No drugs found in search aided by Winters Police

A coordinated drug search of a vehicle passing through Winters on July 5th proved fruitless, despite careful planning and preparation of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Runnels County Sheriff's Office, and the Winters Police.

The late-afternoon search was conducted in the parking area of the Winters Police Department office. It was aided by a drug-sniffing dog from the Texas Department of Public Safety K-9 Division. No illegal drugs were found in the refrigeration truck that was stopped on U.S. 83 just a block north of the State Highway 53 crossing.

No arrests were made, although the driver of the truck was held during the search.

Several officers on the scene mentioned that the search was part of a long-term effort to foil a drug-trafficking operation in the area. Despite the disappointment of missing an opportunity to remove a potentially large volume of drugs from the local market, most officers were hopeful the search would at least act as a deterrent to drug traffic through Winters.

Representatives from all three agencies at the scene expect the surveillance operation to continue.

DRUG SEARCH comes up empty-handed as members of the Texas Department of Public Safety K-9 Division, with the aid of a drug-sniffing dog, along with members of the Winters Police Department and Runnels County Sheriff's Office inspect a refrigeration truck last week in Winters.

City council gives "go ahead" to Texas Main Street Program

During the regular meeting of the Winters city council on July 11, council members unanimously approved a resolution authorizing participation in the Main Street Program.

The concept of the Texas Main Street Program, governed by the Texas Historical Commission, is to bring preservation-based commercial revitalization to communities.

The Main Street method involves rehabilitation of existing structures capitalizing on the unique character of the buildings, joined with development of progressive marketing, promoting and management techniques.

Each year, five cities are selected to begin the three-year project. Many cities opt to continue the program beyond the three years.

Winters City Administrator Aref Hassan said, "There are many cities that have success stories about Main Street. They have revitalized their downtown area starting with Main Street. In most of these cities, businesses have picked up, the economy is better and the ad-valorem tax and sales tax base are built up."

During the 94-95 fiscal year, the City of Winters has an estimated appraised value of $40,334,240.00. In FY 93-94, the value was $41,588,580, which is a loss of approximately $1,254,340.00.

A grant funded by the Texas Community Development Program allowed the City of Winters to have a plan prepared by Hibbs, Oller & Todd, Inc. This plan showed the changes necessary for the city to comply with American Disabilities Act requirements.

Now the city will try to receive a grant from the Texas Department of Transportation for funds necessary to carry out the actual work to meet these requirements which include 32 standard curb-cut ramps and ten special ramps with hand rails.

Completing these ADA changes will improve the city's involvement in the Main Street Program.

Participation in the Main Street Program has also been endorsed by the Winters Area Business and Industrial Corporation, the Winters Lions Club, the North Runnels Hospital District, the Winters Independent School District and the Winters Area Chamber of Commerce.

Deadline for application to participate in the 1995 Texas Main Street Program is July 29, 1994.

County commissioners approve bids

During a special session on July 6, the Runnels County Commissioners accepted the bid of West Texas Equipment Company of San Angelo for a new Caterpillar 140G Motorgrader for Commissioner, Precinct #3.

Purchase price is $120,675.00. The county will trade in a 1964 Caterpillar motorgrader for $13,000.00 and a 1962 Caterpillar motorgrader for $12,000.00. With these trade-ins the purchase price will be $95,675.00 with a guaranteed minimum repurchase at the end of five years or 5,000 hours, whichever comes first, at $97,500.00.

Another bid was submitted by AirMaster Equipment of Abilene, Inc., for a John Deere motorgrader in the amount of $124,590.00. The trade-in equipment was offered at $23,000.00, leaving a purchase price of $101,590.00, with a repurchase at the end of five years or 5,000 hours at $104,860.00.

Commissioners accepted a bid for the old tax office building located at 138 West Dale in Winters. Randall Conner with Farmer's Seed and Supply submitted a bid for $2,600.00. The building is under lease until August 11, and will be sold to Conner on August 15.

bid on this building for $1,800.00. Loreta Michalewicz, District Clerk, requested $4,688.03 to be paid out of the Revenue Sharing Fund and $500.00 to be paid out of the Courthouse Record Management Fund in order to pay Business Records for microfilming. The court approved this request.

Two contracts were approved by commissioners. The first was an interlocal agreement between Runnels County and the Department of Public Safety.

The county will purchase alcohol blood test kits to be placed at the hospitals. The cost of these kits is $70.00.

The other contract was between Tom Green County Community Supervision and Corrections Community Re-Enrichment Work Program and Runnels County. This contract will allow Precinct #4 to work probationers who need to obtain community service hours.

Three new part-time employees were accepted by Commissioners. They are Janet Cason with the Winters Aging Service, Frances Lisso in the District Clerk's office, and Pat Parker as Assistant County Treasurer.

A $2,000.00 bond was also approved for Pat Parker.

J. B. McGuire, Veterans Affairs Officer, was given approval to attend the 47th annual state conference.

The proposal by Lone Star Gas Company was approved to replace a gas main in Rowena on George Street.

The Commissioners accepted the resignation of J. D. Wilson as Emergency Management Coordinator. Red Gerhart of Winters was appointed as the new coordinator, which is a non-paid position.

An order was passed to approve the payoff in the amount of $3,609.29 of the KLH Model 386DX computer system used in the County Auditor's office and in the County Treasurer's office.

Those present for the meeting were Michael B. Murchison, County Judge; Commissioners Skipper Wheelless, J. D. Wilson, James T. Self, and Richard Strube; and Linda Bruchmiller, County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of Commissioners' Court.

OIL BUSINESS . . .

By Reg Boles ©1994

Don't look now, but things are picking up in the oil patch.

O.K., so there is no boom, boomlet, or even a tick-tock foretelling another boom, but there is some refreshing optimism out there.

The busiest seem to be the workover companies and the stimulation companies. I'm not sure why, but maybe it has to do with operators willing to do the necessary maintenance on their wells that they have been putting off during the lower prices of the first part of the year. I am sure that the service companies will take the business, first, and worry about the "why's" later.

The nice thing about any new activity in the oil business is that it can have a great radiating effect—much like a rock dropping in a still pond.

As we have discussed at other times, spending in the oil patch helps service companies, local retailers, and financial institutions. They also affect other operators who are safer in a crowd than they are out there all alone.

The operators who are watching the leaders spend money on worthwhile projects will start to loosen their purse strings a little bit, too, now.

In any case, workover rigs and the inevitable stimulation job will show the first upticks in activity. Sometimes this can portend even greater spending in the future as higher prices bolster everybody's confidence to invest.

Dirt contractors, pump shops, oil field equipment stores, and even drilling contractors could become more active during the latter half of the year. This will cause logging companies, cementing companies, roustabout crews, and chemical companies to see an increase in business as the optimism spreads.

All of this is good news for a lot of people, not just in the oil patch, but in just about every small town in Texas. The best thing is that it is happening. I am not just predicting. I have been talking with folks in the field this past week or so, and they all feel that the pace is picking up.

Oh sure, there are some who are not seeing it, yet, and they are still unhappy. There are also those that feel it isn't good enough to just see a little new business—they want the boom back.

Well, those folks may be in for a long wait—or so it seems. Oh well, that is another column for another day.

Saint Lucas Lutheran Church is an "open country church" located near Cottonwood, Minnesota. It stands tall in those rolling plains, with its steeple reaching for the sky. It has a parking lot, a parsonage and a cemetery. Ramona's parents are buried there.

The inside is beautiful. A tall white altar stands at the front, with a painting of the resurrected Jesus talking to Mary in its center. The altar is framed by two stained glass windows that are brilliant when the sun's rays are filtered through them.

Ramona and I were married there on June 16, 1954. It was a beautiful day. The sun was shining - big billowy clouds, blue skies. After lunch Ramona and I picked peonies from the neighbor's farm yards (we had their permission) for our altar bouquets, four big baskets of them. That night, at 8:00 p.m., we met at the altar, made the promises before God and other folks gathered there, and we two became one. My dad was the preacher. All of Ramona's family were there, and all of mine. Many of our friends from college and seminary were there. A grand time - I think Ramona and I were the last to leave the church - we didn't want to miss greeting and visiting any of them.

This year on June 19, 1994, we came back to the church, Ramona and I, and all of our children and grandchildren. Many of Ramona's sisters and brothers were there. The ring-bearer barbecued the pork for the dinner. The maid-of-honor was there, two of the bridesmaids were there. Ramona's brother Bob, a minister celebrating his 40th anniversary of ordination, was there. We gathered for a service of remembering our marriage - an anniversary celebration in church.

This time we walked down the aisle together. And sat in the front row. The Scriptures were read by our children. Brother Bob conducted the service. We repeated our promises - "To have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death us do part, according to God's holy ordinance, and thereto I plight thee my troth." Nate and Ruth sang I Corinthians 13, the famous "love chapter" of the Apostle Paul. And, our granddaughter Rachel punctuated many of the silent spaces in the service with her cries and protests. Ramona and I smiled.

It couldn't have been better - no better place and no better way to celebrate. Ramona and I were passionately in love. We married. We were lovers. Then parents. Then partners. And now, friends. I have a much deeper appreciation of Ramona as a person, a woman, and a mother than when we first met. She knows me better, too. The forty years went by - quicker than a wink. But, for the most part, we have enjoyed ourselves. And when we look back on some of the bad times, even they look good - because going through them together brought us closer together with each other and with Him.

So, we celebrated. 40 years. At Saint Lucas - out in the country. As my sons and I were walking through the cemetery looking at the gravestones, reading the names, remembering, one of them said, "You know, when I was a boy, I used to wonder 'What's so great about St. Lucas? It's just a little old church out in the country!' Now, when I think about St. Lucas, I see it as the very best church in the world." And I smiled. And I thought - for sure! Because it is the place of celebrations - of life, of death, of eternity. Where we meet with God in those holy moments when time stands still and eternity breaks in. Thank God for St. Lucas. Thank God for the Church.

Poe's Corner by Charlsie Poe

The McNeills Move to Runnels County

Most of the 17 families who came to Plainview together to homestead gave up and left long before John and Carrie did in 1905. The railroad came to Plainview causing a land boom. Because of this and the hardships, John decided to sell out. By then he had 1600 acres. He sold at $10 an acre, receiving 16,100. Also, he had cattle and other property.

John, remembering his Arkansas home, dreamed of trees, a fishing hole and a place for his boys to hunt. He went to Runnels County on horseback in 1905, found the ideal place -- near Winters, on Valley Creek -- with pecan trees and squirrels. Most of it lay in a valley and he loved valley land. He paid $16 an acre for the first land he purchased in Runnels County.

The McNeills moved from Plainview to Bomarton in covered wagons. Here, Carrie and the children stayed with her sister and husband while John and Clovis took the wagons on to Runnels County to prepare a home. The original house contained a kitchen, side room, old-fashioned fireplace, front room and hall. John wrote the family to come to Sweetwater by train. This was great experience for all the McNeill kids. The family stayed at Joe and Belle Martin's (Carrie's sister) until John came in a wagon to get them. It was 40 miles on to their new valley home near Winters.

After the move to Winters, two more children came to join the family, Eunice Irene (1907) and John Ernest (1909). This made ten children. The six not previously named were Archie, Ira, Verdie, Ethel, Eula and Clara.

In 1915 the family home was built. There was a wrap-around front porch (an oaken bucket filled with fresh windmill water always hanging there), the parlor where the girls entertained and the front room with the big fireplace. There was a huge kitchen and a large dining room. Stairs led to small attic bedrooms.

The children attended Pleasant Retreat School located near Poe's Chapel Methodist Church. They walked the two miles to school, except on severely cold days, when they went in a wagon.

John did not believe in hard field work for his girls, but he thought everyone should do his part and jobs were assigned. Ira usually did the milking and grabbed some apples as he headed for the barn, then ate a hearty breakfast.

Imagine buying groceries for this crew! The grocery list read something like this: bushel of apples, barrel of syrup, 50 lbs. of flour, 10 lb. rib roast (John's favorite). They ate well and were a healthy family.

When the creek flooded, the kids had a great time jumping in the water. They let the current carry them downstream until one of the older boys caught them.

John always got the best for Carrie. The first car was purchased in 1915. Electricity was soon bought—but an indoor bathroom! John was stubborn about that. Not until the girls insisted and Carrie was getting older did he relent.

John and Carrie were leaders in their church. Their children, the girls dressed in white, were usually there. Some of them went off to boarding school and college. Others did not finish because of hard time, drought and war. Archie was a corporal in World War I; Irene graduated from college; Moss married young and had a large family of her own.

As the children began to marry, most settled nearby. When the grandchildren began to arrive, the old home place became a meeting place. On Sundays, Carrie prepared the meat and the daughters and daughters-in-law brought vegetables and desserts for the feast around the big oak table. While the women cleaned and talked, the men settled their problems on the front porch and the grandchildren (35 in all) played at the barn or on the creek.

The cookie jar was always filled with molasses cookies and placed in a big crock jar on the bottom shelf of the pantry within easy reach of the many visiting grandchildren.

John enjoyed the radio. He was an admirer of Will Rogers and Don McNeill. Hoy and Dorothy West once took him to see a Will Rogers movie. They also took Carrie to see a Shirley Temple movie. A trip to California in the late twenties was a high point in their lives.

John spent many hours, during the later years of his life, on the porch looking across his valley.

John and Carrie died in 1942 within two months of each other. They left each of their ten children a farm, and many lessons used all their lives.

They were an inspiration to the many people who had known them.

Summer TIPS involved in many activities

The Summer TIPS program is off and running and the kids are having a wonderful time!

Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons are swimming days. Tuesdays are field trip days and Thursdays are skating days.

The last two Tuesdays, the TIPS group has been at Rose Park in Abilene (having watermelon parties) and at the Abilene Christian University Recreation Center where they bowled, played pool and enjoyed lots of other games.

On Tuesday, July 12, TIPS will visit Grace Cultural Center in Abilene.

The children are working on a musical entitled "Lovin' Kindness" and are excited about performing it for friends and family.

All in all, it's a wonderful summer for everyone involved!

Baptist women hear G.A.s report

Women of First Baptist Church met in the fellowship hall on Tuesday, July 5 and heard the G.A. girls give a report of their recent week-long stay at the Lake Brownwood Encampment. DeAnna Goff, Kristin Goff and Stacy Sneed told of their studies: the theme of the week being "Secrets of Africa."

The campus was dotted with grass huts and the girls studied customs, foods and culture of Africa. They were members of the Berber tribe. Tooter Harrison was their sponsor. Marsha Shoemake was sponsor for the Acteens, who also attended the encampment. They were LeeRand Green, Jessica

Rand and Angela Shoemake. There was a total of 430 people present. Jo Olive Hancock, president, introduced Susan Conner who led the women's program on Tumbling Walls and Opening Doors. Cheryl Sneed sang "Joshua fit the battle of Jericho, and the walls came a-tumblin' down."

Perhaps the most dramatic wall that is tumbling today is called "apartheid" (uh-PAR-tight). As the walls come tumbling down in South Africa, more doors of opportunity will open for the witness of Christian groups. The meeting was closed with prayer and refreshments were served to guests and members.

Dessert was served and roundtable discussion held. Attending were visitors Marcie Webb and Parrie Carlisle and members Eunice Polk, Dortha Lawrence, Lillian Eubanks, Verlene Anthis, Charlsie Poe and Ella Mae Sawyer.

Game warden's job is certainly not a game

Texas game wardens have a tough job. They roam the woods and waters of the state protecting our natural resources. They also have to deal with every kind of situation conceivable.

* A Cleburne game warden investigated a jet ski accident on the Brazos River above Lake Whitney. Two 20-year-olds crashed skis, causing one subject to lose his teeth and half a tongue.

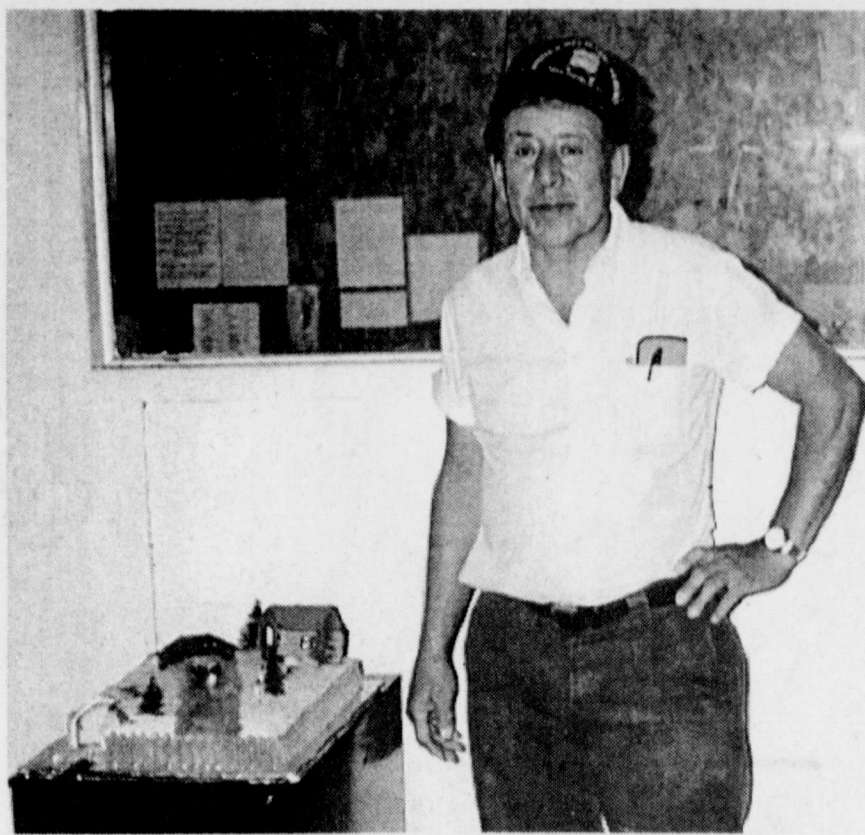

* The Galveston law enforcement office received a complaint from a man who was cited for not putting a life jacket on his 4-month-old baby. The man complained the life "preserver" made the baby cry. (Considering how many hours game wardens spend searching for drowning victims, a baby crying is a beautiful noise.)

* On Memorial Day weekend, a Roby game warden found two young men with a mess of catfish grabbed from the Brazos River. One of the men summed up the situation by saying, "This is Memorial Day weekend and you're supposed to be working at Lake Colorado City every weekend."

* Two game wardens patrolling Lake Conroe sighted two men in a boat fishing. The men passed all the checks except they were in possession of five undersized catfish. The men said they were going to release the fish when they got back to the dock. They said they were afraid they would catch the fish again if they released them while they were still fishing.

* A Cass County game warden received a call about a man in his late 40s falling out of a boat and drowning in a private lake. After the body was recovered, the man's life jackets were found in the front seat of his pickup.

* A Clarendon game warden stopped an attempted suicide in late May at Greenbelt Lake. An intoxicated woman became depressed and decided to end it all by swimming out into the lake until she couldn't swim anymore. Her husband went swimming after her to try to stop her. They were overtaken in a boat and both hauled aboard.

Winters High graduating class of 1954 has 40th reunion

Submitted by Ruth Cooper

The graduating class of 1954 of Winters High School held their 40th Class Reunion July 2, 1994, in the Winters V.F.W. Hall.

In a business meeting conducted by James Gehrels, time was set aside to remember teachers and class members who are deceased. Tentative plans are to hold the next reunion on the last Saturday in June of 1997.

The theme of the 1954 Glacier was oil. An oil derrick is embossed on the cover and the pictures inside were of pump jacks, tanks and other related oil equipment. It was for this reason that just over one-fifth of the class and their families had moved to Winters. Sixty-four students graduated in 1954. From that class, eight students are deceased. One class member, Dean Lynch, has never been located.

Beginning with their 25th year after graduation, reunions have been held every five years. Thirty-seven class members attended this year's reunion. A noon meal of barbecue was catered by "The Shed" of Wingate. Class members, spouses, and visitors enjoyed visiting and reminiscing.

Those attending were: Walton and Barbara Jackson of Twain Hart, California (travelled the longest distance); Ronnie and Donna Bennett of Dennard, Arkansas; Max and Virginia Parker of Fordyce, Arkansas; Robert and Wanda (Russell) Brown, Gerald and Nan (Thetford) Howard, and Rose (Best) Partee, all of Abilene; Milton Bryan of Ballinger; Roy Burton of Texas City; Wendell and Betty Gideon of Stephenville; Betty (Burlson) Dean and Cecil Tekell of Wingate; Don Draper, Ralph and Margaret Hill, Arby R. and Lynn (Lacy) Holbrooks, Rhuennell (Compton) Poe, all of San Angelo; Wayne and Pat

Gideon, Bill and Wanda Jean (Wessels) Howell, all of Midland; Bob and Marian (Spill) Guerin of San Marcos; Billy and Peggy James of Levelland; Kenneth and Clarice Mills of Monahans; Patsy (Woods) Robertson of Tuscola; Gene and Lennis (Moore) Robertson of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma; Johnny Walker of Ovalo; Charlotte (Glover) Whaley of Denton; Garlan and Frances Williams of Snyder; Lee and Sue (Hamilton) Wood of Carrollton; Juanita (Pruser) Bredemeyer, Ruth (Vogler) Cooper, Don and Nola Gene (Virden) Davis, Charlie, Jr., and Laveta Eubanks, Barbara (Yates) Everett, James and Martha Gehrels, Bill and Shirley (Scott) Hall, Felton and Bobbie Sue (King) Jackson, Janie (Busher) Mabry, all of Winters;

Visitors: Mrs. Charles Kruse, Jr., former teacher; Mary Kurtz and Bob Webb, all of Winters;

Mrs. W.W. Best of Bradshaw; Marqué and Will Mathis of Crews; Cotton Everett of Buffalo Gap; Jerrell Walker of Wingate; Mona Blalock of Houston; Paul Wood, Caleb and Hannah of Carrollton.

Teachers attend education seminar

Winters Elementary teachers Marthiel Russell, Helen Grantham, Mary Beth Ahrens and Barbara Waggoner recently attended a week-long seminar in Ft. Worth.

The ladies attended workshops on "Providing Support to Students with Behavior and Learning Challenges in Regular Education Classrooms" at the Southwest Institute for Inclusive Schools and Communities.

Warning to teens and parents: Curfew will be enforced

The Winters Police Department reminds the public that there is a Curfew Ordinance in effect in Winters. This ordinance prohibits anyone under the age of 17 being on the streets after midnight, with certain exceptions.

Police report that many youths under 17 are being identified after midnight.

Teenagers are the legal responsibility of their parents. Parents will be receiving citations for their children having violated the Curfew Ordinance.

First-time violators are given a warning citation and their parent/guardian receives a letter from the Police Department notifying them of the incident. Second-time violators receive a warning citation, parent/guardian receives a letter and the violator and parent/guardian must meet with the police to discuss the problem.

If there is a third violation, the juvenile and the parent/guardian will be issued a citation to appear in court and a fine can be assessed.

Many juveniles and parents have received second warnings. The third step is more severe. Parents with juvenile children are strongly urged to make sure their children comply with the law.

Note: Several complaints have been received concerning slow response by the police. Slow follow-up has also been cited.

The past few months have been extremely busy ones for the Winters Police Department. The PD consists of only five officers who are called upon to answer calls, carry on investigations, do paper work and do their own follow-up work, usually during regular shift time.

The citizens of Winters are assured that the officers are carrying out their duties to the best of their abilities, considering the overload at this busy time.

Final Certification deadline

The final date to report your spring seeded crop acreages is July 15, 1994. This includes cotton, grain sorghum, forage sorghum, sesame, ACR, home gardens, pea patches, and other vegetables and fruits. Acreage reports are important and failure to certify may cause loss of program benefits and loss of future year's crop base. Participants in the Acreage Reduction Program or CRP are required to certify to remain eligible for payments. All cropland must be accounted for when reporting.

You should remember that your acreage report is subject to spot check and should be as accurate as possible. If you are unsure of the planted acreage, we offer measurement service for a nominal fee.

No appointments will be taken during the week of July 11-15. Producers will be assisted on a first come first serve basis.

God bless our little ones

by Janis Hounsell

I am a grandmother. I know the pain of losing a grandchild.

During the 4th of July weekend, one couple in Rotan lost seven grandchildren at one time.

You have probably heard the public service spot on TV where the man says, "Most accidents aren't accidents. Most accidents are caused by carelessness."

The wreck which occurred near Snyder was such an accident. Twelve children were riding in the bed of a pickup — unprotected. They didn't have a chance in the collision with an 18-wheeler.

Less than a year ago, Winters came very near losing that most precious of commodities, a young life. Some high school students were taking a ride in a small pickup, several of them in the back. Speed was not a factor, nor was another vehicle involved. There was only a patch of shifting gravel, causing the young driver to lose control. The truck overturned and, by some miracle, only one teenager was seriously injured. Mercifully, she is alive today — another miracle.

Those of us who did not grow up with seat belts sometimes find them a nuisance. Clothes get muddled. They're restricting.

Our grandson was not wearing a seat belt. How we wish it had been second nature to him to "buckle up."

Most of us have ridden across town in the back of a pickup. Most of us have allowed the little ones to do the same. Not for a long distance. We insisted they sit down.

The 18-wheeler was totally unexpected.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT COULD BE AGAINST THE LAW.

Sometimes you think you're following the rules, when, in fact, you're breaking them. Take hiring. There are laws about hiring workers that you, as an employer, need to know.

For example, you may not discriminate against job applicants or employees because of their national origin or citizenship status. In almost all cases you cannot require U.S. citizenship. And, it's always illegal to demand to see specific documents, like a green card, or not accept other authorized documents that prove a right to work.

Find out the rules. They're easy. And it can save your business from facing severe penalties. For more information, call 1-800-255-8155 (TDD for the hearing impaired, 1-800-362-2735) or write: Office of the Special Counsel for Immigration-Related Unfair Employment Practices, U.S. Department of Justice, P.O. Box 27728, Washington, DC 20038-7728.

LOOK AT THE FACTS. NOT AT THE FACES.

Department of Health warns of rabies

In the first four months of 1994, the Texas Department of Health recorded 123 cases of the fox strain of rabies from 19 counties in West and Central Texas. Gray fox rabies is defined as rabies that is transmitted from fox to fox or any animal that is infected by a rabid fox. During the month of April two rabid foxes and a rabid raccoon were recorded in Coleman County. Laboratory tests performed on the raccoon and one fox determined that the animals had the Texas fox/Mexican dog (TFMD) strain of rabies. The test result on the other fox is pending. This indicates that the fox rabies outbreak in McCulloch, Concho, and Tom Green Counties has progressed northward across the Colorado River. In April, Mitchell and Runnels Counties each recorded a rabid fox; eventually, Nolan and Brown Counties may be involved in the outbreak.

Rabies is a viral disease primarily transmitted by the bite of an infected animal. All mammal species are susceptible to rabies, but it is most frequently observed in carnivores (flesh-eaters), bats, and livestock. Animals infected with rabies may show any of the following symptoms: Nocturnal (active at night) animals that are active in the daytime; Wild animals acting bold, friendly, or tame; Unusually aggressive behavior; Excessive salivation; Paralysis; Any behavior that is abnormal for that animal species.

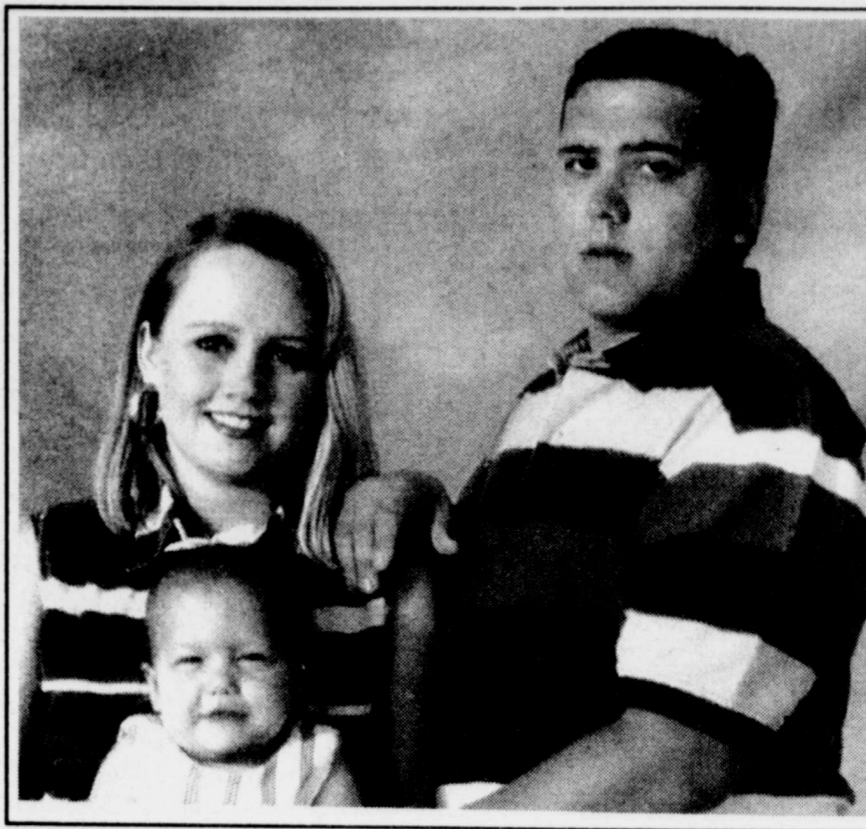

It is important to remember that not all rabid animals exhibit the classic signs of rabies. People should exercise caution when dealing with stray or wild animals. Children, especially, should be taught how to avoid rabies exposure.

Rabies is a fatal disease, but it can be prevented. Human and animal vaccines are available. If anyone suspects they have been exposed to a rabid animal they should contact their family physician. Suspected rabid animals should be reported to the local health authorities.

Individuals can reduce their risk of exposure to rabies by using the following measures: 1) Immunize all domestic animals (particularly dogs and cats) against rabies 2) Keep dogs and cats at home - do not allow them to run at large 3) Impound or eliminate stray or unwanted dogs and cats 4) Avoid contact with stray or wild animals 5) Consult your physician or veterinarian about possible exposures to rabies.

Terry Sneed & "Up the Creek" to perform at CCEC Annual Membership Meeting

Mr. Terry Sneed & "Up the Creek" band of Winters will be entertaining at the 56th Annual Membership Meeting of the Coleman County Electric Cooperative on July 22 at the Ballinger High School.

Terry Sneed's "Up the Creek" band is quickly making its mark with the Texas dance scene. Since Terry formed the band in late 1991 some of the finest Texas musicians have joined him. The "Up the Creek" band consists of Glendell Williams' fiddle, Rick Johnson's steel guitar, Stan Walker's piano, Slim Hodges' bass and Rip Willis' drums. The entire band has an extensive background in Western Swing, but also entertains with traditional country and top forty hits.

Terry was chosen by KEAN radio and the Ben Richey Boys Ranch in Abilene to be the feature band in both 1992 and 1993 for the world's largest annual Super Bowl Chili Cookoff in Buffalo Gap. In 1993 and 1994, they were picked to entertain at the Wild Game Feast and Killers' Reunion held at the fairgrounds in Abilene on Super Bowl Sunday.

In December, 1993, Terry and band entertained record crowds at the world famous Cowboy Christmas Ball in Anson. During this Texas tradition they were joined at the Friday night performance by Michael Martin Murphy, and at the Saturday night performance by the legendary Leon Rausch and the Texas Panthers. They have also been invited to entertain at the annual Legends of Western Swing Reunion to be held in Texarkana in July, 1994. An album is soon to be released on the Stage One record label that will be a tribute to the Texas legends.

Please make plans now to attend the Annual Membership Meeting of the Coleman County Electric Cooperative, and enjoy the fine music of this talented band.

Sixteen girls participate in Babysitting Clinic

The Runnels County Young Homemakers sponsored a Babysitting Clinic on Saturday, June 4 at the Winters High School Home Economics Building.

Speakers included Sue Prewit, RN; Winters Police Officer Toby Virden; Bobbie Collom, EMT at North Runnels Hospital; Sharon McGinnis of Child Protective Services and Frances Bredemeyer, retired school teacher.

Prewit, who is with the Texas Department of Health, spoke on basic baby care including bathing, feeding and how to hold babies. She also gave advice concerning appropriate toys for children of different ages.

Virden gave an informative program on keeping children safe, including the use of the 9-1-1 system and bad weather safety.

White grub control in home lawns

The time to treat for white grubs in lawns is approaching. The white grub is the larval form of an insect commonly known as the May or June beetle. They live in the soil and feed on grass roots. Their feeding causes the grass to die in irregular-shaped areas and the grass can be rolled back like a carpet.

There are several ways to determine if your lawn has white grubs. You could wait until the irregular-shaped brown areas show up and roll the sod back like a carpet, but this may be too late. The best way is to take a shovel or knife and cut a flap (one square foot of grass on three sides) and roll the flap back. Examine the roots in the upper 4 inches of soil for white grubs. Make this test in several different places in the lawn during early to mid July. If you find more than 2-3 grubs per square foot of sod, an insecticide treatment is needed.

The best time to treat for white grubs is when the grub worms are less than 1/2 inch long and located within the top one inch of soil. This should be from around July 5 to July 20. A second treatment around August 25 may be needed if small grubs (less than 1/2 inch in body length) are present in the top one inch of soil.

Some suggested insecticides for white grub control include: Triumph[®], diazinon, Oftanol[®], or Dursban[®]. Triumph[®] is only available to commercial applicators.

Caution should always be exercised when applying insecticides. Use pesticides safely and read the label instructions carefully before applying any pesticide.
