waving at the nursing home, due to the efforts of Betty Pinkerton. It was presented to us by the Woodmen of the World Chapter III. The home appreciates all who participated and were involved in it in anyway. Thanks to all of you and for giving the residents a chance to be involved.

Friday, March 16, we had a Birthday Party for the employees, celebrated with a salad luncheon. Our thanks to Mrs. Lillian Roberson and Linda Morrison for coming and entertaining us dressed as Minnie Pearl and her cousin. Those celebrating birthdays were, Sandra Willborn, Billie Ruth Bishop and Tony Torres.

Exploring A&M Campus

The Manor House was comfortable and accommodating. A mini-breakfast was provided for us in the corner of a sitting room near the lobby. It consisted of everything one could want, including coffee, juice and milk; fruit, cereal and sweet rolls.

We were now ready to explore A&M campus, but no Aggie aboard wanted to be a tour guide: Neither Ralph Porter, whose company sponsored the trip, nor Wes Hays. So Randall Conner persuaded students, John Andrae and Brandon Poe, to help us out.

The boys were glad to show us the largest campus in the U.S., with 40,000 students, including their dorms. Brandon's was next to an academic building with a large dome, that would help locate it. The "Dixie Chicken" was across the street from John's apartment. He showed us a new parking place being built, where parking would be free. John thought he and Brandon had already paid for it with their parking tickets.

There were two new buildings on campus. The John

Blocker building of management and finance and the civil and petroleum engineering building that went up last year.

We had quick glimpses of Walton Drive and the main entrance, also the well groomed park where students go to get off campus. The only complaint is that girls go one weekend and boys go the next. There is an 18 hole golf course but most students lack time and money to take advantage of it.

We passed a horse pavilion where there is judging and shows for all kinds of horses. Both Winters and Ballinger have taken part in this.

Firefighting schools are held on the outer edge of the campus and many volunteer fire departments send their members here each year for training.

Winters first Fire Chief, Frank Willimas, moved to A&M to begin this school in the 1930s. Then it cost $16.50 for a week's training, now it is $343.50.

A big center pole stands alone on Kyle football field, but during football season it is in the middle of a huge bonfire made with hardwood trees, hand cut and loaded, all except the top layer, until it is 40 feet in diameter and 60 feet high. The football stadium will hold 72,000 people and is seven stories high. A&M is now in baseball season.

Linda Duggan and Jill Bredemeyer were our congenial hostesses. They handed the cold drinks and promptly took care of any need that arose.

Continuing our drive, we

passed the two and a half million dollar alumni building that has just been completed, a gift from Clayton Williams to the school. Since the first of March, the name of Jersey Street has been changed to George Bush Avenue.

Our first stop was at the Veterinary Diagnostic Center. Drs. Gail and Eugster were in charge. Here they have many departments including radiology, cardiology, neurology, cat scan, pathology and microscopy. Technicians, professors and college students work together and they keep an account of each patient. Medical records, drugs and medicines are kept in the pharmacy. They have found over 100 diseases that are communicable from animals to man.

They have a new electron microscope, it is so expensive the hospitals do not have it. It magnifies 5,000 times the size of an object and is so costly there are only two more in the state.

The veterinary school has 128 students, sixty four can work in the lab at one time. Among the animal patients in the hospital have been about 13,000 dogs, cats and assorted creatures each year that have been referred from all parts of the U. S. and foreign countries.

It takes special handling and staff to care for the more than four thousand animal patients each year. There are 350 cages, four indoor wards, and 100 stalls for the horses, cows, pigs and goats.

Every clinical department is specialized and 30,000 animals are tested each year for people who live within a 200 mile radius that have animals with diseases they cannot diagnose.

Dr. Lyndon Kurtz directs the vet. school and said he had relatives in Rannels County. He showed us an operating room where senior students study. It has the Latin words, "ex norte venit vita" above the door. When he asked if anyone knew what they meant, Susan Conner, who studied Latin in college, answered, "out of death comes life."

By now everyone was inquiring where Sbis Hall was, we were ready for lunch and found it without any trouble. The only draw back was the size of the building and having to go to a different section for each article of food. But we managed to find it all!

Winters 4-H Club news

by Brent Jacob

The Winters 4-H Club met Monday night, March 26. Tabitha Grohman presided over the meeting. Kevin Conner led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Brent Jacob led the 4-H Motto and Pledge. James Andrae gave the Treasurer's Report.

John Paul Belew introduced the speaker, Freddie Grohman. Freddie gave a program on Handling Rattlesnakes. He showed a video and then gave a live demonstration. Everyone was very interested in the rattlers. Freddie had some snake skins and rattlers for everyone to feel. He also gave a few safety precautions when walking in areas where snakes might live.

Marty Gibbs, Assistant County Extension Ag Agent, was present to give a report on Livestock Judging. Also, he talked about the County Method Demonstration, which will be held Tuesday, April 24 at the County Courthouse. There are still a few categories that are open if anyone wishes to enter the contest.

Anyone interested in the Range Judging Contest is asked to attend a meeting Thursday, March 29 at 6:30 p.m. at the courthouse in Ballinger.

A trip to Dyess Air Force Base was discussed. The trip would include a tour of the base, planes and sleeping overnight on the Base in barracks.

The fashions of yesteryear

If you find yourself fascinated by the fashions and lifestyles of years past, there is a new publication just for you.

Vintage Fashions, a bi-monthly magazine published by Hobby House Press, is for women and men whose taste in fashion and style is best fulfilled by the days of another era.

Vintage clothing and accessories are increasingly popular collectibles. Ask any member of the Federation of Vintage Fashion, the Costume Society of America, or a Civil War battle reenactment group. They will enthusiastically tell you about the history, the heritage, and the culture reflected by the garments, jewelry, and other trappings that were once on the cutting edge of haute couture.

The premier edition of Vintage Fashions includes features on vintage clothing and the history of fashion, from pre-Victorian to the roaring twenties, to the glamorous 1950s and mod 60s.

Kika de la Garza to keynote National Export Conference

Texas Congressman Kika de la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and a leading proponent of agricultural exports will be keynote speaker May 21 at the National Conference on International Cattle and Beef Marketing at College Station.

De la Garza's address will kick off the May 20-23 conference. He will set the tone for three days of technical and practical discussions devoted to promoting exports of purebred, feeder and fat cattle as well as carcass and boxed beef.

Individual workshops will be hosted by industry and government experts on trade.

The conference is jointly sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Market Research Center and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University in addition to the U. S. Meat Export Federation. Seven other industry groups are also providing support.

De la Garza is a native of the Rio Grande Valley and makes his home in Mission, Texas. He won election to the U. S. House as a Democrat in 1964. He has served on the House Agriculture Committee since that time, and assumed its chairmanship in January 1981.

He considers his support of an expanded agricultural export trade among his major achievements in Congress. He has led several groups on tours of all major agricultural trading nations, and has been instrumental in promoting trade to Mexico, the Soviet Union and other Eastern bloc countries.

Other important speakers will give their talks on many different subjects.

Registration for the conference is $150 before May 1 and $200 after that date.

Tennis team in Santa Anna and San Saba tournaments

The Winters tennis team travelled to the Santa Anna Invitational tournament on March 16 and 17. Tennis coach, David Faltys, reports that the team competed very well and showed much promise for future play. Results from the Santa Anna tournament were as follows:

Julie Wheat and Angie Donica were defeated in the third round by Ortiz and Chapman of Mason.

Brent Green and Brandon Boles were defeated in the finals by Petry and Andrews of Eastland.

Nathan Smith was defeated in the third round by Vermillion of Eastland.

The tennis team travelled to San Saba on March 23 and 24 to take part in the San Saba Invitational Tennis Tournament. The Blizzards were part of a 22 team field that included Mason, Burnet, Brady and Fredericksburg. The tournament was marred by rain, wind and 35 degree weather but the Winters players competed well.

Monty Baker played in the finals of the consolation bracket. Brent Green and Brandon Boles played in the semi-finals of the consolation bracket in boys doubles. Nathan Smith was defeated in the quarterfinals by the eventual champion, Rodney Chant of Eden.

Coach Faltys reports the San Saba tournament was the last tournament before the District Tournament which will be held in San Saba April 5, 6, and 7. Coach Faltys says his kids are really playing well and he expects some to advance to regional competition later in Abilene.

North Runnels Cancer Crusade

In preparing for the April Community Crusade, it is important for Winters residents to know how the American Cancer Society invests their contributions. Contributions to the American Cancer Society in Texas represent one of the best returns on the dollar. "We are proud of our fiscal record and I know our friends and neighbors will be even more willing to give to the American Cancer Society when they learn how well their money is being spent," said a local spokesman.

Contributions raised in 1987-88 were invested during this last fiscal year (September 1, 1988-August 31, 1989) as follows:

- Cancer Research 43%
- Public Education 29%
- Patient Services 25%
- Prof. Education 10%
- Fund-raising 15%
- Program Development/ Administration 3%

This 125% expenditure reflects increased research spending in Texas by the national American Cancer Society. This means that contributions to the Society are more valuable than our contributors may realize. The American Cancer Society is currently sponsoring research investigations in 12 major Texas hospitals, medical schools and universities totaling more than $10.3 million.

About three in ten Americans, according to present rates, will eventually have cancer. As a killer of Americans, cancer is second only to heart disease. More than one out of five deaths from all causes in this country is from cancer.

Nearly one out of two cancer patients is now being saved. Yet the figure could be improved if more people would see their physicians in time for early diagnosis and treatment.

The cancer problem is urgent. Many more people can be saved if they can be persuaded to see their doctors in time. That is why your help is so important.

The North Runnels Cancer Crusade will be conducted April 2-30. The business drive will be April 2-14 and the residential drive is scheduled for April 16-30.

The fourth grade classes of Winters Elementary journeyed into the past last week by taking a trip to the 1880's school at Ft. Concho. The students participated by dressing according to the tradition. The classes wrote on slates using slate pencils, read from McGuffey Readers, participated in a spelling bee, ate lunch from pails, enjoyed songs of the era, and played outside games from the past. The activities were led by a school marm, Mrs. Parker, and the museum's curator, Mr. Bluthardt.
