Foreclosure sale nets change in control of Winters State Bank

A public sale of 100,000 shares of Winters State Bank stock took place on Thursday, May 31 at the offices of Whitten, Hacker, Hagin, Anderson & Rucker in Abilene. The stock was collateral for a loan made to First Winters Holding Company and the collateral was held by First National Bank of Stamford.

The note was foreclosed by First National of Stamford after First Winters Holding Company was unable to repay the loan. Although the sale was public, First National Bank of Stamford was the only bidder and the amount of the loan held by First National of Stamford was not disclosed.

First National Bank of Stamford is one of several West Texas banks held by Independent Bankshares of Abilene. Other banks held by Independent Bankshares include First State in Wylie, First State in Odessa, Olton State, Olton, Muleshoe State, Muleshoe and Wellington State in Wellington. Winters State Bank will not be a part of Independent Bankshares other than being owned by First National Bank of Stamford, which is held by Independent Bankshares.

According to attorney Terry Hagin, the transfer of stock ownership must be reported to the State Banking Commissioner and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The 100,000 shares of stock represents 100% of the stock in Winters State Bank, according to Hagin. No changes in directors can be made for at least 30 days and Hagin says no immediate changes are planned for the operation of the Winters bank. Hagin also gave assurances that there is no reason for alarm on the part of depositors.

First quarter operating statements for Winters State Bank showed $37.8 million in assets, $34.9 million in deposits and $22 million in loans. Bryan Stephenson, president of Independent Bankshares reported the first quarter report of First National, Stamford showed $27.2 million in assets, $25.1 million in deposits and $9.8 million in loans.

Winters State Bank was first established in 1906. Bobby Airhart is chairman and president.

Mayor Springer appointed to review committee

Winters Mayor Randy Springer has been appointed to the West Central Texas Regional Review Committee by the office of the Governor, effective June 15. Springer was notified of his appointment and asked to attend a meeting in Abilene on Wednesday in preparation for the process of reviewing and scoring applications in the 1990-91 Texas Community Development Program.

James K. Compton, Director of Administration of the West Central Texas Council of Governments stated in a letter to Mayor Springer that Regional Review Committees play a vital role in the scoring of Texas Community Development Program applications from cities and counties in Texas.

Sunday night winds damage Winters area

A severe thunderstorm which passed just north of Winters did some damage to crops and property in a narrow band about three miles north of the city. Ray Guevara, who lives just east of Highway 83 reported very high winds sent him and his family to the cellar and tore the turbine ventilators from the top of his house.

Other reports indicated a barn destroyed just to the northwest of there on the Lanny England farm. Some crop damage was done by the winds, most severely to knee-high grain sorghum and freshly planted cotton.

Along with the high winds, around three inches of rain fell in the area. The city of Winters was spared the high winds and also missed most of the rain.

Four nights of Centennial Pageant

One of the most colorful and exciting events in the entire Calendar of Events taking place during the 100th Birthday of Winters will be the four nightly performances of the outdoor historical dramatization, "The Winters Centennial Pageant."

"The Winters Centennial Pageant," is a 90 minute theatrical production of the living historical highlights of the Winters area and is professionally produced and directed by Phyllis Shelfow of the John B. Rogers Producing Company, the world's largest producers of outdoor pageantry.

Each evening, June 27, 28, 29 and 30 beginning at dusk, the cast of some 200 local citizens will breathe life into the many colorful figures and exciting events that are synonymous with the proud history that is America, Texas, Runnels County and our very own Winters.

The actors, attired in colorfully authentically reproduced costumes will perform in front of a panoramic setting of over 200 feet of multi level staging that will be specially constructed just for the production on Winters High School Blizzard Field. Professional sound, special lighting techniques, and rear view projection, utilizing over 240 slides of local and historical significance combine to make this truly the most memorable event in the history of Winters and one that everyone should see.

For further information regarding this or any celebration activities, please call 754-5210.

Talpa man fishes for money and finds it

Jeff Buxkemper of Talpa floated away with $1210 as a result of winning the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce Bass Classic tournament on Saturday June 2. Buxkemper won both the grand prize and the Calcutta. Buxkemper's catch included the largest fish of the tournament weighing 6.94 pounds and measuring 21 1/2" long. Buxkemper did most of his fishing from a tube and brought in the big fish at 11:43 a.m. in Elm Creek Reservoir, the Winters City Lake.

This was the fourth annual Bass Classic and fishing was allowed in Elm Creek, Hords Creek and Ballinger City Lake. Deen Thompson, chairman of the event, reported most of the fish caught came from Elm Creek Reservoir.

Reedy and Company co-sponsored the bass tournament making it possible for the $1000 grand prize to be awarded. Lunch for the fishermen was provided by Lawrence Bros. IGA grocery store in Winters. A total of 49 fishermen were entered in the tournament.

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles

This decade is often called the information age, but, in the oil patch, information has always been king.

In the early days, information was passed through conversation and often by letter. Knowing where and why someone was drilling could be very valuable, since no regulations were yet in place to prevent a new operator from offsetting a prolific well as close as a good spit. In East Texas during the early boom days, "oil scouts" were really just that. They scouted out who, what, when, and where someone was drilling. It was their job to keep tabs on every operation in a certain county—by whatever means necessary. Fortunes were made and lost on the information that the oil scouts reported.

Later on, someone got smart and decided that collecting, storing, and disseminating information could be a good living. How right they were. Information was still critical, although an operator was now regulated as to well spacing. New fields were still being discovered monthly in the 1940's and 1950's, and anyone who missed out on the information could be left behind. Oil scouts now worked for people like Dwigths Information Services or Petroleum Information Company, but their job was still just as critical.

The information or "third party" companies made the process of getting information very efficient and more widely available to smaller companies. For a fee, you could get monthly production, well locations and completion dates, and even well logs. All of this was reported on paper of course, and that got to be a very bulky problem. About that time, microfiche and microfiche projectors became affordable. That medium proved ideal for reducing piles of paper to a few thin slices of film.

Time passed and the oil business matured and evolved. Computers started to come of age and everyone looked at the oil industry information needs as a prime application. They were right again. What better place to apply this budding technology? Huge amounts of information had to be sorted, filed, and catalogued. Computers do all of these tasks very well with very little supervision. Unfortunately, the early days of computers meant big and expensive. Therefore, only major companies could afford to have the computerized version of third party data available at their fingertips. Even there, the process could be very tedious as compared to today's technology. In any case, computerized access to the third party databases was not in wide use at this time. As a matter of fact, microfiche formats were still the most popular form of information retrieval, even in the major companies where computer access was available.

Then, in the mid-80's, the computer revolution began and the advent of the personal computer changed everything. Almost overnight, the third party databases already on computer became available to a large number of previously excluded clients. The small guys could now afford to buy the equipment to access the information they had to have to compete.

Now, information is available by mainframe and by PC. It can be accessed through a modem at home or at the office. Databases can be searched for pertinent information based on some criteria. Costs can be trimmed, and information can be compiled at a moment's notice. One might think that the oil business is a lot less competitive, now, and the urgent need for information is no longer a need. Think again. Knowing what your offsets, your partners, and everyone else is doing is a complete necessity. There are still fields being discovered and there are still undeveloped zones in mature areas. If you let someone get the jump on you in these areas, you are at a disadvantage. For example, a competitor may want to buy you out because of what he knows, and you may sell out for less than a good price because you don't have all of the necessary information. Or, you may be drained by another operator because you don't know that he is completed in a zone that is also present (but not tested) on your lease. Information, even today, is a precious commodity that often has a direct relationship

I see it like this. Operating in the oil business without the availability of continuously updated information is like buying a used car without being able to see it, touch it, or know anything about its history. You just have to take the word of the salesman as to the value of the auto and assume he is giving you all of the pertinent information. If that sounds attractive to you, I still have this Buick that I think you would really love.

Orben's Current Comedy

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

It is wheat harvest time again on the Rolling Plains. The time of year when the farmer's step quickens and his (or her) heart beat steps up a little.

Excitement is in the air as all the time and work since last harvest comes to fruition, its intended completion. It is an athletic contest at this point. The farmer versus the storms and possible hail.

Will the farmer get the wheat out before that dreaded cloud drops its early summer devastation upon the acres of golden grain? Will the yield and price fall into place so that bills and loans get paid off? And dare we hope for a profit this year?

This is the time when all the variables come together to tell their story and answer the questions we all ask.

Not all of us are farmers. But the outcome of this contest, this story, is important to most all of us. We are community. We are all in this together.

There is another crop that is dear to us, as well. Our children. The fruition and harvest times are not as easily distinguished. But we hope for a good crop.

The problem is that sometimes dark clouds drop their hail of destruction on some of our children. For some reason or another the soil and growing conditions are not right. Rather than plow up the crop and replant others, we try to salvage the crop we have.

Replant the same crop in more favorable growing conditions. We call these fertile acreages "foster homes."

The "farmers" who look after these transplanted treasures are special "farmers." They tend, water, and fertilize with the care of a small child nursing a bird with a broken wing. Foster families must have a special place in the heart of God.

In Runnels County, we have need for 30 such special "farmers," according to my friend, Keith Collom. There is one foster family available in the entire county. Which means most of our children in need of foster care must leave the county and the resources of the familiar.

If God is calling you to be one of these "special farmers," you might want to get in touch with the Texas Department of Human Resources in Ballinger or talk to a local pastor. From experience, I have discovered that, if God is really calling you to something, He will have his way sooner or later anyway.

And it just might be that it is crucial to get one of these tender stalks transplanted soon. We are all praying for a bumper crop. It is important to all of us.

Police investigate alleged abduction

Winters Police are investigating an alleged abduction of two Winters children on Tuesday of this week. It was reported to police that a 6 and a 7 year old had been abducted from their back yard by a black man sometime Tuesday morning. The only witness was a 3 year old sibling of the two children allegedly abducted. Police put out a bulletin with a description and a man was detained near Sweetwater, but later was determined not to have been a suspect.

The two children allegedly abducted were later found walking near Senior Citizens Nursing Home. Police continue to investigate.

VA Questions and Answers

Q — I am not a veteran but I am interested in purchasing a VA repossessed home. Is this possible?

A — Yes. VA repossessed homes are available for the general public to purchase. A listing of these properties is available at your local VA regional office.

Q — What is the VA home loan program's maximum guaranty amount?

A — Recent legislation provides increased federal guaranties for larger mortgages. For a new mortgage to purchase or construct a home or purchase a condominium unit that exceeds $144,000, VA will provide guaranties to lenders for 25 percent of the loan, up to a maximum of $46,000.00.

Q — I understand the Department of Veterans Affairs recently announced a change regarding service-connection for illnesses related to exposure to Agent Orange. Is that correct?

A — On March 29, 1990, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs ruled that Vietnam veterans stricken with non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, a rare form of cancer, are entitled to disability payments based on their service in Vietnam. The decision is not based on a finding that this condition was caused by Agent Orange exposure. The Secretary acted following the release of study results by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control. That study showed an increased risk of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma among veterans who served in Vietnam compared to veterans who served elsewhere during the Vietnam Era. The CDC study did not point to Agent Orange or any other factor as causing the increased risk. VA will identify and reopen claims filed by veterans who served in Southeast Asia and who alleged that their development of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma resulted from Agent Orange exposure. VA will extend as much latitude as possible to award retroactive benefits and to assist widows and children of veterans who died as a result of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. Since 1981, VA has provided free, priority health-care services to Vietnam veterans who believe their health was affected by Agent Orange exposure. Since 1978, VA has also conducted a program offering free, comprehensive physical examinations to Vietnam veterans. More than 230,000 have taken advantage of the program, and a registry containing their addresses will be used to make follow-up contact concerning the Secretary's ruling.

Q — I just got married. Does my wife automatically become the beneficiary of my VA insurance policy?

A — No. You must write VA and provide complete identification of the new beneficiary.

Winters: First general store and post office in connection with home-owner and operator Mack D. Townsend.

Winters---In The Beginning

Unlike Ballinger, a well laid-out railroad town, Winters is like Topsy, "She just grewed."

As early as 1880 two families moved into the fertile farming country of the Winters area, about a mile southeast of the present town, calling it Bluff Creek Valley. In 1886 they were joined by eight other families.

Late in 1889 a small school-house was built with volunteer labor on land donated by J. N. Winters, rancher and land agent, located across the street from the present First Baptist Church.

In January 1890, when townspeople met in the school, the only public building, they voted to name the town for Mr. Winters. The name was chosen by ballot over Wintersville.

A general mercantile store was built at the southwest corner of Main and Dale Streets in 1889. The post office was established in a corner of the store March 7, 1891.

In addition to the post office, the general store housed groceries, plow tools, harnesses and dry goods.

A blacksmith shop was added to the general store in 1891. In January of that year, the first mail was carried from Ballinger to Abilene in a two-horse hack. Horses were changed at Guion, and the return trip was in the afternoon. Prior to this time people had to make a trip by buggy to the courthouse at Runnels City for the mail.

McDonald Townsend, called Mack D., was the second owner of the general store. He became the postmaster in 1891 and served until 1899. The post office was a seven by ten foot enclosure, boxed up waist high, in the southeast corner of the store. Entrance was through a gate on the west, and mail was handed out through a small window facing north. A homemade desk and a few wooden mail boxes, with no front, completed the furnishings.

The general store housed groceries, plow tools, harness, and dry goods consisting mostly of bolts of cloth and thread. Barrels of syrup and sides of salt pork were kept in a shed room.

It took all day and half the night to bring home a load of groceries from Ballinger. A trip to Abilene took two days. There were often blizzards in the winter that froze the potatoes and fruit, so country merchants carried very little fruit, but had plenty of Arbuckle coffee with a stick of candy in each package for the children. Twenty pounds of sugar or beans could be bought for a dollar.

When illness was reported, Mr. Townsend saddled his horse and rode for the doctor. Sometimes it was difficult to find the doctor, as he might be gone several days on a call. There were no hospitals and neighbors came in to help care for the sick.

Phylis Shelfow to Direct Winters Centennial Celebration Pageant

Our resident business manager, Director Phylis Shelfow, came to us from her adopted state of Oregon where she has lived for the past 11 years. She is proud to say that she is a sixth generation native of Los Angeles, California, but finds the beauty and tranquility of the Oregon coast the perfect place to come home to after a full season of celebrations and being on the road seven or eight months of the year.

It was during her high school years in California that she first began to put her ambitions of directing and acting in theatrical productions into effect. While studying her desired craft of theatre arts at U.C.L.A. and with private instructors, she also owned and operated a dance academy. She performed in many theatre productions in and around the Los Angeles and Hollywood area and spent many summers traveling across the U.S.A. with stock companies.

It was after she married her husband, Robert, that she too became employed by the John B. Rogers Producing Company. She has been a member of the Rogers staff for the past 25 years and has performed in the capacity of creative consultant for the script department, script writer, business consultant and manager, director and choreographer in over 95 celebrations all over the United States. The only time Phylis took time off from her job with Rogers Company was in 1967 when she flew back to Hollywood to direct hers and Robert's greatest production, the birth of their daughter, Shannon Lee, now pursuing her career in fashion merchandising in Oregon.

This is Phylis's 4th trip to Texas, having been the consultant and director in Plano, Victoria and Edna. She says she's very happy to be back here where everyone is very friendly and they seem to have such deep respect for their heritage. She says our Celebration can't help but be a huge success. Let's welcome back...Phylis Shelfow.

Publicity Chairman

The beginning of Centennial Celebration Week is just over two weeks away and we are asking, "Are we ready?" So many individuals and organizations are working hard to make this a most memorable time.

Children's art on display and the talents of the youth are to be enjoyed. Pre-kindergarten, grades one through three are on display at the Winters Library. The Grand Prize will be a dinosaur. The art of students grades four, five and six are on display at Melba's Arts and Craft Shop. The Grand prize for this age group will be the blue Blizzard Bear made by Pauline O'Neal.

The Dollar Belles and Cotton Belles Chapters were hostesses at a Cake 'N Tea Party at the Z. I. Hale Museum Patio after the May 25 Promenade. Iced tea was served in Mason fruit jars and tea cakes made in the shape of Texas. It was a good time for visiting with friends. The Jeza Belles, People Belles and Saloon Belles will be hostess at the Rock Hotel June 8 for a "Soiree at the Saloon." The social follows the Promenade and Kangaroo Kourt. The Belles and Brothers of the Brush will meet across the street from Dr. Thorp's office at 6 p.m. for the Promenade.

The stormy weather interfered with the Hooten's good time that was planned for June 1 by the Women's Service League, they put in a lot of hard work and time planning this event and we thank them for their efforts.

Mac Sayles, Chairman of Agriculture Day is encouraging anyone that has horse drawn farm equipment to put it on display during Centennial Week. Contact Mac Sayles at Peoples National Bank, 754-5526.

Lee and Tooter Harrison, Parade Chairmen, want everyone that is planning to be in the Centennial Celebration Parade to fill out a parade form and return it. A form is elsewhere in the paper. They need to know how many people and organizations plan to have floats in the parade. There are some interesting entries from universities, but have not heard from the Aggies and Longhorns.

Plans for the Big Week's Celebration are going well. More people are needed for the Pageant, especially men. Do call Headquarters if you can participate in the once in a lifetime spectacular. Also more entries are needed for food concessions under the big tent for Celebration Week. One can have a concession stand for one day or for the entire week. Contact James West, 754-4988.

There will be a Centennial baby, the first baby born from Friday, June 22 to June 30 will be recognized as Winters Centennial Baby with pictures and gifts. One of the gifts will be a Centennial Baby Quilt, crib size, made by Charlotte Miller. It is a beautiful quilt and will be on display at the Centennial Store. To qualify the baby must be born to a married couple having a Winters area address, but in any hospital.

The youth, under the leadership of John Key, Barbie Bradley and Kimberly Deike, are planning lots of activities for Youth Day, June 26, 1990. There will be a Youth Parade in the afternoon, so get busy kids on your entries and contact Kimberly Deike-743-8981.

The final event of the Centennial Celebration will be the burial of the Time Capsule. Items will be collected and placed in a permanent waterproof vault, July 4, 1990 at 10 a.m., at the Z. I. Hale Museum Complex. The public is invited to place items in the capsule as follows:

An envelope, business #10 size, containing the history of family, business or organization, or a letter to descendants for $1 charge. 8" by 10" mailing envelope may be included for a $5 charge.

Souvenirs of the Centennial Celebration will also be included. This money will be used to buy a marker for the capsule. The location of the capsule and instructions for it being opened in fifty years, 2040 will be recorded in the public library, in the City Records and the Z. I. Hale Museum.

For envelopes and more information go by the Centennial Store on South Main Street in Winters. Trustees will be selected to be in charge of the opening of the Time Capsule in 50 years during the 150th Celebration.

Pageant casting closing Thursday

It has been reported from Winters Celebration Headquarters that casting for the outdoor historical drama, "The Winters Centennial Pageant" will close after Thursday, June 7, 1990. After that date no one else will be accepted as a cast member in this once in a lifetime celebration event. Anyone still wanting to take part in this production can sign up Monday thru Thursday evening, 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Remember, after Thursday, June 7 casting for the show will be closed.

There are still openings for narrators for this production. As a narrator you sit in the press box and read the various parts from the script. Five men and two women will be needed. Anyone wanting to audition for a narrator can do so by calling the Celebration Store, 754-4295 or, Chamber of Commerce office 754-5210. Auditions must be set up this week.

Twain Talk
by Twyla Twain

Got kids out of school now? Isn't that a treat! They spent the past three months counting the days until school ended and making all sorts of plans for great summer days. Now here we are, so where are all those terrific things to do that don't require any thinking?

I think the kids at my house left their brains in their school lockers because they sure don't seem to have brought them home for the summer. And this problem is not limited to just my own kids. Their friends are stricken also - guess it's a bad case of "Summer Stupidity." One kid was suddenly unable to determine whether or not we had a dozen eggs. Another couldn't decide how much laundry detergent was needed to make a cupful. Their creativity is limited to how many changes of clothes they can go through in one day. Physical activities include walking from room to room looking for the cordless phone and/or TV remote control, and pulling open the refrigerator door at least a hundred times just to see if the tooth fairy happened to leave a feast for five thousand. (Heaven forbid the kids prepare something with their own hands!) Reading is geared to the backs of cereal boxes and the guide to all soap operas.

Personal interactions consist of fighting with siblings, parents, neighborhood kids and weird cousins at reunions. My kids seem to enjoy personally ruining my days and nights by switching their waking active hours. Vampires would probably feel right at home with us because all the kids at my house seem to roam around all night and then sleep way into the day.

I'm trying not to develop a phobia about the lack of cleanliness that abounds in the summertime at home. You'll never convince me that anyone washes their hands while I'm away at work and they're all home alone. And it's probably a good thing my kids have their favorite sheets on their beds because I'd bet my last Oreo cookie that those sheets will stay there all summer - exposed to all sorts of elements, shoes, food, animals, and dirt clods.

Yes, summer is a great vacation time - especially if you're a kid. But it seems as though I've already begun to hear a few grumblings about missing friends and (my favorite) "there's nothing to do."

Nothing to do? How about rolling out of bed before high noon? Or (shudder) reading a book with more than twelve pages and no pictures. Or (double shudder) getting a real job that even makes you sweat. Scarey, isn't it?

Oh well, only ten more weeks till school starts again. Maybe we can all manage to get through all the summer fun in spite of each other.

Large Crowd Attends Bishop Boys Limousin Sale

One of Texas' best known Limousin programs, Bishop Boys Limousin, of Winters, Texas, held their sixth sale on June 3, at the Ranch. Owners, E. J. and Hattie Belle Bishop, offered a strong group of females and bulls at the sale.

A large crowd packed the sale facility and bidding was very active throughout the more than four hour event. The Bishop family presented a high quality offering of fullblood donor cows, fullblood cow/calf pairs, bred fullblood females, purebred females, and bulls.

Topping the sale at $8,600 was the purchase of the popular fullblood dam, Bishop's Star. Catching the final bid was JDC Partners from Kent, Texas on this 6/8/84 Harvest Olympus daughter out of Deux Amis Honey.

Second high seller at $6,000 was sold to David Hatcher of the X-H Ranch in Cameron, Texas, with a Bishop 152V of 5/18/87 Earthquake 93 out of Bishop's Katina Doll.

Catching the final bid on the next high seller was Vernon Ryan Cattle Company with the popular fullblood dam, Contrast. This 11/25/85 YKCC Michelin 904N daughter out of Dynasty was sold for $5,600.

High selling bull was Bishop's 37W fullblood, a 12/31/88 Punch son out of Bishop's Folly, to Bud and Kevin Busher of Winters for $2,900.

Bishops 146V bred fullblood female was donated by Bishop Boys Limousin and Dyer-Sims Ranch at the sale with proceeds donated to the American Cancer Society.

Overall, fullblood females averaged over $3,000 per head and the whole sale averaged over $2,000 each. Gross total of this sale was $201,000.

The Bishop family would like to congratulate all the buyers and thank all their neighbors who once again helped make the sale a giant success. Also, a special thank you to Ranch managers, Chane, Dane and Brenda and their assistants, Jade, Jamie and Staci.

Prospective buyers examine cattle to be auctioned at Bishop Boys Limousin sale.

Kevin Busher of Winters, top volume buyer at Bishop Boys Limousin sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosie Burns of the Bald Knob Ranch and longtime Runnels County cattle buyers listen intently to bidding during the sale.

Sexual Abuse Program to be held in Winters and Ballinger

A program designed to bring a "community approach" to the complex and increasing all too common problem of child abuse will be conducted June 11-13 and July 9-10, 1990.

The MICSAIT (Multidisciplinary Institute for Child Sexual Abuse Intervention and Treatment) program will bring together professionals from criminal justice, child protective services and treatment areas starting at 8 a.m. at Ballinger High School. A special evening session is also scheduled for the general public Monday, June 11 from 7-9 p.m. at Ballinger High School and on Tuesday, July 10 from 7-9 p.m. at the Winters High School. One of the MICSAIT faculty will conduct the community forum with a presentation "Child Sexual Abuse in the 90's." All are welcome to attend.

MICSAIT is being presented by Tarrant County Junior College of Fort Worth, which has been able to expand the program throughout the state thanks to a grant from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office.

The program is aimed at such people as child protective service workers, law enforcement officers, prosecutors, probation officers, judges, therapists, physicians, school counselors and people in agencies such as rape crisis centers, women's shelters and victim witness programs.

"With the problem this widespread, one might think a child could turn anywhere for help," said Jane Bingham, Director. "But this is not the reality. Where does a child turn when Dad is the offender and Mom refuses to believe?"

"Then, if the case goes through a criminal justice system designed for adults, the child must face the accused in a courtroom and be subjected to intense cross examination.

"Also, treatment needs must be addressed if we want to reunify the family or change inappropriate behavior. Each community needs to examine these issues for the welfare of their children."

The 40-hour curriculum will include an overview of child sexual abuse, investigation and interrogation of the offender, roles of the criminal and civil courts, case preparation and treatment referrals. A new component available this summer will be a session on child physical abuse and neglect.

The program uses what Bingham calls a "community approach," focusing on how the various interrelated agencies can work together.

"We start with an overview and then break it into component parts in which each area learns about the others and the parts each play," she said. "We bring it all together at the end with a team exercise where these folks sit down together and work on an assignment. We hope this approach will make it easier for all persons involved in the investigation and treatment of child sexual abuse to relate to one another and thus make the job easier for everyone."

"Our goal is to develop a comprehensive team approach to the problems of child sexual abuse in each community throughout the state."

TCJC will award Continuing Education Units (CEUs) to all students who successfully complete the program, and the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education (TCLEOSE) will grant certification to all peace officers who fulfill the child abuse training objectives. Social work certification is awarded by the state.

For information about registration for the MICSAIT program, contact Paula Moore (local contact) at 915/365-2564 or Bingham (817) 232-7758 or 232-7703.

PROTECT YOUR HOME FROM SUMMER HEAT!

HERE'S HOW:

- Check your home for adequate insulation — R-30 is recommended in the attic.
- Help your cooling system's efficiency by caulking and weatherstripping. Infiltration of outside air is your air conditioner's greatest enemy.
- Help keep the cost of cooled air down by setting your thermostat at 78° or higher and clean your air conditioner's filter regularly.
- If your present air conditioner needs replacing, consider an all season electric heat pump — it cools in the summer and heats in the winter.

Hormone herbicide regulated area - northwest Runnels

The Northwest part of Runnels County will be in a Herbicide Regulated area again this year, according to Mike Mauldin, Runnels County Extension Agent. The law and the area are the same in 1990 as they were in 1989.

The dates that this regulation are in effect is May 26 to October 1, 1990. All persons within the designated area are asked to abide with these regulations.

The regulation reads as follows:

That portion of Runnels County beginning on the West county line at the point of intersection with the Colorado River, East-southeasterly along the Colorado River to its intersection with U.S. Highway 83, thence North along U.S. Highway 83 to its intersection with the North county line, thence Westerly along the North Runnels County line to the Northwest corner of the County, thence Southerly along the West county line to the Colorado River, the point of beginning, is regulated by the Texas Herbicide Law. In regulated areas, no permit is required from October 1 to May 28 of year following. Use of regulated herbicides is prohibited between May 26 and October 1 of each year. And further, amine and other nonvolatile formulations may be used in the regulated area between the days of May 28 and October 1 each year, provided that the user obtains a permit as prescribed by the law prior to such use.

The Crop Connection

by Richard Minzenmayer
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Runnels-Tom Green Counties

Hot days and warm nights have been the trend and most crops are progressing at a good rate. Wheat harvest has begun with average yields being reported. Conditions could not have been any better for the past week or so for planting cotton. Even though a rain is not needed on cotton yet, the grain sorghum will need a drink before long.

Grain sorghum is progressing rapidly with the warm temperatures and good moisture conditions. There is very little insect activity occurring in the sorghum right now. Each field should be scouted at least once a week for yellow sugarcane aphids and greenbugs. Remember, seedling plants are very susceptible to greenbug injury. This injury can result in plant loss, stunting and delayed maturity. Infestations on larger plants cause stunting and reduced kernel size and quality.

Yellow sugarcane aphids damage plants by injecting a toxin as they feed on the plant. Their damage delays plant maturity and thus exposes sorghum to late infestations of sorghum midge. There are a lot of beneficials in the fields which should keep the aphids under control right now.

Most of the cotton is up or at least in the ground. Planting conditions were excellent this year. Boll weevil trap catches have increased substantially this week. The peak emergence should be here soon and then catches will drop off. There is a dramatic decrease in trap catches this year when compared to last year.

There will probably be a few fields which will require treatment for overwintered weevils, but these should be limited to those areas that are historically weevilly. Broadleaf litter habitats such as creek or river bottoms are prime overwintering habitat.

The Southern Rolling Plains Cotton Producers Board has made available boll weevil traps at all gins in the area for cotton producers' use. The traps may be purchased at a cost of $4.00 each and Pheromone is included in the price. The traps can be useful in helping to determine whether or not to spray for overwintered weevils. With the purchase of the traps comes an instruction sheet which should be read from front to back. If there are any questions, please contact me or Tom Fuchs. Be sure you understand how to use the traps or you could get into serious weevil problems later.

Pest Management Program

Scouts have been hired and will start to work on June 4. The first weeks will be spent mapping fields and meeting with program participants. Please take the time to show the scouts the field which is to be scouted. This year's scouts are James Badgett, Bill Byrd, Michelle Carter, Marcie Jansa, Kathy Kubenka, Lynette Preas, Marie Pritchard, Shelly Rohmfeld and Russell Stone.

Lubber Grasshoppers

As I was walking through the pasture the other day I stumbled across a bunch of immature jumbo grasshoppers. Lubbers or jumbo grasshoppers are occasional pests of cotton in West Texas. They cause economic damage in this area about one year out of four. They generally restrict their damage to field margins, but on some occasions, will damage 20-30% or more of the field. Their damage consists of feeding on stems and terminal buds to the extent that plant death results. If your cotton is adjacent to pastures, keep a close eye on it for the next two to three weeks. These hoppers can migrate into cotton fields in rather large numbers and they are voracious eaters. Check fields regularly.

Radio Bug Reports

It's time once again for the 1990 Texas Bug Report. The report will be aired twice daily this year and is scheduled for KRUN-AM-FM, Ballinger 1400/103.3 at 6:10 a.m. and 12:45 p.m.

Commodities to be distributed June 14

Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. will distribute USDA Commodities in Winters at the Multi-Purpose Center on Thursday, June 14, from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Items available this month are: butter, flour, honey, vegetarian bean, peanut butter and box of raisins.

CTO has no control over what items are available or the quantity of the items. Allocations of all commodities depends on the availability of food items from USDA.

All eligible persons will receive emergency food assistance without regard to race, sex, political beliefs, age, national origin, or handicap. Shutins are encouraged to designate an authorized representative to pick up for them.

Volunteers are greatly needed and appreciated to help with this much-needed program.

Cuts are expected for the Social Service budget

The lives of thousands of needy Texans are threatened daily by the growing crisis at the Department of Human Services.

DHS officials say they may cut payments to 50,000 Texas elderly in nursing homes. Critics blast the proposal saying older Texans will be forced out of homes.

Questions of mismanagement and lack of leadership by DHS chairman Rob Nossbacher continue to swirl around the controversy adding fuel to comments that leadership will be a key issue in the lieutenant governor's race.

A scheme to fund the DHS shortfall with federal dollars has been discarded by agency executives.

Another Nossbacher-inspired plan which would require local hospital districts to contribute additional money to the state to ease the financial problems was called 'wacky' by the Lufkin Daily News.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram said "The continuing budget problems at DHS indicate a serious management problem..."

Letter to the Editor

I received a letter from Jolene Baker Wiley telling me about the Centennial Celebration with class reunions on June 29-30. I immediately reserved a plane ticket back to the USA and went on a diet. Here's hoping everybody in the class of '50 turns up to make our 40th reunion a great one.

Sincerely,
Louette Glover Templeton

To the Graduating Class of '90:

Congratulations, everyone; you finally made it! I know sometimes it seemed like this day would never come, but you stuck with it, and here you are: THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1990!! I am so proud of all of you, and I wish I were there with you today.

Not only am I proud of you, I am grateful to you. At one time or another, each of you held out a helping hand to me when I needed it most. Sometimes you didn't realize you were helping, and sometimes I tried to resist your help. I never meant to seem ungrateful for your kindness. Even when I did try to refuse your help or push you away, you all had a great impact on my life.

I've had a lot of problems over the last few years, and I tried to run away from all of them in one way or another. The reason I'm not with you today is because I ran away from my problems again. But over the last four months, I've gotten my life straightened out, and I think I'm finally on the right track. I know who I am and where I'm going with my life more than I ever have before.

I'm in school now at Matanuska-Susitna College/University of Alaska Anchorage, and I've been looking for a job. I've made a lot of friends here (sorry, partners, these guys just about put you to shame). I'm really happy here, and I think I'll be okay. At least I know I'm never going to have to run away again.

I love and miss all of you, and I'd really like to hear from you. My address is P.O. Box 874307, Wasilla, Alaska, 99687.

I'll let you all go back to your graduation preparations now. I just wanted to congratulate you and thank you.

Take Care & God Bless,
Kati Harrison

4-H camping opportunities for summertime

Two unique and exciting summer opportunities, SpecTra '90 and Prime Time '90, await Texas 4-H members at the Texas 4-H Center. Each is a command performance geared toward teaching educational 4-H project objectives and developing and building upon lifeskills.

SpecTra '90, offered August 5-10, extends into all rays of the 4-H spectrum; project enhancement, leadership development, self-image enrichment and career exploration. 4-Hers 13-19 will cultivate new visions of themselves, their goals and aspirations and commit themselves to grow personally and professionally.

During SpecTra '90, 4-Hers will devote a total of 20 hours to one of the twelve project areas from which they may choose. Choices include Image and Attire, Archery, Advanced Computers, Entomology Identification and Public Speaking. Also offered will be Recreation Training, Meats Identification, Basic Swimming and Diving, Photography, Canoeing and Sailing, Tennis and Agricultural Enterprises. Resource people to instruct these courses include Texas Agricultural Extension Service personnel, Texas 4-H Center summer staff members and Texas adult volunteers.

PrimeTime '90 is a three day experience offered to younger 4-H members 9-14 years old. This activity concentrates on educational and recreational experiences that are out-of-the-ordinary. At PrimeTime '90, young people will learn interpersonal skills of working with others and ways of becoming successful at new things while developing a better self-image and building self-esteem. Activities include shooting sports, canoeing, high adventure, crafts and outdoor education. In addition, there is organized night time recreation. Dates for the four sessions are July 22-25 (ages 9-11), July 25-28 (ages 9-11), July 29-August 1 (ages 12-14), and August 1-4 (ages 12-14).
