Super Summer Fun Nite Scheduled for July 28th

Want to have some fun and contribute to a worth while cause? Then make plans now to attend Super Summer Fun Night on July 28 from 7-9:30 p.m. at the Ted Meyer Memorial Park.

Organized by the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club, city officials, and the Winters Squares, this evening of good food and entertainment is being held to raise funds for renovations to the community center.

A hamburger supper including hamburgers, drinks, and dessert will be served. Tickets for the supper will be $2.50 per person. Advanced tickets may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office or from any member of the Lions Club or Winters Squares.

The Chamber of Commerce will be selling drinks throughout the day and the Winters Squares will be serving homemade ice cream, cookies, and brownies for a small fee.

Softball and volleyball games are being planned if enough interest is shown. No pre-registration is needed for softball or volleyball, just show up in appropriate athletic wear and be ready for some fun.

The city swimming pool will also be open for the public to enjoy. Admission will be 75¢ per person.

A special highlight of the evening will be a performance by the Winters Squares who plan to demonstrate how "anyone can learn to square dance" with an exhibition by Mayor Sandy Griffin and City Administrator Aref Hassan. Randy Phillips of Abilene will be the caller and he will introduce "easy steps" so everyone may enjoy dancing.

Because this project is a community fundraiser, other organizations and individuals are asked to participate. Clubs or individuals are encouraged to donate food or time. Anyone willing to help is asked to contact the Chamber of Commerce.

The city will spray prior to the festivities to control mosquitoes.

Be sure to bring your lawn chairs, blankets, etc. and join the fun at the park for Super Summer Fun Night and help your community.

THE LADY WITH THE GREEN THUMB—Mrs. Evelyn Mills, center, was named winner of Yard of the Month for July.

Mrs. Mills, age 97, is shown with Debra Lindsey, left, executive director of the Winters Housing Authority, and June Blackwood, president of the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce.

OIL BUSINESS

By Reg Boles ©1992

It is that time again, and, this week, we talk about "sidetracking a borehole" in our latest monthly edition of Oil Patch Basics.

'Sidetracking' (here we go again with these quotes) is the process by which a hole is drilled in the sidewall of a borehole for the purpose of creating a new hole apart and separate from the original well without having to drill a brand new hole from the surface.

That sentence is too long—I must've been hanging around lawyers or politicians too much, lately.

Shorter version:

A sidetracked well is like a two-legged posthole.

That's enough definition, let's talk specifics.

A sidetrack may be needed for several reasons.

There may be junk in the well that prevents getting to the bottom or the pay zone, so a sidetrack is drilled to get down and around the junk. Or, there may be reason to believe that a fault or other barrier is causing the original well borehole to be isolated from oil or gas production, and the sidetrack is attempted to reach out to the hydrocarbon.

A horizontal drain hole may be desired, and the sidetrack can be configured to yield such an extension from the original wellbore. And, the original wellbore may be too narrow or too crooked at the bottom, and a sidetrack from a few thousand feet above, where the hole is bigger, may allow a new, more accessible bottom-hole situation.

Now that we know some of the reasons for sidetracking, how is it actually done?

The first thing to do is to plug-back at some point inside the casing (if there is any—inside the hole if there is none) above the place where you want your sidetrack to end up, but below where you have decided to "kick-off" (divert out of the hole).

Also, a portion of the casing may be removed to allow easier exit from the wellbore.

Beyond that, there are several methods for sidetracking, and a few of those are more commonly utilized than others.

The most common method is to use a "whipstock", which is a long tool with an 'angled' end. This tool is put in a well with the slanted end looking up. A bit is lowered into the well on a string of pipe and the whipstock is tagged. Subsequently, the bit is pushed down against the angled end, and the bit is forced to divert from the original well direction a few degrees, and out the side of the wellbore it goes.

More modern technology has allowed wider useage of downhole motors that may be signaled to turn at an angle out of the original well. This method relies on electronics to turn the bit away from the original hole, while the whipstock relies on mechanical force. Otherwise, the principles are the same.

Once the new hole is drilled, at whatever the desired angle, the bit is removed, and a new string of casing is set from the kick-off point to the bottom of the sidetracked hole.

As long as the angle is not too severe, most normal remedial wellwork can proceed as needed from time-to-time, but a little more caution must be utilized to prevent stuck tools, etc.

I have included a diagram of a typical sidetrack operation for your reference nearby this article.

Next month, we will discuss blow-out capping and fire extinguishing operations. Beeeeee there!

From The Well

by
Pastor Jim Hanson
St. John's Lutheran Church

It's a good story. Actually it's a parable. The parable of the twins. The first time I heard it was at Lion's in Winters. Sandi Saringer of Hospice in Abilene told it.

It's a soul story. It stirs up in us the way things really are. It speaks to our heart first. And then to our head. It's about life and death. It's about you and me, and everybody. And God.

This is the story:

Once upon a time, twin boys were conceived in the same womb. Weeks passed and the twins developed. As their awareness grew, they laughed for joy, "Isn't it great that we were conceived? Isn't it great to be alive?"

Together, the twins explored their world. When they found their mother's cord that gave them life, they sang for joy: "How great is our mother's love, that she shares her own life with us!"

As weeks stretched into months, the twins noticed how much each was changing. "What does it mean?" asked the one. "It means that our stay in this world is drawing to an end," said the other. "I want to stay here always." "We have no choice," said the other. "But maybe there is life after birth!" "But how can there be?" responded the one. "We will shed our life cord, and how is life possible without it? Besides, we have seen evidence that others were here before us, and none of them have returned to tell us that there is a life after birth. No, this is the end."

And so the one fell into deep despair, saying, "If conception ends in birth, what is the purpose of life in the womb? It's meaningless! Maybe there is no mother after all?" "But there has to be," protested the other. "How else did we get here? How do we remain alive?"

"Have you ever seen our mother?" said the one. "Maybe she lives only in our minds. Maybe we made her up, because the idea made us feel good?"

And so the last days in the womb were filled with deep questioning and fear. Finally, the moment of birth arrived. When the twins had passed from their world, they opened their eyes. They cried. For what they saw, exceeded their fondest dreams.

1 Corinthians 2:9
Eye has not seen,
Ear has not heard,
Nor has it so much
As dawned on man
What God has prepared
For those who love him.

Drink deep from this story. It's from the well. It springs up hope. And it satisfies.

Spirit Filled Happenings

By Jan Thompson
Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church

As I look at the Word of God and read in the book of I Cor. 10:1-13 I let my eyes rest on verse 4, "And did all drink the same Spiritual drink: for...they drank of that Spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ."

Neighbor, Jesus Christ is that Rock of Redemption. Let me read just a part of II Sam. 22:47... "exalted be the God of the ROCK of my salvation." This brings me to mind that Christ is the door by which we enter into salvation. I read in the Acts chapter four and verse twelve, "Neither is there SALVATION in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."

When we repent of our sins and believe unto salvation, everything becomes new. There is a newness that takes place. In II Cor. 5:17 we read "...Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: Old things are passed away, behold all things are become new. You see if you have drunk from that Spiritual Rock, the old hate spirit in you is dead. There is a new spirit that makes you love everybody not talk about them or speak evil of them. You also become committed to working to build the Kingdom of God; not work against it.

There are people I know that claim to have Christ, yet they speak so much evil against their fellow man. You see this proves that they have not drunk of that ROCK and do not have His Spirit in them. There is no commitment within them. When we have drunk of that Rock, we commit to Christ, the Holy Ghost cleanses us from all unrighteousness. Things as speaking evil of someone, telling lies, wishing some one bad etc. When we make a total commitment to Christ, we are in fellowship with all God's people.

Next week look for the next text in this series, THE ROCK OF RESTORATION. You are welcome to worship with us Guiding Light Spirit Filled Baptist Church. Pastor W.L. Thompson and church family welcomes all those that worship in Spirit and Truth.

Who Cares???

"And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, Come Forth." (John 11:43)

There are a lot of voices making a lot of noise out in the world today. Spreading their propaganda and doing everything it can to persuade you to take its ideas, theories, and philosophies.

If you listen real close you can hear voices that desire to manipulate, control, and to give you a pattern for your life.

There is one particular voice though, that I'm going to challenge you to turn a deaf ear, and that is the voice of hopelessness and despair. "With men it is impossible, but with God, all things are possible."

You may be reading this and thinking all is lost! There is no reason to prolong your miserable life. We may as well just lay back with a spirit of complacency and give up.

Don't give up! I hear another voice! I hear the voice of resurrection and it speaks loud and clear. Come forth! Take off the clothing of death, and put on life everlasting! Come out of your Tomb! Preacher, you may ask; why are you telling me this? Because.....Somebody Cares!!!

Somebody Cares Ministries sponsored a trip for our youth to Abilene. Twenty-three children and sponsors attended this trip. The children and adults had lots of fun playing putt putt golf, playing video games, and enjoying fellowship at a park afterwards. A great thank you to everyone that attended this event.

This week the group will be taking another trip. This time visiting a Revival in Santa Anna. The group will leave the Church at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, July 24, and are looking forward to this special fellowship and prayer with the Cordova Baptist Church.

READY TO SET SAIL—The "Admiral" (Carl Grenweige) stands ready as he and some of his crew members prepare to set sail for a Fantastic Journey at Vacation Bible School at First Baptist Church this week.

Stacey Sneed (next to Admiral), Kirby Meyers, and Tanner Donica were among 130 children and workers to register for the special school that runs from July 20 through July 25.

Bethany Class has installation of officers

The Bethany Class of the First Baptist Church met at noon, July 14th for a luncheon and business meeting.

Prayer before the meal was given by Mrs. Jimmie Davis.

The business meeting was opened by vice-president, Bonnie Fairey. Minutes of the last meeting were read and reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and group leaders.

Officers for the coming year were installed by Mrs. Jo Olive Hancock using lighted candles displayed in a very beautiful table of lighted candles and greenery. Different colored candles were used, each color representing "Candles of the Lord."

The colored candles signified many things—red candle represents courage and soul winning; green candle for growth through Bible study and services; blue candle for trustfulness and honesty; purple candle for devotion to our Lord; orange candle for enthusiasm; yellow candle for cheerfulness and gladness; and white stands for the candle of purity of thought, word and deed. All these colors will light our department and as Jesus said "I am the light of the world."

Installed officers were teacher, Mrs. Vivian Foster; assistant teacher, Mrs. Jo Olive Hancock; president, Mrs. Lucille Virden; vice-president, Mrs. Bonnie Fairey; second vice-president, Mrs. Opal Hamilton; secretary, Mrs. Ethel Mae Clark; assistant secretary, Mrs. Nina Bedford; treasurer, Mrs. Billie Whitlow; reporter, Mrs. Omega Priddy; benevolence and outreach, Jimmie Davis and Omega Priddy; and group leaders, Nina Bedford, Lorene Moreland and Elsie Sanders.

After the installation service Jo Olive told all the officers you are the "Candles of the Lord," shine brightly, shine for Gods glory.

She closed with a prayer for the officers installed.

There were nine members and one visitor present.

The meeting closed with the class prayer.

Week before last I shared a poem a friend had given me, it was from the early eighties. Here are a few of the new commercial slogans on T.V.

God—share the experience—don't leave home without him;

Built Texas tough, the hottest brand going;

He doubles your living pleasure—He gives you all those miles for free;

He brings friends and family together;

The energizer, he keeps going and going and going; He lasts and last no one tops him; There's no stopping the faith;

Try him again for the first time, the real thing;

Gods word the Bible, breakfast for your head; The bible book of champions.

I don't watch TV much but these are a few I saw on TV. These slogans come and go. Most are humorous, some make you feel naive at the least. But the truth is only one thing is constant, that being Jesus Christ. Hebrews 13:8 "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and today and forever."

Pioneer Church of God, the little white church in the country, built on the solid rock, grounded in faith with the knowledge Jesus Christ is Lord of our Life. Rev. Leonard Pringle is pastor. Come worship with us.

Stealing electricity is against the law!

Stealing electricity is a felony.

Some people tamper with their electric meters to avoid paying for the energy they use. Stealing electricity is a felony offense in the state of Texas and violators will be prosecuted. West Texas Utilities' Current Diversion Department is working hard to help combat the growing problem of energy theft.

Energy theft is dangerous.

Not only is service theft a crime, but it is also very dangerous. Serious injuries can result from meter tampering.

A crime against you!

When someone steals electricity, they are not only stealing from WTU — they are also stealing from you, as a rate-payer. Just as shoplifting increases the cost of items you buy in the store, power theft increases the cost of your electric service.

WTU will prosecute.

Because we are concerned about the dangers and costs resulting from meter tampering, West Texas Utilities will prosecute energy thieves.

BEST ALL-AROUND COWGIRL—Tad Lucas, World Champion and friend to Ella Linton, Booger Red's oldest daughter.

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center is located in Hereford, Texas, 45 miles southwest of Amarillo in the legendary Texas Panhandle and Southern Great Plains.

Founded in 1975 by the Chamber of Commerce, the Hall continues as the historical home of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association. Under the sponsorship of the Hall of Fame Rodeo Association the annual All-Girl Rodeo happens each August in Hereford.

New honorees are inducted into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame at a ceremony each year in June during the Rhinestone Roundup and Benefit.

Cowgirls of summers past are featured on the Hall of Fame brochure. The following eleven leave little doubt that "It's time to rodeo!" And rodeo they did that day in 1926 in the Tex Austin Rodeo at Soldier Field in Chicago.

These cowgirls are the greats of yesterday, competing in the first sport to give equality to women.

1. Fox Hastings competed in all the big rodeos. She entered steer wrestling contests against the cowboys. Her events were trick riding, saddle broncs and bulldogging, and Fox was a champion in all.

2. Donna Cowan performed with the C.B. Irwin Wild West Show. Donna rode from 1913 to 1949. Her favorite event was relay riding.

3. Marie "Ma" Gibson was a great bronc rider. In 1924 she was one of the cowgirls that performed in Tex Austin's London Rodeo at Wimbley in 1924. Gibson was killed while performing in 1933.

4. Florence Hugus was born in Augusta, Georgia, far from the rodeo world. In her teens she decided to be a trick rider and by 1919 was winning in the rodeo in steer riding, roping and bronc riding.

5. Tad Lucas was probably the best all-around cowgirl of her time. She was a world champion in all events: broncs, relays, roping and trick riding. Fort Worth was Tad's home.

When Tad and Ella, Booger Red's oldest daughter, performed in rodeos there were no cars and trailers to pull the animals. They were crated and shipped from one rodeo to the other. After Tad and her husband retired they lived in a nice home in Fort Worth. Ella always contacted Tad when she was in town.

6. Grayce Runyan began performing in major rodeos at age 14. Soon she was spectacular in bronc riding, trick riding, bulldogging and chariot racing.

7. Ruth Roach had a million dollar smile and was known as the "sweetheart" of all rodeos. The events she liked most were steer roping and bronc riding.

8. Rose Smith worked rodeos from Madison Square Garden to Calgary. During the decade of the 1920's Rose was considered one of the better bronc riders.

9. Bonnie McCarroll is legendary in that her death, after the bronc, Black Cat, fell on her in the 1929 Pendleton Roundup, is said to have contributed to the suppression of cowgirl bronc riding. Slim purses during the Great Depression of the 1930's was another contributing factor to the decline of women in rodeo.

10. Vera McGinnis, a great pioneer of rodeo, actually performed all over the world. She is considered to be the first cowgirl to wear long pants in the rodeo arena (1924). Her trick riding and relay riding began in 1913.

11. Mabel Strickland was a four event winner. Petite, she still was a successful steer roper and bulldogger. Trick riding and bronc riding championships were also hers.

These rodeo women were star celebrities, their names well-known nationwide. They were wine and dined in every city and the top magazines and papers gave them lengthy coverage.

But this glamorous era came to an end. Nineteen forty-one marks the turning point for women in rodeo. In a large part, women's rodeo was a casualty of the war. When it was resurrected a few years later, its personality had changed.

Home/Family nursing seminar

Simple nursing techniques for families with a bedfast or disabled person at home will be the focus of a workshop on Monday, July 27, at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Caregivers will learn skills that will make life easier for both patient and caregiver, such as how to change linens when someone is in bed, how to re-position that person without strain and how to move someone from bed to a chair.

Hands-on practice will be available to participants, using hospital beds and wheelchairs.

Other topics include universal precautions for infection, psychosocial issues of caregivers and anticipatory grief.

This seminar, which is free of charge and open to the public, is sponsored by Hospice of Abilene, Inc., the Big Country AIDS Support Group and the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Faubion chosen to attend youth workshop in Junction

Brian Faubion, a senior at Winters High School and the son of Rodney and Bernie Faubion, was chosen to attend the Youth Range Workshop at the Texas Tech University Center in Junction on June 22-27. Selection of participants was based on outstanding projects or interest in range management. Brian's local sponsor is the Soil Conservation Service, a strong supporter of range education and leadership development of local youth.

The weeklong Youth Range Workshop, sponsored by the Texas Section of the society for Range Management, is held to recognize outstanding range and ranch youth and to provide them an opportunity for complimentary training in range management and leadership skills. According to Barron Rector and B.J. Ragsdale, Workshop Coordinators from College Station, participants will learn to identify range plants, evaluate rangeland potential and current condition, manage rangeland for livestock production and wildlife habitat, and practice ranch planning. Leadership training will feature discussion and training on interpersonal relations, communication skills, and leading group activities. Field trips for hands-on training will be to a Kimble County ranch and the Kerr Wildlife Management Area in Kerr County.

Range Workshop instructors include Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists; teachers from Texas A&M, Tarleton State and Texas Tech Universities; a range specialist from the Soil Conservation Service, Texas General Land Office; and other members of the Texas Section SRM involved in the management of the rangeland resources.

This will be the thirty-eighth consecutive year for this educational activity for youth which began in 1955. Throughout the program, more than 1150 youth have benefited from the program.

Recreation and Supper July 24

The Winters Senior Citizens will have a game night and covered dish supper on Friday, July 24, at 7 p.m.

Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish to the Activity Center at 601 Wood.

Come join in the fun and fellowship.

Preview ASU scheduled July 25 - August 1

Angelo State University will hold its Preview ASU 1992 orientation sessions for entering freshmen students Saturday, July 25 through Saturday, August 1.

The one-day orientation programs afford students and parents a look at all aspects of university life.

According to Nolen Mears, Associate Dean of Student Life at ASU and director of the orientation activities, one of the most important facets of Preview ASU is the preregistration procedure for the 1992 Fall Semester.

Students meet with academic advisors in regard to selection of majors and course work, and student counselors are available to assist with class scheduling. The preregistration process is completed, and participants will have copies of their fall semester schedules before they leave the campus.

Another feature of Preview ASU is diagnostic testing for students who may need developmental work in certain core curriculum areas.

Mears stressed that although many students attended the College Days programs at ASU last spring, they are encouraged to attend Preview to avoid class availability conflicts and confusion during the registration process in the Fall.

Openings for the program are still available for several week-day sessions, including Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, July 29-31, and Saturday, Aug. 1. Interested students should check with the Dean of Student Life Office, 942-2191, to confirm openings and register for the Preview activities.

Registration fee is $12 per student and $6 for each parent or guest. Both fees include lunch for the day.

In addition to reviewing facilities, courses and student activities, students will be able to tour the campus and meet with representatives of student organizations, academic advisors and the counseling staff.

National award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Shane Rice has been named a United States National Award winner in Student Council.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Shane Rice, who attended Winters High School, was nominated for this National Award by Laura Dees, a Student Council sponsor and English teacher at WHS.

Shane will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the

Shane Rice

Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Shane is the son of Sharon Rice. His grandparent is Fronie Steen of Clyde.

Shane has also been named to Who's Who Among High School Students this year.

Tips for land managers/owners for controlling brush in fence rows

by DON HALEY

CONTROLLING BRUSH—Following the construction or rebuilding of a fence-line, periodic herbicidal brush control is an effective and economical method to protect your investment and to prolong the useful life of your fence.

Built or replaced any fence lately? Chances are that a lot of brush cutting was involved—brush that used up a wad of elbow-grease to remove and that severely reduced the useful life of the fence.

With the high cost of labor and construction, it is usually more economical, effective and much easier to treat brush when it is small, before it grows into a bigger problem.

Now is the period of the year for control and maintenance of fence-line brush problems, the optimum time being from mid-May through late June. A practical method of treatment is to hand-spray the brush with foliar herbicides—herbicides that work through the leaves. Sometimes called "high volume foliar application," this method can be handy and effective for treating fence rows and scattered stands of brush.

The proper rate of herbicide is hand-sprayed directly on the leaves and stems of the target plant until they're dripping wet (thus "high volume"). Of course, the best choice would be selective herbicides that control weeds and brush but will not harm established grasses.

Here are a few tips for land managers interested in foliar sprays for fence-row maintenance:

*Most brush plants are susceptible when they are actively growing. For best results, spray after leaves have matured (turned from light green to dark green) and before they develop the waxy layer of later summer.

*Cover all foliage thoroughly with the herbicide spray. Use a sprayer with sufficient pressure to cover any tall or dense foliage. Pump-up garden sprayers and backpack sprayers work well on small and scattered plants. Power sprayer equipped with hose and handgun make life much easier on large, thicker brush areas and overgrown fence rows.

*Be aware of any potential drift. Avoid herbicide contact with any desirable and sensitive plants in the area, especially gardens and crops. Use the minimum spray pressure that will provide adequate plant coverage. Keep the spray no higher than the tops of the brush. Use a coarse spray, not a mist, and include a drift control agent in the mix. Carefully read the herbicide label, and follow all recommended safety precautions.

*Use a herbicide or combination of herbicides labeled for pasture so that grasses will not be killed. Non-selective or soil sterilant herbicides can create the potential for soil erosion beneath the fence line.

*The choice of herbicide(s) should depend on the predominant species to control. For foliar application, a tank-mix combination of two herbicides generally will broaden the spectrum of control.

*In addition to foliar sprays, you may want to consider other control options such as basal treatments and soil-applied herbicides.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office in Ballinger is available to assist producers and residents with recommendations and information to help with brush control projects or any other area of resource conservation. Please stop by the SCS location at 2000 Hutchings Avenue or call 365-3415.

Toll-free hotline available to voice your opinion about your local school district

In a statement that called upon the people of Texas to "make a difference" by speaking out on ways to improve the operation of Texas public schools, State Auditor Larry Alwin announced that his office has installed a toll-free hotline for citizen input: 1-800-TX-AUDIT.

The State Auditor's Office, an agency in the legislative branch serving as the independent auditor for Texas state government, is currently conducting an audit of Texas' public schools and funds. The audit, known as MAPS (Management Audit of Public Schools), will provide the Legislature with an in-depth look at how our school districts spend their money and how our spending habits compare with those in other states. Between now and November, auditors will analyze data from 1,043 school districts and will physically visit at least 50 school districts to conduct management audits.

Alwin stated that citizen tips from the hotline could point auditors in the right direction. He said, "Teachers, parents, and students can tell us first-hand about school programs that are working. They can also tell us where our tax dollars are not being spent wisely."

Alwin said the MAPS hotline is in response to citizen reaction over the past month. "People from all over the State have been calling us to report everything from outrageous administrators' salaries to the fraudulent misuse of school bus fuel." He emphasized that his office appreciates the phone tips and that "each and every suggestion is being considered."

The 1-800-TX-AUDIT (1-800-892-8348) hotline will be manned Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. An answering machine will record detailed messages after hours.

VETERINARY UPDATE

by Jimmy Smith, DVM

Warm weather, high humidity and insects.....a combination that we've seen a lot of this summer.

Fleas, ticks and mosquitos not only can cause physical damage themselves, they are also excellent vectors for disease.

Fleas and ticks can actually bleed your dog and/or cat to death. They are also carriers of many diseases such as Bubonic Plague, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, Ehrlichiosis, and Lyme Disease.

Remember that in order to control these parasites, you must practice control measures on the animal and the premises at the same time, and these control measures must be carried out at least three times at weekly intervals. Remember to follow label directions on pesticides and use only chemicals which are approved for use on your pet.

Normally low summer time humidity reduces the number of flea eggs that hatch, but our weather has been humid enough that there has not been a sufficient degree of desiccation to dry out the eggs and keep them from hatching.

We have had our first reported case of sleeping sickness in the area this summer. The late summer and fall are our sleeping sickness seasons.

There are three kinds of encephalitis caused by viruses that we can prevent by vaccination. They are Eastern, Western, and Venezuelan Encephalitis. Of these three diseases, the Eastern and Western are the most common. Venezuelan sleeping sickness is considered an exotic disease and is not commonly seen in the United States. Both Eastern and Venezuelan have a higher mortality rate than Western, but all three should be considered highly dangerous. They can be controlled by vaccinating your horses before they get exposed. It is too easy and cheap not to vaccinate. Remember that these diseases can also be transmitted to man.

If you plan to practice any grub control measures, you need to do so now. The problem with waiting much longer to treat for grubs is that soon the migrating larvae will be located in the area of the esophagus and trachea in the neck.

If your treatment coincides with this part of the life cycle, death of grub will cause a localized tissue reaction. This reaction amounts to swelling areas around the den's larvae, possibly obstructing the normal belching of gas from the rumen and causing bloat.

Treatment of this condition, if this should happen to you, is simply to intubate the cow and bleed off the rumen gas that has accumulated. The tissue reaction caused by the dead grub larvae is treated with antihistamines and steroids to stop swelling. The intubation may need to be repeated several times until the drugs reduce the swelling and normal eructation can take place. If the animal which you are treating happens to be a pregnant cow or heifer do not use steroids in your treatment because it will cause her to abort her calf.

A lot of you have been having trouble controlling the horn flies in your cattle. My favorite method is the use of a pour on and fly tags.

I have also been told that Ectrin® has also been effective in controlling them.
