Runnels county voters face bond election for new jail

County officials propose $2.9 million jail

Runnels County registered voters go to the polls Nov. 8 to decide on a proposed $2.9 million county jail bond election.

A host of problems at the current jail have placed county officials in a position where the jail situation must be corrected.

The current Runnels County jail was built in 1925 and has been out of compliance with the state standards as enforced by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards for crowding.

"There is no question Runnels County has to build a jail," said Bill Thomason about the jail bond election. "I just don't want us to wake up five years from now and say, 'My God, what have we done."

Thomason, who lives near Maverick in Runnels County, became aware of the jail bond issue about the time the public hearings were held. He has since been raising support for his belief that the jail county officials plan to build is just too expensive for county

"I think a jail ought to be plain-Jane," Thomason said. "I'm thoroughly convinced that you can build a jail in Runnels County and save a million dollars (over the proposed design)."

The proposed design is a $2.9 million, 104-bed maximum security jail designed by Bob Frisby of Jail Planners, Inc. The jail follows a design which maximizes use of space and manpower and allows for future expansion if needed. The county is not locked into the proposed jail design, according to Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird. The Texas Railroad Commission (RRC) is currently reviewing gas storage and its potential for price manipulation.

By Reg Boles e1994

Gas storage is the tool that producers and transportation companies use to meet demand when it goes up and store gas when demand (and prices) are low.

The gas is usually stored in underground caverns and other available space (depleted reservoirs, etc.). Typically, it has been a defense mechanism that has developed over time to stabilize the gas production market.

The storage of excess gas allows producers to build excess capacity for high demand seasons, while allowing their wells to continue to produce when demand is low. This is in contrast to the shutting-in of wells that has occurred during the last decade or two, in which some wells have been shut in for months. This long-term shut-in of wells causes productivity problems, both from a reservoir and an equipment standpoint.

But, any reasonable person can see how the storage of gas could be manipulated to influence prices under certain circumstances. This is why the RRC has started evaluating the impact of storage as the practice becomes more prevalent in the oil patch.

The timing of release from these storage areas and rates of injection into the storage reservoirs is the main target of the review. It is here that prices can be most influenced.

Therein also lies the problem of determining any foul play.

The very idea of using storage is in fact a reaction to prevailing prices. The hope by anyone using storage is that prices will rise before the gas is released from stor-line between when simple economics determine storage and release and when real intent to manipulate determines storage and release.

Those pushing for the investigation (mainly those that do not have access to storage) hope that the investigation (if you can call it that at this stage) will zero-in on the real intent by participants to push prices up by holding gas that could be sold at prevailing prices.

But, it must be in an unfair manner for there to be any wrong- medical and medical support doing. That is, it must be an actual people of North Runnels Hospiattempt by those participating in tal. storage to increase their prices while excluding others.

This is still a very gray area, as there are all sorts of attempts to support prices by all sorts of consortium. Think OPEC, here. Even the Texas RRC could be considered as a supporter of prices in its history of proration.

It will be interesting to see how this all turns out, but it may just be an exercise in futility considering the purpose.

The proposed jail plans were built in Athens, Texas, and Corsicana, Texas. The jail has places for medical needs, separation, a courtroom and requires three jailers during the day and two jailers at night.

"The Runnels County Commissioners, county judge and myself visited several new jail facilities and talked to architects and planners in trying to determine who could best serve Runnels County and the jail needs," said Sheriff Baird. "We all agreed that the company that was hired had not only the best plans of that we saw, but was very competitive if not the lowest projected cost. I believe that a jail that is quiet, clean and the inmates are easily watched will save the taxpayers over the life of the jail."

If the bond election passes, the next step will be to advertise for bids on the proposed jail and begin construction sometime next

If the bond election fails, officials will have to seek other alternatives for the growing number of prisoners in Runnels County.

Resident's jail, cont'd. members of the community who have fixed incomes.

Thomason knows the county needs to build a new jail, but feels all the alternatives have not been fully explored. He is basing his views about the jail on past experience in real estate and construction in the Dallas area, as well as talks with contractors and architects who build jails.

"I certainly respect our county officials, but I don't think they understand construction, Thomason said. "To be fair, the new jail (which county officials propose) would be labor cost-effective. The county jail I'm talking about is plain old concrete. You need a jail that is maintenance-free. I want it to be a safe jail and a comfortable jail for those who work there."

Thomason isn't basing his jail ideas on just his own experience. He has talked to friends still active in construction and has brought in an architect and contractor to go over alternatives to the proposed jail plan.

Thomason talked with friend and former business associate T. Jeff Napper, a professional construction project manager. Napper submitted a letter to Thomason showing what other counties had done in building jails. The figures Napper submitted showed the jail costs of the examples to be lower than the proposed jail for Runnels

One example was a jail built by Grayson County. It was a 154-bed jail costing $2 million.

In response to the figures Thomason obtained, Runnels County Sheriff Bill Baird responded in a letter to Thomason.

"This was a minimum to medium security jail," Baird stated. "$1.6 million was provided by the county and $900,000 was provided by the federal government in exchange for a contract to hold federal prisoners. This minimum to medium security jail was an addition to an existing maximum security jail which was built in 1982 at a cost of $4.6 million for an 84-bed jail."

Napper's letter also stated Dallas County just completed con-The Winters Athletic Booster Club is sponsoring a Pumpkin Carv- verting an existing warehouse into ing Contest in conjunction with the Halloween Carnival, October 29. a 1,008-bed jail. "This was a temporary housing Pumpkins should be carved prior to the 5:30 p.m. delivery at the facility funded by the state and many of the requirements of a permanent facility were not required in this type of facility," Baird stated in his reply.

One of the questions Thomason has about the jail construction is why doesn't the county convert an existing facility? The Electro Space property on the southeast city limits of Ballinger is a facility considered by county officials. The warehouse is about the only existing facility in the area which might be suitable for conversion to the county jail.

"This building is the first property that was considered by myself and the commissioner's court," said Sheriff Baird. "Each architect or planner we showed this property to told us basically the same thing and that was the building would have to be stripped to the steel framework and a large amount of concrete floors would have to be torn out for the necessary plumbing. The asking price for this property is $300,000 and by the time the work was to the point mentioned above, it would be less expensive to start from scratch."

Thomason questioned the view of the architects and planners working with the county officials and brought in professionals from Fort Worth, Texas.

Steve McCune is a construction project manager with Ed Parker & Associates, general contractors who have built a number of jails. Kenneth Burns is president of Burns, Stuckey, McDonald, Inc., architects and planners who design jails. Both men viewed the Electro Space property, which has about 20,000 square feet of available space, and felt it could be used for a maximum security jail at considerable savings to Runnels County tax-

Both have experience building jails inside existing warehouses and both said renovation is cheaper than new construction.

"That's why this facility is perfect," said McCune. He said the difference between medium and maximum security is slight, and minor changes can make the dif-

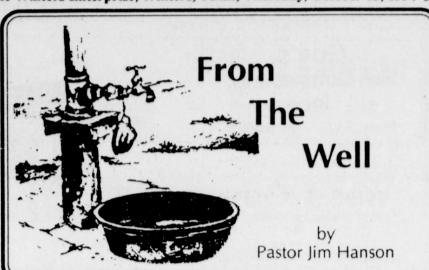

The designs McCune and Burns talked about would use the existing Electro Space structure without having to tear out floors or walls. The jail would be built inside the current building's "shell".

"With 20,000 square feet of space, we can easily put 104 beds in there," Burns said. "We don't put any frills in our facility. A plane-Jane jail really starts to economize for you."

Burns offered several jail designs, each he felt would maximize the effeciency of labor needed in the jail. The designs he offered would cost about $100 a square foot or about $2 million total cost.

"I think the bottom line is there are alternatives to building cheaper jails," Burns said. "From our experience, which is varied between renovation and new facilities, we can stand here all day and swear up and down it can be

All said and done, Thomason knows a maximum security county jail needs to be built. He just hopes if the bond election passes, county officials are open to alternatives to building a less expensive jail.

Birthdays are big in our family. Even when it's just Ramona and me at home. For sure she will bake a cake. And we'll have some kind of gift. "Happy Birthday" will be said and sung. There will be cards in the mail box - birthday cards. Telephone calls will come from all over. There is a dear friend of mine and Ramona's whose birthday is the same as mine. She lives in Hardin, Montana. She loves us both; we have been friends for 40 years. For sure she will call, and we'll talk, and share, and remember. And she did.

One of Ramona's brothers called this year. His wife always sends a card, but this year he called. "Jim," he said, "Why don't you change your birthday to September 30? That way we'll see it on the calendar. This year we flipped the page over, and there it was. October 1. And we hadn't sent you a card."

I can understand that some. Years ago, when we were seven at home - Ramona and I and the five kids, life could be pretty hectic. One night about supper time I came home and walked into the kitchen. Ramona was busy fixing supper. Our son Paul, who was about seven or eight, was doing something on top of the buffet - with wrapping paper. "Paul," I said, "What are you doing?" He replied, "I'm wrapping myself a birthday present."

We had forgotten! Forgotten his birthday!

Guilt and frustration flooded my body and soul. How could this have happened? In a few minutes we organized, and we did have a party. Now we have a wall-hanging, with all 12 months on it, and a special pin for each grandchild to mark the month and the day of his or her birthday.

One time, when my mother was 85-years-old, my brother, Paul, and I decided to get her a new refrigerator for her birthday. The one she had was at least 30 years old and ever so often would emit some wierd sound like a bump in the night. So, we ordered it and had it delivered. When it came, she sent it back. Her response was, "I don't need it. I'm

When I heard about it, I called her on the phone and said, "Mother, I feel terrible. Paul and I wanted to do something special for you, and you rejected our gift." Her response was, "Jim, I don't need a new one. I'm 85-years-old." My reply to her was, "Mother, if these are your last days, live it up. Go out in glory."

Apparently, it worked. Because when I came down to see her, (she lived 70 miles south of us in Moorhead, Minnesota) she went with me and we picked out a new refrigerator. And she got 8 good years out of it before she went to the nursing home.

Birthdays are big. This year was a big one for me - 65. And you all know what that means - Medicare! But the really big gift this year was Paul and Mary and little Timothy coming to see us. For me to hold that beautiful little baby. And rejoice in the gift of life. His and mine. For that is what birthday parties and cakes and cards are for - to celebrate the gift of life. No matter how old or how young we are, there is no gift more precious. The miracle of birth.

And the miracle of rebirth, of birthing to eternal life. Birthdays are big on earth. But there is no birthday so big as the one "when we all get to heaven". What a day of rejoicing that will be! To celebrate the the gift of everlasting life! And to sing and shout the victory!

"This is definitely one game we should have won," said Coach Chris Wilde. "The kids showed a lot of heart coming back in the fourth quarter. We continue to show good signs of improvement."

Being healthy again has also been important. Shane Lewallen has returned as fullback and outside linebacker after being sidelined for several weeks with a broken toe.

The junior varsity squad faces Roscoe for a repeat showdown this Thursday in Roscoe at 5 p.m. Winters lost 13-6 to the Plowboys the first game of the '94 season.

Coach Wilde added, "We're 100 percent better than we were the first game, but I'm sure they (the Plowboys) are better, too."

In the second quarter, quarterback John Belew ran the option around left end and kept the ball for an 18-yard touchdown. Reed's extra point kick was good.

Then with no time on the clock to end the first half, John Biddix fought for a 28-yard pass from Belew and came down with the ball in the end zone for six more points. Reed was again on target and the halftime score was 29-0.

Winters finished the first half with nearly three times as much total yardage as Coahoma, 154-54.

The Blizzards were dominating both the offensive and defensive lines and the stats showed it. The Blizzard offense was doing pretty much anything it wanted and Coahoma's offense was able to do next to nothing.

In the second half, Belew made a 1-yard touchdown on a quarterback sneak with 6 minutes to go in the third quarter. The kick failed. Biddix caught an 18-yard pass for a touchdown with six seconds to go in the third quarter. Reed's kick was good to cap the Blizzard scoring at 42.

In the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs mounted a good drive and got to the 1-yard line. The Blizzard defense held Coahoma out of the end zone for seven plays inside the ten.

The Big Blue Wrecking Crew is made up of Cody Whittenburg, 280 lb. senior; Presiliano Sanchez, 210lb. junior; Chane Reagan, 175 senior; Zane Guy, 195 lb. senior; Jason Carrillo, 165 lb. junior; and Kevin Conner, 205 lb. junior.

On a 4th-and-1-play, the Big Blue defense swarmed the quarterback and he threw an incomplete pass.

The Blizzards took over and made one first down and then had to punt. Coahoma returned the punt 43 yards for their only score of the night.

Joanie Prado Sixth Grade Teacher English, Reading, and Social Studies

Joanie Prado received her Bachelor of Science degree in Early Childhood Education from Texas Tech University in 1990. She will graduate from the University of Texas at Tyler in December of this year with a masters degree in Education Administration.

Prior to coming to Winters, Mrs. Prado taught Sixth Grade Language Arts for three years at Brownsboro. Husband, Danny, is a case manager at the Runnels County Mental Health Center. They are Catholics.

Mrs. Prado enjoys reading, cooking, watching movies, and spending time with her family.

She says she is very glad to be a part of Winters Independent School District and she hopes she can be successful in motivating her students to perform to their best and to apply themselves throughout the entire academic year.

Winters School receives $45,909 in grants for energy management assistance

$45,909.00 from the Texas Edu-nation of projects. cation Agency. Winters is one of twenty-three school districts in Senate District 25 to receive awards totaling $1,688,565.00.

These grants were funded with oil overcharge dollars appropriated by the Seventy-Third Legislature to provide energy management assistance to school districts with below average property wealth per pupil. Grants can be used to fund a range of facility-related projects: install high efficiency lighting systems, energy-efficient heating, ventilation, and air conditioning systems, or energy management control devices in existing or new facilities; make building shell improvements which lower util-

Frequently supplemented by local funds and utility rebates, these grant dollars enable districts not only to cut utility bill costs but to replace old inefficient equipment at the end of its useful life.

To insure that grant-funded projects are implemented in a timely fashion, grantees are required to contractually obligate grant funds from four to six weeks after the grant date, depending on the size of the grant. All grant projects are to be completed by August 31, 1995; however, a significant number of the projects were completed before the beginning of the 1994-95 school year. To Every Club, Organization, Class, Group or Individual:

School has begun and so have the various activities that the school year brings. Just one of those activities is the Annual Halloween Carnival which is sponsored by the Athletic Booster Club.

We need your support in helping us make this year's carnival the spookiest and scariest ever. We are renting booth space for $5.00 and hope you will help by having a game or some activity for our children.

The Booster Club has the Cake-Walk, Bingo, and concession stand and we welcome all the activities you can think of. Maybe you could even challenge other clubs, organizations, classes, groups and individuals.

The Carnival will be Saturday, October 29, in the Activity Building (the yellow building at the elementary school) beginning at 6:00 p.m. We will also be sponsoring a Pumpkin Carving Con-

There will be plenty of space and we hope you will help us keep our children of all ages busy that night at the carnival.

For more information, please contact Melanie Wade at 754-5025 or 754-4385.

Ten FREE shade trees

Ten free shade trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during October 1994.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten shade trees are Sugar Maple, Red Oak, Pin Oak, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Weeping Willow, River Birch, Tuliptree, Silver Maple, and Red Maple.

"Spectacular fall colors are among the many benefits of these beautiful shade trees," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between November 1 and December 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to SHADE TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by October 31, 1994.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an elegant gown of ivory satin and schiffli lace, designed by Bonny. The bodice, beaded with sequins and pearls, featured a wedding bank neckline, renaissance sleeves, and a Basque waist. The full ball gown skirt, adorned with beaded lace appliques was highlighted at the back with draping pearls and a satin bow, and featured a sweetheart semi-cathedral length train.

The bride's bouquet consisted of cascading large ivory roses accented with small ivory roses and babies breath. Pearls and ribbons were woven through the flowers and then flowed down the bouquet.

Stenhom accepting service academies applications

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm is currently accepting applications from young men and women in the 17th Congressional District who are interested in attending one of the nation's service academies.

This December Congressman Stenholm will have the opportunity to nominate area citizens for appointments to the four U.S. academies: the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Co.; the Military Academy in West Point, N.Y.; the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.; and the Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, Persons interested in the possible nominations should contact the Congressman's San Angelo office as soon as possible. The deadline for completed application files is December 1, 1994.

To be eligible for an appointment, the applicant must meet certain requirements. The requirements are: American citizenship; good SAT or ACT scores; outstanding high school record; and good physical condition, including excellent eyesight. There is a very limited number of waivers for non-pilot candidates whose eyesight is less than 20/20.

Aside from academic achievement, emphasis is also placed on character, church and community involvement, extra-curricular activities and/or part-time employment. Applicants must be single with no dependents and at least 17 years of age, but not past their 22nd birthday upon admission into the academy on July 1, 1995.

Additional information may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or by contacting Jayne Schoonmaker in Congresscummerbund, and red bow tie. man Stenholm's San Angelo office at (915) 655-7994 or by writing to: 33 East Twohig #318, San conservation district director to Jr., Norton; and W.C. "Bud" serve in Zones One and Two on the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District is scheduled for SWCD, with headquarters in Friday, October 14, 1994, at Bethel Schoolhouse in the Bethel Community announced Otto Gottschalk, chairman of the board. The elections will be held at 7:30 a.m.

Breakfast will be served at the Bethel Schoolhouse in the Bethel Community on October 14 at 7:00 a.m. Following the election at 7:30 a.m. will be a tour of conservation tillage operation in cotton and grain sorghum.

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district directer election, a person must own agricultural land within the district where the election is being held. The person must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district and the voter must be 18 years of age or older.

Legal qualifications state that a candidate for the office of a soil and water conservation district director must own land in the subdivision he represents, be 18 years of age or older, and be actively engaged in farming or ranching. He must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district. Soil and water conservation district directors serve four-year terms of office.

Zone One of the district includes an area south and west of the junction of Highway 67 and Highway 83 at Ballinger to the Coleman County line.

Zone Two of the district includes south and east of the junction of the Colorado River and Highway 83 at Ballinger to the Coke, Tom Green, and Concho County lines.

Current members of the board of directors of the Runnels SWCD are Ed Bredemeyer, Winters: Otto Gottschalk, Ballinger; David

An election of a soil and water Ocker, Rowena; C.J. Robinson, Davis, Winters.

The purpose of the Runnels Ballinger, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on agricultural lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers, ranchers, and local community entities on conservation matters.

The district board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state, and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator or other potential users of the SWCD's programs.

Your local and regional cotton cooperatives offer a vertically integrated system that takes your cotton from the field to the textile mill. It's a system that adds valuable income to your farming operation. Ginning, warehousing, marketing, textile manufacturing, and cottonseed processing all work to increase the value of your cotton crop every step of the way. For the 1993 cotton crop, combined cash payments from the local and regional cotton cooperatives averaged $51.62 per bale, over and above the value of your lint cotton. Thus, the more cotton you send through the cooperative system, the more you can add to your net profits. Consider the cooperative advantage for your cotton crop. COLEMAN COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Notice is hereby given that Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective January 1, 1995, or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending June 30, 1994, the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $318,220 or 5%. The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility.

The Utility proposes to change all rates for residential, rrigation, small commercial, large commercial, security lighting and cotton gin service, including customer, demand, energy, minimum and other charges. The proposed changes are expected to affect the classes as follows: for the 5,103 customers in the residential class, the proposed increase will be $166,605, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 117 customers in the irrigation class, the proposed increase will be $3,121, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 2,381 customers in the small commercial class, the proposed increase will be $133,144, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 53 customers in the large commercial class, the proposed increase will be $7,250, or a 1.15% change in revenues; for the 3 customers in the cotton gin class, the proposed increase will be $1,000, or a 4.83% change in revenues; for the 1,370 security light customers, the proposed increase will be $7,100, or a 6.19% change in revenue. No change is proposed for the 2 LP special customers. Santa Fe Pipeline Company and Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The Utility is required to give notice of the percentage increase in base revenues, which is 11.75%. The percentage increase in base revenues is NOT an indication of how much your bill will increase. Rather, it is a measure of the increase needed by the Utility for its own operations, excluding payment for the cost of power purchased by the Utility from its wholesale power suppliers.

Information concerning the proposed rate changes, including the proposed customer, demand, and energy charges applicable to each class of service, the estimated effect on revenue by customer class, and a brief description of the applicability and type of service for any new class of service which is proposed by the utility, is available at the general office of the utility, located at 300 North Highway 84, Coleman, Texas 76834, or will be provided upon request to any customer by mail without charge. The utility has filed a copy of this Notice of Rate Change Request with the Public Utility Commission of Texas. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin. Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512)458-0256, or (512)458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervening will be November 28, 1994.

Bredemeyer Bros. receive plant variety certificate

Bredemeyer of Winters, Texas, have received notification from Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy that their application for Plant Variety Protection for the "WinTex" variety of wheat has been approved as a new novel crop variety. Application was made on August 4, 1991, and final approval was granted by the Secretary of Agriculture on August 31, 1994.

The Bredemeyers began developing "WinTex" wheat by planting seed stocks of Kiev wheat in the fall of 1986. They began selections, selective conditioning, and purifying the line in 1987, to obtain minimal awned variants, with selections for superior grazing and grain yield characteristics and leaf rust resistance.

Both Rodrick and Malcolm produce the Breeders and Foundation seed annually for use in growing Certified "WinTex" seed, which is sold to the public. According to the PVP Certificate, the variety can only be sold for seed purposes as State Certified seed. The Bredemeyers have an exclusive marketing agreement with Farmers Seed and Supply of Rodrick and Malcolm Winters to distribute WinTex seed, which has been grown from the Coastal Bend of Texas to Colorado and Kansas.

> The Plant Variety Protection Act grants to plant breeders similar rights to those of patent rights for inventors. The federal law gives the owner exclusive rights to control the marketing of seed from the registered variety for a term of 18 years. There are severe penalties-both criminal and civil—which are applicable to those who try to market a protected variety for seed purposes without a license. A farmer may save seed from a protected variety for his own personal use, but he may not sell, trade, lend, or give seed to others without being in violation of the federal Plant Variety Protection Act. Selling the wheat for grain or feed purposes is not a violation of the law.

Very few individuals ever receive a PVP certificate. Of applications made In 1991, the Bredemeyers' application was number 238 and only about 100 certificates are issued a year, and most of those go to major seed companies and universities with large breeding programs.
