WISD to have gifted and talented program next year

During the 1990-91 school year the Winters Independent School District will implement a program for gifted and talented students in grades kindergarten through 12. The program will require extra time and work on the part of students involved.

A meeting will be held Tuesday, May 1, at the Winters High School Auditorium at 7 p.m. for all parents interested in their child being a part of the Gifted and Talented program. Mr. Jim Coffey, Coordinator for Gifted/Talented with the Region XV Education Service Center, will present a program concerning the roll of the parent in the nomination process. Other criteria for selection will also be discussed.

Should you wish to nominate your child, the form may be obtained at the Elementary and High School offices. Nominations must be completed and returned by May 4, 1990.

Historical homes tour to be held in Ballinger

The Historical Homes Tour will again be a featured attraction at the 15th Annual Texas State Festival of Ethnic Cultures held in Ballinger on Saturday, April 28th. The tour hours will be from 1:30 P.M. - 4:30 P.M. Tour tickets will be available for $5.00 each at the Information/Ticket Booth on the Courthouse lawn.

The Tour will feature three (3) of Ballinger's historical homes, as well as a guided tour of the restored Carnegie Library. Ballinger's Carnegie Library is one of 34 libraries built in Texas near the turn of the century with Carnegie Foundation funds. Today, it is one of only three others still operating as a public library. The Shakespearean Meeting Room and the Mary Sykes Auditorium are indeed noteworthy attractions. Ballinger's Carnegie Library was designated as a State Archeological Landmark, is on the National Register of Historic Places and proudly bears a Texas Historical Marker.

The Gieschke-Sykes home at 609 8th Street will be on the tour. The home is a Classic Revival-style structure that was built in 1910 by Ballinger rancher and banker, Herman Gieschke. The current owners are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sykes.

A turn-of-the-century home at 205 N. 9th St. will also be open to ticket holders. The Schawe family built the home around 1904 and kept the home in the family until 1975. Richard and Glorianna Tadlock, the current owners, did extensive remodeling after purchasing.

The old Hutton family home at 600 8th St. will also be on the tour. Subsequent owners of the two story house were H. C. Lyon, Emma Speer and most currently Marilyn Brooks. During the 40's, the home was converted to apartments but was returned to a one-family residence in the mid 1970's.

The Ballinger Young Extension Homemakers Organization is sponsoring the home tour. Proceeds from the tour will be used to support various community service projects.

Centennial progress report given

Editor's note: The following is a report given by W. Lee Colburn, President and Randall Connor, General Chairman of Winters Centennial Celebration, Inc. on the progress of the Celebration to date.

We are less than 10 weeks away from the Big Celebration...and that's not long, knowing that planning and preparations have been going on for well over a year. Winters Centennial Celebration 1990 will be the biggest event our community has ever undertaken.

To this point, we've had several very successful Centennial events leading up to the Big Event, with a couple more activities planned before then. A lot of work has gone in to every aspect of the Celebration by the 72 committees working together in a unified effort.

This is "our" celebration and "our" includes every person in the Winters Area, past and present. The coordinating committee feels that we need to report to you on the status of plans and to answer some questions that are asked frequently.

The Coordinating Committee for the Centennial is organized as a nonprofit corporation — Winters Centennial Celebration, Inc.—and is independent from any other group in the community, but includes all aspects of the community—city, school, Chamber of Commerce, businesses, industry, all ethnic and religious groups, and all ages, young and old. It is all of us working together to better our community.

Why are we having a celebration? First of all, it is an opportunity for us to have a fun time and see people we haven't seen in years. It is a chance to look at our past, to honor our heritage, and to reflect on the past 100 years. It is an opportunity for us to stimulate the local economy and to give local businesses a needed boost. And it is an opportunity to develop our civic awareness, and to look at the future of Winters.

How are we financing the Celebration? We started with $2000 each from the City of Winters and the Winters Chamber of Commerce as seed money. Then, we went to local businesses and individuals and sold shares in the celebration, which to date accounts for over $14,000. These shares will be redeemed after the Celebration if we don't end up in the red. The rest of the money will come from such activities as souvenir sales, cookbook sales, the historical booklet, concessions, and admissions to the pageant. At the present time we are above budget on Revenue, thanks to excellent cookbook sales and we are under budget on almost all expense items. We still anticipate covering all expenses of the celebration and having money left over after redeeming all shares. Any profits from the Celebration will be used in community-wide projects—they will not go to an individual or business.

Why did we hire the Rogers Company? The Centennial Coordinating Committee hired the Rogers Company of Pittsburgh, PA, to assist in planning and carrying out the Celebration at a cost of $15,725. That's a lot of money, but here is what we are getting.

1. The organization and assistance in planning of all of the Celebration.

2. Four 2-day consultations over the past year with Rogers Co. personnel.

3. A professional director for the pageant who will live in Winters for about 6 weeks prior to the pageant.

4. 250+ costumes for the pageant, backdrops for a stage 250 feet long by 16 feet high, professional lighting, and props.

Why not let someone local run the show and keep the money at home? As we looked at local-run celebrations in other communities our size, we found one common problem—very, very few celebrations made

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles

As part of our continuing series reviewing oil patch basics we will move into the completion stage of a new well this time around. As you may recall, we have drilled our well and the logs look good. All indications suggest a successful well. We can now move ahead with preparing the well for production.

First the "production casing" must be set. This "string" of pipe is in addition to any other intermediate or shallow strings already set in the well. In most cases, the production string is 5 1/2" pipe running from the surface (ground level) to the bottom of the well, but it can vary from 3" to 7" (or even larger) and can be "scabbed" (hung from the bottom of an intermediate string (instead of from the surface).

The pipe is cemented into place by pumping (in this order) a rubber plug with a rupturable bladder (bottom wiper plug), the cement slurry, and another wiper plug of solid rubber (top plug) down the casing itself. The bottom plug bumps against the "float" equipment at the end of the casing and ruptures to let the cement slurry out of the end of the casing and up the backside between the hole and the casing. The top plug then bumps against the bottom plug and the float equipment and the pumping stops. The cement is then allowed to cure. After the cement has set-up, the well is ready to clean out and perforate.

Perforating a well is simply opening holes in the casing so that production (oil, gas, water) may enter the wellbore. It is not always required, since some wells are completed "open hole" (no casing over the productive interval), but most wells are perforated. The perforations (perfs) are made by shooting holes in the casing with shaped charges that are designed for penetration and clean holes. The charges are fired by a "gun" that is shaped like a 5'-10" cigar on the end of a wireline. The gun is actuated by an electrical signal sent down the wireline from the perforator's truck on the surface. The perforation's depth is selected by picking potential productive intervals from the well logs. The perfs may now be produced, 'swab tested' (pulling a section on the perfs using rubber sealing cups that are lifted at a high rate out of the well), or stimulated.

Stimulation can be accomplished in several ways. Acidizing is the most common method, especially in acid-soluble carbonate formations. It involves pumping acid (usually hydrochloric) under pressure into the perforations. The acid dissolves most drilling mud contaminants and other particles that may block flow. The acid will also dissolve part of the formation (if it is a carbonate) to increase flow capacity. In a sandstone formation, the acid does not dissolve the formation, but it can still clean up blocked perfs.

Another popular stimulation technique involves "fracture" treatments. The most common fracture treatment involves pumping a viscous (gooey) gel at a high enough pressure and rate to actually crack the formation. The gel is followed by a sand-laden gel that will prop open the fracture to create improved permeability (flow capacity) to the wellbore from the reservoir. Even packed sand is more permeable to fluid flow than most native formations. Now that the well is ready to produce, the mechanics of getting that production to surface becomes important. Tubing is installed in the wellbore from the surface to the production zone. A "packer" is run as a part of the tubing string to provide an anchor for the tubing and to create a seal between the tubing and the annulus (space behind tubing and inside casing). The packer is set by twisting the tubing and putting a certain amount of weight on the packer. The packer then forces production from the formation to go up the tubing and leaves the annulus space unaffected. If the well will not flow under its own energy, then a "tubing anchor" is utilized to do what a packer does, but it provides no seal (not required, since the well will not flow into annular space). With a tubing anchor, the well will then be set up to pump fluid to the surface.

This is a good place to stop. Next month (May 24), we will discuss types of flow and artificial lift. We will also review surface gathering equipment and related topics. As you can tell, the completion of a well has many parts, and each one could be the topic of a one week seminar. I have only touched on the basic methodology of completing a well here, but give me a break, I only had a week to write this thing.

DRILLING PERMITS FOR OIL AND GAS UP IN MARCH

AUSTIN, Texas—A total of 1,344 drilling permits were issued by the Railroad Commission in March, according to RRC Chairman Kent Hance. In February, the total was 1,155. March 1989's total was 1,192.

The March total included 834 permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 54 to reenter existing well bores, 43 to deepen existing holes, 177 to plugback existing holes, and 86 for other wells. Operators were also issued 150 amended drilling permits.

Hance said permits issued for new oil and gas holes in March included 41 in the San Antonio area (District 1), 36 in the Refugio area (District 2), 65 in Southeast Texas (District 3), 91 in deep South Texas (District 4), 21 in East Central Texas (District 5), 53 in East Texas (District 6), 54 in West Central Texas (District 7B), 108 in the San Angelo area (District 7C), 149 in the Midland area (District 8), 99 in the Lubbock area (District 8A), 86 in North Texas (District 9), and 31 in the Panhandle (District 10).

The 1,344 permits issued in March included 617 oil permits, 259 gas permits, 400 oil and gas permits, 45 injection permits, four disposal permits, and 19 other permits.

Exchange homes are needed

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE, Int'l) program is in need of host families for European Exchange Students due to arrive in August of this year. The students are active, outgoing and sure to be a happy addition to any family.

Arriving in August, the students dream of spending an academic year living and learning a culture foreign to them. Under the ASSE program they will be covered by their own insurance program and will need only room, board and a little tender loving family care during their stay in the U.S.

"Any family is eligible to host regardless of age or the number of children in the family," said Texas Coordinator, Toby Hall. "The family should be able to provide support, guidance and flexibility though in dealing with a "foreign" member of the family."

The ASSE program is a non-profit organization, drawing Exchange Students from Norway, Denmark, Finland, Sweden, Germany, England, Spain, Australia, New Zealand, Italy and Japan. The students are carefully screened for maturity and adaptability to learn a new culture.

Families interested in more information on hosting a European student may contact: Eula Mearns at (817) 734-2517 or 1-800-333-3802.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Last weekend I made my Via de Cristo retreat (sometimes called Cursillo or Walk to Emmaus in other denominations) at a Lutheran Bible Camp near La Grange. It was over at 6:00 on Sunday evening. I made a quick exit to head for Winters since I hadn't seen the family since Thursday.

Between Giddings and Elgin my pickup began to act up. The motor began to quit, then catch, then quit, then catch, etc. My radio went off. I had no turn signals. In a while, I began to sense that there might be a problem. Not wanting to get stranded after dark, I pulled into a quick-stop in Elgin. Got out. Opened the hood. Banged on the battery cables. No change.

I decided to see if I had head lights. When I turned on the lights, the pick-up died. When I turned the key to start it again, there wasn't even a click.

In assessing the situation, I discovered that I was stranded 4 1/2 hours from home at 7:00 Sunday evening (a terrific time for such). I was beginning to suspect that I could no longer deny nor ignore this problem, that it wasn't going away.

There was a time when I had a dread fear of getting stranded somewhere away from home with a dead vehicle. I would have panicked 10 years ago. Worried. And got my blood pressure all out of sorts.

I guess I have had enough setbacks to realize that these things always work themselves out. I wasn't even flustered.

I have a friend in Elgin, so I decided to call him. Went to the pay phone to call him, when I saw a business card taped to the phone booth. "Charles R. Caple, Mobile Mechanic."

Right then, I needed a mechanic more than a friend. So I called. Charley's wife, Cecille, answered and said he would be there in 25 minutes. They drove up together in that 1964 1-ton Chevy Truck 15 minutes later. He did a few tests with some gizmos and informed me that my alternator was not alternating whatever. God intended the thing to alternate. That it had bought the farm.

He got one, put it on. And in an hour and a half I was on my way to Winters.

In Greek, "angel" means messenger. I suppose God has angels who fly from cloud to cloud on white wings. But sometimes God's angels get from place to place in red chevy trucks, and are willing to come out on Sunday evening.

That card being on the phone booth COULD have been a coincidence. But I doubt it. Angels have a way of showing up a bit too often for coincidence. If that is a bit simplistic for you, so be it.

I have met a lot of angels in my life. Charley and Cecille were just two of them. I believe that every time we help each other, we are each other's angels from God.

Maybe angels of God get from place to place in whatever kind of car or truck YOU drive.

Northrup King Forage and Grazing Sorghums

TRUDAN 8

True sudan palatability means your cattle will eat up Trudan 8. Fast starting Trudan 8 keeps on producing through long hot summers and gives you quality grazing hay or greenchop. It has low prussic acid potential. Its resistance to Biotype C greenbugs makes Trudan 8 a dependable forage producer. Well adapted where sudan grass is normally grown.

SORDAN 79

Here's an excellent choice for your emergency forage crop. NK's Sordan 79 hybrid sorghum sudangrass has inbred hybrid vigor for fast growth. And heavy soils pose no problems for Sordan 79. It has greenbug (Biotype C) and downy mildew resistance, plus drought tolerance. The high quality of Sordan 79 makes it a top choice for grazing, hay or greenchop. Well adapted where sorghum or sudangrass are normally grown.

MILLEX 24

Millex 24 is a Northrup King hybrid pearl millet annual summer forage specially developed for growing conditions in the deep South. It produces lush, leafy, tender forage that is extremely high in TDN. It can thrive on sandy soils in hot, dry or humid weather. Millex 24 is adapted to well-drained, sandy soils with a pH range of 5.8 to 6.5 and supplies quick, high tonnage and high quality forage for all classes of cattle. Surplus Millex 24 can make excellent silage or greenchop. Under hot dry weather conditions forage tonnage from Millex 24 has exceeded 6 tons of dry forage per acre.

Twain Talk

by Twyla Twain

Scared of storms? Seems like we've sure had some boogeroos this spring. (That's a really technical term I borrowed from Charlie Jordan). It's so amazing how a beautiful, clear day can suddenly turn gray, then green, and get all windy and weird. I'm pretty fortunate in that I have access to a storm cellar (although I'll probably be blown away cause I was sleeping on the couch, enjoying the quiet of the house while everyone else was at the cellar).

Speaking of cellars, they've sure come a long way, in my opinion. Nowadays, cellars are just small activity centers that happen to be located under the ground. They're made of all sorts of materials and are equipped to house a family of twelve for a week. (Now we can all just imagine the fun we'd have spending a week together under the ground. Without the Nintendo? You gotta be kidding!)

Back in my childhood (before fire and the wheel), we had a real adventure whenever we "went to the cellar." First, there was the big decision of going at just the right time. How my dad knew that lightning would strike twenty feet from me while I was running, I'll never know. Guess it was so I could manage to step in every mud puddle deep enough to fill my only pair of sneakers. Or worse, when I had to run through the mud while wearing thongs - I could only concentrate on either gripping my toes with all my might to save my shoes from the puddle monsters or focusing my eyes on the cellar door while running and holding my glasses on my face in the pouring rain. My cousin was always in danger when she ran in a rainstorm. Her nose turned up so much that she had to run with her head down to keep from drowning. Poor thing. It was tricky, but she managed.

Now that I had made it to the actual entrance to the cellar, a legion of angels was needed to escort me through that spooky door, down the ill-spaced steps, and onto the genuine dirt floor. This adventure was very similar to going to a petting zoo - only the critters we dealt with were spiders as big as your hand, scorpions that could kill a horse, snakes from the Amazon, and every type of bug from the beginning of time. I felt very little comfort in sitting on an overturned bucket that caused permanent horizontal streaks in the backs of my legs. But I sat there as long as possible because I knew the "real" purpose of that bucket was coming sooner or later. So much for modesty. I know, I know, everyone closed their eyes. Sure.

So the storm finally ended and everyone went into a real house with real walls and floors and real bathrooms. I bet nobody even cared that I had lost a good thing in the ordeal. Oh well, maybe my Prince Charming will come along and find it and we can ride off into the sunset - or is that just another thundercloud making it dark?

Santa Anna is Captured

Meantime, following the defeat of San Jacinto, Santa Anna who had been one of the first to flee, made every effort to save himself. Mounted on a splendid charger, supplied him in the confusion by Colonel Bringas, he fled at full speed toward Vince's Bridge, hotly pursued by the Texas Calvary. Finding the bridge destroyed, he did not pause, but plunged down the steep descent into the water; here his horse stuck fast in the mud. Nevertheless, favored by the approaching night, he managed to conceal himself, crossed the creek later and continued his way on foot.

In an abandoned house he found some clothes, and doffing his uniform, assumed the garb of a soldier. Clad in a blue cotton jacket, and linen trousers, with a leather cap and red worsted slippers, he sought to hide his identity. He crawled away through the grass and mud in the direction of the Brazos. But on the following morning detachments of horsemen were sent out to scour the country, and by one of these, a mud bespattered, abject-looking creature was seen standing on the bank of a ravine. When he was captured and taken into camp some Mexican soldiers shouted, "The President!"

Then it was known that the Dictator was a captive in the hands of the people he had so cruelly treated. He was carried to Houston, severely wounded, who was asleep beneath the shade of a great oak tree. The two men greeted each other politely.

Santa Anna took the hand of the prostrate victor, and bowing introduced himself: "I am General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, President of Mexico, and I claim to be your prisoner of war."

Houston greeted him politely, and invited him to be seated. The President then said, he wished to enter into a treaty with Houston, and Rusk, the Secretary of War. They told him that Texas had a Congress, which body alone had power to make treaties.

"But General Houston," said Santa Anna, "you can afford to be generous, for fate has allowed you to have the honor of capturing the Napoleon of the West."

All his entreaties were useless; Houston and Rusk would agree to nothing more than an armistice. However, Houston used every care to have his distinguished visitor made comfortable, and dispatched messengers for President Burnet.

Houston's report stated that the Texans had two killed, and 23 wounded, six of whom were mortally injured. The Mexicans had 630 killed, 208 wounded and 730 taken prisoners. The Texans captured $12,000, several hundred mules and horses, and over a thousand muskets, sabers and pistols. Among the distinguished prisoners were General Cos and Colonel Almonte.

In answer to Houston's summons President Burnet and his Cabinet hastened to the camp (April 28) to take counsel as to what should be done with Santa Anna. After several days conference, the president, his cabinet, General Houston and Santa Anna, went to Galveston. Houston continued his journey to New Orleans for treatment of his wound. Several of the ankle bones were shattered and the doctors feared lockjaw might result. General Rusk succeeded him as Commander-in-Chief.

President Burnet and his Cabinet were forced to go to Velasco for want of suitable accommodations. Two members of the cabinet were opposed to any treaty with Santa Anna. They said he was a murderer and should be treated as such. Fortunately, wiser counselors triumphed, and Santa Anna was saved. Thus Texas retained the respect and admiration of the world, something she needed more than vengeance. After much discussion, two treaties were made. The public treaty, was drawn up at Valasco, May 14, 1836. In a secret treaty made at the same time, Santa Anna promised to prepare the Mexican Cabinet to receive favorably any commissioners sent by the Texas government; to acknowledge Texas independence; and to enter into a treaty of commerce with Texas.

In accordance with this treaty, President Burnet permitted the prisoner to embark on the vessel, "Invincible" bound for Mexico. When the action of the President became known, a great cry of indignation rose from many of the soldiers and people. In vain, he tried to show them how the world would condemn the nation that violated its own treaty. Threats were made against the President's life, but it was only when he feared a riot and danger to others that he ordered Santa Anna to disembark.

The terrified prisoner refused to leave this ship, and it was with the greatest difficulty that he was gotten ashore and placed under a heavy guard. From this time the Dictator led a hard life, being sent from place to place, now in irons, without sufficient food, and often subjected to numerous humiliations.

When Houston became president he sent Santa Anna and his personal staff at their own request to the President of the United States in Washington. President Jackson received the fallen general most kindly, and returned him to Mexico. Reaching home February, 1837, Santa Anna at once retired to his hacienda. The other Mexican officers, as well as all the private soldiers captured at San Jacinto, were released April 25, 1837.

Centennial Sentinel

by Edna England
Publicity Chairman

There was a big time in Winters Saturday as another Centennial Celebration was a huge success. The rains had been with us all week but the sun came out, all bright and shiny, as tho' it had been resting for a festive, merry making day for a special town celebrating 100 years of hardships and victories, friends visiting with old time friends, and making new friends with out of town visitors.

Reliving the Pony Express was a thrill, but the rider must have had an enemy hiding behind the hotel, as he was shot dead several times before he could get away. Approximately 1,400 stamps were cancelled and quite a few letters were mailed with the Rock Hotel Station Postmark. A few official Centennial envelopes are available at the Chamber of Commerce Office, with the Cancellation, for $1.50 as long as they last. The Cancellation Stamp cannot be used again as it will be sent back to the United States Postal Service and destroyed. The Chamber of Commerce president, secretary and directors are to be commended for planning such an eventful San Jacinto Day, involving so many individuals in sharing committee responsibilities. As we salute our heritage, we look to the needs of tomorrow. We lay a plan for future growth in industry, commerce and culture.

Now we are looking forward to Mayfest, May 5. The souvenir committee has designed a Centennial souvenir plate, mugs, belt buckles and coins. Orders can now be turned in at the Chamber Office. Cookbooks are still available in several locations in town.

The Art Belles have formed a group to have art shows during the Centennial Celebration. Adult picture entries will be displayed in the Underwood Real Estate building. Pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades will be displayed at the library. Fourth, 5th and 6th grades will be at Melba's Arts, Crafts and Gifts. Prizes will be awarded in the children's category. More details later.

Lee and Tooter Harrison are very busy accepting entries to the parade on June 30th. Entry form is elsewhere in this paper.

Preschool hosts visitors

On March 27, Tim Dexter, with the Winters Police Department, visited with the Lutheran Preschool children. He discussed safety, how to cross a street and to wear your seat belts at all times.

On April 3, Linda Duggan, a farmer from Crews, visited the Preschool. She brought two rabbits and told the children how to handle animals. She also talked about farming and the children planted seeds.

The Preschool would like to thank Tim and Linda for taking time out of their busy schedules to come and share their knowledge with them.

Thursday, April 26, both Preschool classes will have their Graduation and Closing Program. All parents, grandparents, family babysitters and friends of the Preschoolers are welcome to attend at 7 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church.

Z. I. Hale Museum news

The Z. I. Hale Museum complex was the center of attention on San Jacinto Day Saturday, with people rushing to the Rock Hotel to get their stamps cancelled.

Many of the visitors toured the Museum, Drummer House and Caboose, before going on to other attractions in town.

We welcome new members, Charles Ludwick, Walter Durham, Jiggs and Ouida Nichols.

A Pioneer Plaque in memory of Lloyd Doyle Pumphrey has been presented to the Museum by a group of his friends.

All members and visitors are urged to attend the installation of officers at the Museum May 1, at 5 p.m.

Memo from the Chamber

The Chamber of Commerce would like to thank everyone for their support this past weekend. Earlier in the week the weather was kind of a detriment to the carnival activities, however, Friday and Saturday proved to be perfect weather for our activities.

The Chamber would like to thank the local police, Mac Oil Field, Dry Manufacturing, Alderman-Cave and Winters Manufacturing for helping us keep West Dale Street clear of trucks, heavy traffic and parking. It was a great day for the vendors. The merchants reported a very successful Saturday and for this we are grateful.

Also thanks to Mac Sayles and Peoples Bank for the use of their lot for the carnival. Using this lot brought people to downtown Winters, and made it convenient for shoppers.

The Directors worked hard to make this event a success and we owe them our thanks.

See you at Mayfest, May 5!

Springer's Pharmacy plans move to new location

Springer's Pharmacy, located at 143 West Dale, will soon be moving to a new location within Lawrence Bros. IGA grocery store at 900 North Main in Winters. According to Randy Springer, owner and pharmacist, the move is designed to offer better quality pharmacy service by expanding delivery services and offering more efficient pricing by concentrating on the pharmacy part of the drug store business.

The business will still be known as Springer's Pharmacy and all records will be transferred to the new location. A new computer system will be installed and drug reaction, interaction and allergy information can be printed out as the customer waits or shops. The usual tax information and patient profiles will still be available. All prescription records will be transferred to the new location.

Lawrence Bros. spokesman Sonny Hall says they feel it will be advantageous for their customers to be able to get prescriptions filled while they shop for groceries. The pharmacy will be located in the former office area for the grocery store.

Springer's hopes to be open in their new location by mid-May. Mr. Springer stresses that the change in location will affect nothing for the customer except for receiving better service and more competitive prices.

Springer's Pharmacy succeeded Smith Drug in its present location on West Dale, owned by the late T. A. Smith. The Smith family had operated a drug store in that location since the 1930's.

Banker held in armed robbery

Tommy Michaels, former vice-president of Peoples National Bank of Winters, and now vice-president of First National Bank of Graford, was held at gunpoint in an armed robbery Friday, April 20.

Michaels reported that a man entered the bank at approximately 9:15 a.m., walked directly into his office, pointed a gun at him and demanded money. The robber escorted Michaels to the tellers' cash drawers and instructed another bank employee to take cash from the vault. An undisclosed amount of money was taken in the robbery which took about five to eight minutes.

The robber left on foot after threatening to shoot any of the nine bank employees present.

There were no injuries.

The robber is described as being approximately 6 feet tall, slender-build, 140-150 pounds, wore a baseball cap over long hair and wore black-rimmed glasses. He appeared very unkempt and displayed a splint and bandage on his left arm. The splint and bandage were found later which indicates the so-called injuries were used as a disguise.

There are no suspects at this time; however, the incident is being investigated by the Palo Pinto Sheriff's Department, Texas Rangers and the FBI. The First National Bank of Graford is located about 12 miles north of Mineral Wells.

Alvin Dunn appointed new Paint Rock Postmaster

Alvin L. Dunn was installed as Postmaster of the Paint Rock Post Office on Wednesday, April 18, 1990.

The 3:00 p.m. ceremony was officiated by Mr. Ben Jasek, MSC Manager Postmaster of Ft. Worth. Others honoring Mr. Dunn at the ceremony were several postmasters, letter carriers and route carriers from the surrounding area. Special guests were Mr. Dunn's wife, Eddie; daughters, Audra and Amy; his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Smith of Winters; his sister, Mrs. Carl Niehues of San Angelo; his brother, Luther C. Smith of Sterling City; and his mother and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gottschalk of Ballinger.

Mr. Dunn graduated from Winters High School and entered the Army, serving one tour in Vietnam in the 101st Airborne Division. Upon his discharge, he entered Angelo State University. He has been in the postal service for 15 years, serving four years in Abilene as a letter carrier and eleven years as a P.T.F. Clerk in Ballinger. He also served as Officer in Charge at Eden.

Congress declares 1990 Year of the Eagle Scout

In recognition of the importance of Eagle Scouting, the highest advancement rank in the Boy Scouts, the United States Congress has designated 1990 as the "Year of the Eagle Scout".

Only about 3 percent of all Boy Scouts ever achieve the rank of Eagle Scout, but those who do often carry with them ideals, standards and values that permit them to become successful leaders in later life.

Among those Eagle Scouts who have distinguished themselves in later life are President Gerald R. Ford, FBI Director William S. Sessions, businessman H. Ross Perot, J. Willard Marriott, Jr., president of Marriott Corporation, Pulitzer Prize-winning author Harrison E. Salisbury, film director and producer Steven Spielberg, Dr. William C. DeYries, who transplanted the first artificial heart, and farmer astronaut James A. Lovell, Jr., and Neil Armstrong.

"Since the first Eagle Scout ranks were awarded in 1912, nearly 1.2 million young men have earned Eagle Scout badges," said Lovell, who serves as chairman of board of regents for the National Eagle Scout Association (NESA). "Unfortunately, we've lost track of a majority of adult Eagles, generally those aged 22 and older." It was not until the early 1970's that the BSA began to maintain records of adult Eagle Scouts, and the record-keeping process wasn't formalized until 1972 when the National Eagle Scout Association was established. Currently NESA has 125,000 Eagles on its membership rolls, by the end of 1990, the association would like to see that figure closer to 250,000 and is conducting a nationwide search for "lost" Eagles as part of the Year of the Eagle-celebration.

"If we are to achieve this goal, a concerted effort at the local Boy Scout council-level must be mounted", said John C. Jadel, NESA's national president. "Some councils have gotten a head start on the year of the Eagle program and have already organized aggressive campaigns to locate and register lost Eagle Scouts."

Finding and registering "lost" Eagles, however, is just one of NESA's objectives during the Year of the Eagle. Another is to get them actively involved in Scouting again.

Finding qualified volunteer leadership is a continuing concern for the Boy Scouts," says Douglas A. Milbury, national chairman of the Year of the Eagle program. "We hope the Year of the Eagle will give Scouting the biggest leadership and manpower boost it has ever had. That's vital if Scouting is to continue to produce successful leaders for the future."

For further information on NESA and the Year of the Eagle, please call the Chisholm Trail Council at 692-9257, Doug Lunsford, District Executive.

 money, most lost money. The Rogers Co. has a 90% success rate and 90 years of experience.

Well, aren't we just tapping the local businesses and citizens for a big birthday party? People spend a certain amount of money on entertainment and fun. We're just asking them to spend some in Winters. We want to attract as many people as we can from Abilene, San Angelo, Brownwood, Ballinger, Coleman, Bronte and other communities to share in our Celebration. We purposely are keeping concessions, souvenirs, and admissions as reasonable as possible. We have asked businesses for some help financially—shares, decorations, advertising, prizes, etc.—but in turn we are providing an opportunity for each business to benefit from the largest number of potential customers they have ever had.

There is a lot happening in Winters Centennial Celebration 1990, and there should be an activity for everyone. We hope you have found your place of involvement and are helping somewhere. If not, please say something to someone or call Centennial Headquarters at 754-5210. It is just as much your celebration as it is ours. Let's work together to make Winters a better community—Winters Centennial Celebration 1990.

CHEAP LAND ...

During the first few years of the Republic of Texas, people were long on land, short on cash. A good horse would buy 500 acres. Large land owners would give land to anyone who would settle nearby. A few hundred dollars bought a completely stocked farm and farm house.

Winters High School All Sports Banquet

Head Football Coach Dan Slaughter makes remarks to those attending the All Sports Banquet last Saturday night.

Guest speaker Randy Allen, Head Football Coach of the Brownwood Lions speaks the crowd attending the Banquet.

Girl Scouts as great as you want to make it!

It's no surprise that Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. has been referred to as one of the most well-managed not-for-profit organizations in the country. This is demonstrated daily by the 875 adult volunteers, in the Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council, most of who are Girl Scout Leaders.

Among Girl Scout leaders are adults from all walks of life. Many of them manage careers, families and social projects, yet still find time and energy to lead a Girl Scout Troop. Girl Scout leaders are important individuals because girls look up to, believe in and emulate them. The Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council can only commend individuals who are willing to accept so great a responsibility.

A leader's task include supporting girls in their efforts to become responsible and self-reliant individuals. A leader provides girls with friendship, advice, encouragement, and resources.

Today's girls are faced with many crises such as drugs and alcohol abuse, early motherhood, and poverty. Leaders are trained to help girls overcome obstacles, sometimes avoid unnecessary unpleasantness in life, and develop their fullest potential as individuals.

April 22, 1990 marked the ninth annual observation of Girl Scout Leaders' Day and on this day leaders throughout the council and the nation were recognized for their contributions. The Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council salutes its Girl Scout Leaders for a job well done and for investing in the future by giving time and energy to the girls of our communities. The board of directors and staff of the Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council want to publicly say THANK YOU!

The following are leaders of Heart of Texas Girl Scout troops in Winters: Easter Walden, Daisy Troop 162; Jill Bredemeyer, Teresa Eubank, Sherri Cooper, Brownie Troop 178; Sandy Hamrick, Zanette O'Dell, Brownie Troop 163; Mary Mahaffey, Deb Pritchard, Brownie Troop 180; Teresa Davis, Chris Parramore, Junior Girl Scout Troop 161.

Faculty and students enjoy dancing following the All Sports Banquet held at the Winters School Cafeteria.

Blizzard cheerleaders lead the crowd in the Winters High School song.

Taking your child to a baseball game can be easy to swallow, if you come prepared. Take plenty of sandwiches and snacks and a thermos of punch made with instant iced tea, pineapple juice and lime juice. That way, the call of "play ball" won't be drowned out by, "Dad, I'm thirsty."

Local man candidate for heart transplant

Fred Mabry, 56, a local Winters resident, is awaiting a suitable donor heart for a transplant to be performed at Methodist Hospital in Dallas. Mr. Mabry has lived in Winters since the age of 18 and his wife, the former Janie Busher, is a native of Winters.

Mr. Mabry experienced a first heart attack in 1979 and recovered with no problems until October of 1989. At that time he had a series of three attacks which damaged his heart beyond recovery. Doctors advised him his best hope was for a heart transplant and he has been on the donor recipient list since March of this year. He has since been confined to a wheelchair and must be ready at a moment's notice for a medical helicopter to pick him up and fly him to Dallas should a suitable donor heart become available.

Mrs. Mabry says that they have not been told the cost of the transplant operation, but that it is Before becoming disabled by the heart attacks, Mr. Mabry was an oil field worker for James K. Anderson Company. Mr. Mabry says he would encourage everyone to participate in the organ donor program—making their vital organs available to others in case of their death.

Information on the donor program may be obtained and forms for becoming an organ donor are available by writing The Living Bank, P. O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77265.

Notary Seminar in San Angelo

The Texas Notary Public Association (TNPA) presents its Texas Notary Law and Procedure seminar. Tuesday, May 15, 1990, in San Angelo from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, 441 Rio Concho Dr., according to Charles Huff, State Education Director. TNPA is a non-profit education association, composed of notaries, headquartered in Austin.

Huff said the seminar will cover subjects such as:

- * Duties, responsibilities, and liabilities of the Texas Notary
- * Updates and discussion of all applicable laws and procedure affecting the Texas Notary
- Recordkeeping: How & Why

—Document identification: Various forms

—Employer/Employee responsibilities and liabilities

—Liability protection: Explanation of Errors & Omissions and Insurance-Surety Bonding

* Learn the latest in handling car titles and other documents. Course and reference material are provided for complete understanding.

Completion of the seminar not only assures the individual notary of knowledge, professionalism and legality of service but also assures the public and employers that notaries know how to competently perform the duties of an individual State Officer appointed by the Secretary of State. Notaries successfully completing the course will be designated "Certified Public Notary." Individuals who plan to become notaries should also attend, Huff said. Procedure to become a notary is also explained.

Businesses and other entities should especially be interested in seeing that notaries in their establishments attend, since "the best protection against business liability is education of notaries that handle the thousands of business transactions in this state daily," Huff said.

Record maintenance, proper charges and posting of fees, proper steps of notarial service, authority for acknowledgements, oaths, certification, identifying instruments and proper recording and identifying of signatures and the use of stamps and seals will be thoroughly covered. Many business, governmental agencies and educational institutions and other private and public entities in the San Angelo area will get a mailing about the seminar but those who do not, should call TNPA (512) 346-7428 for further information and registration. Preregistration is $55, or $60 at the door.

Preventing plant disease in the home garden important

This winter's cool temperatures may have killed your garden plants but it did not kill the disease-causing organisms that overwinter in garden refuse.

White powdery mildew, wilt, rust and other leaf stem disease organisms can produce spores or develop special overwintering structures. These can survive in plant debris and weeds.

Prevention is the key to the control of plant diseases. As early as possible, clean up garden refuse to prevent the infection of new spring plants. Diseases can also overwinter in nearby weeds and grasses, so as many of these as possible should also be removed.

Following certain cultural practices in your garden will also help prevent plant diseases. Always use well-drained soil. Add sand or peat moss, if necessary. Also, plant suitable crops for your soil and climate.

Even by following all of these suggestions, some disease-causing organisms, which are present in the soil, will not be controlled, so plant disease resistant varieties and certified disease-free seeds whenever possible to help reduce the chance of plant disease.

After clean-up and proper planting, a regular spray program is the best way to prevent or control plant diseases. Spray susceptible plants with a fungicide before there is evidence of damage. Repeat the treatment every week or ten days. More frequent applications may be necessary during moist weather when plant disease tend to be more severe.

Once plant disease starts in your garden, you will not be able to save affected areas. But you can stop its spread with a regular fungicide spray program.

Fungicides are available as a dust or spray, including new formulations that control a wide variety of diseases. Sprays are usually preferable for prevention of plant diseases in the home garden. Sprays stick to plant surfaces better than dusts. And they are most effective when applied with an easy to use compressed air sprayer.

Courses to be offered include Eng. 131, Freshman Comp. I, Eng. 231, American Lit., and Hist. 132 after 1865.

New state testing requirements include placement testing or ACT/SAT scores and the TASP test. Placement testing is required for students enrolling for classes. If ACT or SAT scores are unavailable, a WTC placement test will be given on the evening of registration. A $10 fee will be charged for the test. Placement testing will be done at 6:45 p.m. on the day of scheduled registration only.

Registration at the Winters Extension Center will be on Wednesday, May 30, from 6:30-8 p.m. The student must be present for registration. Students are required to bring social security number, driver's license, completed Early Admissions form (if applicable), and ACT or SAT scores. Anyone not able to register in person on Wednesday, May 30, will have to go to the WTC campus in Snyder to complete late registration. Late Registration ends on June 6.

Classes begin on June 4 and end on August 2; each class meets once a week. Cost of 3 hours will be $89; 6 hours $143; and 9 hours $207. Rates do not include lab fees or books. Books may be purchased at the first class meeting or at the college bookstore. Contact extension center coordinator Susie Johnson at 915-754-5516 for additional information.

NOTICE

RUNNELS COUNTY is in the process of completing the patching, paving and sealing of its paved roads. The reason for most of the patching and sealing of these roads is that many of its roads are cut, torn and partially destroyed by farm tractors and equipment turning on these roads. This mutilation is expressly prohibited by law as set out in Article 42.03 of the Penal Code Laws of the State of Texas which states: WHOSOEVER SHALL WILLFULLY OBSTRUCT OR INJURE OR CAUSE TO BE OBSTRUCTED OR INJURED IN ANY MANNER WHATSOEVER ANY PUBLIC ROAD OR HIGHWAY OR ANY STREET OR ALLEY IN ANY TOWN OR CITY, OR ANY PUBLIC BRIDGE OR CAUSEWAY, WITHIN THIS STATE SHALL BE FILED UPON AS A CLASS "B" MISDEMEANOR.

Runnels County Commissioners' Court requests the cooperation of the various farming equipment owners or renters operating in this county. This law is going to be enforced for the good of all concerned.

BY ORDER OF COMMISSIONERS' COURT April 10, 1990

Darlene Smith, County Auditor
Runnels County, Texas.

Correct Use of Child Safety Seats

The U.S. Department of Transportation points out to parents there is only one safe way for children to ride in cars—correctly buckled in a child safety seat. Check your instruction manual to learn if the seat should be installed facing the rear or forward. Improper use of these life-saving devices reduces their effectiveness so always use and install seats according to manufacturer instructions.
