COMMUNITY RIGHTS WRONG-Approximately 75 volunteers turned out Sunday to help repair damage done at Northview Cemetery two weeks ago. More than 80 headstones were overturned or broken by vandals. Because some of the markers weighed as much as 2500 with prison plans pounds, a forklift was necessary to lift and reset the heavy stones.

BALL? WHAT BALL? — Varsity quarterback John Belew hides the football while looking for a receiver downfield in the scrimmage against Colorado City last Friday. The Blizzards face the Coleman Bluecats to kickoff regular season play this Friday night at Blizzard Stadium.

Blizzards improve against Wolves; Open regular season Friday night

Colorado City, the Winters Blizzards showed improvement against a 3A team.

The Blizzard defense continued to be tough against the run. The Wolves had a good running back and he was contained most of the scrimmage.

The defensive back field was tested with more passing in this scrimmage. Adrian Albarado was injured early in the scrimmage and that made for some shuffling of substitutes. Adrian should be ready for this week's Coleman game.

The Blizzard offense showed signs of coming together as the running and passing attacks seem to be balanced. If pass receivers had had some glue on their hands, two more touchdowns would have been scored. To end two good drives, their passes were dropped in the end zone.

Jim Calcote scored a 70 yard touchdown right up the middle and showed he had some speed

In a scrimmage Friday night at plus size. Albert Bernal displayed good running ability by picking good holes to run through for several good gainers.

> David Roman was out both defensively and offensively part of the scrimmage with possible knee and ankle injuries. His status is questionable for the regular season opener this Friday.

> The Coleman Bluecats come to town this Friday, September 4, as a class 3 A team. In this year's UIL realignment, Coleman has moved up from 2A to 3A.

> The Bluecats had a 5-5 record last year and return eight starters. Quarterback Chris Nunez, (5-10, 204 lbs.), is starting for the fourth straight year. Also returning in the back field are tailback Rodney Taylor and halfback Daniel

The other offensive starter returning is center Johnny Needham line-up will be newcomers, a

There is good quickness but depth and size are question marks this year for the Bluecats.

Consistency is still the key for the Blizzard offense and that should come with experience. With a mixture of a freshman quarterback, people in new positions, and new people, the hope is that they can gel quickly under game conditions.

The Blizzard football team needs to mature quickly because the season doesn't get any easier after Coleman. The Big Blue faces three district champs in the next three games.

The Blizzards have a good chance of avenging last years loss to Coleman if they can keep their minds on the game.

Ballinger woman shot to death

On Saturday, August 29, at 7:15 p.m. the Ballinger Police Department received a call about a possible shooting at 409 9th Street in Ballinger.

Upon arrival, officers from the Ballinger Police Department and Runnels County Sheriff's Department as well as members of the Ballinger Emergency Services found the body of April Galindo Powers, 23. The victim had received a single gunshot wound to the head from a 9mm pistol. County Judge Michael Murchison pronounced the victim dead at the scene and the body was then taken to Bexar County Medical Examiner's Office for autopsy.

Law enforcement officers arrested Marvin Preston Powers, Jr., 23, at the scene of the crime. Powers has been charged with the murder of his ex-wife and is being held in Runnels County jail in lieu of $50,000

Also assisting in the investigation was Texas Ranger Sgt. George Frasier.

Why can't natural gas get the credit it deserves as the future fuel of choice?

It's a tough question considering that natural gas burns thousands of times cleaner than coal, is cheaper per unit of energy than oil, is abundant domestically, and has a long track record of use in homes with great success.

There are at least a couple of reasons we can identify and talk a little about: politics and reliability questions. These two root causes can overlap and are interrelated, but they each have their own effects. They also have a common denominator: coal read on.

First, let's talk politics.

Most of us down south don't realize this, but coal is the mostused heating fuel in the nation. We're all used to using natural gas, but, up north, coal is king. Coal has been king and is still king and is even grabbing more market share as we speak.

Traditionally, coal has been readily available in the older heating markets, like New England and the northern Midwest, as well as the Pacific Northwest. Natural gas had no way of reaching those markets until the recent past, so coal has a strong foothold, there.

It carries a big stick (lots of corrected slowly but surely. money and market punch) but it speaks softly. The other reason we are discussing is the reliability gap that natural gas labors under. Part of that perceived gap was created by the coal lobby and its favorable laws written in Congress. Everyone has been told that natural gas may be shut-off at any time and that it just can't be depended upon for the long term. Guess who told

To be fair, the other part of the gap did result from the mess in the gas transmission industry since Coal has always been regarded the 60's that has caused some businesses, factories, and schools couldn't get enough gas in crisis and, at last review, it was being

I haven't always been a "hands-on" person. And even yet, there are times when I feel more comfortable with my hands in my pockets. I think it goes back to my boyhood days. In those days, tears were sissy stuff, real men never cried. And kisses and hugs, they were for girls and women.

I can remember it so well. I was about six years old. My dad was an affectionate person. And just because he had four boys didn't mean he You are welcome to come couldn't kiss them goodby. He did as a matter of fact. Well, I decided worship with us at Guiding Light that I had had enough of the little kid girly stuff. No more kissing. So one day when my dad leaned over and bent down to give me a "goodby" kiss, I surprised him. I put out my hand for him to shake. Real men didn't kiss or hug. They shook hands!

I don't know when it was, but I was in my early twenties when I church family extend a welcome went to a movie and saw a young man coming home from college who ran up the front steps, opened the door and threw his arms around his father's neck. It was very moving, and struck a chord deep in my soul. And I decided that someday I would hug my father again. I never did. Somehow I feel that I cheated myself. About the time, some twenty years later, when I decided that the next time I saw him, I would hug him, he died.

I learned my lesson. I hug my kids. I have always hugged them. All four boys and my daughter. It always feels good. It eliminates distance and closes up the big chunks of time when we are separated from each other. And when I wonder why we do it, I read this little poem that puts it so well.

"I will not play at tug o'war. I'd rather play at hug o'war. Where everyone hugs Instead of tugs, Where everyone giggles

And rolls on the rug, Where everyone kisses, And everyone grins, And everyone cuddles, And everyone wins."

And I take my hands out of my pocket. And touch. And win. And so do they. It's the tie that binds our hearts.

Have you ever fallen upon your knees, completely aware of how far into the depths of despair you had fallen? The rut you are in brings the same old feelings each day. Every time you try to get out, the dirt of your life keeps falling in around you and buries you beneath your burdens. You wish someone would knock on your door, offer a helping hand and pull you out into the sunlight. There is someone who will knock (whose name is Jesus Christ) and if you say "enter" He will come in ith His loving hands outstretched to pull you into His loving arms.

Once in the arms of Jesus, the forces of darkness may come, but by the grace of God, and through His perfect love, you will forever overcome. Praise be to God.

Crews News by Hilda Kurtz

Mostwomen not only keep their girlish figures, they double them!

The Hopewell Church congregation enjoyed a Friendship Dinner at noon after services. Hopewell Church also had a few visitors.

I am sorry to hear that Selma Berry is back in the Midland Hospital. On Friday, she was dismissed and was to stay with herdaughter, Charlotte, but Selma became ill on the next day. Blood had to be drained from her lungs and tissue. Haeward Morrison, her brother, went to see her Tuesday and she was resting well.

Wilbert and Fairy Alcom were in San Angelo Saturday and enjoyed an evening meal with Johnny and Linda Denson. Aaron Denson, their son of Springfield, was home from college.

Margie Jacob wishes to thank the person who mowed the high weeds around her place.

Connie and Georgia Gibbs have been going to Brownwood to see their son-in-law, Travis Ford of Rising Star, who is in the hospital. He has good days and bad days.

Billy Bishop and her daughter, Leslie, and granddaughter, all of Winters, visited with Claudia Hill recently.

On Saturday, Marque, Bill, and Desiree Mathis and Jeremy Prater attended the 4-H Back-To-School Bash in Ballinger.

Eileen and Mike Prater attended the western square dance in the Winters Community Center Saturday night. On Sunday, the Mike Prater family spent the day at the Abilene Zoo.

Crews ladies who attended and finished 30 hours of Hospice training in Winters at the Methodist Church were Selma Dietz, Beverly Van Zandt, and Margie Jacob.

Those enjoying the fish fry in the home of Margie Jacob Friday night were Father Zientek of Brownwood; Sharon and Bryce Busenlehner, Jerry Englert, Brenda Jacob of San Angelo, Beverly Van Zandt, Corey and Brad, and Carol and Mike Kozelsky along with Scott and

Winters ISD Property Tax Rates in _ __ property tax rates for __ Winters ISD This notice concerns 1992 presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value. Last year's tax rate: Last year's operating taxes 210,098.00 Last year's debt taxes Last year's total taxes 440,206.00 $ 100,046,835.00 Last year's tax base Last year's total tax rate This year's effective tax rate: 440,206.00 Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property) s 87,367,730.00 + This year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting value of new property) .50385 /$100 This year's effective tax rate In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year: Sales tax adjustment rate /$100 Effective tax rate x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes .51897 /$100 notices and holds hearing This year's rollback tax rate: Last year's adjusted operating taxes 230,108.00 (after subtracting taxes on lost property) + This year's adjusted tax base 87,367,730.00 .26338 /$100 - This year's effective operating rate x 1.08 (or add $.08 for schools) = this year's .34338 /$100 maximum operating rate .23350 /$100 + This year's debt rate A school district must insert the following lines: .57688 /$100 This year's rollback rate before adjustment (.057296)/$100 Rate to recoup lost revenue .50393 /$100 Adjusted rollback rate This year's rollback rate

McBeth reunion held recently in Cisco

The McBeth reunion was held again this year in Cisco on July 18, 1992. The first reunion was held in 1947 in Rising Star, to celebrate the 80th brithday of Joe Alexander Campbell McBeth.

Alexander Campbell McBeth and his wife Mary Thomas Brazil came to Texas in 1870 from Covington County Alabama and lived in Eastland County, Stevens County and Indian Territory, Oklahoma before finally settling in Rising Star which is located in Eastland County. He and Mary Thomas had four sons and one daughter. They were William James, Alexander Campbell Jr., Joseph Thomas, George Aulcy, and Mary Elizabeth "Lizzie" McBeth. Most of them remained in Texas most of their lives. In 1947, only Joseph Thomas "Joe" and "Lizzie" were living, but from these sons and daughter came thirty-nine cousins. It was these cousins who first began the McBeth reunion. Today there are over 600 descendants of Alexander and Mary Thomas McBeth.

The reunion is still held on the second Saturday of July every year in Cisco, Texas. This year there were 57 people in attendance. The oldest person present was Chester McBeth who is 86 years old and lives in Winters. Chester is a great grandson of Alexander and Mary Thomas. There were others in attendance from as far away as Albuqerque, New Mexico, Santa Fe, New Mexico and Plainview.

McBeth Memorabilia was brought and placed on display. Some of the things on display were pictures, Bible, wedding dress from 1906, dishes, looking glasses and many other items.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. David Hawkins of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McBeth of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Gipson of Grand Saline, Mrs. Laura Thaxton of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis McBeth of Abilene.

Mrs. Audie Hardy of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Mrs. Beth McBeth of Plainview, Mrs. Naomi Fisher of Stephenville, Mrs. Naomi Fisher of Brownwood, Mrs. Vena Hart of Cisco, Mrs. Mable White Winters.

When it comes to the opening of dove season, Ace Sandusky is not one to kid around.

"Let's get a move on, we're burning' daylight," says a jittery Ace, bouncing to a halt in his old camouflage hunting truck. The strain of the long cold winter and sizzling hot summer between Septembers has a way of extracting their toll in terms of patience and sensitivity.

As hunting partners go, Ace and I have been up and down enough hills and dales for me to recognize the seriousness in which he takes his shooting. Since it is opening day, I know it will make life a lot easier if he gets off to a good start and the fresh-cut grain field, I have permission to hunt in, is teeming with doves,

As we drive through the gate, birds are already zooming into the maize to feed. But in particular, doves are beginning to swarm down a natural flyway of tall mesquite next to the fenceline on the field's far side. Clearing the brush, they funnel nicely down a grassy waterway and past a lone, dead mesquite tree by the turnrow at the edge of the field.

It didn't take a genius to figure out where the hotspot was to be on this day. But being the gracious host, I hear myself say, extra three boxes and he trots off

"Unless you'd rather have it, I think I'll try it over here behind the tank dam. What about you?"

Not the least bit coy, Ace says, unabashed, "Guess I'll give'em a try over there," nodding toward the dead mesquite across the field. Stuffing a couple more boxes of shells into the cargo bays of his swivel-seated dove stool, Ace saunters off toward the tree, swaggering a bit from the sloshing weight of all the extra shells he has stuffed into the pockets of his game bag. After all the months of waiting, Ace is in the gunners seat and he knows it.

Ace hardly has time to get situated before the next wave of doves envelopes him, pouring down the flyway, across the field corner and past the dead tree under which he sits. After thirty minutes and about a 100 shots later, I watch Ace walk up to the truck and rummage for what reserve shells he has cached under the seat. Another ten minutes and fifty shots pass before Ace shakes his fists at a bevy of crossing doves and heads over my way.

"Wouldn't happen to have any spare shells would you?"

I tell him where to find my position from all angles. The shooting is pretty slow by the tank dam, but it isn't long before I have my limit. It is also readily apparent that Ace is not having the best of shooting days. And although I had rather pet a rabid dog than go near Ace when he's missing doves, I thought I better ease over and check on

The plowed turnrow and adiacent terrain surrounding the old mesquite is carpeted over with a solid layer of spent 12-gauge hulls for 360 degrees around Ace's stool. There are red ones, blue ones, black ones, green ones, and in the middle sits Ace.

"I could stand the loan of a few shells if you have some to spare." Thus re-supplied, Ace quickly reloads and draws a bead on a wad of passing doves. "How'd you do over at the tank?" Ace asks, slapping at every pocket on his person in a frenzied effort to locate more shells. "Oh, I got my limit."

Ace finishes missing a pair of

McMurry offering golf classes for beginners

Golf instruction for beginners will be available through the McMurry University Continuing Education program this fall.

Beginning Golf I is designed for new players to learn how to play golf or for those inexperienced golfers whose clubs need a tune up. It will cover the fundamentals of grip, stance, swing, chipping, putting, and etiquette.

A beginners course will be from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on September 29, October 6, 13, 20, and 27. Cost is $55 and does not include practice balls or playing fees (approximately $17). The first meeting will be at McMurry United Methodist Campus Center, Room 106. All other classes are at Maxwell Municipal Golf Course.

The course is being taught by former Oklahoma State University golfer John Wood. For more information about the class, call Wood at 675-5982. To register by phone, call Cindy Burleson or Cleta Ramby at McMurry University, 915/691-6252.

Ten free live oaks

Ten free live oak trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1992.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"These magnificent widespreading trees will be picturesque additions to your landscape," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "They were selected for this campaign because of the shade and special beauty they will give your home. Live oaks grow rapidly when young and may live to be centuries old."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between October 15 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's news magazine, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TENLIVEOAKS. National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE, 68410, by September 30, 1992.

WCTCOG accepts 9-1-1 Training

The West Central Texas Coun-region. cil of Government's 9-1-1 Calltaker Training course was greatly enhanced when the National Automobile Dealers Charitable Foundation and the Texas Automobile Dealers Association presented a Resusci Anne training unit to the organization in formal ceremonies August 25, 1992.

Sue Smith, 9-1-1 program director, stated "If the right kind of treatment can be given a heart attack victim within seconds after he or she is stricken, chances are good that the life can be saved." CPR training teaches a person rescue breathing and how to keep the heart beating until professional help arrives.

Due to the WCTCOG region's large geographic size, it's rural population, lack of EMS resources, hospital closures, the 9-1-1 calltaker could truly become the difference between life and death.

Rachel Kaufmann, 9-1-1 technical assistant in charge of calltaker training for the WCTCOG said, "Calltakers in the WCTCOG region complete a three-day training course which covers the history of 9-1-1, definitions and terms unique to 9-1-1, how the 9-1-1 equipment works, callhandling procedures, medical telephone instruction, and CPR."

In accepting the CPR training unit, Smith said the Council of Governments had set a goal to train all 9-1-1 calltakers in the
