Concern over funding for Senior Citizens Center

A letter from County Judge Michael Murchison and County Commissioners to Rosemary Bennie, director of the Senior Citizens Activity Center in Winters advising an increase in the charge for meals has set off a controversy of sorts. The County has experienced a shortage in funds for the programs which are active in Winters, Ballinger and Miles.

In a meeting in Ballinger on Monday, August 20, the mayors of Ballinger and Miles and Winters City Administrator Charles Ludwick, along with County Judge Michael Murchison, discussed ways to make up the shortfall. Administrator Charles Ludwick reported that the City of Winters has had the Activity Center in its budget since at least the 1982 fiscal year.

The City of Winters pays all utilities for the Center, along with taking care of maintenance of the building and the van which belongs to the Center. Budgeted amounts range from $2800 per year in fiscal 1982 to a high of $5600 in fiscal 1990 and a budeted amount of $5400 for fiscal 1991. The county pays the telephone bill for the center which amounts to about $265 per year.

The Winters Center serves approximately 1155 meals per month, while Ballinger serves between 700 and 800 and Miles approximately 500 meals per month. The Winters Center also bakes cookies and rolls for sale and returns approximately $400 per month to the County treasury through those sales.

The call for an increase disturbed Mrs. Bennie because she felt it would cause some senior citizens to quit coming to the center for lack of money to afford the meals. Administrator Ludwick says that he feels the City of Winters is doing more than its part in supporting the County Aging Services Program and that the Ballinger and Miles programs seem to be losing money and those cities are not assisting in the way Winters is.

Further meetings will be held in the future to discuss the needs for the Runnels County Aging Services Program.

Town meeting on refuse proposal August 30

Winters City Council met in regular session Monday night and set the date for a town meeting on a refuse proposal presented by Browning-Ferris Industries. The meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. Thursday, August 30 at the Community Center in Ted Meyer Park. The Council has been studying the garbage and landfill situation for some time and had asked for a proposal from Browning-Ferris on garbage collection and disposal.

The present landfill used by the City is almost full and must be closed in the near future. This will involve filing a closure schedule with the Texas Department of Health, covering the site with two feet of soil, with the top six inches being topsoil and being responsible for any corrective action for a five year period after closure.

Although the City has leased additional land for a site, new regulations requiring liners, monitoring wells and being liable for up to 35 years, make it financially impossible for small towns to continue this type operation. Other cities such as Merkel, Breckenridge, Comanche and Cross Plains have faced this issue and have elected to contract outside specialists to handle their refuse.

Following the meeting on Monday and the vote to present the Browning-Ferris proposal to the citizens at the town hall meeting, City Administrator Charles Ludwick issued this statement:

"After extensive City Council review, we are recommending contracting with Browning-Ferris Industries, a highly respected world-wide service company in the refuse field, to handle our total garbage removal system. We want to review this proposal with all citizens of Winters and seek their participation and suggestions in the Town Hall Meeting on Thursday, August 30 at 7:00 p.m. We will appreciate citizens attending and participating in the discussion."

In other business the Council discussed a Community Development Workshop to be led by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The first reading of an ordinance closing a certain portion of Willow Street near the Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church was accomplished. This is not presently a street, but was on the plat of that area and has never been made into a street.

City labor contracts expiring September 30 were discussed and renewed by vote of the Council.

The first Council meeting in September was rescheduled for September 10 for a budget hearing and approval of the 1991 fiscal year budget as well as a tax rate ordinance. The second monthly meeting in September was rescheduled for Monday, September 24.

Council members also voted to approve the cooperative working agreement with the Rio Concho Multi Agency Drug Enforcement Task Force after a presentation by Police Chief Larry Willis.

After paying routine bills, the council adjourned.

School Board hears advisory committee recommendations

At their meeting Monday night, the Winters Independent School District Board of Trustees heard a report from the Advisory Committee appointed in April to assist the Board in formulating a long-range plan for the District. The report, given by Mike Kozelsky, chairman, was well received by the board. A detailed report of the recommendations is found elsewhere in The Enterprise.

Resignations were accepted from Tom Selby, former boys basketball coach, and Connie L. Holden, a new teacher who was hired last month. Emily Hall was voted on to be hired as P. E. aide replacing LaShae Butts who resigned last month.

Business Manager Johnny Bob Smith then presented the board with figures on tax rates required by Senate Bill 1 that must be adhered to in order to receive all state funds. In essence, the state says that the tax rate for Winters Independent School District must be increased to $1.40 per $100 property valuation in order to fully comply with S. B. 1. Smith pointed out to the board that in order to receive $26,000 in additional funds in fiscal 1992, tax income would have to be increased by $131,000.

After considerable discussion on state mandated rules and regulations, the board voted to leave the tax rate as set at their last meeting. Board members commented they felt the state should not be mandating local school districts to tax property owners a set amount in order to receive state money. Another comment made by a board member was that he hoped the taxpayers of the District knew and appreciated how hard they try to hold the taxes down.

Following discussion of the proposed budget for 1990-91, which totals $4,129,120, and is a balanced budget with no necessity for increased taxes, the board voted to approve the budget.

After paying routine bills, the Board adjourned until the public tax hearing on August 30 at 6:00 p.m.

Six locations listed below have been designated as bus stops: Mac Oil Field parking lot, Gunsight Oilfield Supply parking lot (across from West Dale Grocery), Wes-T-Go No. 2, Senior Citizens Recreation Center, Winters Child Development Center at 601 West Pierce, and the Senior Citizens Nursing Home.

Regular bus routes will make stops in the mornings between 7:35 and 7:40 a.m. Each afternoon at 3:35, the bus will deliver students to the bus stops.

All students are eligible to ride the morning route, but only those students who are dismissed at 3:25 will be allowed to ride the bus in the afternoon.

Winters Elementary School to hold "Meet Your Child's Teacher Night"

Parents of Elementary students will have an opportunity to meet their child's teacher August 30, 1990, at the Winters Elementary School. Thirty minute sessions have been planned so that if parents have more than one child in the elementary school, they may attend more than one session. Sessions will start at 6:30 p.m. and continue at thirty minute intervals with the last meeting beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The purpose of "Meet Your Child's Teacher Night" is for teachers to explain their expectations and routines for students and to involve parents in student learning.

Child care will be provided so that parents will be free to attend the sessions. Help your child begin the year with your support by attending the meetings.

Commercial Industrial ABC tournament to be held August 26

The Winters Country Club will hold its annual Commercial Industrial four person ABC tournament on Sunday, August 26, 1990. Tee off time is 9:30 a.m. The tournament is a four person best ball. It is sponsored annually by surrounding area businesses.

The entry fee is $125 per team. Businesses interested in sponsoring a team can contact Ronnie Poehls or Dickie Clough at Mac Oil Field Company by calling 754-5565.

The Womens Golf Association will have snacks and sandwiches available throughout the day.

If any person is interested in playing and does not have a team, contact Ronnie Poehls or Dickie Clough at the above number.

Come out and enjoy a fun day of golf!

Sheriff asks for more jail space

Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird has asked County Commissioners for permission to look into the possibility of converting one room currently used for another purpose to a trustee cell. At the regular meeting held Tuesday, August 14, Sheriff Baird told Commissioners there was a definite need for more space since the daily inmate average housed at the jail was 13 in the last fiscal year and this year is running 18-19 per day.

Baird further stated that he had recently talked to the jail inspector about making a trustee room out of the room currently used as an intoxication analyzation room. He also said it might be better to build a large room to house up to nine inmates, with a corner set aside for a visiting room. Whatever the solution decided upon, he said the County must come up with some room somehow.

Before any construction can take place, security standards, regulations and state specifications for jail housing must be drafted and approved. Commissioners agreed that the addition was necessary, but decided that cost figures should be considered before any action is taken. Sheriff Baird was instructed to further examine the cost and need for the jail addition.

A second request made by the Sheriff concerned the $2 fee collected for every bond paid out which had been going to the State Crimestoppers. Baird asked that the $2 continue to be collected but that the money collected go to the Runnels County Crimestoppers organization. After September 6, the law regarding collection of the fee will change according to the Sheriff. The new law will require that the fee be assessed through court costs imposed in local cases. Commissioners passed a motion to continue collecting the $2 fee and assigning the collected

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles

We are going to set aside the worries of all that is going on around us and concentrate on fundamentals. It is time for another installment in my monthly series on the basics of the oil business. This time, we tackle a subject that is as important as it gets but is a little more difficult to fully understand. The topic is reserves, the reserve concept, and why it is important. See... I couldn't even make the title simple.

Let's start out by defining 'reserves.' Reserve is the term referring to substances set aside and/or awaiting use in the future. Oil and gas reserves are simply the volume of oil and gas (boy, does this sound redundant) waiting to be produced in a particular, defined place. Those particular, defined places are reservoirs (appropriately named, don't you think?) in the ground that contain oil and gas. It is not that the producer (also aptly named) sets these volumes aside on purpose. It's just that the good earth will not give them up all at once. It is probably for the best, because we would probably just waste the money derived from its sale, anyway. Especially if we got it all at once. It is human nature.

That brings us to an interesting concept. One I like to call the 'reserves concept.' You see, the reserves any producer has is really his or her future. If he or she had no reserves, he or she would have no future as a producer because he or she would have nothing to produce. Makes a little sense, doesn't it? Therefore, when a company talks about its reserves, the listener senses urgency in the discussion. That is mainly because the speaker would probably be out of a job if there were no reserves. 'Reserves replacement' is the catchword one often hears when discussing the future of a producer. This is simply the percentage of reserves produced for a time period that have been replaced with newly acquired or newly located reserves. For example: a producer who discovers a new field with 100,000 bbls of oil reserves and produces 100,000 bbls of oil in a year has a 50% reserves replacement.

Let's get back to the basics of how these reserves are estimated. Just how does someone know how much oil or gas a well is going to produce for its entire lifetime? It ain't easy, but it is often done.

There are several different ways, some more accurate than others and some more time consuming than others. A happy medium is often strived for. By far, the most common method is very similar to cheating on a test in school. You look at your neighbor's well and see how much it has produced. Engineers call it 'finding an analogy.' Sounds better than 'I copied someone else's answer.' The funny thing is that it often gives a reasonably accurate estimation, if done properly. The easiest answer is given by an old well that has already reached the end of its life and has produced 'x' reserves. Pick that number for your well (if it is in the same zone, had a similar initial rate and pressure, and etc.) and you will get a pretty fair estimate of what your well's reserves are.

There are several more difficult and more accurate ways to estimate reserves and all of them get fair usage. Decline curve analysis, basic recovery factor volumetrics, analytical models, and numerical models are some of the variations on determining expected reserves. One thing to remember: all of them will be wrong, but some will be closer to actual than others.

A brief review of each of them (stick with me, here) follows: Decline curve analysis is very common and involves plotting of data on special graph paper (semi-logarithmic). It turns out that oil production will tend to follow a straight line down at a certain percentage decrease on this type of graph paper, allowing an extrapolation to some ultimate recovery. Recovery factor volumetrics involve using theories for what percentage of oil-in-place (volume of oil that fills the rocks—function of porosity, oil saturation, and zone thickness—see Jan. 25 column) will be recovered in certain types of wells in certain types of reservoirs. Analytical models is a catch-all term that refers to other methods that involve relationships between oil, gas, and water production, pressure, and mathematical calculations. And, finally, (wake up!) numerical simulation involves a very involved process of imulating the behavior of reservoirs with complex mathematical equations and derivatives thereof. It is very deep, but often quite accurate, especially in complex situations.

I could go on and on, but this should give you some idea of what reserves are and how they are determined and why they are important. I said it was kind of complicated (oh yeah, I forgot to say it could get a little boring), but it is one of those things that more people should be aware of. See you next time. Next month, we will talk about some special recovery techniques, and next week—I haven't thought that far ahead.

Local woman wins radio contest

Dickie Lloyd of Winters won the KRUN radio contest and a $100 U.S. Savings Bond with her essay on "What America Means to Me." The contest was open to all listeners and Mrs. Lloyd was informed of her winning essay with a phone call from station officials.

Mrs. Lloyd's essay follows: What America means to me is having a heart full of gratitude for our rugged pioneer builders of a country so wonderful as America. Thru struggle it has been preserved till now when it is my supreme privilege to live here and to pledge allegiance to the flag and to all it stands for. I feel positive about America, and I am caring and supportive about its future. Education Commissioner says six year olds may go to kindergarten

Texas Education Commissioner W. N. Kirby says in a letter to school superintendents across the state that six year olds being enrolled in school for the first time may go to kindergarten if their parents and school officials agree they aren't ready for the first grade.

The letter was sent in an attempt to clarify a State Board of Education ruling on promotions to the first grade.

The board decided in July to prohibit retaining pre-first grade students for an extra year in kindergarten or in transitional classes even if the parents agree.

After the 1990-91 school year, no pre-kindergarten or kindergarten students can be retained. Transitional classes for those children will be offered this year for the last time, according to the Texas Education Agency.

After the retention rule was adopted, a question came up about what to do with six year olds who have never been to school, according to Jorjanna Price of the TEA. "Kirby has said let the district and the parents determine between themselves if this is not someone who is developmentally ready," Price said.

Memo from the Chamber of Commerce

Invitations go out this week for the Annual Arts and Crafts Show. It is just around the corner!

The Rodeo Association is making plans to sponsor their Annual Ranch Heritage Rodeo October 13.

The Chamber would like to remind the businesses and residents of the Annual Halloween Decorating Contest. Let's make this year even bigger and better than ever.

The Chamber had a call recently from Texas Highway magazine and just maybe—they will use a photo that had been sent from last year's Halloween contest in their October issue.

Something to Remember: Hometown merchants pay a large share of your city taxes. The stores in other towns pay nothing to the City of Winters. Think about it...You get more than you pay for when you buy from your local people. You may think something costs more in the small local store than in the large store down the road...but does it really??? THINK

Citizens Advisory Committee presents recommendations to School Board

The Citizens Advisory Committee of the Winters Independent School District presented recommendations to the Board of Trustees in their Board Meeting Monday, August 20. The committee, composed of thirty-five citizens, was formed April 4, 1990 and charged at that time to survey, evaluate and make suggestions to meet recommendations in the school facility.

The recommendations presented are as follows:

ELEMENTARY BUILDING
It is recommended, with the guidance of an architect, that renovation of the existing elementary building should incorporate: air conditioning, environmental efficiency, insulation, etc; additional rooms for music, elementary computer lab, pre-kindergarten 3 and 4 year age students inside the main building, media center (library), deaf education, three multi-service classrooms, teacher work room, conference room and a counselor's office.

CAFETERIA BUILDING
Enlist the service of a structural engineer to determine the soundness of the existing building and a food service specialist to advise on more efficient and economical methods of purchasing, preparation, service and area design.

SCHOOL SKILLS BUILDING

Recommend to acquire a portable building for Life Skills. BAND HALL BUILDING

Recommend a new building as a long range plan.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

High School Level - An honors program at secondary level; programs for the motivation and encouragement for all students to attend and graduate from college or technical school; more computers in lab and/or their placement in appropriate classrooms; some form of vocational, industrial arts and/or distributive education.

Elementary Level - Computers available to all students in Kindergarten through 6th grade, with a computer lab or by placing up to four in each classroom; some type of drug, alcohol and sexual awareness program; a music program for Kindergarten through 6th grade; a reading improvement program by teacher training on new methods of reading and writing improvement from Kindergarten through high school.

The committee recommends that a bond election to be held to fund the preceding needs. The level of this funding should be consistent with the amount of bond the committee feels the public would support.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Sometimes living in Winters and Runnels County is like being an unclaimed child of a divorce.

Our mother, San Angelo, to the south. Nurturing. Soothing. Close to the earth. A river flows through our mother, making her arms a comfortable place to be.

Our father, Abilene, to the north. Macho. All business. Aggressive. Hard. Good provider of material things. Quasi-religious, using religion to accomplish his own ends. Power is his real religion, he will do anything rather than give up his guns (Dyess).

Once upon a time, they divorced. The children who looked most like the father were given to him; he called this family The BIG Country. Naturally. Everything must be bigger-than-life for Dad.

Mother took the ones who most resembled her and their family became known as The Concho Valley. Receptive and deeply religious, like their mom.

Runnels County and Winters, in particular, was an enigma. She had some traits of both parents, but neither was genetically dominant. She was simply omitted from the divorce settlement. And pretty much left to grow up on her own. Hoping one day she would begin to more closely resemble one or the other. Both maternal and paternal TV stations regularly omitted her from the weather reports and warnings. Figuring that she would "just know" these things. Weather reports became like "idiot lights" in a car, settling for announcing already accomplished disasters in her vicinity.

Sometimes, when she yelled long and loudly enough, mother or father, or both, would come visit. But it is hard to grow up without the continual nurture and caring of parents.

That is how it feels - sometimes. There are no orphans in God's family. There are no unclaimed children of divorce. Father, Son, and Holy Spirit have been married from the beginning and haven't even talked divorce once.

It doesn't even matter which parent the child most resembles - or if he/she resembles neither. The child is loved and nurture is offered endlessly and unconditionally.

If I might paraphrase, only slightly, the words of Jesus in Matthew 28:20 - "Listen carefully and confidently to this promise! I am with you ALWAYS, to the very end." NOW THAT'S FAMILY!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
In reference to the letter to the editor which appeared in your paper on August 16 concerning the school bus incident on the Crews Highway (153), I was the truck driver referred to but not named in that letter. I would like to tell my side of the story about what happened.

The incident happened on May 4, 1989 but I was not issued a ticket until May 24, 1989, mailed to me, postmarked at 9:45 a.m. and received by me on May 25 at 6:00 p.m. The ticket said I was to be in court on May 24 at 2:00 p.m., which was impossible since I did not receive the ticket until May 25, a Thursday. Upon receiving the ticket, I called Judge Hodnett and he said he would change the preliminary hearing to the following Monday.

I told Judge Hodnett that I felt he might be prejudiced against me because he was a bus driver. His answer was that he hadn't thought about it in that way, but he didn't think it would affect his judgment of the case. The following Friday, he called me back and said after some thought he might ought to excuse himself from the case because he was a bus driver. The case was assigned to Justice Court in Ballinger for preliminary hearing.

A jury trial was held in Ballinger some time later and I was found guilty of passing a school bus as charged in the ticket written by Deputy Keith Collom. I appealed the verdict to County Court, feeling that I could not be guilty of passing a school bus when I never did that. My truck came to a complete stop about 10 feet behind the school bus and three children got off the bus. The bus pulled up after I had already stopped and then the bus stopped again. The bus proceeded on down the road, with no conversation between myself and the bus driver. Twenty one days later, I received the ticket in the mail.

In the trial there was no mention of the third child being off the bus, only two. I have never figured out why the third child was not mentioned. After the jury trial and during the appeal, the charge was changed to failing to control speed and eventually my lawyer convinced me that I should plea bargain for that charge.

My contention is that the driver of the bus was very late (or maybe never at all) turning on the warning light for stopping. I have been driving for the company I work for for 10 years and have never before received a ticket for anything. Now, all of a sudden I am not a safe driver because of this one incident for which I feel I was not wholly responsible. It has cost me much time besides $500 for a lawyer and $300 in fines, along with a loss of about $1200 in wages.

Because I felt I was innocent of the charges and decided to fight it has cost me a lot of money and damaged my reputation. Maybe I should have paid the $78 fine in the first place and forgotten about it!

Sincerely,
Daniel D. Beechley

Donations now being accepted for D.A.R.E.

The Runnels County Sheriff's Office is preparing for the 1990 school year. Donations are now being accepted for Project D.A.R.E.

D.A.R.E. Operates and functions on donations alone, at no cost to the schools, and can only exist with your help.

The Sheriff's Office feels the program is the best to ever be taught to the children to help them deal with everyday pressures and give healthy alternatives instead of turning to drugs.

Anyone who would like to donate to D.A.R.E. please send contributions to: D.A.R.E., % Runnels County Sheriff's Office, Ballinger, Texas 76821.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Elsewhere in this paper there is an ad stating that your taxes will be increased by 13.39% for 1990.

Article 7244-C, Section 1, of the Truth in Taxation Law of the Texas Constitution, Tax Relief Amendment, requires that this advertisement be placed in the local paper at an expense to the local district. Article 7244-C also sets the standard calculations that all taxing bodies must use to figure local district taxes for the year.

By using this standard form, Winters ISD tax rate was determined to be $1.09 per $100 assessed value. Your taxes for last year was based on a rate of $1.24 per $100 assessed value. Your taxes for 1990 will be based on a $1.24 rate per $100.

Therefore, according to the law, your taxes appear to be increasing, but in reality, they are remaining the same as 1989 and there is not an increase in your school taxes for 1990.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The (Winters I.S.D.) will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in (1989) by (13.39%) percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on (August 30, 1990) at (6:00 p.m.).

FOR the proposal: Pinkerton, Poehls, Allcorn, Bryan, Prewit, Presley, Webb.

AGAINST the proposal: none

PRESENT and not voting: none

ABSENT: none

(Names of all members of the governing body, showing how each voted on the proposal to consider the tax increase and, if one or more were absent, indicating the absences.)

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the (rollback) tax rate that the unit published on (August 2, 1990). The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	Last Year
Average home value	$50,000	$50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	5,000	5,000
Average taxable value	45,000	45,000
Tax rate	$1.0936	$1.24 (proposed)
Tax	$492.12	$558.00 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would (increase) by $(65.88) or (13.39%) percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would (increase) by $(.1464) per $100 of taxable value or (13.39%) percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Twain Talk

by Twyla Twain

Shoestrings & carrot sticks

Ready for the first day of school? Do you remember going to school for the very first time? My mother had taken me a few days before the first "official" day just so I'd know which room was mine and to scope out the situation. That was such a great idea and I applaud her efforts.

The only problem was that any speck of confidence I might have felt was short-lived as soon as I saw that big yellow bus round the top of the hill to take me far away for a whole day at real school.

I tried to psyche myself up for this big day. After all, I had new shoestrings in my new tennis and wouldn't have to spend half a day trying to spit on the old frayed ones and roll them enough to go through the eyelet before I could get my shoes tied.

In fact, I think I probably tied my shoes the night before and slept all night with them on - just to be sure. But when I finally released my sweaty feet from those prison shoes at the end of that long school day, I had deep indentations on top of my feet from my shoestrings being so tight. But that was okay because shoestrings were not on my worry list for that day anyway. I certainly had enough other major things to worry about.

Things like - will I remember which desk is mine? What if my teacher hates me? What if she doesn't write like I know? What if nobody in the world likes me? What if I fall asleep and don't hear the bell and everybody leaves and I wake up in school and it's nighttime and all dark?

We're talking major problems here. This school business was going to be tough. Guess I'd worry later about those minor things like learning to read and write. I had enough to deal with in real school.

Real school. The place where you stay all day long no matter how much you itch or how hungry you get or how much you'd rather be home playing with the dog.

The place where somebody other than your mother and dad is telling you what to do - and you have to mind them too!

I remember the shock I felt when I found out it's not okay to throw rocks just because I found a neat one. Or that I wasn't supposed to fight with the boys like I always did at home. That the ladies in that big lunchroom didn't cook like my mom did and I sure never had funny plates with squares on them at my house.

We always laughed a lot at the table at home but seems that the teachers didn't find as much humor in watching me cram carrot sticks up my nose or when I tried to unwind my cinnamon roll at school and drape it around my neck like a piece of fine jewelry.

Boy, school was going to be tougher than I thought! Didn't know if I'd ever learn all the rules. Of course, now I know better. I know better than to ask any of my former teachers if I ever learned the rules.

That much I did learn!

Pappy Hamilton and his five grandsons, his favorite topic of conversation

Pappy Hamilton boosts Halliburton

When F. F. (Bill) Hamilton, a long time employee of Halliburton Services before his 1978 retirement, was asked if he thought the company would return to Winters, he was quick to answer.

"Yes," he said. "They have their property here and kept the Field Supervisor. They'll be back when business picks up."

Before his retirement Bill, or as many people called him "Pappy," was added to a long list of those who had helped to make Halliburton the leading oil field services organization in the world.

Hugh Massey, Abilene District Superintendent said, "Bill is without a doubt, the most dedicated Halliburton employee that I have ever known."

Hamilton had been Assistant District Superintendent at Winters since 1960 when he hung up his red hard hat for good. It was on his 65th birthday, December 20, 1978, when he retired after more than 42 years of service.

"Pappy" went to work for Halliburton in 1936 at Cayuga in East Texas, between Palestine and Corsicana. During the next 24 years, he worked in Marshall in East Texas, then Alice in South Texas, and then Snyder, Winters and Sweetwater in the Abilene area.

He went back to Winters by choice and "just about became a legend," said Massey, during those 18 years in Runnels County and adjoining counties served by the Winters camp.

But "Pappy" Hamilton can't be mentioned without saying something about his wife, Opal, who has also been dedicated to Halliburton for many years—answering customer's calls and many other acts of service that Halliburton wives are noted for. She has been credited with feeding more Halliburton men and customers than any other 10 company women.

Bill and his twin brother were born in 1913 at Poolville, north of Weatherford. Their parents named the boys Floyd and Lloyd, but the attending physician called them Big Bill and Little Bill after a tennis star of that day and the name stayed with them. Little Bill is deceased.

Big Bill was married to Opal Tatum at Boyd in Wise County December 24, 1934. Two years later he began working for Halliburton at Cayuga when A. D. Downs was a supervisor at the camp. Five years later Bill went to Kilgore and after the confusion caused by Pearl Harbor in 1941, he worked at several locations before coming west.

Hamilton recalls almost everything about his years with the company. Sacks of cement were first hauled with teams and then old Army trucks—500 sacks to the load. Bulk cement was first used in 1942 in Illinois and second at Hawkins in Texas. Eight of these trucks were brought to Winters and at their first location on a lot so small that Bill didn't know where they put them.

Work was almost around the clock as the men were needed at the oil well locations. When some complained the boss said, "I'd rather be looking at you than looking for you." The men were used to the hard work and had the motto, "We'll get there somehow!" In later years the young men added these words—"after we eat."

If Bill isn't talking about his work, his favorite topic of conversation is his five grandsons. When they're all together, Opal really has six grandchildren on her hands because Bill is just one of the boys.

The Hamilton's two daughters, Sue and Mona, both finished high school in Winters. Lee and Sue Wood have four boys and live in Carrollton. Sam and Mona Blalock have one son, they live in Duncan, Oklahoma.

Bill and Opal now have five great-grandchildren and continue to be very active—looking after everybody.

Winters company involved in Saudi Arabian buildup

Aircraft tire shipping containers made by BCP Manufacturing Company, of Winters, are being used to support US Air Force units currently being deployed to Saudi Arabia. The tire racks are used to ship spare aircraft tires normally carried by Air Force units in an overseas mission.

The firm is currently under contract to the Air Force to produce 328 racks in five different models. Aircraft tires carried by the containers include those from the F-15 Eagle, B-52 Stratofortress, and C-130 Hercules.

On Wednesday, August 15th, BCP was directed to expedite shipments of 13 racks for a priority Air Force mission in support of "Desert Shield." Previously the company had shipped to active and reserve Air Force units at 38 separate locations throughout the world. Some of these units have also deployed to the Middle East.

Since production of the tire racks began in November, 1989, the Company, which was formed in 1978, has employed 8 people full-time, with an average annual payroll of over $130,000. BCP specializes in fabrication of metal products, and in addition to Government Contracts, also produces Rope-Wick Applicators, used to apply herbicides to weeds in growing crops.

Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

The Crop Connection

by Richard Minzenmayer
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Runnels-Tom Green Counties

General Situation

Cotton is starting to mature out and has stopped its vegetative growth in most areas. Cotton in the northern part of Runnels County is past peak bloom and most fields are cutting out and blooming out the top. Other areas will be reaching peak bloom this week. We need to manage our crop in such a way to mature fruit that has already been set and not try to set additional fruit.

Grain Sorghum

Greenbugs and spidermites are extremely heavy in many grain sorghum fields at this time. The economic threshold for greenbugs is reached when greenbug numbers are sufficient to cause death of two normal-sized leaves. Insecticides recommended for greenbug control include: Lorsban, Cygon, Malathion, Di-Syston, Metasystox-R, ethyl parathion and others.

Cotton

Bollworm egg counts were down considerably last week when compared to the weeks before, and moth catches have declined as well.

Budworm moth catches have risen substantially in the past week. This is not good. If you spray for bollworms, check your fields four to five days later to make sure you are getting satisfactory control. Don't expect 100% control, especially in the rank cotton. It's very difficult to get good coverage in cotton which is chest high; and therefore, a few worms are going to slide through the treatment. If you find a lot of bollworms alive and well after 5 days, you may be looking at a tobacco budworm population. Collect the large worms and get them to me so I can make an identification on them. It's difficult to identify small worms, but large worms are relatively easy and fast. Pyrethroid insecticides are not nearly as effective on budworms as they are on bollworms.

Spidermites continue to plague us in both irrigated and dryland cotton. It seems they are worse in areas adjacent to grain sorghum or corn.

Curacron and Capture seem to be the most used miticides at this time. They both will work well, but coverage is going to be extremely important. If you use Capture, it is recommended to be applied by ground rig in a minimum of 10 gallons of water, plus 1 quart of emulsifiable oil per acre. If you must apply it by air, put it out in 5 gallons of water plus 1 quart of emulsifiable oil per acre. This recommendation comes from the manufacturer of Capture, so please abide by it.

None of the miticides are cleaning the fields of mites, but seem to be knocking them back. My best recommendation right now would be knock them back when populations are light. Do not wait until populations are moderate to high to go in and treat. You will be very disappointed and it will probably require several additional treatments to get populations down to manageable (or treatable) levels.

If and when we get through this season, we are going to have to change our management strategies tremendously. We can not continue putting these kind of inputs into our cotton crop and come out above water.

Boll weevil punctures continue to creep upward. Stay on the lookout for punctures. The economic threshold is reached when 15 to 20% of the squares are weevil damaged.

Scouting Program

The regular scouting program will end on August 24th this year. Your scouts have done a super job and should be commended for their good work. They remained enthusiastic even when it was 100 plus degrees and/or they were wading in muddy fields. If you see your scouts this week, THANK THEM FOR A JOB WELL DONE. I hope to retain a couple of scouts to help make spot checks in problem fields during the afternoon.

We have had more fruit and vegetables brought to us. We would like to thank all of you who have shared with us, and especially for the blackeyed peas. They were brought in by O. C. Hill. The ladies really enjoyed shelling them. We couldn't get the men convinced they could do this too, but they helped when it came to eating them. Everybody enjoyed them.

Mrs. Gertrude Young has been admitted to the nursing home. She is in Room 12A. Mr. Harold Paschal also has become a resident of the nursing home and is in Room 10B. They would appreciate your cards and visits.

The VFW Auxiliary Post 9193 made a generous contribution to the nursing home last week. We thank you and appreciate this very much.

Mrs. Margaret Gideon has entered the nursing home and is in Room 21A. She would also appreciate your cards and visits.

Mrs. Theresa McKelleb of Tuscola has been coming on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday afternoon to bring us a Bible Study. Betty Colburn comes on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday. We appreciate these ladies and enjoy them very much. Also "Thank You" to the churches and everyone who comes to participate or just to visit.

Thursday afternoon we had our Monthly Birthday Party. Refreshments and gifts were furnished by the ladies of the Catholic Church. Our only honoree was Mrs. Minnie Wilkerson, she will be 91 years old on August 31. Entertainment was brought to us by Monica and Tom O'Mara and truly delighted our residents with their Irish songs.

Mrs. Vela Laird has been hospitalized and is in North Runnels Hospital.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Bertha Gerhart.

Mrs. Dora Busher has entered North Runnels Hospital.

Card of Thanks

The family of Carl A. Turk extends appreciation of the many prayers, expressions of love, flowers, memorials, food, kind words, phone calls, visits during the long illness and passing of our loved one.

We were especially touched by everyone's sincerity and the concern expressed to the immediate family by so many friends and relatives throughout the difficult period.

A special thank you goes to the great ladies of St. John's Lutheran Church for preparing the meal for the family. To Dr. Thorpe for the many years of care. To Mike Meyer and Linda Dry for a job well done.

Many, many thanks again Ruby Turk

VETERINARY UPDATE

Nitrate intoxication - forage control

Today, we'll continue talking about nitrate intoxication and some steps we can take to prevent it.

The clinical signs of nitrate intoxication are about the same as what we see in cyanide poisoning. These signs are usually seen soon after exposure but they also may be slow in developing. All are related to the lack of oxygen in the blood. We see weakness, muscle tremors, inability to rise, labored respiration, and abortion in pregnant females if they live over an acute episode of nitrate intoxication.

Let me make it clear to you that it is very important that you not stress the animal if you find one that you suspect of being either poisoned by prussic acid or nitrates because this will lead to excitement. There is already a substantially lowered amount of oxygen being carried by the blood. If you excite these animals then death is most often the result.

If it is determined that you do have a nitrate problem in some of your forage crops, there are some things that you can do to protect yourself, so to speak. We need to point out that most of the nitrate is in the stalk and root of the plant. There is a small amount in the leaves and there is very little in the flower and seed. This is important in helping us prevent intoxications.

The first thing we can do if we realize we have a nitrate problem in our forage is to let the forage mature because we know there is very little in the leaves and seed, and also as that plant becomes more mature, the nitrate level decreases.

Another thing we can do if we're going to try to make hay out of this forage is to raise the cutter bar on the mower so that we get only the leaves for our hay. Also, making ensilage of a potentially hazardous forage has shown that the amount of nitrates is decreased by the bacterial fermentation of the ensiling process.

Another thing you can do is to cut your forage late on a warm, sunny day because your nitrate reductase will greatly decrease the amount of available nitrates. If you should happen to bale up some forage that is high in nitrates, let me remind you that this forage will retain this nitrate concentration. The nitrate does not become reduced with time. If it's toxic when it's baled, it will always be toxic. Be careful when baling forages that have a large amount of nitrate accumulators (careless weed especially).

All the nitrate problems that we have seen so far this summer have been weed-related. There have not been any, as far as I know, that I can relate to a forage problem. With the weather conditions being like they've been for the last ninety days, certainly the potential for nitrate toxicity is here.

Once again let me also remind you about getting your horses vaccinated. We're getting into the time of year when the incidence of encephalitis or "sleeping sickness" is the greatest, so you need to be aware of this.

Part 2 - FOSTER CHILD: A FOSTER CHILD who is the legal responsibility of the welfare agency or court may get meals regardless of your household income. Complete a separate application for each foster child. COMPLETE THIS PART AND PART 4. DO NOT COMPLETE PART 3A OR PART 3B.

1. FOSTER CHILD: Put a checkmark () in the box if you are applying for a foster child.
2. INCOME: Write the child's personal use income and how often it is received (such as weekly, every two weeks, twice a month or monthly). Write "0" if the child has no income. Personal use income is (a) money given by the welfare office identified by category for the child's personal use, such as for clothing, school fees and allowances, and (b) all other money the child gets, such as money from his/her family and money from full-time or regular part-time jobs.

3. SIGNATURE: An adult household member must sign the application in Part 4.

Part 3A - HOUSEHOLDS NOW GETTING FOOD STAMPS OR AFDC FOR THEIR CHILDREN: COMPLETE THIS PART AND PART 4. In addition, complete Part 3B if there is any child in your household for whom you do not get food stamps or AFDC.

1. CASE NUMBER: Write your Food Stamp or AFDC Case Number.
2. NAMES: If you do not get food stamps or AFDC for all your children, write the names of the children for whom you do NOT get these benefits and complete Part 3B.
3. SIGNATURE: An adult must sign the application.

Part 3B - ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: IF YOU DID NOT GIVE A FOOD STAMP/AFDC CASE NUMBER FOR ALL YOUR CHILDREN, COMPLETE THIS PART AND PART 4.

1. HOUSEHOLD NAMES: Write the names of everyone in your household, include yourself and the children listed above, your spouse, all other children, grandparents, other relatives and unrelated people in your household. Use a separate sheet of paper if you do not have enough space.
2. CURRENT INCOME: Write the amount of income each person now gets on the same line as their name, how often the person gets it (such as weekly, every two weeks, twice a month or monthly) and where it comes from, such as Earnings, Welfare, Pensions or Other. Income is all money before taxes or anything else is taken out. If the amount received most recently is higher or lower than usual, write instead that person's usual income.
3. SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER: Write the name and social security number of either the parent/guardian who is the primary wage earner or the adult household member who signs the form. Write the word "none" if neither adult household member has a social security number.
4. SIGNATURE: An adult household member must sign the application in Part 4.

Part 4 - SIGNATURE: An application must be signed by an adult household member or the application cannot be approved.

Part 5 - RACIAL/ETHNIC IDENTITY: Put a checkmark () next to the racial/ethnic group of your children. We need the information to be sure everyone gets benefits on a fair basis. You do not have to answer this question to get free or reduced-price meals.

Winters Volunteer Fire Department's Annual B-B-Q, held August 19

Fire Department Chief, Johnny Merrill, lifts out brisket from the giant custom made cooker provided by Jedd Mfg.

Winner of 100 gallons of gasoline is Sarabeth Heidenheimer of Winters. The giveaway was held as a fund-raiser by the Firemen's Auxiliary.

Card of Thanks

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department would like to thank the Winters Country Club for sponsoring the Golf Tournament to benefit the Fire Department. Around $800 was raised, which will go toward more equipment and trucks. The Winters Volunteer Fire Department is in constant need of funds to improve and maintain equipment to best serve the people of the Winters area.

Members of the Winters Country Club are to be congratulated for their efforts to help the people of the Winters area.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all the people who were so thoughtful during the recent loss of our loved one. The food, flowers, and caring compassion were appreciated very much.

We especially want to thank Mike Meyer, the Winters Funeral Home, and Reverend Ferris Akins for their kindness and support to our family.

The family of Mabel Williams

Thanks Again!

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department would like to again thank the people of Winters who attended the Barbecue at the cafeteria. Although attendance was down, we still appreciate the faithful who help support the Department.
