Hospice day a big success

Two representatives from Hospice of Abilene, Inc. met in Winters on June 16. Scheduled meetings filled the day as Sandi Saringer, social worker and executive director of Hospice of Abilene, Inc., and Lana Cunningham, director of patient care, met with city officials, news media including KRBC-TV of Abilene, directors of the Chamber of Commerce, physicians, staff members of North Runnels Hospital, Lions Club, members of the clergy and volunteers.

The purpose of hospice is to enhance the quality of human life by providing care for the terminally ill. Personalized services and a caring community allow patients to remain at home with loved ones. Hospice is a coordinated program of care consisting of physicians, nurses, social workers, members of the clergy, counselors and volunteers.

Local interest in hospice began early last fall when Genevieve Spill; Elaine Miller, L.V.N.; Brenda Watkins, R.N.; and Jeanine Laird, R.N., attended a workshop in San Angelo to learn volunteer services. In late November Ms. Laird called a meeting for interested persons to attend a program sponsored by Hospice of San Angelo. At that time, members of the Winters Ministerial Alliance met with Spill, Miller, Watkins and Laird, along with Joyce Bahlman, Ramona Hanson, and Kathi Edwards. This group contacted Hospice of Abilene, Inc., and coordinated the meeting day of June 16.

The Hospice Day in Winters was quite successful. Ms. Saringer and Ms. Cunningham were very impressed with the response shown and look forward to working with local individuals.

"Winters has an abundance of human resources. Wherever we go, we find people ready, willing and able to help," said Saringer.

Twenty-two have signed up for volunteer training which will take place August 22, 23 and 29, 30. The Saturday sessions will be from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. with lunch served. The Sunday sessions will be from 1-6 p.m.

Anyone interested in learning more about the hospice program or becoming a volunteer may contact any of the individuals mentioned in this article. Members of the Ministerial Alliance include Father John Hoorman of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church; Glenn Shoemaker, pastor of First Baptist Church; Mike Madden, pastor of First United Methodist Church; Jim Hanson, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, and Doug Peters, pastor of Main Street Church of Christ.

IN THE POCKET—Matthew Angel, age 10, maintains his concentration as he catches the third strike for the Cardinals. Regular season play is coming to an end as All-Star action begins.

HOSPICE SPEAKER—Sandi Saringer, social worker and executive director of Hospice of Abilene, Inc., spoke to several groups during Hospice Day in Winters on June 16. Twenty-two volunteers will participate in a four-day training workshop in August.

Winters Girl Scouts give annual awards

The Winters Girl Scout Service Unit held its annual Awards and Bridging Ceremony on Monday, May 11, at 7 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. Jr. Girl Scout Troop 180 led the opening flag ceremony.

The program was then turned over to Jan Cate, Heart of Texas Girl Scout Council Field Representative, who spoke briefly. She made a presentation to the Service Unit for its work with the girls on a "Care For the Earth" project, and for organizing and holding an ecology event.

Numerous awards and certificates were presented as each scout was recognized and a summary given of the troops activities.

The final portion of the ceremony included the Bridging segment.

The Daisy Troop sang a song and then each member was presented with a daisy before she walked across the bridge to join the Brownies who came to greet them.

Brownie Troop 179 was next to bridge and they too sang a song. Each member was given her Brownie Fly-Up Wings and she then walked across the bridge to join the Jr. Girl Scouts waiting to meet them.

Jr. Girl Scouts Troop 161 next sang a song, each girl was presented a blue carnation and she crossed the bridge to be welcomed into the world of Cadettes by Mrs. Cate.

All troops then sang "Make New Friends" and Jr. Troop 180 retired the colors.

Council lowers lake use fees, establishes lake regulations

In the regularly scheduled meeting of the city council on Monday, June 22, lake use fees were decreased.

Fees for non-residents of Winters were changed from $3.00 to $2.00. This change was made to align the fees with other area lakes.

"Out-of-town fishermen are welcome to our lake and this fee change shows our appreciation for them coming to Winters," says Mayor Sandy Griffin.

Rules for operation of the W. Lee Colburn Park and lake area were also adopted. Gates to the park will be locked at 10:00 p.m. each night. Campsites will be provided on a first-come, first-serve basis and reservations for the council also agreed to install a water meter and three spickets for recreational vehicle hookups in an area east of the West-T-Go on Highway 153. This action is in response to a request by the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to attract visitors to the Winters community. West Texas Utilities has agreed to supply electricity and this area can be used free of charge by travelers passing through Winters.

Class of '42 celebrates 50 year reunion

The Wingate graduating class of 1942 held its 50 year reunion on Saturday, June 6, 1992. A.J. and Ludie Dean hosted the reunion at their cabin on Oak Creek Lake.

The graduating class of 1942 had 18 students, the most to graduate from Wingate High School. Twelve of the 18 class members returned for the special 50 year reunion.

Every class member reminisced about their high school days and almost everyone had a "You remember when..." story to tell. The class also shared stories about events in their lives that have occurred in the past 50 years.

Dorothy West and Bobby Bishop, the two ex-cheerleaders, led the group in old football cheers and the Wingate School Song.

At the reunion, a mistake was discovered concerning the honor graduates of the Class of '42. Jean Polk graduated as the salutatorian and Eudean Foster had the highest average of the boys in the class.

The members of the class of 1942 enjoyed the time spent visiting with one another and with the guests who also attended the reunion.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1992

For our Oil Patch Basics feature this month, we are going to discuss a procedure that is not as commonly recognized as our previous topics this year.

This month's topic is the "Step-Rate Test".

Unlike fracture treatments, casing repair, etc., it is a procedure that might be considered more obscure to the average person, and it may even be new to several oil patch folk, as well.

A step-rate test is a test (what else) that is used to determine the fracture pressure for a water (or other fluid) injection well.

Some definitions to keep you on track:

—fracture pressure: the pressure at which the rock in an injection well will start to crack, thus opening up a fracture;

—injection well: specifically, a well used to waterflood or dispose of water where control of the waterflood 'front' may be critical.

I define an injection well here because it is important to note that the well being tested has a reason for being tested. If it is not important to control the water 'front' created by injecting water underground, then a step-rate test is probably not necessary.

How does a step-rate test help one control the front?

If a well injects above its fracture pressure, it could cause the injected fluid to go where it shouldn't be. This hurts sweep efficiency, and it lets injected fluid get out of control. Both of these things are bad. A step-rate test calculates a fracture pressure that can be avoided in daily injection patterns.

Why would it be important to control (or try to control) the front in some places but not others?

In a waterflood, controlling the front helps maximize the sweep of the oil by the water. In a sensitive area, knowing when a water front has reached a certain outer limit (in a disposal situation) may be very important.

So, a step-rate test may be performed in such situations in an effort to prevent fracturing a well and losing control of the flood front.

A step-rate test is accomplished by measuring the bottom-hole pressure (or surface pressure if BHP's are not possible) at different injection rates. As the injection rate is increased, the pressure increases, and the progression (when plotted) forms a line. That is, until the fracture point is reached, and then, the line breaks over.

In other words, for each increase in injection rate, a corresponding increasing pressure increase is measured. And; this relationship between the rate increase and pressure increase is constant until a fracture opens up. When a fracture occurs, then an increase in rate is easier (because the formation can more easily accept it) and less pressure increase is observed.

The actual procedure requires patience, a good calculator, and good pressure and rate gauges.

An initial rate, usually pretty low, is selected to start, and the well is outfitted with a pressure gauge, rate meter, and a good clock. The injection volume and pressure is usually provided by a pump truck or portable injection plant to provide control over the rate variations at the wellsite.

After a rate has had a chance to stabilize (usually 1-4 hours), a pressure notation is made based on an average pressure or otherwise representative number. The rate is then increased, and after a stabilization period, the new pressure is noted. This procedure repeats until a plot of the data (being done on site) indicates a significant change in slope to indicate the test has reached a fracture pressure (or gone beyond).

The fracture pressure is then pinpointed and, usually, the well will not be allowed to go above that injection pressure to prevent creating a fracture that would have detrimental effects on the sweep efficiency or the reach of injection fluids.

For all of you that thought a step-rate test was a rate test from another marriage, I hope you know better, now.

Yuk, Yuk.

From The Well

by
Pastor Jim Hanson
St. John's Lutheran Church

In the middle of my messed up desk, on top of a hymn book, is a coffee cup. It was given to me four years ago when I was still in Odessa. On top the cup is a symbol and a slogan. The symbol is of a man, holding high in the air, with both hands, over his head, a heart. The slogan is, "Hospice, a special kind of caring."

I first got involved with Hospice when I was serving a church in northern Minnesota. One of the first persons to be helpful was a dear friend of mine. Her name was Esther. She and her husband used to have Ramona and me over for late night snacks and good conversation. When she found out that she had incurable cancer, she said, "I don't want to die in a hospital room, surrounded by machines, and hooked into all kinds of tubes. I want to die at home, in my bed, surrounded by my things, and holding hands with my loved ones." Well, she got her wish because of Hospice. And ever since, I've been involved with Hospice.

Hospice is special. It cares rather than cures. It does the loving thing. It gives dignity to the person dying. At home. Physical, emotional, and spiritual support are provided for patient and family by physicians, nurses, social workers, clergy, counselors, and volunteers. It is a great program.

This past Tuesday, June 16, Sandi Saringer and Lana Cunningham of Hospice of Abilene spent the day in our city, meeting with doctors, nurses, health care people, city officials, chamber of commerce, Lions, church people, volunteers, and whoever was interested. They never stopped sharing, making connections, bringing the "good news" of Hospice. Everytime we finished a meeting or a conversation, one or the other would say, "Jim, Winters is just full of wonderful people. You have so many human resources here, people who care." Of course I replied, "Yes, yes, it is true."

It was a high day in my life. And in the life of our community. We had the opportunity to hold high, over our heads, a heart. We had the chance to respond to the challenge to a special kind of caring. It was so energizing, so full of the Spirit of God. Over twenty people have signed up for training as volunteers. Many others want to help. Why not? A caring community should have little difficulty in a special kind of caring.

Weight Watchers began new session June 17th

Winters Weight Watchers Community Group currently started the sixth rollover session on June 17th. The meetings are for eight weeks and are held on each Wednesday starting at 5 p.m. at the Winters Housing Authority at 300 N. Grant. Anyone interested may still join.

For more information, call Brenda Jackson at 949-7680.

Night performances will include bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, girl's barrel race, bull riding, and single steer roping. The kid's goat scramble will be held each night also.

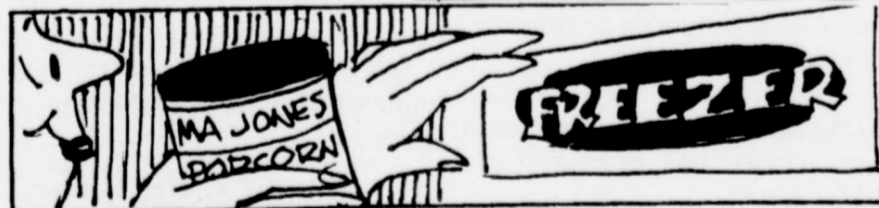

Thursday night, July 2, will be Family Night. Ticket prices will be $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children.

Slack will be Friday, July 3, at 8:00 a.m.

On the final day of the rodeo, a parade at 5:00 p.m. will kick off the rodeo activities, and a barbecue supper sponsored by the Coleman High Cheerleaders from 6:00-8:00 p.m. in the Breeder-Feeder Barn will precede the night performance.

Thursday through Saturday night beginning at 9:00, a Rodeo Dance will be held in the Rodeo Dance Pavilion. Music will be provided by Ty Herndon and Ride the West.

Spirit Filled Happenings

By Jan Thompson
Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church

Here is something that Paul had to learn, and if you and I are going to be victorious, we must learn it also. Now, when did Paul learn this? Paul said in II Cor. 12:2, "I knew a man in Christ about fourteen years ago, (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body I cannot tell: God knoweth;) such as one caught up to the third heaven." Paul wrote this epistle about A.D. 54. Take fourteen years from that and you will have A.D. 40. Paul was saved in A.D. 37. After he was saved, he did not go to Jerusalem, but to Arabia. There in the wilderness, for three and a half years, was where he received his revelations, and he was having such a time and was so carried away and so lifted up that he did not know whether he was in the body or out of the body. God cannot use a man who does not know if he is in the body or out of the body, in heaven or on earth, so God sent the thorn in the flesh to let the air out, and Paul learned that he was still on the earth; now God can use him.

Paul learned something that every born-again believer (true Christian) needs to learn; because not knowing it, is the reason people are up and down, in and out, and do not have any power.

God sent the thorn in the flesh for one reason, and he wrote about it twice in the context. He wrote in verse seven, "...lest I should be exalted above measure...." Paul was having trouble with pride, and anybody else who lives (whether a person is a singer, a teacher, or whatever) will have trouble with pride. When God uses us, there is something about the way we are made that the human fellow wants to take some of the glory. While God is being exalted, the flesh wants some exaltation. In so many words, God said, "Paul, it is going to ruin you. So lest you become exalted above measure, I will give you a thorn in the flesh."

When Paul received the thorn in the flesh, he reacted just as many Christians do today. He knew God was Master of all, so he went into prayer for release not once but three times. Is this not just like us so many times? But we see that the answer came was a bit different than Paul expected. God

Help Wanted!!! Needed: Overdue Library books

The volunteers of the Winters Public Library are in search of all overdue books from the shelves. In an effort to track down these varmints, all patrons of the library are being asked to search all hiding places of these renegade books, lasso them, and corral them in the book drop at the north door of the library.

No arrests will be made or fines paid the next six weeks. Amnesty will remain in effect as long as results are being seen.

Any help you can deputize will go a long way in restoring the shelves of your reading section and insure that when a patron requests a certain book, it will be available. The only reward offered is the satisfaction of a job well done.

READY FOR READING—Jordan Sanchez, age 4, checks out another book with the help of Walter Durham, library volunteer.

The public library has undergone extensive remodeling to enlarge and improve the facilities. Summer Reading Club enrollment is now being taken.

Patches of Memory

(The story of Grace Mosley continued from last week. She was a school teacher in Oklahoma, born in 1897 and died in 1991.)

Texas didn't prove to be the land of opportunity and we made a second move in 1899. Pools of water stood on the ground after the rain and bred the amopholes mosquito; malaria prevailed.

The land was infested with the roots of hidden mesquite trees which broke plows and snapped harness. The mud was sticky and balled up on everything. Texans had an expression about it, "Texans don't make tracks in their mud, they pick them up and take them along." Momma said they were not careful where they took them either and added, "I was continually mopping and scrubbing."

Our second move was to "old Greer County" in Oklahoma. We settled down in the sandhills southeast of Altus and lived in a two room dug-out with Grandpa and Grandma and their young sons, Uncle John and Uncle Lee. Eight people under one roof to risk the future—and it turned out to be a future that held a great tragedy.

One day Grandpa, Uncle John and Uncle Lee went duck hunting. The weather suddenly turned stormy and lightning struck and killed both my uncles. We heard Grandpa calling for help, and Papa rushed to find out what happened.

Grandma and Momma soon followed Papa to learn what was wrong, and took Cassie and me with them. Grandpa and the boys were found at a pond in the pasture and when we reached the gate Papa came to meet us. Tears were running down his creeps, "The boys were both killed by lightning."

At that moment there was a flash of lightning, a clap of thunder, and a downpour of rain. Papa said to Momma, "Millie take the children and go back to the house." To Grandma he said "Ma, you come with me. Maybe you and Pa can carry John and I can carry Lee. We must get the boy's bodies out of this weather." But when they tried, emotion overcame them and they had to give up the idea.

As they stood wondering what action to take, a man came by driving a wagon down a lane adjoining the pasture. Papa hastened to overtake him and tell what had happened. The man was only too willing to lend a hand. When the bodies were returned home, they were put side by side on one of Grandma's beds. My childish curiosity led me to the door between the two rooms. I saw badly torn hats, a bloody spot on Uncle John's cheek, and shoes with the soles burned off.

The next thing I remember was at the cemetery. Two caskets stood side by side and no canopy was over them. Everyone stood in the blazing August sun. When the service was over no one left until the bodies were covered with dirt; condolences were offered to the loved ones as people departed the cemetery.

I don't remember going home, but I do remember much grieving after we arrived. I never did hear the name of God reviled.

Whatever else, my people kept their faith.

Another incident that I remember while we lived in Greer County was the visit of a most unwelcome guest. Momma watched as a long diamond back rattlesnake slithered down the dug-out steps of our home and parked itself under the table. It was too far away for her to get help. She took her two little girls, Cassie and me, and put us in the shade of a wagon. She grabbed a hoe and an axe, and battled the snake fiercely; making him look like mincemeat.

When Papa came home for dinner, Momma told Papa about the snake and what she thought of people who would live in such a "God forsaken country." She was homesick for her people and wanted to move back to Arkansas.

But Papa had no intention of returning to Arkansas. To him it would mean digging stumps, building rail fences, and picking up rocks.

Next week: An event in history caused the family to move; some unusual experiences awaited them.

From Across The Mayor's Desk

by Sandy Griffin

The Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation has contracted with Reece Albert Construction Company of San Angelo to seal coat U.S. Highway 83 (Main Street) this summer. The project will begin no later than July 20th and should take three to four weeks to complete. The cost of this project will be $263,629 and will be funded by State Highway funds.

The section of highway to be under construction will be from Gateway Street (next to K.W. Cook's property) to State Highway 153. There will be sections of loose gravel, so please exercise extreme caution in these areas. Traffic will be limited to one lane during the day with both lanes being open at night and on weekends. Access to businesses will be hampered for a short period of time, so please be patient; the inconvenience will only be temporary.

Also, to clear up a misunderstanding most people have about West Dale Street and Wood Street/Crews Road, these streets make up Loop 438 which is also maintained and governed by the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation; not the City. The City has received several complaints regarding the condition of these streets, but doesn't have any control over the maintenance of them. If you have a complaint, please contact the local office located in Ballinger.

Let me take this opportunity to thank everyone who cared enough about the appearance of Winters to participate in the annual Spring Clean-Up. BFI reported that our residents really supported this endeavor. Hats off to all of you and keep up the good work! Let's all be proud of Winters!

Mrs. Howard Parrish

The garden of the Lake Nasworthy Boat Club in San Angelo was the setting for a double ring ceremony uniting Shannon Marie Jones of San Angelo and Howard Parrish of Killeen on June 20, 1992 at 4 p.m. Dr. Eugene Robertson (uncle of the bride) officiated.

Shannon is the daughter of Dub and Linda Byler of Ballinger and Bill and Vondane Jones of Coleman. Howard is the son of Stanley and Donna Parrish of Richardson. The bride's grandmothers are Jerry Lloyd of Winters and Jimmie Jones of Ballinger. Great-grandmothers include Freida Robertson and Eura Lloyd, both of Winters. The groom's grandfather is Sidney Parrish of Port Huron, Michigan and his great-grandfather is Floyd Neering of Lake Worth, Florida.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father. She was beautifully attired in a traditional gown of white satin with an intricate design of embroidered cut-outs enhancing the portrait neckline and fitted basque bodice. The fitted sleeves were embroidered lace cut-outs and formed bridal points at the wrist. The full skirt flowed into a graceful chapel train and was caught at the bodice back by an ornate butterfly bow. A confection of embroidered lace cut-outs enhanced the train and circled the hemline. Her waist length veil of silk illusion was caught in a crown of matching embroidered cut-outs and seed pearl sprays. The bouquet was a natural clutch in European styling of bridal white roses, Gerbera daisies, gypsophelia, corn flowers, ornamental, Euphorbia, English ivy, Delphinium and Queen Anne's lace tied with satin picot and lace.

Shamone Minzenmayer (sister of the bride) of College Station was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Selina Burt and Caroline Niehues, both of San Angelo; Kelli Franke of Lubbock; and Laura Rains of Dallas. The bride's attendants wore formal print dresses of ecru polished apple, with princess necklines and bishop sleeves. The bodice tapered to a drop V-waist onto which was gathered a tea length skirt. Their bouquets were simple hand-picked clutches of many colored wildflowers featuring bright Gerbera daisies, tied with a bow of eggshell lace and french picot satin.

The groom wore a summer white tuxedo with tails, white shirt, bow tie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was comprised of white roses and gypsophelia.

Lynn Parrish (brother of the groom) of Lansing, Michigan served as best man. Groomsman were: Brian Minzenmayer of College Station, Scott Burt of San Angelo, Craig Franke of Lubbock and Charles Albright of Dallas. They wore traditional black tuxedos, white shirts, bow ties, black jeans and boots. All wore boutonniers of white roses. Ushers were Stuart Spreen of Houston and Shawn Allen of Austin.

Music for the ceremony included: Jonne Chessier (pianist) — "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Trumpets Voluntary," and "The Wedding March." Shamone Minzenmayer, Julie Rothrock of Weatherford and Jennifer Tiller of Austin (guitar trio) — "Run River Run." Jennifer Tiller (soloist) — "For You" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Members of the house party included: Reanese Turner (guest registry); Will, Karen, Lindsey, Justin and Russell Byler; Herman, Kathy, Jeff and Hank Hamilton; Emily Pendergrass; Douglas, Amanda and Andrew Williams; John, Wendy, and Blake Hurt; Sandra Machann; Charlotte Miller; Peggy Robertson; Melvin and Pat Williams; E.B. and Jared Wheelless; Bill, Susan, Travis and Blair Armstrong; Mike, Nancy, Stefanie and Rachel Davis; Ann Boyd; Linda Vancil; Kathy Hays; Monica Henderson; Bud and Jeannie Minzenmayer; John (photographer) and Carla Wooley; Hamp and Teri Byler; Mark and Diane Carter; Wagner, Vicki, Misty and Jerret Byler; Werner, Sheila and Allyson Fox; Thomas, Camille, and C.T. Lloyd; Jennifer Rodriguez; Toby Virden (D.J.).

The reception was held on the boat club's dance floor. The exterior patio was transformed into an arboretum garden by garlands of English ivy, and natural grapevine wreaths encrusted with flowers of every color. Lighted garlands formed a tent-like canopy of stars. The dining tables were adorned with hand-built birdhouses filled with fresh geraniums of red, pink and white. The entrance of the boat club was graced by lighted ficus trees and Spanish luminaries.

The bride's three-tiered cake was simple confection covered with brightly colored flowers. The groom's cake, also three-tiered, was adorned with sugar grapes, lemons and limes. A natural grapevine basket filled with fern and fresh flowers centered the cake table with bonnets belonging to Shannon's great-grandmothers tucked in to the profusion of color.

The serving tables were laid with heirloom quilts belonging to the bride's mother and grandmother. Lemonade was served from a white granite bucket and coffee poured from a blue granite pot. Fresh fruit and vegetables accompanied a barbeque dinner catered by The Shed of Wingate.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Ballinger High School and a 1992 graduate of Angelo State University with a B.S. in Biology. She is currently pursuing a Master's degree and is employed by the biology department at ASU as a graduate assistant.

The groom is a 1986 graduate of Ballinger High School. He is currently serving in the U.S. Army at Fort Hood, Texas and is a veteran of Desert Storm.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside in San Angelo.

TEXAS TRAILS
 LONE STAR STATE HISTORY by DAN BROWN

CHARMED LIFE ...
 For a man who saw a lot of action during the Texas Revolution, William Scurlock led a charmed life. He walked away unscathed in the Grass Fight in December 1835. As a member of the Matamoros Expedition, he was one of the few who escaped at the battle of Agua Dulce Creek in March 1836. He was captured with Fanning's men at Goliad, but because he was a hospital attendant, he was spared from the massacre. He escaped and rose to the rank of captain in the Texas army before the war ended in April 1836.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to a current story that has come to my attention, concerning the wreck, on North Main June the 7th.

The rumors seem to imply that I left the scene of the accident. I would like to correct that mistake.

The fact of the matter is, that I moved my car off of the street. Perhaps that was the wrong thing to do, but at the time, I felt I should get off of the street. I parked the car near the scene of the accident-sat there and waited for the police to come. I did not know that the other car had turned over until I was told by the people who came to my aid.

Evidently the person who saw me move the car off of the street, did not see me park my car, and just assumed that I was a hit and run driver.

To the people who were injured in the wreck, you have my deepest sympathy. What else can I say? To say that I am very, very sorry does not right the wrong.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the minister and people of the First Baptist Church for their concern and prayers. Also to my Pastor, Mike Madden, family, friends and all others who gave me their support. May God bless you in my prayer.

Respectfully,
Ruth Wood

To the Editor:

I am interested in locating descendants of Deslie Roper who was the daughter of Rose Champion and Lobe St Clair. Rose Champion was the eighth daughter of a family of 9 daughters born in the Big Hill area of Limestone County in Central Texas. Mrs. Roper was a first cousin to my father. Any replies will be appreciated.

Norton Notes

by Janice Lange

"Keep trying—it is usually the last key on the ring that opens the lock."

The Norton 4-H participated in the Sonora Wool and Mohair judging contest on Wednesday, June 17th. The senior, junior and novice team members took part in the contests.

On Saturday, June 20, volunteers of the Norton 4-H took part in some of the Fiesta Del Concho activities. The 4-Hers helped with the booth "Made with Cotton." As promotional support of this worthwhile project, they made cookies that had cottonseed oil as an ingredient.

Norton had a good rain shower Monday, June 22. The tractors were still only a moment, then returned to the fields to continue catching up with the farm work.

District 4-H horse show

The District 7-4-H Horse Show was held June 15 at the Expo Center in Abilene. Five Runnels County 4-Hers participated in the show with 88 other 4-Hers from around the District. Participants from Runnels County were Sara Jackson, Jane Jackson and Michael Lewallen, all of Winters; Bridget Mansell and Todd Virden, both of Ballinger. Sara Jackson, Todd Virden and Bridget Mansell qualified for the State 4-H Horse Show which will be held in Abilene July 20-25.

Gates opened at Ivie Lake, lake still remains brim full

All six flood gates in Freese Dam on Lake O.H. Ivie were open last week for the first time.

Earlier the Colorado River Municipal Water District, owner of the reservoir, opened four gates about one foot for one hour, allowing water from heavy spring rains to escape.

All six gates were opened for 18 hours when recent heavy rains along the Concho River flowed in the lake. The dam gates were opened one foot, allowing the release of 25,000 acre-feet of water from the new lake.

The lake, which holds 554,335 acre-feet at maximum conservation level, was standing at 550,507 acre-feet on Tuesday morning.

Joe Pickle, CRMWD spokesman, said the flow into the lake had pretty well leveled out as of Tuesday, and the only water being released then was through the base gate.

The lake has been to the 554,335 acre-feet mark several times in the last few weeks due to heavy rains in the area. The last rise was caused by flooding in San Angelo and almost five inches of rainfall in the Paint Rock area.

CRMWD has been careful with their water releases, which are coordinated with the Lower Colorado River Authority. All lakes immediately south of Lake Ivie are full, making it difficult to release additional water from Ivie without causing flooding problems downstream.

Should another big rise come down the Concho or the section of the Colorado between Lakes Spence and Ivie, and the LCRA be unable to accept more water, Ivie can still hold up to another three vertical feet above conservation capacity, according to Pickle.

However, extra water is only held in an emergency situation, Pickle said.

If the Ivie Lake level rise above three vertical feet over capacity level, water will begin flowing over an emergency spillway at the south end of Freese Dam.

Although far from full, Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence are at their highest levels in five years.

Together, they have increased their volume by 89,100 acre-feet as of Thursday, and this is having a considerable effect on water quality for customers of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Within the past few days, reported CRMWD general manager O.H. Ivie, the rate of pumping from Lake Thomas, which is the highest quality source of supply, has been doubled to around 14,000,000 gallons per day. In addition, Lake Spence pumpage has been reduced from around 27,000,000 gallons a day to about 20,000,000. This has resulted in a mix of about four parts of Thomas water to six parts Spence water. During the past week, this has meant that quality of district deliveries has increased by 35 percent.

The level at Lake J.B. Thomas Thursday was El. 22.36.31, the highest since July 25, 1988. Content was 77,100 acre feet, or nearly 38 percent of capacity and an increase of 41,500 acre feet within the past fortnight. Vertical rise is 12.6 feet.

Lake Spence was at El. 1873.65, highest since August 15, 1988, a vertical rise of six feet. Its content is 225,100 acre feet or 46 percent of capacity.

Lake O.H. Ivie, which filled two months ago, has been releasing water to hold at maximum storage of 554,340 acre feet. Approximately 40,000 acre feet have been released in all, and still, the lake is brimming full.

Locals grandson honored

Joshua Kidd

Joshua Kidd was notified by the Texas Music Teachers' Association that his original music composition, "Comanche Cavems," has been awarded second place at the State level in the 1991-1992 composition contest. He had received an honorable mention in composition at the State level last year. Over 1300 musicians competed at his level.

As a result of placing in State competition, he has been invited to perform his composition at the Texas Music Teachers' Convention in Dallas in June. He will also receive a trophy and a financial award for his effort.

Judging was based upon accomplishment of five categories: basic manuscript writing; organization; use of rhythmic, harmonic, and melodic ideas; creativity and originality; and idiomatic writing for media performance.

Joshua completed the fifth grade in the Abilene Independent School District this year and was the recipient of the Presidential Academic Fitness Award, the Scholarship Award, and the Outstanding Musician Award. He was also selected as a participant in the AISD's Galileo Program, which emphasizes science, mathematics, and leadership skills using a simulated space shuttle with advanced technological equipment.

He is the son of Mitchell and Karen (Eubanks) Kidd of Abilene, the grandson of Dale and Doris Eubanks, and the great-grandson of Etta Pruser and Lillian Eubanks all of Winters.

A special thanks for Project Graduation

I would like to take this opportunity to thank several people who were involved with Project Graduation '92. As all of you know, without your help this important night for the senior Class would not have been possible. First of all I would like to thank Glenda Matthews and Penni Smith and the Class of '91 for the equipment you gave us to use and all of the advice you so willingly gave everytime I called one of you wanting to know what else needed to be done.

I would like to thank Charles Kidwell for always taking time from his busy schedule to help in any way possible to get ready for the Project Graduation celebration. Charles and Fran, thanks for your visit the night of the party. Also, I want to thank Jimmy Butler for helping get all the equipment we needed for our special occasion. Thanks to Cecil Sudduth, Mark Briley and the school personnel who helped get everything to the Activity Center for us.

I would like to say a big "THANK YOU" to Mary Jane Blackshear and Ann Wheeler for the countless hours you both gave to Project Graduation. Thanks for all the running, asking for donations, and for making the special video for the Senior Class. I know it provided a special entertainment to all of them trying to decide who each picture was of. I really appreciate both of you for making this easier for me and for giving so much of yourselves.

Thanks also goes to Erlene Springer and Sharon Rice for a great job on the food. We all enjoyed the great barbeque from The Shed, the burritos from Casa Cabana, and the homemade rolls, brownies, and cookies from all the parents.

All of you helped decorate and get everything ready the week of graduation, between working and planning your own special family celebration for your graduate. You were always there when we needed something done. Thanks to Mark and Brenda Briley, Judy Biddix, Gary and Cheryl Bryan, Henry and Ann Wheeler, Mary Jane Blackshear, Sharon Rice, Erlene Springer, Bryan Webb and Donny Killough.

To the "Special People" who gave up their night of sleep to make the Project Graduation successful a big "THANKS." I know many of you had to work the next day but you all gave so willingly of yourselves. Thank you to Jimmy Randolph, Danny Slaughter, Bob Prewit, Chuck Cathey, Ral and Laura Dees, Beth Wortham, Tony Hamilton, Celeste Sosa, Randall and Jean Boles, Bryan Webb, Gary and Cheryl Bryan, Henry Wheeler, Sharon Rice, Erlene Springer, Mark and Brenda Briley and Frances Bredemeyer, you were all great. I hope you all had as much fun as I did. It was worth all the running around and hours spent gathering everything needed when you had one of the "Class of '92" members walk up and tell you thanks, especially when it was your own son or daughter.

To the "Class of '92," you are special people, you all showed the type of people you are by giving up your senior trip and donating your $1200.00 to Project Graduation. I hope each of you benefitted by the time you spent together, the cash, the gifts and the prizes each of you received. Thank you all for attending "Project Graduation '92," you were the ones that made it a SUCCESS by showing up. Thank you to the 38 Seniors who attended the celebration in your honor. I want to wish you the best in life as you go your separate ways.

I will finish with a quote by a very important person in my life, my son Brandon, "Thanks Mom for all you did and I Love You." Thank you to all you moms, dads, teachers, businesses and friends for all you did and I love you each for caring enough to give to these great kids.

Sincerely,

Lavelle Killough

Grand jury nobills shooting suspect

On Thursday, May 21, Taylor County grand jurors nobilled the investigation of a Winters man who was accused of shooting two men in January of this year.

The 350th District grand jurors declined to indict Aldo Ray Torres on charges of murder and attempted murder for the double shooting, which apparently was spurred by the smoky exhaust on Torres' car.

During the altercation on the parking lot of an Abilene club, Carlos Seballos was killed by a gunshot wound to the chest, and Edward Gonzales received a gunshot wound to the right wrist.

District Attorney James Eidson said there was evidence that Torres was acting in self-defense when he shot Seballos and Gonzales. In addition, Torres turned himself in to Runnels County authorities before he was even a suspect in the double shooting.

Eidson said Torres and two other men were leaving Rumors after closing on January 24. Because Torres had been having trouble with his car, he was idling the car in the parking lot of the club waiting for it to warm up.

Seballos and Gonzales approached Torres' car, told him the smoke from the exhaust was bothering them, and then told Torres to move the car. Torres complied.

After moving his car 50 feet away from the men, Gonzales and Seballos and a group of other men again approached the car and began striking the occupants, Eidson said. Torres pulled a handgun and the assailants initially backed away, but a few moments later they resumed the assault.

Torres again brandished his weapon, fired twice and drove away, Eidson said.

U.S. Postal Service will deliver mail as usual on July 3rd."

Beneficiaries who have direct deposit will also have their July payments deposited on July 3rd.

Supplemental Security Income recipients will receive their checks on the first day of the month.
