HERE COME THE BLIZZARDS—Varsity players and senior cheerleader Ashley Allcorn burst through to start the 1992 season against Coleman.

Blizzards fall to Bluecats; Play at Wall this Friday

The Coleman Bluecats scored 21 points in the second quarter and that was all that was needed to defeat the Blizzards 21-7.

Winters held Coleman out of the end zone the first quarter but could not muster an effective offense.

The Bluecats burst open the scoring in the 2nd quarter with an offensive show by sophomore Lance Ransberger. With 189 yards on 25 carries Ransberger ran past the Blizzard defense at will.

The Big Blue won the second half 7-0. With some good passing and some excellent catches, the Blizzards showed a pass attack that has been absent in the past.

With 177 passing yards and a 55% completion average, things should start to open up for the ground game.

David Roman scored Winters' only touchdown in the third quarter on a 1 yard run around left end. Jamey West kicked the extra point.

Head Coach Dan Slaughter doesn't have any time to waste to get his charges ready for the Wall Hawks this Friday night.

Wall lost to Sonora (a 3A team) in a close game this past week but Wall is still a strong team.

The Blizzards will have to work on their defense against the run and try to balance their offense a little better. Hopefully, a game experience has helped the Big Blue to mature and gain some confidence.

Winters plays at Wall Friday night at 8 p.m. Let's support the Blizzards and travel to Wall.

Come "Meet the Teachers" at WISD Secondary School

The public is invited to "Meet the Teacher" at Winters Secondary School Monday, September 14, 1992, at 7:00 p.m.

There will be a short assembly in the auditorium, followed by the visitations.

Parents and other visitors will need to know the child's schedule in advance in order to be able to visit all the child's classes.

There will be ten minutes per period with five minutes between periods to allow visitors to pass from class to class.

Student Council members will be stationed throughout the buildings to give assistance as needed.

Chamber of Commerce recognizes outstanding business

In an effort to recognize the many fine folks of Winters in both the city and rural areas, the Chamber of Commerce will salute a local farmer, rancher, business, or individual.

Jedd Manufacturing

Jedd Manufacturing was established in 1979 by James and Lois West and their son, Jim. The Wests do welding and sandblasting and build items such as gates, trailers, fish cookers, bar-b-que pits, etc. Many items made from metal can be built at Jedd Manufacturing by special order.

The company, which is located at 1001 N. Main, is open for business Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and employs three people.

James and Lois have another son, Jay (and wife, Stephanie) who lives in Abilene. Jim is married to the former Kim Wood of Winters and has two children, Jamey, age 17 and Amber, 15. The Wests enjoy playing golf and hunting.

In response to the question of making Winters a better place to live, it was stated that the community would benefit from having competition in the grocery business and that it would be nice if the oil business could be as it was prior to the turmoil overseas. The people at Jedd Manufacturing give God credit for influencing their lives.

A REAL CHARMER—Ray Guevara came to the rescue for some not-so-brave women at the Winters Enterprise office last week when this bull snake made an appearance at the front door after heavy rains. Efforts to open the door and scare away the snake seemed only to encourage the creepy crawler to come inside.

JAILED FOR GOOD CAUSE—Preston Barker (center) is "serving time" to help raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The MDA jail, held in conjunction with the recent telethon this past weekend, housed nine prisoners. The other eight prisoners were Stan Boulter, Jimmy Butler, Sandy Hamrick, George Mostad, James Cross, Kim Roberts, June Blackwood, and Terry Wyatt.

Bond monies had to be posted in order to allow the prisoners to be set free. Bonds, totaling $1,502.00, were presented on behalf of citizens of Winters.

Prisoners were sentenced by Juror Julie Traywick, Abilene coordinator of MDA, and arrested by Deputy Robert Garza (right) and Sheriff Bill Baird.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1992

Up to now, I've had a closed mind concerning technology in the oil patch.

I admit it—I need to re-think the whole idea behind new oil field technology.

Most of us have heard the term: "economically recoverable oil with today's technology."

This statement gives one the idea that "new" technology is ready to break down the barriers to economically viable oil recovery at any minute, and that new reserves will suddenly become available. Thus implying that "tomorrow's technology" will be revolutionary.

Whenever I heard that phrase invoked, I kind of chuckled to myself. Because, I thought that, although it sounds good to say oilfield technology might improve enough to make some new reserves economically viable, oil field technology wasn't really going to change much at all.

I based that idea on two things. First, rotary drilling, pipeline systems, artificial lift systems, and recovery techniques have not changed much since the 1940's. Oh sure, there are a lot more bells, whistles, and gadgets available, but the basic economics of applying the technology have not really made a measurable difference in recovery of reserves.

In order to add more oil reserves, new technology must allow oil or gas to be located, produced, and sold for less money than previously, and it must be cheap to apply. If that happens, then new reserves become recoverable because the producer can make money doing so, where he/she could not previously.

That just wasn't happening on a regular basis in the oil patch.

Second, I thought that oil production technology was not going to change because of the innate "inertia" that seems to exist in the industry. It seems that 'change' is a dirty word in the oil field, especially among the field hands.

I am not sure of all of the reasons for this resistance to change, but one is that most changes seem to cause more problems for the folks in the field than they solve. Changes in tools, methods, or techniques seem to disrupt the entire infrastructure of the oil patch by introducing some unknown into the equation that everyone likes to think they can already solve.

But, recently, some new technology is allowing more reserves to be found, developed and sold. Some types of technology involve exploration, while others relate to exploitation and management of reserves.

The advent of extremely cheap (and getting cheaper by the minute) computing power has allowed small companies to locate possible reserve centers. Seismic lines can now be analyzed on a desk top for less than $10,000, where $200,000 and a consultant might have been required before. Log data and production information can now be manipulated and analyzed for almost nothing by anyone with a PC, where thousands of dollars and special access were required before.

These advances have been especially important, since majors (who can afford big bucks to find reserves) aren't in the market in the U.S., anymore. Independents with shallow pockets are the only players in the game at the moment, and they can't risk a lot of cash upfront.

Additionally, drilling technology is greatly improving due to the advent of cheaper microchips that allow precise control on horizontal wells and other directional drilling at much less cost. Thus, a horizontal well can be drilled about 20% cheaper than it could have been 5 years ago.

And, finally, technology to allow more efficient development drilling is in place. This allows the same amount of oil to be produced at much less drilling cost, especially in complex fields.

This wonder-invention is 3-D seismic that is being applied to the development of reserves instead of just to the exploration of potential reserve targets. It doesn't always tell you the only place to drill, but it often can tell you places to avoid, thus decreasing the number of dry holes.

The beauty of all of these new-fangled ideas is that they don't really affect the pumper or the roustabout or the roughneck. Those folks can continue as is without being bothered by those dreaded 'changes.' So, one avoids the problems associated with such things.

So, the bottom line is that technology is helping add reserves by improving the economics of exploring for oil. I was as pessimistic as a Christian in Baghdad, but it wasn't the first nor will it be the last time I've been proven wrong, wrong, wrong.

From The Well

by
Pastor Jim Hanson
St. John's Lutheran Church

I have a daughter, Katie. Until we had her, I was sure I would never have a daughter. After all, in my family, we were four sons. And no daughters. So it seemed only natural that we would have only sons.

When she was born, I was there in the delivery room, before that was a common practice. The country doctor knew what he was doing when he invited me to be his guest at the birthing time. It was marvelous. When he showed me the little girl that Ramon had carried and brought into this world, I was speechless. We had already been blessed with a child, a son. But this one was different! A little girl! When I held her for the first time I said, "She even feels different, so cuddly and soft and warm!" We were so caught by surprise, we didn't even have a name for her.

When she was 13, we had some problems. We had just moved from Montana to Minnesota and I was busy getting into the new church in a new community. All of a sudden it seemed like the only time we would talk was when I was "on her case." Correcting her for her attitude, or her clothes, or the way she wore her hair. And if she were to talk to me, it would always be the same subject, money. "Dad, I need five dollars." Or four. Or ten. It got so that I didn't even want to talk to her. I would even try to avoid her.

I knew this was wrong. And so did she. So we talked about it. And would end up not talking. Cold war. No communication. Or hot war. Shouting at each other. Not good.

One day we made a deal. We would not talk. We would hug. Four times a day. (I had read some place that baby orphaned monkeys had to be held at least four times a day or they would die.) Our relationship was dying. So, four times a day, after the four hugs, we might try talking. But, only after the hugs.

At first it was kind of like hugging a skinny telephone pole. There was not much response. Or feeling. (That told me a lot about what had happened to us.) But, we did it. And kept on, 4 times a day. Hugging. And, as we got better at hugging, we got better at communicating. She shared with me how her classmates in school had decided that she would never replace the girl who had lived there before, and would reject her and keep her out of their parties. She started to share her feelings with me. And I started to share mine with her.

Hugging doesn't cure everything. But it sure helps put relationships back into place. Maybe that's why Bernard of Clairvaux wrote over 900 years ago of Jesus, "Wide open are your arms, a fallen world to embrace, To win to love and endless rest our wayward human race." It worked for Him, it surely should for us.

Pioneer Church of God News

by Dixie Leverett

Two men had come to the crossroads of life. They looked at the signs. One said, "The Path of the World," the other, "The Path of Jesus Christ." The first man said, "I take the ways of the world, there is more for me there." So off he went. The path was rocky, loaded with pitfalls. So he stumbled and fell. The seeds he planted fell upon the rocky ground and produced nothing. The rains came and washed away all of his hopes. The wind blew strong and left nothing of value. He was lost, his well dried up, his family left. His life-shattered.

The other man said, "I will walk the path of Jesus Christ." His road was also rocky and full of pitfalls but the Master's hand lifted him up. The seeds he planted fell on fertile ground and were multiplied many times. The rains came and watered his crops. The wind blew gently upon him. His well supplied water for many. His soul was cleansed. Mercy and grace were his.

Which man will you be?
Ps. 46:1—"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."

Pioneer Church of God is the little white church in the country, built on the solid rock, grounded in faith with the knowledge that Jesus Christ is Lord of our life. Rev. Leonard Pringle is pastor. Everyone is invited and welcome to worship with us. Smile this week. Give one-you'll get one. Smiling is contagious.

Who Cares???

What is worship?

There are many ways to answer this question, but the simplest is to say that worship is ministry to God.

Worship, or ministry to God, is really your response to God's seeking you out. Let me give you an expanded definition of "ministry to God." Worship is your loving and joyful response to God's being and to His acts of loving kindness toward you. Let's break the definition down:

1. Worship is a response. God has taken the initiative to love you, die for you, and call you.

2. It is a loving response. If you respond to God's initiative by turning from Him, that is obviously not worship.

3. It is a joyful response. We do not minister sadness to God, but joy. (Only Christians can really worship.)

4. It is a response to God's being - to who He is. This means that you've got to learn who He is.

5. It is a response, also, to what He has done for you.

In several places the Psalms say something like, "Bless the Lord, oh my soul." The true worshiper is the Christian who blesses God with the following gifts:

1. Yourself! "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God." (Romans 12:1-2) When you give yourself totally to God, this is a "spiritual service of worship."

2. Your services - When you do good and share with others as a "sacrifice" for God, He counts it as worship. "By Him, therefore, let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is the fruit of our lips giving thanks to His name. But to do good and to communicate, forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased." (Hebrews 13:15-16)

3. Your resources - The Old and New Testaments alike teach that you can bless God with your material giving.

4. Your praise - Any of these may be offered to God in worship. (Hebrews 13:15)

Next week, we will talk about the educated shout!

TEXAS TRAILS

LOVE STAR STATE HISTORY by DAN BROWN

TEXAS OR ARKANSAS... The north eastern boundary of Texas, in 1835, was uncertain. The U.S. and Spain had set the boundary at the Red River, but Arkansas claimed the border was the 94th degree longitude. This left the Anglo settlers guessing. Did they live in Miller County, Arkansas or Red River County, Texas? One family solved the problem. The father helped draw up Arkansas' State Constitution, the son signed Texas' Declaration of Independence.

J.V. loses to Coleman

In a defensive battle, the Coleman Junior Varsity defeated the Blizzard J.V., 6-0.

A pass interception late in the ball game allowed Coleman to score with only short yardage needed.

Winters won in all the statistical categories including 16 first downs to Coleman's 3. Another notable statistic was that Winters had 12 penalties for 100 yards and Coleman had no penalties whatsoever.

Coach Biff White stated, "Defensively the boys played hard and they played well. We caused things to happen like fumbles and interceptions. Offensively we had first game nerves and just kept making mistakes." Coach White continued, "We're gonna put in some new 'points' and 'plugs' to make the machine run better. We will play better against Wall."

Captains for the Coleman game were Lance Donica, Richard Cortez, Richard Yancy, and Mark Deike.

The coaches are really excited about the big number of boys out for football and look for bigger and better things to happen.

Come support the Blizzard Junior Varsity this Thursday at Blizzard Stadium starting with the 7th grade at 5:00 p.m., 8th grade at 6:00 p.m., and J.V. at 7:30 p.m.

Winters High School Song

*We are here, our dear old high
To laud your glories to the sky.
Colors, white and blue
And we'll stand by you.*

*We will wave our colors gay
As we go fighting on our way.
For our grand old high school
dear,
We'll never fail, never fail

Blizzard Fight Song

*We are the Blizzards,
the Blizzards are we.
We're true to each other as we can be.*

*You gotta fight, boys,
you gotta fight.
You gotta fight
for the Blue and White*

*And when the season is over and through,
We'll know that our boys were true-blue.*

*We are the Blizzards,
the Blizzards are we.
We are the Blizzards,
Yes, sir-eee!*

*(spell) B-B-LIZ
Z-Z-ARD
Blizzards, Blizzards!
Yes, sir-eee!*

Parents responsible for childrens' immunizations

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) reminds all parents or day care administrators that complete immunization records are required, not only for Texas school children, but for preschool children as well.

TDH has made some rule changes regarding immunizations of which the public should be aware, notably: parents and legal guardians may formally delegate authority for signing immunization consent forms to another adult; mandatory second dose of measles vaccine for all Texas school children by the age of 12; children under 5 must be vaccinated against Haemophilus influenza type b (Hib disease) and pertussis (whooping cough).

Currently, all children entering Texas school or day care are required to show proof of immunizations at certain ages against polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German or three-day measles), mumps and diphtheria. Younger children must also give proof of immunity to whooping cough and Hib disease.

Physicians and local health departments can supply detailed information about the requirements.

WHS Student Council News

Officers, members, and new work-ons attended a Student Council meeting Wednesday September 2, at 6:00 p.m. Those in attendance discussed several upcoming projects and plans.

Members voted to order matching T-shirts. Mrs. Dees, Student Council sponsor, will be taking sizes and collecting money for the shirts in the next few days. Members will be wearing these shirts to district and local Student Council functions.

Student Council members have adopted teachers and staff as their secret pals for the school year. WHS Student Council appreciates these people and wants to express that appreciation from time to time.

Each member and new work-on received a schedule for bringing dessert goodies to the teachers' work room each week. This is one more way of showing appreciation for their hard work and service.

Student Council members voted to sell spirit waving bandannas this fall as a fund raising project. These have been ordered and will be available to purchase in about 2-3 weeks. Members will be selling them at all home football games. Please support the Student Council by purchasing a bandanna.

Members signed up for selling football programs and bandannas. A schedule will be given to all members. Students also signed up for the opening prayer for each home game and giving the gift to the visiting team.

In addition, Homecoming plans and SMILE (Drug Awareness Week) plans were discussed. Student Council officers and sponsor plan to meet concerning these two important projects. The executive group will make final decisions on the projects and report back to the group.

All Student Council members made buttons to wear September 14 for "Meet the Teacher" night. Members will be available to show parents to classrooms. Members will be easy to spot by their Student Council buttons.

The meeting was very productive. The WHS Student Council is looking forward to an exciting school year.

Thoughts and views of a new school year

The following comments are from students in the Gifted and Talented classes from grades 2 through 6.

I liked it when I went to bed early. And I liked it when I went to school. I liked it when I went to bed early because I didn't want to put up with my sister. I wanted to go to school because I got the teacher that I wanted.

The first day of school it was a lot of fun. I was anxious the night before. I was happy because I got the teacher I wanted. Some of my friends were in my class. Somebody didn't have a desk.

Jena Bahlman (2)

I was happy on the first day of school. Shane and Brandon were in my class. I was happy when we got to go to the computer lab.

Kirby Meyers (2)

On the first day of school I was baffled. I was sort of sad because summer was over. I was a little bit ready through. I'm happy because my teacher is nice. I didn't know who was in my class, no one but Guy, and now I'm happy because school is fun!

DeAnna Goff (2)

I was very happy the first day of school. But it was fun. I have a good teacher. It was fun to meet your teacher. Two of my friends are in my class. One of them has been in my class every year. School is fun.

Not even you.

We had fun.

And that's the end.

Lincoln Edwards (2)

Here we go, the beginning of a new school year. All my friends in my class, Staci, Meagan, and Scarlett make it cool. Most of my friends have changed over the summer. Staci cut her hair into a wedge. Meagan's hair grew two inches. But Scarlett hasn't changed a bit, same pretty, red, wrinkled hair and cute little smile. I've cut my hair so short no one even knows it's me.

Mrs. Smith, my new teacher, shows a lot of enthusiasm. She writes TERRIFIC, WONDERFUL, YEAH, and SUPER on my papers.

I hope to accomplish many things this year. We will take the TAAS TEST on September 28, 1992. I hope to make it to the TAAS party. Mr. Wyatt, our new principal, is throwing a party for everyone who passes the TAAS TEST. As much as I want to learn in third grade, I should become a scientist.

Kelly Walker (3)

The first day of school had been exciting and nervous at the same time. Having a different teacher made me nervous and excited because all my old friends were there.

This week I have adjusted. Third grade work's kind of easy. We have a lot of homework though. I count Staci, Kaka, Kelly and Scarlett as my best friends because they help me with my problems. I am so very glad they are with me.

I am looking forward to curative, TAAS party, Christmas and science experiments. And most of all I want the school year to be over!

Meagan Galvan (3)

The first two weeks of school have been absolutely fantastic! This year in the fourth grade we have a lot more privileges. First of all I have the best two teachers ever. This year we get to participate in the Science Fair. We have all decided to do a big project together. In Miss Magee's room she now can say go to a computer and we have learned how to hook it up. We also have a new principal, Mr. Wyatt is his name. We have enjoyed him. We can also eat off of the snack bar this year. It has been great so far and I hope that will continue!!!

Kayla Colburn (4)

I like school. I like school because I like getting away from chopping cotton. My first 2 weeks flew by. The first day was boring. Miss Mitchell tried to get things situated fast but this did not work.

Miss Magee and the things we did last year can be known as the same. The computers now equal 4. Miss Magee told us we can do a project together for the science fair. We also get to study Texas History. Thats fun!

I can name billions of new stuff but I don't have that much room, so here's a few:

We have to write everything in cursive! Everything from Math to Science. In Math we have MULTIPLICATION! Its hard. In homeroom we have a store, T-shirts, tickets, and jobs. My job as banker, I have to keep a record on everyone's tickets.

Fourth Grade has a lot of new persons. The students in Miss Mitchell's class have adjusted well. Two new students became my best friends. JADE Richards became 1, HAILEY Haussecker became the 2nd friend.

We have a new PRINCIPAL, his name, Mr. WYATT, his game, spanking. YIKES! He also conducts an assembly each Monday. We sing, do cheers, and have fun.

I saved the best for last. This year 4th grade gets to eat on the SNACK & SALAD BAR side! I have not eaten on that side yet, but I know I will in the days that follow. But as I said, I LIKE SCHOOL.

Lori Bredemeyer (4)

I think I will have a great year of school. My first two weeks of school have been great. I have been excited about the science fair for a long time. I hope we place in the science fair. Our field trip sounds really interesting. I think we may take a trip to a museum. I think our new principal will be real nice. I haven't got a chance to be around him very much but he seems really nice. I like my new teacher. She acts very nice. I have two nice teachers. I think we will have fun on the computers. And we got some new computer discs that we could play on.

We have been studying Texas History. We have been sending letters to other places and they are sending us letters back. I can't wait for my mail to get sent back to me.

Colby Walker (4)

Before school I thought it might be hard, but now I love it. I get to eat on the snack bar side. We're having a circus for P.E. I hope I get to be something good. I have been looking forward to the science fair and basketball, we got first place last year. At the end of school when it comes up, I finally will get to be in a track meet! I have a ton of perfect teachers, too!

Aaron Pritchard (4)

I am excited about fourth grade. This year we have a new principal. We will learn Texas History in English. I also like fourth grade because we get to participate in the Science Fair. We will participate in a track and field meet. In G.T., Miss Magee will teach us Latin. I have quite a bit of homework. We get to eat pizza nachos and a lot of other good things at the snack bar.

I have two good teachers, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Magee. This year we go to school longer. I hope the rest of school turns out as good as the first two weeks did.

Jeffrey Jordan (4)

School has been OK so far. On Sunday I couldn't wait for school to start I went to bed early!! I didn't want to get up that Monday morning but somehow I managed. That day we covered books and assigned seats. Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday we just worked. Saturday Grandma came and we had fun in San Angelo. When we got home we went shopping at Heidenheimer's and I got two new outfits for my birthday. On Sunday Grandma and Grandpa left. Monday morning rolled around again and so did school. Tuesday nothing happened. Wednesday I tried out for drums and I made it! Thursday the word didn't seem to change one bit! Today I get to paint Blizzard posters and that will be fun. I really do like school.

Kelli Slimp (5)

Week 1—The Sunday before school started my dad, T.J., and I gave Thunder a bath, sprayed him, and went to spray some other cattle. The next day, the first day of school, seemed a little hectic, but soon everything got organized. That day at lunch I almost sat between two boys cause I forgot we could sit where we wanted. After lunch we went to band and we got a bunch of lectures. The next couple of days were more or less the same. Friday went great because I knew the weekend would come and I could sleep till eight or nine.

Week 2—So far my week has been horrible. Monday didn't seem all that bad, Tuesday I coughed up a storm and left at 3:00 o'clock to go to the doctor in Angelo. I had to stay home Wednesday. Thursday someone pulled a bow off my shirt. Then when I went to take down the flag, I left my good fountain pen under my desk and when I came back it had been misplaced or stolen. Today has been okay.

Shelley Meyer (5)

Week 1—Before school started I thought it would become a terrible life. But when I met Mr. Wyatt it felt like summer had just begun. It feels like summer because we never get homework. The past week we did lots of fun stuff. We even did art. That week we had some homework, but not much. It makes you feel grownup in fifth grade, because you get to sit anywhere you want to in the lunchroom and you get to have band! I like fifth grade!

Week 2

This week went by fast. We didn't have much homework either. This weekend I think I'll get to ride my horse. We had a trial spelling test and I made 100. I can't wait until this class gets over because the fifth grade gets to paint signs for the football team. I hope they win tonight. Once again I will say I love my teachers and Mr. Wyatt. Mr. Wyatt said he gives out "Looking Good" awards to grades. I love school. (well sorta)

I love Fifth Grade,

It makes you feel grownup. You get to do lots of different things,

I love my teachers, too.

They all help you a lot, Even Miss Magee will teach you a plot.

You do stuff in P.E. that you've never gotten to do, Even in the lunchroom you can sit where you want to.

Work you get you can do. Mr. Wyatt the principal loves to make jokes,

He makes the funniest in the world, So that you will laugh, too.

I want to stay in school forever, Since Mr. Wyatt's come, school has gotten fun.

I wish I had school for the rest of my life. (I probably will, a doctor will take up my time.)

Jana Presley (5)

This year before school I didn't want to come to school. The first week of school didn't go too well. First I got behind on my homework but I finally caught up. Enough of the bad stuff. We get to sit wherever we want to in the lunchroom. The teachers act very nice. In social studies we talked about maps. In spelling I made a 100. In the second week of school

Jill Smith and Mike Schwertner

Smith, Schwertner to wed

Frank and Margaret Smith of Ballinger announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jill R. Smith, to Mike A. Schwertner, son of Clements and Marie Schwertner of Hatchel.

Miss Smith is currently a junior at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls and Mr. Smith is a 1990 graduate of Tarleton State University in Stephenville. Both are graduates of Ballinger High School.

We still read in Johnny Trieman. In science class we molded bread and looked at it through the microscope. The new principal acts nice. This year will be great!!!

Matt Angel (5)

Two weeks ago on Sunday I was happy to go to school the next day because at home there is not a thing to do but clean up. That is not my thing.

Jr. Barquera (6)

On Sunday I felt kind of anxious to come to school. It wasn't like I thought it was. It was better than I thought. The first day of school was fun. Mrs. Meyer is a great teacher. I will want to see all my friends but Paula is not here because she moved away and I miss her a lot.

The second day was more fun because we got to go to the band hall.

Priscilla Esquivel (5)

The first day was okay but it used to be better because this year we got to use a pass.

Roger Martinez (5)

The first day of school I like but I don't like getting up at 7:00 o'clock. It is better than fourth grade. I feel older. It was fun in the fifth grade because we do lots of stuff like today we saw molded bread under a microscope. It was fun. Last week it was fun because every time we went to science, Shelley came out of there sick because Mrs. Slaughter showed us the bacteria that is living in our mouth. What I like about school is that I get to play football every day and get to play different kinds of stuff at P.E. It was fun today because we played football. We beat the other teams.

Jesse Reyna (5)

Before school started I was pretty much O.K. except Sunday night I was petrified about everything. For example, if my clothes were laid out, if my contacts were ready, and if my back pack was ready. I was scared Monday morning but became more excited by the minute.

Most of the first day was really boring, like covering books, putting names and paper in folders etc...After the first day I had a lot of homework and in tutorial I was busy, busy, busy. The second and third day was O.K. except our schedule still took a little time getting used to. By the first Friday school was great mostly, because I was now used to most everything. The second week was a total blast. In reading we are starting a Blizzard Stand, for a month. Also the sixth grade is going to start a newspaper.

Jamie Bishop (6)

It all started Sunday night. School would begin the next day. It would be Monday, August 17, 1992.

Toll-free number a gift for old and young

"This Grandparents Day, Sunday, September 13, is the first such occasion when families throughout Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Colorado, Montana, the Dakotas, Utah and Wyoming can give their aging relatives — even those who live far away — the kind of help they really need." Jonathan Linkous, Executive Director of the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging (NAAAA), today declared. "With one toll-free call to the Eldercare Locator, individuals throughout the fifteen state region can get valuable information on a broad array of nation-wide community services for older people.

"Cards and gifts are wonderful expressions of appreciation," noted Linkous, "but they do not address the on-going difficulties that many of our nation's elderly face in their daily living activities. At NAAAA we believe most people want to help but simply don't know how or where to find the assistance and services their older relative may need. And up until now there have not been many easily accessible options. The Eldercare Locator has changed all that."

The Eldercare Locator is a public service of the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging in collaboration with the federal Administration on Aging and the National Association of State Units on Aging. It is designed to furnish callers specific information on how to locate community-based services, such as health, homemaker, nutrition, transportation, legal and others, that are available in every state. Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs), which nationally syndicated columnist Jane Bryant Quinn recently called "the mother lode of

When did my parents get old?

Eldercare Locator

good advice" on services to assist the elderly, have long been recognized for their outstanding record of providing information and advice locally. Now, through the efforts of the national organization (NAAAA), the information resources of all the AAAs in the country have been brought together in one central referral service. Access to that information is as easy as dialing 1-800-677-1116, weekdays from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. EST.

Since the Eldercare Locator was unveiled as a pilot project in the New England states in May 1991, over 7,000 callers have been assisted. "We think that the overwhelming response demonstrates the need we are filling," Linkous said. "But the more important issue is that it represents the first step toward the delivery of assistance to at least 7,000 needy elderly."

Norton Notes

by Janice Lange

"Everywhere in life the true question is not what we gain but what we do."

The community of Norton wishes to express sympathy to Dennis Poe's family.

Lavon and Imogene Hutton attended the Hutton reunion in Shallowater August 29.

Norton received 2.2 inches of rain August 31 and September 1. The rain stopped the sorghum harvest for a few days. The harvest is back in full swing again.

On Labor Day, Lavon and Imogene Hutton had Robert and Dorothy Reed from Austin visiting with them. The two couples fixed homeground corn meal.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to address the column concerning the possible rabid bite contracted by Tyler Springer. Due to the condition of the cat upon arrival in Austin, the cat was unable to be tested.

I beg all residents of Winters or any nearby community to keep your animals shots up-to-date. Also, if you have wild cats around your property, please contact the city and obtain traps where these animals can be captured and impounded. This is a growing problem here and everywhere, but if tackling this situation can save one family this nightmare, it's worth it.

Because of this unfortunate incident, one little boy is going through a pretty tough series of shots, and I might add, this necessary intervention is extremely expensive.

Sincerely,
Cathy Springer

Dear Editor and Staff:

On behalf of the Texas Women, Infants, and Children program, and Project 56, may I extend a very sincere "thank you" to your business establishment, for your support and assistance. We certainly appreciate the hospitality extended to my staff, when we have inquired about running our public service announcements in your local paper. I have seen many of the ads, and I have been very pleased with the service and attention given to them.

May I say thank you again for a job well done. We look forward to working with you in the future.

Sincerely,
Gloria Hale, RN

Star gazers' program to be held at ASU Planetarium

A free star program will be presented Saturday, Sept. 12, at 8 p.m. in the Angelo State University Planetarium to celebrate the Harvest Moon, according to Dr.

Mark Sonntag, director of the University Planetarium.

The Harvest Moon program will include a planetarium session to point out the brightest stars and planets visible during the autumn. In addition the astronomical explanation of the Harvest Moon will be demonstrated.

Following the planetarium program, an outdoor observing session will be held in the Nursing-Physical Science Building parking lot. Sonntag said University telescopes will be set up for viewing the moon and the planet Saturn.

Farmers discuss possible diapause program recently

At the recent Sorghum Field and Information Day, Mr. Sid Long, Executive Director of the Southern Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association, led a panel discussion on the potential for a boll weevil diapause spray program in this area.

Panel members included Dr. Tom Fuchs, Mr. Greg Schwertner, Mr. Rick Minzenmayer, and Mr. Brent Mikeska.

Panel members discussed the feasibility of a diapause spray program, with emphasis upon 100% producer participation.

Economical considerations with practical applications would involve extensive financial support as well as being a program to cover all six counties in the Southern Rolling Plains.

Research from past diapause spray programs in the area indicate that small area diapause spray programs covering only portions of the area would prove relatively ineffective in controlling overwintering boll weevils.

Emphasis was also placed on the need of sufficient funds to be available to counteract any abnormal climatic conditions that might occur with a spray season, especially if the first killing frost occurred later than normal, which would result in the need of additional sprayings.

Most panel members felt that without 100% participation in an all out effort for a diapause spray program, it would be more desirable to prepare for eradication. A partial program would result in less than desired goals and would be generally not economically sound.

Following a good question/answer session, producers were urged to visit with their neighbors and secure their opinions in regard to a diapause spray program and/or future eradication of the boll weevil.

Here are some statements about the program:

- There are approximately 200,000 acres of cotton in the Southern Rolling Plains

- Average production is 110,000 bales of cotton in the Southern Rolling Plains

- The diapause spray program is intended to control the boll weevils where as its goal to eliminate the boll weevil as a serious crop pest

- A basic diapause spray program is estimated to be $12 per acre per year, for a total yearly cost of $2.4 million in the Southern Rolling Plains

- 100% participation would be required to maintain the program
- To be effective, the program would be required to continue until eradication occurs

- There are over 1400 cotton farmers and landlords in the Southern Rolling Plains

- The Texas Legislature and Texas Governor must pass and sign boll weevil eradication enabling legislation

- The producers then must pass a referendum to ratify the eradication program before eradication can start in Texas

- The Southern Rolling Plains includes all of Runnels, Tom Green, and Concho Counties; and southern Taylor, western McCulloch, and eastern Irion Counties.

Wingate Gin owner and operator Brent Mikeska said, "We all realize we can't make it on one-third and half bale cotton. Something must be done if we want to keep cotton in Runnels County."

Attorney General warns of scam

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales last week warned Texans to beware of telephone solicitors posing as Internal Revenue Service agents. In this scam, people are told they have just won a contest and qualify for a large award, provided they first pay federal taxes on the award. The victims are told to send the money to a bogus IRS address and then never see their supposed winnings.

Morales said persons called by someone making this offer should write down who they claim to be and the type of offer; then, notify their local Better Business Bureau and the nearest office of the Attorney General Consumer Protection Division.
