Homecoming full of excitement, activities

Homecoming '93 has been in full swing with various activities throughout the week.

WHS Student Council has sponsored Wild Hair Day, Flashlight Pep Rally, 50's and 60's Day, Double Trouble Day, Affection Day, and Blue and White Day at Winters High School this week.

The traditional Blizzard bonfire was held Wednesday evening.

A spirited pep rally will be held Friday, October 8, at 3 p.m. in the gym.

The Literary and Service Club will hold its annual turkey dinner from 5:00 to 7:30 p.m. at the cafeteria. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children ages ten and under. Dessert and drink are included and carry outs are available.

Kickoff for the football game between Winters and Anson will be at 7:30 p.m. in Blizzard stadium.

Highlighting this year's celebration will be the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and Coming Home Queen during half-time ceremonies of the football game Friday evening.

Homecoming Queen candidates are Angela Bryan, Jennifer Matthews, Shana Poehls, and Jennifer Boles.

Fans might also see some new faces in the band this Friday night. Ex band members have been invited to play along with the band in the stands during the game.

Anyone interested in participating is asked to come to the band hall on Friday between 5:00 and 5:30 p.m. to receive music and an instrument, if necessary.

The Blizzard Band will perform their contest routine and a light show immediately following the game. Spectators are asked to remain in the stands to view this event.

At the conclusion of the band's performance, there will be a reception for Winters ex-students in the old gym hosted by the Ex-Students Association. Teachers, friends and relatives are also invited. Refreshments and door prizes will be given.

St. John's Lutheran Church will host an after-game fellowship and meal at the Activity Center for all junior high and senior high school students.

The class of 1943 will hold their 50th reunion on Saturday at the Winters Country Club.

COMING IN FOR A LANDING — Varsity running back John Biddix #12 goes high for the ball during Friday night's tie ballgame at Haskell.

Winters High School Flags—Champs again!

The Winters Band Auxiliaries participated in the West Texas Auxiliary Championships in Lubbock on Saturday, October 2. The twirlers made a good showing for their first competition. They received a division II on their ensemble performed by Jennifer Boles, Robyn Parramore, Jaime Bahlman and Cristi Burton. Robyn received a division II on her solo. There was stiff competition in both events.

Charlie Burton performed a rifle solo and was awarded a division I rating.

This is the third year for the Winters Flags to participate in the WTAC contest. Kristin Deike, Sherry Poindexter and Brandi Gray performed solos written and choreographed by Kristin. Kristin and Sherry both received division I ratings and Brandi was awarded adivision II. Kristin was presented a plaque for the Outstanding Flag Solo out of over 70 performances. Jennifer Matthews also performed a flag solo and received a well-deserved division I rating.

The flags had two ensembles to participate. "Iko Iko" was performed by Kristin Deike, Diane Abernathie, Amanda Collom, Alicia Smith and Elizabeth Gonzales. They received a division I rating. "Queen of Denial" was performed by Brandi Gray, Gayla Clough, Sherry Poindexter, Mary Rodriguez, Veronica Cortez and Adela Fernandez. They received a II.

The flags also competed in the line contest. They performed a routine written and choreographed by Kristin to "Edelweiss." Their performance during the preliminary competition was outstanding. They were selected to perform in the finals against Jim Ned and Hale Center. Hale Center performed a military routine to band music. Jim Ned performed a routine written by Celeste Sosa to selections from "Charlie Brown." Competition was very stiff and the Winters Flags were proud to win the first place trophy for the third year in a row.

Their tired but ecstatic sponsor is Nancy Evans. Band Director is the tired and pleased Todd Felty.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1993

What's that you say? Someone in government is talking about aiding the petroleum industry because of the "tough times those in the oil and gas business have experienced over the last 5 to 7 years?"

No way. This must be some trick by the American Petroleum Institute to make everyone think they are good lobbyists.

"Yes, way", you say. The Clinton administration is actually floating a proposal to provide incentives for the oil and gas business. The plan has the following proposals:

1. Tax credits for exploration;
2. Reducing or eliminating regulatory barriers;
3. Accelerating tax deductions for geological and geophysical costs;
4. Boosting incentives to use natural gas;
5. Simplify tax consequences of investing in oil and gas;
6. Funding more research for small independents; and,
7. Tax incentives for enhanced recovery.

This is really shocking considering the full-frontal blow taken by the industry when the BTU tax was proposed. Now, all of a sudden, the Clintons (Bill & Hillary) are sympathetic to the oil patch. What gives?

Based on the administration's track record, it may be a whiplash reaction to the successful revolt against the BTU tax. It seems it is common for the Clintons to rush to make friends with the enemies it just created—for better or worse.

Or, it may just be a smoke screen in the never-ending barrage of press releases being faxed to news organizations throughout the country on innumerable subjects that will never see actual action by the administration.

Or, it may be an honest effort by the folks from Arkansas to address a part of the energy problem not previously addressed. You see, we have talked about conservation and alternate fuels, but no one seems to be able to grasp the third prong of the energy future: maximizing current supplies of energy.

For the record, there is no talk of an oil price floor (I'm not convinced of the value of such a floor, personally, anyway). The political implications of backing such a floor would be difficult for such a sensitive president to bear, anyway.

In any event, whatever the motivation, it is a good thing that debate for such changes in the tax and environmental code that would equalize the petroleum industry with other heavy industry is going to see the light of day. But, excuse me if I am a little cynical. I have a hard time believing that those in the current administration really feel sorrow for "the 450,000 folks who have lost jobs in this battered industry" (words from a Clinton spokesperson). It is more likely that the Clintons want as many people to like them as possible.

I guess we'll see, won't we?

Senior Citizens Nursing Home News

by Billie Ruth Bishop

The Staff and residents of Senior Citizen Nursing Home extend sympathy to the family of Mrs. Velma Airhart. She passed away Thursday morning.

Dorothy Long has returned to her home in Winters. We are glad she is able to be at home and hope the best for her in the days ahead.

Thanks to George and Cleo Brown for bringing some fresh vegetables to the nursing home. We appreciate all you do.

This is National Dietary Week. The Nursing Home hosted the Employees of Dietary Department with a party in their honor. We appreciate the girls who cook our meals and do a fine job. The following were honored: Sandra Willborn, dietary supervisor; Pam Price, Lori Hagle, Vina Clark, Nell Bowen, Cindy Matthews and Tony Torres.

We are planning and looking forward to the Halloween season. We will have a costume party on the last Friday afternoon. Then on Saturday night before Halloween, the Family Group will host a Trick or Treat party in the lobby of the nursing home, beginning at 5:30 p.m. and lasting until 7 p.m. There will be fun and games and refreshments for all. Come and join us.

Card of Thanks

Thanks! For all those who cared enough to make a difference.

Our town does look better and I think we all feel more satisfied when clean-up efforts are made, and results are visible.

Many concerned citizens turned out to work bright and early last Saturday morning, and several worked on past our deadline of being finished by noon.

May I say "thank you" to each and everyone who helped. It's this type of spirit that shows our concern and pride in our community. Hopefully this action can become contagious so that every citizen will want to do more to promote our city and help make it a place that everyone visiting or venturing through would want to live here if they could.

Poe's Corner

by Charlsie Poe

Fort Mason

Fort Mason was established by order number 46, Headquarters, Eighth Military District dated May 15, 1851. The area where the fort was to be located was recommended by Lieutenant William Whiting following his survey of West Texas in 1849. Major William J. Hardee selected the actual site for the fort in 1850.

The life span of Fort Mason covered almost nineteen years—1851 to 1869—during which time the fort was inactivated several times. The site of Fort Mason was first occupied by Federal troops on July 6, 1851. On this date companies A and B of the Second Dragoons under overall command of Captain Hamilton W. Merrill arrived at Post Hill.

Major Merrill and his command are due the credit for laying out and constructing most of the original buildings on Post Hill. The frontier soldier often had to be as handy with hammer and trowel as with musket and saber.

Fort Mason was principally a horse soldier's post, except for short periods of occupancy by the Eighth and Thirty-fifth Infantry regiments. The fort not only was an important fighting garrison but also a key administrative and command center.

The fort on Post Hill probably was named for Lieutenant George T. Mason, a hero of the Mexican War. The hill afforded a commanding view of the surrounding area. The hill took its name from the military post and came to be known as Post Hill.

Well-watered, the fort was located between two fluid and scenic rivers: the Llano, nine miles to the south, and the San Saba, 23 miles to the north. At the fort of Post Hill to the north was a small stream known as Centennial, Gamel or Mason Creek, fed by numerous streams. It was the main source of drinking water for the garrison.

The buildings of the garrison were well constructed. Limestone, sandstone, cedar and oak—all native to the area—were the building materials used. When the fort was partially rebuilt after the Civil War, some brick was added to the more common stone and wood.

The fort served as a hub for an important network of roads. To the south the road ran to San Antonio. On the west was the road to Forts McKavett and Turret and to California by way of El Paso and Fort Bliss. To the northwest ran the road to Fort Chadbourne; to the north, the roads to Fort Belknap and Camp Cooper; and to the east, the road to Fort Croghan. Mail was brought from San Antonio weekly by special "express." Close communications existed between the frontier forts. The military roads were well-used, and some effort was made to maintain them.

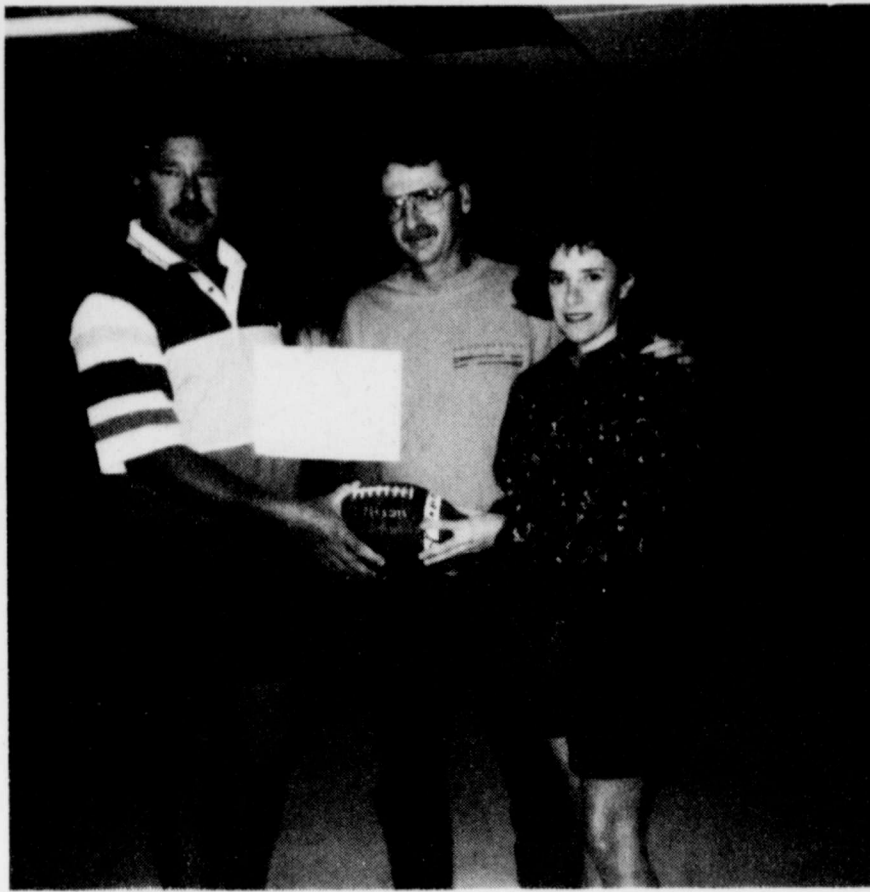

The most colorful and remarkable officer to be assigned to Fort Mason was Colonel Charles Augustus May. He was commissioned directly into the regular Army from civilian life in 1836. May's riding ability led to several brushes with the law in the East. One of his favorite pastimes was riding his horse up and down the steps of hotels, terrorizing the guests.

May's appearance was enough to strike fear into stout hearts. He stood six feet four inches tall without boots and weighed over two hundred pounds. His coarse, dark brown hair "hung down to his hipbone" and his beard extended to his chest. As he galloped on his charger, his hair and beard "streamed out in all directions."

May had a fabulous Mexican War record, but by the time he was assigned to Fort Mason in the fall of 1851, his appearance had undergone a radical change. Regulations forbade the wearing of long hair and required whiskers to be short-cropped and worn only on the chin. Moustaches were still permitted for mounted officers; therefore, May was able to keep some semblance of his hairy visage.

When May reverted to a "crew cut" coiffure, like Samson shorn of his locks, he seemed to have lost some of his devilry and spunk. His tenure at Fort Mason was quite peaceful, and he carried out his assignment as post commander in a quiet, dignified manner.

(The paper was read for Harold B. Simpson at the 1967 meeting of the Edwards Plateau Historical Association by Marcos Grant, Mason County Judge.)

A GIFT FROM THE HEART — Winters Coach Biff White (left) makes very special delivery to Jerry and Jan Sims whose daughter Jamie is confined to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. Members of the varsity Blizzards autographed a football to send along with their best wishes to Jamie. The sixteen year old WHS junior was critically injured in an automobile accident September 4th, and remained in ICU until this past Tuesday when she was moved to the new Hendrick Rehabilitation Center. Coach White holds a thank you note which Jamie wrote.

Historical Commission meets at Rock Hotel October 2

On Saturday, October 2, 1993, the Runnels County Historical Commission hosted the Edwards Plateau Historical Commission at the Rock Hotel.

Neuman Smith opened the meeting with a prayer and Charlsie Poe welcomed the guests with a brief history. A paper on Runnels County history was presented by Charlsie Poe. A paper on Open Range Country mentioning prominent early-day men was presented by Neuman Smith, who also read a poem honoring the old cow punchers.

A business meeting was held and officers for 1994 were elected as follows: President—Neuman Smith, Vice-President—Anthony Lange, Secretary—Mary Margaret Leathers, Treasurer—Della Moncyhon. The October meeting will be held in San Saba.

A memorial service was held for members who had passed away, followed by a moment of silent prayer.

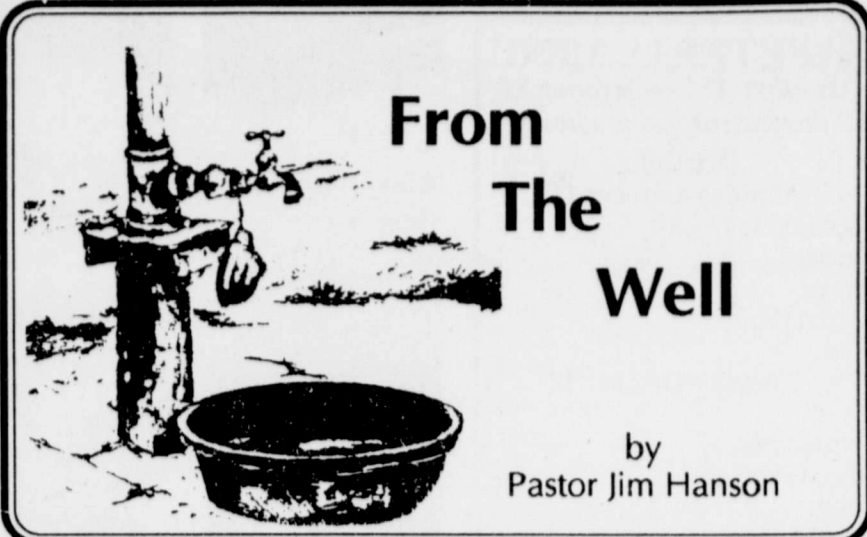

Lunch was served by the Ladies of the Museum with proceeds to go to the Rock Hotel Restoration.

After lunch the guests toured the Museum Complex which consists of the Z.I. Hale Museum, Caboose, Drummer House (where the horse drawn hearse is displayed) and the Rock Hotel.

As a finale, a tape was shown of the Winters Centennial.

A SNIP HERE AND THERE—Guy Slimp and his dad Kenneth were two of several caring workers who turned out Saturday morning to help clean up Main Street.

From The Well

by Pastor Jim Hanson

October 1, 1929 was the day I was born. In Bemidji, Minnesota. In a house rather than a hospital. The hospital had been destroyed by fire. I was the third of four sons born to Arthur and Marie Hanson, who at that time, were serving First Lutheran Church. The night I was born, it snowed!

As I reflect on these sixty four years on this earth, my attitude is one of gratitude. I have been so blessed. My parents were good God fearing people. They raised us up "according to the Book, the Bible." My grandmother modeled wisdom, and faith, and the love of Jesus. Except for five years in a city, I grew up in small towns, in rural America.

My wife Ramona, lights up my life. A gift. Precious. Beautiful. Each day gets better. She came from the same kind of stock. Born and raised on a small farm in southwestern Minnesota. The youngest of nine brothers and sisters. Her parents were solid. They never knew a stranger. Everybody was welcome to their home.

We were blessed with five children. Nathan, Kathryn, John, Paul, and Timothy. All are happily married. At the present time we have five grandchildren, three by Nathan and Ruth; Ezekiel, Samuel, and Anna. Two by John and Julie; Peter and Rachel. Nathan and John are Lutheran pastors. Katie is married to Dan Tvedt, a farmer in South Dakota. Paul and Mary teach in Odessa. Timothy and Stephanie live in Minneapolis and are business people. Each of these three couples last named are expecting babies in '94. All but Timothy, Stephanie, Paul, and Mary live in rural America.

I have been privileged to serve congregations in rural America. Hardin, Montana; Glendive, Montana; and Crookston, Minnesota. Thirty three years. Each of these congregations helped raise our kids, took us into their church family, and made us their brother and sister and for sure made us feel at home. Coming to St. John's in Winters, after serving in Odessa for six years was like coming home. We love it here.

It has been the best of years for us. For me, "I'm so glad I'm part of the family of God." I'm so glad to live and to have lived in rural America. It has been a blessing.

Rural communities are not perfect. But the culture that comes from living on the land is the best. Religious belief. Family ties. The work ethic. The agricultural moral code. The small town's sense of community. These are what make America great.

Richard Critchfield, a world famous anthropologist puts it this way, "There is simply no substitute for the farm and small town when it comes to forming human cultures. this is not a value judgement. It is a simple anthropological fact. A society can work only as long as a large minority live on and farm the land."

Rural communities and monogamous marriage are not featured on TV. TV is an urban machine. As society moves away from its agricultural base, the family breaks down, social ethics deteriorate, crime, drugs, and hopelessness increase.

I don't know what the future holds. But I do know what my past living in rural America and in the family of God has provided. I'm grateful. And I'm proud. As long as I live, I'll promote the small town and rural living as the best place and the best way to raise a family. I'll work in it and for it. And I'm grateful for the privilege of doing so. Praise God!

Lady Blizzards turn in good times

The Lady Blizzard Cross-Country team competed in Coleman on Saturday, October 2. They improved their times and ran well. According to Coach Deb Whittenburg, "These girls were hoping to make this meet their third win in as many weeks. As it turned out, they had to run in the junior varsity division. I made the mistake of thinking the varsity division ran after the junior varsity and it was just the opposite. My apologies to them. When they run in Cross Palins this next week end, they will try for their third varsity win."

Running in the junior varsity division, Lady Blizzard individual times and places were:
Erika Vega - 1st, 13:12
Alina Briley - 2nd, 13:32
Araceli Vega - 3rd, 13:33
Alisa Presley - 4th, 13:34
Carolyn Horton - 6th, 13:47
Janet Guy - 11th, 14:45
Tina Sherman - 14th, 14:50

Individual results are as follows:

Mikey Hernandez (V) - 38th, 20:16

7th grade wins 20-6 over Haskell

With a 20-6 win over Haskell, the 7th grade Breezes' record now stands at 3-1 overall, 2-0 in district.

The offense scored three times, twice by Jr. Barquera-his 7th overall-and once by Kenny Whittenburg. This was Kenny's first time to play running back. Another first this game was Michael Prewit's kicking of extra points. He tried twice and was successful both times.

The defense turned in another fine performance, giving up only one first down in the first half and three in the second half. Jeremy Alvarado led the Blue with a fumble recovery made after a big hit by Victor Flores. In the third quarter Jeremy had an interception return to the 10 yard line which led to Whittenburg's touch-down run.

The Dallas Cowboy method of substituting for the front five to keep fresh players in the game was employed. Coach White stated, "I'd like to mention them because they did a good job holding the opponents to limited yardage."

Nose Guards- Josh Lincycmb, Zachary Jackson, B.J. Gardner. Tackles-Corey VanZandt, Eric Tekell, Chip White, Joey King, John Morris Edwards. Ends-Victor Flores, Junior Barquera, Lee Woffenden, Cody O'Dell, Eric Reeves.

Captains for this game were Joe Ortiz, Eric Tekell, V.J. Santoya and Victor Flores.

COME ON THROUGH— Chip White #72 opens up the hole for Kenny Whittenburg #33 during 7th grade action against Haskell. The Breezes blew by the Indians 20-6.

CUTTING INSIDE— JV running back Arnold Silva #32 makes the quick cut against Haskell Thursday night. Also shown is #65 Josh Grohman, sophomore guard.

Winters ties Haskell

Anson here for Homecoming

In a scoreless tie (0-0), the Blizzards came out on top, sort of. With a 2-1 edge in penetrations, Winters would win if the teams were to end up contending for a playoff position.

The Blizzards had two chances to score in the first half of the ball game but were unable to punch it across the goal line.

The first attempt inside the twenty yard line saw the Blizzard offense fizzle with a penalty for illegal procedure as the major setback.

Coach Byrd commented, "Offensively, we had several mistakes that caused us not to score."

The second opportunity inside the twenty yard line saw a fumble called by the official. The so-called fumble by quarterback John Belew was questioned by several who contended the ground caused the fumble and the play should have stopped at that point.

The defense, as usual, played an excellent game. Byrd says, "Defense did an outstanding job. Up to this point, we have played as a unit. Secondary had several interceptions. It is great to see people going for the ball. Defensive ends also had a good game, along with our linebackers."

Byrd also said, "Kelly Thompson did a fine job of punting the football. He got us out of the hole several times."

The Anson Tigers come to Blizzard Stadium this Friday night for Winters Homecoming. Anson comes off an important matchup with Stamford which Anson lost.

Anson is a good team which preseason polls picked as a playoff contender. Cody Hestand, the quarterback, is one to watch in this game.

Coach Byrd states, "We have got to have the same effort on defense against Anson and when we get the ball inside the 20, we have got to put it in the end zone."

J.V. loses 18-7 to Haskell

Last Thursday night the junior varsity Blizzards put forth a good effort. "Although we had a lot of good things happen, like play execution and playing as a team, we just made too many mental mistakes. We will learn from these mistakes and continue to play better each week," Coach Chuck Lipsey said.

The final score was 18 to 7 in Haskell's favor. Michael Mostad scored on a 1 yard run and James Andrae added the point after.

Ex band members invited to join in at Homecoming

The Blizzard Band would like to invite ex band members to play along with the band in the stands during the Homecoming game on October 8.

Anyone interested in participating should come to the band hall on Friday, October 8 between 5 and 5:30 p.m. to receive music and an instrument, if necessary.

4-H'ers recognized across Nation

By PATRICIA HOHENSEE

Runnels County 4-H proudly celebrates National 4-H Week October 3 - 9. The membership across the county joins thousands across the nation spreading the 4-H message of youth education, leadership & community service.

Through 4-H club work, youth age 9-19 learn subject matters skills in areas ranging from livestock to public speaking. Personal development and nutrition are areas where youth learn healthy lifestyles and high moral standards. Lifetime skills are learned through hands-on-experiences in areas such as agricultural, career development and clothing.

Leadership development is the leading strength of the 4-H club program. Youngsters learn speaking skills through demonstrations, parliamentary procedure, and judging events. Jr. and teen leaders acquire skills to share in the teaching roles with adult leaders.

Heavy involvement in all of the above activities makes for outstanding young people who evolve from the program. The Runnels County 4-H program is as strong as any in Texas and their past accomplishments testify to that fact.

In the past three years, outstanding Runnels youth have earned $77,000 in 4-H scholarships to further their education. Local youth have served a Texas representative at the National 4-H Congress and the National 4-H Conference. For four consecutive years, a Runnels' youth has held a position on the elite Texas 4-H Council. A total of $43,000 was returned to the Runnels County economy in terms of livestock show premiums.

Runnels County 4-H'ers take no back seat in major events. Having 50% of all district record book qualifying for state competition was commendable. Texas 4-H roundup contests saw 27 Runnels contenders this summer walk away with 10 of the top spots. National and state acclaim was garnered by the Horse Judging team.

These are just a few things that 4-H'ers are proud of. It all begins in the community club where

Young farmers loan applications to be available after Oct. 1

The Texas Department of Agriculture is accepting written comments through September on its Young Farmers Loan Guarantee Program. Applications for up to $50,000 in loan guaranties through the program will be available after Oct. 1.

About $1.7 million has been raised for the program from a $5 farm motor vehicle fee that was collected beginning Jan. 1, 1992. However, in order to keep the program constitutional, this year's Legislature designated the $5 fee as voluntary.

Those who paid the fee between Jan. 1, 1992 and Aug. 29, 1993, and who want a refund must file for a claim by Nov. 1 with the state Comptroller. After Nov. 1, refund requests will be processed by the local county tax offices.

Written comments about the program and loan application requests should be sent to Robert Kennedy, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Hunter's Camp

with Don Haley

The trouble with people who don't hunt elk is that they haven't an inkling of what elk hunting is all about.

For example, there are those who believe that elk hunting somehow involves bringing home an elk! Actually, nothing could be farther from the truth. The vast majority of elk hunters know, deep down, that they probably won't even see an elk, much less shoot one.

Anytime an elk is actually taken on a hunt, the mob scene is met with the same degree of numbstruck, unbelievable awe that would accompany your average religious miracle or seeing the Houston Oilers win a game when it really counts.

The true fact is that elk hunting is really about just two things: getting ready to hunt elk and spending days, weeks, and season after season not seeing elk. Of these two basic activities, getting ready to hunt elk is by far the best part of elk hunting.

Such was the scene just this past February. I was busy oiling and wiping my bow, getting ready for this October's hunt.

"Better hurry, only eight more months until elk season. You don't want to be rushed!" smirks my lovely wife, who thinks getting ready and actually going elk hunting about the stupidest thing humanly possible.

"Let's see now," she continues, "new bows, arrows, rifles, bullets, licenses, vehicles, equipment, gas, guides, wasted vacation time, multiplied by about twenty years. That comes to around $4000 a pound and I've yet to see my first piece of elk meat!"

"Got to get ready. This may be the year," I smile at her. I want to say that elk hunting may indeed be an expensive and somewhat eccentric habit, kind of like her non-stop shopping, but decide to keep quiet.

Yes, getting ready to go hunt elk is the real joy of elk hunting. It's re-fletching and sharpening never fired elk arrows, putting a keen edge on never-used elk skinning knives, buying new scopes, blowing new elk calls, ordering equipment from outdoor catalogues, loading and re-loading unfired elk loads, studying elk maps, and talking and corresponding with outfitters who say there are elk everywhere on the mountain and you'll have no problem getting an elk this year.

"Don't forget your bullet, Barney." It's my wife again, awaking me from another getting-ready-to-go-elk-hunting dream. This is her favorite little smart-alec remark. She likes to compare me to that idiot Barney Fife on old Andy Griffin re-runs, who has about as much use for the one bullet he carries in his pocket as a hog does for a side-saddle.

It's true, I've been elk hunting about a million times, and I have never fired a shot or an arrow, but then, that's elk hunting and this is this year. But thinking about it, writing about it, talking about it, and living for it is what getting ready to hunt elk is all about.

The final and very best part of getting ready is setting up elk camp. Tents are erected, gear arranged, lanterns hung and wood split and stacked. Hunters build a fire, lean back and lay in plans for tomorrow's hunt. This scene is generally the highlight of the trip, or, as someone is likely to say, "It just doesn't get any better than this."

And it doesn't! Because tomorrow, everyone must start hunting elk - or rather, begin not seeing elk. In a true triumph of hope over experience, elk hunters rise the next morning and go forth again and again. We are almost sure of the disappointment of not seeing elk that lies ahead, yet each of us would sooner go on an all-day Mall shopping trip than admit it.

In three to five days of not seeing elk, with festering lip blisters from blowing unanswered elk calls, saddle-sore, raw-footed and physically exhausted, we begin to weaken as the mental machinery starts to break down and unravel. To relieve the pressure, someone in camp brings out a new piece of equipment, say a new kind of boot, a high-tech broadhead, or a new elk skinning knife.

Like some kind of tranquilizing drug, equipment talk takes elk hunters back to a better day, back to a time (you guessed it) when they were getting ready to go hunt elk.

"I just don't get it," my wife says, spying the catalogue and filled-out order blank for new elk arrows. "You must have about ten thousand brand-new elk hunting arrows. If you've never so much as gotten a shot at an elk, how did you wear the old ones out?"

Like I said, some people just don't understand what elk hunting is all about.
