Her father was a cotton ginner employed by Wiley Hines. Her mother was a nurse at the Winters hospital. She began school at Winters, then attended one year at the Franklin school located southwest of town, then one year at Drasco. In 1933, she came back to Winters and graduated from WHS in 1942. She was married May 30 of the same year to Harold M. Allen at St. John's Lutheran Church. Mr. Allen worked in the oilfield as a truck driver. They moved to Fort Stockton shortly after their marriage, then to Alpine, then back to Winters in 1943, where Marie gave birth to her first child while her husband served in the Army during WWII.

The Winters Blizzards over- for both teams and the field. came a constant downpour and miscues to defeat the Forsan Buffaloes 14-0 last Friday. The win puts the Blizzards 2-0 in district 6-2A and 7-0 overall.

John Biddix started the Blizzard scoring early in the first quarter with a 24-yard catch. Robert ter, we played like the rain -Reed's kick was good and the Big Blue was on the scoreboard 7-0.

Runningback Mark Deike added an 8-yard touchdown run later in the same quarter and Reed was again on target giving Winters a 14-0 lead.

Rain continued to fall during the entire game, making playing conditions extremely poor. Sloppiness ruled the rest of the game

Both offensive teams were stymied by penalties and mistakes. Forsan was held to -2 yards passing and 114 rushing.

Winters Coach Robin Byrd said, "We played good the first quarter. But from the second quarsloppy.'

The Big Blue Wrecking Crew defense did a good job of shutting down Forsan and did not allow any score.

Winters and Stanton remain the only teams with no losses in district play. Wall lost to Coahoma and Jim Ned lost its second district game to Stanton. Winters goes to Tuscola this night.

Friday night to meet the Jim Ned Indians and this will be a very physical battle. With Jim Ned having two losses, this will be a "must win" if they are to have any hopes of going to the playoffs.

"This will be a big game for us," said Byrd. "We're all healthy and trying to stay focused on taking care of business."

Cody Whittenburg, a 280-lb. tackle, should be ready for action against the Indians after missing last week's game with a sprained ankle.

Kickoff will be at 7:30 at Indian stadium.

Let's all get behind our team and back the Blizzards this Friday

As if low oil prices weren't low gas prices are here for the enough, gas prices have hit the skids.

Prices were at or above $2.00 per MCF not long ago, but now prices are stuck between $1.30 and $1.40. The effect of a 35percent drop in product prices for gas producers is going to be very damaging to the momentum that had been built for gas as a development target.

Operators were going after gas, onshore and offshore as a longterm investment goal. The economics were there at current prices and the long-term market looked strong. The confidence was there even as oil prices were deemed to be stuck in low gear for some time.

The combination of a strong future for natural gas and an uncertain environment for oil caused operators to begin looking at gas development as preferred over oil development in many places.

The most distressing thing about the recent price doldrums is what is being said about it all by those that buy and sell gas.

The same terms being used for long term oil prices are being bandied about by players in gas markets.

The "conventional wisdom" is that gas prices may have topped out at $2.00. Prior to the current price drop, gas prices were expected to go higher because prices in excess of $2.00 were going to be required to boost the required development in gas to meet future demand projections. Now, everyone is saying that the development required can be done at less than $2.00.

In effect, they are saying that

Ballinger bridge remains open to pedestrian traffic long term. Sound familiar?

This has implications for opertors in that they will have to find a way to be profitable at prices below $2.00 whether they like it or not. They must find ways to build the gas supply to meet the projected strong future demand without significant price growth.

I say this based on the current prevailing conventional wisdom continuing. If, in fact, the demand continues to grow and supply is not able to keep up, then prices will rise. They might even rise above $2.00 if that is what the market requires.

In any case, the operator would be well-advised to prepare for somewhat stagnant prices at or below $2.00. The producer would be able to compete in such a market and be set to garner the gravy if prices rise further.

The Tragedy of Mob Rule

From 1885 to the 1890s mob rule was rampant in San Saba County costing the lives of 59 men, Cathy Cox told members of the Edwards Plateau Historical Associaoin as they gathered at San Saba for their annual meeting recently.

"Those were some the darkest days in the history of San Saba County," she said. The county had only sparse settlements and few courts, encouraging individuals and group action to right the wrongs.

Horse thieves and cattle rustlers moved in and out, aided by their allies, who posed as respectable ranchers and farmers. Fence cutting allowed thieves to steal cattle, and regardless of how many charges were filed, not a single person was convicted by juries during the early 1880s.

To combat this situation, a number of citizens, mostly farmers and ranchers and church people including three preachers, gathered to form a secret organization of vigilantes for the purpose of running outlaws out of the country, or hanging them if they would not leave on their own.

The mob members chose to meet at night, riding their horses to the selected hide-out to make plans. One of the favorite meeting spots was the Buzzard's Water Hole about eleven miles northwest of the town of San Saba. Several citizens reported that as they were returning home at night, they occasionally heard a voice coming from the wilderness which said, "Go round, go round". The mob had stationed a guard on the road leading to their rendezvous and the surprised person was eager to comply with the warning.

The penalty for "talking" was death, whether or not the talker belonged to the group. Consequently, it was almost impossible and always dangerous to find out much about them in days gone by.

One man was shot near Hannah Crossing on the Colorado River as he came out of the river with his wagonload of water. He had never been involved in any trouble. His crime was discussing the killing man left a wife and a number of children. This fact, along with the aroused the people of the county.

Although the mob was organized to put down lawlessness, by 1896 many of its members had lost sight of their initial purpose. Their strife with each other encouraged crimes to be committed against innocent citizens and the killing of their personal enemies. There were some who desired to increase their land holdings and set about chasing off land owners so that they could acquire their land.

Finally, it was necessary that Texas Rangers be called in to control the situation, where differences had reached the stage of war. Three Rangers under Sergeant John L. Sullivan, remained in the county for two years before mob rule was suppressed.

There were as many as 200 citizens from the area who were frightened from their homes and left for other parts under threat of death, and mob rule had cost the lives of many people.

Living Trust

He was well into his sixties, this doctor friend of mine. He lived in a small town in northern Minnesota. Together with his two younger brothers, both M.D.'s, he had formed a clinic, and built a beautiful community hospital there. They were all general practitioners, "G.P.'s" as they are called. And very good at their profession. In fact my doctor friend had been President of the American Medical Association in Minnesota and had been honored by them.

We were sitting in the back of the cafeteria in that small town. I had just finished speaking to their Lion's Club - at his invitation. He was president that year. After the meeting he called me aside and said, "Jim, have you got a half hour or so? I'd like to tell you a story." And what follows is his story - a faith story.

"A few years ago I started to develop a shakiness in my fingers. It didn't bother me too much at first. I was quite certain it was something caused by a pinched nerve, or something like that. But, it didn't go away. Maybe it was stress related, or so we thought. So I took a few months off, puttered around the house, that sort of thing. But it didn't get any better. In fact, it got worse.

So, my wife and I went to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. We weren't worried about it. My health was fine. It was just that my right hand and my fingers had the "shakes", and that meant I couldn't do surgery any more. I wasn't ready to retire. Mayo gave me a thorough examination and sent me home. I was to spend the next six months doing nothing but "R and R".

Well, that got old after a little while. My "shakes" didn't seem to be getting any better, in fact, it seemed to me it got worse. It was so bad that I couldn't hold a book steady enough to read. My wife got me one of those reading stands that holds the book and keeps it open to the right page - I was that bad.

I started to read the Bible. I got one of those new translations. It was easy to read and I decided to read the Gospel of Luke. One day as I was reading, I came across the story of the demon possessed man and the pigs. It is in Luke, chapter 8. I had never really liked the story. The man in it was convulsed with demons, shaking and jerking and trembling all over the place. But then, as I pondered it, it came to me. I was like that man. My hands and fingers were out of control. I connected with that demoniac. I simply said, as I lifted up my head, "You did it for him. You can do it for me.'

A few months later one of my brothers called me up and asked if I would take calls on Saturday night. They were just worn out and needed a little time off. I could do the diagnosing and prescribing. But, if there was anything complicated, like surgery, I was to call them. I was kind of glad they called me. I agreed to take calls.

The first person to call that night was a young mother whose child had a bad cold. I could handle that. The second was someone who had a bad sore throat. I could handle that. The third was a challenge. One of the young men who worked at the creamery had gotten a small piece

WTU supports Red Ribbon Week

October is Drug Awareness Month and the week of October 22nd-30th is Red Ribbon Week. West Texas Utilities Company employees will be observing this week by wearing red ribbons.

"We encourage everyone to join us with their support. The red ribbon is symbolic of individual and community efforts for drug prevention education and the elimination of alcohol and drug abuse," said Kit Horne.

The Red Ribbon Campaign started in 1986 in memory of Emrique Camarena, an agent for the Drug Enforcement Administration who was killed by drug traffickers. The program has now expanded nationwide.

The Texans' War on Drugs, founded in 1980, is a non-profit organization involved with drug prevention education and has sponsored the campaign in Texas since 1988.

In addition to the observance of Red Ribbon Week, WTU is providing Drug Awareness Activity Books to all fifth grade students in its service territory. Other businesses, civic organizations, church groups and individuals are uniting to encourage communities to win the "war on drugs".

of steel in his eye. It needed to come out.

I told the nurse to prepare the patient. But she looked at me funny. But I picked up the instrument and directed my hand toward his eye my hand trembling and shaking. I took a deep breath and said, "You did it for him. You can do it for me". And he did. When my hand was about 8 inches away, it stopped shaking.

A faith story. How the Bible works. His story connected with the story of the demoniac. The healing of the demoniac gave hope to my friend, deep down in his well. So he could ask. Like Jesus said, "Ask, and you shall receive." And he did. Receive.

Medicare pays for flu shots for elderly

With the approach of autumn, it's time for older Americans to take precautions against the pneumonia and flu epidemics that are on the horizon. The cost of both pneumonia vaccinations and flu shots is covered by Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance) for those age 65 or older.

The National Institute on Aging (NIA), American Lung Association, and the Department of Veterans Affairs have launched a coordinated campaign to encourage elderly people to be vaccinated this fall. Statistics show they are twice as likely as younger persons to get pneumonia. Only about 20 percent of those over age 65 have taken advantage of the availability of the pneumonia vaccine in the past, according to the NIA.

The Public Health Service recommends an annual flu shot for people over age 65, even if they are generally healthy. Typically, shots are given in the fall or winter. Medicare beneficiaries do not need a doctor's prescription or supervision to have this vaccination covered by Medicare Part B. And, beneficiaries do not pay a deductible or coinsurance amount.

THE $51 PER BALE ADVANTAGE FOR COTTON PRODUCERS More than $51 per bale paid in cash for the 1993 crop.

Your local and regional cotton cooperatives offer a vertically integrated system that takes your cotton from the field to the textile mill. It's a system that adds valuable income to your farming operation. Ginning, warehousing, marketing, textile manufacturing, and cottonseed processing all work to increase the value of your cotton crop every step of the way. For the 1993 cotton crop, combined cash payments from the local and regional cotton cooperatives averaged $51.62 per bale, over and above the value of your lint cotton. Thus, the more cotton you send through the cooperative system, the more you can add to your net profits. Consider the cooperative advantage for your cotton crop. From your local cooperative gin to the warehouses, the oil mill, the marketing association and the denim mill - it's just good business. See your local or regional cotton cooperative today.

To the Taxpayers of Runnels County:

First, let me point out that you elected us as your representatives to serve your needs and look after your tax dollars. I propose that we have done this to the best of our ability on the proposed new county jail. There has been a very big effort, thought and study put into this plan, by your elected officials. This has been the most thorough study done by this County in the six years that I have been in office. I would suggest that you check out your sources on other information that you are receiving in the media. I would also suggest that we have another Town Hall Meeting in regards to the true facts.

We have spent your money for a jail study: we have the results and we are doing our best to proceed. I expect and welcome any response from the public, as long as everyone knows all the facts. The points I would like to take issue with, is the fact some of the information you are receiving is either wrong or misleading. We have had real concerns about our jail for the past two years and have been out of compliance with the Texas Jail Commission for almost two years. We have had a good bit of media coverage for one year on the possibility of having to build a new jail. We had our first public hearing on August 22 and since that time you have been receiving information from a special interest group. I would pose the question as to why so late in time? How many people are involved in this specific-purpose committee? Do they have anything to gain? I only pose the question, I would suggest that you ask or find the answers.

I would like to respond below to the four questions asked in The Ballinger Ledger, Thursday, Sept. 22, 1994.

WHY build a jail which will increase your taxes as much as 15¢ per $100 valuation?

ances as long as we are going current needs. This was done in forward with construction plans. order to house inmates from other

3. Would you like to transport counties at a rate of $35 per day prisoners to another county and pay for their jail at about $35 per burden and operational costs of a day per inmate? We will not be new jail. able to place all of our prisoners into one adjoining county jail. They have problems as well as we you might call it, is no Cadillac do. We would have to place a few here and a few there and then would be in the business of transporting prisoners to and from Runnels County Courts and Runnels County would also be responsible for their medical bills while housed in another jail. This will result in the cost of more personnel and vehicles to compensate for the loss of our jail.

WHY build a 2.9 million dollar ($27,885 per bed), 104-bed prison when similar maximum security Texas State Jails (Butler Steel Building with traditional jail interiors) can be constructed for 1.5 to 1.75 million dollars?

1. As you might have noticed, I underlined the word prison, above. A county jail is not a prison. I take this from the Sept. 22, 1994 Ballinger Ledger. We have to make the comparison if we are going to build a jail or prison. Folks, we are going to build a Runnels County Jail at some time or another!

2. First off, approximately 50% of the people in jail are not convicted and must be treated innocent until proven guilty. These people cannot be treated the same as convicted inmates. First-time offenders and female inmates must also be separated by sight and sound from the general population. The overcrowding in the present jail, which was built in 1925, prevents the separation of these inmates.

3. Why was the name of Butler Steel Building mentioned? Why not Mueller Supply, Inc. Steel Building? Since I am a welding contractor by trade, the exterior of the building is not the cost in say we have to have one jailer per question. The interior design of 48 inmates per shift, or any increthis facility is designed from the ments thereof per floor of jail. We

COLEMAN COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

Notice is hereby given that Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective January 1, 1995, or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending June 30, 1994, the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $318,220 or 5%. The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility.

The Utility proposes to change all rates for residential, irrigation, small commercial, large commercial, security lighting and cotton gin service, including customer, demand, energy, minimum and other charges. The proposed changes are expected to affect the classes as follows: for the 5,103 customers in the residential class, the proposed increase will be $166,605, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 117 customers in the irrigation class, the proposed increase will be $3,121, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 2,381 customers in the small commercial class, the proposed increase will be $133,144, or a 6.19% change in revenues; for the 53 customers in the large commercial class, the proposed increase will be $7,250, or a 1.15% change in revenues; for the 3 customers in the cotton gin class, the proposed increase will be $1,000, or a 4.83% change in revenues; for the 1,370 security light customers, the proposed increase will be $7,100, or a 6.19% change in revenue. No change is proposed for the 2 LP special customers, Santa Fe Pipeline Company and Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The Utility is required to give notice of the percentage increase in base revenues, which is 11.75%. The percentage increase in base revenues is NOT an indication of how much your bill will increase. Rather, it is a measure of the increase needed by the Utility for its own operations, excluding payment for the cost of power purchased by the Utility from its wholesale power suppliers.

Information concerning the proposed rate changes, including the proposed customer, demand, and energy charges applicable to each class of service, the estimated effect on revenue by customer class, and a brief description of the applicablity and type of service for any new class of service which is proposed by the utility, is available at the general office of the utility, located at 300 North Highway 84, Coleman, Texas 76834, or will be provided upon request to any customer by mail without charge. The utility has filed a copy of this Notice of Rate Change Request with the Public Utility Commission of Texas. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512)458-0256; or (512)458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervening will be November 28, 1994.

with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, reminds landowners and sportsmen that the 1993 general deer hunting season in Runnels County will begin on Saturday, November 5, 1994, and run through Sunday, January 1, 1995. In addition, a 9 day muzzleloader season is scheduled for antlerless deer only beginning Saturday, January 7, 1995, and running through Sunday, January 15, 1995. A muzzleloader stamp is required to hunt during the muzzleloader season.

The overall bag limit for the county is 4 deer, no more than 2 bucks. No special permits are required for harvesting antlerless deer, however, both bucks and antlerless deer must be tagged with the appropriate tag from a hunting license.

"We conducted our annual fall deer surveys in the county during August" said Davis. These sur-guideline to harvesting antlerless deer in Runnels County is 1 antlerless deer per 150 acres. "However, this general recommendation does not automatically mean this harvest rate of antlerless deer is needed in every case" indicated Davis.

Age and antler information gathered during surveys of lockers and cold storage facilities indicate the harvest of bucks in the county has been comparatively heavy. The proper harvest of bucks will allow some bucks to reach some of their genetic potential. The overall recommended guideline to harvesting bucks in Runnels County is 1 buck per 250 acres. Therefore, it is important for each landowner to look closely at his existing deer herd and decide how many deer of either sex need to be harvested.

Hunters are reminded to show
