Blizzard Band Marches in Excellence

The Winters Blizzard Band participated in the annual UIL Marching Contest on Saturday, October 20. The Band, braving 40-50 mph chilly winds and an interruption by a jet plane flying directly overhead, received a Division II rating (Excellent).

A large crowd, including approximately 100 supporters from Winters, gathered at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene, despite the cold temperature and strong winds, to watch the Blizzard Band put on an excellent performance.

The Winters routine, lasting 8 minutes and 20 seconds, included the rousing tunes of Battle Star, Apache, and Climb Every Mountain. An original drum cadence brought one of several rounds of applause from the crowd.

The fifty-three members performed an almost flawless program and received a standing ovation. Much verbal praise could be heard from throughout the audience.

Under the supervision of Band Director, Stephen Henry, and field direction of drum majors, Tammy Dry and Gene Faubion, the Blizzard Marching Band has worked very diligently since August 13, logging approximately 170 hours of practice time. All their hard work was quite evident in Saturday's performance, with each member displaying talent, discipline, and pride.

Although the final rating is based on the opinions of only three judges, the overall consensus of the crowd and band members and directors from other competing schools was that the rating given by these judges was not indicative of the fine performance by the Blizzard Band.

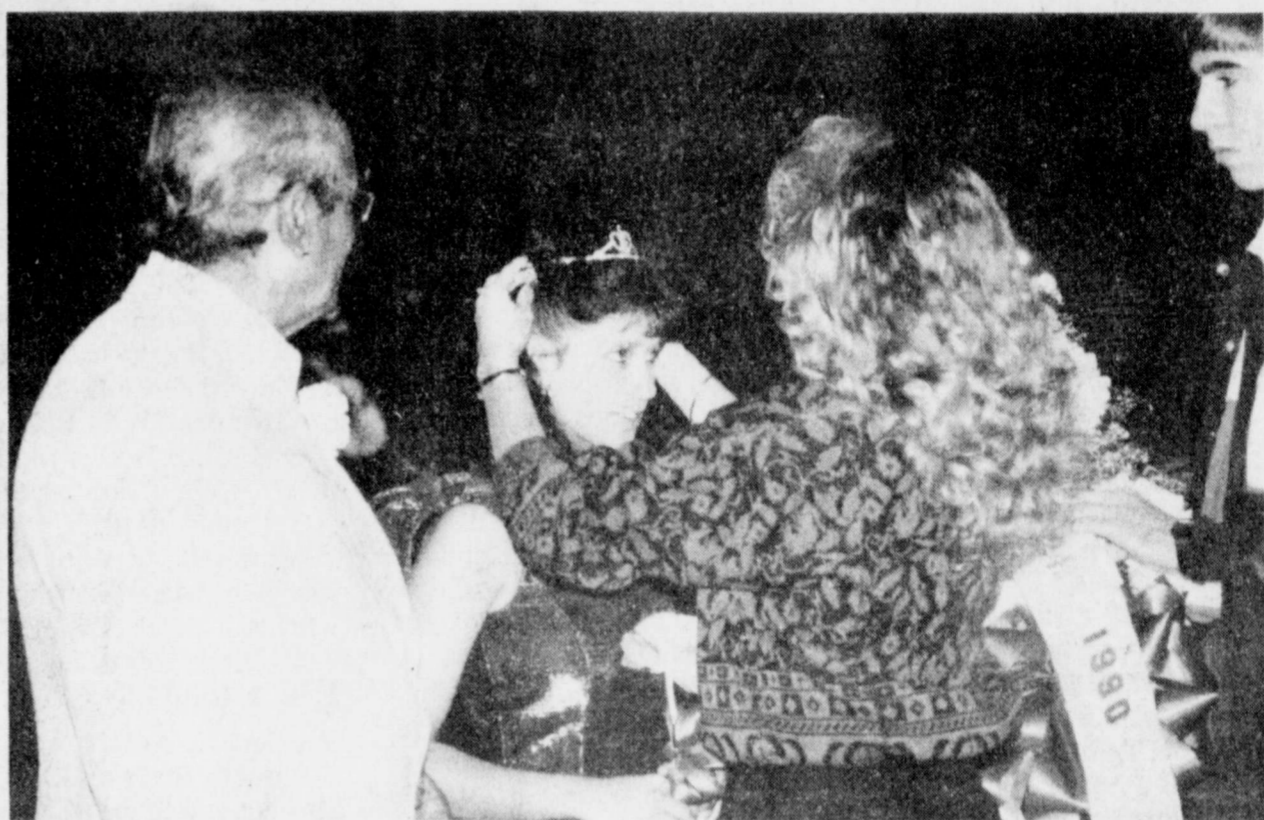

In addition to marching with the Blizzard Band, the twirlers, Mary Mostad, Tandy Reagan, and Carla Smith also participated in UIL solo twirling competition. Each received a Division II rating for their performances.

City Council plans refuse center

The Winters City Council met for their regular meeting on Monday night, October 22. Mayor Randy Springer was absent because of attendance at a National Association at Retail Druggists meeting in Nashville, Tennessee. Mayor pro tem Sandy Griffin presided in the Mayor's absence.

City Administrator Charles Ludwick reported that Len Lyons with Browning-Ferris Industries had surveyed for a location for a Citizens Convenience Center recently. The best site located was south of the present landfill. The Council approved a plan to lease 1/2 acre of land in that location, have the site prepared and to erect a 6 foot chain link fence around the site. The center will be open 14 hours a week, the same hours as the present landfill. Rates will be established at a later date. The Citizens Convenience Center is being established to afford citizens of Winters a place to dump refuse in excess of their normal amount usually put

Gracie Rodriguez, 18-year-old daughter of Daniel and Victoria Rodriguez was named Winters High School Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies of the Winters-Anson football game last Friday night. Miss Rodriguez was elected by vote of the student body of Winters High School.

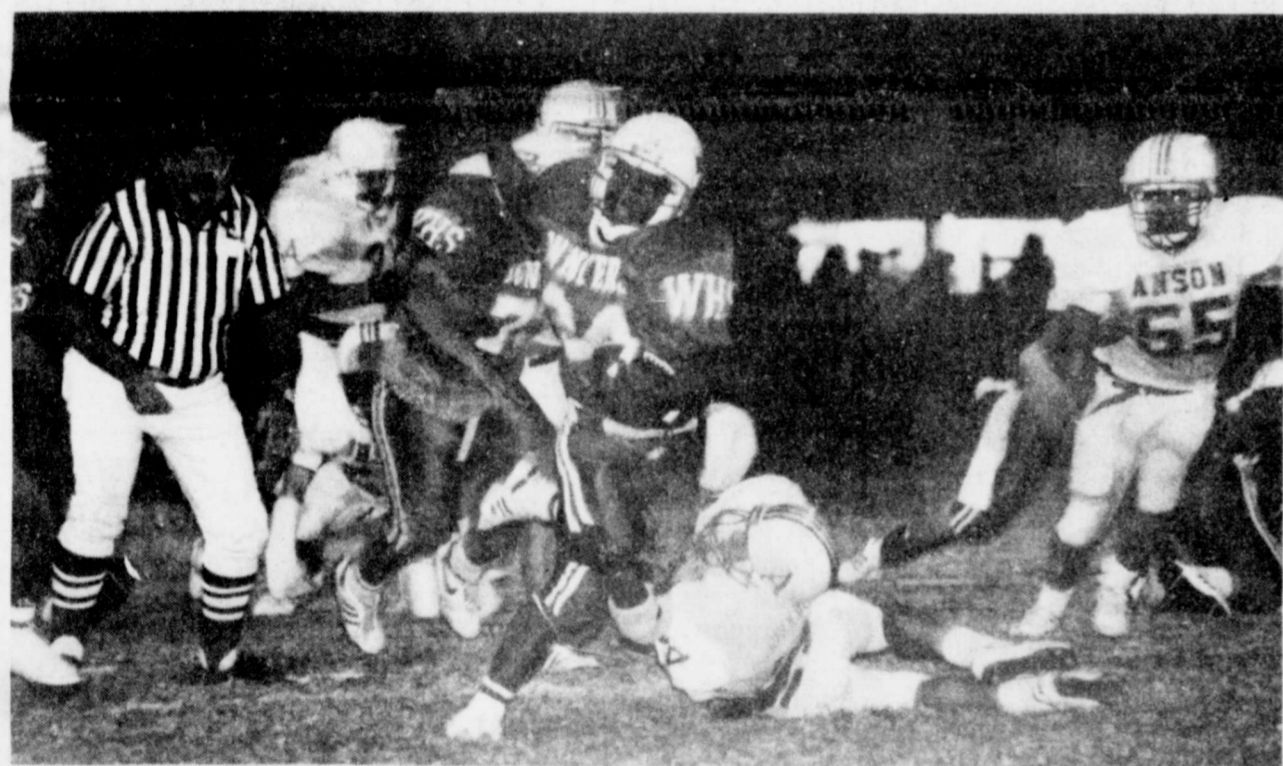

She is a senior and head cheerleader for 1990-91 and is serving as president of the National Honor Society at Winters High. She served as vice-president of her freshman class and has been a member of the JV and varsity basketball teams.

Miss Rodriguez, escorted by her father, was crowned by Marie Pritchard, 1989 Homecoming Queen. The 1990 Coming Home Queen named is Charlene Craven of Winters. Mrs. Craven attended Winters Schools and was in the class of 1940. During high school years she was active in the Choral Club, Blizzard Band and the Goal Diggers Club.

In the 1950's she was employed at the State Theater on Main Street and following that she was employed by The Winters Enterprise. She and her late husband, Bill, owned a small grocery store in the 1960's and in 1974 moved away from Winters to Midland. She returned to Winters following her husband's death in 1979 and has worked part time in a local grocery store.

Mrs. Craven was escorted by a 1940 classmate, Alton Lowe, and crowned by Barron Guy and Mary Lynn Presley representing the Winters Ex-Students Association.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME ENDS
OCTOBER 28 - FALL BACK

Blizzard running back David Roman gains some of his 123 yards against Anson last week. The only other Blizzard identifiable in the picture is number 71 Bill Belew (behind Roman).

Sixth time a charm, Anson stops Blizzards 0-6

In a defensive battle supreme, the Winters Blizzards and Anson Tigers skirmished for better than three quarters with neither able to cross the other's goal line. Five times the Tigers penetrated the Blizzard 25 yard line and the defense rose to the occasion and denied a score.

A fumbled punt midway through the fourth quarter gave the Tigers their sixth chance at scoring. The Tigers' Jason Soliz recovered the fumbled punt at the Blizzard 26 and four plays later Tiger tailback Ray Samuels scored from the 16. The kick for the extra point was no good.

The Blizzards held the Tigers four times in the first half inside their 25. The Tigers lost a fumble on their first series at the Winters 17 and on their next possession they got as close as the Winters 15. Twice in the first half, the Blizzards held the Tigers on fourth down and short yardage situations.

Blizzard Jamie West stopped Samuels on a fourth down try from the Winters nine early in the second quarter, to stymie the Tigers. The Blizzards played the first quarter against the wind and spent most of that time in their own half of the field. In the second quarter, quarterback Craig Slaughter completed a 45-yard pass to David Roman and the Blizzards seemed to be moving the football. After a holding penalty near midfield, the Blizzards had to give up the football again.

The Blizzard defense played valiantly all night and with just a small break in their favor, the Blizzards could have come out on the winning end of the score. The Blizzards garnered a total of 75 yards on the ground compared to Anson's 165. Quarterback Craig Slaughter attempted 11 passes and completed 4 for a 36.4% completion rate and an average gain of 27.5 yards per pass. Blizzard Scottie Rodriguez punted 8 times for an average of 28.6 yards per kick. The Blizzards made 6 first downs compared to Anson's 17 for the night.

Penalties assessed included 4 for the Blizzards with a total of 25 yards and 10 for the Tigers with a total yardage of 85. The Blizzards lost only the one critical fumble for the night while the Tigers gave up the ball on 2 fumbles.

Leading ground gainer for the night for the Blizzards was David Roman with a total of 123 yards gained. Timothy Torres gained a total of 54 yards and Scottie Rodriguez had 27 yards and Jody Guy 23.

The Blizzards travel to Hamlin this Friday night to meet the Pied Pipers who are 1-3 in District and 3-4 for the season. Last week the Pied Pipers defeated Haskell 20-6. Quarterback Jeff Bell is a good passer and last week threw two touchdown passes against Haskell. Bell's favorite target is Dee Marshall, a 6 foot, 170 pound receiver.

Winters and Anson are tied for second place in District with the Tiger win last week. The Blizzards can stay in contention for a playoff spot with a win against the Pied Pipers on Friday night. Travel to Hamlin with the Blizzards and give them the support they deserve!

Coming Home Queen Charlene Craven and escort Alton Lowe at ceremonies Friday night.

City receives sales taxes

State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office has sent checks totaling $93 million in monthly sales tax rebates to cities and counties in Texas. "Sales are staying strong throughout Texas and that means sales tax collections keep increasing at a steady pace," Bullock said.

The City of Winters received $12,992.86 for taxes collected on August sales and reported in September by businesses filing monthly tax returns. The comparable payment last year was $8,225.24. This year's collections were up 57.96% over last year. Year to date payments total $132,656.80, up 8.18% over last year's $122,629.35.

Rebate checks to counties totaled $9.5 million this month for an increase of 19 percent over last year's payments to date. Runnels County received a payment

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles

This month's "oil basics" topic is stimulation and recompletion of wells that have reached a certain maturity. These techniques are often utilized to lengthen the life of an existing wellbore and are part of "workover procedures" performed at least once on every active well.

A lot of the techniques we will be discussing will sound familiar. That is because we have discussed them when we were completing our new well earlier in the year. Just think of the workover process as a rejuvenation of a currently completed interval or as a totally new completion in a well that has depleted its current completion.

The results may be a well that returns to production levels of the past (due to stimulation) or a well that produces at virgin pressure and rates (just like a brand new well in an old wellbore due to recompletion).

Let's start with stimulation. There are many variations, but there are two main categories of stimulation: acidizing and fracture treatments.

Acidizing involves pumping acid under pressure through perforations and into the formation. The acid is usually hydrochloric acid (HCl) in concentrations between 5% and 20% (usually 15%). Jobs usually are designed to treat with 25 to 125 gallons per foot of pay, and an average acid job is in a range of 2000 gallons to 20,000 gallons. Some are as small as 250 gallons and can be as large as 100,000 gallons (horizontal wells).

The point of an acid job is to clean out the perfs and possibly open up the formation by dissolving a portion of the rock. In a sandstone, the acid will only clean out damage or debris, because quartz (sand) is not soluble in HCl. In a carbonate (limestone, dolomite, chalk, etc.), the acid can indeed eat holes in the formation and increase productivity of a well in that manner.

Acid can be used in conjunction with gels and foams to create bigger flow paths but have specific applications where it is successful. There are also other types of acid (MCA, HFI, etc.) that have very special and very limited applications.

Fracture treating (also "fracing") is a more expensive process of stimulation often used where acidizing has limited success or where creating fractures can increase productivity enough to warrant the additional cost. It involves pumping fluids (usually gelled water or oil) laden with sand at high rates and pressures into a formation through the perfs to create fractures that provide greater flow capacity to a wellbore. The gelled fluid opens up the fracture and the sand in the gel helps prop it open. Job sizes can range from 10,000 gals and 20,000 pounds of sand to 500,000 gals and 1,000,000 pounds of sand. Precise design, experienced surface crews, and a cool head are required to pull off a successful frac job.

Applications include sandstones where acidizing has limited application, very tight reservoirs that have good porosity (storage of oil and gas that has difficulty flowing to the wellbore), and where creating a fracture could tie various pods of hydrocarbon accumulation together. The jobs can be very expensive and can be as much as 50% of the original drilling cost.

The second part of our discussion is to be on recompletion. I am going to break from tradition and save that for next week—not next month, but next week. A kind of "to be continued" thing. The real reason is mainly due to the fact that I got too long winded on the stimulation part of this discussion.

Remember, next week, I will finish this month's oil basics topic. Next month, we will talk about the sad days of plugging out our wells that have reached their economic limit. That will prepare us for a whole new year of oil basics centered on the personnel who keep the oil patch running.

Mayor Randy Springer leads a group in forming ideas for economic development in the Winters area. The group met for two nights to try to develop ways to stimulate the economy here.

Economic development group few but enthusiastic

A group of around 20 persons met on two consecutive nights, October 10 and 11 to discuss possible needs and strategies for increased economic development in the Winters area. Led by Dr. Tom Stebbins, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the group used the first night to list their ideas individually for improving the economy of Winters.

Before leaving that night, everyone looked at all the ideas presented and ranked them according to their feasibility and importance. Dr. Stebbins took the ranked suggestions and when the participants returned the second night, they were faced with the top ranked projects or goals according to their ranking.

The first night, a total of thirty suggestions were made to help improve the economy of the Winters area. On the second night, these were broken into 6 categories and participants were allowed to choose which area they would like to work. A total of three groups formed and each group established workable goals that are measurable to begin working on.

One group, working in the retail area, established a goal of getting an outside group to do a survey of the strengths and weaknesses of the local businesses now located in Winters. They will meet again next Monday night to report on assigned duties toward meeting their goal.

A second group set a goal of trying to establish more retail business in Winters. The third group set a goal of working toward getting more of the so-called "snowbirds" to stop and spend the night in Winters by working toward establishing trailer hookups at a convenient stopping place in Winters.

The leaders of the meeting were somewhat disappointed in the turnout for the meetings. Dr. Stebbins noted that the normal turnout for such a meeting was about 2 1/2% of the population. The Winters group represented less than 1% of the population and there were no representatives of financial institutions, schools, many of the clubs or associations and very few representatives of retail establishments.

Administrator Ludwick also reported that the Dewey Chestnut sculpture has been located in a flower bed next to the City Judge's office. A dedication ceremony will be held on Wednesday November 8 at 10 a.m. in front of City Hall.

Ludwick also reported to the Council that he had received a copy of a letter sent from North Runnels Water Supply Corporation's attorney to the City's attorney handling the rate case. This letter is the first round of discovery as outlined by the Texas Water Commission in a meeting on September 14. The letter requested information on 52 items concerning the costs of the Elm Creek Reservoir and the new water plant such as invoices and other documents substantiating the cost of construction of each.

Following a motion to pay routine bills the Council adjourned until their next regular meeting November 12.

Michael G. Grantham Memorial Plaque Dedicated

On Sunday, October 23 the Michael G. Grantham Memorial Plaque was dedicated during the 10:45 worship service of the First United Methodist Church in Winters.

This plaque is given in memory of Mike Grantham who served his church in so many ways. It is a tribute to someone who lived the life of discipleship and who witnessed to the transforming power of a life inspired and empowered by a relationship with a living Christ. This plaque will also honor those students who receive the Michael G. Grantham Memorial Scholarship. Their names will be engraved onto the plaque as the scholarship recipients.

This year's recipients were Marie Pritchard and Jimmy Ripley and their names now appear on this most special plaque that will always be on display in the foyer of the First United Methodist Church.

For anyone wanting to contribute to this scholarship your contributions will be received at AmWest Savings during working hours.

Congratulations once again to Marie Pritchard and Jimmy Ripley upon their receiving this award.

All local sales taxes must be approved by local voters and may be used for any legal city or county expenses. Most areas put the regular 1 percent city sales tax in their General Fund and use it for operations like fire fighting, maintaining roads and law enforcement. Cities use additional 1/2 percent city sales taxes to help fund local economic development and to reduce property taxes.

FROM A GOLDFISH BOWL

BY PASTOR STEVE BYRNE

Being sick is a humbling experience. I found that out the last couple of weeks. I wish it had been something besides the Common Cold, something exotic that I could talk about which nobody had had. And as hard as it hit, as bad as I felt, I didn't feel that there was anything common about it.

Dad used to say that if you get over a cold, it takes 14 days to get over it; but if you don't it lasts a full two weeks. In this case, it has been almost 14 days and I am getting my voice back. It is humbling because it is like having a loud speaker come out of the sky and shout, "You are not invincible, you are mortal! And one day you are going to get sick and not get well!"

It is humbling because it is "common." No special illness here. It is also humbling because it reminds me that not only am I not invincible, I am not an absolutely necessary cog in the gears of existence. Things went on pretty much as they always do around me, even though I wasn't participating or contributing anything.

Being sick necessarily forces us to take a different look at a lot of things. And if we choose to use it as a learning experience, sickness can be a good teacher.

Once Jesus found a man by the Pool of Bethesda waiting to be lifted into the bubbling waters of healing there, in hopes of being cured. Jesus asked him if he wanted to be healed. It wasn't a rhetorical question. Once you get well, more is expected of you than watching game shows on TV all day and the baseball play-offs at night.

Then, when Jesus healed the man, he said something odd. "Get up. Pick up your mat and walk." Why pick up the mat? Why not leave it there since he wouldn't be needing to lie around on it anymore?

Jesus wanted him never to forget what it was like to be paralyzed. That mat was a visible symbol that he would carry the past with him, for all it was worth. He could choose to have learned something about life from those 38 years.

That was the challenge. How to make his time on the sick-bed count for something once he was well and walking around. He had to come to grips with his illness before he could be completely well.

I doubt we are much different. Jesus invites us to learn some things from our illnesses, so that we can be truly well. Whole. Maybe even holy.

Which is to say that we might be able to heal others out of what we learned from our own illnesses. That is about as holy as we get on this side of eternity.

No antlerless deer permits required

Don Davis, biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department would like to remind landowners and hunters that no antlerless deer permits will be required for taking antlerless deer in Runnels County during the 1990-91 regular deer season.

The regular gun season for white-tailed deer in Runnels County is November 3 through January 6, 1991 with a bag limit of 4 deer, either sex but with a limit of no more than 2 bucks.

Deer populations vary from area to area and from ranch to ranch. The either-sex regulation allows the landowner the flexibility to harvest deer on his property at the proper rate. It does not automatically mean that a heavy harvest of antlerless deer is needed. The recommended harvest rates of both antlerless deer and bucks, as provided by the Department, should be used only as a general guideline for harvesting deer in Runnels County. Please notice that, in most cases, the department recommends more antlerless deer to be harvested than bucks.

Recommended harvest rates for both antlerless deer and bucks, based on recently completed population surveys conducted in Runnels County, is indicated on the county map.

Winters students wearing red ribbons

Students in Winters schools are participating in the Texas Red Ribbon Campaign. The theme for 1990 is "Proud to be Drug Free" and these words have been printed on red ribbons which are being worn by students, faculty and business people in town as a symbol of a commitment to live a drug-free, healthy lifestyle.

Free red ribbons are being provided by the Texas Medical Auxiliary for all school students in the state. Red Ribbon week is being observed all this week. On Wednesday, students were urged to wear red.

The Winters committee consisting of Susie Johnson, Rhea Parramore, Bill Cathey and Mary Lynn Presley planned several special events for the week.

Highlighting the week will be Fun in the Park beginning at 6 p.m. Sunday, October 28 and led by Travis Franklin, minister of First Methodist Church in Winters. There will be singing, games, fellowship and snacks. Special speakers from RAFT (Reaching Adolescents for the Future) organization and the Care Unit at Hendrick Hospital will be present.

The Red Ribbon Campaign originated when Federal Agent Enrique Camarena was murdered by drug traffickers in 1985. The red ribbon campaign became the symbol behind the nation's war against drugs, just as the yellow ribbon symbolized the hostages in Iran and the POWs in North Vietnam.

Texans' War on Drugs (TWOD) is sponsoring the 1990 Red Ribbon Campaign in the state of Texas and the national campaign is sponsored by the National Federation of Parents.

Kindergarten students are working on individual journals. A time is set aside each day to work in their journal. When school began, students were encouraged to show, by drawing pictures, how they were feeling each day. Some students are beginning to incorporate a few words into their journal pages now. These will be something the parents will be very proud of at the end of the year.

Fourth through sixth grades will be participating in a poster and essay contest sponsored by the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District. They will be studying a unit on the use and misuse of the land through the centuries. This will give the students some knowledge of conservation practices used in the past, now, and how it will help our future.

Methodist's to host Lord's Acre

Dinner will be barbecue brisket and all the trimmings at the Community Center on November 11. The meal will be served from 11:30 to 1:30, with the auction beginning at 1:30. Tickets are on sale now. Adults are $4.50 and children under 12 are $3.50.

Worship will begin at 9:30 with a Bluegrass gospel music group as the featured entertainment.

Anson defeats Winters J. V.

The Anson Tigers defeated the Winters J. V. last week 32-0.

The Tigers scored once in the first quarter to make it 8-0 at the end of the first quarter. The Tigers scored two more times in the first half to make the score 24-0 at the end of the first half.

The Blizzards played much better the second half and held Anson to one touchdown, making the final score 32-0.

"It was probably our worst game of the year," stated Winters Coach Chuck Cathey. "The first half was horrible, but the second half was much better. We have to learn to get mentally prepared before the first half is over. I feel confident that the kids will bounce back and play well this week."

The J. V.'s next action will take place this Thursday at home against Hamlin.

Eighth Grade Breezes win 14-0

The Winters 8th Grade Breezes, using a balanced attack, 160 yards rushing and 66 yards passing, defeated the Anson Cubs 14-0.

After playing to a scoreless tie in the first half, the Breezes were set up by an interception to Anthony Earl Thomas at the Cubs' 30 yard line. The Breezes drove to the Cubs' one yard line where Nathan Collins ran a quarterback sneak for the touchdown. Robert Silva ran the two point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

The Breezes had another scoring opportunity set up by an interception, this time by Archie Lancaster. The Breezes then drove to the Anson four yard line as the third quarter ended.

On the first play from scrimmage in the fourth quarter, Nathan Collins hit Anthony Earl Thomas in the end zone for a touchdown. The try for two was stopped leaving the score 14-0.

The deepest Anson penetration was then stopped when Lance Donica recovered an Anson fumble. Others contributing to the Breezes third shut out were linemen Chane Reagan, Cody Whittenberg, Nathan Collins; cornerback, Kelly Thompson; linebackers, Zane Gray and Lupe Roman; and safety Jason Garcia.

Playing for the Breezes offensively were Lupe Roman who had 72 yards on 13 carries, Jason Garcia, 2 receptions for 35 yards, Anthony Earl Thomas, 1 touchdown reception, and Nathan Collins 1 yard touchdown run.

This all could not have been accomplished without the blocking of linemen, Jason Mitchell, Perry Blackshear, Zane Gray, Lance Donica, Cody Whittenberg, and back Robert Silva.

"This was our best overall game this year," stated Coach Henley.

The Breezes play Hamlin next, October 25, here.

Seventh Grade Breezes defeat Anson 14-0

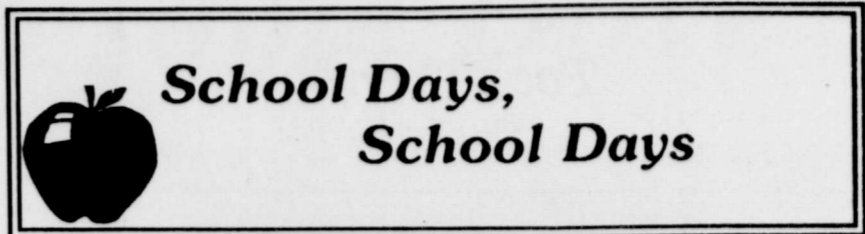

The 7th grade Breezes played their toughest game of the season Thursday against Anson. The kids responded well and won after two second half touchdowns, defeating the Anson Tigers 14-0.

The first score came when Jason Carrillo and Mark Deike hit the Anson running back and the ball shot straight up. Jerry Esquivel caught the ball and went 50 yards for the touchdown. The two point conversion failed.

The second score came on a pass from John Paul Belew to Joe Reyna which was good for 20 yards. Esquivel got the two point conversion.

Coach Lipsey said, "It's hard to mention every player, but everyone on the team is contributing to the victories."

The seventh grade, now 5-0, will face Hamlin here Thursday at 4:45 PM.

National Coca Cola Scholarship application deadline draws near Abilene, TX--The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation, Inc. is now accepting applications for its third annual scholarship competition, the largest business-supported college scholarship program in the country.

Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company, the sponsoring local Coca-Cola bottler, encourages graduating seniors to apply and compete for the 150 four-year scholarships to be awarded in the spring. Fifty National scholarships worth $5,000 annually and 100 Regional scholarships worth $1,000 annually are awarded and are renewable for up to four years of undergraduate study at any accredited U.S. college or university.

The Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation rewards individuals on the basis of personal as well as scholastic merit. Consideration is given to a student's leadership potential, character, and intellectual ability in addition to their academic record. "This is an excellent program that provides education opportunities to outstanding students. We support the efforts of the Foundation to recognize deserving, future leaders," said Charles F. Stephenson, Executive Vice President and General Manager of Southwest Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Inc.

Jim and Bonnie Walker of Wingate stop to enjoy the scenery during their vacation.

Vacation on a Honda

Although Bonnie and Jim Walker of Wingate have been taking their vacations riding double on a Honda for ten years, she says their trip this year has been the most enjoyable.

One thing that made this trip different was the distance traveled. "In ten days we rode over 4,500 miles from Wingate to Waterton Lake, Alberta," said Bonnie.

For the first time they had camping equipment! A three-man tent, light-weight down sleeping bags, and a therm-a-rest mattress for their comfort. They also took rain gear and down jackets for any kind of weather that might be encountered.

Another plus was a new 1500 Goldwing Honda. Bonnie's brother and his wife, Bud and Betty Ross of Winters, rode with them on a 1300 Yamaha. Both have intercom systems and can talk to each other while traveling.

Because of the length of the tour, it was decided to drive hard the first two days. After getting off work the first day, they rode to Dalhart. The second day 900 miles were covered to reach Billings, Montana. The third day, they headed for Glacier National Park, this was new country and really enjoyable. The wind from Shelby, Indiana to Cut Bank, Montana blew 60 miles an hour. "It was terrible, but the local people said it was normal," said Bonnie.

The night was spent at W. Glacier KOA (campground), and it was a treat for the travelers. They were shown a wild life film and a church group provided music. The next morning breakfast was served outdoors.

Comfortable buses were provided for people afraid to travel over Sun Highway up to Logan Pass. Of course, the Walkers wanted to drive but they were advised not to carry food nor leave any in the tent because of the Grizzly bears in the area. Numbers of people ride bicycles in this region. The Walkers drove as far as they could into Glacier then headed for Canada to see the Prince at Waterton, British Columbia.

Tips for Halloween safety

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission offers these safety tips for parents and guardians of children who plan to go trick-or-treating this Halloween:

* Look for costumes, masks, beards, and wigs labeled "Flame Resistant." Although this does not mean these items won't catch fire, such labeling indicates that they will resist burning and should extinguish quickly once removed from the ignition source. Flimsy material and outfits with big, baggy sleeves or billowing skirts should be avoided to minimize the contact with candles or other sources of ignition.

* Make or buy costumes light and bright enough to be clearly visible to motorists. For greater visibility in dusk or darkness, costumes can be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape which will glow in the beam of a car's headlights. Bags or sacks also should be light colored or decorated with reflective tape. Reflective tape is usually available in hardware, bicycle, and sporting goods stores. Children also should carry flashlights to see and be seen more easily.

* Costumes should be short enough to prevent children from tripping and falling. Children should wear well-fitting, sturdy shoes; mother's high heels are not a good idea for safe walking.

* Hats and scarves should be tied securely to prevent them from slipping over children's eyes.

* Apply a natural mask of cosmetics rather than have a child wear a mask which might restrict breathing or obscure vision. If a mask is used, make sure it fits securely and has eye holes large enough to allow full vision.

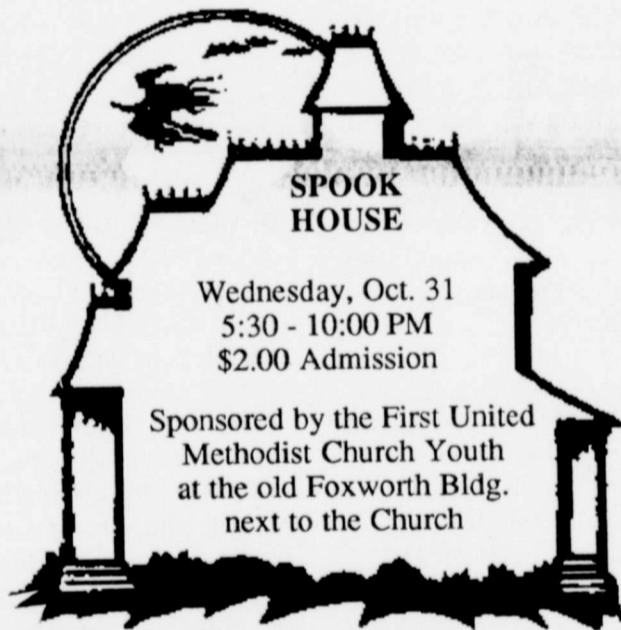

* Swords, knives, and similar costume accessories should be of soft or flexible material.

* Warn children not to eat any of their treats before they get home. Examine all treats carefully for evidence of tampering before allowing children to eat them.

* Smaller children should always be accompanied by an older, responsible child or an adult. All children should use the sidewalk rather than walk in the street, and they should walk, not run from house to house. Children should be cautioned against running out from between parked cars, or across lawns and yards where ornaments, furniture, or clotheslines present danger.

* Children should go only to homes where residents have outside lights on as sign of welcome. Children should not enter homes or apartments unless accompanied by an adult.

* Those receiving trick-or-treaters should remove anything that could be an obstacle from steps, lawns, and porches. Candlelit jack-o'-lanterns should be kept away from landings and doorsteps where costumes could brush against the flame. Indoor jack-o'-lanterns should be kept away from curtains, decorations, or other furnishings that could be ignited.

Twain Talk

by Tayla Twain

Halloween Etiquette?

Are you ready for Halloween? No matter what the age, I think everybody has a fun time getting all dressed up in something kooky and acting a little crazy and silly for a few hours. (Of course, we all know some individuals who seem to be celebrating Halloween all year long by the way they dress and act).

As a kid, I remember being a bit worried whenever my friends would talk about walking from house to house, going door to door, to trick-or-treat. I had a really hard time trying to figure out how that would be fun. Probably because I lived on a farm and the houses were at least three miles apart.

I had figured that even if I ran at break-neck speed, I'd only cover two houses all evening - and one of them would be my own.

So I was greatly relieved when we got to go into town for our booty. And I can still remember the excitement of running from house to house, trying to look through the funny mask that never had the eye holes in the right place. I had to look through either the right or the left, but never both at the same time.

Of course the openings for the nose of the mask fell somewhere between my top lip and the bottom of my nose so I endured a continual sauna under the mask. I usually sweated like a racehorse.

I never knew that people actually bought entire costumes from a store to wear for Halloween. I just assumed everybody had a granny who never threw anything away and was capable of outfitting nine kids in a flash.

Now some of granny's costumes were more elaborate than others, depending on where you fell in the lineup. If you were lucky enough to get grandpa's robe, then you got to be the king. If you were last in line, you got grandpa's rolled up old newspaper, stuck it under your arm and went as a newsboy.

The year that I dressed as a princess was quite special except that I was forever stepping on the front hem of my dress. But granny came through for me. The next year my shredded dress worked great as a gypsy outfit.

I loved knocking on doors and ringing doorbells (I probably should be selling encyclopedias today). We'd all do our little speech, tell our names and who our mothers and daddies were, receive our treats, mumble a quick "thank you" from behind the sweaty masks, and run like crazy to the next house.

There were special places we just had to visit - back to Granny's for popcorn balls (when did she find the time?); Uncle Ned's for a bright red apple that was as big as a grapefruit and always broke the suckers whenever he dropped it in my sack; the nursing home because it was fun for everybody; and Aunt Tilly's cause she was "sensible" and gave us a nickel and a new pencil (which worked out o.k. cause the pencil usually stuck to the caramel apple and then I'd have a snack during school).

Yes, we had a great time. We'd get back home with tired little legs and the need for a nutritious meal. But for that one evening, we'd skip all the rules.

We'd dump out our sacks on top of the bed to take inventory of all our goodies. Over and over we'd count, making mental notes of every single piece. I had it all figured that if I played my cards right, my candy would last just long enough until Santa came.

My plan would have worked but I forgot about my creepy brother who, like a thief in the night, pillaged through our sacks, taking all the best stuff. He even left empty wrappers.

Guess that was the "trick" part after the "treat" part.

Happy Halloween!

Pharmacy & Your Health

Main Drug Co.

Ask These Questions About Your Medicines

According to the National Council on Patient Information and Education, there were only 656 prescription medicines on the market in 1961. Today we have four times as many medicines. And in the course of a year, the average American will take six or seven prescription medicines.

Surveys have shown that many Americans are not knowledgeable about the medicines they are taking. In one recent consumer survey, over half of the individuals were uninformed about medicine side effects and drug-food interactions. Thirty-eight percent did not know when to take their medicines. Surprisingly, many persons do not ask their physician or their pharmacist about the medicines they are taking. Some of the questions everyone should ask include:

- What is this medicine for? How long will I need to take this medicine?
- What times of the day are best to take this medicine?
- What are side effects that I should be concerned about?
- Should I be taking this medicine if I drink (or, should I not drink)?
- If I am pregnant, can I safely take this medicine?

Pharmacists can help consumers understand more about the medicines they take and the conditions for which the medicines are used. Ask your pharmacist.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Band Notes

by Stephen Henry, Director

As we stand in the wake of Saturday's contest, it is time to reflect on the over-all progress the band has made. There is no question in any one person's mind that the performance on Saturday was excellent. All of the parents think so, all of the other fans think so, all of the kids think so, the director thinks so, the School Administration thinks so, and the JUDGES thought so too.

You see, according to the U.I.L. rule book, a rating of II literally means "excellent." Look it up for yourself. There is no question in anyone's mind about whether or not the band did an excellent job... they did.

Now we look toward upcoming events. These include the remaining football games, the Veteran's Day Parade in Abilene, and the Christmas Parade and concert. Also, there is U.I.L. Concert and Sightreading competition in the Spring.

The band held their heads high and came through with an excellent rating and did it with Blizzard Pride. In the Spring, we will come out with a Superior rating.

The spirit sticks were given to the whole band. They all showed SUPERIOR spirit. They are the best.

Runnels Soil Conservation News and Notes

The BRUSH ROBOT, like the one above manufactured by Continental-Belton of Belton, Texas, demonstrated its effectiveness on brush control to approximately 40 landowners, producers, and interested persons at the Directors Election and Brush Management Field Day sponsored by the Runnels SWCD.

Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District has directors election and field day

If you did not make it out to the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District (RSWCD) Directors Election on Monday morning, October 15, you missed an invigorating sunrise breakfast, the election of District Directors from RSWCD Zones 1 and 2, and a really good brush management field day. To get things started, a cowboy breakfast of bacon, scrambled eggs, and mule-kick coffee was whipped up by Byron Bauerlein and Troy, Wilburn, and Glen Pullin at the roadside rest area just north of Ballinger on Highway 83.

With the orange and pink of the coming sunrise as a backdrop, RSWCD Chairman David Ocker called the meeting to order by welcoming the approximately 40 landowners, producers, and other interested parties in attendance. Mike Mauldin, County Extension Agent, was nominated to be Chairman of the Directors Election. Following a statement of qualifications for voters and candidates, nominations were taken for District Directors for Zones 1 and 2 respectively.

Following distribution and receiving of ballots by the Election Chairman, it was announced that incumbent Director Otto Gottschalk of Ballinger was chosen to represent Zone 1 of the RSWCD. Zone 1 includes the area south and east of the junction of Highway 67 and Highway 83 to the Coleman County line.

Selected to represent Zone 2 was incumbent David Ocker of Rowena. Zone 2 of the RSWCD includes the area south and west of the Colorado River and Highway 83 at Ballinger to the Coke, Tom Green, and Concho County lines. Ocker will again serve the District as RSWCD Chairman. Soil and Water Conservation District Directors serve a four-year term of office.

Following the election, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company representative Stan Bickel of Ballinger presented the Goodyear Award to Dennis Minzenmayer of Rowena in recognition of Minzenmayer's contributions to soil and water stewardship and resource conservation. Minzenmayer was the RSWCD's Outstanding Conservation Farmer for 1989.

The meeting then shifted a few hundred yards south to the Routh Pasture of the Otto Gottschalk Ranch for a Brush Management Field Day sponsored by the RSWCD. Dr. Mike Landers, representing the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in San Angelo, demonstrated thin-line and streamline backpack herbicide application. Dr. Landers discussed the costs, benefits, and recent research of several different herbicide mixtures that can be used to control mesquite and other undesirable species of brush.

Stan Teinke, Area Range Conservationist from San Angelo, spoke on the effectiveness of a carpeted roller in brush control. Reinke explained how a carpeted roller works, presented a cost benefit analysis on herbicide and roller costs, and presented detailed blueprints to those interested in building a carpeted roller. Otto Gottschalk demonstrated the carpeted rollers effectiveness for brush control on mesquite and other brush up to six feet in height. The carpeted roller was provided by Johnny Osborn of Eden.

Other features of interest at the field day was the BRUSH ROBOT by Continental-Belton and demonstrated by Dick Aaroi, which featured a rear-mounted boom with spray nozzles for spraying of undesirable brush. A brush pulling demonstration was put on by Ashley Rugh of LANDAIR, INC., manufacturers of THE SHARK. This interesting device, rear-mounted on a tractor, clamped and extracted mesquite up to ten feet in height by fulcrum action.

The RSWCD would like to thank all those individuals and groups for their efforts in making the 1990 Directors Election and Brush Management Field Day a success. In addition to those parties mentioned above, the RSWCD would like to express its thanks to the Texas Highway Department and Emil Gonzales for providing reflective roadway cones, to Lone Star Gas and Bob Wheeler for their efforts in providing a crossover fence ladder, to the Texas A & M Extension Service, Conservation Service, and their personnel for their efforts in making the Directors Election and Field Day enjoyable and beneficial to all who took part.

VETERINARY UPDATE

by Jimmy Smith, DVM

Lush small grain grazing creates ideal situation for grass tetany

Fall rains in our area have been ideal for early small grain growth. Many producers rely on these wheat and oat patches for livestock grazing throughout the winter. It's nice to have this grazing, as the sheep and cattle thrive on it, but seems like there is always a catch to every good situation.

A condition known as grass tetany always seems to rear its ugly head when we are fortunate enough to have lush wheat and oat grazing. It is caused by an inadequate level of magnesium in the body. Magnesium plays several roles in metabolism. It functions in bone structure, in enzyme systems, and most importantly in the neuromuscular system. It helps control the release of a compound called acetylcholine at the site where the nerve actually "hooks up" to the muscle. When there is a shortage of magnesium, the nerve is continually sending impulses to muscle. A shortage of magnesium in the cerebrospinal fluid also leads to hyperexcitability. What we see then, clinically, is usually an animal that is recumbent (down), hyperexcitable or extremely alert, along with muscular tremors or twitches. More often than not there is an elevated temperature. There may be bellowing and aggressiveness. Some cattle may have diarrhea. Advanced cases may be flat out on their side. Let me add this at this point. If you find a recumbent cow lying flat out on its side, it is very important that you reposition the cow into what we call sternal recumbency (up on its chest). A cow lying flat out will bloat rapidly because it is unable to eructate the gas being formed in paunch. This will lead to death in a hurry if the condition is not rectified. Now, back to the subject. All classes of cattle are affected, but it seems to manifest itself mostly on beef cows nursing calves and in light-weight stocker calves.

To my knowledge, no one knows exactly what causes the condition. There are several theories. It has been thought that an amino acid in lush green, rapidly growing grasses and small grains called L-tryptophan ties up the available magnesium. Whatever the cause, we know that we see its effects on fresh, lush grass in the springtime and fertilized wheat and oats.

Treatment for the condition consists of the administration of a magnesium containing solution intravenously or subcutaneously. The affected animal will not respond as rapidly as does a milk fever simply because the magnesium must not only get into the blood, but from there it must be moved into cerebrospinal fluid, which is a slower process.

Prevention of the condition sounds simple but it's easier to say than it is to do. Supplemental feeding of magnesium is the answer, but magnesium is not a palatable mineral. There are however, some commercial magnesium supplements available in the form of molasses block and liquid which could possibly be used. A mixture of magnesium oxide, dry molasses, salt, and cottonseed meal mixed at the ratio of 1:1:1:4 may be fed free choice and has been used effectively. Also, when fertilizing your grain fields, additional magnesium mixed with the fertilizer may help.

That's about all I have for this week. I just wanted you to be prepared as conditions will be right and hopefully you'll be prepared and be on the lookout for this seasonal problem. If you have any questions concerning this or any other problem, feel free to contact me or The Winters Enterprise and I'll be happy to consult with you or print a reply in this column.
