THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE

VOLUME FOUR WINTERS, TEXAS 79567 THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1993 PRICE 50 CENTS NUMBER 4

Winters natives part of medical team to Central America

The Austin Smiles Plastic Surgery Foundation recently made a trip to El Salvador Central America for the purpose of creating goodwill and friendship to a third world country. The 28 member team of medical professionals included two Winters natives, Liz Zuniga and JoRay DeLaCruz.

Of particular interest to the volunteer team are infants and children who are born with facial deformities and reconstructable birth defects. Cleft lip and cleft palate are two of the most common birth defects in Central and South America. These defects can contribute to a variety of medical conditions such as upper airway and respiratory disease, inability to eat properly, leading to malnutrition, and communication problems and poor self image.

Cleft lip and cleft palate deformities can be repaired by skilled surgeons in two to four hours.

JoRay DeLaCruz is a veteran of several such missions to Central and South America. At a recent family reunion, he approached his aunt, Liz Zuniga, about joining the team. She accepted the challenge and the two were part of the recovery room and anesthesia staff.

The group performed 80 successful surgeries, mostly cleft lip and cleft palate. One patient, however, required more extensive surgery and returned with the group to Austin. After a series of long operations to construct a new nose, the patient returned to her village of Matapan.

JoRay stated that it was a great feeling to work with his aunt on a professional level, stating further, "I know she enjoyed the trip and she was a welcome asset to the team. I know she will return on future trips."

Grief recovery series to begin

Hospice of Abilene is offering a grief recovery series in Winters for persons having difficulty coping with the death of a family member, loved one, or a close friend. Participants will focus on understanding loss and grief and developing better coping skills. The program will use educational videos and group discussion on a specific topic each week including:

- * tasks of mourning
- * normal responses to grief
- * difficult mourning
- * coping
- * spiritual issues
- * letting go

For maximum benefit, it is important that all sessions are attended. No new people will be admitted after the first session.

This program is scheduled for six consecutive Tuesday afternoons beginning February 2, 1993 from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall. Offered at no cost, the grief recovery series is available to anyone who has experienced a loss. Enrollment is limited; therefore, reservations are necessary.

For additional information or to make reservations call Kathi Edwards at 754-4608; Joyce Bahlman at 754-4057; or Bettie Bowen at Hospice of Abilene office at 1-800-622-8516.

Named by the Texas Sports Writers to the All-Region Team as second team center was Josh Awalt, Winters High School senior. Josh is the son of Leslie and Jerry Awalt of Winters.

Cemetery lots and Marcus Cable discussed by City

In their regular meeting on Monday, January 25, the Winters City Council approved the building of ten cemetery lots at Lakeview Cemetery.

Mike Meyer of Winters Funeral Home had presented bids from a local contractor to build the lots. Meyer stated, "More people are requesting lots for two people now." Meyer handles lot sales for the city.

The Council had previously approved the building of ten lots that would accommodate six plots each.

The Council instructed City Administrator Aref Hassan to work with Meyer on placement of lots and specifications for the curbing.

Mark Poche with Marcus T.V. Cable was also present at the Council meeting to address any questions.

Councilman Randy Loudermilk asked about the two new basic cable offerings and inquired who had made the choice of channels offered. Poche replied that the two basics were presented to allow people a choice with their pocketbook in mind. The smaller offering was for those who wanted more than an antenna would give them, but not as much as cable had been providing.

Concerning the channel selections, Poche stated that they had been taken from the results of a survey of Winters residents done by a respected New York firm. Loudermilk countered that he had not found anyone in Winters or Ballinger that had been surveyed. Poche offered to send the results of the survey, including the number of people actually contacted, to the Council.

Johnny Merrill of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department presented the City with a $7000 check from Rannels County for rural fire protection. The Council explained that the check had been expected and was included in the budget.

Merrill also reported that an application made to the state for a $25,000 grant had been refused because the state's funds for the year had been depleted. However, state officials encouraged the Winters Fire Department to leave the application for consideration next year, saying that a low interest loan would almost be a certainty.

Monies from the grant were to have been used to purchase the old Furr's grocery store building. Plans had been made to renovate the building to house the fire trucks and for the present storage location to revert to the city.

City Administrator Hassan and Attorney Ken Slimp were asked to investigate several possible legal ramifications that could occur in such a venture.

A request was made by Eva Reyna that consumption of alcohol be allowed during the use of the Community Center. The request was denied citing a City ordinance prohibiting alcohol in the Center.

In other business, the Council voted that Council members' salaries remain the same for 1993 as in 1992. Presently the salary for a Councilman is $600 per year, and for the Mayor, $1200 per year.

Eric Tekell takes first place in elementary geography bee

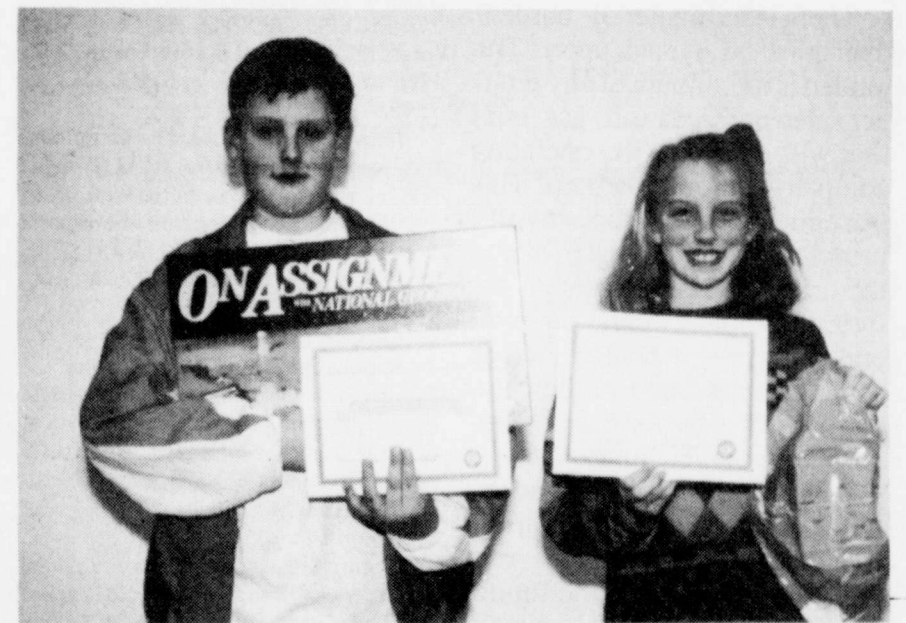

The Winters Elementary geography bee, held on January 20, was won by sixth grader Eric Tekell, son of Teresa and Nathan Tekell. Placing second was Kelli Slimp, daughter of Mary and Ken Slimp.

Sponsored by WORLD, (the National Geographic Society's magazine for children) Amtrak and KUDOS snacks, the contest was the first round in the fourth annual National Geography Bee. The bee, in which fourth, fifth and sixth grade students answer oral questions concerning geography, was kicked off the week of December 15 in the United States, District of Columbia and five U.S. territories.

Other Winters Elementary students who advanced to the fourth round of competition were John Morris Edwards, Mandy Vernon, Barrett Brown, Matt Angel, John Franciscocoe, Jade Richards and Thomas Esquivel.

Eric has taken a written exam, hoping to be one of the top scorers from the state of Texas to participate in the state bee on April 2. State champions and their teacher escorts will be provided an all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D.C. for the National Geography Bee finals on May 25 and 26.

Nationally, the first place winner will receive a $25,000 college scholarship; second place, a $15,000 scholarship and third, a $10,000 scholarship.

First place winner Eric Tekell, left, and second place winner Kelli Slimp proudly display their trophies won in the Winters Elementary Geography Bee held last Wednesday.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1993

It is time for our first "Oil Patch Basics" column for 1993. This year, we are going to explore the finer points of the business side of the industry. We are going to talk about contracts, negotiating points, interests, agreements, financial considerations, royalties, etc.

This month, our topic will be "farm-ins" and "farm-outs".

Definitions are a good place to start.

A farm-in is the process by which an entity (individual, company, etc.) takes a lease on a property from another party other than the mineral owner.

A farm-out is the process by which an entity other than the mineral owner gives a lease on a property. It is the other side of the farm-in. For every farm-in, there must be a farm-out.

For example, suppose Oil Company A has leased 640 acres from Farmer Brown. For one reason or another, Oil Company B wants that lease. If Oil Company A has reason to farm-out the lease (either they don't think it is a good prospect or they are short of money or whatever the reason), then Company B farms-in the lease after negotiating the terms with Company A.

In this example, Company A farms-out the lease and Company B farms-in the lease.

In any farm-in or farm-out, the mineral owner (the "farmer" in the above example) is not involved in the transaction. It is purely a business arrangement by which the two oil companies are trading money for assets (the lease). The mineral owner (except in very rare cases) has given the rights of the lease (for a price) to the Company A, and Company A has the right to do whatever good business sense dictates, assuming it does not violate the original lease agreement between mineral owner (farmer) and the Company A.

Compensation for farm-ins and farm-outs varies widely, but there are some standard remunerations.

Usually there will be some cash up-front. This is, in effect, to compensate the original Company A for any bonus money it might have paid the mineral owner. In reality, the market value of the lease will determine the cash requirement, and it very likely will have no connection to the original bonus paid.

There is the matter of "burden" that must be agreed upon. The burden is the amount of any product sales proceeds (oil, gas, etc.) that will not go to the operating company and/or its partners. This burden includes the royalty promised to the mineral owner in the original lease agreement between Company A and the mineral owner. It can also include some compensation to the company farming-out the lease (Company A in our example).

This compensation is usually termed an "override". An override is a percentage of the income from the lease, now and in the future, that will be paid to the original leasing company (Company A). The override is exactly like a royalty in that it is only an income interest and it carries no responsibility for the expenses of operating the lease.

A working interest does include operating costs as well as a share of the income.

A "back-in" working interest is sometimes promised to the original leasing company as compensation for the farm-out, in addition to the cash payment and the override or as a substitute for one or the other (it is all negotiable). A back-in working interest is an interest that the original leasing company will get at some point in the future if there is profitable production from the lease.

The amount of the back-in can vary from 5 to 25 percent (more or less in rare cases). It is usually triggered by the payout (all expenses of developing the lease have been recouped by production income). The back-in can occur when there is 100 percent payout or when there is 300 percent payout. Again, it is all negotiable.

The advantages to a back-in for the company farming-out the lease is that it can share in some of the upside of the lease. The farming-in company is still protected by the payout provisions, so this type of arrangement is not all that uncommon. Usually the farming-in company will try to avoid agreeing to such provisions because it obviously leaves more for them.

The farming-in or -out of leases is a healthy outgrowth of profit-driven oil patch development. It allows for leases that might become stagnant otherwise due to the original leaseholder being disinterested to be developed by someone else with the interest and the money to do it now. This is good for all concerned—mineral owners and oil companies.

That's it for this month. Next time, we will discuss the by-word of the promoter: carried interests.

Crews News by Hilda Kurtz

If nobody knows the trouble you've seen, you're not living in a small town.

Heartfelt sympathy goes out to Quincy Traylor and his family due to the death of Alice Traylor on Sunday, January 24 in San Angelo. The funeral was Monday at the First Baptist Church in Winters with graveside services in the Crews cemetery. The Traylors lived many years in the Crews community before moving to Winters. Nila and Therin Osborne had visited with Alice in the nursing home on Friday.

Sunday visitors at Hopewell Baptist Church were Janie and Bro. Oscar Fanning, their daughter Sabrina Kelly of Abilene and their son Mack and his wife Cheri and their brand new baby of Dallas.

Jeremy Prater played in the Little Dribblers basketball game in Winters on Saturday. His mom Eileen attended.

Fairy and Wilbur Alcom visited in Brownwood Saturday with Mary Jane and Jarrel Giles and with Ferrell King.

On Monday, Marque and Will Mathis, Eileen Prater and Carolyn Kraatz visited Helen Alexander. Lawanda and Weldon Foreman were also recent guests of Mrs. Alexander.

Enjoying Saturday dinner with Adeline Grissom were Chris and Kris Rives of Austin, Joe Riley Sims of Wylie and Wanda McLarty. On Wednesday evening Adeline, Wanda and Joe were in Abilene to see Phyllis, Von, Jeff and Jennifer Byrd.

Ronald Hill of Sweetwater spent Wednesday with Claudia Hill. Mike Hill of Sweetwater came Friday and Gary Hill of Eastland came over the week end.

Georgia and Connie Gibbs visited her brother Luther McCutchen in Bronte Sunday.

Ruth Pape had a nice phone visit with her daughter Elaine Kennedy who lives in Tampa, Florida.

On Monday, Bernie Faubion picked up her mother, Betty Whittemore, in Dallas. Mrs. Whittemore had been at the bedside of her brother who is in a Dallas hospital. The two ladies traveled to Sentinel, Oklahoma and visited several days with Bernie's grandmother, Bea Dye, and other family members.

After they returned to Crews, they had visits from Melvena and Marvin Gerhart, Becky Brown, Linda Duggan, Kathy Phillips of Abilene and Nila Osborne. Harvey Mae and Noble Faubion spent Sunday with Bernie, Rodney and Brian.

Hilda Kurtz' daughter Hildegarde Asbury of San Angelo spent Thursday and Friday with her mother. They completed several odd jobs.

Mildred and Haeward Morrison were in Kerrville last week. Haeward got his garden almost ready for spring planting while there. The Morrisons were the guests of Wilma Palmer for a luncheon on Thursday. They also made a trip to Del Rio before coming home to the hill near Crews.

Haeward and two other men have kept busy putting up sheet rock. Also, Haeward purchased two Purple Martin houses in need of repair at a garage sale.

Doris Wood recently spent several days in Ft. Worth. While there she attended the funeral of a friend, Eula Mae Graham.

Margie Jacob joined her sister Merline Weishuhn and friends Dot Hohensee and Doris Halfmann from Wall for lunch at Casa Cabana in Winters.

On Thursday night Evelyn, Herbert and Mark Jacob enjoyed "42" with Margie.

On Sunday evening Margie attended the World Day of Prayer at the First United Methodist Church in Winters with Mike and Carol Kozelsky, Janet Cason and Evelyn Jacob.

Senior Citizens Nursing Home News by Billie Ruth Bishop

Eula Cooke was honored Tuesday, January 19, on her birthday. Her daughters, Martha Gehrels and Sue and Floyd Turner, and her sister, Mrs. Harkins, visited and brought her a birthday cake and orange soda pop.

A birthday party was held Thursday, January 21 for all who had birthdays in January. The honorees were: Eula Cooke, Hermine Hasse, Trudy Foreman, Freda Reeves and Gladys Miller. The hostesses were the ladies from Wingate Baptist Church. They furnished refreshments of punch and home made cookies. They also provided gifts for the honorees. We thank this nice group of ladies and appreciate all that you do for the residents and staff of the Senior Citizens Nursing Home.

We thank George and Cleo Brown for the fresh turnips they brought us. Andrea Luna made door decorations for each of our residents. Thank you, Andrea.

The staff, family group and residents surprised me Friday morning with a party in recognition of National Activity Director's Day. Thanks for the beautiful flowers and the recognition. I appreciate it very much.

Mrs. Janie Willborn is a new resident at the nursing home. We wish to welcome her and hope she will have a good day. She is in Room 2B. She would appreciate your cards and visits.

The young man was a good speaker. He was an excellent theologian. Reflective. Scriptural. Orthodox. Practical. That doesn't happen very often, that those four attributes are gathered together in the same person. He was speaking at a theological conference in Dallas, to a group of one hundred pastors. He told us that the church and the clergy are in a crisis, a crisis of purpose. He said that all of us had forgotten why we (the church) are here and what we are called to do. He gave some big words, and gave us some things to think about, and he gave us some encouragement.

But, the big moment in his presentation was when he told a story, a true story, from his life. His son was a Cub Scout. Every year there is a racing derby for the Cubs. Every Cub who wants one can purchase a kit which includes a block of wood, some wheels, and some instructions. The idea is that the Cub and his father, or mother, or someone else will carve that block of wood so that it resembles a racing car, and put the wheels on, and then enter the derby. The winner then advances until he loses or wins.

The son had visions of grandeur. If he could just get his dad to help, surely the two of them could produce a winner. The father wasn't too sure. He was really much better at writing articles or giving speeches. But, he would be a good father and help his son.

It took a while before they got started on the project. In fact, it was the night before the first race before they finally got all the pieces out and started working on it. They worked late into the night, and they finally had it all together. There was only one problem. One of the wheels kept coming off. It just would not stay fastened to the body of the car. The father told his son to go to bed, that some how he would get the wheel securely attached and all would go well.

The next day was the day of the big event. Father and son got into the car. The father was feeling some guilty because he couldn't be there when the race was to be held. He would have to drop off his son, because of a previous appointment. He didn't feel good about that.

In a few moments, just after they got into the car and were heading down the road, his son accidentally knocked the wheel off. The father blew up. "Son, how many times have I told you to be careful?" Do you see what you have done? There is no time to fix it! All the time we spent has been wasted! When will you ever learn?"

The little boy sat there, a tear crawling down his cheek. He didn't say anything. His father looked ahead, straight down the road, seething with frustration, with anger, with guilt. Then the son reached out his hand and touched his father on the arm and simply said, "Dad, I love you."

Pow! Penetration! Straight to the heart! What it's all about, what we all are to be about, called to do! Love. "Love one another as I have loved you." What the Son said. And what this son did. The only thing that really matters. And the only thing that really works!

Women's Service League holds informative meeting

The Women's Service League held its monthly meeting on January 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church fellowship hall.

An informative program on "Wills and Guardianship" was given by Kenneth Slimp. Hostesses for the evening were Rhonda Goetz, Darlus Rosson, Karen Colburn, and Rachel Wheat.

During the business meeting, the Elementary Art Festival was discussed and plans are being finalized for this to take place at the end of February. It was decided to send representatives to the Christmas in April meeting in Ballinger, to learn more about it, with the possibility of starting a similar program in Winters. A donation had been given to the Livestock Association, and donations were also to be given for some medical assistance and for repairs to the Scout Hut.

Members in attendance were Deb Pritchard, Lea Angel, Debbie Goff, Amy Lujano, Michelle Knight, Debbie Bryan, Tammy Kaczyk, Sherry Kurtz, Becky Airhart, Lisa Nitch, Keri Lynn Burns, Sheila Paschal, Rhonda Goetz, Darlus Rosson, J-Lynn Cooper, Debbie Sudduth, Debbie Dexter, Donna Guy, Laura Dees, Dawn Green, Nancy Davis, Karen Colburn, Alecia Wyatt, Rhonda Kruse, Fran Walker, and Chris Parramore.

Canterbury Villa News by Margie Clough

The residents of Canterbury Villa held their January birthday party on the 21st. Everyone enjoyed punch and cake, and wished the birthday residents Happy Birthday. They enjoyed opening the gifts.

Everyone would like to thank the Stitch-N-Time Club for providing the gifts. We would also like to thank the ladies of the Bethel Lutheran Church for providing all the delicious cakes, and helping me serve them. The residents and staff really appreciate all your time and help.

The string band will play on January 26th. Everyone always enjoys listening to the music they play. They will play at 7 p.m.

We are looking forward to a new Arts & Crafts project. Kay Russell of Winters has volunteered some of her time to help the residents with this activity. We are looking forward to having a lot of fun.

Tweety & Ann were here for their Hymn Sing on January 25th. The residents always look forward to singing along with them.

We will have a chip & dip party on January 27th at 2 p.m. Anyone wishing to attend is invited to do so.

Volunteers are always a welcome addition to our facility. Anyone interested should contact me, Margie Clough, at 365-2538.

FBC YOUTH MINISTER—Grant English and his wife Amy are new faces in the community. Grant will be serving as Minister of Youth for the First Baptist Church. He is a May 1992, graduate of Hardin-Simmons with a BBS in Behavioral Science and Bible. He has most recently served as pastoral intern and Sunday School teacher at Crescent Heights Baptist Church in Abilene. Amy is a May 1993, candidate for graduation from HSU with a B.A. degree in all-level Physical Education. She plans to become a coach following her graduation.

United Methodist ladies explore forgiveness

The United Methodist ladies met January 19, 1993, with Odessa Dobbins presiding. Pauline Johnson led the opening prayer. After a business meeting Lois Jones, Lou Hamilton and Billie Middlebrook gave the program "Exploring Forgiveness." Mrs. Dobbins read the scripture Mark 2:5-12. The closing prayer was given by Lois Jones. Refreshments and a social hour ended the meeting. Others present were Nina Hale, Ethel Bridwell, and Evah Hollinger.

Check deciduous trees and shrubs before applying dormant oil sprays

Dormant deciduous trees and shrubs in West Texas should be checked for scale insect infestations prior to dormant oil applications. Dormant oil sprays are used to control most scale insects and certain aphids on deciduous trees and shrubs. A dormant oil application would be of little benefit if the treated deciduous tree or shrub was not harboring a moderate to heavy scale insect infestation.

Scale insects are among the most harmful of plant-feeding insects. Most scale insects are very small and have a hard, waxy, scalelike covering over their bodies. They often appear in large numbers and may weaken or kill a plant by sucking out its juices.

A dormant oil may be used anytime during the dormant season. Best results have been obtained when it is used in late winter or early spring just before the buds break and begin to grow. If applied after bud break, foliage burn may occur.

Dormant oils should be applied when the temperature is between 40 and 70 degrees F (4 and 20 degrees C). Freezing weather should be avoided within 12 hours after applying dormant oils. Avoid getting dormant oil on tree roots.

Dormant oil sprays of about 4 percent strength may be used on deciduous trees in late winter for control of scale insects. Check the label on a dormant oil container for specific instructions on mixing and applying dormant oil spray. Oils are increasingly effective as the temperatures become warmer in the spring and insect metabolism resumes more activity.

Since oil and water do not mix naturally, an emulsifier is dissolved in the oil concentrate to make it mixable with water. Before spraying, each batch of spray should be checked for mixability. The spray should be a milky color. If any oil fails to emulsify in water it should not be used.

When mixing and applying dormant oils, extreme care should be taken to use only the recommended amount listed on the LABEL of the dormant oil container. Check the label for plants that are sensitive to oil sprays. Good spray coverage of treated plants is essential, but avoid excessive spray applications.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Girl of the Month

January's girl of the month is 13 year-old Hollie Cathey, an 8th grade student at Winters Secondary School.

Hollie, the daughter of Cindy and Bill Cathey, enjoys talking and shopping. She is in the band and on the annual staff, where she is in charge of putting together the elementary annual. Her favorite school subject is computer lit.

Hollie plans to take better care of herself and hopes to get better grades.

Her most admired person? Her dad.

HOLLIE CATHEY

Boy of the Month

Jason Butler, son of Jimmy and Cheryl Butler, is the boy of the month for January. Jason is in the 7th grade and is 12 years old.

Science is Jason's favorite school subject, and his hobbies include collecting football and baseball cards. When he is not doing chores around the house, Jason likes to play football, baseball and basketball.

Jason hopes to get a scholarship to attend Texas Tech and he really admires Michael Jordan.

JASON BUTLER

Softball and baseball meeting

There will be an organizational baseball and softball meeting on Monday, February 8. It is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. in the fellowship hall at Mt. Carmel Catholic Church.

All interested parents and coaches are urged to attend, but it will not be necessary for children to attend, as this is an organizational meeting only.

This is not in association with the school's baseball program.

Health and human services meeting

State Senator Steve Carraker and Health and Human Services Commissioner Richard Ladd will be in Abilene on January 29.

Beginning at 3:30 p.m. at Abilene City Hall, 555 Walnut, 2nd floor, Council Chambers, an overview of health and human services will be provided. How budget shortfalls and funding cuts will impact the Big Country economy will be addressed.

Interested parties may contact David Maberry, Regional Administrator for the Texas Department of Human Services, at 915/695-5759, ext. 273.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank North Runnels Hospital employees, Dr. Y.K. Lee and office, Dr. Biddix and office, friends and neighbors; to each and every one for the love, care, food, flowers and cards sent to us during the loss of our daughter, Rene Sloan Chamblee. Gene and Marrene Richardson

Local Farm Bureau members attend conference in Austin

Some 700 state and county leaders are presently attending the Texas Farm Bureau Leadership Conference in Austin.

Those attending from the Runnels County Farm Bureau are Doyle and Ella Condra, LeRoy and Elaine Pelzel, Daniel Redman, and Rodney Faubion.

Texas Farm Bureau President S. M. True will outline the 1993 legislative goals for the state's largest general farm organization. The session will also feature a forum for candidates seeking to succeed U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen who recently accepted the position of Treasury Secretary in the new Clinton administration.

A special election will be held in May to choose a person to complete Bentsen's unexpired term which concludes in 1994.

Osteoporosis presentation heard by Literary and Service Club

The Literary and Service Club met at 6:30 p.m. January 21 in the Educational Building of St. John's Lutheran Church. Sharing hostess duties were Ramona Hanson, Ethel Mae Clark and Selma Dietz. Noma Eoff led the Litany reading and Pat Fenter led the flag pledges.

Billie Middlebrook introduced J'Lynn Cooper, an employee of the Texas Department of Health, who presented a most informative program regarding the factors which increase chances of osteoporosis development and methods which can be utilized to reduce the risk of developing the disease. Also, a film produced by the National Dairy Board and entitled "Osteoporosis and You" was shown to the group. The film emphasized the importance of following a dietary plan with adequate calcium intake and exercising regularly.

Following Mrs. Cooper's presentation, Estella Bredemeyer introduced Mayor Sandy Griffin. Mrs. Griffin discussed plans for the revitalization of the Winters

Community Center, which is to be a continuing project for the next few years. She suggested that various clubs and organizations could help with the refurbishing by possibly including the center as one of their annual projects.

Eula Mae Kruse presided for a brief business session including committee reports and a reminder of annual reports that are due February 1. Scrapbooks of previous years were displayed and members reminded of the exhibit were currently being displayed at the Ballinger Carnegie Library. The exhibit celebrates the important roles women have played in the history of Texas.

Members in attendance included Lela Thomeyer, Thelma Hunt, Billie Middlebrook, Ethel Mae Clark, Doris Prewit, Gwen Andrae, Emily Pendergrass, Ramona Hanson, Betty Wessels, Gloria Pochis, Estella Bredemeyer, Shelia Paschal, Pat Fenter, Selma Dietz, Noma Eoff, Eula Mae Kruse, Darlene Sims and Mary Stanfield.
