Sales tax rebate check for February is $6,955.59

The City of Winters received $6,955.59 as its share of local sales tax rebates according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock. That figure is down 12.95% from the same month's rebate last year of $7,990.77. Year to date payments to the City of Winters total $45,424.88, down from 1989's payments to date of $47,509.72 or a decrease of 4.39%.

Bullock said his office sent checks totaling almost $67 million to cities and counties in Texas, an increase of 7 percent over last year's total payments at this time. Houston received the largest amount, $11.7 million, followed by Dallas with $7.6 million. San Antonio received $3.9 million and Austin received $2.8 million.

Absentee voting in progress for city council and school board elections in Winters

Absentee voting for the May 5 City election began Monday, April 16 and will continue until Tuesday, May 1. Those wishing to vote absentee may do so for city candidates during regular office hours at City Hall. Candidates for City Council include incumbent Gene Bernal and newcomers James Spill, O. J. Murray, Randy Loudermilk, Jim Lincycomb and Melinda Meyers. The three top vote getters will be elected. Voters are reminded that election laws no longer specify that a person be out of town on election day to be able to vote absentee. Anyone who wishes may vote absentee in person by appearing at City Hall and requesting an absentee ballot.

Other area cities and their rebate amounts were: Ballinger $14,104.60 (ytd $96,596.960); Miles $585.64 (ytd $4,258.92); Tuscola $609.47 (ytd $4,106.86); Lawn $593.15 (ytd $2,606.25).

Rebate checks to counties totaled $7 million this month for an increase of nearly 16 percent over last year's total payments at this time. The increase is partly due to more counties collecting sales tax now, Bullock said.

This month's checks include taxes collected on February sales and reported in March by businesses filing monthly tax returns. Merchants collect the sales taxes and send them to the Comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state keeps its 6 percent share and each month sends cities and counties their portion of the sales tax.

All local sales taxes must be approved by local voters and may be used for any legal city or county expenses. Most areas put the money in their General Fund and use it for operations like fire fighting, maintaining roads and law enforcement.

Fire Convention held in Ballinger

The Hill Country Firemen's Association met in Ballinger April 7, 1990 for their annual Spring Convention, with approximately 375 registering. Fire Departments attending were, Winters, Ballinger, Eden, Wall, Brady, Sonora, Brownwood, Bangs, Sterling City, Eldorado, Menard, Junction and Rowena.

The convention started at 9 a.m. and ended at 12 midnight with the following agenda: business meeting, memorial service, selection of Firemen of the Year to compete on state level in June at El Paso, races, barbecue meal and dance.

Some of Winters' highlights for the day were Marvin Bedford receiving a plaque for his 50 years of fire service by Hill Country's President, Carl Teaff of Sonora; Gary Moore being one of the three finalists picked to be voted on for Firemen of the Year; Winters receiving the Leon Powell attendance trophy with 42 in attendance; Betty Easterly and Debra Lindsey bringing home the 1st Place trophy in Water Polo.

Board meeting held by WISD Trustees

The Board of Trustees of the Winters Independent School District held their regular board meeting in the school administration office on Tuesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. Minutes of the regular meeting held March 13, and the called meeting held March 27, were read and approved. A report was heard from the Gifted and Talented Program committee consisting of John Key, Cindy Rogers, L. C. Hounsel, and Barbara Everett. The Board voted to adopt the proposed Gifted and Talented Program to begin in the fall semester of 1990. A meeting to further explain this program will be held on May 1, 1990, in the high school auditorium at 7 p.m.

A financial report was given and the Board approved all bills.

Pony Express arrives at historic Rock Hotel

In the year 1890, mail was brought to the new town of Winters by the Pony Express. Winters will be reliving that experience this Saturday, April 21, at 10:00 a.m. with the arrival of the Pony Express bringing mail from the east to the Rock Hotel.

The dining hall of the Rock Hotel will have a mock bar selling sarsaparilla at 10¢ a shot. High school girls will be acting as bar maids. Deen Thompson, Winters Postmaster will be cancelling stamps with the special Winters Centennial stamp cancellation pictured below. Stamp collectors from all parts of the United States have sent cards and envelopes to the local post office to receive this special cancellation.

Also on Saturday there will be flea market booths on West Dale along with garage sales all over town. Also the E & B Fun Time Rides carnival is in town for the Celebration. Several food booths will also be open during that day also. Citizens have been reminded to please refrain from parking along West Dale Street from Main Street to the Rock Hotel on that day.

City Council awards liability insurance bid

At the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council of the City of Winters on Monday, April 16, an award was made for the City's General Liability Insurance coverage. Two bids were made, one by Bedford-Norman Insurance Agency of Winters and the other by Jerry Willingham Insurance of Ballinger.

Although Bedford-Norman did not submit the low bid, City Attorney Ken Slimp advised Council Members they could award the bid to the best and most responsible bidder. Council members voted to award the bid to Bedford-Norman because the bid submitted was to be written through a company which is in the State Guaranteed Pool. The second reason given for awarding the bid to Bedford-Norman was that information concerning the bid by the Ballinger company had not been submitted to the Council by the specified dates requested following the April 2 meeting.

In other business, the Council voted to accept an amendment to the Police Rules and Regulations Concerning Use of Force as recommended by Larry Willis, acting chief. A copy of the amended rules and regulations will be mailed to the U. S. Justice Department. According to City Administrator Chuck MacIvaine, adoption of these rules and regulations accomplishes two of the three things requested by the Department.

A short discussion was held concerning dissatisfaction of the North Runnels Water Supply District with the new water rates in effect at present. Council members instructed Mayor Randy Springer to draft a letter to be sent the North Runnels Water Supply District outlining the City's stand.

The Council then appointed Charles Ludwick as City Administrator/Treasurer to become effective May 14. Mr. Ludwick will assume the duties of City Administrator/Treasurer at that time. In the meantime, the Council voted to name Chuck MacIvaine as Acting City Administrator, since his resignation was to be effective April 30. He will be working on a part-time basis to assure a smooth transition to new administrator Ludwick.

Some discussion was then held as to the possibility of using other parts of City Hall as a Council meeting place to make it more accessible to the handicapped and elderly.

After a motion to pay the city bills, Council then adjourned until their next regular meeting.

Band Boosters will host Salad Luncheon

The Band Booster Salad Luncheon will be held Wednesday, April 25, at First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. Time of the luncheon will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A good salad lunch will be served by the Winters High School Band Booster Club to raise money to assist in purchasing uniforms, band instruments, repair and upkeep and to purchase new instruments when needed. Price of the luncheon will be $3.50 per plate.

The public is invited to attend.

KIDS' KORNER

The sixth grade students in Mrs. JeDee Meyer's 2 o'clock Social Studies class made a castle while studying the Middle Ages. The large, gray castle was built with approximately 2,268 sugar cubes (18 boxes). The castle, which was put together with hot glue, has oatmeal container towers and a popsicle stick drawbridge. This project took several weeks as it was worked on during art class on Fridays. A bulletin board of dueling knights, which the students also participated in making, provided a background.

All students agreed that this was a fun, rewarding, and educational project. Students who wanted the castle participated in a drawing. Kevin Briley was the lucky winner.

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles

In this part of the world, oil and gas companies are almost as numerous as tumbleweeds and mesquite trees. Some are big, some are small, and some are not even producing companies. Some call themselves "independents", while others are known as "majors". What does all this really mean?

In order to sort all of this out, let's start by explaining the types of enterprises that normally associate "oil" and/or "gas" with their names. Of course, companies that produce oil and gas are included, but several other types of businesses also use the petroleum nameplate. Refiners and marketers that only manufacture and sell gasoline, motor oil, and other end products may also use the word "oil" in their names. Even middlemen who only transfer products that are in some way related to petroleum may call their business an "oil company". Therefore, just because someone is associated with an oil company doesn't mean that they know beans about producing oil and gas. We are going to concentrate on producers.

Oil producing companies are really one of two broad categories: "integrated" or "non-integrated". Integrated companies are those that produce, transport, refine and sell petroleum products, like Exxon (they also spill it), Shell, and Texaco. Non-integrated companies only produce (and maybe transport) petroleum, but they do not market or refine the end products. Amerada-Hess, Oryx, Enserch, and Omni are examples of non-integrated companies.

Now things get foggier. A "major" company is usually integrated, but can include a non-integrated company if they have big production and reserves. An "independent" is almost always non-integrated, and there are large, medium, and small independents—depending on production and reserves). The confusion starts when independents act like majors by the way that they operate or present themselves to the public or other businesses. To cut through this confusion, here are my rules of thumb for 'sizing' oil companies:

Major—The top 10 companies in terms of reserves and production. I don't care if they are integrated or not—if they are big, they spend and make huge amounts of cash and have large organizational structures.

Independents—Everybody else. Even if they are integrated, they are so small that they don't have gas stations around here, anyway.

As you can see, I group companies by the size of their resources, not by their self-titled label. It makes sense to me, because owning a gas station and an oil well doesn't make someone a major. Just like owning a field of cotton and owning a pair of blue jeans with a sewing machine doesn't make a person Levi Strauss.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

When I was growing up I had a hobby. Baseball. Actually, it was more than a hobby. From April to October, it occupied almost every waking moment. Age 9 until driver's license. At which time I developed some different interests.

But those baseball years! If I wasn't playing the game, I was studying it, rearranging my baseball cards, or watching it while "Old Diz" and "Pee Wee" gave me a play-by-play on the tube. Summertime I was pretty much one-dimensional.

Rogers Hornsby was always one of my favorite all-time-greats. He was the greatest second-baseman ever to play the game. Probably the best hitter to play the game this century (some would argue that Ty Cobb was better, maybe even Pete Rose—but they are probably wrong).

Rogers Hornsby hit .424 in 1924, the highest one-year average by a major leaguer this century. He had a .358 lifetime major league batting average - 2nd all-time only to Ty Cobb. He managed 5 major league teams. Winning 2 pennants.

As best as I can tell, Rogers Hornsby was born on a farm on April 37, 1896. The farm was somewhere near the present site of Win-Tex Feed Yard north-west of Winters.

I've been doing some research on Hornsby for a possible Z. I. Hale Museum exhibit. Haven't had so much fun since I was 12 years old and memorizing batting averages.

I've discovered something that wouldn't have meant much to me, then, though. Hornsby was a great hitter. But his prowess with authority figures (club owners, baseball commissioners, and the like) makes Billy Martin look like a real politician. He was always in hot-water, getting traded, fired, and moved around.

Whatever he considered to be truth was what he figured the whole truth was, and there was no compromise.

It reminded me of some folks I have known who act as if they have the market cornered on truth. People who call themselves "Christian" with this attitude seem to be the worst offenders. Some folks seem to think that others can be "argued" into the Kingdom of God. It just turns most of us off.

I still like Hornsby. He was a great hitter. All of us have a "tragic flaw," as Shakespeare so eloquently showed us. I think I have even grown to appreciate "the Rajah" more, knowing that he was just as human as the rest of us. In the midst of his greatness.

That is one way I am different from that 12-year-old baseball-obsessed adolescent. I prefer my heroes to be human. It gives us something in common.

Steve Byrne and Rogers Hornsby both have lived by the grace of God. As do we all. Whether we know it or not.

Aggie Muster set in Ballinger

Rudy Hoffman, chairman of the Texas Aggie Muster, announced former students of Texas A&M University will assemble in Ballinger on April 21st for the annual Aggie Muster.

The Muster activities will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Carnegie Library in Ballinger. Muster is open to all former students and their families, parents of students, and friends of Texas A&M.

Texas A&M is in its "Second Century of Greatness." During the last 100 years, Texas A&M has grown from a small Land Grant College to one of the leading research and educational institutions in the nation. The Aggie Muster dates back to 1883, and has been held annually since. More than 400 Musters will be held around the world this year. It is held wherever Texas A&M former students live or work.

During wars, Aggies mustered in foxholes, on the battlefield, aboard ships, in airplanes, and in medical hospitals. In World War II, a muster was held on Corregidor Island shortly before the Japanese captured it in 1942.

Every Muster ceremony is the same. Texas Aggies pay their respects to all those who are absent because of death since the last muster. When the names of the honored dead are called from the Muster Roll, a friend of the deceased answers, "Here."

Twain Talk

by Twyla Twain

Did you get new clothes for Easter? Dressing for this special holiday has always been a hoot at my house. As a kid, I always wondered about the girls who had those jingle bells sewed on their petticoats (the ones that stood out and required curb feelers and a clearance area of four feet). I mean, it's not like you'd never notice these ruffled dolls unless they had those bells on them! And I could never figure out how a squirmy kid was supposed to sit still while wearing a petticoat that was starched so much that my skirt would hit me in the nose whenever I sat down. Or why on earth I had to dress up in frills beyond belief when the rest of the year I looked like I slept in my clothes. But I didn't dare complain because that was one of the three events that allowed me new clothes. So what if my entire body was chapped from a head-to-toe taffeta attack. I looked great for at least two hours. But it always was a bit sad when I got that first black scuff mark on my new white patent shoes and even rubbing spit on it wouldn't take it off. I knew those shoes had to last a long time because we bought them with "plenty of growing room" (you could have stored sandwiches in the ends of my shoes, they had so much "room").

Nowadays, when kids get new Easter duds, it's a different story. Little girls wear everything coordinated, from their ribboned hats to their lacy socks. Some of these little girls look like they've walked right out of the catalog and are ready for the modeling runway. Teenage girls are mainly concerned that their hair looks perfect. Whatever that means. I think it might refer to the severe vertical rise of the bangs and the horizontal fluff of the sides - all sprayed and lacquered to withstand gale force winds. At least a couple of bottles of hairspray are much cheaper than an entire outfit.

And the males of the world are really blossoming in the fashion world. Pink and purple shirts (even for grown men - can you imagine!) And prints that require Dramamine. I see boys wearing pants that wouldn't show if the cat threw up on them. My own son got a pair of pants that contain enough material to make a circus tent. But that's o.k. with me cause it gives him "plenty of growing room". Hmm, where have I heard that before?

Senior Citizens Nursing Home News

By Billie Ruth Bishop

The nursing home had an Easter egg hunt Friday for the employee's children in the nursing home yard. About 25 children were present. Those winning the prizes were: Kathy Torres, Crystal Willborn and John Burditt. Mary Simpson and Cindy Willborn hid the eggs for them. It was a beautiful day and some of the residents were able to go out and enjoy the fun and the beautiful sunshine.

Mary Hall is in North Runnels Hospital following surgery. Mary you are missed.

Our sympathy goes out to the family of Ruby Bailey. Mrs. Bailey passed away last week in Sr. Citizens Nursing Home.

San Jacinto Day

All kinds of activities and fun filled events will take place on the streets of Winters Saturday when the town celebrates 100 years of Independence.

This has all been made possible by the bravery of Texans 154 years ago on that first San Jacinto Day. They had already been beaten twice in skirmishes, but didn't give up in the face of great odds and went on to victory.

Santa Anna

After the direful disasters at San Antonio and Goliad, Santa Anna considered his work in Texas finished. He had no doubt that the rebellious colonists were conquered. As he was needed in Mexico, he wished to leave Texas at once. The officers whom he had appointed to reestablish all Mexican laws and forms in the province were wiser than he. They saw that, as yet, the Texans themselves had not been subdued. Most of those murdered at the Alamo and at Goliad were volunteers from other states; the Texans were yet to show what they alone could do.

Santa Anna was persuaded that his officers were in the right and arranged his army in five divisions that he might penetrate the interior of Texas, and rapidly make himself master of the province.

After Sam Houston was re-elected Commander-in-Chief, he hastened from Washington to Gonzales to take command of the troops collected there.

Houston's Retreat

When news came that the Mexicans were approaching, Houston decided to retreat until his army should increase. He felt that his force was entirely too small for a battle with the enemy, and that a defeat would be fatal to Texas.

News of Houston's retreat, of the onward march of Santa Anna's soldiers, of the removal of the seat of government from Washington to Harrisburg, all caused the people to grow more terror stricken. Roads going eastward were constantly thronged with fugitives; this movement was called the "Run-away Scrape."

At one time the army numbered 1400, but so many deserted or left to carry their families to places of safety that when Houston reached Harrisburg, there were not more than 800 men under his command. In spite of all these discouragements, Houston did not lose heart; he used every opportunity to drill the troops, assisted by his officers. His scouts kept a keen lookout upon the movements of the enemy.

Houston Changes His Plans

On April 18, two Mexican captives were brought into the Texan camp of Deaf Smith. From the dispatches they carried Houston learned that Santa Anna was with the advance force of the enemy, and was cut off from the other divisions of his army. This caused Houston to cease his retreat, turn in pursuit of the foe and stake all upon a battle. He hurriedly pushed on to a point near Lynchburg, opposite the mouth of the San Jacinto.

Before the tired soldiers had time to rest, scouts came in with news of the approach of Santa Anna. The day (April 20) was filled with skirmishes that gave no advantage to either side; in the evening Santa Anna retired to his camp, 3/4 mile from Houston's party.

April 21

The day that was to decide whether or not Texas should be free dawned clear and bright. A large body of men was seen in the distance, marching toward the enemy's camp. It proved to be General Cos, who had come with 500 troops to Santa Anna's assistance. The Mexicans threw up a breastwork five feet high of pack-saddles and baggage sacks, leaving an opening for their cannon.

Houston authorized Deaf Smith and several others to destroy Vince's Bridge, over which General Cos had just crossed Vincennes Bayou. This bridge was the only means of retreat for miles around and meant utter destruction for the conquered.

Battle of San Jacinto

At 3 o'clock, the men formed in line for battle. In a few stirring words, Houston told the 700 soldiers that he was leading them against Santa Anna's 1,600 veteran soldiers. The news was gladly received. A quick march was made on the enemy camp where most of the officers were taking their afternoon nap, even the General was asleep. The Mexicans, though surprised, rallied to meet the charge, as the Texans neared the enemy camp, a fierce cry rang out from every heart, "Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad!"

The Mexicans poured a raging fire of musketry upon the Texans. Houston's men did not pause and before the enemy could reload, the Texans were winging their bullets into the Mexican ranks. After their ammunition was gone they turned their muskets into war-clubs and grappled hand-to-hand with the foe. When the muskets were broken, they fired their pistols and then hurled them at the enemy. Next, they took their Bowie-knives and again raising the battle cry fought in savage fury. Convinced they were struggling with demons and not mortals, the Mexicans took to flight. In about 20 minutes, the battle was won, and the Texan forces were in full possession of Santa Anna's camp.

When the Mexican Cavalry saw the battle was lost, they hurried to Vince's Bridge to make their escape; the bridge was gone! With the enemy behind, scores of them plunged into the stream and met death by drowning.

Bob Bullock reports

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that employment in Texas companies involved in biotechnology grew by leaps and bounds in the 1980s.

"Biotech-related industries in Texas have been bearing real fruit this past decade: life saving drugs and vaccines, pollution-fighting chemicals, more productive farm crops—and new, high-paying jobs for Texans," Bullock said.

Jobs springing from Texas industries dependent on or profiting from biotechnology rose nearly 35 percent between 1983 and 1988. That increase was four times faster than the rise in total state employment. There are 288 biotechnology companies in Texas with more than 11,000 employees.

Wages in the biotech industry are also consistently higher than the state average. In 1989, the average salary per employee for Texas biotech-related industries was $30,500, compared to the Texas wage average of $21,200, Bullock said.

Industry-watchers have said the U.S. biotech industry will become a $200 billion enterprise by the year 2000, and Texas is poised to become a national leader, Bullock said.

Private and public research efforts in Houston, Dallas and San Antonio have led to multi-million dollar investments. And the Texas Legislature, recognizing the potential of the industry, appropriated $5.6 million in 1989 for biotech research at Texas colleges and universities.

"We can't afford to miss the boat," said Bullock. "Biotechnology has enormous potential to make life better for everyone."

by Edna England
Publicity Chairman

A Big Centennial Celebration, Saturday, April 21—San Jacinto Day in Winters. The Pony Express will arrive at 10 a.m. at the Rock Hotel Station on West Dale Street. A mock Post Office will be set up, known as the Rock Hotel Station. The Pictorial Cancellation Stamp will be used on cards, letters or anything that has a First Class postage stamp on it. Deen Thompson, local Postmaster, has spent a lot of time and gone through several channels to have this stamp approved by the United States Postal Service Headquarters in Washington, D. C., Marketing and Communications in Dallas, Texas and the Division Manager in Fort Worth. We want to express our appreciation to Deen for making this such a special time and we do encourage everyone to take advantage of this Commemorative Stamp. A picture of the Pictorial Cancellation Stamp will be elsewhere in the paper. The Chamber of Commerce has envelopes with the Centennial Logo and a Commemorative Stamp for $1.50. This one day will be the only time this Cancellation Stamp will be used. Deen was telling me that when a person worked for 7¢ an hour or 50¢ a day, a 2¢ postage stamp was 29% of a day's wages. Today, with the minimum wage of $4 an hour, a 25¢ stamp is 7% of a day's wages.

Other "Going Ons" at the Rock Hotel will be the Mock Bar in the dining hall with bar maids selling Sarsaparilla, a simulated gun fight and a lot of spitting, whittling and tall tale spinning. The Chamber of Commerce is also sponsoring the Flea Market and Garage Sales, plus lots of food and drink booths. This will be a fun day for all the family with the carnival located on Main Street.

Mary Beth Drake reports that the Centennial Belles will meet Saturday at the Rock Hotel at 11 a.m. to promenade to Main Street, go right to Spill Bros., cross the street and promenade, looking at all the displays and booths that are set up. The promenade will be over when everyone stops looking, visiting and wants to go home. Two Centennial Belle Chapters have been invited to participate and anyone that is dressed in traditional dress is welcomed too.

James Cross, Merchant Activities, says the merchants plan to have Sidewalk Sales on the 21st of April and they will begin giving Centennial Dollars. With every $10 purchase a person will be given one Centennial Dollar to be used at an auction on the first Saturday of Centennial Week which is June 23. Good quality merchandise will be furnished by the businesses, and the auction will be held under the Big Tent downtown.

Our T. V. Chairman, Laurie Franklin, has planned a promotion for Winters on the Pat Atterbery Show on KLST in San Angelo. Jeri Speegle will be on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. and Sherri Mikeska will be on Wednesday at 5 p.m.

New Centennial Belles Chapters are the Golden Belles of the Dorcas Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, the Peachy Belles, employees of the Peach Tree Restaurant and the ladies Sunday School Department of First Baptist Church, Chapel Belles.

Special meetings of the members may be held at any place within the County of Coleman in the State of Texas specified in the notice of the special meeting, or elsewhere within the area served by the cooperative as may be designated by the Board of Directors.

SECTION 3. NOTICE OF MEMBERS' MEETING. Written or printed notice stating the place, day, and hour of the meeting and, in case of a special meeting, the purpose or purposes for which the meeting is called, shall be delivered not less than ten (10) days nor more than twenty (20) days before the date of the meeting, either personally or by mail, by or at the direction of the Secretary, or by the persons calling the meeting, to each member; provided, however, that with respect to all meetings at which directors are to be elected such notice shall be so delivered not less than ten (10) days nor more than fourteen (14) days before the date of the meeting. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be delivered when deposited in the United States mail, addressed to the member at his address as it appears on the records of the cooperative, with postage thereon prepaid. The failure of any member to receive notice of an annual or special meeting of the members shall not invalidate any action which may be taken by the members of any such meeting.

SECTION 4. QUORUM. As long as the total number of members does not exceed one thousand (1,000) at least fifteen per centum (15%) of the total number present in person shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings of the members. In case the total number of members shall exceed one thousand (1,000) then at least one hundred fifty (150) of the members present shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings of the members. If less than a quorum is present at any meeting, a majority of those present in person may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice.

SECTIONS. VOTING. Each member shall be entitled to one (1) vote and no more upon each matter submitted to a vote at a meeting of the members. At all meetings of the members at which a quorum is present all questions shall be decided by a vote of a majority of the members voting thereon in person or by mail, except as otherwise provided by law, the articles of incorporation of the cooperative, or these bylaws. If a husband and wife hold a joint membership they shall jointly be entitled to one (1) vote and no more upon each matter submitted to a vote at a meeting of the members.

SECTION 6. VOTING BY MAIL. In addition to the method of voting for directors of the Cooperative as provided by the existing bylaws and by a member being present and voting in person, each member shall be and is hereby permitted to vote by mail for directors of this association. At the time notices of member's meetings are given as provided by Article II of these bylaws, and with a notice of a member's annual meeting, or any postponement thereof, there shall be sent to each member either personally or by mail a ballot which shall contain the names of all members who have been nominated as candidates for directors with a statement of the number to be elected and with appropriate instructions to the member to vote for such members: EACH MEMBER SHALL BE INSTRUCTED AFTER VOTING FOR THE REQUIRED NUMBER TO SIGN SAID BALLOT AND RETURN THE BALLOT TO THE COOPERATIVE AT ITS OFFICE PRIOR TO THE DATE OF SAID MEETING. Said ballots when so received shall be retained and placed in a locked ballot box until the date of the members' meeting at which time shall be delivered to the inspectors of Election and counted together with the votes cast in person at such members' meeting.

SECTION 7. ORDER OF BUSINESS. The order of business at the annual meeting of the members, and so far as possible at all other meetings of the members, shall be essentially as follows:

1. Report the existence of a quorum.
2. Reading of the notice of the meeting and proof of the due publication of mailing thereof, or the waiver or waivers of notice of the meeting, as the case may be.
3. Reading of unapproved minutes of previous meetings of the members and the taking of necessary action thereon.
4. Presentation and consideration of, and acting upon, reports of officers, directors and committees.
5. Election of directors.
6. Unfinished business.
7. New business.
8. Adjournments.

ARTICLE III Directors

SECTION 1. GENERAL POWERS. The business and affairs of the cooperative shall be managed by a board of nine (9) directors which shall exercise all of the powers of the cooperative except such as are by law or by the articles of incorporation of the cooperative or by these bylaws conferred upon or reserved to the members.

SECTION 2. QUALIFICATIONS AND TENURE. At the Annual Meeting of Members in 1960, three (3) directors shall be elected by and from the members to serve for a period of three (3) years from the date of their election, or until their successors shall have been elected and shall have qualified. Thereafter at each Annual Meeting of the Members of the Cooperative, three (3) directors shall be elected by and from the members to serve for a period of three (3) years from the date of their election, or until their successors shall have been elected and shall have qualified, subject to the provisions of these bylaws with respect to the removal of directors. No member shall be eligible to become or remain a director or to hold any position of trust in the cooperative who is not a bona fide resident in the area served by the cooperative, or who is in any way employed by or financially interested in a competing enterprise or a business selling electric energy or supplies to the cooperative, or a business primarily engaged in selling electrical or plumbing appliances, fixtures or supplies to the members of the cooperative, and no person shall take or hold office as a director who is the incumbent or candidate for an elective public office in connection with which a salary is paid. When a membership is held jointly by a husband and wife, either one, but not both, may be elected a director, provided, however, that neither one shall be eligible to become or remain a director or to hold a position of trust in the cooperative unless both shall meet the qualifications herein above set forth. Nothing in this section contained shall, or shall be construed to, affect in any manner whatsoever the validity of any action taken at any meeting of the Board of Directors.

SECTION 2-A. RESIDENCE OF DIRECTORS. Not more than one director may be elected from the same Detail Area of the territory served by Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Incorporated, as such a territory and Detail Area are defined and shown on the current map of the cooperative as established by the board of Directors; such detail areas being drawn off by red pencil. If, after his or her election a director of the cooperative shall, for the purpose of residing therein, move into a Detail Area wherein one other director of said Cooperative is then residing, the office of the director so moving into such Detail Area shall automatically become vacant without further action on the part of the cooperative or its Board of Directors; and such Board of Directors shall at its first regular, or special meeting thereafter name and appoint a qualified member of the Cooperative as director to fill the unexpired term of the director so disqualifying himself or herself.

SECTION 3. NOMINATIONS. It shall be the duty of the Board of Directors to appoint, not less than thirty (30) days nor more than one hundred and twenty (120) days before the date of a meeting of the members at which directors are to be elected, a committee on nominations consisting of not less than five (5) nor more than eleven (11) members who shall be selected so as to give equitable representation on the committee to the geographical areas served to be served by the Cooperative. No officer or member of the Board of Directors shall be appointed a member of such committee. The committee shall prepare and post at the principal office of the Cooperative at least twenty (20) days before the meeting a list of nominations for directors; but any fifteen (15) or more members may make other nominations in writing over their signatures not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the meeting and the Secretary shall post the same at the same place where the list of nominations made by the committee is posted. The Secretary shall mail with the notice of the meeting a statement of the number of directors to be elected and showing separately the nominations made by the committee on nominations and the nominations made by petition, if any. The members may, at any meeting at which a director or directors shall be removed, as hereinbefore provided, elect a successor or successors thereto without compliance with the foregoing provisions with respect to nominations. Notwithstanding anything in this section contained, failure to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall not affect in any manner whatsoever the validity of any election of directors.

Beef Industry Council names president

The Texas Beef Industry Council (TBIC) board of directors, meeting April 5 in Dallas, elected Clark Willingham as its president for 1990-91. Willingham, a cattle feeder and attorney in private practice in Dallas, succeeds Roy Wheeler of Pleasanton.

As president of the beef council in the nation's largest beef producing state, Willingham will preside over a board of directors that coordinates the checkoff system in Texas.

TBIC board members are nominated by the nine organizations in Texas that deal with beef cattle production. Willingham, a director and former president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA), was nominated to the TBIC board by that group.

Other officers include S. M. True of Plainview, president-elect, and Calvin Buchanan of Decatur, secretary-treasurer. True represents the Texas Farm Bureau and Buchanan represents the state's dairy industry.

Willingham, True and Buchanan are joined on the board's executive committee by Wheeler who represents the Independent Cattlemen's Association and Jim Eller of Bryan who represents Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The board also welcomes a new director in Don Jobs of Houston. Jobs was nominated by the Purebred Alliance of Texas.

Other board members are Harlan Huffman, McGregor, Texas Farm Bureau; Charlie Koontz, Olton, Texas, Cattle Feeders Association; Leon Kothmann, Irving, Southwestern Meat Association; Troy Moore, Stephenville, Livestock Marketing Association of Texas; Jimmy Owen, Tyler, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Jim Schwertner, Austin, Independent Cattlemen's Association; and Lucille Sterling, Colorado City, Texas Cattle Women.

The executive director of TBIC is Anne I. Anderson of Austin.

TBIC is one of 44 state beef councils charged by law with the responsibility to collect $1 per head every time cattle are sold. The funds generate programs of promotion, research and consumer information to increase the profit potential for beef producers.

Fourteen girls in Jr. Girl Scout Troop 161 have just concluded an interesting project. For a badge activity, they were learning about personal grooming and fashion, keeping clothes neat and clean, and how to make clothing repairs. They learned hand sewing basics necessary to enable them to thread a needle, sew a straight seam or replace a button. To practice these things, each girl made a hand puppet, using simple hand sewn stitches and basic embroidery.

Some of the girls will be participating in a program sponsored by the American Sewing Guild, called "Sew A Smile...Send in the Clowns." This is a national program to make hand puppets for seriously ill children. Using the same pattern used to make their first puppet, girls will make another puppet at home with her mother's guidance. The troop will then send these puppets to a hospital where they are needed. If anyone is interested in participating in this worthwhile program, more information can be obtained from one of the troop leaders.

The girls were assisted by troop leaders, Teresa Davis and Chris Parramore, and troop committee mother Barbara Heathcott.

Betty Easterly, left, and Debra Lindsey, right, are shown with the trophy they received for winning first place in the water polo contest at the Hill Country Firemen's Convention held in Ballinger Saturday, April 7. Deer management system needed in Runnels County

How important is deer management? Is wildlife resource management a topic that landowners and/or sportsmen should address or should we let the chips fall where they may?

Traditionally, deer hunting in Texas has consisted of hunters descending on a lease for a few weeks each year, taking their deer, and then basically forgetting about things until the same time next season. However, today's deer hunter is increasingly becoming more educated and interested in improving the quality of wildlife resources under his/her stewardship.

For the landowner/manager, today's deer hunter wants to see more bucks with larger antlers, says Dr. Dale Rollins of San Angelo, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. For the manager interested in supplementing farm and ranch income, the incentive to produce a marketable quality product is greater than ever before. In fact, revenues generated by hunting on many well-managed Texas ranches exceed revenues generated by domestic species.

We are in a rather unique situation here in Runnels County in that our deer herd is a resource that we have not always enjoyed. It is only during the last 10-15 years that huntable deer populations have expanded and begun to flourish in our area.

With these increasing populations and increasing hunting pressure comes the need for responsible, common-sense management systems necessary to insure the quality of the resource. This involves harvest of surplus antlerless deer to reflect the carrying capacity of the land. It means giving some responsible thought to the buck harvest with the realization that it is a combination of genetics, age, and nutrition that must be satisfied before a buck can realize his true potential for size and quality. A buck trying to exist on inadequate forage conditions or harvested as a 1 1/2 year old 6-pointer obviously will not reach the potential that can be achieved if common-sense management objectives are implemented and followed.

We only have to look as far as the Hill Country region south of us to see what could lie ahead, where there is no lack of abundant deer, but the number of buck deer is disproportionately low and the majority of buck deer harvested do not have the time to reach the maturity necessary to produce the antlers they are capable of producing.

Sure, it is a long time until deer season, but now may be a good time to start thinking about some simple but effective management and harvest strategies necessary to insure the continued quality of our deer herd.

Help is available through several governmental agencies in planning and implementing wildlife management strategies. The Soil Conservation Service has a qualified wildlife biologist on staff in our area to assist those who are interested in the benefits of common-sense wildlife management. For this and other available assistance, please stop by the SCS office on Strong Avenue, Ballinger or call 365-3415.

Runnels County Planting Date Set

This years planting date for Runnels County has been set for May 25th and May 21st has been selected as the planting date in Tom Green County. This will work very well this year due to the fact of last year's early harvest and the harsh freeze in late December. The leaf litter sampling this year indicated that very few weevils survived the winter. Those fields which are historically "weevilly" should be scouted closely prior to 1/3 grown squares for overwintered weevils.

The planting date does not cause low Mic's in irrigated cotton in Tom Green County. The low Mic's are not caused by the delay in planting, but due to several other factors. The two main factors are:

1. Irrigating after Sept. 1. Due to watering late, the plant maintains young forms which are trying to develop during a time period which has a lower heat unit accumulation. This causes immature forms being harvested, which results in low micronaire values.

2. Excessive nitrogen which: -retards fruiting, crop becomes so late that terminal bolls fail to mature.

-causes internodes to be large, early square shedding is greater. -flowers occur at nodes higher on main stalk and further out on the fruiting branch.

There is a great opportunity to take advantage of the pest situation this year. Planting early is not the answer. Managing your crop for earliness is.

NOTICE

RUNNELS COUNTY is in the process of completing the patching, paving and sealing of its paved roads. The reason for most of the patching and sealing of these roads is that many of its roads are cut, torn and partially destroyed by farm tractors and equipment turning on these roads. This mutilation is expressly prohibited by law as set out in Article 42.03 of the Penal Code Laws of the State of Texas which states: WHOEVER SHALL WILLFULLY OBSTRUCT OR INJURE OR CAUSE TO BE OBSTRUCTED OR INJURED IN ANY MANNER WHATSOEVER ANY PUBLIC ROAD OR HIGHWAY OR ANY STREET OR ALLEY IN ANY TOWN OR CITY, OR ANY PUBLIC BRIDGE OR CAUSEWAY, WITHIN THIS STATE SHALL BE FILED UPON AS A CLASS "B" MISDEMEANOR.

Runnels County Commissioners' Court requests the cooperation of the various farming equipment owners or renters operating in this county. This law is going to be enforced for the good of all concerned.

BY ORDER OF COMMISSIONERS' COURT April 10, 1990

Pesticide Certification

Many of you are currently registered as certified private applicators. Under this program, you were licensed to purchase and use restricted-use pesticides in your farming operation. Growers who obtained this license prior to January 10, 1989, will be required to recertify as a private applicator. However, under new regulations, the Certified Private Applicator permits you to purchase and apply these products but NOT SUPERVISE THEIR USE. In other words, YOU must do all the pesticide applications of these restricted products.

A NEW LICENSE CATEGORY has been established. This category will be referred to as LICENSED PRIVATE APPLICATOR. This certification will allow you to SUPERVISE APPLICATIONS after training the individual applicator of these restricted pesticides.

Requirements for obtaining and maintaining certification as a Licensed Private Applicator are:

*MUST attend training sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and complete TESTING sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

*Pay a fee of $50. This fee is paid at 5 year intervals. ($50/5-year license)

*Meet recertification requirements by completing Continuing Education requirements.

Long range planning meeting scheduled

As many as 100 leading citizens of Runnels County will gather April 23 to help identify critical issues facing the county over the next four years.

The purpose of the meeting, one of many being conducted in counties around the state this spring, is to assist in the development of educational programs by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service that are responsive to local needs.

"Local people usually have the best ideas on how to solve local problems," said Mike Mauldin, County Extension Agent-AG. "The Extension Service wants to tap into that collective wisdom, and structure its programs in ways that make them relevant and effective."

More than 10,000 people are expected to participate in this grassroots planning effort in Extension Service-sponsored county meetings throughout Texas.

In Runnels County, the meeting is scheduled for 7:00 P.M., April 23, at the County Courthouse's Courtroom on the second floor. This citizens' study group, chaired by Randall Conner, of Winters, was organized earlier in the year by the executive board of the county's Extension Program Council.

To begin the meeting, the study group will hear status reports on the economic, environmental and social conditions in the county. The group will then divide into task forces to identify the most critical issues facing the county in the broad fields of agriculture and natural resources, community development, youth, and home economics.

Afterwards, the study group will reconvene, hear task force reports and discuss how these issues impact the county's economy, environment, and social welfare.

The work of the study group is one of the first major steps in an intensive effort for determining Extension Service programs of 1991-94. Each county long-range Extension program, developed by October, will be considered in the development of the Extension Service's statewide program plan.

For more information call the County Extension Office at 365-2219.

SUPPORT THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

Earth Team volunteers needed

Are you interested in joining a team? It's called the Earth Team and it's the volunteer arm of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service. The SCS is now recruiting volunteers in more than 3,000 locations across the country.

As an Earth Team volunteer, you will work with professionals on conservation activities in our community through the SCS office. Anyone 16 years of age or older and interested in the conservation of our natural resources can join the Earth Team.

Office support services would involve computer data entry, typing, filing and many other conservation tasks. Volunteers could help with such interesting items as terrace lay-out and design, measurement of conservation waterways and ponds, and assist the SCS and the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District in working with the Farmers and ranchers of Runnels County in their conservation management efforts.

Shep News

The Shep Domino Party will be held Saturday, April 21, at 7 p.m., in the Shep Community Center. Bring your chips and dips and dominos for a fun evening.

The Shep Community Center was burglarized on the evening of April 6. The front door was removed and stolen, as well as the silverware, coffee pot, electric can opener and cleaning supplies.
